Literally, "righteousness and justice," but these terms are dated and sometimes misunderstood. Righteousness for example is the nature of a person rather than some outward show, while justice is not so much concerned with legal aspects but doing what is true and right. * 29:18 Literally, "I shall multiply my days like sand." † 29:22 Literally, "my words dropped on them." ‡ 29:24 Literally, "the light of my countenance they did not cast down."

⁶ People shouted after them as if they were thieves. They have to live in dangerous ravines, in caves and among the rocks.

¹² The rabble rise up against me, they send me running;† like a city under siege they devise ways to destroy me.‡

¹⁴ They come in through a wide breach; they rush in as the wall comes tumbling down.§

²⁰ God, I cry to you but you don't answer; I stand before you, but you don't even notice me.

²⁴ Who would want to kick a man when he is down, † when they cry for help in their time of trouble?

* 30:11 In other words, God has rendered Job powerless. † 30:12 The Hebrew is unclear.

‡ 30:12 The phrase alludes to the building of ramps to attack a city under siege. § 30:14 The illustration of a besieged city continues with the image of invaders entering through a city wall that has been brought down. *

* 30:16 Literally, "days of affliction." † 30:24 More literally, "Surely no one who raise their hand against the needy." Or "Yet doesn't someone in a heap of ruins reach out their hand?" The Hebrew is unclear. ‡ 30:27 Literally, "My intestines are boiling." § 30:28 Literally, "I am blackened, but not by the sun." This may alternatively refer to some skin disease.

³⁰ My skin turns black on me; and my bones burn within me.

⁶ No! Let God weigh me on the scales of his justice and let him discover my integrity.

⁷ If I have wandered from God's way, if I have let what I see become my desires,† if there's any stain of sin on my hands,

⁹ If a woman has seduced me, or if I have looked for an opportunity to sleep with my neighbor's wife,‡

¹¹ For that would be wicked, a sin deserving punishment,

¹³ If I had refused to listen to my menservants or maidservants when they brought their complaints to me,

¹⁴ what would I do when God came to judge me? How would I reply if he investigated me?

¹⁵ Didn't the same God make all of us?†

²⁰ they always thanked me for the wool clothing that kept them warm.

* 30:29 Or ostriches. Some believe this expands on the cries mentioned in the preceding verse—like the mournful calls of animals and birds. * 31:5 Literally, "If I have walked with falsehood, and my foot has hastened to deceit." † 31:7 Literally, "If my heart has walked after my eyes."

‡ 31:9 Literally, "Iain in wait at the doorway of my neighbor." § 31:10 Literally, "grind corn for." * 31:12 Referring to "Abaddon," the place of destruction. † 31:15 Literally, "Didn't the one who made me in the womb make him; didn't one fashion us in the womb?" ‡ 31:21 Literally, "because I saw my supporters at the gate."

²⁶ Have I looked at the sun shining so brilliantly or the moon moving in majesty across the sky

²⁸ This too would be a sin deserving punishment* for it would mean I had denied God above.

³⁵ Why won't anyone listen to what I'm saying! I'm signing my name to endorse everything I've said.[†] Let the Almighty answer me. Let my accuser write down what he is charging me with.

² Then Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, grew angry. He was angry with Job for claiming he was right rather than God.

[§] 31:27 "Kissing my hand" apparently refers to pagan worship that involved kissing one's hand—rather like today's practice of "blowing kisses." * 31:28 See Deuteronomy 17 for example, where the death penalty is prescribed for worshiping the sun, moon, and stars. † 31:35 Implied. Literally, "Here is my signature." ‡ 31:36 Literally, "I would carry them on my shoulder."

[§] 31:37 Literally, "I would approach him like a prince." * 31:40 This concluding statement should be taken to refer to Job as a land owner. He is arguing that he has always acted well.

³ Elihu was also angry at Job's three friends because they made it seem that God was wrong, because they had not been able to answer Job.*

⁶ Elihu, the son of Barachel the Buzite, said, "I am young, and you are old, which is why I was reluctant to tell you what I know.

* 32:3 Or "because they had not been able to answer Job, yet still condemned him." † 32:8 Spirit and breath are closely linked. See for example Genesis 2:7. ‡ 32:13 Literally, "We have found wisdom." § 32:15 Or "dismayed." * 32:18 Literally, "I am full of words, my spirit presses in my belly." † 32:20 Or "I must speak to find relief."

¹⁶ God speaks to them with solemn warnings[‡]

²⁴ he will be gracious to them. He will say, 'Save them from going down into the grave, for I have found a way to free them.'[†]

²⁵ Then their bodies will be renewed as if they were young again; they will be as strong as when they were in their prime.

²⁶ They will pray to God, and he will accept them; they come into God's presence with joy, and he will set things right for them.

²⁸ He saved me from going down into the grave and I will live in the light.'

³¹ Pay attention Job, and listen to me! Be quiet—let me speak!

* 33:7 Literally, "My hand will not be heavy upon you." [†] 33:14 Literally, "once, and twice," but this is number parallelism which indicates an increasing number. [‡] 33:16 Or "terrifies them with warnings." [§] 33:22 Literally, "the pit." * 33:22 Literally, "the destroyers," which could refer to the angels of death or terminal diseases. [†] 33:24 Or "for I have found a ransom." [‡] 33:27 Or "but I was not paid back (punished) as I deserved." [§] 33:29 Literally, "twice, three times."

² “Listen to my words, you men who say you are wise; pay attention to what I’m saying you who think you know.*

¹⁷ Do you really think someone who hated justice could govern? Are you going to condemn Almighty God who always does what is right?

²² There is no darkness so deep where people who do evil can hide themselves from him.

* 34:2 Since Elihu has already criticized them, his words here are surely ironic. † 34:3 This is what Job stated in 12:11. ‡ 34:6 Job stated this in 9:21 and 27:2. § 34:7 Literally, “who drinks scorn like water.”

* 34:12 Elihu is repeating what Bildad said in 8:3. † 34:14 Following the Septuagint reading. ‡ 34:23 Meaning that God knows the destiny of all based on what they have done. § 34:24 Literally, “shatters.”

²⁹ Yet if God wants to remain silent, who can condemn him? If he chooses to hide his face, who can see him? Whether it concerns a nation or an individual,

³³ then should God reward you for following your own opinions‡ since you have rejected his? You're the one who has to choose, not me! Tell us what you think.

³⁴ For people who understand—those who are wise who have heard what I said—will tell me,

³⁵ 'Job doesn't know what he's talking about. What he says doesn't make any sense.'

³⁷ Now he has added rebellion to his sins; he claps his hands at us,§ making long speeches full of accusations against God."

³ And you ask, 'What benefit do I get? What good has it done me by not sinning?'

¹¹ who teaches us more than the animals, and makes us wiser than the birds?'

¹³ God doesn't listen to their empty cries;† the Almighty doesn't pay them any attention.

* 34:30 Or "ensnare." † 34:31 Or "anyone." ‡ 34:33 In the context, probably referring to Job's own opinions as to what is right and wrong. § 34:37 An action of ridicule and disrespect (see for example 27:23). * 35:6 Literally, "what does that accomplish against him?" † 35:13 Empty in the sense that they are vain and insincere.

¹⁴ How much less will God hear you when you say he can't see you?‡ Your case is before him, so you have to wait for him.

¹⁵ You're saying[§] that God doesn't punish people in his anger and pays little attention to sin.

² "Be patient with me just a little while longer and let me explain. I still have something to say on God's behalf.

⁴ I assure you that what I'm saying are not lies, for I am a man whose knowledge is of the highest order.†

⁶ He does not keep the wicked alive, but gives justice to the oppressed.

⁸ If they are bound in chains, tied down by ropes of suffering,

¹⁰ He makes them pay attention[§] and orders them to stop sinning.

¹² But if they do not listen they will die a violent death,* ignorant of God.

¹³ Those who reject God hold on to their bitterness. Even when he disciplines them they do not cry out to him for help.

¹⁶ God is trying to rescue you from the jaws of trouble to a place of freedom and safety,‡ filling your table full of the very best food.

¹⁷ But you are preoccupied with the fate of the wicked; judgment and justice fill your mind.

¹⁹ Will you cry for help sustain you when troubles come?*

‡ 35:14 Elihu is addressing Job directly and saying that since Job says God doesn't see him, why should God listen to him? § 35:15 Implied. * 36:3 Literally, "I will bring my knowledge from far away." † 36:4 Literally, "one whose knowledge is perfect is with you." ‡ 36:7 Literally, "he does not withdraw his eyes." § 36:10 Literally, "he opens their ears to instruction." * 36:12 Literally, "by the sword." † 36:14 "Male temple prostitutes": indicative of dying in shameful ways. ‡ 36:16 Or "to an open space free of restriction." § 36:18 Taken together with the first line of this verse, "bribe" could be any kind of "reward" that sin might bring. * 36:19 This could also be translated, "Will God value your wealth or gold or your strength?" However, Job has already lost all these.

21 Watch out that you don't turn to evil! For it's because of this that you are being tested through suffering.

22 Look how much power God has! What teacher is like him?

23 Who has instructed him what to do? Who can say to him 'You have done wrong'?

24 Instead you should praise him for what he has done, as people have done in song.[‡]

25 Everyone has seen God's creation, though only from a distance.[§]

26 See how great God is—more than we can understand! No one can count his years.

27 He draws up the water and distils it into the dew and the rain.

28 The clouds pour down rain, falling plentifully on humankind.

29 Can anyone understand how the clouds spread out, or how thunder roars from where he lives?*

30 See how he scatters lightning around him, and covers the depths of the sea in darkness.

31 By these actions he rules the people, he provides abundant food.

32 He holds lightning in his hands and commands where it should strike.

1 At this my heart trembles, beating rapidly within me!*

2 Listen carefully to God's thunderous voice that rumbles as he speaks.

3 He sends it across the heaven; his lightning flashes to the ends of the earth.

4 Then comes the roar of thunder, his majestic voice holding nothing back when he speaks.

5 God's thunderous voice is wonderful! We can't comprehend the great things he does!

6 He tells the snow to fall and the rain to pour down on the earth.

7 By this he stops people working so that everyone can understand what he does.

9 The south wind blows in storms, while the north wind blows in cold weather.[†]

10 God's breath produces ice, freezing the surface of water solid.

11 He fills the clouds with moisture; he scatters his lightning from them.

12 They swirl around under his control; they move over all the earth as he commands.

13 He does this to accomplish his will, either to discipline or to show his goodness.[‡]

14 Listen to this, Job! Stop for a moment and consider the wonderful things God does.

[†] 36:20 Presumably a reference to longing for death to bring an end to suffering. [‡] 36:24

In the Psalms, for example. [§] 36:25 Later God asks Job if he was there during creation.

* 36:29 Literally, "the thunderings of his pavilion." [†] 36:33 The Hebrew is unclear. * 37:1 "Beating rapidly": literally, "leaping from its place." [†] 37:9 Literally, "From its chamber comes the whirlwind; and cold from the scattering wind." [‡] 37:13 The Hebrew is unclear.

¹⁶ Do you know how clouds float[§] in the sky—the wonderful work of him who knows everything.

¹⁷ You know how your clothes drip with sweat when the south wind brings air that is hot and heavy.

²⁰ Should God be told that I want to speak? Anyone who wanted to would be destroyed!†

²³ We cannot approach the Almighty for he is far beyond us in power and justice, and doing right.

²⁴ He does not act like a tyrant—no wonder people are in awe of him, though he does not value those who think they're wise."[‡]

² "Who is this who questions my wisdom by talking so ignorantly?

⁴ Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth? Tell me, if you have such knowledge!

⁶ What do its foundations rest upon? Who laid its cornerstone,

⁷ when the stars of the morning sang together and all the angels[‡] shouted for joy.

⁸ Who laid down the boundaries of the sea when it was born?§

⁹ Who clothed it with clouds, and wrapped it in a blanket of deep darkness?

¹¹ I said, 'You may come here, but no farther. Here is where your proud waves stop.'

¹³ Have you ever told the dawn where to appear that it might take hold of the corners of the earth and shake the wicked out?†

§ 37:16 Literally, "balance." * 37:19 Once again Elihu is being ironic. † 37:20 "Destroyed": or "swallowed up." Elihu is saying he fears that if he spoke directly to God he would be killed.

‡ 37:24 It's interesting that Elihu who thinks he is so wise should finish his speech with such a comment!

* 38:1 "Whirlwind," or "storm." † 38:3 Literally, "like a man." ‡ 38:7 Literally, "sons of God" as in 1:6. The parallel there of "the stars of the morning" would similarly apply to heavenly beings. § 38:8 Literally, "who shut in the sea with doors when it burst forth from the womb."

* 38:10 Literally, "I set bars and doors." † 38:13 This poetic image is meant to convey the idea that when daylight comes the wicked cease their evil.

¹⁷ Have you been shown where the gates of death are? Have you seen the gates of utter darkness?

¹⁸ Do you know how far the earth extends? Tell me if you know all this!

¹⁹ In which direction does light live? Where does darkness dwell?

²⁰ Can you take them home? Do you know the way to where they live?

²³ I have stored them up for the time of trouble, for the day of war and battle.*

²⁴ Do you know the way to where light comes from, or to where the east wind blows over the earth?

²⁵ Who cuts a channel for the rain to flow? Who creates a path for the thunderbolt?

²⁷ to water a parched wasteland to make the green grass grow?

²⁹ Who was the mother of ice? Does the frost of the air have a mother?

³¹ Can you tie together the stars of the Pleiades? Can you loosen the belt of the Orion constellation?†

³² Can you guide the stars of Mazzaroth‡ at the right time? Can you direct the Great Bear constellation and its other stars?

³⁷ Who is clever enough to count the clouds? Who can turn heaven’s water jars on their sides

³⁸ when the dust has baked into a solid mass?†

‡ 38:14 Like a seal impressing an image on a smooth piece of clay. § 38:15 Of course the wicked’s “light” is the reverse—darkness. * 38:23 Hail is often associated with God’s involvement in battle: Joshua 10:11; Exodus 9:22; Isaiah 28:17; Ezekiel 13:13. † 38:31 God is speaking figuratively regarding the stars in these constellations, previously mentioned in 9:9. ‡ 38:32 A star grouping whose name is not known. It may refer to the 12 constellations of the Zodiac. § 38:33

In the context, God is referring particularly to the laws governing heavenly bodies. * 38:36 The interpretation of this verse is unclear and many possible translations have been suggested. † 38:38 In other words, who can cause the rain to fall when the earth is parched?

⁴¹ Who provides food for the raven when its young cry out to God, weak from starvation?

² Do you know how many months they carry their young? Do you know the time when they give birth?*

³ They crouch down in labor to deliver their offspring.

⁵ Who gave the wild donkey its freedom? Who set it free from its bonds?

⁷ It despises the noise of the city; it doesn't need to listen to the shouts of a driver.†

⁸ It hunts in the mountains for pastureland, searching for all kinds of green plants to eat.

⁹ Is the wild ox willing to serve you? Will it spend the night at your manger?

¹⁰ Can you tie a wild ox to a plow? Can you make it till your fields for you?

¹⁶ She is tough towards her young, acting as if they didn't belong to her. She doesn't care that all her work was for nothing.

¹⁸ But when she needs to, she can jump up and run, mocking a horse and its rider with her speed.

²⁰ Did you make it able to jump like a locust? Its loud snorting is terrifying!

²² It laughs at fear; it is not frightened at all.

* 39:2 In verses 1-2 God is asking Job how much he knows about the natural world, indicating that much is often unobserved. † 39:7 In contrast to a domestic donkey which is controlled by the shouts of its master. ‡ 39:13 The ostrich is flightless, while the stork is a master of the air. The Hebrew is unclear and many possible translations have been proposed.

²⁴ Shaking with rage it gallops across the ground; it cannot remain still when the trumpet sounds.

²⁵ Whenever the trumpet calls, it is ready;§ he senses the sound of battle from far away, he hears the commanders shouting.

²⁹ From there it spies its prey from far away, fixing its gaze on its victim. Its chicks eagerly swallow blood.

² "Are you still going to fight with the Almighty and try to set him straight? * Anyone who argues with God must give some answers."

³ Job answered the Lord,

⁴ "Me—I am nothing at all. I have no answers. I put my hand in front of my mouth.

⁵ I have already said far too much and I won't say anything more."

⁶ Then the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind,

⁸ Are you really going to say my decisions are wrong?† Are you going to condemn me so you can be right?

¹⁰ Why don't you dress yourself with majesty and dignity, and clothe yourself with glory and splendor!

¹² Bring down the proud with your gaze; tread the wicked underfoot right where they are.

¹⁵ Consider Behemoth,‡ a creature I made just like I made you. It eats grass like cattle.

¹⁹ It is the most important example of what God can do; only the one who made it can approach it with a sword.§

§ 39:25 Literally, "he says, 'Aha!' " * 40:2 Or "Shall a faultfinder contend with God?" † 40:8 Or "invalidate my justice." ‡ 40:15 Some identify Behemoth as the hippopotamus; others with a legendary creature. Behemoth is the plural of the usual word for animal.

§ 40:19 The Hebrew is unclear. The verse may mean that only its Creator can defeat it. * 40:20 Presumably the other animals are safe from the Behemoth since it is vegetarian.

²³ Even if the river is in flood, it is not concerned; it remains calm when the Jordan river surges against it.

³ Will it beg you to let it go? Or will it talk softly to you?

⁸ If you were to grab hold of it, imagine the battle you would have! You wouldn't do that again!

⁹ Any hope to capture it is foolish. Anyone who tries is thrown to the ground.

¹⁰ Since no one has the courage to provoke Leviathan, who would dare to stand up against me?

¹³ Who can remove its hide? Who can penetrate its double coat of armor?[†]

¹⁴ Who can open its jaws? Its teeth are terrifying!

¹⁶ Its scales are so close together that no air can pass between them.

¹⁷ Each scale attaches to the next; they lock together and nothing can penetrate them.

¹⁸ When it sneezes light shines out. Its eyes are like the rising sun.

²³ Its body is dense and solid, as if it is made from cast metal.

²⁵ When it rises, even the powerful are terrified; they retreat as it thrashes about.

[†] 40:21 Some identify this with the Lotus plant, others with the Lotus tree. [‡] 40:24 Or "It can take it with his eyes: it can pierce a snare with its nose." * 41:1 Leviathan: some identify this creature with the crocodile, or a mythical beast. It is also mentioned in 3:8. [†] 41:13 Or "who can approach it with a double bridle?" [‡] 41:15 Or "back."

²⁹ Clubs are also treated like stubble; it laughs at the sound made by flying spears.

³⁰ Its underparts are covered with points as sharp as broken pots; when it drags itself through the mud it leaves marks like a threshing sledge.[§]

³¹ It churns up the sea like water in a boiling pot, like a steaming bowl when ointment is mixed.

³² It leaves a glistening wake behind it as if the sea had white hair.

³³ There is nothing on earth like it: a creature that has no fear.

¹ Then Job answered the Lord.

² "I know you can do anything. No one can prevent you doing what you want.

³ You asked,* 'Who is this who questions my wisdom by talking so ignorantly?' I was speaking about things I didn't understand—things too wonderful for me to know.

⁴ You told me,[†] 'Listen to me, I am going to speak. I am going to question you, and you must answer me.'

⁷ After the Lord had finished speaking to Job he said to Eliphaz the Temanite, "I am angry with you and your two friends because you have not told the truth about me,[§] as my servant Job did.

⁸ So take seven bulls and seven rams and go to my servant Job, and you shall offer a burnt offering for yourselves. My servant Job will pray on your behalf and I will accept his prayer and not deal with you according to your foolishness, because you have not told the truth about me, as my servant Job did."

¹⁰ The Lord restored Job's prosperity when he prayed for his friends, and gave him twice as much as he had before.

¹² The Lord blessed the last part of Job's life more than the first part. Now he owned 14,000 sheep, 6,000 camels, 1,000 teams of oxen, and 1,000 female donkeys.

[§] 41:30 Threshing sledge: a board with sharp spikes for threshing grain. * 42:3 Implied. Job in this verse and the next is referring back to what God previously said. [†] 42:4 Implied. [‡] 42:6 Or "reject," "retract." [§] 42:7 Or "said of me what is right." * 42:11 Literally, "evil."

¹⁴ Job called the first daughter Jemimah, the second Keziah, and the third Keren-Happuch.

¹⁵ Nowhere in all the land were there women as beautiful as Job's daughters, and Job gave them the same inheritance as their brothers.

- ¹ Happy are those who don't follow the advice of the wicked. They refuse to adopt the ways of sinful people, and they don't make fun of others.
- ² Instead they love to do what the law of the Lord says, and they think about it day and night.
- ³ They're like trees growing by flowing rivers, producing fruit every season. Their leaves never wither, and they are successful in all they do.
- ⁴ But it's not like that for the wicked! They are like chaff, blown away by the wind.
- ⁵ For this reason the wicked will not survive the judgment—sinners have no place among those who live right.*
- ⁶ For the Lord watches over those who follow the right way, but the way of the wicked leads to death.

- ¹ Why are the nations plotting rebellion?† The peoples devise schemes, but they're pointless.
- ² The kings of the world prepare to attack,‡ and the rulers conspire together against the Lord and his anointed one,§ saying,
- ³ "Let's break the chains and throw away the cords that bind us."
- ⁴ But the one who sits enthroned in heaven laughs. The Lord mocks them.
- ⁵ He will thunder at them, and terrify them in his fury, saying,
- ⁶ "It is I who placed my king on Zion, my holy mountain."
- ⁷ "I will proclaim the Lord's decree," says the king. "He told me, 'You are my son. Today I have become your father.¶
- ⁸ Ask me, and I will give you the nations as your possessions—the whole earth will belong to you.
- ⁹ You will break them with a rod of iron, smashing them like pottery.' "
- ¹⁰ So then you kings, be wise!‡ Be warned, you rulers of the world!
- ¹¹ Serve the Lord in reverence, celebrate with trembling!
- ¹² Submit to his son† so that he will not become angry and you die suddenly. His anger‡ flares up quickly, but how happy are all those who go to him for protection.

* 1:5 "Those who live right": literally, "the righteous." However, this term is little used in general non-church language and so in this translation it is replaced with phrases such as "those who live right" or "those who do good/right" etc. This is more than being correct, it means living a life that is morally right. * 2:1 "Plotting rebellion": The word is only found here in the OT and is variously translated as "rage," "uproar," "assemble," "consult together." In the context and with the Hebrew verse parallelism it seems that "conspiring" or "plotting rebellion" best fits here. † 2:2 "To attack"—implied. ‡ 2:2 In this context "anointed one" means the king of Israel. § 2:7 Literally, "begotten you." * 2:10 Referring back to those mentioned in verse 2. † 2:12 "Son": referring to verse 7. ‡ 2:12 "Anger": throughout the Psalms God is spoken of as becoming angry, usually in response to sin and wickedness. However, this should not be equated to the human form of anger with its volatile, unpredictable, and emotional elements. It is really describing God's strong hostility to evil.

A psalm of David concerning the time he had to flee from his son Absalom.

- 1 Lord, my enemies have become so many; so many are rebelling* against me.
- 2 So many are telling me, "God can't save you!" Selah.
- 3 But you, Lord, are a shield protecting me. You give me victory;† you hold my head high.
- 4 I cry out to the Lord for help, and he answers me from his holy mountain. Selah.
- 5 I lie down to sleep, and in the morning‡ I wake up because the Lord takes care of me.
- 6 I'm not afraid of tens of thousands who surround me, people who are against me.
- 7 Stand up for me, Lord! Save me, my God! Hit all my enemies on the cheek; break the teeth of the wicked!
- 8 Salvation belongs to you, Lord; may you be a blessing to your people. Selah.

4

- 1 When I call, please answer me, God who vindicates me. When I was hemmed in by troubles, you gave me a way out. Be gracious to me and hear my prayer.
- 2 How long will you people ruin my reputation? How long will you love what is worthless and tell lies? Selah.
- 3 You should realize that the Lord shows special favor to the faithful. The Lord listens when I call to him.
- 4 Be in awe,* do not sin. When you rest, reflect on this, and keep quiet! Selah.
- 5 Offer sacrifices with the right attitude. Trust in the Lord.
- 6 Many say, "Who is going to show us some good?" Lord, may your face shine upon us.†
- 7 The happiness you give me is better than those who have a plentiful harvest of grain and new wine.
- 8 I will lie down in peace and sleep, for you, Lord, alone keep me safe.‡

5

For the music director. A psalm of David, to be accompanied by flutes.

- 1 Lord, please listen to me. Don't ignore my groans of distress.
- 2 Hear me pleading for help, my King and my God, because I'm praying to you.

* 3:1 Since David is the writer this is clearly a reference to a widespread rebellion against him as king. † 3:3 Literally, "you are my glory" which makes little sense in English. ‡ 3:5 Implied.

* 4:4 Some translate this word as "anger," but the sense of this verse is to realize God's abilities and consequently to turn away from sinful actions. † 4:6 See Numbers 6:26. ‡ 4:8 Alternatively: "for you Lord keep me safe, even being alone."

- 3 Please listen to what I have to say in the morning, Lord. Every morning I put my requests to you* and wait for your reply.†
- 4 For you are not a God who has any pleasure in wickedness; evil has no place with you.
- 5 The proud cannot come into your presence; you hate everyone who does evil.
- 6 You destroy those who tell lies. The Lord loathes bloodthirsty and deceptive people.
- 7 But because of the greatness of your trustworthy love, I can come into your house; in awe of you I bow down towards your holy Temple.
- 8 Lead me, Lord, you who always does what is right, save me from my enemies. Make your way clear to me.
- 9 Nothing they‡ say can be trusted; their main desire is to destroy. Their throat is like an open grave; their tongues are full of flattery.
- 10 God, condemn them as guilty! Make them fall because of their evil plans. Throw them out because of all their sins, for they have rebelled against you.
- 11 But may all those who trust in you be happy—may they sing for joy forever. May you spread your protection over them so that everyone who loves your character may celebrate.
- 12 For you, Lord, bless those who live right; you protect them with your shield of love.

For the music director. To be accompanied by stringed instruments, according to the sheminith.* A psalm of David.

- 1 Lord, please don't condemn me because you're angry with me; please don't punish me because you're angry with me!
- 2 Have mercy on me, Lord, for I am weak; heal me, Lord, for I am sick to the bone.
- 3 I'm shaking all over in fear. How long will it be, Lord, before you do something?
- 4 Turn,† Lord, and rescue me! Save me because of your trustworthy love!
- 5 For no one remembers you when they're dead. Who is able to praise you from the grave?
- 6 My groaning has exhausted me. Every night I soak my bed with my crying; I drench my couch with my tears.
- 7 With all my crying I can hardly see; my eyes grow weak because of the trouble my enemies cause me.
- 8 Leave me alone, all you people who do evil, for the Lord has heard me crying!
- 9 The Lord has heard me calling out for help; the Lord answers my prayer.
- 10 All who hate me will be shamefully defeated and terrified; they will run away in disgrace.

* 5:3 "I put my requests to you." Alternatively "I offer a sacrifice to you." † 5:3 Implied. ‡ 5:9

Referring to David's enemies. * 6: The meaning of this term is not known. † 6:4 This could either mean to turn towards the psalmist, or for the Lord to change his mind and heal the psalmist.

7

A psalm (shiggaion) of David, which he sang to the Lord concerning Cush, from the tribe of Benjamin.

- ¹ Lord my God, you are my protection. Save me from those who persecute me; please rescue me!
- ² Otherwise they will tear me apart like a lion, ripping me to pieces with no one to save me.
- ³ If I have done what I'm accused of,* if my hands are guilty,
- ⁴ If I have paid back a friend with evil, if I have robbed my enemy for no reason,
- ⁵ Then let my enemies chase me down; let them trample me in the dust and drag my reputation through the dirt. Selah.
- ⁶ Stand up, Lord, in your anger, rise up against the fury of my enemies; wake up, Lord, and bring me justice![†]
- ⁷ Bring together the nations before you; rule them from your throne on high.
- ⁸ The Lord judges all people. Defend me, Lord, because I do what is right, because of my integrity.
- ⁹ Please bring an end to the evil done by the wicked; vindicate those who do good, for you are the God of right who examines hearts and minds.
- ¹⁰ The Most High God is my defense, the one who saves those who live right.
- ¹¹ God is a fair judge who is always hostile to evil.
- ¹² If people do not change their minds, he will sharpen his sword. He has bent and strung his bow.
- ¹³ He has prepared weapons of death, he has his flaming arrows ready.
- ¹⁴ See how the wicked conceive evil! They are pregnant with trouble. They give birth to dishonesty.
- ¹⁵ They dig a deep hole to catch people, but then fall into it themselves.
- ¹⁶ The trouble they cause rebounds to hit them on the head; their violence against others comes down on their own skulls.
- ¹⁷ I will thank the Lord because he does what is right; I will sing praises to the name of the Lord Most High.

8

- ¹ Lord, our Lord, your magnificent reputation* fills the earth! Your majesty is greater than the heavens above,
- ² and is sung by the voices of children and infants. Your strength counters your opponents, silencing the enemy and the avenger.
- ³ When I contemplate the heavens that your hands made, the moon and stars that you placed there,
- ⁴ What are human beings that you should concern yourself with them? What are people that you should care for them?

* 7:3 "Done what I'm accused of": literally, "done this." † 7:6 The psalmist is using imagery that is very human to describe God. Telling God to wake up is surely not meant to be taken literally, but a plea for God to act. Similarly the appeal for God's anger to be directed against the fury of his enemies reflects a desire to be vindicated, not a description of the nature of God. * 8:1 Literally, "name." In Hebrew thought name was a description of reputation and character.

- 5 You created them a little lower than God,[†] crowning them with glory and majesty.
 6 You put them in charge of all that you made, giving them authority over everything:
 7 the sheep, the cattle, and the wild animals,
 8 the birds in the sky, and the fish in the sea—everything that swims in the ocean.
 9 Lord, our Lord, your magnificent reputation fills the earth!

- 1 I will praise you, Lord, with all my heart; I will tell of all the amazing things you have done.
 2 I will be glad and celebrate in you; I will sing praises to your wonderful nature, Most High God.
 3 Those who hate me retreat; they fall back and die when you confront them.
 4 For you have judged that I am right; you have decided fairly from your throne of judgment.
 5 You have condemned the nations; you have destroyed the wicked; you have wiped out their names forever and ever.
 6 The enemies are finished, ruined forever; their cities are destroyed—even the memory of them is gone.
 8 The Lord judges the world rightly; he judges the nations fairly.
 9 The Lord is a place of safety for those who are oppressed, a fortress in times of trouble.
 10 Those who know your nature[†] trust in you, for you don't abandon those who come to you.
 11 Sing praises to the Lord who reigns in Zion! Tell the nations what he has done!
 12 He does not forget to punish murderers; he does not ignore the cries of the suffering.
 13 Be gracious to me, Lord! Look at how my enemies are persecuting me! Grab me back from the gates of death,
 14 so I can praise you at Zion's gates, happy that you have saved me.
 15 The nations have fallen into their own pit they dug; their feet are trapped by their own net they set.
 17 The wicked depart, going to the grave—all nations who turn their backs on God.
 18 But the needy will not be ignored forever; the hope of those who suffer will not always be dashed.
 19 Stand up, Lord! Don't let human beings win! Let the nations be brought before you for judgment!

[†] 8:5 "God": or, "the angels" or "heavenly beings." The word used is "elohim," one of the usual names for God. * 9: In some Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint, Psalms 9 and 10 are combined as one. [†] 9:10 Literally, "name."

- ¹ Lord, why are you so distant? Why do you hide from me in times of trouble?
- ² The wicked chase down the poor with impunity. May they be trapped by the evil schemes they themselves invented.
- ³ For the wicked boast about what they want to do. They praise the greedy, but treat the Lord with contempt.
- ⁴ The wicked are too proud to come to God. In all their thinking they never consider God.
- ⁵ What they do always seems to go well. They're unaware of God's judgments. They ridicule all their enemies.
- ⁶ They tell themselves, "Nothing bad is going to happen to me. I'll never be in trouble!"
- ⁷ Their speech is full of cursing, lies, and threats; their tongues are always ready to spread trouble and cause evil.
- ⁸ They hide out in ambush in the villages, ready to kill innocent passers-by. They are always on the lookout for their next victim.
- ⁹ They lie in ambush like a lion ready to attack, ready to leap out from their hiding place to seize their victim. They capture the helpless, throwing a net over them.
- ¹⁰ Their victims are knocked down, laid low.* They fall under the strength of the wicked.
- ¹¹ They tell themselves, "God won't notice. He's looking the other way. He won't ever see anything."
- ¹² Take a stand, Lord! Raise your hand to strike! Don't forget those who can't defend themselves.
- ¹³ Why do the wicked think they can treat God with such contempt? Why do they think that God won't make them accountable?
- ¹⁴ But you do see the trouble and grief they cause. Take it into your own hands. The helpless trust in you; you defend the orphans.
- ¹⁵ Destroy the power of the wicked, those evil people! Call each of them to account until there are none left!
- ¹⁶ Lord, you are King forever and ever! The nations will vanish from their lands.
- ¹⁷ Lord, you have heard the longing cries of those who are suffering. You will encourage them, for you will listen to them.
- ¹⁸ You will defend the rights of orphans and the oppressed so that those who are mere human beings here on earth will never terrorize them again.

- ¹ Lord, you are my protection. So how can you tell me, "Fly away to the mountains like a bird"?

* 10:10 It is uncertain as to whether this line refers to the victims or the wicked. If it is the latter, it could be translated, "They crouch down and lie low."

- 2 Look, the wicked are drawing their bows, loading them with arrows ready to shoot from the shadows at good people.
- 3 When the foundations of society are destroyed, what can those who live right do?
- 4 The Lord is in his Temple; the Lord's throne is in heaven. He keeps a close eye on everyone, watching them carefully.
- 5 The Lord examines both those who do right and those who do evil, but he hates those who love violence.
- 6 He will make blazing coals and sulfur rain down on the wicked; a scorching wind is what's coming on them.
- 7 The Lord does what is right, and he loves those who live right. Those who do good will see him face to face.

For the music director. To the Sheminith. A psalm of David.

- 1 Help, Lord, for all the good people have gone! Those who trust in you have disappeared from among the people on earth.
- 2 Everyone lies to their neighbors. They flatter with nice talk, but they don't mean what they say.*
- 3 Stop their flattery, Lord, and silence their boasts—
- 4 these people who say, "We will succeed through what we say; our mouths belong to us. We don't take orders from anyone!"
- 5 "Because of the violence the helpless have suffered, and because of the groans of the poor, I will rise up to defend them," says the Lord. "I will give them the protection they have been longing for."
- 6 What the Lord says is trustworthy, as pure as silver refined seven times in a furnace.
- 7 You, Lord will keep the oppressed safe; you will protect us from these kinds of people forever;
- 8 even though the wicked are all around us, and evil is being promoted everywhere.†

- 1 How long, Lord, are you going to forget me? Forever? How long will you turn away from me?
- 2 How long must I be in inner turmoil, feeling sad all day long? How long will my enemy be victorious over me?
- 3 Think about this, and answer me, Lord my God. Give me back my strength,* otherwise I'm going to die,
- 4 and my enemy will say, "I defeated him!" and my opponents will celebrate my downfall.
- 5 But I trust in your never-failing love, I will be happy because you save me.
- 6 I will sing to the Lord because he has treated me with such generosity!

* 12:2 Literally, they have "double hearts." † 12:8 "Everywhere": literally, "among the offspring of humankind." * 13:3 Literally, "give light to my eyes." Bright eyes were seen as indicative of good health.

- ¹ Only fools tell themselves, "God doesn't exist." They are completely immoral; they commit terrible sins; not a single one of them does anything good.
- ² The Lord watches from heaven to see whether anyone understands—if there's anyone who wants to come to God.
- ³ They have all gone their own way, they are totally depraved; none of them does anything good, not even one.
- ⁴ Won't these people who do evil ever learn? They consume my people as if they were eating bread, and refuse to pray to the Lord.
- ⁵ Look, they will become terrified, because God is with those who live right.
- ⁶ The wicked dismiss the plans of the poor people, but the Lord looks after them.
- ⁷ If only the Lord's salvation would come from Zion! When the Lord restores* his people, the people of Jacob will celebrate, and the people of Israel will be glad.

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Who may enter your sanctuary, Lord?* Who may come into your presence on your holy mountain?
- ² Those who live without fault and do what is right, those who sincerely tell the truth.
- ³ They do not slander; do not treat their neighbors badly, do not gossip about people they know.
- ⁴ They reject people the Lord has rejected, but honor those who follow the Lord. They keep their promises even when it's hard to do. They don't change their minds.
- ⁵ They lend money without charging interest. They don't take bribes to testify against the innocent. Those who act like this will never ever fall.

A psalm (miktam) of David.

- ¹ Take care of me, Lord, for I come to you for protection.
- ² I tell the Lord, "Apart from you Lord, I don't have anything that's good."
- ³ As for the holy people in the land, they are the ones who are truly great. I appreciate them.*
- ⁴ Those who run after other gods will face a lot of trouble. I will not participate in their offerings of blood, I will not even speak the names of their gods.
- ⁵ Lord, you alone are all I have; you give me what I need; you safeguard my future.†

* 14:7 The term used here is often applied to the return from Exile, but here would apply to the blessings the people would receive when they returned to God. * 15:1 Literally, "Who may dwell in your tent?" * 16:3 The meaning of this verse is unclear. † 16:5 Literally, "You are my portion, my cup, and you maintain my lot."

- 6 The land divisions have worked out in my favor[‡]—my property is wonderful!
- 7 I will bless the Lord who gives me good advice; even at night my conscience[§] tells me what is right.
- 8 I have always kept the Lord in front of me. I will not be shaken, for he is right beside me.
- 9 That's why I'm so happy! That's why I am full of joy! That's why my body lives in hope!
- 10 For you will not abandon me in the grave, nor will you allow your Holy One to experience decay.
- 11 You have shown me the path of life, filling me with joy with your presence and the delight of living with you forever.

A prayer of David.

- 1 Lord, please hear my cry for justice! Please pay attention to my call for help! Listen to the prayer of an honest man!*
- 2 Vindicate me before you—for you see what is right.
- 3 You have observed my thoughts, you have visited me at night, you have examined me—and you have found nothing wrong. I promised myself I wouldn't say anything I shouldn't.
- 4 With regard to the actions of others: I have done what you told me and I have avoided what violent people do.[†]
- 5 I have not strayed from your path; my feet have not slipped from it.
- 6 God, I call out to you because I know you will answer; please listen carefully to what I have to say.
- 7 Show me how wonderful your trustworthy love really is, Savior of those who come to you for protection against their enemies!
- 8 Keep me safe as someone you love;[‡] hide me underneath your wings.
- 9 Protect me from the attacks of the wicked who want to destroy me, from my enemies who surround me, intent on killing me.
- 10 They have no compassion,[§] and all they have to say is pure arrogance.
- 11 They hunt me down and surround me, looking for the chance to knock me down in the dust.
- 12 They are like lions, longing to tear their prey apart; like fierce lions crouching in ambush.
- 13 Lord, stand up and confront them! Force them to back down! By your sword rescue me from the wicked!
- 14 Lord, by your power, save me from people whose only thought is for this world. May they be filled with what you have in store for them, their children too, with left-overs for their grandchildren!*

[‡] 16:6 Referring to the way in which land was divided up, particularly when the Promised Land was first settled. What the psalmist is saying is that the dividing lines produced land that was good for him. Literally, "The measuring lines have fallen for me in pleasant places." § 16:7 Literally, "my kidneys." * 17:1 Literally, "which is not among the lips of deceit." † 17:4 Or "I have seen what happens to violent people." ‡ 17:8 Literally, "Guard me as the pupil of your eye." § 17:10 Literally, "They close up the fat." * 17:14 The meaning of this verse is uncertain, even whether it is a blessing or a curse. From the context it is certainly an appeal for God to vindicate the good and punish the bad.

- ¹⁵ As for me, I shall see your face in all its goodness. When I awake, I will be so pleased to see you face to face.

To the music director. A psalm of David the servant of the Lord, who sang the words of this song to the Lord on the day when the Lord saved him from all his enemies, and from Saul. He sang:

- ¹ I love you, Lord. You are my strength.
² The Lord is my rock, my fortress, and my Savior. He is my God, my rock who protects me. He shields me from harm, his power protects me,* he keeps me safe.
³ I call for help from the Lord who should be praised, and he saves me from those who hate me.
⁴ Ropes of death encircled me, surging waters of destruction flooded over me;
⁶ In my despair I called on the Lord—I cried out to my God for help. He heard my voice from his Temple—my cry for help reached his ears.
⁷ The earth shook to and fro; the foundations of the mountains trembled, shaking because of his anger.
⁹ He parted the heavens and came down, with dark clouds beneath his feet.
¹⁰ Riding on an angel† he flew, swooping on the wings of the wind.
¹³ The Lord thundered from heaven; the voice of the Most High sounded among the hailstones and burning coals.
¹⁵ You roared, Lord, and by the wind from the breath of your nostrils the valleys of the sea were exposed and the foundations of the earth were uncovered.
¹⁶ He reached down his hand from above and grabbed hold of me. He pulled me out of the deep water.
¹⁷ He rescued me from my powerful enemies, from those who hated me and who were much stronger than me.
¹⁸ They came at me at my worst possible moment§, but the Lord supported me.
¹⁹ He set me free,* he rescued me because he's my friend.†
²⁰ The Lord rewarded me because I do what's right; he repaid me because I am innocent.‡

* 18:2 Literally, "horn of my salvation." † 18:10 Literally, "cherub," but in English this has become associated with an angelic baby. ‡ 18:14 Implied. § 18:18 Literally, "my day of disaster."

* 18:19 Literally, "brought me out to a spacious place." † 18:19 Or "he delights in me." ‡ 18:20 Literally, "because of the cleanness of my hands."

- 21 For I have followed the Lord's ways; I have not sinned by turning away from my God.
- 22 I have kept all his laws in mind; I have not ignored his commandments.
- 23 I am blameless in his sight; I keep myself from sinning.
- 24 The Lord rewarded me for doing what's right. I am innocent in his sight.
- 25 You show trust to those who trust; you show integrity to those with integrity,[§]
- 26 You show yourself pure to those who are pure, but you show yourself smart to those who are crafty.*
- 27 You save the humble, but you bring down the proud.
- 28 You light my lamp! Lord, my God, you light up my darkness!
- 29 With you, I can charge down a troop of soldiers; with you, my God, I can climb a fortress wall.
- 30 God's way is absolutely right.[†] What the Lord says is trustworthy. He is a shield to all who come to him for protection.
- 31 For who is God except the Lord? Who is the rock, except our God?
- 32 God makes me strong and keeps me safe.
- 33 He makes me surefooted like the deer, able to walk the heights in safety.
- 34 He teaches me how to fight in battle; he gives me the strength to draw a bronze bow.
- 35 You protect me with the shield of your salvation; you support me with your powerful right hand; your help has made me great.
- 36 You gave me space in which to walk, and prevented my feet from slipping.
- 37 I chased my enemies, and caught up with them. I did not turn around until I had destroyed them.
- 38 I struck them down—they couldn't get up. They fell at my feet.
- 39 You made me strong for battle; you made those who rose up against me kneel down before me.
- 40 You made my enemies run away; I destroyed all my enemies.
- 41 They cried out for help, but no one came to rescue them. They even called out to the Lord, but he did not answer them.
- 42 I ground them into dust, like dust in the wind. I threw them out like mud in the street.
- 43 You rescued me from rebellious people; you made me ruler over nations—people I didn't know now serve me.
- 44 As soon as they hear of me, they obey; foreigners cringe before me.
- 45 They lose heart, and come trembling in surrender from their strongholds.
- 46 The Lord lives! Blessed be my rock! May the God who saves me be praised!
- 47 God avenges me, he subdues peoples under me,
- 48 he rescues me from those who hate me. You keep me safe from those who rebel against me, you save me from violent men.

[§] 18:25 The word used here means “complete” or “sound.” * 18:26 Both words used here have to do with being “twisted,” the first in the sense of being clever, the second in the sense of being devious and perverse. [†] 18:30 The word used here, often translated as “perfect,” is the same as in 18:25.

- 49 That's why I will praise you among the nations, Lord; I will sing praises about who you are.[‡]
- 50 You have saved the king so often,[§] showing your trustworthy love to David, your anointed, and to his descendants forever.

- 1 The heavens declare God's glory; the skies above announce what he has made.
- 2 Each day speaks constantly about God's glory to the next day; each night shares knowledge of God with the next night.
- 3 They speak without speech or words; their voice is not audible;
- 4 Yet what they say is heard all over the earth; their message goes to the whole world. God has made a home in the heavens* for the sun.
- 5 It's like a bridegroom coming out of his room, like a fit athlete happy to run a race.
- 6 It rises on one side of the heavens and travels across to the other. Nothing is hidden from its heat.
- 7 The Lord's law is beneficial,[†] renewing spiritual life. The Lord's teaching is trustworthy, making inexperienced people wise.
- 8 The Lord's instructions are right, making people glad. The Lord's commandments are sincere, helping people see what is good.
- 9 Reverence for the Lord is right, and lasts forever. The Lord's judgments are both true and fair.
- 10 They[‡] are more to be valued than gold, even the finest gold; they are sweeter than honey, even the purest honey coming straight from the honeycomb.
- 11 They also warn[§] your servant. By keeping them I'm richly rewarded.
- 12 Who's aware of their own mistakes? Don't punish me for these faults I'm unaware of.
- 13 Don't let your servant commit deliberate sins. Don't let them rule over me. Then I will be without fault, innocent of such rebellion.
- 14 May you be pleased with the words I speak, and the thoughts I think, Lord my rock and my redeemer.

- 1 May the Lord answer you when you are in trouble; may the name of the God of Jacob protect you.*
- 2 May the Lord send you help from the sanctuary, and may he support you from Zion.

[‡] 18:49 "Of who you are": Literally, "to your name": the concept of name in Hebrew is far more than a simple designation; it refers to the character of the person. [§] 18:50 Or "You have given many victories to the king." * 19:4 Implied; literally, "in them." [†] 19:7 The word used here, often translated as "perfect," is the same as in 18:25 and 18:30, and indicates not only perfection but aspects that are wholesome and healthful. [‡] 19:10 Referring to God's laws. [§] 19:11 Or "enlighten." * 20:1 The word "name" in the Old Testament represents not just the person but their nature and character.

- 3 May the Lord remember all your offerings, and accept all your burnt sacrifices. Selah.
- 4 May the Lord give you whatever you really want; may he make all your plans successful.
- 5 May we shout for joy over your victory, and set up banners in the name of our God.[†] May the Lord answer all your requests.
- 6 Now I know that the Lord saves the one he has anointed. He will answer him from his holy heaven, and save his anointed by his powerful right hand.
- 7 Some trust in chariots and some in war horses, but we trust in who[‡] the Lord our God is.
- 8 They collapse and fall down, but we rise and stand up.
- 9 May the Lord save the king! Please answer us when we call for help!

- 1 The king celebrates your strength, Lord; he is so happy you made him victorious!
- 2 You gave him everything he wanted; you didn't hold anything back he asked for.
- 3 You welcomed him on his return with special blessings; you placed a crown of pure gold on his head.
- 4 He asked you to give him a good life, and you gave him a long life, forever and ever.
- 5 Your victories brought him great glory; you granted him splendor and majesty.
- 6 You give him blessings forever. He is full of joy because you are with him.
- 7 For the king trusts in the Lord; he stands firm because of the trustworthy love of the Most High.
- 8 You, the king,^{*} will find and capture all your enemies; you will seize everyone who hates you.
- 9 When you appear on the scene you will burn them up like in a furnace; the Lord in his anger will destroy them, burning them up with fire.
- 10 You will wipe out their children from the earth, their descendants from humankind.
- 11 Though they plot evil against you, their malicious schemes will not succeed.
- 12 They will turn and run away when they see your arrows fired at them.
- 13 Rise up, Lord, for you are strong! We will sing and praise your power!

For the music director. To the tune "Doe of the Dawn." A psalm of David.

- 1 My God, my God, why have you abandoned me? Why are you so far away when I groan, asking for help?
- 2 My God, every day I cry out to you, but you don't answer; at night too, but I get no rest.

[†] 20:5 The people address the king and his victory, and then look to set up banners in celebration.

[‡] 20:7 "Who": literally, "name." ^{*} 21:8 Implied.

- ³ Yet you are holy, and the praises of Israel are your throne.*
⁴ Our forefathers trusted in you; they trusted and you rescued them.
⁵ They cried out to you for help, and they were saved. They trusted in you and were not defeated.†
⁷ People who see me mock me. They laugh at me‡ and shake their heads, saying,
⁸ "He trusts in the Lord—well then, let the Lord save him! If the Lord is such a friend, then let the Lord rescue him!"
⁹ However, you brought me safely through birth, and led me to trust in you at my mother's breasts.
¹⁰ I was entrusted to you from birth; from the time I was born you have been my God.
¹¹ Do not be distant from me, because trouble is close by and no one else can help.
¹² Enemies surround me like a herd of bulls; strong bulls from Bashan have encircled me.
¹³ Like roaring lions tearing at their prey they open their mouths wide against me.
¹⁴ I feel like I'm being poured out like water. I'm falling apart as if all my bones have become loose. My mind feels like it's wax melting inside me.
¹⁵ My strength has dried up like a piece of broken pottery. My tongue is stuck to the roof of my mouth. You're burying me as if I'm already dead.§
¹⁶ Evil men surround me like a pack of dogs. They have pierced* my hands and feet.
¹⁷ I'm so thin† I can count all my bones. People stare at me and gloat.
¹⁸ They divide my clothing among them; they roll dice‡ for my clothes.
²⁰ Save me from death by the sword! Save my life—the only one I have—from the dogs!
²² I will tell my people all the wonderful things you have done;§ I will praise you in the congregation.
²³ Praise the Lord, all who worship him! Honor him, every descendant of Jacob! Be in awe of him, every descendant of Israel!
²⁴ For he has not ridiculed or scorned the suffering of the poor; he has not turned away from them, he has listened to their cries for help.
²⁶ The poor shall eat, and they shall be satisfied. All who come to the Lord will praise him—may you all live forever!

* 22:3 The image is thought to be of the Ark of Agreement within the Temple as the earthly location of the presence of God. † 22:5 "Defeated": literally, "put to shame." The concept of being disgraced is closely linked to defeat and is used in this connection in several psalms. ‡ 22:7 Literally, "they open wide their lips." § 22:15 Literally, "you lay me down in the dust of death."

* 22:16 Dead Sea Scrolls. The Hebrew text reads "like a lion." † 22:17 Implied. ‡ 22:18 Literally, "cast lots." § 22:22 Literally, "proclaim your name."

- 27 Everyone in the whole world will repent and return to the Lord; all the nations will worship before you.
- 28 For kingly power belongs to the Lord; he is the one who rules over the nations.
- 29 All who prosper come to feast and worship. Bow down before him, all those destined for the grave—for none can keep themselves alive.*
- 30 Our descendants will serve him; they will tell the next generation about the Lord.
- 31 They will come and tell those yet to be born how good the Lord is, and all that he has done!

A psalm of David.

- 1 Since the Lord is my shepherd, I have everything I need.
- 2 He gives me rest in green fields. He leads me towards quietly flowing streams.
- 3 He revives me. He guides me along the right paths because that's the kind of person he is.
- 4 Even when I walk through the valley dark as death, I'm not afraid of any evil, because you are right there with me; your rod and your staff protect me.
- 5 You prepare a banquet for me before my enemies. You honor me by anointing my head with olive oil. My cup is so full it overflows!
- 6 I'm absolutely certain that your goodness and trustworthy love will be with me all through my life, and I will live in the house of the Lord forever.

A psalm of David.

- 1 The earth is the Lord's, and everything that is in it belongs to him. The world is his, and everyone who lives there.
- 2 For he is the one who laid its foundations on the seas, setting it in place on the waters.
- 3 Who is allowed to go up the Lord's mountain? Who is permitted to stand in his holy place?
- 4 Those who have clean hands* and pure minds, who don't worship idols,† and who don't lie under oath.
- 5 They will take with them the blessing of the Lord, vindicated by the God who saves them.
- 6 These are the kind of people who may go to the Lord and worship before you, God of Jacob. Selah.
- 7 Open up, you gates! Swing wide, you ancient doors! Let the King of glory come in!
- 8 Who is this King of glory? The Lord, strong and powerful, mighty in battle.
- 9 Open up, you gates! Swing wide, you ancient doors! Let the King of glory come in!

* 22:29 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear. * 24:4 "Clean" in the sense of innocent and not guilty of sin. † 24:4 "Don't worship idols" or "don't take the name of the Lord in vain."

10 Who is this King of glory? The Lord Almighty, he is the King of glory!
Selah.

A psalm of David.

- 1 Lord, I come to worship you.*
- 2 I trust in you, my God. Don't let me be humiliated, and don't let my enemies triumph over me.
- 3 No one who trusts in you will be humiliated, but humiliation comes to those who are deliberately dishonest.
- 4 Show me your ways, Lord; teach me to follow your paths.
- 5 Lead me in your truth and teach me, for you are the God of my salvation. All day long I put my trust in you.
- 6 Remember, Lord, your compassion and trustworthy love—they are eternal!
- 7 Please don't remember the sins of my youth when I rebelled against you. Instead, remember me according to your trustworthy love, remember me because of your goodness, Lord.
- 8 The Lord is good and he is right; that is why he shows the way to those who are lost.†
- 9 He leads those who are humble in doing what's right, teaching them his way.
- 10 The Lord's paths are those of trustworthy love and truth for those who keep his agreement‡ and do as he says.
- 11 Lord, because of your nature, forgive my many sins.
- 12 Who are those who respect the Lord? He will show them the path to choose.
- 13 They will continue to be prosperous, and their descendants will inherit the land.
- 14 The Lord is friends with those who respect him, explaining to them his agreement.
- 15 I always look to the Lord, for he rescues me when I'm trapped.§
- 16 Watch over me and be good to me, because I am all alone and suffering.
- 17 My problems get bigger and bigger. Please save me from all I'm going through.
- 18 See all my troubles and trials. Please forgive my sins.
- 19 Look at how many enemies I have, and how they really hate me!*
- 20 Please look after me and save me! Don't let me be humiliated, for you are the one who protects me.
- 21 May integrity and honesty defend me because I place my confidence in you.
- 22 God, please deliver the people of Israel from all their troubles!

* 25:1 Literally, "I lift up my soul to you." † 25:8 "Those who are lost": often translated "sinners," the underlying meaning is "those who miss the right path," "go astray." ‡ 25:10 Or "covenant." Also verse 14. § 25:15 "Rescues me when I'm trapped": literally, "pulls my feet out of the net" (for catching birds). * 25:19 Literally, "hate me with violent hatred."

A psalm of David.

- 1 Confirm that I'm innocent, Lord, for I have acted with integrity, and I have trusted in the Lord without fail.
- 2 Examine me, Lord, test me; investigate my thoughts and intentions.
- 3 For I always remember your trustworthy love, and I follow your truth.
- 4 I don't join in with liars and I don't associate with hypocrites.
- 5 I refuse to get together with those who do evil, and I won't involve myself with the wicked.
- 6 I wash my hands to show my innocence. I come to worship* at your altar, Lord,
- 7 singing my thanks, telling of all the wonderful things you have done.
- 8 Lord, I love your house, the place where you live in your glory.
- 9 Please don't sweep me away along with sinners. Don't include me with those who commit murder,
- 10 whose hands carry out their evil schemes and grab hold of bribes.
- 11 For I don't do that—I act with integrity. Save me and be gracious to me!
- 12 I stand for what's right,[†] and I will praise the Lord when we meet together to worship him.

A psalm of David.

- 1 The Lord is my light and my salvation! How could anyone scare me? The Lord is my life's fortress! How could anyone terrify me?
- 2 When evil people come at me to tear me apart, it's my enemies, those who are against me, they're the ones who trip and fall.
- 3 Even if an army surrounds me, I won't be frightened. Even if I am attacked, I will still trust in God.
- 4 I only ask the Lord for one thing: I just want to live in the house of the Lord throughout my life, contemplating the Lord's goodness and thinking about his Temple.
- 5 When troubles come he will protect me and keep me safe, hiding me in his house,* as secure as if he'd placed me on a high rock.
- 6 He will hold my head high over my enemies who are all around me. I shall offer sacrifices in his house with shouts of joy, and I will sing praises to the Lord.
- 7 Listen to me, Lord, when I call for help. Be gracious and answer me.
- 8 You told me, "Come to me." I am coming to you, Lord.[†]
- 9 Don't refuse to talk to me. Don't be angry with your servant and turn away. You are the one who helps me, so please don't reject me and abandon me, God of my salvation.
- 10 Even if my father and my mother abandon me, the Lord will take care of me.
- 11 Lord, teach me your way and lead me along the right path, because my enemies are against me[‡]—

* 26:6 Literally, "I march around your altar"—part of the actions of worship. † 26:12 "I stand for what's right": literally, "My foot stands on level ground." * 27:5 "House": literally, "tent." Also verse 6. † 27:8 Or "I told myself, 'I will go to the Lord.'" Lord, I am coming to you." ‡ 27:11 "Are against me": implied.

- ¹² don't hand me over to them and their evil intentions, for they are making false accusations against me and threatening me with violence.
- ¹³ However, I'm absolutely sure that I will see the Lord's goodness even in this life.
- ¹⁴ Trust in the Lord! Be confident—he will give you courage! Trust in the Lord!

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Lord, my rock, I'm calling out to you. Please listen to me! For if you don't respond, I'll be like those who go down into the grave.*
- ² Listen as I appeal for mercy, as I call for help, as I hold up my hands in prayer towards your holy Temple.
- ³ Don't drag me off with the wicked, with those who do evil, who speak nicely to their neighbors while in their minds they're plotting evil.
- ⁴ Give them what they deserve for their evil actions. Pay them back for what they've done. Give them the reward they've earned!
- ⁵ For they don't pay any attention to what the Lord does, or to what he created. So he will destroy them—they will never be restored.
- ⁶ Praise the Lord! For he has heard my appeal for mercy!
- ⁷ The Lord is my strength and my shield. I trust in him and he helps me. I'm so happy, and I sing my thanks to him.
- ⁸ The Lord gives strength to his people; he is a safe refuge for the one he has anointed.†
- ⁹ Save your people! Bless your "special possession"!‡ Be their shepherd and carry them in your arms forever!

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Honor* the Lord, children of God,† honor his glory and strength.
- ² Honor the Lord for his glorious character, bow in reverence to the Lord in his brilliant holiness.
- ³ The Lord's voice sounds over the sea. The God of glory thunders. The Lord thunders over the vast ocean.
- ⁴ The Lord's voice is powerful; the Lord's voice is majestic;
- ⁵ the Lord's voice shatters the cedars, even breaking the cedars of Lebanon.
- ⁶ He makes the mountains of Lebanon skip like a calf, and Mount Hermon like a young wild ox.
- ⁷ The Lord's voice blazes out like lightning flashes.
- ⁸ The Lord's voice causes an earthquake in the desert; the desert of Kadesh shakes.
- ⁹ The Lord's voice makes the pregnant deer go into labor; it strips bare the forests. In his Temple all the worshippers shout, "Glory!"

* 28:1 "Grave": literally, "pit." † 28:8 In context this probably referred to Israel's king. ‡ 28:9

The Lord's "special possession" is his people Israel. * 29:1 "Honor," often translated by the now rather archaic term, "ascribe," meaning to affirm a quality or attribute, give respect. † 29:1 Literally, "sons of gods." This may refer to angels or to all thinking beings.

- ¹⁰ The Lord sits on his throne above the floodwaters; the Lord is the eternal King.
- ¹¹ The Lord gives strength to his people; the Lord blesses them with peace.

- ¹ I want to tell everyone how good you are, Lord, for you saved me, and you didn't let my enemies triumph over me.
- ² Lord, my God, I called out to you for help, and you have healed me.
- ³ Lord, you rescued me from the grave, you brought me back to life, saving me from going down into the pit of death.
- ⁴ You who trust the Lord, sing praises to him, and be thankful for his holy character!
- ⁵ For his anger only lasts a moment, but his favor lasts a lifetime. You may spend the night in tears, but happiness comes with the morning.
- ⁶ When things were going well, I said, "Nothing will ever shake me!"
- ⁷ Lord, when you showed me your favor I stood as strong as a mountain; when you turned away from me I was terrified.
- ⁸ I called out to you for help, Lord. I asked the Lord for grace, saying,
- ⁹ What would you gain if I die, if I go down into the pit of death? Would my dust praise you? Would it tell of your trustworthiness?
- ¹⁰ Please listen to me, Lord, and be gracious to me! Lord, you are the one who helps me.
- ¹¹ You have turned my weeping into dancing. You have taken off my clothes of sackcloth* and dressed me in happiness,
- ¹² so I can sing praises to you and not keep quiet. Lord my God, I will thank you forever!

- ¹ Lord, you are the one who keeps me safe; please don't let me ever be humiliated. Save me, because you always do what is right.
- ² Please listen to me, and be quick to rescue me. Be my rock of protection, my strong fortress of safety.
- ³ You are my rock and my fortress. For the sake of your reputation, please lead me and guide me.
- ⁴ Help me escape from the hidden net that they set to trap me, for you are the one who protects me.
- ⁵ I put myself in your hands. Save me, Lord, for you are a trustworthy God.
- ⁶ I* hate those who devote themselves to pointless idols; I trust in the Lord.
- ⁷ I will celebrate, happy in your love that never fails, for you have seen the problems I face and have paid attention to my troubles.
- ⁸ You haven't handed me over to my enemies; you have set me free.†

* 30:11 Wearing sackcloth was a sign of mourning.

* 31:6 Some manuscripts have "You."

† 31:8 "You have set me free": literally, "you have set my feet in an open area."

- ⁹ Be kind to me Lord, for I am upset. I can hardly see from so much crying. I am completely wasting away.
- ¹⁰ Grief is killing me; my life is cut short by sadness; I am falling apart[‡] because of my troubles; I am worn to the bone.
- ¹¹ I am ridiculed by my enemies, particularly by my neighbors. My friends dread meeting me; people who see me in the street run the other way.
- ¹² I have been forgotten as if I were dead; I'm ignored like a broken pot.
- ¹³ I hear many people whispering about me; terror surrounds me. They plot together against me, planning to kill me.
- ¹⁴ But I put my trust in you, Lord, saying, "You are my God!"
- ¹⁵ My whole life[§] is in your hands! Save me from those who hate me and persecute me!
- ¹⁶ May you look kindly on me,^{*} your servant. Save me because of your trustworthy love.
- ¹⁷ Lord, don't let me be disgraced, for I'm calling out to you. Instead let the wicked be disgraced, let them be silent in the grave.
- ¹⁸ Shut the mouths of those who tell lies against good people—those who speak contemptuously in their pride and arrogance!
- ¹⁹ How wonderful is the goodness you have reserved for those who honor you! In front of everyone you give this goodness to those who come to you for help.
- ²⁰ You shelter and protect them with your presence, far from their enemies who scheme against them. You keep them safe from attacks and accusations.
- ²¹ Bless the Lord, for he has shown me his wonderful trustworthy love when my city was being attacked
- ²² Terrified I cried out, "I am being destroyed right in front of you!" But you heard my cry when I called out for you to help me.
- ²³ Love the Lord, all you who trust in him! The Lord takes care of those who trust him, but he pays back in full those who are arrogant.
- ²⁴ Be strong and be confident,[†] all you who put your hope in the Lord.

A psalm of David.

- ¹ How happy are those whose wrongs are forgiven, whose sins are covered.*
- ² How happy are those whose sins the Lord does not count against them, those who do not act deceptively.

[‡] 31:10 "Falling apart": literally, "stumbling." [§] 31:15 "My whole life," literally, "my times."

^{} 31:16 Literally, "Let your face shine upon me." [†] 31:24 Literally, "strong of heart." ^{} 32:1 The two verbs used here reflect differing ideas in relation to how sins are dealt with. In the first they are "carried away" (the Hebrew meaning of forgiveness), while in the second they are "covered" in the sense that they are no longer seen, rendered invisible. As in all metaphors, such concepts are limited since one can argue that sins cannot be "removed" in that the actions cannot be undone, nor are sins amenable to a "cover up" operation—meaning that while they are concealed they are still there. In all such discussions the wider concepts of the meaning of sin must be considered: as primarily a broken relationship with God, with wrong attitudes and actions that lead to separation and death.

- 3 When I kept quiet,[†] my body fell apart as I groaned in distress all day long.
- 4 You beat me day and night,[‡] my strength dried up as in the heat of summer. Selah.
- 5 Then I confessed my sins to you. I did not hide the wrongs I had done. I said to myself, "I will confess my disobedience to the Lord," and you forgave the guilt of my sins. Selah.
- 6 Therefore let all who are faithful pray to you while there's time, so when trouble comes in like a flood it will not overwhelm them.
- 7 For you are my refuge, you protect me from trouble. You surround me with songs of salvation. Selah.
- 8 "I[§] will instruct you, teaching you the way to follow. I will advise you, watching out for you.
- 9 You mustn't be like a horse or a mule that doesn't know which way to go without a bit or a bridle. Otherwise they can't be controlled."^{*}
- 10 The wicked have many problems, but those who trust in the Lord will be surrounded by his never-failing love.
- 11 So be happy in the Lord and celebrate, you who do good. Shout for joy, all you who live right!

- 1 Let those who do good shout for joy—those who live right should praise him!
- 2 Praise the Lord with the lyre, play music to him on the ten-stringed harp.
- 3 Sing a new song to him; play your instruments well and shout for joy.
- 4 For the word of the Lord is true,^{*} and he is trustworthy in everything he does.
- 5 He loves all that is good and right; the earth is full of the Lord's trustworthy love.
- 6 The Lord spoke the word and the heavens were made; his mouth breathed all the stars into existence.
- 7 He gathers the waters of the sea together; he keeps the ocean depths in store.
- 8 Let all the earth show reverence to the Lord; let all the world's inhabitants be in awe of him.
- 9 For he spoke and the world came into existence; he gave the command and it was created.
- 10 The Lord foils the decisions of the nations, he frustrates the plans of the peoples,
- 11 But the Lord's plan stands forever—what he decides lasts for all generations.
- 12 Happy is the nation whose God is the Lord, the people he has chosen as specially belonging[†] to him.
- 13 The Lord looks from heaven and sees the whole of humanity,

[†] 32:3 "Kept quiet"—not confessing his sin. The resulting inner turmoil and stress resulted in health issues. [‡] 32:4 Literally, "Your hand was heavy on me." [§] 32:8 It is not clear from the text whether "I" refers to the Lord or to the psalmist. Here the verse is placed in quote marks assuming these are words of the Lord. ^{*} 32:9 Literally, "or they will not come near you."

^{*} 33:4 Literally, "upright." [†] 33:12 Literally, "inheritance."

- 14 from his throne he watches all those who live on earth.
 15 He created their minds,[‡] so he knows everything they do.
 17 Don't deceive yourself: a warhorse can't give you victory—even its incredible strength won't save you.
 18 The Lord watches over those who reverently follow him, those who place their hope in his trustworthy love
 19 to save them from death and to keep them alive when famine strikes.
 20 We place our confidence in the Lord; he is our help and our defender.[§]
 21 We are so happy about him, for we trust in his holy character.
 22 Lord, let your trustworthy love rest upon us as we hope in you.

34

A psalm of David concerning the time he pretended to be mad in front of Abimelech who then sent him away.

- 1 I will always bless the Lord; my mouth will continually praise him.
 2 From the bottom of my heart I am proud of the Lord; those who are humble will hear and be happy.
 3 Glorify God with me; together let's honor his reputation.
 4 I asked the Lord for help, and he answered me. He set me free from all my fears.
 5 The faces of those who look to him will shine with joy; they will never be downcast with shame.
 6 This poor man cried out, and the Lord heard me, and saved me from all my troubles.
 7 The angel of the Lord stands guard over all those who honor him, keeping them safe.
 8 Taste, and you will see that the Lord is good! How happy are those who trust in his protection!*
- 9 Show your reverence for the Lord, you who are his holy people, for those who respect him have everything they need.
 10 Lions may grow weak and hungry, but those who trust in the Lord have all that is good.
 11 Children, listen to me! I will teach you how to respect the Lord.
 12 Who of you wants to live a long and happy life?
 13 Then don't let your tongue speak evil, or your lips tell lies.
 14 Reject what is evil, do what is good. Look for peace, and work to make it a reality.
 16 The Lord sets himself against those who do evil. He will wipe out even the memory of them from the earth.
 17 But when his people[†] call out for help, he hears them and rescues them from all their troubles.
 18 The Lord is close beside those who are broken-hearted; he saves those whose spirits are crushed.

[‡] 33:15 Literally, "hearts." [§] 33:20 Literally, "shield." * 34:8 Literally, "take refuge in him."

[†] 34:17 Implied.

- 19 Those who do right have many problems, but the Lord solves all of them.
 21 Evil kills the wicked. Those who hate good people will suffer for their wrongdoing.
 22 The Lord saves the lives of his servants. Those who trust in his protection will not suffer for their wrongdoings.

A psalm of David.

- 1 Oppose my opponents, Lord; fight those who are fighting against me.
 2 Put your armor on, and pick up your shield. Get ready, come and help me.
 3 Draw your spear and your javelin, confront those who are chasing me. Tell me, “I am your salvation!”
 4 Shame them! Humiliate those who are trying to kill me! Turn them back! Disgrace those who are planning to hurt me!
 5 Let them be like chaff blown by the wind; let the angel of the Lord drive them away.
 6 May their path be dark and slippery, with the angel of the Lord chasing them down.
 7 For no reason they set a net to catch me; for no reason they dug a pit to trap me.
 8 Let disaster come on them suddenly; let the net they set catch them instead; let the pit they dug trap them instead.
 9 Then I will be glad in the Lord; I will be happy in his salvation.
 10 Every part of me* will say, Who can compare to you, Lord? You rescue the weak from the strong; the poor and needy from robbers.
 11 Hostile witnesses stand up to testify against me, accusing me of crimes I don’t know anything about.
 12 They pay me back with evil instead of good. I feel like giving up.†
 13 But when they were sick, I put on clothes of sackcloth‡ in sympathy. I denied myself through fasting. May my prayer for them return to bless me too.§
 14 I was upset for them, as if they were my own friends or family; I bowed down in grief as if I was mourning my own mother.
 15 But when I was in trouble, they gathered around and laughed at me. Even strangers I don’t know attacked me, constantly tearing me apart.
 16 Like irreligious people mocking a cripple* they mock me and call me names, gnashing their teeth at me.
 17 How long, Lord, will you sit by and just watch? Save me from their vicious attacks; defend the only life I have from these lions.
 18 Then I will thank you in front of the whole congregation and praise you in front of all the people.
 19 Don’t let my enemies take pleasure in my troubles, those people who hate me and tell lies about me, gloating over me for no reason.

* 35:10 Literally, “all of my bones.” † 35:12 Literally, “my soul is forlorn.” ‡ 35:13 “Clothes of sackcloth”—a sign of mourning. § 35:13 Literally, “my prayer returned to my bosom.” * 35:16 The Hebrew here is unclear.

- 20 They are not looking for peace; they invent malicious and deceptive schemes against innocent peace-loving people.[†]
- 21 They open their mouths wide to make accusations against me, saying, "Look! Look! We saw it with our own eyes!"
- 22 But Lord, you've seen all this! Say something! Don't give up on me, Lord!
- 23 Wake up! Get up and defend me, my Lord and my God! Take up my case and make sure justice is done!
- 24 Vindicate me, my Lord and my God, because you are just and right. Don't let them gloat over me.
- 25 Don't let them say to themselves, "Look! We got what we wanted!" Don't let them say, "We completely destroyed him!"
- 26 Make them totally ashamed, all those who are happy for the trouble I'm in. Let those who are celebrating over me be covered with shame and dishonor.
- 27 Instead let those who are pleased I've been vindicated celebrate and shout for joy. Let them always say, "How great is the Lord! He is happy when his servants live in peace and have what they need."[‡]
- 28 I will tell others about your character of truth and right, praising you all day long!

- 1 Evil^{*} speaks to the wicked, deep down in their minds, for in their eyes they have no need to respect God.
- 2 In their own eyes they're so wonderful that they can't even see their sin and do something about it.[†]
- 3 Whatever they say is deceptive and deceitful. They no longer do anything wisely or for good.
- 4 Even when they're lying in bed they think up evil schemes. They commit themselves to a way of life that is no good. They choose evil, and don't reject it.
- 5 Lord, your faithful love reaches to the heavens, your trustworthiness to the clouds.
- 6 Your goodness is like the highest mountains, your fairness is like the deepest oceans. Lord, you save both the people and the animals.
- 7 God, how priceless is your trustworthy love! Everyone can find protection under the shelter of your wings.
- 8 They gain strength from the wonderful food you provide in your house; you give them drink from your refreshing river.
- 9 You are the source of life; you are the light by which we see.
- 10 Extend your trustworthy love to those who know you, and your goodness to those who truly live right.
- 11 Don't let the arrogant trample me down; don't let the wicked drive me out.

[†] 35:20 Literally, "the quiet ones of the land." [‡] 35:27 The word used here "shalom" is often translated as simply "peace." However, it is not simply the absence of conflict but also refers to a happy and prosperous life. ^{*} 36:1 The word used here to personify evil is that normally used when God is speaking.

[†] 36:2 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear.

- ¹² Now look! See how those who do evil have fallen—thrown down, unable to get up.

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Don't be upset over wicked people, or be jealous of those who do wrong.
² For like grass, they will quickly dry up; like plants, they will soon wither away.
³ Trust in the Lord, and do good. Live in the land and feed on faithfulness.
⁴ Find your happiness in the Lord, and he will give you what you want the most.
⁵ Entrust all that you do to the Lord. Place your confidence in him and he will help you.
⁶ He will make your vindication shine like a light, the rightness of your cause like the noonday sun.
⁷ Be still in God's presence; wait patiently for him. Don't be upset over people who prosper when they carry out their evil schemes.
⁸ Give up your anger! Let go your rage! Don't get mad—it only results in evil!
¹¹ The humble will own the land; they will live there happily, in peace and prosperity.
¹³ But the Lord laughs at them, for he sees their coming day of judgment.
¹⁴ The wicked draw their swords, and bend their bows to destroy the poor and needy, to kill those who live right.
¹⁵ But the swords of the wicked* will slice through their own hearts, and their bows will be broken.
¹⁶ It's better to do right and only have a little, than to be wicked and rich.
¹⁷ For the power of the wicked will be broken, but the Lord supports those who do right.
¹⁸ The Lord knows what is happening to the innocent and grants them an eternal inheritance.
²⁰ But the wicked will die. The enemies of the Lord are like the flowers of the field—they will vanish like smoke.
²³ The Lord shows the right path to those who follow him, and is happy with the way they live.
²⁴ Though they may trip up, they will not fall to the ground, for the Lord holds their hand.

* 37:15 Implied.

- 25 Once I was young, and now I've grown old, yet I've never seen those who do right abandoned, nor their children having to beg for bread.
- 26 They are always kind, and generous with their loans; their children are a blessing.
- 27 Reject evil, do what is good, and you will live forever in the land.
- 28 For the Lord loves fairness and he will never abandon those who are trustworthy. He will protect them forever. But the children of the wicked will die.
- 29 Those who do right will own the land and will live there forever.
- 30 People who do right give good advice, explaining what is fair.
- 31 God's law lives in their minds, so they will not slip from his way.
- 32 The wicked lie in wait for those who do good, intending to kill them.
- 33 But the Lord will not let them fall into the hands of the wicked, and he will not let those who do good be condemned when they are put on trial.
- 34 Trust in the Lord, and stay on his path. He will lift you up and give you the land to own. You will see when the wicked are destroyed.
- 35 I have watched the wicked acting brutally, spreading like a large tree in its native land.
- 36 But when I passed that way the next time, they were gone. I searched for them but couldn't find them.
- 37 Observe the innocent, look at those who do right! Those who love peace have a future!
- 38 But those who are rebellious will be altogether destroyed; the wicked have no future.
- 39 The Lord saves those who live right; he is their protection in times of trouble.
- 40 The Lord helps them and rescues them from the wicked. He saves them because they go to him for protection.

A psalm of David, for a memorial.

- 1 Lord, please don't condemn me because you're angry with me; don't punish me because you're furious with me!
- 2 Your arrows have pierced me deeply, your hand has come down hard on me.
- 3 Because you're so upset with me, not a single part of my body is healthy; I am completely sick because of my sins.
- 4 I'm drowning in guilt—the burden is too heavy to bear.
- 5 My wounds are infected—they're smelling—all because of my stupidity.
- 6 I am bent over, doubled up in pain. The whole day I walk around crying my eyes out.
- 7 Inside I'm burning up with fever; no part of my body is healthy.
- 8 I'm worn out, totally down. I groan because of the anguish I feel in my heart.
- 9 Lord, you know what I desperately want, you hear every sigh I make.
- 10 My heart is racing, leaving me with no strength; my eyesight is failing.
- 11 My loved ones and my friends don't come near me because they're afraid of what I've got. Even my family keeps me at a distance.

- ¹² Those who are trying to kill me set traps for me; those who want to hurt me make threats against me, working on their deceitful schemes all day long.
- ¹³ I act as if I'm deaf to what they're saying,* and pretend to be dumb so I don't have to speak.
- ¹⁴ Like a man who can't hear, and who doesn't reply—that's me!
- ¹⁵ For I'm waiting on you, Lord! You will answer for me, my Lord and my God.
- ¹⁶ I'm asking you, Lord, please don't let my enemies gloat over me, don't let them be glad when I trip up.
- ¹⁷ For I'm about ready to collapse—the pain never stops.
- ¹⁸ I do confess my sins; I am terribly sorry for what I've done.
- ¹⁹ I have many powerful enemies—they are very active, hating me for no reason.
- ²⁰ They pay me back evil for good; they accuse me for the good I try to do.
- ²¹ Don't give up on me, my Lord and my God, don't stay away from me.
- ²² Hurry, come and help me, Lord my salvation.

For Jeduthun, the music director. A psalm of David.

- ¹ I told myself, "I will be careful in what I do, and not sin in what I say. I will keep my mouth shut* when the wicked are around."
- ² So I was completely silent—I didn't even say anything good. But the pain inside only got worse.
- ³ My mind burned as if on fire; I had to say what I was thinking:
- ⁴ Lord, remind me.† How short is my life? How long do I have? Remind me how quickly my life will pass.
- ⁵ Just look at the tiny amount of days you have given me! In your eyes my whole lifetime is like nothing. Our lives here are just a breath... Selah.
- ⁶ Human beings are just shadows walking around. They pointlessly rush through life, trying to pile up possessions without knowing who will get them.
- ⁷ So Lord, what am I looking for? I put my hope in you.
- ⁸ Save me from my rebellion.‡ Don't let me be mocked by fools.
- ⁹ I will stay quiet, I won't say a word, for it's you who has done this to me.
- ¹⁰ Please stop hitting me! Your beating has worn me out!
- ¹¹ When you discipline us, reprimanding us for our sins, it's like a moth eating up what is precious to us. All of us are just a breath... Selah.
- ¹² Please hear my prayer, Lord! Listen to my cry for help! Don't be deaf to my weeping. Please treat me as your guest, passing through, just like my forefathers.
- ¹³ Please leave me alone so I can be cheerful again, before I am dead and gone.

* 38:13 Implied. * 39:1 Literally, "I will keep a muzzle over my mouth." † 39:4 The psalmist is not actually asking for information, but protesting that he is suffering when his life is so short.

40

- ¹ I waited for the Lord patiently, and he turned to me—he heard my cry for help.
- ² He pulled me out of the pit of destruction,* out from the mud and the slime. He set me on a rock, and gave me a safe place to stand.
- ³ He gave me a new song to sing, a song of praise to our God. Many people will see and be in awe, and they will put their trust in him.
- ⁴ Happy are those who trust in the Lord, who do not look for help from the arrogant or from those who worship idols.†
- ⁵ Lord my God, you have done so many wonderful things for us, and you have so many plans for us. No one compares to you. I want to tell all that you've done—blessings too many to count.
- ⁶ You don't want sacrifices and offerings. Now you have helped me understand‡—you're not asking for burnt offerings or sin offerings.
- ⁷ Then I said, "Look! Here I am! I've come to do what is written about me in the scroll of the Book.
- ⁸ I am pleased to do your will, my God—your Law guides my mind."§
- ⁹ I have announced the good news of salvation to the whole congregation.* I don't keep quiet, Lord, as you know.
- ¹⁰ I have not kept the truth of your goodness hidden inside me—I have spoken of your trustworthiness and your salvation. I have not concealed your unfailing love and your faithfulness from the whole congregation.
- ¹¹ Lord, please don't keep back your mercy from me. May your trustworthy love and faithfulness always be my protection.
- ¹² For I'm experiencing so many problems—I can't even count them! My sins have piled up so high I can't see over them. They're more than the number of hairs on my head! I feel like giving up!†
- ¹³ Lord, please save me! Hurry, Lord, help me!
- ¹⁴ Please defeat and humiliate the people who are trying to kill me; turn back in disgrace those who want to hurt me.
- ¹⁵ May they be shocked at their defeat, those who taunted me.
- ¹⁶ But may everyone who comes to you be happy and glad; may those who love your salvation always say, "The Lord is great!"
- ¹⁷ As for me, I am poor and needy. May the Lord think about me. Help me! Save me! My God, please don't wait!

- ¹ How happy are those who take care of the poor! When they are in trouble the Lord will save them.
- ² The Lord protects them and keeps them alive. They will live happily in the land, and they will not be handed over to their enemies.

* 40:2 The word used here is usually translated "tumult" or "roaring" but is here thought to mean "desolation" or "destruction." † 40:4 It is unclear from the text whether people or false gods are being described here. ‡ 40:6 Literally, "you have dug ears for me." § 40:8 Literally, "your Law is in the midst of my intestines." * 40:9 Probably referring to the large meetings at the Temple. † 40:12 Literally, "my heart fails me."

- 3 The Lord looks after them when they're sick; he makes them well from their illness.
- 4 "Lord, please be gracious to me," I asked. "Please heal me, for I have sinned against you."
- 5 Those who hate me only say evil things about me. "When is he going to die, and people forget all about him?" they ask.
- 6 They come to visit me, but their sympathy is not sincere. They're only interested in the bad news, which they spread around as soon as they leave.
- 7 All who hate me talk in whispers about my condition, hoping for the worst.
- 8 "He's been cursed with some terrible disease,"* they say. "Now he's bed-ridden he'll never recover!"
- 9 Even my best friend,[†] the one I trusted, who shared meals with me—even he has turned against me.
- 10 But you Lord, please be gracious to me, make me well so I can repay them!
- 11 I know you are pleased with me because you have not let my enemies win and shout in triumph over me.
- 12 You have supported me because of my integrity, you have brought me into your presence forever.
- 13 Praise the Lord, the God of Israel, from eternity to eternity! Amen and amen!

- 1 As a deer longs for flowing streams, so I long for you, God.
- 2 I am thirsty for God, the living God. When can I go and see God's face?*
- 3 My tears have been my only food, day and night, while people ask me all day long, "Where is your God?"
- 4 I am crushed[†] as I remember how I walked with the crowds, leading them in a procession to the house of God, with shouts of joy and songs of thanks among the worshipers at the festival.
- 5 Why am I so discouraged? Why do I feel so sad? I will hope in God; I will praise him because he is the one who saves me[‡]—
- 6 my God! Even though I am very discouraged, I still remember you: from the land of Jordan and Hermon, and from Mount Mizar.
- 7 You thunder through the raging waters, through the noise of the waterfalls. Your crashing waves surge over me—I feel like I'm drowning.§
- 8 But every day the Lord shows me his trustworthy love; every night he gives me songs to sing—a prayer to the God of my life.
- 9 I cry out, "My God, my rock, why have you forgotten me? Why must I go around weeping because of the attacks of my enemies?"

* 41:8 Literally, "a thing of wickedness has been poured out on him," suggesting they think is under some kind of punishment. [†] 41:9 Literally, "the man of my peace." * 42:2 This phrase is thought to mean a spiritual experience, perhaps in the Temple. [‡] 42:4 Literally, "I pour out within me my soul." [‡] 42:5 Literally, "the acts of salvation of his face, my God." § 42:7 Implied.

- ¹⁰ The mocking of my attackers crushes my bones. They're always asking me, "Where is your God?"
- ¹¹ Why am I so discouraged? Why do I feel so sad? I will hope in God; I will praise him because he is the one who saves me—my God!

(Psalm 42 and 43 were originally one psalm.)

- ¹ God, please vindicate me! Plead my case against an unfaithful nation; save me from these wicked and dishonest people.
- ² For you, God, are my protection—so why have you turned your back on me? Why must I go around weeping because of the attacks of my enemies?
- ³ Send your light and your truth so they can guide me; let them lead me to your holy mountain, to the place where you live.
- ⁴ I will go to God's altar, to God who makes me truly happy. I will praise you on the harp, God, my God.
- ⁵ Why am I so discouraged? Why do I feel so sad? I will hope in God; I will praise him because he is the one who saves me—my God!

- ¹ God, we have heard with our own ears—our forefathers have told us—all you did in their times, long ago.
- ² Through your power you drove out the other nations so you could settle our ancestors there; you defeated* the nations and you sent our ancestors to occupy the land.
- ³ They did not conquer the land using their swords; it was not through their own strength that the victory was won—it was by your strength, your power, and your presence with them, because you loved them.
- ⁴ God, you are my King; command victories for Jacob!
- ⁵ Only through you can we repel our enemies; only in your name can we defeat our opponents.
- ⁶ I do not trust my bow; I do not have confidence in my sword to save me.
- ⁷ You are the one who saves us from our enemies; you defeat† those who hate us.
- ⁸ God, we proudly thank you all day long, and praise your name forever. Selah.
- ⁹ But now you have rejected and disgraced us; you no longer accompany our armies.
- ¹⁰ You made us run from our enemies, and those who hate us have taken whatever they wanted.‡
- ¹¹ You have handed us over like sheep to be slaughtered; you have scattered us among the other nations.
- ¹² You have sold your own people for next to nothing, making no profit on the sale.
- ¹³ You have made a mockery of us before our neighbors, we are ridiculed and laughed at by those around us.

* 44:2 Literally, "afflicted." † 44:7 Or "humiliated." ‡ 44:10 Literally, "plundered us."

- 14 You have made us a joke to the other nations; they scornfully shake their heads at us.
- 15 We are humiliated all day long; we hold our heads in shame,
- 16 because of all the insults from the people mocking us, because our vengeful enemies are right in front of us.
- 17 All this has happened to us even though we didn't forget you; we haven't been unfaithful to the promises we made to you.[§]
- 18 We have not turned away from you, not in thought, nor in action.*
- 19 Even so, you crushed us, and made us into a jackal's den. You have covered us with the darkness of death.
- 20 If we had forgotten the name of our God, or worshiped other gods,[†]
- 21 wouldn't God have been aware of this, because he knows everyone's thoughts?
- 22 But because of you we are killed all day long; we're considered just sheep to be slaughtered.
- 23 Lord, wake up! Why are you sleeping? Get up! Don't turn your back on us forever!
- 24 Why do you look away from us and take no notice of our suffering and misery?
- 25 We lie ruined in the dust, our bodies face down in the dirt.
- 26 Stand up! Come and help us! Save us because of your trustworthy love!

- 1 I am moved to write about this wonderful subject. Let me share what I have written for the king. What I say comes from the pen of a skilled author.
- 2 You are more handsome than anyone else. You always speak graciously, for God has blessed you forever.
- 3 Strap on your sword, mighty warrior, stride out in glory and majesty!
- 4 In your majesty ride out to victory, in the defense of truth, humility, and right, because you are strong and act powerfully.[†]
- 5 Your sharp arrows pierce the hearts of your enemies; the nations fall under you.
- 6 Your throne comes from God, and lasts forever and ever. The scepter with which you rule is a scepter of fairness.
- 7 You love what is right and hate what is wrong. That is why God, your God, has placed you above everyone else by anointing you with the oil of joy.
- 8 Your robes are perfumed with aloes, myrrh, and cassia; music played on stringed instruments in palaces decorated with ivory makes you happy.
- 9 The daughters of kings are among the noblewomen; the queen stands beside you on your right, wearing jewelry made of gold from Ophir.

[§] 44:17 Literally, "covenant." * 44:18 Literally, "Our hearts have not turned back and our steps have not turned aside from your way." [†] 44:20 Literally, "spread out our hands to another god."

* 45: The theme is one of a royal wedding. [†] 45:4 Literally, "Let your right hand teach you fearful deeds."

- 10 Listen to what I have to say, daughter;† please pay attention. Don't pine for your people and your family.
- 11 May the king desire you in your beauty; respect him, for he is your lord.
- 12 The people§ of Tyre will come with gifts; rich people will look for your favor.
- 13 Inside her preparation room the princess bride looks wonderful in her golden gown.
- 14 Wearing her beautiful clothes she is brought to the king, followed by her bridesmaids.
- 15 What a happy, joyful procession enters the king's palace!
- 16 Your sons will take the place of your fathers; as princes you will make them rulers throughout the land.
- 17 Through my words* you will be famous through all generations, and nations will praise you forever and ever.

46

- 1 God is our protection and our strength; always ready to help when troubles come.
- 2 So we will not be afraid though the earth shakes, though the mountains fall into the depths of the sea,
- 3 though the waters roar and foam, though the mountains tremble as the waters surge violently! Selah.
- 4 A river flows to bring happiness to those in God's city, the holy place where the Most High lives.
- 5 God is in the midst of the city; it will never fall. God protects it as soon as it is light.*
- 6 Nations are in turmoil, kingdoms collapse. God raises his voice and the earth melts.
- 7 The Lord Almighty is with us; the God of Jacob protects us. Selah.
- 8 Come and see what the Lord has achieved! See the amazing things† he has done on the earth!
- 9 He stops wars all over the world. He smashes the bow; he breaks the spear; he sets shields on fire.
- 10 Stop fighting! Recognize I am God! I am the ruler of the nations; I am the ruler of the earth.
- 11 The Lord Almighty is with us; the God of Jacob protects us. Selah.

- 1 Everyone, clap your hands! Shout with joy to the Lord!
- 2 For the Lord Most High is awe-inspiring; he is the great King of all the earth.

† 45:10 The psalmist is addressing the queen. § 45:12 Literally, "daughter." * 45:17 Implied. Clearly the psalmist himself would not live through all generations. * 46:5 That is not to say that the city had no protection at night, but that as soon as there was enough light for an enemy to see to attack, God would protect the city. † 46:8 The word used here is often translated "desolation" but not all God's actions that are described are destructive.

- 3 He subdues other peoples under us; he puts nations under our feet.
 4 He chose the land for us to own; the proud possession of Jacob's descendants whom he loves. Selah.
 5 God ascends his throne* with a great shout, the Lord is accompanied by the sound of the trumpet.
 7 For God is King of all the earth; sing praises with a psalm!
 8 God rules over the nations; he sits on his holy throne.
 9 The rulers of the nations gather together with the people of the God of Abraham, for the defenders† of the earth belong to God. He is highly honored everywhere.

48

- 1 The Lord is supreme! He deserves praise in the city of our God on his holy mountain.
 2 Mount Zion is high and beautiful, bringing happiness to all the earth; on the northern side* is the city of the great King.
 3 God himself is in the city's fortresses; he is recognized as its defender.
 4 Look at what happened when foreign kings joined forces and came to attack the city.
 5 As soon as they saw it they were astonished and ran away terrified.
 6 They shook all over, and were in agonizing pain like a woman giving birth,
 7 just as the strong east wind wrecks the ships from Tarshish.
 8 Just as we had heard, but now we have seen the city of the Lord Almighty. This is the city of our God; he makes it secure forever. Selah.
 9 God, we recall your trustworthy love as we worship in the Temple.
 10 As is fitting for your reputation,† God, praises to you stretch all around the world. What you do is always right!
 11 Let the people of Mount Zion be glad; let the people of Judah celebrate because your judgments are always fair!
 13 Inspect the fortifications. Examine the citadels, so you can describe everything to the next generation, telling them:
 14 "This is who our God is. He is our God forever and ever. He himself will lead us until the very end."‡

49

For the music director. A psalm of the sons of Korah.

- 1 Listen to this, everyone! Pay attention, people of the world—
 2 whether you are highborn or lowborn, rich or poor!

* 47:5 Implied. † 47:9 Literally, "shields." * 48:2 One interpretation is that this refers to the northern extension of Jerusalem that was not originally part of the city captured from the Jebusites. This new northern part was where the Temple and palace of Solomon were built. † 48:10 Literally, "name." ‡ 48:14 "End." There is some debate as to how this psalm ends. Some take the phrase to mean "death," others "forever," while still others think it was part of the superscription for the following psalm.

- ³ For what I say is wise, and my thinking is perceptive.
⁵ Why should I be afraid when trouble comes, when evil enemies surround me?
⁷ but no one can pay to rescue another from death; no one can pay a ransom to God.
⁹ that they could live forever and not face the grave.
¹³ This is the way of foolish people, yet those who come after them think they were clever!‡ Selah.
¹⁵ But surely God will rescue me from the power of the grave; he will grab me back. Selah.
¹⁷ For they won't take anything with them when they die; their wealth will not go down into the grave* with them.
¹⁸ They congratulate themselves for all they possess—people always praise you when you do well—
¹⁹ but their destiny is the same as their forefathers: they will never again see the light of day.

A psalm of Asaph.

- ¹ The Lord, the Almighty God, speaks! He summons everyone on earth, from the east to the west.
³ Our God arrives, and does not stay quiet. Fire flames before him, burning everything up; a violent storm rages around him.
⁵ "Bring me those who trust in me—those who confirmed the agreement* with me through sacrifice."

* 49:11 Some believe the word used here has been misspelled and translate it as "their graves."

† 49:12 "Don't understand" or "don't last a night." ‡ 49:13 The meaning of the Hebrew is uncertain. § 49:14 The significance of this verse is not clear. * 49:17 "Into the grave" implied.

* 50:5 Literally, "covenant," also verse 16.

- 6 The heavens declare his decisions are right, for God himself is the judge.
Selah.
- 7 “My people, listen to what I have to say. I am bringing charges against you, Israel. I am God, your God!
- 8 I’m not complaining about your sacrifices or burnt offerings that you offer all the time.
- 9 I do not require bulls from your barns or goats from your pens,
- 10 for I own all the animals of the forest, and the cattle on a thousand hills belong to me.
- 11 I know every bird of the mountains; all living things in the fields are mine.
- 12 If I were hungry, I wouldn’t tell you, for the earth and everything in it are mine.
- 13 Do I eat the flesh of bulls or drink the blood of goats?
- 14 Give an offering of thanks to God; keep the promises you made to the Most High,
- 15 and call on me when you’re in trouble. I will rescue you, and you will thank me.”
- 16 But to the wicked God says, “What’s the point of mechanically repeating my laws or making empty promises about obeying the agreement?”
- 17 You hate my discipline,[†] and you toss my words away, leaving them behind you.
- 18 When you see people stealing, you admire them; you associate with adulterers.
- 19 With your mouth you say evil things; you use your tongue to spread lies.
- 20 You sit there and speak against your brother, slander your own mother’s son.
- 21 I kept quiet when you did these things. You thought I was someone just like you. But now I confront you, and bring my charges against you.
- 22 Think again, you people who dismiss God, or I will tear you apart, and no-one will be able to save you.
- 23 But those who give an offering of thanks honor me, and to those who follow the right I will show them the salvation of God.”

51

For the music director. A psalm of David. When Nathan the prophet came to him after he had committed adultery with Bathsheba.

- 1 God, please be gracious to me, because of your trustworthy love, because of your infinite kindness* please wipe away my sins.
- 2 Wash away all my guilt; cleanse me from my sin.
- 3 I admit my rebellion; my sin always stares me in my face.
- 4 I have sinned against you, you alone. I have done evil in your sight. So you are right in what you say, and fair when you judge.
- 5 It’s true that I was born guilty—sinful from the time my mother conceived me.
- 6 But you want truth on the inside; you teach me wisdom deep within.
- 7 Purify me with hyssop[†] so I can be clean; wash me so I can be whiter

[†] 50:17 Or “teaching.” * 51:1 The word used here, often translated “compassion” is related to intense feelings of love and pity. It is related to the Hebrew word for “womb.” [†] 51:7 A plant used for cleansing, but this is not a useful image for most today.

- 8 Please let me hear joy and happiness again; let the bones you have crushed be glad once more.
- 9 Turn your face away from looking at my sins; please wipe away my guilt.
- 10 Create a pure mind in me, God, and make me trustworthy again.
- 11 Don't expel me from your presence; don't take away your Holy Spirit from me.
- 12 Give me back the happiness of your salvation; help me to have a willing nature.
- 13 Then I will teach your ways to rebellious people, and these sinners will come back to you.
- 14 God, please forgive me for the blood I have shed, God of my salvation, and I will sing for joy of your goodness.
- 15 Open my lips so I can speak your praise!
- 16 For sacrifices don't make you happy, or I would bring one; burnt offerings aren't what pleases you.
- 17 The "sacrifices" that God wants are on the inside—the brokenness of repentance. God won't reject a broken and sorrowful heart.
- 18 Be kind to Zion, help the city; rebuild the walls of Jerusalem.
- 19 Then you will be pleased with sacrifices given in the right spirit, for all kinds of burnt offerings, and bulls sacrificed on your altar once more.‡

52

For the music director. A psalm (maskil) of David, concerning the time when Doeg the Edomite went to Saul and told him, "David has gone to the home of Ahimelech."

- 1 You great man, why do you boast about the evil things you've done? God's trustworthy love lasts all day long.*
- 2 You plot to make people suffer; your words cut like a sharp razor, you liar!
- 3 You love evil more than good, and telling lies more than speaking the truth. Selah.
- 4 You love slanderous words that destroy others, you liar!
- 5 But God will strike you down so hard you'll never get up. He will grab hold of you and drag you from your tent. He will tear you out of the land of the living. Selah.
- 6 Those who do right will see all this. They will be astonished and laugh, saying,
- 7 "See what happens to those who don't go to God for help but instead rely on their great wealth and strength—which only brings their destruction!"
- 8 But I'm like an olive tree growing strongly in God's house. I trust in God's unfailing love forever and ever.
- 9 I will praise you forever, God, for all you have done. In the presence of your trustworthy people, I will place my hope in the kind of person you are,† for you are good.

‡ 51:19 Some believe the last two verses are later additions. * 52:1 "God's trustworthy love lasts all day long." This is the meaning of the Hebrew text but the thought seems out of place here.

- ¹ Only fools tell themselves, "God doesn't exist." They are completely immoral, they commit terrible sins, not a single one of them does anything good.
- ² God watches from heaven to see if anyone understands, if anyone wants to come to God.
- ³ They have all fallen away, they are totally depraved; none of them does anything good, not even one.
- ⁴ "Won't these people who do evil ever learn? They consume my people as if they were eating bread, and refuse to pray to me."[†]
- ⁵ They will become completely terrified, more frightened than they have ever been. God will scatter the bones of those who fight against you; you will defeat[‡] them because God has rejected them.
- ⁶ If only God's salvation would come from Zion! When God restores[§] his people, the people of Jacob will celebrate, and the people of Israel will be glad.

For the music director. With stringed instruments. A psalm (maskil) of David, concerning the time when the Ziphites came to Saul and told him, "David is hiding among us."

- ¹ God, because of your very nature,* please save me! Vindicate me by your power!
- ² God, please hear my prayer; listen to what I'm saying.
- ³ For strangers are coming to attack me—violent men who don't care about God are trying to kill me. Selah.
- ⁴ But God helps me; the Lord saves my life!
- ⁵ The evil my enemies have done will come back upon them. I depend on you to destroy them.
- ⁶ I will happily offer a sacrifice to you; I will praise the kind of person you are,[†] Lord, for you are good.
- ⁷ For he has saved me from all my troubles; and I have seen those who hated me defeated.[‡]

For the music director. With stringed instruments. A psalm (maskil) of David.

- ¹ God, please hear my prayer; don't ignore my cry for help!
- ² Please listen, and give me an answer. I'm terribly troubled by my problems! I'm frantic!

* 53: This psalm is almost identical to Psalms 14. [†] 53:4 These are clearly the words of God so are placed within quotes. [‡] 53:5 Or "put them to shame." [§] 53:6 The term used here is often applied to the return from Exile, but here would apply to the blessings the people would receive when they returned to God. * 54:1 Literally, "name." [†] 54:6 Literally, "your name." [‡] 54:7 "Defeated": implied. Literally, "with my eye I have looked at those who hate me."

- ³ For my enemies are screaming at me; the wicked are intimidating* me. They rain down suffering on me, angrily assaulting me in their hatred.
- ⁴ My heart thumps in agony! Terrified, I feel I'm about to die!
- ⁵ I'm in a panic, trembling with fear; feelings of horror wash over me.
- ⁶ I tell myself, If only God would give me wings like a dove so I could fly away and be at peace!
- ⁷ I would fly far away to escape, and stay in the wilderness. Selah.
- ⁸ I would hurry to a place to hide, out of the wind, safe from the raging storm.
- ⁹ Confuse them, Lord! Muddle what they're saying, for I see violence and conflict in the city.
- ¹⁰ They patrol the city walls day and night, and wickedness and trouble are within the city.[†]
- ¹¹ The ones causing destruction are inside the city; frauds and cheats are always on the streets.
- ¹² The problem‡ is that it's not an enemy who mocks me—I could stand that. It's not someone who hates me who insults me—I could avoid them.
- ¹³ No, it's you, a man just like me, my best friend who I know so well!
- ¹⁴ Our friendship was so close. We used to have great talks together as we walked with everyone to the house of God.
- ¹⁵ May death come quickly to them; may they go down into the grave alive, because evil finds its home in them.
- ¹⁶ As for me, I cry out to God, and the Lord will save me.
- ¹⁷ I weep and groan morning, noon, and night, and he listens to me.
- ¹⁸ He rescues me, keeping me safe and sound from my attackers, because there are so many against me.
- ¹⁹ God who has ruled from the beginning will hear me and answer them. Selah. For they refuse to change and don't respect God.
- ²⁰ As for my best friend,§ he attacked his friends who had no quarrel with him; he broke the promises he had made to them.
- ²¹ What he says is as smooth as butter, but inside he plans war; his words are as soothing as oil, but they cut like sharp swords.
- ²² Throw your burdens onto the Lord and he will take care of you. He will never allow those who live right to fall.
- ²³ But you, God, will bring down murderers and liars, throwing them into the pit of destruction before they have even lived half their lives. As for me, I will trust in you.

For the music director. According to “Dove on Distant Oaks.” A psalm (miktam) of David concerning the time the Philistines captured him in Gath.

- ¹ God, please be gracious to me, for people are persecuting me; my attackers fight against me all day long.

* 55:3 Literally, “pressuring.” † 55:10 This could mean that though the city walls are patrolled, the evil is inside the city; or that violence and conflict are symbolically the ones on patrol, so inevitably wickedness and trouble are within the city as well. ‡ 55:12 Implied. § 55:20 Implied.

- 2 My enemies chase me down all the time—there are many of them, attacking me in their arrogance.*
- 3 But when I'm afraid, I trust in you.
- 4 I thank God for his promises. I trust in God, so why should I be fearful? What can mere human beings† do to me?
- 5 They constantly twist my words against me; they spend all their time thinking of evil things to do to me.
- 6 They gather together in their hiding places to keep watch on me, hoping to kill me.
- 7 Will they escape when they do so much evil? God, in anger bring these people down!
- 8 You've kept track of all my wanderings. You've collected all my tears in your bottle.‡ You've kept a record of each one.
- 9 Then those who hate me will run away when I call for your help. For I know this: God is for me!
- 10 I thank God for his promises. I thank the Lord for his promises.
- 11 I trust in God, so why should I be fearful? What can mere human beings do to me?
- 12 God, I will keep my promises to you. I will give thank offerings to you,
- 13 for you have saved me from death and kept me from falling. Now I walk in the presence of God, in the light that gives life.

For the music director. According to “Do Not Destroy.” A psalm (miktam) of David concerning the time he fled from Saul and hid in the cave.

- 1 Please be kind* to me, God! Be kind to me because I come to you for protection. I will shelter under the shadow of your wings until the danger is past.
- 2 I cry out for help to God Most High, to God who vindicates me.
- 3 From heaven he sends his help, and he saves me. He defeats† those who persecute me. Selah. God sends me his unfailing love, showing he is completely trustworthy.
- 4 I am surrounded by man-eating lions—I am forced to live with them! Their teeth are spears and arrows, and their tongues are swords.
- 5 God, your greatness is above the highest heavens; and your glory covers the whole earth!
- 6 They set a trap to catch me. I was so depressed. They dug a pit on my path but they were the ones who fell into it. Selah.
- 7 I have confidence in you, God, I have confidence in you. I will sing songs of praise to you.
- 8 I say to myself, “Wake up!” Wake up, harp and lyre! I will wake up the dawn!
- 9 I will thank you among the peoples, Lord; I will sing your praises among the nations.
- 10 Your faithful love reaches to the heavens; your trustworthiness to the clouds.

* 56:2 The word used here means “height” and it is thought this refers to superiority or arrogance.

† 56:4 Literally, “flesh.” ‡ 56:8 To record the extent of the psalmist's sorrow. * 57:1 Or “gracious.” † 57:3 Or “disgraces.”

¹¹ God, your greatness is above the highest heavens; and your glory covers the whole earth!

¹ You leaders,* do you really say what is right? Do you judge people fairly?

² No, for in your minds you plan evil. You cause violence everywhere!

⁴ They have venom like that of a poisonous snake, and just like a cobra they stop listening,

⁷ May they vanish like water that flows away; when they shoot their arrows may they miss their mark.†

⁸ May they be like the slime of snails that dissolves away, like a stillborn child that never saw the light of day.

⁹ Before the cooking pot is hot from burning thorns, whether fresh or dry, God will blow them away.‡

59

For the music director. According to "Do Not Destroy." A psalm (miktam) of David, concerning the time Saul sent out soldiers to watch David's house in order to kill him.

¹ Rescue me from my enemies, God! Protect me from those who are attacking me!

³ See how they're lying in wait to kill me! Powerful men are gathered against me, Lord, even though I have not sinned or done anything wrong.*

⁸ But you, Lord, you laugh at them; you pour scorn on all the nations.

* 58:1 The word in the Hebrew is unclear. One interpretation "gods" is surely incorrect. † 58:7 The meaning of the second part of this verse is unclear. ‡ 58:9 The meaning of this verse is unclear. * 59:3 This could be either some offense against the enemies or against God. † 59:7 Implied.

- 9 You are my strength! I will look to you, God, for you are the one who protects me.
- 10 In his trustworthy love, God will come and save me. He will show me how my enemies are defeated.
- 11 Don't kill them right away, otherwise my people will quickly forget what you have done.[‡] By your power make them stagger around and then fall down, Lord our protection.
- 12 Let them be caught out by the evil things they say, the words they proudly speak—brought down by their curses and the lies they tell!
- 13 Destroy them in your anger! Destroy them completely! Then everyone will know that God rules in Israel![§]
- 14 In the evening they return, snarling like dogs as they roam around the city.
- 15 They wander around, looking for things to eat, and howl when they're not satisfied.
- 16 But I will sing of your strength; in the morning I will sing for joy about your trustworthy love. For you have been my protection; my place of safety in my time of trouble.
- 17 You are my strength, I sing praises to you, for you are the one who protects me—the God who shows me his trustworthy love!

For the music director. According to “Lily of the Testimony.” A psalm (miktam) of David, useful for teaching, about the time he fought against Aram-naharaim and Aram-zobah, and then Joab returned and killed 12,000 Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

- 1 You, God, have rejected us! You have broken us; you have been angry with us; but now you have to welcome us back!*
- 2 You have sent earthquakes on our land and split it apart. Now heal the cracks, for the land is still having tremors.
- 3 You have been very hard on your people; you gave us wine that made us stagger around.
- 4 But you have given those who respect you the banner of truth to unfurl and rally around.[†] Selah.
- 5 Rescue those you love! Answer us, and save us by your power!
- 6 God has spoken from his Temple: “Triumphantly I divide up Shechem, and portion out the Valley of Succoth.[‡]
- 7 Both Gilead and Manasseh belong to me. Ephraim is my helmet, and Judah is my scepter.[§]
- 8 I will treat Moab as my washbasin; I will place my sandal on Edom; I will shout in triumph over Philistia.”*

[‡] 59:11 Implied—the text simply says “lest my people forget.” § 59:13 Literally, “Jacob.” * 60:1 Literally, “restore.” † 60:4 The Hebrew is unclear and capable of many interpretations. ‡ 60:6 This presumably refers to the dividing up of the country when the Israelites entered the Promised Land. § 60:7 Ephraim was the tribe of many warriors, and synonymous with the northern kingdom, while Judah was the tribe from which the kings came, and symbolized the southern kingdom. * 60:8 These are all symbols of victory and subjugation.

- 9 Who will bring me into the fortified city? Who will lead me into Edom?[†]
 10 Have you rejected us, God? Won't you lead our armies?
 11 Please give us help against our enemies, for human help is worthless.[‡]
 12 Our strength is in God, and he will crush our enemies.

For the music director. With stringed instruments. A psalm of David.

- 1 God, please hear my cry for help; please listen to my prayer.
 2 From this distant place, far from home, I cry out to you as my courage fails. Take me to a rock high above me where I will be safe,^{*}
 3 for you are my protection, a strong tower where my enemies cannot attack me.
 4 Let me live with you[†] forever; protect me under the shelter of your wings. Selah.
 5 For you, God, have heard the promises I've made. You have given all those who love your character your special blessing.[‡]
 6 Please give the king many extra years; may his reign last through generations.
 7 May he always live in your presence; may your trustworthy love and faithfulness protect him.
 8 Then I will always sing praises to you, and every day I will keep my promises to you.

For Jeduthun, the music director. A psalm of David.

- 1 Only in God do I find peace; my salvation comes from him.
 2 He is the one who protects me and saves me; he keeps me safe so I will never be in danger.
 3 How long are you^{*} going to attack me? All of you against one man! To you I'm just a broken wall, a collapsed fence.
 4 They plan to throw me down from my high position; they love to tell lies. They say nice things to me, but inside they're cursing me. Selah.
 5 Only in God do I find peace; my hope comes from him.
 6 He is the one who protects me and saves me; he keeps me safe so I will not be in danger.
 7 My salvation and my success[†] come from God alone; God is my security and my protection.
 8 My people, always trust in him. Pour out all your thoughts to him, for he is the one who looks after us. Selah.

[†] 60:9 Since it is unlikely that the speaker of these lines is God, it is conjectured that it is now the king that is speaking. The fortified city is probably Sela, the capital of Edom, later called Petra.

[‡] 60:11 Literally, "the help of man is vain." ^{} 61:2 "Where I will be safe": implied. [†] 61:4 "Live with you": literally, "dwell in your tent." [‡] 61:5 Literally, "you have given an inheritance to those who fear your name." The "inheritance" was originally linked to the possession of the Promised Land, and then expanded to mean all of God's blessings to his people. ^{} 62:3 The psalmist now addresses his enemies. [†] 62:7 Literally, "glory."

- ⁹ Ordinary people are mere breaths, while leaders are just fakes. Put them all together and weigh them on scales and they wouldn't weigh more than air!
- ¹⁰ Don't trust in money made by extortion or robbery. Don't be proud of your wealth even if you are successful—don't make money what you live for.
- ¹¹ God has already made it clear—I have heard it many times—power belongs to you, God.
- ¹² You show us trustworthy love. You give back to people in return for what they've done.

A psalm of David, when he was in the Judean desert.

- ¹ God, you are my God, I eagerly look for you. I am thirsty for you; all that I am longs for you in this dry, weary, waterless land.
- ² I see you in the Temple; I watch your power and glory.
- ³ Your trustworthy love is better than life itself; I will praise you.
- ⁴ I will thank you as long as I live; I lift up my hands as I celebrate your wonderful character.*
- ⁵ You satisfy me more than the richest food; I will praise you with joyful songs.
- ⁶ I think of you all night long as I lie on my bed meditating about you.
- ⁷ For you are the one who helps me; I sing happily from under your wings.
- ⁸ I hold on to you; your strong arms lift me up.
- ⁹ Those who are trying to destroy me will go down into the grave.
- ¹⁰ They will be killed by the sword; they will become food for jackals.
- ¹¹ But the king will be happy for what God has done. All who follow God† will praise him, but those who tell lies will be silenced.

For the music director. A psalm of David.

- ¹ God, please listen to my complaint.* Protect me because my enemies scare me.
- ² Shelter me from the plots of the wicked, from this evil mob.
- ³ What they say cuts like swords; they fire off poisonous words like arrows.
- ⁴ They shoot from their hiding places at innocent people—doing this without warning, not afraid of being caught.
- ⁵ They encourage one another to do evil, planning how to secretly trap people, telling themselves, "Nobody will notice."
- ⁶ They plot wicked things. "What a great plan we've created!" they say. There are no limits to the depths to which human minds and thoughts can sink.
- ⁷ But God will shoot them with arrows; all of a sudden they will be wounded.
- ⁸ What they themselves say will trip them up; people who see them will mock them, shaking their heads at them.

* 63:4 Literally, "to your name." † 63:11 "Follow God": literally, "swear by God." * 64:1 Or "problem."

- ⁹ Then everyone will be frightened. They will say that this is the work of God, and they will think about what he has done.[†]
- ¹⁰ Those who are right with the Lord will be happy in him, they will go to him for protection. Those who live right will praise him.

For the music director. A psalm of David. A song.

- ¹ God, you deserve to be praised, and in Zion we will keep our promises to you.*
- ² You hear our prayers; everyone comes to you.
- ³ Even though we're drowning in our sins and our disobedience, you forgive us.
- ⁴ Happy are those you choose to keep close to you, those who live in your courts! We are delighted with the blessings we receive in your house, your holy Temple!
- ⁵ In your goodness you answer us through the wonderful things you do, God of our salvation. You can be trusted by everyone on earth, including those sailing distant oceans.
- ⁶ You made the mountains by your power, for you have great strength.[†]
- ⁷ You calm the raging seas and crashing waves, you silence the noisy shouts of the nations.
- ⁸ Everyone, even those in distant lands, are amazed by the wonderful things you do, from the east to the west they sing for joy.
- ⁹ You care for the earth and water it; you make it very productive. God, your river is full of water to grow the grain—this is what you have planned.
- ¹⁰ You fill the ploughed furrows with water, you soften the ridges; you bless the growing crops.
- ¹¹ You make the high point of the year a wonderful harvest, filling the wagons with good things.[‡]
- ¹² The pastures in the wilderness grow lush; the hillsides are clothed in bright flowers.
- ¹³ The meadows are covered with flocks of sheep, and the valleys with fields of grain. Everything triumphantly sings for joy.

- ¹ Everyone on earth, shout for joy to God!
- ² Sing about his marvelous reputation; praise him for his goodness!
- ³ Tell God, "What you do is awesome! Your enemies are forced to bow before you because of your power.
- ⁴ Everyone on earth worships you, singing your praises—singing praises because of who you are."^{*} Selah.
- ⁵ Come and see what God has done! What he does for people is truly awesome!

[†] 64:9 Or "They will announce God's works and understand his labor." will be fulfilled in Zion." [‡] 65:6 Literally, "you are girded with might." crown the year with your bounty; your wagon-tracks drip with fatness." name."

^{} 65:1 Or "a vow to you" [‡] 65:11 Literally, "You" ^{} 66:4 Literally, "your"

- 6 He turned the Red Sea into dry land, and his people walked across through the waters. We celebrated there because of what he did.
- 7 He rules forever through his power. He keeps an eye on the nations, watching to make sure no rebels rise up in opposition. Selah.
- 8 Let all people everywhere bless our God, and loudly sing praises to him.
- 9 He has kept us alive, and he has not let us fall.
- 10 God, you have tested us, refining us like silver.
- 11 You caught us in your net; you placed heavy burdens on our backs.
- 12 You let people ride roughshod over us;[†] we suffered through fire and flooding, but you brought us to a safe place.
- 13 I will come to your Temple with burnt offerings; I will fulfill my promises to you,
- 14 the promises I made when I was in trouble.
- 15 I will sacrifice burnt offerings to you of fattened livestock—the smoke of the sacrifice of rams, offerings of bulls and goats. Selah.
- 16 Come and listen, everyone who honors God, and I will tell you all he has done for me.
- 17 I called out to him, and praised him with my voice.
- 18 If my thinking had been sinful,[‡] the Lord would not have listened to me.
- 19 But God did hear me! He listened to what I had to say in my prayer!
- 20 Praise God, who did not disregard my prayer or take his trustworthy love from me.

- 1 May God be gracious to us and bless us. May he look favorably on us. Selah.
- 2 May everyone on earth come to know your ways, your salvation among all people.
- 3 May the people praise you, God; may all the people praise you.
- 4 May they be happy and sing for joy because you judge people fairly, and you guide everyone on earth. Selah.
- 5 May the people praise you, God; may all the people praise you.
- 6 The earth has produced its crops; and God, our God, has blessed us.*
- 7 God will bless us, and all people everywhere will respect[†] him.

68

For the music director. A psalm of David. A song.

- 1 Stand up, God, and scatter your enemies. Let those who hate him run away from him!
- 2 Blow them away as if they were smoke; melt them like beeswax in a fire. Let the wicked die in God's presence.

[†] 66:12 The image is of an enemy army overwhelming them. [‡] 66:18 Literally, "If I had seen evil in my heart." It was believed that it was in the heart that thinking happened. * 67:6 Or "May the earth produce its crops; may God, our God, bless us." [†] 67:7 Literally, "fear."

- 3 But those who are right with God are happy, and they celebrate in God's presence, full of joy.
- 4 Sing praises to God! Sing praises to his wonderful reputation! * Praise the rider of the clouds—his name is the Lord!† Be happy in his presence!
- 5 He is a father to the orphans, a protector of widows. This is who God is, who lives in his holy place.‡
- 6 God gives those who are abandoned§ a family to live with. He sets prisoners free with celebration. * But those who rebel live in a desert wasteland.
- 7 God, when you led your people out,† when you marched through the desert, Selah,
- 8 the earth quaked, and the heavens shook‡ before God, the one of Sinai; before God, the God of Israel.
- 9 You sent plenty of rain to water the promised land; refreshing it when it was dry.§
- 10 Your people settled there, and because of your kindness, God, you looked after the poor. Selah.
- 11 The Lord gives the command, and a great army of women spread the good news.
- 12 The kings of the foreign armies are quick to run away, and the women* who stayed at home divide the plunder!
- 13 Why are you staying at home?† There are ornaments in the shape of a dove with wings of silver and feathers of fine gold to be taken.‡
- 14 The Almighty scattered the foreign kings like a snowstorm on Mount Zalmon.
- 15 "Mountain of God," Mount Bashan, with your many high peaks, Mount Bashan,
- 16 why do you look enviously, mountain with many peaks, at the mountain God chose as his home, where the Lord will live forever?§
- 17 God's chariots can't be counted; there are thousands and thousands of them. He comes among them from Sinai into his Temple.
- 18 As you ascended to your high throne you led a procession of prisoners. You received gifts from the people, even from those who had rebelled against the home of the Lord God.
- 19 May the Lord be blessed, for every day he carries our burdens. * God is our salvation. Selah.

* 68:4 Literally, "name." † 68:4 Literally, "Yah," a short form of Yahweh. ‡ 68:5 "His holy place"—this may be a reference to heaven or the Temple. § 68:6 Or "lonely." * 68:6 Or "singing." This word only occurs once in the Old Testament. It has also been translated as "prosperity." † 68:7 Referring to the Exodus. ‡ 68:8 Or "poured down rain." § 68:9 This line could also be directly applied to the people of Israel, since the "inheritance" was both the land and the people. * 68:12 The women of Israel. † 68:13 The meaning here is uncertain. Literally, "you lie down by the hearthstones (or sheepfolds)." ‡ 68:13 "To be taken." Implied. Though the text is not clear it seems that this is related to the plunder mentioned in verse 12. § 68:16 While this verse is complex, it seems to be suggesting that there were those who questioned the superiority of Mount Zion, and that their own mountains (Mount Bashan) were equally acceptable as places for God to dwell and be worshiped. It's interesting to note that even much later this issue of "which mountain" was brought up by the Samaritan woman to Jesus, since the Samaritans identified Mount Gerizim as their holy mountain. * 68:19 Or "every day he carries us."

- 20 For us, God is a God who saves. The Lord God provides our escape from death.
- 21 But God will crush the heads of his enemies, the hairy heads[†] of those who continue to sin.
- 22 The Lord says, "I will drag them down from Bashan; I will drag them up from the depths of the sea,
- 23 so that you may walk in their blood. Even your dogs will have their share of your enemies."
- 24 People watch your processions, God—the processions of my God and King as they go into the Temple.
- 25 The singers are at the front, the musicians at the back, and in the middle girls playing tambourines.
- 26 Praise God, everyone who has come to worship; praise the Lord, everyone who belongs to Israel.
- 27 There is the little tribe of Benjamin, followed by the many leaders from Judah; then come the leaders of Zebulun and Naphtali.
- 28 Display your power, God! Reveal your strength, Lord, as you have done for us in the past.
- 29 Because of your Temple in Jerusalem, kings bring tribute to you.
- 30 Condemn the beasts of the reeds, the bulls and calves![‡] May they be humbled and bring bars of silver in tribute! Scatter the war-loving nations!
- 31 Let Egypt come with bronze gifts;[§] let Ethiopia come quickly and hand over their tributes to God!
- 32 Sing to God, kingdoms of the earth, sing praises to the Lord. Selah.
- 33 Sing to the rider of the ancient heavens,^{*} his strong voice sounding like thunder!
- 34 Let everyone know of God's power: how his majesty extends over Israel, how his strength is revealed in the heavens.[†]
- 35 How awesome is God in his Temple! The God of Israel gives strength and power to his people! Praise God!

69

- 1 God, please save me, because the water is up to my neck!
- 2 I'm sinking deeper into the mud—there's no solid ground for me to stand. I find myself in deep water; floods wash over me.
- 3 I'm so tired of screaming out for help my throat is totally raw. My eyes are worn out looking for my God to help me.
- 4 Those who hate me for no reason are more than the number of hairs on my head. Many enemies try to destroy me by telling lies. How can I give back what I didn't steal?
- 5 God, you know how foolish I am! My sins are not hidden from you.

[†] 68:21 This may refer to the practice of warriors not cutting their hair during times of war.

[‡] 68:30 The meaning of this line is not clear. It may refer to Egypt, and also to other foreign nations. [§] 68:31 The word only occurs here in the OT. Alternatively it may mean ambassadors,

- ⁶ Don't let those who trust you be ashamed because of me, Lord God Almighty. Don't let those who follow you be disgraced because of me, God of Israel.
- ⁷ For your sake I put up with the insults; my face shows my embarrassment.
- ⁸ I have become a foreigner to my brother Israelites; a stranger to my very own brothers.
- ⁹ My devotion for your house is burning me up inside; the insults of those who insulted you have fallen on me.
- ¹⁰ I wept and I fasted, but they mocked me;
- ¹¹ I mourned in sackcloth, but they laughed at me.
- ¹² People sitting by the town gate gossip about me. I'm the subject of rude songs sung by drunks.
- ¹³ But my prayer is to you, Lord, believing this is a good time to respond to me. God, in your wonderful trustworthy love, answer me with your sure salvation.
- ¹⁴ Please rescue me from the mud—don't let me sink! Save me from those who hate me and from drowning in the deep waters!
- ¹⁵ Don't let the flood waters wash over me. Don't let the deep waters pull me down. Don't let the grave close over me.
- ¹⁶ Please answer my prayers, Lord, for you are good and love me with your trustworthy love; because of your kindness, please help me.
- ¹⁷ Don't turn away from me, your servant. Please answer me quickly because I'm in trouble.
- ¹⁸ Come here and rescue me; set me free from my enemies.
- ¹⁹ You—you know my shame, my disgrace, my humiliation. You see everything my enemies are doing.
- ²⁰ Insults have broken my heart—I am so sick there is no cure. I looked for some sympathy, but there was no one! Nobody showed me any compassion.
- ²¹ Instead they gave me bitter* herbs to eat and vinegar to drink.
- ²² May the table set before them become a trap for them, a net that catches them, bringing punishment.†
- ²³ May their eyes become blind so they cannot see, and may their backs always be bent low in dejection.
- ²⁴ Pour out your judgment‡ on them; chase them down in your fierce anger.
- ²⁵ Let the places where they live be deserted. Let their homes be abandoned.
- ²⁶ For they persecute those you have punished, and make it even more painful for those you have disciplined.
- ²⁷ Punish them for the evil they have done. Don't acquit them.§
- ²⁸ Blot out their names from the Book of Life. Don't let them be listed with those who do right.
- ²⁹ But I am suffering and in physical pain. God, please save me and keep me safe.
- ³⁰ I will praise God's character* in song; I will say how incredible he is and how thankful I am.

* 69:21 Or "poisonous." † 69:22 Following the Septuagint text. ‡ 69:24 Literally, "indignation."

§ 69:27 Literally, this verse reads, "Give guilt to their guilt. Do not let them come to your righteousness." * 69:30 Literally, "name."

- 31 The Lord is happier with this than with offering animals as sacrifices: cattle, or bulls with horns and hooves.
 32 The humble will see this and be happy. May God encourage everyone who comes to him.
 33 God hears the poor, and he does not ignore his people who are in prison.
 34 Praise him heaven and earth, the seas and everything that lives in them!
 35 For God will save Zion, and rebuild the cities of Judah. They[†] will live there and own the land.
 36 The descendants of those who follow him will inherit the land, and those who love him will live there.

For the music director. A psalm of David. For a memorial.*

- 1 God, save me! Hurry, Lord, help me!
 2 Please defeat and humiliate the people who are trying to kill me; turn back in disgrace those who want to hurt me.
 3 May they be shocked at their defeat, those who taunted me.
 4 But may everyone who comes to you be happy and glad; may those who love your salvation always say, "God is great!"
 5 As for me, I am poor and needy. Hurry, God, help me! Save me! Lord, don't wait!

71

- 1 Lord, you are the one who keeps me safe; please don't disappoint me.
 2 Save me, rescue me, because you always do what is right.
 3 Please listen to me, and save me. Be my rock of protection where I can always go and hide. You gave the command to save me; for you are my rock and fortress.
 4 My God, rescue me from the power of the wicked, from the clutches of those who are evil and brutal.
 5 For you, Lord God, are my hope. You are the one I have trusted since I was young.
 6 I have depended on you since birth; you have taken care of me* from my mother's womb. That's why I'm always praising you!
 7 My life has been like a miracle to many people, for you have been my powerful protector.
 8 All day long I am full of praise for you, telling how wonderful you are!
 9 Don't reject me now I'm getting old. When my strength is gone, please don't abandon me.
 10 For my enemies are talking about me; those who want to kill me are plotting together.
 11 They say, "God has given up on him. Let's go after him because there's no one to save him."
 12 God, please don't stay away from me. My God, hurry to help me!
 13 Defeat my accusers, get rid of them! May those who want to cause me trouble be covered with shame and disgrace!
 14 As for me, I will go on hoping in you,[†] and I will praise you more and [†] 69:35 God's people. * 70: This psalm is taken from Psalms 40 with a few minor changes.

* 71:6 "Taken care of me": the meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain. [†] 71:14 "In you": implied.

- 15 I will talk about your goodness and your salvation every day, even though it's more than I can understand.
- 16 I will come and explain what the Lord has done. I will remind people that you alone do what is right.
- 17 God, you have taught me since I was young, and I still tell others about all the wonderful things you do.
- 18 Even though I'm old and gray, please don't abandon me, God. Let me tell the new generation about your power. Let me explain to all who are to come the great things you do.
- 19 God, your trustworthy and true nature[‡] is higher than the highest heaven! You have done incredible things! God, who is like you?
- 20 You had me face many troubles and plenty of misery, but you will bring me back to life; you will rise me up from the depths of the earth.
- 21 You will give me even greater prestige, and you will make me happy again.
- 22 Then I will praise you on the harp for your trustworthiness, my God. I will sing praises to you on the lyre, Holy One of Israel.
- 23 I will shout for joy as I sing praises to you, for you have redeemed me.
- 24 All day long I will tell about all the good things you have done, for those who tried to cause me misery have been disgraced and humiliated.

72

A psalm of Solomon.

- 1 God, please give the king fairness, and give the king's son the ability to do what's right.
- 2 May he rightly judge your people, and may he be fair to the poor.
- 3 May the mountains bring peace* to the people, and the hills bring goodness.
- 4 May he defend the poor and save their children, may he crush those who oppress them.
- 5 May they respect him[†] as long as the sun and the moon shine above, for all generations.
- 6 May his reign be like rain falling on new grass,[‡] like showers that water the earth.
- 7 May those who live right prosper under his rule; may there be great prosperity until the moon is no more.
- 8 May he rule from sea to sea, from the river to the ends of the earth.[§]
- 9 Desert tribes will kneel before him; and his enemies will bite the dust.
- 10 The kings of Tarshish and the islands will bring him tribute; the kings of Sheba and Seba will present him with gifts.
- 11 Every king will bow down to him; every nation will serve him.
- 12 He will help the poor when they cry out to him, and help those who are suffering that have no one to support them.

[‡] 71:19 "Trustworthy and true nature": often translated "righteousness." The root word comes from the idea of being "straight." Simply put, God is always straight. * 72:3 Or "prosperity."

[†] 72:5 Or "you." [‡] 72:6 Literally, "mown grass." A period of rain was needed after the first crop was cut in order for the second crop to grow. [§] 72:8 From sea to sea probably refers to the Mediterranean and the Dead Sea (or Red Sea); the river to the Euphrates.

- 13 He has pity on the poor and needy—he saves their lives!
 14 He rescues them from violence and oppression, for their lives mean so much to him.
 15 May he live long! May the gold from Sheba be given to him. May people always pray for him and bless him all day long.
 16 May there be plenty of grain in the land, even growing on mountain-tops. May the fruit on the trees sway like the trees of Lebanon. May the people in the city flourish like grass in a field.
 17 May his fame live forever; may it last as long as the sun. May all nations be blessed through him, and may they praise him.
 18 Praise the Lord God, the God of Israel, who is the only one who can do such fantastic things!
 19 Praise his wonderful nature forever! May the whole world be full of his glory! Amen and amen!

73

A psalm of Asaph.

- 1 Truly God is good to Israel, to those whose minds* are pure.
 2 But I was stumbling, my feet were starting to slide,[†]
 3 because I was jealous of self-important people—I saw how well the wicked were doing.
 4 They don't ever seem to get sick; they are strong and healthy.
 5 They don't have problems like other people; they don't get hit by disasters like everybody else.
 6 They wear their pride like a necklace; they clothe themselves with violence.
 7 Their eyes bulge out because they're so fat; their minds are full of selfish vanity.[‡]
 8 They mock people, and speak maliciously; they arrogantly threaten cruelty.
 10 As a result people turn to them and drink in everything they say.[§]
 11 "God won't find out," they say. "The Most High doesn't even know what's going on!"
 12 Look at these wicked people! They don't have a care in the world, and they're always making money!
 13 It's been pointless to keep my mind pure and my hands clean.
 14 I'm cursed with suffering all day long; every morning I'm punished.
 15 If I'd talked like this to others,* I would have betrayed your people.

* 72:20 It is thought that this is an editorial comment that concludes the second book of Psalms (42-72). * 73:1 Literally, "hearts." In Hebrew understanding the heart was where thinking was done. † 73:2 The psalmist is indicating he was losing faith. ‡ 73:7 Or "from their evil hearts pours out iniquity." § 73:10 The Hebrew text is hard to understand: "Therefore he brings back his people here and abundant waters are drained by them." * 73:15 Referring back to what the wicked said in verse 11.

- 16 So I thought about it and tried to understand,[†] but it looked like a lot of hard work to me—
 17 until I went into God's Temple. Then I understood what happens to the wicked in the end.
 18 For you send them on a slippery path; you throw them down to destruction.
 19 How quickly they're destroyed! They come to a terrifying end.
 20 Like waking up from a dream, Lord—when you get up you will forget all about them!
 21 At that time my thoughts were bitter. I felt like I had been stabbed.
 22 I was stupid and ignorant. I was like a brute beast to you.
 23 Yet I'm always with you; you hold me by the hand.
 24 You tell me what to do; and ultimately you will welcome me in glory.
 25 Who is there in heaven for me except you? And I want nothing on earth except you.
 26 My body and my mind may fail, but God is the foundation of my life. He is mine forever!
 27 Those people who are far from God will die. You destroy all those unfaithful to you.
 28 But I love to stay close to God! I have chosen the Lord God to protect me. I will share all that you have done.

A psalm (maskil) of Asaph.

- 1 God, why have you rejected us? Is it forever? Why does your anger burn so hot against the sheep of your own field?
 2 Remember the people you made your own long ago, the tribe you redeemed and made your own. Remember too Mount Zion, the place where you live.
 3 Come and walk through the complete devastation.* The enemy has totally destroyed your Temple.
 4 The enemy shouted in triumph right where you met with us.[†] There they set up their war banners as signs of their victory.
 5 They acted like men chopping down a forest with axes.
 7 Then they set fire to your Temple, burning it to the ground. They defiled the place where you live, the place that bears your name.
 8 They said to themselves, "Let's destroy it all!" So they burned down every place where God was worshiped throughout the land.
 9 We no longer see any signs.[‡] There are no prophets left. And no one among us knows how long this will last.
 10 How long will the enemy ridicule you, God? Will they insult your character§ forever?

[†] 73:16 The psalmist is trying to understand why the wicked prosper. * 74:3 Of Jerusalem.

[†] 74:4 Referring to the Temple. [‡] 74:9 Generally taken to mean miraculous signs from God.

§ 74:10 Literally, "name." * 74:11 The Hebrew imagery here needs some interpretation. Literally, "Why do you hold back your hand? And your right hand from your bosom consume."

- 12 But you, God, are our[†] king from long ago. You have saved us many times in the land.
- 13 You were the one[‡] who split apart the sea by your strength; you broke the heads of the sea monsters.
- 14 You were the one who crushed the heads of Leviathan,[§] and you gave its body to the desert animals to eat.
- 15 You were the one who made springs and rivers flow with water. You made permanent rivers dry up.
- 16 You created the day, and also the night; you made the moon^{*} and the sun.
- 17 You set the boundaries of the earth;[†] you made summer and winter.
- 18 So keep in mind how the enemy ridiculed you, Lord, and how irreverent people insulted your reputation.
- 19 Don't let wild animals kill your turtledoves![‡] Don't abandon your people forever!
- 20 Remember your promises in the agreement,[§] because the land is full of dark places and violence.
- 21 Don't let those who suffer be mistreated again. Let the poor and needy praise you for you who are.
- 22 Stand up, God, and plead your case. Don't forget how these foolish people insulted you all the time.
- 23 Don't ignore what your enemies have said, for their loud accusations against you are getting worse and worse!

For the music director. A psalm of Asaph. According to "Do Not Destroy." A song.

- 1 We thank you, God, we thank you because you are close beside us.*
People tell about the wonderful things you have done.
- 2 God says, "When the time I have decided comes, I will judge fairly.
- 3 When the earth quakes, and all its inhabitants tremble, I am the one who holds it steady.[†] Selah.
- 4 To those who boast I say, 'Don't boast!' I tell the wicked, 'Don't be proud!'[‡]
- 5 No, don't be proud and arrogant, insulting heaven."[§]
- 6 For no one, from the east to the west, or from the wilderness, should think so highly of themselves.
- 7 God is the one who decides—who he will bring down and who he will lift up.

[†] 74:12 Hebrew has "my." [‡] 74:13 The personal pronoun is emphasized here and in subsequent verses. It may be to identify that it was the true God of Creation who did these things, in contrast to similar stories that gave credit to pagan gods. [§] 74:14 A sea monster also mentioned in Job.

* 74:16 Literally, "luminary," this may also include light from the stars. [†] 74:17 See Genesis 1:9-10. [‡] 74:19 The people of Israel are compared to doves in their meekness and inability to defend themselves. [§] 74:20 Literally, "covenant." * 75:1 "Close beside us," literally, "your name is near." [†] 75:3 Literally, "hold firm its pillars." [‡] 75:4 "Don't be proud": literally, "Don't lift up the horn." [§] 75:5 The Hebrew expressions need to be recast. Literally, the text says "You must not lift up on high your horn; you must not speak with an arrogant neck."

- ⁸ For the Lord has a cup in his hand, full of bubbling wine mixed with spices. He pours it out,* and all the wicked drink it deeply, down to the last drop.
- ⁹ But I will speak about you forever. I will sing praises to the God of Jacob.
- ¹⁰ For God says, "I will break the power of the wicked; but I will give my support to those who do what is good."

- ¹ God is famous in Judah; his reputation is great throughout Israel.
- ² He lives in Jerusalem; his home is in Zion.
- ³ There he broke the flaming arrows, the shields, the swords, and the weapons of war. Selah.
- ⁴ You shine with light; you are more majestic than the everlasting* mountains.
- ⁵ Our most courageous enemies have been plundered. They sleep the sleep of death. Even the strongest of them could not raise a hand against us.
- ⁶ At your command, God of Jacob, both horse and rider fell down dead.
- ⁷ You are terrifying—who can stand before you when you are angry?
- ⁸ From heaven you announced judgment. Everyone on earth was afraid and stood still,
- ⁹ when you stood up to judge, to save the oppressed people of the earth. Selah.
- ¹⁰ Even human anger against you makes you look glorious, for you wear it like a crown.†
- ¹¹ Make your promises to God and be sure to keep them. Everyone bring gifts to the awe-inspiring one.
- ¹² For he humbles proud leaders; he terrifies the kings of the earth.

- ¹ I cry out to God for help—I even shout. If only he would listen to me!
- ² When I was in trouble I prayed to the Lord. All night long I stretched out my hands to him in prayer but nothing brought me any comfort.
- ³ I thought about God, groaning loudly; I meditated on him, but I was discouraged. Selah.
- ⁴ You stop me going to sleep;* I'm so upset I can't even talk.
- ⁵ I think of the old days, years ago.
- ⁶ I remember the songs I sung in the night. I meditate and ask myself:
- ⁷ Has the Lord given up on me† forever? Won't he ever be pleased with me again?

* 75:8 In judgment. * 76:4 Septuagint reading. Hebrew has "mountains of prey." † 76:10 The Hebrew text is unclear. The interpretation followed here is that human hostility to God ends up showing what he is truly like in the way that he deals with it. * 77:4 Literally, "you seize my eyelids." † 77:7 "On me." No object is given in these verses—it could also be "us" or "the people."

- 8 Has his trustworthy love disappeared forever? Have his promises permanently ended?
- 9 Has God forgotten to be kind? Has he angrily slammed the door shut on his compassion? Selah.
- 10 Then I said, "This is what hurts me the most: the Most High doesn't treat me the way he used to."[‡]
- 11 I remember what you have done, Lord; I remember all the wonderful things you did long ago.
- 12 I will think about all you have accomplished; I will think deeply about how you have acted.
- 13 God, your ways are holy; is any god as great as you?
- 14 You are the God who does wonderful things! You have revealed your power to the nations.
- 15 Through your strength you saved your people, the descendants of Jacob and Joseph. Selah.
- 16 When the waters saw you, God, when they looked they trembled! Yes, they shook down to the very depths![§]
- 17 The clouds poured rain down; the skies crashed with thunder; your lightning flew like arrows.
- 18 Your thunder rumbled from the whirlwind; lightning flashes lit up the world; the earth quaked and shook.
- 19 Your way led through the sea; your path passed through the deep sea; yet your footprints were invisible.
- 20 You led your people like a flock, shepherded by Moses and Aaron.

A psalm (maskil) of Asaph.

- 1 Listen to what I have to teach you, my people; hear what I have to say.
- 2 I will tell you wise sayings;^{*} I will explain mysteries from the past
- 3 that we have heard before and reflected on; stories our forefathers passed down to us.
- 4 We will not keep them from our children; we will tell the next generation about God's marvelous actions—about his power and the amazing things he has done.
- 5 He gave his laws to the descendants of Jacob; his instructions to the people of Israel. He commanded our forefathers to teach them to their children,
- 6 so that the next generation—children yet to be born—would understand and grow up to teach their children.
- 7 In this way they should place their trust in God and not forget what God has done, and keep his commandments.
- 8 Then they would not be like their forefathers, a stubborn and rebellious generation that was untrustworthy and unfaithful.
- 9 The soldiers of Ephraim,[†] though armed with bows, ran away on the day of battle.

[‡] 77:10 Literally, "And I said, 'This is my wound: the right hand of the Most High has changed.'"

[§] 77:16 The word used here relates to the deep mentioned in Genesis 1:2. The image also recalls the parting of the Red Sea during the Exodus, an allusion confirmed in verse 20. ^{*} 78:2 Or "proverbs." [†] 78:9 Ephraim is often used as a term for the whole northern kingdom.

- 10 They did not keep God's agreement, and refused to follow his laws.
 11 They ignored[‡] what he had done, and the amazing things he had shown them—
 12 the miracles he had performed for their forefathers near Zoan[§] in Egypt.
 13 He split the sea in two and led them through, making the water stand like walls on either side.*
 14 He led them with a cloud by day, and by night with a light of fire.
 15 He split open rocks in the desert to give his people plenty to drink, water as deep as the ocean.
 16 He made streams flow from the stone; water rushing down like rivers!
 17 But they repeatedly sinned against him, rebelling against the Most High in the desert.
 18 They deliberately provoked God by demanding the foods they longed for.
 19 They insulted God by saying, "Can God provide food[†] here in the desert?
 20 Yes, he can strike a rock so that water gushes out like flowing rivers, but can he give us bread? Can he supply his people with meat?"
 21 When he heard this, the Lord became very angry, burning like fire against the descendants of Jacob, furious with the people of Israel,
 22 for they didn't believe in God and didn't trust him to take care of them.
 23 Even so he commanded the skies above and the doors of heaven to open,
 24 and he made manna rain down on them to eat, giving them bread from heaven.
 25 Human beings ate the bread of angels; he sent them more than enough food.
 26 He sent the east wind blowing across the sky; by his power he drove the south wind.[‡]
 27 He rained down meat on them as plentiful as dust; birds as numerous as sand on a beach.
 28 He made them fall right in the middle of their camp, all around where they were living.
 29 They ate until they were full. He gave them the food they longed for.
 30 But before they satisfied their appetite, while the meat was still in their mouths,
 31 God became angry with them and he killed their strongest men, striking them down in the prime of life.
 32 Despite all this they went right on sinning. Despite the miracles, they refused to trust him.
 33 So he snuffed out their futile lives, bringing them to an end in terror.
 34 When he began killing them, the rest came back to God in repentance, praying to him.
 35 They remembered that God was their rock, that God Most High was their Savior.
 36 They flattered him by what they told him, but they were only lying.
 37 Deep down they were not sincere, and did not keep the agreement[§] they had with him.

[‡] 78:11 Literally, "forgot," but here it means more than simply poor memory. [§] 78:12 Identified as the city of Rameses (see Exodus 1:11). * 78:13 "On either side": implied. [†] 78:19 Literally, "set a table." [‡] 78:26 A reference to the miraculous arrival of quail (Numbers 11:31). [§] 78:37 Or "covenant."

- 38 But being compassionate he pardoned their guilt and did not destroy all of them. He often held back his anger—he did not pour out all his fury.
- 39 He remembered their mortality—that they were like a puff of wind that would not return.
- 40 How often they rebelled against him in the wilderness, giving him grief in the desert!
- 41 Again and again they provoked God, causing pain to the Holy One of Israel.
- 42 They did not remember his strength when he rescued them from their oppressors,
- 43 performing miracles in Egypt, doing wonderful things on the plain of Zoan.
- 44 There he turned their* rivers and their streams into blood so that no one could drink from them.
- 45 He sent flies among them to destroy† them, and frogs to ruin everything.
- 46 He gave their crops to locusts; everything they worked had for was taken by locusts.‡
- 47 He destroyed their vines with hail, and their fig trees with freezing rain.
- 48 He handed over their cattle to hail and their flocks to lightning bolts.
- 49 He poured out on them his fierce anger—rage and hostility and anguish—sending a band of destroying angels against them.
- 50 He sent his unrestrained anger against them; he did not spare them from death, handing them over to the plague.
- 51 He struck down all the firstborn of Egypt, the first to be conceived in the tents of Ham.§
- 52 But he led out his people like sheep, and guided them like a flock in the wilderness.
- 53 He led them to safety, and they were not afraid. He drowned their enemies in the sea.
- 54 He brought them to the border of his holy land, to this mountainous land that he had conquered for them.
- 55 He drove out the heathen nations before them. He divided up the land for them to own. He settled the tribes of Israel in their tents.
- 56 But they provoked God Most High, rebelling against him. They did not follow what he had told them.
- 57 Just like their forefathers they turned away from God and were unfaithful to him, as twisted as a defective bow.*
- 58 They made him angry with their pagan high places of worship; they made him jealous with their idols.
- 59 When God heard their worship he became furious and he totally rejected Israel.
- 60 He abandoned his place at Shiloh, the Tabernacle where he lived among the people.
- 61 He surrendered the Ark of his power, allowing it to be captured; handing it over into enemy hands.

* 78:44 “Their”—referring to the Egyptians. † 78:45 Literally, “consume” but it is unlikely that flies could be seen as eating human beings. ‡ 78:46 Two different words are used for “locusts.”

§ 78:51 Ham—referring to Egypt. * 78:57 “Defective bow”—a bow that could not shoot arrows straight.

- 62 He handed over his people to be slaughtered by the sword; he was furious with his chosen people.
- 63 Their young men were destroyed by fire; their young women had no wedding songs.[†]
- 64 Their priests were killed by the sword; their widows were unable to mourn.
- 65 Then the Lord woke up as if from sleep, as a warrior sobering up from drinking wine.
- 66 He defeated his enemies, striking them on the back, causing them everlasting shame.
- 67 He rejected the descendants of Joseph, and did not choose the tribe of Ephraim.[‡]
- 68 Instead he chose the tribe of Judah, and Mount Zion which he loves.
- 69 There he built his sanctuary, high like the heavens, on earth that he made to last forever.
- 70 He chose his servant David, taking him from the sheep pens,
- 71 taking him from caring for the sheep and lambs to be a shepherd to the descendants of Jacob—God's special people, Israel.
- 72 Like a shepherd, he took care of them with sincere devotion, leading them with skillful hands.

A psalm of Asaph.

- 1 God, heathen nations have invaded your land. They have defiled your holy Temple. They have turned Jerusalem into heaps of rubble.
- 2 They have given the dead bodies of your servants as food to the birds of the air, the flesh of your faithful people to the beasts of the earth.
- 3 They have poured out the blood of Jerusalem's people like water all through the city; no one remains to bury the dead.
- 4 We have been made a mockery before our neighbors, ridiculed and laughed at by those around us.
- 5 How long, Lord? Will you be angry with us forever? Will your jealousy always burn like fire?
- 6 Pour out your anger on the heathen nations that don't know you, and on those kingdoms that don't worship you!
- 7 For they have destroyed the descendants of Jacob, and turned our country into a wasteland.
- 8 Don't hold the sins of our forefathers against us! Come to us quickly for we desperately need your compassion.
- 9 Help us, God of our salvation, because of your wonderful character! Save us and forgive us our sins because that's the kind of person you are!*
- 10 Why should the heathen nations be able to say, "Where is their God?" May they experience your punishment for shedding the blood of your servants, and may we see it.
- 11 Listen to the groans of the prisoners; with your great power save those condemned to die.

[†] 78:63 Literally, "were not praised." Either that the men were dead so they could not marry, or they were killed themselves. [‡] 78:67 This is a reference to the Ark once it had been returned. 1 Samuel 6; 2 Samuel 6.

* 79:9 Literally, "for your name's sake."

- ¹² Pay each of these neighbors back seven times for the scorn and ridicule they directed against you, Lord.
- ¹³ Then we your people, the flock of your pasture, will praise you forever. We will thank you for all generations to come.

- ¹ Please hear us, Shepherd of Israel, you who lead the descendants of Joseph like a flock. You who sit on your throne above the cherubim, shine out
- ² in the presence of Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh. Gather together your power and come to save us!
- ³ God, please restore us! Let your face shine on us so we can be saved.
- ⁴ Lord God Almighty, how long will you be angry with the prayers of your people?
- ⁵ You fed them with the bread of tears, and gave them a full bowl* of tears to drink.
- ⁶ You turn us into victims our neighbors fight over; our enemies mock us.
- ⁷ God Almighty, please restore us! Let your face shine on us so we can be saved!
- ⁸ You carried us out of Egypt like a vine. You drove out the heathen nations, and then you planted the vine.
- ⁹ You prepared the ground for the vine. It took root and filled the land.
- ¹⁰ The mountains were covered by its shade; its branches covered the great cedars.
- ¹¹ It sent its branches as far west as the Mediterranean Sea, and its shoots as far east as the Euphrates River.
- ¹² So why have you broken down the walls that protect it† so that everyone who passes by can steal its fruit?
- ¹³ Wild pigs from the forest eat it, wild animals feed on it.
- ¹⁴ God Almighty, please return to us! Look down from heaven and see what's happening to us! Come and care for this vine
- ¹⁵ that you planted yourself, this son that you brought up yourself.
- ¹⁶ We, your vine, have been chopped down and burned. May those who did this‡ die when you glare at them.
- ¹⁷ Protect the man who stands beside you; strengthen the son you have chosen.
- ¹⁸ Then we will not turn away from you. Revive us so we can pray to you.§
- ¹⁹ Lord God Almighty, please restore us! Let your face shine on us so we can be saved.

81

- ¹ Sing aloud to God our strength; shout for joy to the God of Jacob.
- ² Start the song! Play the tambourine, sweet-sounding lyre, and harp.

* 80:5 Literally, "full measure." † 80:12 "That protect it": implied. ‡ 80:16 Implied. § 80:18 Literally, "call on your name."

- 3 Blow the trumpet at the new moon, and at full moon, to begin our festivals,
 4 for this is a rule for Israel, a regulation of the God of Jacob.
 5 God made this statute for Joseph when he opposed the land of Egypt. I heard a voice I didn't know, saying:^{*}
 6 "I took the load from your shoulders; I freed your hands from carrying heavy baskets.
 7 In your suffering you cried out to me, and I saved you. I answered you from the thundercloud. I tested you at the waters of Meribah.[†] Selah.
 8 My people, listen to my warnings! Israel, please listen to me!
 9 There must not be a strange god among you; you must never bow down to foreign gods and worship them.
 10 I am the Lord your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt. Open your mouth wide and I will fill it.[‡]
 11 But my people didn't listen to me. Israel didn't want anything to do with me.
 12 So I sent them away to follow their stubborn thinking, living as they chose.
 13 If only my people would listen to me; if only Israel would follow my ways!
 14 It wouldn't take me long to conquer their enemies, to strike down their foes.
 15 Those who hate the Lord would cringe before him, forever doomed.
 16 But I would feed you the best wheat and satisfy you with honey from the rock."

82

A psalm of Asaph.

- 1 God stands in the midst of his great assembly to judge among the gods.^{*}
 2 How long will you make unfair judgments and show favoritism to the wicked? Selah.
 3 Defend the poor and orphans; support the rights of those who are oppressed and suffering.
 4 Rescue the poor and those unable to help themselves; save them from the clutches of evil people.
 5 They don't have any wisdom; they live in the dark; the foundations of the earth are shaken.
 6 I say, "You are gods; all of you are children of the Most High.
 7 But you will die like any human being, you will fall like any other leader."
 8 Stand up, Lord, and judge the earth, for all the nations belong to you.

83

A song. A psalm of Asaph.

^{*} 81:5 Meaning unclear. Literally, "I hear lips I do not know." [†] 81:7 See Exodus 17. [‡] 81:10
 In other words God will supply all their needs. ^{*} 82:1 The word used here can mean "gods," "heavenly beings," or perhaps more likely here in the context, the "judges of Israel" (used in this sense in Exodus 21:6 and Exodus 22:8-9).

- 1 God, please do not stay silent! You can't remain unmoved! God, you must not keep quiet!
- 2 Can't you hear the roars of your enemies? Can't you see how those who hate you are defiantly lifting up their heads?
- 3 They invent cunning plans to conspire against your people; they plot against those you treasure.
- 4 They say, "Come on! Let's destroy them as a nation so the name 'Israel' will be completely forgotten."
- 5 They all agree in their conspiracy; they've made a treaty together to attack you—
- 6 the people of Edom, the Ishmaelites, Moab, and the Hagirites;
- 7 the people of Gebal and Ammon and Amalek, Philistia, and the inhabitants of Tyre.
- 8 Assyria too has joined them, allied with the descendants of Lot. Selah.
- 9 Do to them what you did to Midian, what you did to Sisera and Jabin* at the Kishon River.
- 10 They were destroyed at Endor and became like manure to fertilize the ground.
- 11 Make their leaders like Oreb and Zeeb; all their rulers like Zebah and Zalmunna,†
- 12 for they said, "Let's take the pastures of God for ourselves!"
- 13 My God, make them like whirling tumbleweeds, chaff blown away by the wind.
- 14 Just like fire that burns the forest, a flame that sets fire to the mountains,
- 15 in the same way chase them down with your storm, terrify them with your whirlwind.
- 16 Shame them in defeat‡ so that they come to you, Lord!
- 17 Make them ashamed, terrify them forever so that they die in disgrace.
- 18 Let them understand that you alone, called the Lord, are the Most High who rules over all the earth.

84

- 1 How wonderful is the place where you live, Lord Almighty!
- 2 I long, I ache, to be in the courts* of the Lord. My mind and my body sing for joy to the living God.
- 3 Even a sparrow finds a home there, and a swallow builds a nest for herself where she can raise her chicks near to your altars, Lord Almighty, my king and my God.
- 4 How happy are those who live in your house—they are always praising you! Selah.
- 5 How happy are those whose strength is in you, those who are determined to make a pilgrimage.
- 6 As they walk through the Valley of Tears‡ it becomes a spring of water; autumn rains cover it with pools.

* 83:9 Sisera and Jabin: see Judges 4. † 83:11 Oreb and Zeeb; Zebah and Zalmunna: see Judges

6 and Judges 7. ‡ 83:16 Literally, "fill their faces with shame." * 84:2 Meaning the Temple.

† 84:6 Septuagint reading.

- ⁷ They go from strength to strength, and each one will appear before God in Jerusalem.
- ⁸ Lord God Almighty, please hear my prayer; please listen, God of Jacob. Selah.
- ⁹ Please God, look at our defender, look at the face of your anointed one.
- ¹⁰ One day in your courts is better than a thousand anywhere else. I'd rather stand as a doorkeeper in the house of my God than live comfortably in the homes of the wicked.
- ¹¹ For the Lord God is our sun and shield, and he gives us grace and honor. The Lord doesn't hold back anything good from those who do right.
- ¹² Lord Almighty, how happy are those who trust in you.

- ¹ Lord, you have shown your kindness to your land; you have restored Jacob's prosperity.*
- ² You took away your people's guilt; you forgave all their sins. Selah.
- ³ You took back your fury; you turned away from your fierce anger.
- ⁴ Bring us back to you, God of our salvation! Take away your anger towards us.
- ⁵ Are you going to be furious with us forever? Will you stay angry with us for all future generations?
- ⁶ Won't you restore our lives so your people can find happiness in you?
- ⁷ Show us your trustworthy love, Lord! Give us your salvation!
- ⁸ Let me hear what God has to say. God speaks peace to his people, to those who trust in him. But they must not return to their foolish ways.
- ⁹ Truly God's salvation is with those who do as he says. His glorious presence will live with us in our land.
- ¹⁰ Trustworthiness and faithful love join together; goodness and peace have kissed each other.
- ¹¹ What is true grows up from the earth; what is right looks down from heaven.
- ¹² The Lord will certainly give us all that is good, and our land will produce fine crops.
- ¹³ Truth and right go ahead of him to prepare a path for him to walk on.

A prayer of David.

- ¹ Please listen to me, Lord! Please answer me, for I am weak and really need your help!
- ² Don't let me die, for I am faithful to you. Save me, for I am your servant and I trust in you. You are my God.
- ³ Be kind to me, Lord, for I call out to you all day long.
- ⁴ Make me happy, Lord, for I've dedicated my life to you.
- ⁵ For you, Lord, are good; you are forgiving and full of trustworthy love for all who come to you.

* 85:1 From the context it appears this psalm was written after the Babylonian captivity.

- 6 Lord, please listen to my prayer. Hear my call for help.
 7 When I'm in trouble I cry out to you because I know you will answer me.
 8 There's no one like you among the "gods," Lord. No one can do the things you do.
 9 You created all the nations, and they will come and bow down before you, Lord. They will declare how wonderful you are.
 10 For you are great, and do wonderful things! Only you are God.
 11 Lord, please teach me your way, so I can depend on your trustworthiness. Make me single-minded, so I can consistently honor the kind of person you are.
 12 Lord my God, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. I will praise your character forever.
 13 For your trustworthy love for me is so great; you have saved me from death.*
 14 God, arrogant people are attacking me, vicious people are trying to kill me. To them you count for nothing.
 15 But you, Lord, are a compassionate and gracious God, slow to become angry, full of trustworthy love and faithfulness.
 16 Turn to me, have mercy on me. Give me your strength, your servant; save the son of your servant-girl.
 17 Show me a sign that you approve of me! Those who hate me will see it, and they will be ashamed because you, Lord, have helped me.

87

- 1 The Lord founded the city on his holy mountain.
 2 Jerusalem is the city that the Lord loves more than any other city in Israel.*
 3 Many wonderful things are said of you, city of God! Selah.
 4 I mention Egypt† and Babylon as those who know me, and in addition Philistia, Tyre, and Ethiopia—"this man was born there."‡
 5 It will be said concerning Jerusalem, "Everyone was born there,"§ and the Most High will make it secure.
 6 When the Lord registers the nations, he will write, "They were born there."* Selah.
 7 Singers and dancers alike say, "Living here I am at home."†

A song. A psalm of the descendants of Korah. For the music director. To the tune "Mahalath Leannoth." A maskil by Heman the Ezrahite

- 1 Lord, God of my salvation, I cry out to you day and night.
 2 Please listen to my prayer; hear my words as I plead with you.

* 86:13 "From death": literally, "from the depths of Sheol." * 87:2 "Israel": literally, Jacob.
 † 87:4 Literally, "Rahab." ‡ 87:4 The meaning of this verse is debated. What it seems to be saying is that despite the patriotism for each country/city mentioned, the best is to be born in Jerusalem. (See following verse.) § 87:5 In other words, everyone will have the right to citizenship in Jerusalem. * 87:6 In Jerusalem. † 87:7 Literally, "All of my springs are in you."

- ³ My life is full of troubles, and my death is approaching.*
⁵ I am abandoned among the dead, lying like a corpse in the grave, forgotten and beyond your care.
⁶ You have placed me in a deep pit, in the depths of darkness.
⁷ Your hostility crushes me; you are drowning me under your crashing waves. Selah.
⁸ You have made my friends avoid me by making me look repulsive to them. I'm trapped, I can't go out.†
⁹ I've cried my eyes out begging you every day for your help, Lord, holding out my hands to you.
¹⁰ Do you do miracles among the dead? Do the dead stand up to praise you? Selah.
¹¹ Your faithful love—is it mentioned in the grave? Your trustworthiness—is it discussed in the place of destruction?‡
¹² Are the wonderful things you do known in the darkness? Is your goodness known in the land of forgetfulness?
¹³ But I cry out to you for help; every morning I pray to you.
¹⁴ Lord, why do you reject me? Why do you turn away from me?
¹⁵ I have been sick since I was young, often at death's door. I have had to bear the terrible things you've done to me. I'm in despair!
¹⁷ They surround me all the time like floodwaters, swallowing me up.
¹⁸ You have made my family and friends avoid me. Darkness is my only friend.

A psalm (maskil) of Ethan the Ezraite

- ¹ I will sing of the Lord's trustworthy love forever; I will tell all generations of your faithfulness.
² For I have said, "Your unfailing love lasts forever; your faithfulness endures as long as the heavens."
³ You* said, "I have made an agreement† with my chosen one, I gave a binding promise to my servant David:
⁴ I will make sure your lineage lasts forever; I will keep your throne secure for all generations." Selah.
⁵ All the heavenly beings will sing of the wonderful things you have done, Lord; angels will gather to sing of your faithfulness.
⁷ The heavenly council are in awe of God; all who surround him are overwhelmed by him.
⁸ Lord God Almighty, who is as powerful as you? In all this,‡ Lord, you are completely trustworthy.

* 88:3 Literally, "my life reaches out to Sheol." † 88:8 Perhaps because he is regarded as unclean.

‡ 88:11 "Place of destruction": literally, "Abaddon." * 89:3 Referring to God. † 89:3 Or covenant. ‡ 89:8 "In all this": implied.

- 10 You crushed Rahab the sea-monster to death; by your power you scattered your enemies.
- 11 The heavens belong to you, and the earth too; you made the world and everything in it.
- 12 You created north and south; Mount Tabor and Mount Hermon celebrate you.
- 13 Your arm is powerful. Your hand is strong. Your right hand is held up high in command.[§]
- 14 Your character of goodness and fairness is the basis for the way you rule; dependable love and trustworthiness are always with you.
- 15 How happy are those who know how to shout your praises, Lord.* They live in the light of your presence.
- 16 They celebrate the person you are all day long, so glad that you do what's right.
- 17 They rely on you, their glory and strength; by your grace you lift us up.
- 18 Yes, the Lord is the one who shields us, and our king belongs to the Holy One of Israel.
- 19 Once you spoke in a vision to your faithful servant and said,[†] "I have given strength to the warrior I have chosen from the people to become king."
- 20 I have selected David my servant, and I have anointed him with the oil of my holiness.
- 21 I have placed my hand on him to steady him; and I have made him strong by my powerful arm.
- 22 His enemies will not deceive him; the wicked will not bring him down.
- 23 I will wipe out his enemies before him; I will strike down those who hate him.
- 24 My trustworthiness and unfailing love will be with him, and through me he will be victorious.[‡]
- 25 I will extend his rule from the Mediterranean Sea to the Euphrates River.[§]
- 26 He will call out to me, 'You are my Father, my God, and the rock of my salvation.'
- 27 I will also make him my first-born son, the highest of the kings of the earth.
- 28 I will love him faithfully forever; my agreement* with him shall never come to an end.
- 29 I will make sure his royal line lasts forever; his dynasty[†] will continue as long as the heavens endure.
- 30 But if his descendants abandon my laws, if they do not follow my rules,
- 31 if they break my decrees, and do not keep my commandments,
- 32 I will punish their rebellion by beating them with a rod, and their sin by lashing them with a whip.
- 33 However, I will not take away my love from him; I will not break my promise to him.

[§] 89:13 "In command": implied. * 89:15 This may have involved the shouts that accompanied the start of religious festivals. [†] 89:19 See 2 Samuel 7:4-17. [‡] 89:24 Literally, "In my name his horn will be exalted." [§] 89:25 Literally, "I will set his hand on the sea and his right hand on the rivers." * 89:28 Or "covenant." [†] 89:29 Literally, "throne."

- 34 I will not annul the agreement I have with him; I will not alter a single word I've said.
- 35 By my holy character I have made a vow to David that I will not lie to him.
- 36 His royal line will last forever, and his dynasty will continue before me as long as the sun endures.
- 37 It will continue forever like the moon, an enduring witness in the heavens." Selah.
- 38 But you[‡] have rejected and abandoned him! You are angry with your chosen king!§
- 39 You have broken the agreement you had with him; you have thrown his crown to the ground!
- 40 You have torn down his defensive walls; you have ruined his fortresses.*
- 41 Everyone who passes by has robbed him; he has become an object of mockery to the nations nearby.
- 42 You have made his enemies strong; you have made them celebrate their victory.†
- 43 You have repelled his sharp sword; you have not helped him in battle.
- 44 You took away his glory; you threw his throne to the ground.
- 45 You have made him grow old before his time; you have totally humiliated him. Selah.
- 46 How long, Lord? Will you hide yourself from us forever, your anger burning like fire?
- 47 Remember me—my life is so short! Why did you bother creating futile humanity?
- 48 There's no one who doesn't die—no one can save themselves from the power of the grave. Selah.
- 49 Where is the trustworthy love you used to have, Lord, that you faithfully promised to David?
- 50 Don't forget, Lord, how your servants are being humiliated! I'm burdened down[‡] with the insults of so many nations!
- 51 Your enemies taunt me, Lord, mocking your king§ wherever he goes.
- 52 May the Lord be blessed for ever. Amen and amen.

90

A prayer of Moses, the man of God.

- 1 Lord, through every generation, you have been "home" for us!
- 2 Before the mountains were born, before you gave birth to the earth and the universe, from eternity past to eternity future, you are God.
- 3 You turn people back into dust, saying, "Return to dust, human beings."
- 4 In your eyes, a thousand years are like a day that's already gone; like a few passing hours of the night.
- 5 You bring people's lives to a sudden end, like dreams that vanish. They are like grass that grows up in the morning—

‡ 89:38 The psalmist is now addressing God. § 89:38 Literally, "anointed one." * 89:40 The king is used as a symbol for Jerusalem which has been attacked and destroyed. † 89:42 "Their victory"—implied. ‡ 89:50 "I am burdened down": literally, "I carry in my lap." § 89:51 Literally, "anointed one."

- 6 it sprouts in the morning, fresh and new, but by the evening it is withered and dead.
7 We are burned up by your anger, terrified by your fury.
8 You have set out our sins before you—our secret sins are visible in the light of your presence.
9 Our lives fade away under your anger, coming to an end as quickly as a sigh.
10 We live for seventy years—eighty if we have the strength. But even in the prime of life all that we have is hardship and suffering. Soon our lives are over and we're gone.
11 Who can know the power of your anger? Who understands your fury so you can be shown reverence?
12 Teach us to value every one of our days so we can live wisely!
13 Lord, how long will it be before you come back to us and have pity on us your servants?
14 Show us every morning your trustworthy love so we may be happy, full of joy throughout our lives.
15 Make us glad for as many days as you made us sad, for all the years we suffered!
16 May we, your servants, see you at work for us* again; may our children see your glory.
17 May our Lord God be pleased with us, blessing what we do, blessing what we do.

- 1 Those who live under the protection of the Most High are kept safe by the Almighty.
2 This is what I say about the Lord: "He is the one who defends and protects me. He is my God, and I trust in him."
3 For he will save you from hidden traps and deadly diseases.*
4 He will hide you under his feathers, and shelter you with his wings. His trustworthiness shields and protects you.
5 You will not be afraid of terror at night or an arrow that flies in the day,
6 or disease that attacks at night, or catastrophe that falls at noon.
7 A thousand may fall beside you, ten thousand die at your right hand, but you won't be harmed.
8 You only have to open your eyes and you will see how the wicked are repaid.
9 Because you have made the Lord your protection, and the Most High your home,
10 nothing evil will happen to you; no plague will come near where you live.
11 For he will command his angels to take care of you in everything you do.
12 They will hold you up with their hands so you won't trip and fall down.
13 You will trample lions and snakes; you will tread young lions and serpents underfoot.

* 90:16 "For us"—implied.

* 91:3 "Hidden traps and deadly diseases": literally, "the fowler's snare and plague of destruction."

- 14 I[†] will save anyone who loves me; I will protect anyone who accepts me.
 15 When they call out to me for help, I will answer; when they are in trouble, I will be with them. I will save and honor them.
 16 I will grant them long lives, and show them my salvation.

92

A psalm. A song for the Sabbath day.

- 1 How good it is to thank the Lord, to sing praises to you, Most High,
 2 to tell of your trustworthy love in the morning, and your faithfulness in the night,
 3 to the music of a ten-stringed harp and the melody of a lyre.
 4 You've made me so happy, Lord, because of all you've done for me! I sing for joy at what you've done!
 5 Lord, what you do is amazing; your thoughts are very profound!
 6 Only senseless people and fools don't know and understand this:
 7 even though the wicked grow up quickly like grass, and even though people who do evil flourish, they will be destroyed forever!
 8 But you, Lord, rule on high forever.
 9 Your enemies, Lord, your enemies will die; everyone who does evil will be destroyed!
 10 But you have made me as powerful as a wild bull; you have anointed me with the best olive oil.
 11 My eyes look with pleasure to see my enemies defeated; my ears have heard the downfall of those who tried to attack me.*
 12 Those who live right flourish like a palm tree; they grow tall like a cedar tree in Lebanon.
 13 They are planted in the house of the Lord; they thrive in the courts of our God.
 14 Even when they are old they will still produce fruit, staying fresh and green.
 15 They will declare, "The Lord does what is right! He is my rock! There is no wrong in him!"

93

- 1 The Lord reigns, clothed in majesty! He wears his royal robes, with his power worn like a belt. The world is held together firmly—it cannot be broken apart.
 2 Your throne has existed from ages past; you are from eternity.
 3 The floods have raised up, Lord; the floods have raised their voices; the floods have raised up their crashing waves.
 5 Your laws are totally trustworthy. Your house,* Lord, is holy forever.

[†] 91:14 The Lord is speaking. * 92:11 This appears to be the meaning of the text, but the words "defeated" and "downfall" are supplied, otherwise there would be no reason to celebrate. * 93:5 "Your house": this could refer to the Temple, or to the Lord's enduring reign.

- 1 The Lord is a God of vengeance! God of vengeance, shine out!*
- 2 Stand up, judge of the earth, and pay back those who are proud what they deserve.
- 3 How long, Lord? How long will the wicked celebrate in triumph?
- 4 How long will you let them pour out their arrogant words? How long will these evil people go on boasting?
- 5 Lord, they crush your people; they oppress those you call your own.
- 6 They kill widows and foreigners; they murder orphans.
- 7 They say, "The Lord can't see what we're doing. Israel's God doesn't pay any attention to us."
- 8 Take another look, you stupid people! Fools—when will you ever get the point?
- 9 Do you think the creator of the ear can't hear? Do you think the maker of the eye can't see?
- 10 Do you think that the one who punishes nations won't punish you too? Do you think that the one who teaches human beings knowledge doesn't know anything?†
- 11 The Lord knows the thoughts of human beings—he knows they are pointless.
- 12 Those you discipline are happy, Lord; those you teach from your Law.
- 13 You give them peace in days of trouble, until a pit is dug to trap the wicked.
- 14 For the Lord will not give up on his people; he will not abandon his own.
- 15 Justice will once again be based on what is right; those who are sincere will support it.
- 16 Who came to my defense against the wicked; who stood up for me against those who do evil?
- 17 If the Lord hadn't helped me, I would have soon gone down into the silence of the grave.
- 18 I shouted out, "My foot's slipping!" and your trustworthy love, Lord, kept me from falling.
- 19 When my mind was full of worries, you comforted me and encouraged me.
- 20 Can unjust judges really be on your side, Lord, when their corrupt use of the law causes misery?
- 21 They work together to destroy good people; they condemn those who are innocent to death.
- 22 But the Lord protects me like a fortress; my God is the rock that keeps me safe.
- 23 He will turn the wickedness of evil people back upon them; he will destroy them because of their sins; the Lord our God will destroy them.

* 94:1 The shining out of God's vengeance is a call for the display of justice and right. Vengeance when it is applied to God should not be taken as a vindictive action of retaliation as human beings do when they exact revenge. It is an establishing of what is right, correcting wrongs, and making sure there is resolution to the problem of evil. † 94:10 "Doesn't know anything"—implied.

- ¹ Come, let's sing for joy to the Lord! Let's shout in triumph to the rock of our salvation!
- ² Let's go before him with thanksgiving! Let's sing loudly to him in celebration!
- ³ For the Lord is a great God, a great king above all gods.
- ⁴ He rules over the depths of the earth and the heights of the mountains.
- ⁵ The sea is his, because he made it; the dry land, because he formed it.
- ⁶ Come, let's enter in* and worship, let's kneel before the Lord our Creator.
- ⁷ For he is our God, and we are the people he looks after like a shepherd, the flock he cares for. If you hear his voice calling you today,
- ⁸ don't have a hard-hearted attitude,[†] "as you did at Meribah, as you did that day at Massah in the desert,
- ⁹ when your forefathers provoked me, testing my patience, even though they had seen everything I'd done.
- ¹⁰ For forty years I was disgusted with that generation, and I said, "They are people who are unfaithful to me in their minds, and they refuse to accept my ways."
- ¹¹ So in my frustration I vowed, "They will certainly not enter my rest." †

- ¹ Sing to the Lord a new song! All the earth, sing to the Lord!
- ² Sing to the Lord, and of his wonderful reputation!* Each day let everyone know of his salvation!
- ³ Declare his glorious acts among the nations, the amazing things he does among all peoples.
- ⁴ For the Lord is great, and deserves the best praise! He is to be respected with awe above all gods.
- ⁵ For all the gods of other nations are idols; but the Lord made the heavens!
- ⁶ Splendor and majesty are his; power and glory are in his sanctuary.
- ⁷ Give the Lord acclamation, nations of the world, acclaim him with glory and strength.
- ⁸ Give the Lord the glory he deserves; bring an offering and come into his courts.
- ⁹ Worship the Lord in his magnificent holiness; let all the earth tremble in his presence.
- ¹⁰ Tell the nations, "The Lord is in charge!" The world is held together firmly—it cannot be broken apart. He will judge everyone fairly.
- ¹¹ Let the heavens sing for joy, let the earth be happy, let the sea and everything in it shout with praise!
- ¹² Let the fields and everything there celebrate; let all the trees in the forest sing for joy.
- ¹³ In fact, let everything that stands before the Lord sing praises,[†] for he is coming, coming to judge the earth. He will judge the world with fairness, and the nations with his truth.

* 95:6 Speaking of entering into the Temple to worship. † 95:8 "Have a hard-hearted attitude": literally, "do not harden your hearts." ‡ 95:11 "My rest," referring to the Promised Land. * 96:2 "Reputation": literally, "name." † 96:13 Expanded for clarity.

97

- 1 The Lord reigns! Let the earth be glad, and distant lands be full of joy!
 2 He is surrounded by clouds and thick darkness; his throne is founded on justice and right.
 5 The mountains melt like wax in the presence of the Lord, before the Lord of all the earth.
 6 The heavens proclaim his goodness; everyone sees his glory.
 7 All those who worship idols are humiliated, those who are proud of their idols—for all “gods” bow down before him.
 8 Jerusalem hears this and celebrates; all the towns of Judah are happy because of your judgments, Lord.
 9 For you, Lord, are the highest of all, ruling over the whole earth; your position is far above any other god.
 10 You who love the Lord, hate evil! He protects the lives of those who are faithful to him, and saves them from the power of wicked people.
 11 Light shines* on those who do good, giving joy to those who live right.
 12 Be happy in the Lord, you who do right, and thank him for his holy nature!

A psalm.

- 1 Sing the Lord a new song, for he has done wonderful things: by his powerful right hand and his strong arm he has won the victory.
 2 The Lord has revealed his salvation to the nations, and shown them his goodness.
 3 He has not forgotten to show his trustworthy love and faithfulness to the descendants of Israel. Our God has made his salvation clear to the ends of the earth.
 4 Everyone on earth, shout in triumph to the Lord; break out in joyful songs of praise!
 5 Sing praises to the Lord with the harp, with the harp and melodious voices;
 6 with trumpets and the sound of the ram's horn sing in happiness before the Lord, the King.
 7 Let the sea and everything in it shout with praise, together with the earth and everything living in it.
 8 Let the rivers celebrate, let the hills join in the celebration*
 9 before the Lord, for he is coming to judge the earth. He will judge the world justly, and the nations fairly.

99

- 1 The Lord reigns; let the nations tremble! He sits on his throne above the cherubim; let the earth shake!
 2 The Lord rules supreme in Zion, he is sovereign over all the nations.

* 97:11 Or “is sown.”

* 98:8 Literally, “let the rivers clap their hands together, let the hills sing for joy.”

- ³ Let them praise his greatness, and respect him for who he is—for he is holy,
⁴ having kingly power. You love justice; you make impartial decisions. You have made sure everything is done in fairness and according to what's right.
⁵ Give respect to the Lord our God! Bow down at his feet, for he is holy!
⁶ Moses and Aaron were among his priests; Samuel also prayed to him. They called out to the Lord for help, and he answered them.
⁸ Lord our God, you answered them. You were a forgiving God to them, but you punished them when they did wrong.
⁹ Honor the Lord our God, and worship at his holy mountain. For the Lord our God is holy!

A psalm of thanksgiving.

- ¹ Everyone on earth shout for joy to the Lord!
³ Know that the Lord is God! He made us, so we belong to him.* We are his people, the flock he cares for.
⁴ Go in through his gate with thanks; enter his courts with praise. Thank him; praise him for who he is.

A psalm of David.

- ¹ I will sing of your faithful love and good judgment. I will sing praises to you, Lord.
² I will make sure my life is blameless. When will you come and help me? My life will be one of integrity even in private.*
³ I will not look at anything evil. I hate doing wrong—I won't have anything to do with it.
⁴ I won't think bad thoughts—I won't even consider anything evil.
⁵ I will silence anyone who secretly slanders their neighbor. I won't tolerate anyone who is proud and arrogant.
⁷ No one who is dishonest will live in my house; no liars will be allowed in my presence.
⁸ I work every day to silence the wicked in the land, to rid the city of the Lord of all who do evil.

* 100:3 "So we belong to him": alternatively, "we did not make ourselves."
 * 101:2 "Even in private": literally, "in my house."

102

A prayer from someone who is suffering and is tired out, pouring out their troubles to the Lord.

² Don't hide your face from me in my time of trouble! Turn and listen to me, and answer me quickly when I call.

³ My life is disappearing like smoke; my body feels like it's on fire!

⁴ I'm like grass that's dried up, withered away—I even forget to eat!

⁵ All my groaning has worn me out; my bones show through my skin.

⁸ My enemies taunt me all day long. They mock me and swear at me.

⁹ Ashes are the food I eat; my tears drip into my drink,

¹³ You will take action and have pity on Jerusalem, for it's time to be kind to the city, the time has come.

¹⁵ Then the nations will be in awe of who you are, Lord; all the kings of the earth will be in awe of your glory.

¹⁶ For the Lord will rebuild Jerusalem; he will appear in glory.

¹⁸ Let this be recorded for generations to come, so that people yet to be born may praise the Lord:

¹⁹ The Lord looked down from above, from the heights of his holy place; he looked down from heaven to the earth,

²⁰ to respond to the groans of prisoners, to set free the children of death.‡

²⁵ Long ago you created the earth; you made the heavens.

²⁶ They will come to an end, but you will not. They will all wear out, like clothes—you will change them, and throw them away.

²⁸ Our children will live with you, and our children's children will grow in your presence."

* 102:6 "Owl": some identify this bird as a pelican or cormorant. † 102:12 Literally, "sit."

‡ 102:20 Meaning "those condemned to die." § 102:21 Implied. * 102:23 Added for clarity.

103

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Let every part of me praise the Lord; let my whole being praise his holy character.
- ² Let every part of me praise the Lord; don't let me forget the wonderful things he's done for me.
- ³ He forgives my sins, and he heals all my diseases.
- ⁴ He saves me from death; he honors* me with trustworthy love and mercy.
- ⁵ He fills my life with all that's good; he makes me young again, strong as an eagle.
- ⁶ The Lord does what is right, and vindicates those who are exploited.
- ⁷ He explained his ways to Moses: he told the people of Israel what he was going to do.
- ⁸ The Lord is kind and gracious, not quick-tempered, and full of trustworthy love.
- ⁹ He doesn't keep on accusing us; he doesn't stay angry with us forever.
- ¹⁰ He does not punish us for our sins as he ought to; he does not pay us back for our wrongdoing as we deserve.
- ¹¹ For as high as the heavens are above the earth is the extent of his trustworthy love to those who honor him.
- ¹² As far as the east is from the west is how far the Lord has taken our sins away from us.
- ¹³ Like a loving father, the Lord is kind and compassionate to those who follow him.
- ¹⁴ For he knows how we are made; he remembers we are only dust.
- ¹⁵ Human lifetimes are like grass: we blossom like flowers in a field,
- ¹⁶ but then the wind blows and we are gone, disappearing without a trace.
- ¹⁷ But the Lord's trustworthy love lasts for all eternity to those who accept him; his goodness to all generations,
- ¹⁸ to those who keep his agreement and who remember to follow his commandments.
- ¹⁹ The Lord has set up his throne in the heavens, and he rules over all.
- ²⁰ Praise the Lord, you angels, you powerful ones who do what he says, listening to what he tells you!
- ²¹ Praise the Lord, you heavenly armies who serve him and carry out his will!
- ²² Praise the Lord, everything in his creation, everyone under his rule, and let every part of me praise the Lord!

104

- ¹ Let every part of me praise the Lord! Lord my God, you are so great, clothed with majesty and splendor!
- ² You wear light as your clothing; you stretch out the fabric* of the heavens.
- ³ You place the roof-beams of your house in the rainclouds. You make the clouds your chariots. You ride on the wings of the wind.
- ⁴ You make your angels winds, and your servants flames of fire.†
- ⁵ You set the earth on its foundations; it will never be shaken.

* 103:4 Literally, "crowns." * 104:2 Literally, "tent curtain." † 104:4 Septuagint reading; also quoted in Hebrews 1:7.

- 6 It was clothed with ocean depths—the waters even covered the mountains—
7 but at your command the waters fled; at the sound of your thunder they rushed away.
8 The mountains rose up and the valleys sank down to where you had determined.
9 You set a boundary for the oceans so they would not come back and cover the earth.
10 You make springs flow into the streams, running down between the hills.
11 They provide water for all the wild animals, and wild donkeys quench their thirst.
14 You make the grass grow for the cattle, and plants for people to eat—crops produced by the earth for food,
15 and wine to make them happy, olive oil to make their faces shine, and bread to make them strong.
16 The Lord's trees are well-watered, the cedars of Lebanon that he planted.
18 Wild goats live high in the mountains; hyraxes hide among the rocks.
19 You made the moon to mark the months, and the sun knows when to set.
20 You make darkness fall and the night comes, the time when the forest animals come out to hunt.[‡]
21 The young lions roar as they seek their prey, looking for the food that God provides for them.
23 Then people leave for work, working until the evening.
24 Lord, how many different things you have made—all of them wisely created! The earth is full of your creatures.
25 Consider the sea, deep and wide, full of all kinds of living things, large and small.
26 Ships sail there, and Leviathan,[§] that you made to play in it.
28 When you provide it, they gather it up. You hand out food to them, and they are well-fed.
29 When you turn away from them, they're terrified; when you take away their breath, they die and return to dust.
30 When you send your breath, they are created, and life covers the earth again.
31 May the Lord's glory last forever! The Lord is happy with all he has made.
32 He only has to look at the earth and it trembles; mountains pour out smoke at his touch.
33 I will sing to the Lord for as long as I live; I will sing praises to my God my whole life.

- 34 May he be pleased with my thoughts* because I am happy in the Lord.
 35 Let sinners be destroyed from the earth; let the wicked cease to exist.
 Let every part of me praise the Lord!

105

- 1 Give the Lord thanks, worship his wonderful nature, let people know what he's done!
 2 Sing to him, sing his praises; tell everyone the great things he's done!
 3 Be proud of his holy character; be happy, all who come to the Lord!
 4 Look for the Lord, and his strength; always look to be in his presence.
 5 Remember all the wonderful things he's done, the miracles he's performed, and the judgments* he's carried out,
 6 descendants of Abraham, children of Israel, his chosen people.
 7 He is the Lord, our God, his judgments cover the whole earth.
 8 He remembers his agreement forever; the promise he made lasts for a thousand generations;
 9 the agreement he made with Abraham, the vow he gave to Isaac.
 10 The Lord legally confirmed it with Jacob, he made this binding agreement with Israel:
 11 saying to you, "I will give the land of Canaan for you to possess."
 12 He said this when they were only a few, just a small group of foreigners in the land.
 13 They wandered from country to country, from one kingdom to the next.
 14 He didn't let anyone one treat them badly; warning kings to leave them alone:
 15 "Don't touch my chosen people; don't harm my prophets!"
 16 He caused† a famine in the Land of Canaan so that there was no food.
 17 Before that he sent a man, Joseph, who was sold as a slave.‡
 18 They hurt his feet by placing them in shackles, and they put an iron collar around his neck,
 19 until the time predicted came when the Lord tested him.
 20 The king§ sent for him and released him; the king of the people set him free.
 21 He put Joseph in charge of the royal household, manager of everything he had,
 22 to teach* the king's officials whatever he wanted, to make the king's advisors wise.
 23 Then Israel entered Egypt—Jacob settled as a foreigner in the land of Ham.†
 24 The Lord made his people more fertile and more powerful than their enemies.
 25 He made the Egyptians‡ change their minds and hate his people and act deceptively towards them.
 26 He sent his servant Moses, together with Aaron, whom he had chosen.

* 104:34 Or "meditation," "composition." * 105:5 In the context, probably referring to the judgments on heathen nations. † 105:16 Literally, "called." ‡ 105:17 This refers to the story in Genesis of Joseph being sold as a slave and taken to Egypt. § 105:20 Referring to the Pharaoh.

* 105:22 Septuagint reading. † 105:23 "Land of Ham": an old term for Egypt. ‡ 105:25 Literally, "them." In the context it is the people of Egypt, particularly the Pharaoh.

- 27 They^S carried out his miraculous signs among the Egyptians, his wonders in the land of Ham.
- 28 He plunged the country into darkness—for hadn't they defied what the Lord had said?*
- 29 He turned their water into blood, killing all the fish.
- 30 Then he sent a plague of frogs across the land that even entered the bedrooms of their rulers.
- 31 He gave the command, and flies spread throughout their land; mosquitoes were everywhere.
- 32 He rained down hail on them, and lightning flashed across their land.
- 33 He struck down their grape vines, and tore down their trees.
- 34 He gave the command, and swarms of locusts came—countless locusts:
- 35 they ate up all the vegetation in their land; they consumed all the growing crops.
- 36 He killed all the firstborn in Egypt, the first to be produced in their vigor and strength.
- 37 Then he led his people out of Egypt, carrying silver and gold—not one among the tribes was stumbling along.
- 38 The Egyptians were delighted to see them go, for they were frightened of the Israelites.
- 39 He spread a cloud above them as a covering, and at night a fire to give them light.
- 40 He gave them quails to eat when they asked him; he fed them with the bread of heaven until they were full.
- 41 He split the rock open, and water gushed out—a river flowing through the desert.
- 42 For he remembered his holy promise to his servant Abraham.
- 43 So he led his people out, his chosen ones, as they sang for joy.
- 44 He gave them the lands of the heathen nations, and they inherited what other people had worked for.
- 45 The Lord did this so they could follow his instructions and keep his laws. Praise the Lord!

- 1 Praise the Lord! Thank the Lord, for he is good! His trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 2 Who can give an account of all the wonderful things the Lord has done?*
- Who can give him all the praise he is due?
- 3 Happy are those who treat people fairly, who always do what is right.
- 4 Please remember me when you are generous to your people; think of me when you come to save.
- 5 Let me see your chosen people prosperous; let me be happy together with your nation; let me share in being proud of you with those who belong to you.
- 6 We have sinned just like our forefathers. We have done wrong. We are guilty.

^S 105:27 Or “he.” * 105:28 “For hadn't they defied what the Lord had said?” This applies to the Egyptians. Alternatively it could be translated, “for they had not defied what the Lord had said,” referring to Moses and Aaron. * 106:2 In other words, no one knows the full extent of God's activities.

- 7 They didn't pay attention to the wonderful things you did. They didn't keep in mind how much you loved them, but chose to rebel at the sea, the Red Sea.[†]
- 8 Even so he saved them because of the kind of person he is, and to show his power
- 9 He gave his order[‡] to the Red Sea, and it dried up. He led his people across the seabed as if it were a desert.
- 10 He rescued them from those who hated them; he saved them from their enemies' power.
- 11 The water drowned their enemies—none of them survived,
- 12 Then his people trusted in what he promised, and sang his praises.
- 13 But they quickly forgot what he had done for them, and they didn't listen to his advice.
- 14 They were filled with desperate cravings[§] in the wilderness; they provoked God in the desert.
- 15 He gave them what they wanted, but sent them a plague^{*} as well.
- 16 In the camp the people became jealous of Moses, and of Aaron, the Lord's holy priest.
- 17 The earth split open and swallowed up Dathan; it buried Abiram and his followers.[†]
- 18 Fire broke out among them—a flame that burned them up.
- 19 At Mount Sinai[‡] they made a calf, they bowed down before a metal idol.[§]
- 20 They replaced their God of glory with a bull that eats grass!
- 21 They forgot God, their Savior, who had done marvelous things in Egypt; performing miracles in the land of Ham,^{*} doing amazing things at the Red Sea.
- 23 So he said he was going to destroy them But Moses, his chosen leader, placed himself between the Lord and the people to persuade the Lord not to destroy them in his anger.
- 24 Later the people refused to enter the Promised Land; they didn't trust him to do as he'd promised.
- 25 They complained in their tents about the Lord, and refused to obey what he told them.
- 26 So he raised his hand to give them a serious warning that he would bring them down in the wilderness,
- 27 that he would disperse[†] their descendants among the heathen nations, scattering them among countries far away.
- 28 They gave their allegiance to Baal Peor,[‡] and ate food sacrificed to the dead.
- 29 They provoked the Lord by what they did, making him angry, so a plague broke out among them.
- 30 But Phinehas took a stand for the Lord and intervened, and the plague was stopped in its tracks.
- 31 He has been considered as a man who lived right[§] from that time on and for all generations.

[†] 106:7 "The Sea of Reeds." [‡] 106:9 Literally, "rebuked." [§] 106:14 For food, particularly meat.

^{} 106:15 See Numbers 11:33-34. [†] 106:17 See Numbers 16. [‡] 106:19 Literally, Horeb: another name for Mount Sinai. [§] 106:19 See Exodus 32. ^{} 106:22 "Land of Ham"—another name for Egypt. [†] 106:27 Following the parallel passage in Ezekiel 20:23. [‡] 106:28 A heathen god, see Numbers 25. [§] 106:31 The same phrase is used about Abraham in Genesis 15:6.

- 32 They also angered him at the waters of Meribah where things went badly for Moses because of them.
- 33 They upset him so much that he spoke without thinking in the heat of the moment.
- 34 They did not destroy the heathen peoples as the Lord had told them to do,
- 35 but instead they joined in with them and adopted their way of life.
- 36 They worshiped their pagan idols which became a trap for them.
- 37 They even sacrificed their sons and daughters to these demons.
- 38 They shed the blood of innocent children, their sons and daughters, sacrificing them to the idols of Canaan. By doing so they defiled the land with blood.
- 39 They also defiled themselves by what they did: their actions were spiritual adultery.
- 40 So the Lord was angry with his people—he loathed those who belonged to him.
- 41 He handed them over to the heathen nations. These people who hated them now became their rulers.
- 42 Their enemies dominated and subdued them with their power.
- 43 The Lord repeatedly rescued them, but they continued with their rebellious ideas, until they were finally destroyed by their own sins.
- 44 Despite all this, the Lord was moved by their suffering; he heard their sad cries.
- 45 He remembered the agreement he had made with them, and he held back because of his great kindness and love.
- 46 He made the people who captured them treat them with mercy.
- 47 Save us, Lord, our God! Bring us back together from among the nations, so we can thank you and declare how magnificent and holy you are.
- 48 How wonderful is the Lord, the God of Israel, who lives forever and ever! Let all the people say “Amen”! Praise the Lord!

- 1 Thank the Lord, for he is good! His trustworthy love continues forever!
- 2 Let those the Lord has saved say that they are saved; those he has rescued from the power of the enemy.
- 3 He has gathered them together from distant lands, from the east and the west, the north and the south.*
- 4 They wandered in the desert wilderness, unable to find a way to a city where they could live.
- 5 Hungry and thirsty, they became very discouraged.
- 6 Then they cried out to the Lord to help them in their troubles, and he saved them from their suffering.
- 7 He led them along a straight way to a city where they could live.
- 8 Let them praise the Lord for his trustworthy love, and for all the wonderful things he does for people.
- 9 For he gives drink to those who are thirsty, and food to those who are hungry.

* 107:3 “South”: literally “the sea.”

- 10 Some sat in complete darkness, prisoners of misery and bound with iron chains,
11 for they had rebelled against what God had said; they had rejected the guidance of the Most High.
12 So he humbled their pride with the troubles of life; they tripped over and no one was there to stop them falling.
13 Then they called out to the Lord for help in their troubles, and he saved them from their suffering.
14 He brought them out of complete darkness, he broke their chains to pieces.
15 Let them praise the Lord for his trustworthy love, and for all the wonderful things he does for people.
16 For he breaks down the bronze doors, and cuts through the iron bars.[†]
17 They were stupid because they rebelled; they suffered for their sins.
18 They didn't want to eat; they were at death's door.
19 Then they called out to the Lord for help in their troubles, and he saved them from their suffering.
20 He gave the command and he healed them; he saved them from the grave.
21 Let them praise the Lord for his trustworthy love, and for all the wonderful things he does for people.
22 Let them present thank offerings and sing with joy about what he has done.
23 Those who set sail in ships, crossing the seas to earn their living,
24 they have seen the Lord's incredible power at work—the wonderful things he did in the deepest oceans.
25 He only had to speak to cause a stormy wind that stirred up towering waves,
26 lifting the ships high in the air and then plunging them down. The sailors were so terrified that their courage melted away.
27 They staggered around, falling from side to side like drunks—all their seamanship skills were useless.
28 Then they cried out to the Lord to help them in their troubles, and he saved them from their suffering.
29 He calmed the storm, the waves were quiet.
30 The sailors were so happy when it all calmed down, and he brought them to the harbor they wanted.
31 Let them praise the Lord for his trustworthy love, and for all the wonderful things he does for people.
32 Let them say how wonderful he is in front of the whole congregation and the elders.
33 He dries up rivers and turns the land into a desert; the water springs stop flowing and the earth turns dry and dusty.
34 Fruitful ground becomes a salty wasteland because of the wickedness of those living there.
35 But he also turns around and makes pools of water in the desert, and makes water springs flow in a dry and dusty land.
36 He brings hungry people to live there—a place they can build their cities.

[†] 107:16 Of imprisonment.

 39 When they become few, brought low by oppression, misery, and sorrow,
 40 He pours out his contempt on their leaders, making them wander, lost in the wilderness.
 41 But he lifts the poor out of their troubles, and makes their families as big as flocks.
 42 Those who live right will observe what is happening and be glad, but the wicked will be silenced.
 43 Those who are wise will pay attention to all this, and thoughtfully reflect on the Lord's trustworthy love.

A song. A psalm of David.

- 1 God, I have complete confidence in you! My whole being sings praises to you!
 2 Wake up, harp and lyre! I will wake up the dawn!
 3 I will thank you among the peoples, Lord, I will sing your praises among the nations.*
 4 For your trustworthy love reaches higher than the heavens, your faithfulness is higher than the clouds.
 5 God, your greatness is above the highest heavens; and your glory is over all the earth!†
 6 Rescue those you love! Answer us, and save us by your power!
 7 God has spoken from his Temple: "Triumphantly I divide up Shechem, and portion out the Valley of Succoth.
 8 Both Gilead and Manasseh belong to me. Ephraim is my helmet, and Judah is my scepter.
 9 I will treat Moab as my washbasin; I will place my sandal on Edom; I will shout in triumph over Philistia."
 10 Who will bring me into the fortified city? Who will lead me into Edom?
 11 Have you rejected us, God? Won't you go out with our armies?

109

- 1 God, the one I praise, please don't remain silent,
 2 because wicked and deceitful people are attacking me, telling lies about me.
 3 They surround me with words of hate, fighting against me for no reason.
 4 I love them, but they respond with hostility towards me, even while I'm praying for them!

* 108:3 These verses are almost the same as Psalms 57:8-9. † 108:5 This verse is the same as Psalms 57:11. ‡ 108:13 These verses (6-13) are substantially the same as Psalms 60:5-12. For footnotes see Psalms 60.

- 5 They pay me back with evil instead of good, with hatred instead of love.*
- 6 “Appoint someone wicked over him.† Have someone stand as an accuser against him.
- 7 When he is judged and sentenced, may he be found guilty. Let his prayers be counted as sins.
- 8 May his life be short; let someone else take over his position.
- 9 May his children be left fatherless, and his wife become a widow.
- 10 May his children be homeless, wandering beggars, driven from their ruined houses.
- 11 May creditors seize all that he owns; may strangers take all that he worked for.
- 12 May no one be kind to him; may no one take pity on his fatherless children.
- 13 May his descendants die; may his family name be wiped out in the next generation.
- 14 May the Lord be reminded of the sins of his fathers; may his mother's sins not be blotted out.
- 15 May their sins be constantly before the Lord; may his name be totally forgotten by people.
- 16 For he didn't think to be kind to others, instead he harassed and killed the poor, the needy, the brokenhearted.
- 17 He loved to put a curse on others—let it come back on him. He had no time for blessings—so may he never receive any.
- 18 He cursed as often as he got dressed. May his curses go into him like the water he drinks, like the olive oil he rubs on his skin that enters his bones.
- 19 May his curses stick to him like clothing, may they be pulled tight around him like a belt.”
- 20 May all this be the punishment of the Lord on my enemies, on those who speak evil of me.‡
- 21 But treat me well, Lord God, because of your own reputation. Save me because you are faithful and good.
- 22 For I am poor and needy, and my heart is breaking.
- 23 I am fading away like an evening shadow; I am like a locust that is shaken off.
- 24 I am so weak from lack of food that my legs give way; my body is just skin and bones.
- 25 People ridicule me—they look at me and shake their heads!

* 109:5 There is a change between verse 5 and 6. The psalmist has been referring to his enemies as “they,” but from verses 6 to 19, the person being addressed is “he.” While there is no indication in the text that a different person is speaking, it seems very likely that the psalmist is quoting the words of his enemies against him. (Quotation marks were not a part of ancient punctuation.) This is the more compelling when the content of what is being said is examined. While writers of the psalms certainly do condemn their enemies and call on God to act against them, in no other psalm is there a request for inappropriate action such as the perversion of justice in rendering a guilty verdict, or counting prayers as sins. In addition the context provided by verses 1 to 5 reveals that the whole theme is one of lies and deceit practiced by the psalmist's enemies. For these reasons verses 6 to 19 are placed in quotation marks here, believing that these words originate with those who are accusing the psalmist. † 109:6 This may refer to the appointment of an unjust judge to hear the case. ‡ 109:20 In this verse the psalmist returns to speaking of his enemies, and wishes all that has been said rebounds upon them.

- 26 Help me, Lord my God; save me because of your trustworthy love.
 27 May they recognize that this is what you are doing—that you are the one who saves me.
 28 When they curse me, you will bless me. When they attack me, you will defeat them. And I, your servant, will be happy.
 29 May those who accuse me be clothed with disgrace; may they cover themselves with a cloak of shame.
 30 But I will keep on thanking the Lord, praising him to everyone around me.
 31 For he takes a stand to defend the needy, to save them from those who condemn them.

110

A psalm of David.

- 1 The Lord said to my Lord,* “Sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies a footstool for you.†”
 2 The Lord will expand your royal power from Zion; you will rule over your enemies.
 3 Your people willingly follow you on the day when your power is revealed on the holy mountains, renewed in strength every morning like dew at dawn.‡
 4 The Lord has made a vow he will not break: “You are a priest forever, following the order of Melchizedek.”
 5 The Lord stands right beside you to support you; he will strike down kings in his anger.
 6 He will execute judgment on the nations, filling their lands with corpses. He will strike down those who rule all over the earth.
 7 He§ will drink from streams beside the path.* Therefore† he will be victorious.

111

- 1 Praise the Lord! I will thank the Lord with all my heart in the congregation of the faithful.
 2 All the wonderful things the Lord has done are studied by everyone who loves them.
 3 His majesty and honor are revealed by what he does; his goodness lasts forever.
 4 He wants the wonderful things he has done to be remembered; the Lord is gracious and kind.
 5 He feeds those who respect him; he always remembers the agreement he made.
 6 He demonstrated to his people the powerful things he could do by giving them the lands of other nations.

* 110:1 “My Lord”: by the time of the New Testament this was applied to the Messiah, but it is not made explicit in the text here. (See for example Matthew 22:41-46; Mark 12:35-37; Luke 20:41-44). † 110:1 “Footstool”: A symbol of submission. ‡ 110:3 This verse has many problems in translation, particularly at the end. Literally: “from the womb from the dawn to you the dew of our youth.” § 110:7 Referring to the king that is made explicit in verse 2, not the Lord God.

* 110:7 In other words the king will be refreshed. † 110:7 “Therefore”: probably meaning for all the reasons cited in the psalm.

- ⁷ Everything he does can be depended on, and is right; all his commandments are trustworthy.
- ⁸ They remain rock-solid forever. He was true and right in saying what should be done.
- ⁹ He delivered* his people. He commanded that his agreement would continue forever. How holy and awesome is his reputation!
- ¹⁰ The beginning of wisdom is honoring the Lord. Those who follow what he says do well. He is to be praised forever!

- ¹ Praise the Lord! Happy are those who respect the Lord, who love to do what he says!
- ² Their descendants will prosper in the land; the children of those who do good will be blessed.
- ³ Their families* will be wealthy; the good they do has eternal results.
- ⁴ Light shines in the darkness for those who live right, for those who are gracious, compassionate, and good.
- ⁵ Good things come to those who are generous in their lending and are honest in doing business.
- ⁶ They will never fall. Those who live right won't be forgotten.
- ⁷ They aren't afraid of bad news because they rely totally on the Lord.
- ⁸ They are confident and brave, and see their enemies defeated.
- ⁹ They share generously, giving to the poor; the good they do has eternal results. They are greatly respected.
- ¹⁰ The wicked observe all this and are mad; they gnash their teeth in anger. They waste away, and all that they hoped for comes to nothing.

- ¹ Praise the Lord! Praise him, servants of the Lord! Praise the Lord's as he is!*
- ² Let the Lord's nature be praised, now and forever.
- ³ Let everyone everywhere, from the east to the west,† praise the Lord as he is!
- ⁴ The Lord rules supreme over all nations; his glory extends higher than the heavens.
- ⁵ Who is like the Lord our God? He is the one who lives on high, seated on his throne.
- ⁶ He has to stoop low to look down on the heavens and the earth.
- ⁷ He helps the poor up from the dust; he lifts the needy from the dump.
- ⁸ He gives them positions of honor‡ together important leaders,§ with leaders of his own people.
- ⁹ He makes the childless woman happy in her home by giving her children. Praise the Lord!

* 111:9 Referring to the Exodus. The same word is used in Exodus 8:23. * 112:3 Literally "house," but not in the sense of a building, but a family line. * 113:1 "As he is!" literally, "name," but this word in Hebrew means far more than simply an appellation, "name" is indicative of nature and character. Also in verses 2 and 3. † 113:3 Or "from sunrise to sunset." ‡ 113:8 "Gives them positions of honor": literally, "makes them sit." § 113:8 "Important leaders": literally, "princes."

114

- 1 At the time of the exodus of Israel from Egypt, when the descendants of Jacob left that foreign country,*
 2 the land of Judah became the Lord's sanctuary, Israel his kingdom.
 3 The Red Sea saw them and ran away; the Jordan River retreated.
 5 Red Sea—why did you run away? Jordan River—why did you retreat?
 6 Mountains—why did you jump in fright? Hills—why did you startle like lambs?
 7 Earth, tremble in the presence of the Lord, tremble in the presence of the God of Jacob!
 8 He is the one who turned the rock into a pool of water; making water flow from the hard rock.§

115

- 1 Not to us, Lord, not to us, but to you all glory should be given, because of your trustworthy love and faithfulness.
 2 Why should the heathen nations ask, "Where is your God?"
 3 Our God is in heaven, and he does whatever he wants.
 4 Their idols are just things of silver and gold made by human hands.
 5 They have mouths, but can't speak. They have eyes, but can't see.
 6 They have ears, but can't hear. They have noses, but can't smell.
 7 They have hands, but can't feel. They have feet, but can't walk. No sound comes from their throats.*
 8 Those who make idols become just like them, and so does everyone who trusts in them.
 9 Israel, trust in the Lord! He is the one who helps you and protects you.
 10 Descendants of Aaron, trust in the Lord! He is the one who helps you and protects you.
 11 Those who honor the Lord, trust in the Lord! He is the one who helps you and protects you.
 12 The Lord keeps us in mind and will be good to us. He will bless Israel, he will bless the descendants of Aaron.
 13 The Lord will bless all those who worship him, whoever they are.†
 14 May the Lord be good to you, you and your children.
 15 May you be blessed by the Lord who made heaven and earth.
 16 The heavens belong to the Lord, but he has given the earth to humankind.
 17 The dead do not praise the Lord, those who have gone down into the silence of the grave.
 18 But we the living will always praise the Lord. Praise the Lord!

* 114:1 "Foreign country": literally, "people of a foreign language." † 114:4 Literally "skipped," but this suggests a playful action when the context makes it clear that the jumping is due to fear, not joy. ‡ 114:4 "Startled": implied. The image is of mountains and hills shaking as in an earthquake. § 114:8 See Exodus 17:1-7; Numbers 20:1-13. * 115:7 In other words, there is no sound of breathing. † 115:13 "Whoever they are": literally, "the small with the great."

- 1 I love the Lord because he listens to me, he hears my calls for help.
- 2 Because he pays attention to what I say I will pray to him as long as I live.
- 3 I was caught in the snares of death; I was trapped by terrors of the grave. All I experienced was suffering and grief.
- 4 Then I cried out to the Lord, "Lord, please save me!"
- 5 The Lord is so kind and good! Our God is so compassionate!
- 6 The Lord takes care of those who are powerless;* when I was brought down he saved me.
- 7 I can once again be at peace because the Lord has been good to me.
- 8 For you have saved me from death, my eyes from crying, and my feet from stumbling.
- 9 Now I can walk with the Lord in the land of the living.
- 10 I trusted in you, so I told you, "I'm suffering terribly!"
- 11 I was so upset that I said, "Everyone's a liar!"
- 12 What can I give the Lord in return for all he's done for me?
- 13 I will lift up the cup of salvation† and worship the Lord.
- 14 I will keep my promises to the Lord so everyone can see.‡
- 15 It hurts§ the Lord when those who trust in him die.*
- 16 Lord, I really am your slave, serving you as my mother served you before me, yet you have set me free.
- 17 I will offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving to you and I will worship you.
- 18 I will keep my promises to the Lord so everyone can see,
- 19 there in the house of the Lord, right in Jerusalem. Praise the Lord!

- 1 Praise the Lord, all nations; everyone everywhere, praise how wonderful he is!
- 2 For his trustworthy love for us is above all; his faithfulness is eternal. Praise the Lord!

118

- 1 Thank the Lord, for he is good! His trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 2 Let all Israel say, "His trustworthy love lasts forever."
- 3 Let Aaron's descendants say, "His trustworthy love lasts forever."
- 4 Let those who honor the Lord say, "His trustworthy love lasts forever."
- 5 I was suffering badly, so I cried out to the Lord for help. He answered me and set me free from my pain.
- 6 The Lord is with me, so I have nothing to fear. No one can harm me.
- 7 The Lord is with me, he will help me. I will see those who hate me defeated.
- 8 It's better to rely on the Lord than to trust in people.

* 116:6 Literally, "simple." † 116:13 Thought to refer to the wine offering. ‡ 116:14 Usually understood to mean promises to make offerings as part of the sacrificial system. § 116:15 "It hurts": the word used here is "costly," in other words the Lord suffers a loss when those who trust in him die. * 116:15 In other words, he cares deeply about those he loves and is saddened when they die.

- 9 It's better to rely on the Lord than to trust in the rich and powerful.*
 10 Even though all the heathen nations surrounded me,[†] I defeated them with the help of the Lord.[‡]
 11 They completely surrounded me, but even so I defeated them with the help of the Lord.
 12 Like a swarm of bees they attacked, but their attack died out as quickly as burning thorn twigs. I defeated them with the help of the Lord.
 13 They tried as hard as they could to kill me, but the Lord helped me.
 14 The Lord is my strength, and the one I sing about. He is the one who saves me.
 15 Songs of celebration and victory come from the tents of the faithful. The Lord's powerful hand has done amazing things!
 16 The Lord raises his powerful hand in victory! The Lord's powerful hand has done amazing things!
 17 I'm not going to die. In fact I'm going to live, and let people know what the Lord has done.
 18 Even though the Lord punished me severely, he did not let me die.
 19 Open the gates of the faithful§ for me so I can go in and thank the Lord.
 21 I want to thank you for answering me and for being the one who saves me.
 22 The stone rejected by the builders has turned out to be the chief cornerstone.
 23 The Lord has done this, and it looks wonderful to us!
 24 The Lord made this day happen! We will celebrate and be happy for it!
 25 Lord, please save us! Lord, please make us successful!
 26 May the one who comes in the power of the Lord be blessed! We bless you from the house of the Lord!
 27 The Lord is God, and his goodness shines on us.* Branches in hand, start the procession up towards the altar.
 28 You are my God, and I will thank you! You are my God, and I will praise you!
 29 Thank the Lord, for he is good! His trustworthy love lasts forever!

Aleph*

- 1 Happy are those who do what is right, who follow what the Lord says.
 2 Happy are those who keep his commandments, who sincerely want to follow him.
 3 They don't do what's wrong; they walk in his ways.
 4 You have ordered us to follow your instructions carefully.
 5 May I be reliable in the way I keep your rules!
 6 Then I won't be ashamed when I compare what I do to what you have said.

* 118:9 "Rich and powerful": literally, "princes." † 118:10 Probably referring to Israel's king.

‡ 118:10 "With the help of the Lord": literally, "in the name of the Lord." § 118:19 Referring to the gates of the Temple. * 118:27 "His goodness shines on us": literally, "he has given us light."

* 119: This Psalm is an acrostic, that is each group of stanzas begin with one letter of the Hebrew alphabet, from Aleph to Taw.

7 I will praise you sincerely as I learn from you the right way to live.

8 I will observe your laws. Please never give up on me!

Beth

9 How does a young person remain pure? By following what you say.

10 I worship you sincerely; please don't let me stray from your commands.

11 I keep what you say in mind so I won't sin against you.

12 Thank you Lord! Teach me what to do!

13 I repeat out loud your instructions.

14 I enjoy your laws more than having plenty of money.

15 I will think deeply about your teachings, and reflect on your ways.

16 I will take pleasure in following your directions; I won't forget what you say.

Gimel

17 Be kind to your servant so I can live and follow what you teach.

18 Open my eyes so I may discover wonderful things in your law.

19 I'm only here for a short time—don't let me miss what you have to say.†

20 I'm always so keen to know your instructions.

21 You reprimand those who are arrogant; those who don't follow your commandments are cursed.

22 Don't let me be scorned and insulted, for I have kept your laws.

23 Even leaders‡ sit down together and slander me, but I, your servant, will think seriously about your instructions.

24 Your laws make me happy—they are my wise advisors.

25 I'm dying here, lying in the dust. Keep me alive as you promised.

26 I explained my situation to you, and you answered me. Teach me to follow your directions.

27 Help me understand what your laws mean, and I will meditate on the wonderful things you do.

28 I'm weeping because I'm so sad; please encourage me as you promised.

29 Stop me fooling myself; kindly teach me your law.

30 I have chosen to trust in you. I always pay attention to what you say.

31 I hold on to your teachings, Lord. Don't let me be ridiculed.

32 I run to follow your commands, for you have expanded my mind!§

He

33 Teach me the meaning of your laws, and I will always keep them.

34 Help me to understand so I can be totally committed to doing what you want.

35 Lead me to follow your commands, for this is what I love to do

36 Help me to concentrate on what you say* rather than on making a profit.

37 Don't let me focus on things that are worthless. Help me live in your ways.

† 119:19 "I'm only here for a short time—don't let me miss what you have to say": literally, "I am an alien in the land; you must not hide your commandments from me." ‡ 119:23 Literally, "princes." § 119:32 "Expanded my mind": literally, "made wide my heart." In Hebrew thinking of the time the heart was where thoughts occurred, not emotions. * 119:36 Literally, "your testimonies."

- 38 Please keep your promise to me, your servant, that you made to those who worship you.
39 Take away the shame I dread, for your law is good.
40 I always want to do what you say. Please let me live, for you do what is right.

Waw

- 41 Lord, please love me with your trustworthy love; please give me the salvation you promised.
42 Then I can reply to those who mock me, for I trust what you say.
43 Don't ever prevent me from being able to speak your words of truth, for I place my complete confidence in your just judgments.
44 I will continue to follow your teachings, forever and ever.
45 I shall live in freedom, for I have committed myself to obeying you.
46 I will instruct kings about your laws—I won't be embarrassed.
47 I'm so happy for your instructions. I love them!
48 I lift up my hands in prayer, honoring your commandments. I will think deeply about all you say.

Zayin

- 49 Remember your promise to me, your servant. It's my only hope.
50 This is what brings me encouragement in my misery—your promise keeps me going!
51 Arrogant people mock me terribly, but I don't give up on your teachings.
52 I think about the instructions you gave long ago, Lord, and they reassure me.
53 I am angry with the wicked because they have rejected your law.
54 Your instructions have been music to my ears[†] wherever I have lived.
55 At night I think about the kind of person you are, Lord, and do what you say.
56 For this is how I live my life—by following your principles.

Heth

- 57 Lord, you are mine! I have promised to do as you say.
58 My whole being wants your blessing—please be kind to me, as you have promised!
59 As I think about my life, I turn to follow what you have said.
60 I hurry to keep your commandments without delay
61 Even though wicked people try to tie me up, I won't forget your instructions.
62 I get up in the middle of the night to thank you for your good laws.
63 I identify with all those who follow you, those who do what you tell them.
64 Lord, you love everyone on earth;[‡] please teach me what to do.

Teth

- 65 Lord, you have been so good to me, your servant, as you have promised.
66 Now teach me wise judgment and discernment because I believe in your instructions.

67 Previously I was suffering, wandering away from you, but now I do what you say.

68 Since you are good, everything you do is good. Teach me your ways.

69 Arrogant people smear my reputation with lies; but I whole-heartedly follow your commands.

70 They are cold and unfeeling,[§] but I love your law.

71 The suffering* I went through was good for me, so I could think about what you have stipulated.

72 What you tell me to do is worth more to me than much gold and silver.

Yodh

73 You created me and made me what I am; help me to learn and better understand your commandments.

74 May those who worship you be happy when they see me, for I place my confidence in your word.

75 Lord, I know that what you decide is right; you brought me down in order to help me because you are trustworthy.

76 May your trustworthy love comfort me as your promised me, your servant.

77 Be compassionate to me so I may live, for I love your teachings.

78 Bring down those proud people who wronged me with their lies. I will spend time thinking about your instructions.

79 Let those who follow you turn to me, those who understand your laws.

80 May I be innocent in the way I keep your rules so that I won't be ashamed.

Kaph

81 I'm exhausted waiting for you to save me, but my hope is in your word.

82 I strain my eyes looking for you to keep your promises, asking "When will you comfort me?"

83 I've become like a wineskin that's been shriveled up by smoke, but I have not forgotten to do as you say.

84 How long do I have to wait before you punish my persecutors?

85 These arrogant people have dug pits to trap me, these people who don't care anything about your law.

86 All your commands are trustworthy. Help me against these people who persecute me with their lies!

87 They have almost killed me, but I have not given up on what you say.

88 Since you love me with your trustworthy love, don't let me die, so I can go on following the instructions you have given.

Lamedh

90 Your faithfulness lasts for all generations, as permanent as the earth you created.

91 Your judgments stand—they are as true today as ever—for everything serves your will.

92 If I didn't love your teachings, my suffering[†] would have killed me.

93 I will never forget your instructions, for through them you give me life.

§ 119:70 Literally, "their hearts are thick like fat." * 119:71 Referring back to verse 67. † 119:92 Referring back to verses 71 and 67.

- 94 I belong to you, so please save me! I am committed to following your rules.
95 Even though wicked people are waiting to ambush and kill me, I will focus my mind on what you say.
96 I recognize that human perfection has its limits, but your law is limitless.

Mem

- 97 I really love your law! I meditate on it all day long.
98 Your commands make me wiser than my enemies, for I'm always thinking about your instructions.
99 In fact I have a better insight than all of my teachers because I spend time concentrating on what you say.
100 I even understand more than the elders because I follow your directions.
101 I avoid any course of action that leads to evil, because I want to remain faithful to your word.
102 I have not disregarded your instructions because you yourself taught me what to do.
103 Your words taste so sweet to me! They are sweeter than honey to my mouth.
104 I gain understanding from what you say, so I hate any way of life that's just a lie.

Nun

- 105 Your word is a lamp that shows me where to walk, it's a light for my path.
106 I've made a promise, and I will keep it: I will keep your rules that are always right!
107 Lord, I'm really suffering! Please let me live, as you have promised.
108 Lord, please accept my offerings of praise that I freely give you. Teach me your rules.
109 My life is always at risk,[‡] but I will not forget your law.
110 Wicked people have set a trap for me, but I will not stray from your commandments.
111 I will always hold on to what you say for your words make me really happy,
112 I have made up my mind to follow your instructions to the very end.

Samekh

- 113 I hate people who are two-faced,[§] but I love your law.
114 You keep me safe and you defend me, your word gives me reason to hope.
115 Leave me alone, you evil people, and let me keep the commandments of my God.
116 Support me, Lord, as you promised, so I can live. Don't let my hope turn into discouragement.
117 Support me, so I can be saved and always pay attention to your instructions.
118 You reject all those who don't follow your instructions—they're fooling themselves by living a lie.

[‡] 119:109 Literally, "My life is continually in my hand." [§] 119:113 Or "duplicitous."

- 119 You treat the wicked people on earth as something worthless* to be discarded; therefore I love your laws.
 120 I have goose bumps thinking of you—I'm in awe! I'm scared of your judgments!

Ayin

- 121 I have done what's fair and right, so please don't abandon me to my enemies.
 122 Please promise you'll take care of me, your servant. Don't let these arrogant people mistreat me.
 123 I strain my eyes looking for your salvation, watching for you to fulfill your promise to make everything good.†
 124 Please treat me, your servant, according to your trustworthy love. Teach me what you want me to do.
 125 I am your servant. Please give me discernment so I can understand your instructions.
 126 Lord, it's time for you to act, for these people have broken your laws.
 127 This is why I love your commandments more than gold, more than the finest gold.
 128 All of your rules are right in every way, and so I hate any way of life that's just a lie.

Pe

- 129 Your laws are truly wonderful—that's why I keep them!
 130 Studying your words brings light so that even the uneducated‡ can understand.
 131 With keen desire§ I long for what you have to say.
 132 Please pay attention to me and be kind to me, as you are with those who love you.
 133 Tell me by your word the way I should go, and don't let any kind of evil control me.
 134 Save me from cruel people so I can follow your instructions.
 135 Please look favorably on me, your servant, teach me what I should do.
 136 My tears stream down as I weep for those who don't keep your law.

Tsadhe

- 137 Lord, you are right, and what you decide is just!
 138 You have given your instructions which are fair and totally trustworthy.
 139 My devotion is burning me up inside because my enemies ignore your words.
 140 Your promises have been proved true, and that's why I, your servant, love them.
 141 I may be unimportant and looked down on, but I don't forget your commandments.
 142 Your goodness and justice last forever; and your law is the truth.
 143 When I have problems and sadness, your commands make me happy.
 144 Your laws are always right; help me to understand what they mean so I can live.

* 119:119 "Something worthless": literally, "dross." † 119:123 "Your promise to make everything good": literally, "the word of your righteousness." ‡ 119:130 Literally, "simple." § 119:131 Literally, "I open my mouth and pant."

Qoph

- ¹⁴⁵ My whole being is crying out! Lord, please answer me! I will follow your instructions.
- ¹⁴⁶ I pray to you, asking, "Please save me!" so I can do what you say.
- ¹⁴⁷ I get up before dawn, and call out to you for help and put my hope in your word.
- ¹⁴⁸ During the night I stay awake, meditating on your word.
- ¹⁴⁹ Listen to what I have to say, Lord, because of your trustworthy love. Keep me alive, Lord, because you always do what's right.
- ¹⁵⁰ Evil people come running to attack me—they totally disregard your law.
- ¹⁵¹ But you, Lord, are close beside me; all your commandments are true.
- ¹⁵² Long ago I realized that your laws will last forever.

Resh

- ¹⁵³ Please look at my suffering and save me! I have not forgotten your teachings.
- ¹⁵⁴ Plead my case, and save me as you promised! Let me live!
- ¹⁵⁵ Wicked people can't be saved, because they don't care about what you say.
- ¹⁵⁶ Lord, your mercy is so great! Because you are always fair, please let me live!
- ¹⁵⁷ Despite the many people who persecute and mistreat me, I have not strayed from your laws.
- ¹⁵⁸ Watching these unfaithful people disgusts me because they take no notice of your word.
- ¹⁵⁹ See how much I love your commandments, Lord. Please let me live because of your trustworthy love.
- ¹⁶⁰ Your word can be summed up in one word: truth! All of your just laws will last forever.

Shin

- ¹⁶¹ Leaders* persecute me for no reason, but I am in awe only of your word.
- ¹⁶² Your word makes me so happy—I'm like someone who discovers immense treasure.
- ¹⁶³ I hate and detest lies, but I love your teachings.
- ¹⁶⁴ I praise you seven times a day because your laws are good.
- ¹⁶⁵ Those who love your teachings have wonderful peace and nothing trips them up.
- ¹⁶⁶ Lord, I look forward to your salvation. I keep your commandments.
- ¹⁶⁷ I obey your laws and love them very much.
- ¹⁶⁸ I keep your commandments and laws because you see everything I do.

Taw

- ¹⁶⁹ Lord, please listen to my sad cry; help me to understand, as you promised.
- ¹⁷⁰ Please hear what I have to say to you, and save me, as you promised.
- ¹⁷¹ Let me pour out my words of praise, for you teach me what to do.
- ¹⁷² I will sing about your word, for all your commandments are right.

* 119:161 Literally, "princes."

- 173 Please be ready to help me, for I have chosen to follow your instructions.
 174 I long for your salvation, Lord; your teachings make me happy.
 175 May I live my life in praise to you, and may your instructions help me.
 176 I have wandered away like a lost sheep, so please come looking for me, for I have not forgotten your commandments.

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- 1 I called out to the Lord for help in all my troubles, and he answered me.
 2 Lord, please save me from liars and cheats!
 3 What will the Lord do to you, you liars? How will he punish you?
 4 With the sharp arrows of a warrior and burning coals made from a broom tree.
 5 I'm sorry for myself, because I live as a foreigner in Meshech, or among the tent-dwellers of Kedar.*
 6 I have lived for far too long among people who hate peace.
 7 I want peace, but when I talk of peace, they want war.

121

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- 1 I look to the hills*—but is that where my help comes from?
 2 My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth.
 3 He will not let you fall; he who watches over you won't fall asleep.
 4 In fact he who watches over you doesn't take naps or fall asleep.
 5 The Lord keeps watch over you; the Lord protects you; he stands right beside you.
 6 The sun won't hurt you during the day, nor the moon at night.
 7 The Lord will protect you from all kinds of evil; he will keep you safe and sound.
 8 The Lord will look after you when you leave, and when you return, now and forever.

122

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem. A psalm of David.

- 1 I was so happy when they said to me, "Let's go the house of the Lord."
 2 Now we're standing inside your gates, Jerusalem!
 4 All the tribes—the tribes of the Lord—go up there, following the command given to Israel to give thanks to the Lord.
 5 This is where the thrones are placed, where judgment is given, the thrones of the house of David.

* 120:5 Far-off places, very distant from each other. * 121:1 It seems most likely that this reference is to pagan worship which occurred on the "high places" of the hills, and that this is contrasted with the true source of help in verse 2—the Lord. * 122:3 "Where people can be together," or, "that is closely joined together."

- ⁶ Pray that Jerusalem may be at peace. May everyone who loves Jerusalem be kept safe.
- ⁷ May there be peace within your walls, and safety within your fortresses.
- ⁸ On behalf of my family and friends, I will now say, "May you be at peace."
- ⁹ On behalf of the house of the Lord our God, I pray that everything goes well for you.

123

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ I look up to you, the one who rules from heaven.
- ² Just as servants look to their master, or a maid looks to her mistress, so we keep our eyes on you, Lord our God, waiting for you to be merciful to us.
- ³ Please have mercy on us, Lord, have mercy. We've had enough of people's contempt.
- ⁴ We've had more than enough of the scorn of the proud, and the contempt of the arrogant.

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem. A psalm of David.

- ¹ If the Lord hadn't been for us, what would have happened? Let everyone in Israel say:
- ² If the Lord hadn't been for us, what would have happened when people came and attacked us?
- ³ They would have swallowed us alive when their anger raged against us.
- ⁴ Like a flood they would have swept over us; like a rushing torrent they would have submerged us.
- ⁵ They would have rushed over us like raging waters, drowning us.
- ⁶ Praise the Lord, who didn't hand us over to them as prey to be ripped apart by their teeth.
- ⁷ We escaped from them like a bird flying out of a hunter's trap. The trap was broken and we flew away!
- ⁸ Our help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ Those who trust in the Lord are like Mount Zion, for it is unshakeable and endures forever.
- ² In the same way that the mountains surround Jerusalem, the Lord surrounds his people, now and forever.
- ³ The wicked will not always rule* over the land of the faithful, otherwise the faithful might also end up doing wrong.
- ⁴ Lord, please do good to those who do good, those who sincerely do what is right.

* 125:3 Literally, "the scepter of wickedness."

- ⁵ But as for those who turn aside to follow their own crooked ways—those the Lord will lead them away together with those who do evil.[†] May Israel be at peace!

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ When the Lord brought his people back from captivity to Zion, it was as if we were dreaming!
- ² We laughed so much, we sang for joy. The other nations said, “The Lord has done wonderful things for these people.”
- ³ The Lord certainly has done wonderful things for us. How happy we were!
- ⁴ Please return and help us again, Lord. Renew us like streams of water that renew the Negev desert.
- ⁵ Those who sow in tears will reap with shouts of joy!
- ⁶ Those who weep as they go out to sow their seed will be singing in celebration when they carry the harvest home.

127

- ¹ If the Lord doesn't build the house, the work of the builders is futile. If the Lord doesn't guard the city, the work of the guards is pointless.
- ² It's useless to get up early in the morning and go to work, and stay late into the evening, worrying about earning enough to eat, when the Lord gives rest to those he loves.
- ³ Children certainly are a gift from the Lord, for a family is a blessing.*
- ⁴ Like arrows in the hand of a warrior are the children of a young man.
- ⁵ Happy is the father who fills his quiver[†] with them! Such fathers will not be embarrassed when they confront their enemies at the city gate.[‡]

128

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ Happy are all those who worship the Lord, everyone who follows his ways!
- ² You will eat what your own hands have produced. You will be happy and do well.
- ³ Your wife will be like a fruitful vine growing in your home. Your children will be like the shoots of an olive tree around your table.
- ⁴ This will certainly be the Lord's blessing on those who worship him.
- ⁵ May the Lord go on blessing you from Zion; may you see Jerusalem prosper all the days of your life.
- ⁶ May you see your children's children. May Israel be at peace!

[†] 125:5 It seems that two groups are in view here: unfaithful Israelites, and heathen people who do wrong. * 127:3 Literally, “the reward of the fruit of the womb.” [†] 127:5 A container for arrows. [‡] 127:5 “City gate.” The place where judgments were made, similar to a court.

129

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ Many enemies have attacked from the time I was young. Let everyone in Israel say:
- ² Many enemies have attacked from the time I was young, but they never defeated me.
- ³ They beat me on my back, leaving long furrows as if it had been ploughed by a farmer.
- ⁴ But the Lord does what is right: he has cut me free from the ropes of the wicked.
- ⁵ May everyone who hates Zion be driven back in humiliating defeat.
- ⁶ May they be like grass that grows on a roof that withers before it can be harvested,
- ⁷ There's not enough even for a reaper to hold, not enough even for the binder to bind.*
- ⁸ May passers-by not say to them, "The blessing of the Lord be on you; we bless you in the name of the Lord."

130

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ Lord, I cry out to you from the depths of my pain.*
- ² Please listen to my cry, and pay attention to what I'm asking.
- ³ Lord, if you kept a list of sins, who could escape being condemned?
- ⁴ But you are forgiving so that we might respect you.
- ⁵ I'm waiting for the Lord, longingly waiting, for I trust in his word.
- ⁶ I long for the Lord to come, more than watchmen longing for the dawn to come, more than watchmen longing for the dawn to come.
- ⁷ Israel, put your hope in the Lord, for the Lord loves us with a trustworthy love and his salvation knows no limits.
- ⁸ He will save Israel from every sin.

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem. A psalm of David.

- ¹ Lord, I'm not proud or arrogant. I don't worry about things that are beyond me, matters that are far beyond my experience.
- ² On the contrary, I have chosen to be calm and quiet, like a weaned child with its mother. I am like a weaned child with its mother.
- ³ Israel, hope in the Lord, now and forever!

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ Lord, remember David, and all that he went through.
- ² He made a promise to the Lord, a vow to the Mighty One of Jacob:
- ³ "I will not go home, I will not go to bed,
- ⁴ I will not go to sleep, I will not take a nap,

* 129:7 The image is of something that's completely useless.

* 130:1 "Of my pain": implied.

- ⁵ until I find a place where the Lord can live, a home for the Mighty One of Jacob.”
- ⁶ In Ephrathah we received information about the Ark of Agreement, and we found it in fields near Jaar.*
- ⁷ Let's go to the place where the Lord lives and bow down at his feet in worship.
- ⁸ Come, Lord, and enter your home,[†] together with your Ark of your power.
- ⁹ May your priests wear goodness like clothing; may your faithful people shout for joy.
- ¹⁰ For the sake of your servant David, don't reject the king you have chosen.
- ¹¹ The Lord made a solemn promise to David, one he will never cancel—"I will put one of your descendants on your throne.
- ¹² If your sons keep to my agreement and my laws that I will teach them, then their sons will always occupy your throne.”
- ¹³ For the Lord has chosen Zion, wanting to make his home there, saying:
- ¹⁴ "This will always be my home; this is where I want to live.
- ¹⁵ I will provide the people of the city with all they need; I will feed the poor.
- ¹⁶ I will clothe its priests with salvation; and its faithful people will shout for joy.
- ¹⁷ I will make the line of David even more powerful.[‡] I have prepared a lamp for my chosen king.
- ¹⁸ I will humiliate his enemies, but the crown he wears will shine brightly.”

133

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem. A psalm of David.

- ¹ How good, how delightful it is when people live together in harmony!
- ² This is as precious as the oil used to anoint Aaron, running down from his head onto his beard, onto the collar of his clothes.
- ³ It's like the dew of Mount Hermon that falls on Zion's mountains. That is where the Lord gave his blessing of life that lasts forever.

134

A song for pilgrims going up to Jerusalem.

- ¹ Praise the Lord, all you servants of the Lord who worship at night in the house of the Lord.
- ² Lift up your hands towards the holy place and praise the Lord.
- ³ May the Lord bless you from Zion, he who made the heavens and the earth.

* 132:6 Kiriath Jearim. See 1 Samuel 7. † 132:8 Literally, "resting place," but with the sense that this is the usual place where someone resides, hence "home." ‡ 132:17 Literally, "I will make a horn sprout for David." * 135:1 Or "character": literally, "name." Also verse 3.

- 2 who worship in the house of the Lord, in the courts of our God.
 3 Praise the Lord, for the Lord is good; sing praises to his character because it is wonderful!
 4 For the Lord has chosen Jacob for himself; Israel as his very own.
 5 I know how great the Lord is—our Lord is greater than all gods.
 6 The Lord does whatever he wants throughout heaven and earth, on the seas and in the ocean depths.
 7 He causes the clouds to rise all over the earth, he makes lightning flash and give rain, he sends the winds from his storehouses.
 8 He struck down the firstborn of Egypt, both human and animal.
 9 He did wonderful miracles among you in Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his servants.
 10 He struck down many nations, he killed powerful kings, such as[†]
 11 Sihon, king of the Amorites, Og, king of Bashan, and all the kings who ruled in Canaan.
 12 He handed over their lands to Israel, his special people, for them to possess.
 14 The Lord will vindicate his people; he will show compassion to those who follow him.
 15 The idols of the foreign nations are only objects of silver and gold, made by human hands.
 16 They have mouths, but can't speak; they have eyes, but can't see.
 17 They have ears, but can't hear; they can't even breathe![§]
 18 Those who make idols will become just like them, and so will everyone who trusts in them.
 19 People of Israel, praise the Lord! Descendants of Aaron,* praise the Lord!
 20 Levites, praise the Lord! Everyone who worships the Lord, praise the Lord!
 21 Praise the Lord from Zion, for he lives in Jerusalem! Praise the Lord!

136

- 1 Thank the Lord, because he is good! For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 2 Thank the Lord, the God of gods! For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 3 Thank the Lord of lords! For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 4 To him who alone does amazing things! For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 5 To him who knew how to make the heavens. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 6 To him who spread out the earth over the waters. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 7 To him who made the lights above. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 8 The sun to rule the day. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
 9 The moon and stars to rule the night. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.

[†] 135:10 "Such as": implied. [‡] 135:13 "Reputation": literally, "name." [§] 135:17 Literally, "indeed there is no breath in their moiuth." * 135:19 That is, the priests.

- 10 To him who struck down the firstborn in Egypt. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 11 He led his people out of Egypt.* For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 12 He did this with his strong hand and outstretched arm. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 13 To him who parted the Red Sea. For his trustworthy love lasts forever,
- 14 And led Israel through it. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 15 But threw Pharaoh and his army into the Red Sea. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 16 To him who led his people through the wilderness. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 17 To him who struck down powerful kings. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 18 To him who killed powerful kings. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 19 Sihon, king of the Amorites. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 20 Og, king of Bashan. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 21 He gave Israel† their land to possess. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 22 He granted ownership to his servant Israel. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 23 He remembered us even in our humiliation. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 24 He rescued us from our enemies. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 25 To the one who provides food for every living creature. For his trustworthy love lasts forever.
- 26 Thank the God of heaven! For his trustworthy love lasts forever.

137

- 1 When we sat down by the rivers of Babylon we wept as we remembered Zion.
- 2 We hung up our harps on the willow trees.
- 3 For those who had taken us captive asked us for a song—our tormentors wanted us to sing a happy song from Jerusalem.
- 4 But how could we sing a song dedicated to the Lord in a pagan land?
- 5 If I forget Jerusalem, may my right hand forget how to play;*
- 6 May my tongue stick to the roof of my mouth if I don't remember you—if I don't consider Jerusalem my greatest joy.†
- 7 Lord, please remember what the people of Edom did on the day Jerusalem fell, the ones who said "Tear it down! Destroy it down to its foundations!"
- 8 Daughter of Babylon, you will be destroyed! Happy is the one who pays you back, who does to you what you did to us!
- 9 Happy is the one who grabs your children and smashes them against the rocks!

* 136:11 "Out of Egypt": literally, "from among them." † 136:21 Implied. * 137:5 Play music. † 137:6 The meaning is that it would be an expression of unfaithfulness to the Lord to sing holy songs meant for Temple worship in a pagan country, and that Jerusalem needed to be still considered as God's holy city.

138

A psalm of David.

- ¹ I thank you with my whole being; I sing your praises before the heavenly beings.*
- ² I bow down before your holy Temple, and I am thankful because of who you are—for your trustworthy love and faithfulness—and for the fact that your promises are even greater than what people expect of you.†
- ³ On the day I cried out to you for help, you answered me. You encouraged me and made me strong.
- ⁴ All the kings of the earth will praise you, Lord, for they have heard what you have said.
- ⁵ They will sing about what the Lord has done and about the great glory of the Lord.
- ⁶ Though the Lord is high above, he pays attention to the lowly; but he recognizes the proud a long way off.
- ⁷ Even though I walk into a great deal of trouble, you protect me. You reach out to defend me from the anger of those who hate me—your strong hand saves me.
- ⁸ The Lord vindicates me! Lord, your trustworthy love lasts forever! Don't give up on what you have made!‡

139

- ¹ Lord, you have examined me from the inside out—you know everything about me!
- ² You know when I sit down and when I get up. You know what I'm thinking even when I'm a long way away.
- ³ You observe where I go and when I rest. You're familiar with everything I do.
- ⁴ Lord, you even know what I'm going to say before I say it.
- ⁵ You're always there—behind me, in front of me, and all around me. You place your caring hand on me.
- ⁶ This amazing knowledge* you have is far beyond me, way beyond my understanding!
- ⁷ Where can I go that you're not already there? Where can I run to escape your presence?
- ⁸ If I go up to heaven, you are there. If I lie down in Sheol,† look—you are there too!
- ⁹ If I were to fly away on wings of the dawn to the east; if I were to live on the far western shore of the sea,

* 138:1 The word used here is “elohim” which would usually be translated as “gods,” but this seems strange here since the gods worshiped by pagans do not exist. It could be translated “false gods,” but why would the psalmist be singing God's praises before them? The Septuagint translates the words as “angels,” the Syriac has “kings,” and in the Targum it is “judges.” Other versions have “divine beings,” “the powers in heaven,” “the mighty,” etc. Note also the use of this word in Psalms 82:1. † 138:2 Following the thought that here the reference is to “name” as “reputation.” ‡ 138:8 This probably refers to the psalmist, but it could also mean the people of Israel, or God's creation generally. * 139:6 God's knowledge of the psalmist. † 139:8 The place of the dead.

- 10 even there your hand would lead me, your right hand would support me.
- 11 If I asked the darkness to hide me, and light to become night around me,
- 12 Even darkness would not be dark for you, and the night would be bright as day, for darkness is like light to you.
- 13 You made me from the inside out,[‡] shaping me in my mother's womb.
- 14 I praise you for making me in such an awesome and wonderful way. What you do is incredible—I realize this completely!
- 15 My growing body[§] was not hidden from you as I was formed in secret, as I was intricately put together “in the depths of the earth.”^{*}
- 16 You saw me as an embryo, and in your book all my days were written down—the days that were made for me before any of them existed.
- 17 God, your thoughts are so valuable[†] to me! Taken together, they can't be counted!
- 18 If I tried to count them, they would be more than every grain of sand. Yet when I awake[‡] I am still with you.
- 19 God, if you would only kill the wicked! Murderers,[§] get away from me!
- 20 When they speak of you they're being deceptively evil. Since they are your enemies, they call on you in vain.
- 21 Lord, don't I hate those who hate you? I despise those who rebel against you!
- 22 I hate them with absolute hatred—they have become my enemies!
- 23 Examine me carefully, God, so you can be sure of my true feelings. Check me out so you can know what I really think.
- 24 Please show me if I'm following any kind of idol, and lead me along the path of eternal life.

For the music director. A psalm of David.

- 1 Lord, please save me from those who do evil; protect me especially from those who are violent!
- 2 Their minds are busy plotting evil things, stirring up trouble all day long.
- 3 Their tongues are as sharp as those of snakes; viper's venom is on their lips. Selah.
- 4 Lord, please keep me from falling into the hands of the wicked; protect me especially from those who are violent, who are plotting my downfall.
- 5 Proud people have hidden a trap for me—they have strung out a net on the path, they have set snares to catch me. Selah.
- 6 I told the Lord, “You are my God! Lord, please listen to my cries for help!”

[‡] 139:13 Literally, “kidneys,” as representative of internal organs. [§] 139:15 “My growing body,” literally, “my bones.” ^{*} 139:15 “In the depths of the earth”: this may relate to a belief that children were formed in the earth before entering the womb, or it may simply be a metaphor for the womb. In any case the point being made is that God observed the process that is hidden from human eyes. [†] 139:17 Or “challenging.” [‡] 139:18 “Awake”: or “come to an end of counting.” [§] 139:19 Literally, “men of blood.”

- 7 Lord God, my powerful Savior, you covered my head like a helmet* on the day of battle.
- 8 God, don't allow the wicked to get what they want—don't let them be successful in what they plan so they don't become proud. Selah.
- 9 May the harm spoken against me by those who surround me fall back on them,†
- 10 Let burning coals rain down on them! Let them be thrown into the fire, or into bottomless pits, never to rise again.
- 11 Don't let people who slander others live in our land. May disaster strike down violent people.
- 12 Yet I know the Lord defends the rights of those who are persecuted, and gives justice to the poor.
- 13 Truly those who live right are thankful for the kind of person you are,‡ and those who are honest§ will live in your presence.

141

A psalm of David.

- 1 Lord, I'm calling out to you! Please hurry up and help me! Please listen to me when I cry out to you!
- 2 May my prayer be like incense before you, my uplifted hands like an evening offering.
- 3 Lord, make sure I don't say anything I shouldn't—keep a watch over my conversations.
- 4 Don't let me think about evil things or take part in doing anything wrong with wicked people. I won't join in eating fancy food at their feasts.*
- 5 Let a good person punish me in love—let them correct me. It will be like an anointing—I won't refuse it. But I still pray against those who do evil.†
- 6 They shall be thrown down by the power of the rock that judges them, and then they will recognize what I said was true!
- 7 Just as the earth is broken up by the plough, so shall their bones be scattered at the mouth of Sheol.‡
- 8 But I'm looking to you, Lord God, for I find protection in you. Don't let me die!
- 9 Keep me safe from the traps they have set to catch me, from the snares of evil people.
- 10 Let them fall into their own traps while I pass by unharmed.

A maskil of David, when he was in the cave. A prayer.

- 1 I call out to the Lord for help; pleading with the Lord for mercy.
- 2 I pour out my complaints before him; I tell him what's troubling me.

* 140:7 "Like a helmet": implied. † 140:9 The meaning of the Hebrew is unclear. ‡ 140:13 "Kind of person you are": literally, "your name." § 140:13 "Those who are honest": literally "the upright." * 141:4 This may refer to pagan festivals. † 141:5 The Hebrew in this verse and the next is not clear. ‡ 141:7 The place of the dead. This may mean they do not receive a proper burial.

- ³ When I'm totally discouraged, you know the direction I should take. But whichever way I go, people set traps for me.
- ⁴ I look to my right for someone to support me—but no one pays me any attention. There's no safe place for me—no one cares about me at all.
- ⁵ I cry out to you, Lord, for help, saying, "You are the one who keeps me safe; you are all I need in life."^{*}
- ⁶ Please listen to my sad cry, for I'm feeling very low. Please save me from those who are after me, for they're too strong for me.
- ⁷ Release me from my prison so I can praise you for the person you are! Those who live right will gather round me because you have treated me so well."

143

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Lord, please hear my prayer. Because you are faithful, please listen to my appeal for mercy. Answer me because you do what is right!
- ² Please don't place me, your servant, on trial, because nobody is innocent in your sight.
- ³ The enemy has chased me down. He crushes me to the ground. He makes me live in darkness like those who died a long time ago.
- ⁴ I sense myself fading away inside; I am overwhelmed by a sense of desolation.
- ⁵ I think of days long ago, and as I meditate I talk to myself about all you have done, I reflect on what you have accomplished.
- ⁶ I stretch out my hands to you, thirsting for you like dried-out land. Selah.
- ⁷ Please answer me quickly, Lord! I'm dying! Don't turn away otherwise I'll be just like those who are going down into the grave.
- ⁸ Tell me every morning about your trustworthy love, because I put my confidence in you. Show me the way I should go, because I dedicate myself to you.
- ⁹ Save me from those who hate me, Lord—I run to you for protection.
- ¹⁰ Teach me your will for you are my God. May your spirit of goodness lead me and make my way smooth.
- ¹¹ Because of the kind of person you are, let me go on living. Because you always do what's right, get me out of the trouble I'm in.
- ¹² In your trustworthy love, get rid of those who hate me, destroy all my enemies, for I am your servant.

144

A psalm of David.

- ¹ Praise the Lord—he is my rock. He trains me for battle, he gives me skill for war.
- ² He is the one who faithfully loves me, protects me, and defends me. He is the one who rescues me, shields me from danger, and keeps me safe. He defeats nations and places them under my rule.

^{*} 142:5 Literally, "you are my portion in the land of the living."

- ³ Lord, what are human beings that you should care about them? What are people that you should concern yourself with them?
- ⁴ Humanity is like a breath; their lives are like a passing shadow.
- ⁵ Part your heavens and come down.* Touch the mountains so that they give off smoke.
- ⁶ Scatter your enemies† with flashes of lightning! Let your arrows fly and send them running in confusion!
- ⁷ Stretch down your hand from heaven and set me free. Rescue me from raging waters, from the oppression of foreign enemies.
- ⁸ They are such liars, even telling lies under oath.‡
- ⁹ God, I will sing a new song to you, accompanied by a ten-stringed harp,
- ¹⁰ to you, the one who gives victory to kings. You saved your servant David from death by the sword.
- ¹¹ Set me free. Rescue me from the oppression of foreign enemies. They are such liars, even telling lies under oath.
- ¹² Then our sons will grow up like plants in their youth and become mature, and our daughters will be like beautiful pillars carved to support a palace.
- ¹³ Our storehouses will be full of all kinds of crops; our flocks of sheep will grow by thousands, increasing by tens of thousands in the pastures.
- ¹⁴ Our cattle will grow fat. No one will break down our city walls, there will be no exile, no cries of mourning in our town squares.
- ¹⁵ The people who live like this will be happy. Happy are those whose God is the Lord.

145

- ¹ I will glorify you, my God and King! I will praise who you are forever and ever!
- ² I will praise you every day; I will praise your character forever and ever!
- ³ The Lord is great and deserves much praise! His greatness cannot be measured!
- ⁴ Let every generation tell the next all that you do, sharing the stories of your amazing miracles!
- ⁵ They will speak* of your majesty, your glorious splendor, and I will meditate on the wonderful things you have done.
- ⁶ They will speak of the power of your awesome actions, and I will say how wonderful you are.
- ⁷ They will explain to everyone how famous you are for your tremendous goodness, and joyfully celebrate how you always do what is right.
- ⁸ The Lord is merciful and gracious, not easily angered, and full of trustworthy love.
- ⁹ The Lord is good to everyone, and he shows mercy to all his created beings.

* 144:5 See Psalms 18:9. † 144:6 “You enemies”: implied. ‡ 144:8 Literally, “their right hand is a right hand of falsehood”—referring to the practice of raising the right hand when swearing an oath. * 145:5 “They will speak”: Qumran text.

- 10 All the created beings will thank you, Lord, and all who faithfully follow you will praise you.
- 11 They will praise the glory of your kingdom, and talk about your power.
- 12 They will explain to people your wonderful miracles, and the glorious splendor of your kingdom.
- 13 Your kingdom never ends, and your rule continues for all generations. What the Lord promises can always be trusted; he is merciful in all he does.[†]
- 14 The Lord helps up all those who fall down; he lifts up all those who are bowed down.
- 15 All eyes are on you, waiting in hope, and you give food at just the right time.
- 16 You give generously and satisfy the needs of every living thing.
- 17 The Lord does right in everything—his actions are always trustworthy.
- 18 The Lord is close to all who ask for his help, to all who ask in sincerity.
- 19 He satisfies the needs of those who follow him. He hears their cries for help and he saves them.
- 20 The Lord takes care of all those who love him, but he will destroy all those who are wicked.
- 21 I will speak in praise of the Lord, and may everyone honor his holy character, forever and ever.

146

- 1 Praise the Lord! With my whole being I praise the Lord!
- 2 I will praise the Lord while I live; I will sing praises to my God while I have breath.
- 3 Don't put your confidence in human leaders—they cannot save you.
- 4 Once they breathe no more, they go back to dust. On that very day everything they planned dies with them.
- 5 Happy are those who have the God of Jacob to help them—their hope is in the Lord their God—
- 6 the one who made heaven and earth, and the sea along with everything it contains. He is trustworthy forever.
- 7 He makes sure the oppressed receive justice. He gives food to the hungry. The Lord sets the prisoners free.
- 8 The Lord makes the blind see. The Lord lifts up those who are bowed down. The Lord loves those who do what is right.
- 9 The Lord takes care of strangers among us. He looks after widows and orphans. But he makes life difficult for the wicked.
- 10 The Lord will reign forever. Zion, he will be your God for all generations. Praise the Lord!

- 1 Praise the Lord, for it's good to sing praises to our God! Praise is wonderful and beautiful!

[†] 145:13 The second half of this verse is found in the Septuagint and the Syriac version, and also in the Qumran text. Since this poem is an acrostic, each verse beginning with successive letters of the Hebrew alphabet, these lines provide the missing letter (nun).

- 2 The Lord is rebuilding Jerusalem, gathering together the people of Israel who have been scattered.
 3 He heals the broken-hearted, and bandages the wounded.
 4 He knows how many stars he made, and commands all of them by name.
 5 Our Lord is great! His power is immense! There's no limit to what he understands!
 6 The Lord helps those who are bowed down to get up; but he grinds the wicked into the ground.
 7 Sing thanks to the Lord! Sing praises to our God with a harp!
 8 He covers the sky with clouds to bring rain to the earth, and makes the grass grow on the hills.
 9 He gives food to the animals, and to the baby ravens when they call.
 10 The Lord doesn't appreciate the strength of war-horses or value human power.*
 11 What the Lord values are those who follow him, those who put their confidence in his trustworthy love.
 12 Jerusalem, praise the Lord! Zion, praise your God!
 13 He makes the bars on your city gates strong, and blesses your children around you.
 14 He keeps the borders of your land safe from attack; he provides you with plenty of the finest wheat.
 17 He throws hail like stones.† Who can stand the cold he sends?
 18 Then he sends out his command and it melts; he blows‡ on it and the water flows.
 19 He proclaims his word to Jacob; his rules and laws to Israel.
 20 He has not done this for any other nation—they don't know his laws. Praise the Lord!

148

- 1 Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord from heaven; praise him in the heights above!
 2 Praise him, all his angels; praise him, all his heavenly armies!
 3 Praise him, sun and moon! Praise him, all you shining stars!
 4 Praise him, highest heavens, and the waters above the heavens!*
 5 Let them all praise the Lord and his nature,† for he gave the order and they were created.
 6 He placed them in their positions forever and ever; he established a law that will never end.
 7 Praise the Lord from the earth, and creatures from all the depths of the seas,
 8 lightning‡ and hail, snow and clouds, and stormy wind—everything that does as he commands.
 9 Mountains and all the hills, fruit trees and all the trees of the forest,

* 147:10 The psalmist is contrasting reliance on human force such as a powerful army with God, the true source of strength, as shown by the following verse. † 147:17 "Stones": literally, "pieces of bread." ‡ 147:18 "Blows": or, "sends his winds." * 148:4 Understood as the heavenly dome above, where rain came from. † 148:5 Literally, "name." ‡ 148:8 Or "fire."

- 10 wild animals and all livestock, crawling animals and wild birds,
 11 earthly kings and all peoples, leaders and rulers of the world,
 12 young men and women, old people and children—
 13 Let them all praise the Lord, for his reputation[§] is unequalled; his glory is above anything on earth or in heaven.
 14 He has given his people a source of strength,* bringing praise to his faithful followers, the people of Israel who are dear to him. Praise the Lord!

149

- 1 Praise the Lord! Sing a new song to the Lord! Praise him wherever his faithful followers gather!
 2 Let Israel celebrate their Creator; let the people of Zion be happy in their King.
 3 Praise his nature with dancing; sing praises to him, accompanied by tambourine and harp.
 4 For the Lord enjoys his people; he honors the oppressed with salvation.
 5 Let the faithful celebrate how he honors them; let them sing happily even from their beds.
 6 May their praises of God always be on their lips, a double-edged sword in their hands,
 7 ready to take revenge on the nations, to punish the foreign peoples,
 8 to imprison their kings in shackles and their leaders in iron chains,
 9 to impose the judgment decreed against them. This is an honor for all his faithful followers. Praise the Lord!

150

- 1 Praise the Lord! Praise God in his holy place!* Praise him in the great expanse of heaven!
 2 Praise him for the amazing things he does! Praise him for how wonderfully great he is!
 3 Praise him with the sound of the trumpet, praise him with harp and lyre!
 4 Praise him with tambourine and dancing, praise him with strings and flutes!
 5 Praise him with the clash of cymbals, praise him with really loud cymbals!
 6 Let everything that breathes praise the Lord! Praise the Lord!

Proverbs

² They are for achieving wisdom and instruction, and to recognize sayings that bring insight.

⁴ They give discernment to the immature, knowledge and discretion to the young.

⁵ Wise people will listen and gain in learning, and those who have good judgment will gain skills in guidance,

⁶ understanding the proverbs and puzzles, the sayings and questions of the wise.

⁸ My son, pay attention to your father's instruction, and don't reject your mother's teaching.

⁹ They are a wreath of grace to decorate your head; they are pendants for your neck.

¹⁰ My son, if evil people try to tempt you, don't give into them.

¹¹ They may tell you, "Come with us. Let's go and hide, ready to kill someone. Let's ambush someone for fun!

¹³ We'll take from them all kinds of valuable things and fill our homes with the stuff we steal!

¹⁴ Come and join us* and we'll all share what we get!"

¹⁵ My son, don't follow their ways. Don't go in that direction with them.

¹⁶ For they rush to do evil; they hurry to commit violence and murder.

¹⁷ There's no point in trying to lure birds into a net when they can see it.

²⁰ Wisdom calls out in the streets; she† shouts aloud in the squares.

²⁴ For I have called you, but you refused to listen; I reached out my hand to you, but you didn't care.

²⁵ You ignored everything I said; you wouldn't accept any of my warnings.

* 1:14 Literally, "throw in your lot with us." † 1:20 "She": in Proverbs, wisdom is personified as a woman.

26 So I'll laugh at you when you're in trouble; I'll mock you when you're in a panic.

27 When panic rains down on you like a storm, when trouble hits you like a whirlwind, when sorrow and pain come on you,

28 then you'll call out to me for help, but I won't answer; you'll search hard for me, but won't find me.

29 Why?—because they hated knowledge, and they didn't choose to respect the Lord.

30 They're not willing to accept my advice; they despise all my warnings.

31 So they'll have to eat the fruit of their own choices, bloated by their own devious schemes.

33 But everyone who listens to me will be kept safe, and will live without worrying about problems."

2

1 My son, if you accept what I say and value my instructions,

2 if you pay attention to wisdom and really try to understand;

3 if you cry out for insight and call loudly for help in understanding;

4 if you look for it as if it were silver and search for it as if it were hidden treasure;

5 then you will understand how to relate to the Lord and discover the truth about God.

6 The Lord is the source of wisdom; what he says provides knowledge that makes sense.

7 He gives good judgment to those who live right; he defends those who have good sense.

8 He supports those who act fairly and protects those who trust in him.

9 Then you will be able to recognize what is right and just and fair, in fact all that is good in the way you should live.

10 For wisdom will fill your mind, and knowledge will make you happy.

11 Good decisions will keep you on track; thinking logically will keep you safe.

12 Doing this will save you from the ways of evil, from men who tell twisted lies,

15 They live crooked lives doing deceitful things.

16 Doing this will also save you from a woman who acts immorally,* from a woman who like a prostitute† tries to seduce you with flattering words.

17 Such a woman has left her husband she married when she was young, forgetting the promises she made before God.

18 What happens in her house leads to death; following her way leads to the grave.

* 2:16 "A woman who acts immorally": literally "a strange woman." † 2:16 "A woman who like a prostitute": literally "a foreign woman." It is thought that this comes from the idea that prostitutes were often women from other nations,

¹⁹ No one who goes to her comes back; they don't ever find the way back to life again.

²⁰ So you should follow the way of the good, and make sure you stay on the paths of those who do right.

²² But the wicked will be thrown out of the land; those who are untrustworthy will be pulled out by the roots.

3

² Then you will live a long time, and have a full* life.

³ Hold on to kindness and truth. Tie them around your neck; write them in your mind.[†]

⁴ That way you'll gain a good reputation and be appreciated by both God and people.

⁵ Put your trust totally in the Lord—don't rely on what you think you know!

⁸ Then you will have healed and be made strong.[‡]

⁹ Honor the Lord with your wealth and with the firstfruits of all the crops you grow.

¹⁰ Then your barns will be filled with produce, and your vats will overflow with new wine.[§]

¹¹ My son, don't reject the Lord's discipline or resent it when he corrects you,

¹² for the Lord corrects those he loves, as a father corrects a son who pleases him.*

¹³ Happy are those who find wisdom and gain understanding,

¹⁴ for wisdom is worth more than silver, and pays better than gold.

¹⁵ She is more valuable than rubies—everything you could ever want just doesn't compare!

¹⁶ She offers long life in one hand, and riches and honor in the other.

¹⁷ She brings true happiness, and leads to peaceful prosperity.

¹⁸ Wisdom is a tree of life to everyone who embraces her, blessing those who accept her.

²⁰ It was through his knowledge the waters of the deep were broken open, and the clouds sent down the dew.[†]

²¹ My son, hold on to good judgment and wise decisions—don't let them out of your sight,

²² for they will be life to you, and an ornament for your neck.

* 3:2 The word used here is “shalom,” meaning peace and prosperity. † 3:3 “Write them in your mind”: literally, “write them on the tablet of your heart.” ‡ 3:8 Literally this verse is, “Healing shall be to your navel, and drink for your bones.” § 3:10 “New wine”: in other words, grape juice.

* 3:12 Septuagint reads, “he punishes a son who pleases him.” † 3:20 This probably refers to the creation account in Genesis.

²³ You will be able to walk confidently on your way, and you won't trip up.

²⁵ You won't be afraid of a sudden panic, or of disasters that hit the wicked,

²⁶ for the Lord will be the one you can trust in, and he will prevent you being caught in a trap.

²⁷ Don't hold back good from those who deserve it when it's something you have the power to do.

²⁸ Don't tell your neighbor, "Go away. Come back tomorrow and then I'll give it to you," when you've already got it.

³⁰ Don't quarrel with anybody for no reason, when they haven't done anything to hurt you.

³³ The houses of the wicked are cursed by the Lord, but he blesses the homes of those who live right.

² for what I am passing on to you is reliable. Don't reject my teachings.

³ When I was a son with my father—a tender young boy, my mother's only child—

⁴ he was the one who taught me. He told me, "Pay attention to the words I say and keep them in mind; do what I tell you and you will live.

⁶ Don't give up on wisdom for she will keep you safe. Love wisdom and she will protect you.

⁷ The first thing in becoming wise is to get wisdom! Whatever else you gain, gain insight.

⁸ Treasure wisdom, and she will praise you; embrace her, and she will honor you.

⁹ She will place on your head a wreath of grace; she will present to you a crown of glory."

¹⁰ Listen, my son, if you accept what I tell you, then you will live a long life.

¹¹ I have explained to you the way of wisdom; I have guided you along the right paths.

¹² Nothing will block your way when you walk, you won't stumble when you run.

¹⁴ Don't go the way of the wicked or follow the example of those who do evil.

¹⁵ Avoid that way completely. Don't go there! Turn away, and walk on.

¹⁶ Evil people won't rest until they've done something wrong; they can't sleep unless they've tripped someone up.

¹⁸ The way of life of the good is like the light of the sunrise, glowing brighter and brighter until the full light of day shines out.

¹⁹ But the way of life of the wicked is like complete darkness; they don't even know what they're tripping over.

²⁰ My son, pay attention to what I tell you; listen to the words I'm saying.

²¹ Don't lose sight of them; think about them deeply,

²³ Most of all, protect your mind, for everything in life flows from it.

²⁴ Don't ever lie, and don't say anything dishonest.

²⁵ Focus on what's ahead of you; look at what's in front of you.

²⁶ Pay attention to the path you decide to follow, and you'll be safe wherever you go.

5

³ For the lips of an immoral woman may taste as sweet as honey, the kisses of her mouth may be as smooth as oil,

⁴ but in the end what you get from her is the bitterness of wormwood and the sharp pain of being cut with a two-edged sword.

⁵ She leads you down to death; she takes you down to the grave.

⁶ She doesn't follow the path that leads to life—she wanders away and doesn't even know she's lost.

⁷ Now, my son,[†] listen to me; don't reject what I have taught you.

⁹ Otherwise you'll surrender your honor to others, and your character to cruel people.

¹¹ When you come to the end of your life you'll moan in pain as disease destroys your body.

¹² You'll say, "How I used to hate discipline, and my mind rebelled against being corrected!"

¹⁴ Now I'm on the verge of being completely disgraced before everyone in the community."

* 5:2 "Protect knowledge in what you say": literally, "your lips will guard knowledge." † 5:7 The Hebrew has the plural "sons" here, but for the rest of the chapter uses singular pronouns, so "son" is used here, following the Septuagint and the Vulgate.

¹⁶ Why should your springs be spilled outside, your streams of water poured out in the streets?

¹⁷ Keep them for yourselves alone. They're not for you to share with strangers.

¹⁸ May your spring of water be blessed, and may you enjoy the wife you married when you were young.

¹⁹ May she be to you a loving deer, a graceful doe. May her breasts always be intoxicating to you; may you be drunk on her love forever.

²⁰ Why, my son, become intoxicated with an immoral woman? Why embrace the breasts of a woman who acts like a prostitute?

²² The wicked are trapped by their evil actions; the cords of their sins tie them up.

²³ They will die because they lack self-control, lost because of their great stupidity.

6

² then you've trapped yourself by what you promised, you've been caught by what you said.

³ So this is what you have to do. You need to get out of it, because you've put yourself in that person's power. Go to your neighbor in all humility and ask him to release you from the commitment.*

⁴ Don't delay, saying that you'll sleep on it. Don't rest until you've done it.

⁶ Go and observe the ants, you slacker! Learn from what they do and become wise.

⁷ They don't have a leader, an officer, or a ruler,

⁹ So how long are you going to lie there, you slacker? When are you going to get up from your sleep?

¹⁰ You may say,† “Please, just a little more sleep, a little longer snooze, a little more folding of the arms to rest”—

¹¹ and poverty will attack you like a robber, destitution like an armed warrior.

¹² Rebellious and wicked people go around telling lies,

¹⁵ As a result, disaster falls suddenly on such people; in just a moment they're destroyed without hope of healing.

† 5:15 This whole section uses imagery to make the point that husbands and wives should be faithful to each other. * 6:3 “To release you from the commitment”: implied. † 6:10 “You may say”: implied.

¹⁶ There are six things that the Lord hates, seven things that he absolutely detests:

¹⁷ arrogant eyes, a lying tongue, hands that murder the innocent,

¹⁸ a mind that plots evil schemes, feet that hurriedly run to do wrong,

¹⁹ a false witness that speaks lies, those who caused arguments in families.

²⁰ My son, pay attention to your father's instruction, and don't reject your mother's teaching.

²¹ Keep them always in mind. Tie them around your neck.

²² They will lead you as you walk along; they will watch over you as you sleep; when you wake up they will talk with you.

²³ For the instruction is a lamp, and the teaching is a light. The correction that comes from discipline is the way to life.

²⁶ You can buy a prostitute for the price of a loaf of bread, but adultery with another man's wife can cost you your life.

²⁸ Can you walk on hot coals and not scorch your feet?

³⁰ People don't condemn a thief if he steals to satisfy himself when he's hungry.

³¹ But if he's caught, he has to pay back seven times what he stole, even if it means handing over everything he has in his house.

³³ He will be wounded and dishonored. His disgrace will never be removed.

³⁵ He refuses any compensation, and won't be paid off, however big the amount.

7

² Do what I tell you and you will live. Observe my teachings, valuing them as your main focus in life.

³ Tie them to your fingers; write them in your mind.

⁴ Tell wisdom, "You're my sister," and call insight your best friend.

⁶ One time I looked through the lattice of the window in my house,

⁷ and I saw among the immature young men one who had no sense at all.

⁸ He was walking down the street near the corner where she lived and took the road passing her house.

⁹ It was at dusk in the evening, as the light was fading and the dark night closed in.

10 Then out came a woman came to meet him. She was dressed as a prostitute and had deceptive intentions.

11 (She was loud and provocative, never wanting to stay at home.

12 One moment she'd be walking the streets, the next she'd be there in the town squares, loitering at every corner.)

13 She grabbed hold of him and kissed him, and with a bold face she told him,

14 "I sacrificed my peace offering today, and paid my vows.*

15 That's why I came out to meet you. I was looking for you and now I've found you!

18 Come with me, let's make love until the morning. Let's enjoy one another in our love-making!

19 My husband isn't home; he's gone on a long trip.

20 He took a bag of money with him, and he won't be coming back until the full moon."

21 She convinced him with all that she said; she seduced him with her smooth talking.

22 He followed her right away, like an ox to the slaughter. Like a stag that's caught in a snare

23 until an arrow pierces its liver, like a bird flying into a trap, he's unaware he will pay with his life.

24 So now listen to me, my sons, and pay attention to what I'm saying.

26 For she has brought down and destroyed a lot of men; she's killed so many.

27 Her house leads to the grave—it goes down to the rooms of death.

8

1 Isn't wisdom calling? Isn't understanding raising her voice?

2 On the top of the hill by the road, she stands up at the crossroads.

4 "I'm calling out to you, everyone! My call is to everyone in the whole world!

5 If you're immature, learn how to grow up. If you're stupid, learn what makes good sense.

6 Listen to me because I have valuable things to explain to you.

7 I say what's right, because I tell the truth and I hate wickedness in all its forms.

8 All the words I say are true; none are false or misleading.

9 My words are straightforward to anyone with understanding; they are correct to those who have knowledge.

10 Choose my instruction over silver; choose knowledge over pure gold.

11 For wisdom is more valuable than rubies; everything you could ever want just doesn't compare!

12 I, wisdom, am at home with good decisions. I know how to find knowledge and discernment.

* 7:14 These offerings were shared with the donor. In essence the woman is saying she has meat ready to eat.

¹³ Honoring the Lord means hating evil. So I hate pride and arrogance, wicked behavior and telling lies.

¹⁴ I have advice and good judgment; I know what makes sense, and I have power.

¹⁵ It's because of me that kings reign, and rulers issue fair decrees.

¹⁷ I love those who love me, and those who really look for me will find me.

¹⁸ With me go riches and honor, lasting wealth and prosperity.

¹⁹ The fruit I produce is better than gold, even pure gold, and my harvest is better than even the best silver.

²⁰ I live in a way that's right; I follow the paths of justice.

²¹ I grant wealth to those who love me; I fill their treasure storehouses.

²² The Lord created me first of all; I was made before anything else.

²³ I was formed a long time ago, at the first, before the world began.

²⁴ I was born when there were no ocean depths, when there were no springs pouring out water.

²⁶ when he hadn't made the earth and its fields or any of the earth's dust.

²⁷ I was there when he placed the heavens in position, when he drew the horizon over the ocean,

²⁸ when he made the clouds in the sky above, when he created the springs of the oceans,

²⁹ when he set limits on the sea so that the waters would not go farther than he ordered, and when he laid out the foundations of the earth.

³⁰ Then I was beside him as a master craftsman. I made him happy every day, and I was always full of joy in his presence.

³¹ I was so happy in the world he created, celebrating together with human beings.

³² And now, my sons, listen to me, for happy are those who follow my ways.

³³ Listen to my instruction and be wise—do not reject it.

³⁴ Happy are those who listen to me, watching for me every day at my doors, waiting at my entrance way.

³⁵ For those who find me, find life, and are accepted by the Lord.

³⁶ But those who don't find me hurt themselves; everyone who hates me loves death."

9

² She has slaughtered her animals for meat; she has mixed* her wine; and she has set her table.

³ She has sent out her servant girls with invitations.† She calls out from the highest places of the town,

⁴ "Everybody who needs to learn, come and see me!" To people who don't have any sense she says,

⁵ "Come, eat my food, and drink the wine I have mixed.

⁶ Leave your foolish ways and you will live; follow the path that makes sense."

* 9:2 Through the addition of spices. † 9:3 "With invitations": implied.

⁷ If you correct a mocker all you get are insults; if you argue with the wicked all you get is abuse.

⁸ So don't argue with mockers or they'll only hate you; argue with the wise and they'll love you.

⁹ Educate the wise and they'll become even wiser; teach those who live right and they will increase their learning.

¹¹ Through wisdom you'll have many more days, increasing the years of your life.

¹³ Stupidity is like a loud, ignorant woman who doesn't know anything.

¹⁵ calling out to those passing by, going about their business,

¹⁶ "Everybody who needs to learn, come and see me!" To people who don't have any sense she says,

¹⁸ But they don't know that the dead are there, that those she's invited are in the depths of the grave.

² Wealth gained through evil does you no good; but living right saves you from death.

³ The Lord doesn't let good people go hungry, but he stops the wicked from getting what they want.

⁴ Lazy hands make you poor, but hard-working hands make you rich.

⁷ The good are remembered as a blessing, but the reputation of the wicked will rot.

⁸ Those who think wisely pay attention to instruction, but a stupid chatterbox ends up in disaster.

¹⁰ People who wink slyly* cause trouble, but someone who gives a strong rebuke brings peace.†

¹¹ What good people say is a spring that gives life, but what the wicked say hides their violent nature.

¹² Hatred causes conflict, but love covers all wrongs.

* 10:10 See 6:13. † 10:10 Septuagint version. The second half of this verse in Hebrew is the same as that of verse 8 and may be transposed from there.

¹⁵ The wealth of the rich provides them protection, while the poverty of the poor ruins them.

¹⁶ If you do right you're rewarded with life, but if you're wicked all you gain is sin.

¹⁷ If you accept instruction, you're on the path to life, but if you reject correction you'll go astray.

¹⁸ Anyone who hides their hatred is lying, and anyone who spreads slander is stupid.

¹⁹ If you talk too much, you'll say something wrong. Be wise and take care what you say.

²⁰ What good people say is like the best silver, but the mind of the wicked isn't worth much.

²¹ Advice from good people helps feed many others, but stupid people die because they have no sense.

²² The Lord's blessing makes you rich, and he doesn't add any sadness to accompany it.

²³ Stupid people think it's fun to do wrong, but someone who has wisdom understands what's right.

²⁵ When the storm hits, the wicked are no more, but the good are safe and secure forever.

²⁶ In the same way vinegar irritates the teeth and smoke irritates the eyes, lazy people irritate their employers.

²⁸ Good people look forward to happiness, but the hopes of the wicked come to nothing.

²⁹ The way of the Lord protects those who do right, but he destroys those who do evil.

³⁰ The good will never be removed from the land, but the wicked will not remain there.

³¹ What good people say produces wisdom, but liars will have their tongues cut out.

⁶ The goodness of those who live right will save them, but the dishonest are trapped by their own desires.

¹⁰ The whole town celebrates when good people are successful; they also shout for joy when the wicked die.

¹² People who run down their neighbors have no sense; someone who's sensible keeps quiet.

¹⁵ You'll get into trouble if you guarantee a stranger's loans—you're far safer if you refuse to make such pledges.

¹⁷ If you're kind, you'll be rewarded; but if you're cruel, you'll hurt yourself.

¹⁸ The wicked earn wages that cheat them,* but those who sow goodness reap a genuine reward.

¹⁹ Do what's right, and you will live; chase after evil and you will die.

²⁰ The Lord hates perverted minds, but is happy with those who live moral lives.

²³ Good people want what's best, but what the wicked hope for ends in death.

²⁵ If you're generous, you'll become rich; give someone a drink of water, and you'll be given one in return.

²⁶ People curse those who hoard grain; but they bless those who sell.

²⁸ If you trust in your riches, you'll fall; but if you do good, you'll flourish like green leaves.

²⁹ If you cause trouble in your family, you'll inherit nothing but air. Stupid people end up as servants to those who think wisely.

³⁰ The fruit of the good is a tree of life, and the wise person saves people.†

³¹ If the good are repaid here on earth, how much more will the wicked who sin be repaid!

12

* 11:18 "Wages that cheat them": literally "gain of deception." † 11:30 "And the wise person saves people." Septuagint version, "but the lawless are removed before their time."

³ Wickedness doesn't provide security, but those who live right are deeply rooted and cannot be moved.

⁶ The words of the wicked are like a violent ambush, but those of honest people save them.

⁸ People are appreciated for talking sense, but those with perverted minds are despised.

⁹ Better to be a humble man serving himself than a boastful man who has nothing to eat.

¹² Wicked people long for ill-gotten gains, but good people are productive themselves.

¹³ The wicked trap themselves by their own sinful words, but good people escape trouble.

¹⁶ Stupid people get angry immediately, but if you're sensible you ignore an insult.

¹⁸ Some people's hasty words cut like a knife, but the words of the wise bring healing.

¹⁹ Words of truth last forever, but lies are gone in a moment.

²⁰ Deceit is in the mind of those planning evil, but those who plan peace have joy.

²¹ No harm comes to the good, but trouble fills the wicked.

²³ If you're sensible, you don't show off your knowledge, but stupid people announce their stupidity.

²⁴ Hard work brings leadership, but laziness brings slavery.

²⁵ If you're anxious, you're weighed down, but an encouraging word will cheer you up.

²⁶ Good people look out for their friends,* but the way the wicked live leads them astray.

¹ A wise son accepts his father's discipline, but a mocker doesn't listen to correction.

* 12:26 The Hebrew of this line is unclear. † 12:27 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear.

⁷ Some pretend to be rich, but don't have anything, while others pretend to be poor and are very rich.

⁹ The life of good people shines brightly,† but the lamp of the wicked will be snuffed out.

¹² Hope that's delayed makes you feel sick, but a wish that comes true revives you.‡

¹⁴ The teaching of the wise is like a fountain of life, so you can avoid the snares of death.

¹⁷ A bad messenger creates* trouble, but a faithful representative brings healing.

¹⁸ Poverty and disgrace come to those who ignore instruction, but those who accept correction are honored.

¹⁹ It's nice to see a wish come true, but stupid people hate to turn away from evil to achieve this.

²⁰ Being friends with wise people will make you wise, but being friends with stupid people will only cause you problems.

²¹ Tragedy chases after the sinner, but prosperity rewards the good.

²³ The unploughed ground of the poor could produce a lot of food, but it's stolen through injustice.

¹ Every wise woman builds her house, but the stupid woman tears it down with her own hands.

* 13:8 The meaning of the Hebrew in the second line is not clear. † 13:9 "Shines brightly": or, "causes joy." ‡ 13:12 "Revives you": literally, "a tree of life." § 13:15 "The way of the unfaithful is hard." Septuagint version: "the ways of scorners lead to destruction." * 13:17 "Creates": literally, "falls into."

² Those who live right respect the Lord, but those who live dishonestly despise him.

⁶ It's pointless for a scoffer to look for wisdom, but knowledge comes easily to someone who understands.

⁸ Sensible people use their wisdom to decide where they're going, but the foolishness of stupid people is treacherous.

¹⁰ The individual's mind alone knows its sadnesses, and no one else can share its happiness.

¹² There's a way that seems to be right, but in the end it's the way of death.

¹³ Even when you're laughing you can be feeling sad—joy can end in grief.

¹⁴ Disloyal people are repaid for what they do, and good people are rewarded.

¹⁵ Stupid people believe whatever they're told, but sensible people think about what they're doing.

¹⁶ Wise people are careful and avoid evil, but stupid people are confidently reckless.

¹⁹ Evil people bow down before good people, and the wicked bow down at the doors of those who do right.

²⁰ The poor are hated even by their neighbors, while the rich have many friends.

²¹ People who look down on their neighbors are sinners, but those who are kind to the poor are blessed.

²⁶ People who honor the Lord are completely safe; he will protect their children.

²⁸ The glory of a king is the number of his subjects, for a ruler is nothing without them.

* 14:18 "Rewarded": literally, "crowned."

²⁹ If you're slow to get angry, you're very wise; but if you have a short fuse you glorify stupidity.

³⁰ A peaceful mind makes your body healthy, but jealousy makes your bones rot.

³¹ Anyone who oppresses the poor insults their Maker; but anyone who is kind to the needy honors him.

³² Wicked people are brought down by their own evil actions, but those who live right are confident even in death.[†]

³³ Wisdom is at home in a mind that understands, but it's not[‡] found among stupid people.

³⁵ A servant who acts wisely is appreciated by the king, but he gets angry with a servant who acts disgracefully.

15

⁶ There's plenty of treasure where good people live, but the income of the wicked brings them trouble.

⁸ The Lord hates the sacrifices of the wicked, but he loves the prayers of the good.

⁹ The Lord hates the ways of the wicked, but he loves those who do what is right.

¹⁰ If you leave the right path you will be severely disciplined; anyone who hates correction will die.

¹¹ Those already dead[†] have no secrets from the Lord—how much more does he know our thoughts!

¹² Scoffers don't like to be corrected, so they don't go to the wise for advice.

¹³ If you're happy inside, you'll have a cheerful face, but if you're sad, you look crushed.

¹⁵ The life of poor people is hard, but if you stay cheerful, it's a continual feast.

[†] 14:32 "Even in death": Septuagint reading is "in integrity." [‡] 14:33 "Not": Septuagint reading. Hebrew is missing the word "not." ^{*} 15:4 "Source," literally "tree." [†] 15:11 The Hebrew simply references "Sheol" and "Abaddon," the grave and the world of the dead. [‡] 15:17 Literally "fatted ox."

¹⁸ Short-tempered people stir up trouble, but those slow to anger calm things down.

²³ A good answer makes people happy—it's great to say the right thing at the right moment!

²⁶ The Lord hates the thoughts of the wicked, but he honors the words of the pure.*

²⁷ People greedy for ill-gotten gains make trouble for their families, but those who hate bribes will live.

²⁸ Good people think how best to answer questions, but stupid people say all kinds of evil things.

²⁹ The Lord keeps his distance from the wicked, but he hears the prayers of the good.

³⁰ Bright eyes make you happy, and good news makes you feel good.

³ Trust whatever you do to the Lord, and your plans will be successful.

⁴ The Lord has a purpose in everything he does, even the wicked for the day of trouble.

⁵ The Lord hates the arrogant. You can be certain of this: the wicked won't go unpunished.

⁶ Sin is forgiven through trustworthy love and faithfulness; by honoring the Lord people are saved from evil.

⁷ When the way that people live pleases the Lord, he makes even their enemies be at peace with them.

⁸ Better to have just a little and be honest than to have a lot and be dishonest.

⁹ You can plan in your mind what to do, but the Lord will guide you.

[§] 15:25 In the sense that he does not allow boundary markers to be moved. * 15:26 Septuagint reading.

¹⁰ The king is inspired in what he says; he is not unreliable in his decisions.

¹³ People who tell the truth please kings; they love those who say what is right.

¹⁴ An angry king can put you to death. If you're wise you'll try and calm him down.

¹⁵ If the king is smiling, you'll live; his blessing is like the clouds that bring spring rain.

²⁰ If you pay attention to wise instruction you will do well; you'll be happy if you trust in the Lord.

²¹ If you think wisely you'll be called perceptive; if you speak pleasantly you'll be persuasive.

²³ A wise mind makes sure to say sensible things; the words spoken are persuasive.

²⁵ There's a way that seems to be right, but in the end it's the way of death.

²⁸ Quarrelsome people cause conflict, and a gossip comes between the closest friends.

³⁰ People who give you a sly wink are plotting bad things; they purse their lips and make evil happen.

³³ The lot is thrown into the lap,* but the Lord makes every decision.

² A servant who acts wisely will be put in charge of a disgraced son, and will share the family inheritance with the brothers.

* 16:33 As a way of making a choice.

³ A crucible tests silver, and a furnace tests gold, but the Lord tests the attitude of mind.

⁴ Evil people listen to spiteful talk, and liars pay attention to malicious words.

⁵ Anyone who oppresses the poor insults their Maker, and anyone who enjoys the suffering of others will be punished.

⁸ Whoever gives a bribe thinks it's a magical stone—that wherever they turn they'll have success!

¹² Better to meet a she-bear robbed of her cubs than a stupid person and their foolishness.

¹³ If you repay evil for good, evil will never leave your house.

¹⁴ The beginning of a quarrel is like the first leak in a water dam, so drop it before a major argument bursts out.

¹⁵ The Lord hates it when the wicked are acquitted and the innocent condemned.

¹⁶ Is there any point in stupid people trying to buy wisdom when they don't want to learn?

¹⁷ A true friend is always there to love you, and family† provides help when troubles come.

¹⁸ It's not a wise idea to make a pledge and guarantee a neighbor's debt.

¹⁹ People who love sin like to argue; those who build high gates invite destruction.‡

²¹ A stupid son brings grief to his father; the father of a child who does stupid things has no joy.

²³ The wicked take hidden bribes to pervert the course of justice.

²⁴ Sensible people focus on wisdom, but the eyes of stupid people are always wandering.

²⁵ A stupid son brings grief to his father and sadness to his mother who gave birth to him.

²⁶ It's not right to impose a fine on someone who's innocent or to flog good leaders for their honesty.

²⁷ If you're wise, you'll be careful what you say; and if you're sensible, you'll keep your temper.

* 17:11 "Cruel messenger": perhaps referring to death. † 17:17 "Family": literally, "a brother."

²⁸ Even stupid people who keep quiet are considered wise; if they don't say anything they appear intelligent.

18

¹ Selfish people only please themselves, they attack anything that makes good sense.

⁴ People's words can be profound like deep waters, a gushing stream that is the source of wisdom.

⁶ What stupid people say gets them into fights, as if they're asking for a beating.

⁸ Listening to gossip is like gulping down bites of your favorite food—they go deep down inside you.

⁹ Laziness and destruction are brothers.

¹⁰ The Lord is a protective tower that good people can run to and be safe.

¹⁴ With a brave spirit you can put up with sickness, but if it's crushed, you can't bear it.

¹⁶ A gift opens doors for you, and gets you into the presence of important people.

¹⁷ The first person to plead a case sounds right until someone comes to cross-examine them.

¹⁸ Casting lots can end disputes and decide between powerful people.

¹⁹ A brother you've offended is harder to win back than a fortified town.* Arguments keep people apart like bars on the doors of a fortress.

²⁰ Make sure you're satisfied with what you say—you have to live with your words.†

²¹ What you say has the power to bring life or to kill; those who love talking will have to deal with the consequences.

²² If you find a wife, that's great, and you'll be blessed by the Lord.

²³ The poor beg for mercy, but the rich reply harshly.

²⁴ Some friends give up‡ on you, but there's a friend who stays closer to you than a brother.

¹ Better to be poor but honest than stupid and tell lies.

* 18:19 The meaning of the Hebrew is unclear. † 18:20 Many different interpretations have been given for the meaning of this verse. ‡ 18:24 "Give up": literally, "come to ruin."

² It's not good to be someone who doesn't think. If you rush, things go wrong.

³ People mess up their lives by their own stupidity, and then get angry with the Lord.

⁴ If you're rich, you get a lot of friends, but if you're poor, you lose any friends you had.

⁸ If you become wise, you have good self-esteem; if you learn good sense you'll be successful.

⁹ A false witness will be punished; people who tell lies will perish.

¹⁰ It's not right for stupid people to live in luxury, and it's even worse for a slave to rule over leaders.

¹¹ If you have good sense you'll be slow to get angry; you gain respect by forgiving wrongs.

¹² When a king gets angry, he sounds like a roaring lion; but his kindness is as soft as dew on the grass.

¹³ A stupid son makes his father miserable, and an argumentative wife is like dripping that never stops.

¹⁶ Keep the commandments, and you'll live; despise them and you'll die.

¹⁸ Discipline your son while there's still hope, but don't kill him.†

¹⁹ People who often get angry have to pay the penalty; if you help them, you'll have to do it again.‡

²⁰ Listen to advice and accept instruction so that you'll eventually become wise.

²¹ Human beings make many plans in their minds, but the final decision is the Lord's.

²² The most desirable thing in anyone is trustworthy love; it is better to be poor than a liar.

²³ Honoring the Lord is life, and you will rest contentedly, safe from harm.

²⁴ Lazy people put their hands in a dish, and won't even lift the food to their mouths.

²⁵ If you punish someone who mocks, you may help an immature person to learn. Correct the wise, and they become wiser.

²⁶ A son who abuses his father and chases away his mother brings shame and disgrace.

²⁷ My son, stop listening to my instruction and you'll soon give up following wisdom.

* 19:7 The Hebrew of the last line is uncertain. † 19:18 "But don't kill him": or "and don't let him destroy himself." ‡ 19:19 The Hebrew of the last line is uncertain.

² When a king gets terribly angry, he sounds like a roaring lion; anyone who makes him furious is liable to be killed.

³ Avoiding conflict is the proper thing to do, but stupid people are quick to argue.

⁵ Discovering what someone is planning in their mind is like looking at deep water, but a person who has understanding will find out.

⁹ Who can claim, "I've made sure my conscience is clean; I've purified myself from sin"?

¹⁰ The Lord hates both dishonest weights and dishonest measures.

¹² The Lord made our ears to hear and our eyes to see.

¹³ If you love sleeping you'll become poor. Wake up and get busy, and you'll have plenty to eat.

¹⁴ "It's really rubbish," says the one buying, but afterwards goes and boasts to others about making a good deal.

¹⁵ There's gold and plenty of expensive gemstones, but talking sense is a more valuable jewel.

¹⁶ If someone guarantees a stranger's debt with their cloak, be sure to take it! Make sure you have whatever is pledged to foreigners!

¹⁷ Food you get by cheating may taste sweet, but afterwards it will be like a mouthful of gravel.

¹⁸ With sound advice, plans are successful; if you're going to war, make sure you have good guidance.

²⁰ Anyone who curses their father or mother will have their light put out and end in utter darkness.

²³ The Lord hates incorrect weights; using dishonest scales is wrong.

²⁴ The Lord shows us the way to go, so how would we decide for ourselves?

* 20:1 "Deceived": or "intoxicated." † 20:21 "Gained too soon": some manuscripts have "gained by greed"

²⁵ It's a mistake to make a promise to God and then have second thoughts about it later.

²⁹ Young men value their strength, but the old value even more the wisdom that comes with gray hair.

³⁰ Wounds and blows clean away what's evil; beatings clean what's deep down inside.

⁵ Those who plan ahead and work hard will have plenty, while those who act rashly end up poor.

⁶ Money made by lies is like smoke in the wind—a chase that ends in death.

⁸ Guilty people live crooked lives, but the innocent follow straight paths.

¹⁰ Evil people love to do wrong, they don't care what pain they cause anyone.

¹¹ When a mocker is punished, an immature person can learn wisdom. When the wise are educated, they gain knowledge.

¹³ If you refuse to hear the cries of the poor, your cries won't be heard either.

¹⁵ When justice is done, the good are happy, but it brings terror to those who do evil.

¹⁶ Anyone who wanders away from the path of understanding ends up with the dead.

¹⁷ If you love pleasure you'll become poor; if you love wine and olive oil[§] you won't ever be rich.

[‡] 20:26 This verse refers to activities associated with processing grain after harvest: winnowing and threshing, little known in the modern world. * 21:4 Literally, "Proud eyes and arrogant heart the lamp of the wicked sin." † 21:7 Or "violence." ‡ 21:12 Literally, "the righteous one."

This is taken to refer to God particularly because of the second line. § 21:17 The extensive use of wine and olive oil was associated with luxury.

18 The wicked pay the price and not the good; those who are deceitful and not those who live right.*

19 It's better to live in a desert than with an argumentative and bad-tempered wife.

20 The wise hold on to their wealth and olive oil, but stupid people use up everything they have.

22 The wise can overcome a city belonging to strong warriors, and tear down the fortress they trusted to protect them.

26 Some people only want more and more all the time, but the good give generously.

27 The sacrifices given by the wicked are obnoxious, worse still when they're offered with evil motives.

28 The lies of a false witness vanish away, but the words of a reliable witness will stand.

29 The wicked act as bold as brass, but those who live right consider carefully what they're doing.

30 Whatever wisdom, understanding, or guidance you may have is nothing before the Lord.

31 You can get your horse ready for battle, but the victory is the Lord's.

1 A good reputation is a much better choice than plenty of money; respect is better than silver and gold.

2 The rich and the poor have this in common: the Lord created them all.

3 If you're sensible you see danger coming and get out of the way; but stupid people just keep going and pay for it.

4 The reward you receive for being humble and respecting the Lord is wealth, honor, and life.

5 Thorns and traps lie in the path of crooked people; those who value their lives will stay away from them.

6 Teach children the right way to live, and when they grow up they'll go on doing so.

8 Those who sow injustice will reap disaster, and the angry beatings they inflict on others will be stopped.

9 If you're generous, you'll be blessed, for you share your food with those in need.

10 Get rid of the scornful, and you'll get rid of conflict too—no more arguments or insults!

11 Anyone who loves sincerity* and a gracious way of speaking will have the king as their friend.

* 21:18 The exact intention of this verse is unclear, but seems to be similar to the thought in 11:8.

* 22:11 Literally, "purity of heart."

¹² The Lord watches over true knowledge, but counteracts the words of liars.

¹³ Lazy people make claims like, “There’s a lion outside! I might be killed if I go out there!”

¹⁶ If you oppress the poor to make yourself rich, or if you’re generous to the rich, you’ll end up poor yourself.[‡]

¹⁷ Pay attention and listen to the words of the wise, and think carefully about my teachings—

¹⁸ for it’s good to keep them in mind so you can be ready to share them.

²⁰ Haven’t I written down for you thirty sayings of advice and wisdom?

²² For you shouldn’t steal from the poor just because they’re poor; and you shouldn’t crush those with limited means in court,

²³ for the Lord will plead their case, and he will take back whatever was stolen from them.

²⁴ Don’t make friends with someone who gets upset easily; don’t associate with angry people,

²⁵ in case you learn to be like them and make a mess of your life.[§]

²⁶ Don’t shake hands and guarantee someone’s debt,

²⁷ for if you can’t pay, why should your bed be taken away from beneath you?

²⁸ Don’t move ancient boundary markers that your forefathers put in place.

²⁹ If you see someone skilled in what they do, they’ll work for kings and not for ordinary people.

23

² and cut down* if you have a big appetite.

³ Don’t be greedy for his fancy food, for it’s offered with deceptive motives.[†]

⁵ It disappears in the blink of an eye, suddenly growing wings and flying off into the sky like an eagle.

⁶ Don’t accept meal invitations from miserly people; don’t be greedy for their fancy food,

[†] 22:14 In other words, if you have a bad relationship with the Lord, you are prone to such sinful actions. [‡] 22:16 The translation and meaning of this verse is uncertain. [§] 22:25 Literally, “get yourself caught in a trap.” * 23:2 Literally, “put a knife to your throat.” [†] 23:3 Literally, “for it is the bread of lies.”

⁷ for what they're thinking inside is what they really are. They say, "Come on, eat and drink!"—but in their minds they don't really care about you.[‡]

⁸ You'll vomit up the little pieces you've eaten, and your kind words of appreciation will be wasted.

⁹ Don't talk to stupid people because they'll ridicule your wise words.

¹⁰ Don't move ancient boundary markers, and don't encroach on fields belonging to orphans,

¹¹ for their Protector[§] is powerful and he will plead their case against you.

¹² Focus your mind on instruction; listen intently to words of knowledge.

¹⁵ My son, if you think wisely then I'll be happy;

¹⁷ Don't think enviously of sinners, but always remember to honor the Lord,

¹⁹ Pay attention, my son, and be wise; make sure your mind concentrates on following the right way.

²⁰ Don't join in with people who drink too much wine or who stuff themselves with meat.

²¹ For people who get drunk and overeat lose all they've got, and they spend so much time dozing that all they have left to wear is rags.

²² Pay attention to your father, and don't disregard your mother when she's old.

²³ Invest in truth—and don't sell it! Invest in wisdom, instruction, and understanding.

²⁵ Make your father and mother happy; bring joy to her who gave birth to you.

²⁶ My son, give me your undivided attention, and cheerfully follow my example.

²⁷ A prostitute is like being trapped in a pit; an immoral woman is like getting stuck a narrow well,

²⁸ Like a robber, she lies in wait ready to ambush men and make more of them unfaithful to their wives.

³⁰ —those who spend a long time drinking wine, those who are always trying some new cocktail.[†]

³¹ Don't let the look of wine tempt you—how red it is, how it sparkles in the cup, how smooth it feels as it goes down.

[‡] 23:7 Literally, "his heart is not with you." [§] 23:11 The word used here is the kinsman-redeemer who had the responsibility to marry a widowed relative and protect the family. See Leviticus 25 and Numbers 35. In this case it is applied to God. * 23:14 "Death" literally, "Sheol," the place of the dead, the grave. [†] 23:30 "Cocktail": literally "mixed drink."

³³ You'll hallucinate, seeing strange things, and your confused mind will make you say all kinds of craziness.

³⁴ You'll stumble around like you're on the rolling ocean, you'll be tossed about like someone lying down at the top of a ship's mast, saying,

³⁵ "People punched me, but it didn't hurt me; they beat me, but I didn't feel a thing. I've got to get up because I need another drink."

¹ Don't be jealous of evil people; don't long to spend time with them,

³ A house is built by wisdom; its foundation is made secure through understanding.

⁵ If you have wisdom, you are strong; if you have knowledge, your power increases,

⁶ for with wise guidance you can go to war; you will be victorious by having many good advisors.

⁸ Anyone who plans to do evil will be seen as a troublemaker.

⁹ Plans thought up by stupid people are sinful. Everyone hates those who are scornful of others.

¹⁰ If you give up in times of trouble, it shows how weak you are.

¹² If you say, "Look, we didn't know anything about this," don't you think the God who judges your motives will see what's happening? He who watches over you knows, and he will pay people back for what they've done.

¹³ My son, eating honey is good for you; the honeycomb tastes sweet.

¹⁴ In the same way, you should know that wisdom is good for you; if you find it, there will be a future for you, and your hope will not be crushed.

¹⁵ Don't be like a criminal waiting to ambush the home of good people; don't attack the place where they live.

¹⁶ Those who do right may fall down seven times, and still get up again; but the wicked are brought down by disaster.

¹⁷ Don't celebrate when your enemies fall; don't be glad when they trip up,

¹⁸ otherwise when the Lord sees it, he'll be unhappy with you and won't punish your enemies as he planned.

¹⁹ Don't get all upset over the wicked, or be jealous of those who do wrong,

²⁰ for evil people have no future—the lamp of the wicked will be snuffed out.

²¹ My son, honor the Lord and the king, and don't join those who are rebellious,

* 24:7 Literally, "he does not open his mouth in the gate."

²² for disaster will suddenly fall on them. Who knows how the Lord and king[†] will punish them?

²⁴ Those who tell the guilty, “You’re innocent,” will be cursed by the people and hated by the nation,

²⁵ while those who convict the guilty will be appreciated, and will receive a rich blessing.

²⁸ Don’t testify against your neighbors without having a good reason, and don’t tell lies.

²⁹ Don’t say to yourself, “I’m going to do to him what he did to me! I’ll pay him back for what he’s done!”

³¹ It was all overgrown with thorns, the ground was covered with weeds, and the stone wall had fallen down.

³² As I looked I thought about it, and what I saw taught me a lesson:

³³ You may say,[‡] “Please, just a little more sleep, a little longer snooze, a little more folding of the arms to rest”—

³⁴ and poverty will attack you like a robber, destitution like an armed warrior.[§]

³ Just as the height of the heavens or the depth of the earth can’t be known, the king’s thinking can’t be known.

⁴ Remove the waste from the silver, and the silversmith has pure silver to work with.

⁵ Remove the wicked from the king’s presence and the king will rule securely and justly.

⁶ Don’t try to make yourself look great before the king, and don’t pretend to be among the important people,

⁷ for it’s better to be told, “Come up here,” than to be humiliated before a nobleman. Even though you’ve seen something with your own eyes,

⁸ don’t rush to take legal action, for what are you going to do in the end when your neighbor shows you’re wrong and humiliates you?

⁹ Discuss the case with your neighbor himself, and don’t betray someone else’s secret,

¹⁰ otherwise whoever hears it will make you ashamed and you’ll never lose your bad reputation.

[†] 24:22 “The Lord and king”: literally “they both,” referring back to the previous verse. [‡] 24:33 “You may say”: implied. [§] 24:34 Verses 33 and 34 are the same as 6:10-11.

¹² Constructive criticism from the wise to someone who listens is like a gold ring and a necklace of fine gold.

¹⁴ Someone who boasts about a gift they never give is like cloud and wind without rain.

¹⁷ Don't set foot in your neighbors' homes too often, otherwise they'll get fed up with you and hate you.

¹⁸ Telling lies in court against a friend is like attacking them with a mace, or a sword, or an arrow.

¹⁹ Trusting in unreliable people in times of trouble is like eating with a broken tooth or walking on a bad foot.

²⁰ Singing happy songs to someone who's broken-hearted is like taking off your coat on a cold day, or pouring vinegar onto an open wound.†

²¹ If your enemy is hungry, give him something to eat; if he's thirsty, give him a drink of water.

²² This will make him ashamed as if he had burning coals piled on his head, and the Lord will reward you.

²³ In the same way that the north wind brings rain, slandering people makes them angry.

²⁶ Good people who give in to the wicked are like a muddied spring or a polluted well.

²⁸ Someone without control is as exposed as a town whose walls have been breached.

¹ Honoring someone stupid is as inappropriate as snow in the summer or rain during harvest.

² A curse that isn't deserved won't land on the person, like a fluttering sparrow or a flitting swallow.

⁴ Don't answer stupid people following their stupidity, or you'll become as bad as them.

* 25:15 "Break down opposition": literally "break bones," in other words, have a powerful effect.

† 25:20 "An open wound": Septuagint reading. Hebrew has "soda." Vinegar on soda would cause an effervescent reaction. ‡ 25:27 The second part of this verse is uncertain. * 26:5 While this verse appears to contradict the previous one, there is a play on words here. In the first, "following their stupidity" means "agreeing with it." In the second, the phrase means "as it deserves."

⁶ Trusting someone stupid to deliver a message is like cutting of your feet or drinking poison.

⁸ Honoring someone stupid is as pointless as tying a stone into a sling.[†]

⁹ A proverb spoken by someone stupid is as ridiculous as a thorn bush waved around by a drunk.

¹⁰ Anyone who hires someone stupid or just a passer-by is like an archer wounding people by shooting arrows at random.[‡]

¹² Have you seen a man who is wise in his own eyes? There's more hope for stupid people than for him!

¹³ Lazy people are the ones who say, "There's a lion on the road—a lion running around the streets!"[§]

¹⁵ Lazy people put their hands in a dish, but are too tired to lift the food to their mouths.

¹⁹ if you lie to your friend and then say, "I was only joking!"

²⁰ Without wood, the fire goes out; and without gossips, arguments stop.

²¹ An argumentative person fires up quarrels like putting charcoal on hot embers or wood on a fire.

²² Listening to gossip is like gulping down bites of your favorite food—they go deep down inside you.

²³ Smooth[†] talking with evil intent is like a shiny lead glaze on an earthenware pot.[‡]

²⁴ People say nice things to you even though they hate you; deep down they're just lying to you.

²⁵ When people talk nicely to you, don't believe them—their minds are full of hate for you.

²⁶ Even though their hatred may be hidden by cunning tricks, their evil will be revealed to everyone.

²⁸ If you tell lies, you show you hate your victims; if you flatter people, you cause disaster.

² Let others praise you, not you yourself; someone else, not you personally.

[†] 26:8 For if the stone is tied in, the slingshot cannot function. [‡] 26:10 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear. [§] 26:13 In other words, they make excuses for not going out to work. * 26:16 In the text the number seven is given, symbolic of a large number, completion. This is used in a similar way in verse 25. [†] 26:23 Septuagint reading. [‡] 26:23 The implication here is that like a fine finish given to a cheap pot, pleasant words can mask bad motives.

³ Stone may be heavy, and sand may weigh a lot, but the annoyance caused by stupid people is the biggest burden of all.

⁴ Fury may be fierce and cruel, anger may be a destructive flood, but who can withstand jealousy?

⁶ A friend's honest comments may hurt you, but an enemy's kisses are over the top.

⁸ Having to leave home is like a bird having to leave its nest.

¹⁰ Don't give up on your friends or your family's friends. Don't go to a relative's house when you've got trouble. A friend nearby is more useful than a relative far away.

¹¹ My son, make me happy by being wise, so I can respond to anyone who criticizes me.

¹² If you're sensible you see danger coming and get out of the way; but stupid people just keep going and suffer the consequences.

¹³ If someone guarantees a stranger's debt with their cloak, be sure to take it! Make sure you have whatever is pledged to an immoral woman!

¹⁴ If when you get up every morning you shout a loud hello to your neighbors, they will see that as a curse!

¹⁶ Trying to stop her is like trying to make the wind stop or trying to hold olive oil in your hand.

¹⁷ An iron blade is sharpened with an iron tool, and one person's mind is sharpened by another's.

¹⁸ Those who care for a fig tree eat its fruit, and those who care for their master are rewarded.

¹⁹ Just as water reflects your face, your mind reflects who you really are.†

²⁰ In the same way that the grave and destruction‡ are never satisfied, human desire is never satisfied.

²¹ Just as a crucible tests silver, and a furnace tests gold, people are tested by the praise they receive.

²² Even if you ground stupid people in a mortar, crushing them like grain with the pestle, you can't get rid of stupidity from them.

²³ You should know the condition of your flocks really well and take good care of your herds,

²⁴ for wealth doesn't last forever—is a crown passed down through all generations?

²⁵ Once the hay is cut, and the new growth begins, and fodder from the mountains is gathered,

²⁶ and the lambs have provided you wool to make clothing, and the sale of goats have paid for a field,

* 27:9 The Hebrew of the second phrase is unclear. † 27:19 The meaning of the second phrase is unclear. ‡ 27:20 "The grave and destruction": literally, "Sheol and Abaddon."

²⁷ there'll be enough milk from your goats to feed you, your family, and your servant girls.

² When a country is in rebellion, it has many rulers, but a ruler who is wise and knowledgeable provides strength and continuity.

³ When someone poor oppresses the poor, it's like heavy rain that beats down the crops.

⁴ People who reject the law praise the wicked, but those who keep the law fight against them.

⁵ Evil people understand nothing about justice, but those who follow the Lord understand it completely.

⁶ Better to be poor and have integrity than to be devious and rich.

⁷ If you keep the law, you're a wise son, but if you keep bad company* you shame your father.

⁸ Anyone who gets rich through charging interest and profiteering is only storing it up for someone who is kind to the poor.

⁹ God hates the prayers of people who disregard the law.

¹⁰ Those who lead good people astray into evil ways will fall into their own traps, but the innocent will receive a good reward.

¹² When good people win, everyone celebrates, but when the wicked come to power, people hide.

¹³ People who hide their sins won't succeed, but those who confess and renounce their sins will be shown kindness.

¹⁴ Blessed are those who always respect the Lord, but those who are stubborn end up in a lot of trouble.

¹⁵ A wicked ruler lording it over poor people is like a roaring lion or a charging bear.

¹⁶ An unwise ruler thoroughly extorts his people, but one who refuses to profit illegally will live long.

¹⁷ Someone guilty of murder will go on running away from it until they die. Don't try and stop them.†

¹⁸ If you have integrity, you'll be kept safe, but if you live deviously, you'll fall.

²⁰ If you're trustworthy, you'll be richly rewarded; but if you try to get rich quick, you won't go unpunished.

²¹ Showing favoritism isn't good, but some people will do wrong just for a piece of bread.

²³ Honest criticism is appreciated later far more than flattery.

* 28:7 "Bad company": literally, "a companion of gluttons." † 28:17 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear. ‡ 28:22 "Envious people": literally "a man with an evil eye."

²⁴ A man who robs his father and mother, and says, "It's not a crime," is one step away from becoming a murderer.[§]

²⁵ Greedy people stir up trouble, but those who trust in the Lord will be successful.

²⁶ People who trust their own minds are foolish, but those who follow wise ways will be kept safe.

²⁸ When the wicked come to power, people hide; but when they fall, the good do well.

² When good people are in charge, everybody celebrates; but when the wicked rule, everybody groans.

⁴ A king who rules justly makes the country secure, but one who asks for bribes will destroy it.

⁷ Good people care about treating the poor fairly, but the wicked don't think about it at all.

⁸ Cynical people can inflame a whole city, but the wise calm angry people down.

¹² A ruler who listens to lies will have nothing but wicked officials.

¹³ Poor people and their oppressors have this in common: the Lord gives life to all of them.

¹⁴ If a king judges the poor fairly, he will have a long rule.

¹⁶ When the wicked are in power, sin increases; but the good will see their downfall.

¹⁹ A servant can't be disciplined by words alone; though they understand, they don't follow what they're told.

§ 28:24 Literally, "is a partner to a man who destroys." * 29:5 "Trip them up": literally, "for their feet." † 29:10 The meaning of the second phrase is debatable.

²⁰ Have you seen a man who speaks without thinking? There's more hope for stupid people than for him!

²¹ A servant indulged from childhood will in the end become unmanageable.[‡]

²² Angry people stir up trouble, those with short tempers commit many sins.

²³ If you're proud, you'll be humiliated; but if you're humble, you'll be honored.

²⁴ A thief's partner hates his life; even under the threat of being cursed he can't tell the truth.[§]

²⁵ Being afraid of people traps you, but if you trust in the Lord you're safe.

² I'm so stupid I'm not really a man; I can't even think like a human being.

³ I have not learned wisdom; I have no knowledge of the Holy One.

⁴ Who has gone up to heaven, and come down? Who holds the winds in the palm of his hands? Who has wrapped up the waters in his cloak? Who has set the earth's boundaries? What is his name, and what is his son's name? Are you sure you don't know?[†]

⁵ Every word God says has been proved true. He defends everyone who comes to him for protection.

⁶ Don't add anything to his words, or he will criticize you and you'll be shown to be a liar.

⁷ God, I want to request two things from you. Please don't refuse to let me have them before I come to die.

⁸ Keep me from being false, help me not to tell lies. Don't make me poor or rich; just provide me with the food I need.

⁹ Otherwise if I have plenty of money,[‡] I may give up on you, saying, "Who is the Lord?" while if I'm poor I may steal and bring the name of my God into disrepute.

¹⁰ Don't slander a servant to his master, or he will curse you and you'll suffer for it.

¹³ There are some who think themselves so high and mighty, and who look down on others.

* 30:1 This verse is variously translated, mainly depending on whether it refers to named people or what the words actually mean. Since both the Septuagint and the Vulgate do not assume the words to be names, this approach is followed here. † 30:4 The point of the questions is to show that no one but the Creator could do all these things. ‡ 30:9 "I have plenty of money": literally, "I'm full."

¹⁴ There are some who have teeth like swords, incisors like knives, ready to devour the poor from the earth, the needy from society.

¹⁵ The leech has two daughters who cry out, "Give me! Give me!"

There are three things that are never satisfied, four that never say, "Enough!":

¹⁶ The grave, the womb that doesn't become pregnant, the earth thirsty for water, and the fire that never says, "Enough!"

¹⁷ People who ridicule their fathers and despise obedience to the mother will have their eyes pecked out by wild ravens and eaten by young vultures.

¹⁸ These three things are amazingly hard for me, four things I just can't understand:

¹⁹ The way an eagle soars in the sky, the way a snake slides over a rock, the way a ship sails across the sea, the way a man and a woman fall in love.

²¹ Three things make the earth tremble, there are four things it can't support:

²⁴ There are four things on earth that are small, but very wise:

²⁵ Ants—they're not strong, but they work hard all summer storing up food.

²⁶ Hyraxes*—they don't have much power, but they make their homes in the rock.

²⁷ Locusts—they don't have a king, but they all march in line abreast.

²⁸ Lizards—you can catch them in your hands, but they live in the king's palace.

²⁹ There are three things that are glorious to watch as they walk, four that look dignified as they move:

³² If you have been foolishly boasting about yourself, or if you've been planning to do something wrong, stop and put your hand over your mouth.

³³ Just as churning milk produces butter, and twisting someone's nose makes it bleed, so stirring up anger causes arguments.

¹ These are the words of King Lemuel, an oracle, taught to him by his mother.

² What shall I tell you, my son?—the son I gave birth to, the son given in response to my vows.

³ Don't waste your strength sleeping* with women, those that bring down kings.

§ 30:20 This is often assumed to refer to the act of adultery. * 30:26 Also known as rock badgers or coney. † 30:31 "Starling": as per modern Hebrew and Aramaic, some ancient versions have "rooster." * 31:3 "Sleeping" implied.

⁵ For if they drink, they'll forget what the law says, and pervert the rights of those who are suffering.

⁶ Give alcohol to those who are dying, and wine to those who are in terrible distress.

⁷ Let them drink so they can forget their poverty, and not remember their troubles any longer.

⁸ Speak up for those who have no voice, for the rights of those marginalized by society.

⁹ Speak up and judge fairly; defend the poor and destitute.

¹² She brings him good, not evil, all her life.

¹⁴ Like a merchant's ship, she brings food from far away.

¹⁵ She gets up while it's still dark to make breakfast for her family, and to plan what her servant girls need to do.

¹⁶ She looks at a field, and decides to buy it; from the money she's earned she buys a vineyard.

¹⁸ She knows that the things she makes are valuable. She keeps busy—her lamp burns late into the night.

¹⁹ She spins the thread and weaves the cloth.[§]

²¹ She doesn't worry if it snows, because her whole family has warm* clothing.

²² She makes herself bedspreads; she dresses in fine linen and purple clothes.

²³ Her husband is well-respected in the council at the town gates, where he sits with the town elders.

²⁵ She's clothed with strength and dignity, and she is happy about the future.

²⁶ She speaks wise words, and she's kind when she gives instructions.

²⁷ She looks after the needs of her whole household, and she's never idle.

²⁹ "Many women do great things, but you are better than all of them!"

[†] 31:4 "Alcohol": literally, "strong drink." [‡] 31:10 "Jewels": though often translated as "rubies," it seems that they were not known at this time. The red jewels were likely to be carnelian or red coral. [§] 31:19 The Hebrew refers to the distaff and spindle used in spinning and weaving, but not much known in modern life. * 31:21 "Warm" following the implications of the Septuagint reading. Hebrew has "scarlet," simply meaning expensive clothing.

Ecclesiastes

⁴ People come, and people go, but the earth lasts forever!

⁵ The sun comes up, and the sun goes down, and then rushes to its place to rise again.

⁶ The wind blows south, and then turns to the north. Round and round it spins, finally coming full circle.

⁷ Streams all flow into the sea, but the sea never becomes full. The streams return to the place from where they came.

⁸ Everything just keeps on going. You can't say all there is to say. You can't see all there is to see. You can't hear all there is to hear.§

⁹ Everything that was will continue to be; everything that has been done will be done again. Nothing new ever happens here.*

¹² I am the Teacher, and I was king over Israel, reigning from Jerusalem.

¹³ I decided to focus my mind to explore, using wisdom, everything that happens here on earth. This is a tough assignment that God has given people to keep them busy!

* 1:2 The word used here five times! (and frequently repeated in the book) does not really mean "meaningless" as is so often translated. Its basic meaning is "vapor" or "breath," and is associated with all that is transitory and fleeting. "Transient" or "ephemeral" would also reflect the meaning—it's not that there is no value, but that everything passes so quickly. Nothing lasts! It is the brevity of life that "makes no sense" and causes frustrating uncertainty. The shortness and unsubstantial nature of existence is what the Teacher finds hard to understand. It's "elusive."

† 1:3 Here is another word that is used in a special sense in Ecclesiastes. Its primary meaning is "gain" or "profit" in a business sense, but here it is being used more in the sense of "life benefit"—in other words, what advantage is gained in the sense of "the meaning of life" and any future reward?

‡ 1:3 Literally, "under the sun." § 1:8 Literally, "man is not able to utter, the eye is not satisfied to see, the ear is not filled with hearing." * 1:9 "Here": literally, "under the sun." † 1:11 "The problem is": implied. ‡ 1:14 "Wind." There is a problem in translation since the same word is used in this book for "wind," "breath," or "spirit."

So the proverbial "chasing after the wind" could indeed mean "chasing after breath/spirit," which could be interpreted as seeking the meaning of life (breath/spirit). This is why the KJV translates the phrase as "vexation of spirit."

§ 1:15 These were probably everyday proverbs of the time. They really are saying that things have to be accepted as they are.

¹⁶ I thought to myself, “I’ve become very wise, wiser than all the kings of Jerusalem before me. My mind has gained a great deal of wisdom and knowledge.”

¹⁷ So I decided to use my mind to learn everything about wisdom, and madness and foolishness as well. But I found out that this is as hard as trying to catch hold of the wind.

¹⁸ For with great wisdom comes great frustration. The greater the knowledge, the greater the pain.

¹ So then I thought to myself, “Alright, let me examine pleasure and see how good that is.” But this too turned out to be something temporary that passes.

² I conclude that laughing your way through life is stupid, and pleasure—what use is that?*

³ Then I used my mind to examine the attraction[†] of wine to my body. My mind still guiding me with wisdom, I took it until I acted like a fool,[‡] so that I might see whether this was good for people to do during their time here.

⁴ Then I tried great construction projects. I built houses for myself; I planted vineyards for myself.

⁵ I made for myself§ gardens and parks, planting them with all kinds of fruit trees.

⁶ I constructed for myself reservoirs to water all these growing trees.

⁷ I bought male and female slaves, and their children also belonged to me. I also owned many herds and flocks, more than anyone in Jerusalem before me.

⁸ I collected for myself great quantities of silver and gold, paid to me as tribute by kings and provinces. I brought in for myself male and female singers, and enjoyed many concubines*—all a man could want!

⁹ I became great—greater than anyone in Jerusalem before me. All the while my wisdom stayed with me.

¹⁰ I didn’t stop myself trying anything I wanted. Whatever I felt like enjoying, I did. I even enjoyed everything I had accomplished, a reward for all my work.

¹¹ But when I thought about what I had worked so hard to achieve, everything I’d done, it was so short-lived—as significant as someone trying to catch the wind. There really is no enduring benefit here on earth.

¹² So I started to think about wisdom—and madness and foolishness. For what can anyone who comes after the king do that hasn’t already been done?

¹³ I recognized that wisdom is better than foolishness just as light is better than darkness.

* 2:2 The Teacher is not saying you should not laugh. He is referring to those people who make a joke of everything, not taking life seriously. † 2:3 The word used means to “draw” or “attract.”

‡ 2:3 Some believe that this means the Teacher became drunk in this “experiment.” The phrase is literally, “I grasped (it) until folly.” § 2:5 The repetition of the word “myself” may seem redundant, but that the Teacher was primarily thinking of himself is surely significant. * 2:8 This word does not occur anywhere else in the Bible, so the meaning is assumed from the context.

¹⁴ The wise see where they're going,[†] but fools walk in darkness. But I also realized that they all come to the same end.

¹⁵ Then I thought to myself, "If I'm going to end up the same as a fool, what's the point of being so wise?" So I thought to myself, "This is also hard to understand!"

¹⁶ Nobody remembers the wise or the fool for very long—in the future everything will be forgotten. Whether wise or foolish, they both die.

¹⁹ And who knows whether he will be wise or foolish? Yet he will rule over everything I accomplished through my wisdom here on earth. This is just so frustrating, so hard to understand![†]

²⁰ I decided to give up, my mind in despair over the significance of all my life's achievements.

²¹ For you can work wisely, knowledgably, and with skill—and who benefits? Someone who hasn't worked for it! This is both frustrating and totally unjust!

²³ Your working life is full of trouble and strife—even at night your thoughts keep you awake. This is tough to comprehend!

²⁴ So what's the best thing to do? Eat, drink, and enjoy your work, recognizing as I did that these things are given to us by God, ²⁵ for who can eat or enjoy life apart from him?

²⁶ To those who are good, God gives wisdom, knowledge, and joy. But to the sinner God gives the task of gathering and collecting wealth, only to hand it over to someone who pleases God. This also shows how fleeting life is, and hard to understand—like trying to understand how the wind blows.

3

² A time of birth, and a time of death. A time of planting, and a time of harvest.

³ A time of killing, and a time of healing. A time of tearing down, and a time of building up.

⁴ A time of crying, and a time of laughing. A time of mourning, and a time of dancing.

[†] 2:14 Literally, "The wise has his eyes in his head." [‡] 2:17 "Feeling disgusted": literally "hated."

[§] 2:17 "Distressing": the word used here also means evil, trouble, injury, misery etc. ^{} 2:17 "Incomprehensible": again the Teacher is not saying life is without meaning, but that it is hard to discover the meaning. [†] 2:19 This is a good example of what the Teacher is trying to say. He is not saying it is "meaningless" to leave a legacy, the problem is that you cannot know how it will be used, and that this hard to take! ^{} 3:1 This is the Teachers observation, not his instruction. For this reason the verb participle is used, rather than the infinitive, since the infinitive might suggest that this is what should happen, e.g. "a time of killing" (i.e. when it happens) rather than "a time to kill" (when it ought to happen).

⁵ A time of throwing away stones, and a time of gathering up stones.[†] A time of embracing, and a time of avoiding embracing.

⁶ A time of searching, and a time of giving up searching. A time of keeping, and a time of throwing away.

⁷ A time of tearing, and a time of mending. A time of keeping quiet, a time of speaking up.

⁸ A time of loving, and a time of hating. A time of warfare, and a time of peace.

⁹ So what do you get for all your hard work?

¹⁰ I have examined what God gives us to do.

¹¹ Everything God does is beautifully timed, and even though he has also placed the idea of eternity[‡] in our minds, we can't fully understand what God does from beginning to end.

¹² I concluded that there's nothing better than being happy and looking for the good in life.

¹⁴ I also concluded that everything God does lasts forever: nothing can be added to it or taken away from it. God acts in this way so that people may stand in awe of him.

¹⁵ Whatever was, is; and whatever will be, has been, and God examines the whole of time.[§]

¹⁶ I also observed that here on earth there was evil even in the place where there was supposed to be justice; even where things were meant to be right, there was evil.

¹⁷ But then I thought to myself, "Ultimately God will judge both those who do right and those who do wrong, and every deed and action, at the appointed time."

¹⁸ I also thought to myself, "Regarding what happens to human beings—God proves to us that we're no better than animals."^{*}

¹⁹ For what happens to human beings is the same as what happens to animals—in the same way one dies, the other dies too. They all have the breath of life—so regarding any advantage human beings have over animals, there is none. Definitely this is very hard to understand![†]

²¹ Who really knows whether the breath of life[‡] of human beings goes up above, and the breath of life of animals goes down below to the earth?

[†] 3:5 This mention of stones and its meaning is debated. Jewish tradition indicates it is a euphemism for making love. [‡] 3:11 "Eternity": the word used here has the meaning of ages past and ages future, "continuation to the most distant time." [§] 3:15 Literally, "God seeks what has been chased away." This phrase has been variously interpreted, but perhaps the best in the context is that time is open to God—things forgotten by human beings ("chased away") are still accessible to him and are what he examines ("seeks").

^{*} 3:18 This thought is in reaction to the realization that wickedness takes the place of justice, mentioned in 3:16. [†] 3:19 In addition, since this follows a discussion of "breath" (that can also be translated "spirit"), this can be linked to the continued theme of "transience" and "difficult to understand" which as mentioned before comes from the word for vapor or breath. [‡] 3:21 "Breath of life": or "spirit."

²² So I concluded that there's nothing better than for people to enjoy their work. This is what we are meant to do. For who can bring anyone back from the dead to show them what will happen after they die?

¹ Then I turned to consider all the ways people oppress others here on earth. Look at the tears of the oppressed—there's no one to comfort them! Powerful people oppress them, and there's no one to comfort them!

² I congratulated those who were already dead, for the dead are better off than those who are still alive and being oppressed.*

³ But best of all are those who have never existed—they haven't seen the evil things people do to each other here on earth.

⁴ I observed that every skill in work comes from competition with others. Once again this is hard to understand, like trying to hold on to the elusive wind.

⁶ It's better to earn a little[†] without stress than a lot with too much stress and chasing after the wind.

⁸ What about someone who has no family to help him, no brother or son, who works all the time, but isn't satisfied with the money he makes. "Who am I working for?" he asks himself. "Why am I preventing myself from enjoying life?" Such a situation is hard to explain—it's an evil business!

¹⁰ If one of them falls down, the other can help them up, but how sad it is for someone who falls down and doesn't have anyone to help them up.

¹² Someone fighting against one other person may win, but not if they are fighting against two. A cord made of three strands can't be torn apart quickly.

¹⁵ I observed everyone here on earth following the youth who takes his place.[§]

¹⁶ He is surrounded by crowds of supporters, but the next generation isn't happy with him. This also illustrates the passing nature of life whose meaning is elusive, like pursuing the wind for understanding.

* 4:2 "And being oppressed": supplied, but this is the context for the Teacher's statement. [†] 4:6 Literally, "one handful." [‡] 4:14 Perhaps to be understood as "the prison of bad circumstances."

§ 4:15 Presumably the young man mentioned in 4:13 who replaces the old king.

5

¹ Be careful* when you go into God's house. It's better to listen and respond rather than offer meaningless sacrifices.† People who do that don't even know they are doing wrong.

² Don't say rash things, and think before you speak to God. For God is in heaven, and you are on earth, so keep it short.

⁴ When you make a vow to God, with a curse on you if you don't keep it,‡ don't be slow in keeping it, for he is not happy with foolish behavior. So do what you promised!

⁵ Better not to make any vows at all than to make vow you don't keep.

⁶ Don't let your mouth cause you to sin. And don't tell the priest§ that your vow was a mistake, for why would you antagonize God by breaking your promise?¶ He could bring your own curse down on you.

⁸ If you see poor people somewhere† being oppressed, or truth and justice violated, don't be shocked at it, for every official is responsible to others higher up, and there are officials over them as well.‡

⁹ However, what the land produces is for everyone—even the king benefits from what is grown.§

¹⁰ People who love money never have enough money; those who love wealth never have enough income. This too is so temporary and makes little sense.

¹¹ The more you earn, the more you have eating into your income. It only looks like you have more!

¹² Those who work hard sleep well, whether they have a little to eat or plenty, but the rich own so much they don't get any rest.

¹⁴ They put their money into bad investments and lose everything. Now when we're born, we don't bring anything into the world.

¹⁶ This also makes me sick! What do people gain, working for the wind?†

* 5:1 Literally, "guard your footsteps." † 5:1 "Meaningless sacrifices": literally, "the sacrifices of fools." ‡ 5:4 "With a curse on you if you don't keep it," implied. Frequently vows to God included a curse for failing to keep the vow. § 5:6 Literally, "messenger." In Malachi 2:7 priests are identified as messengers. In any case, the situation is one of informing someone at the Temple that the promise (vow) you made was a mistake. *

5:6 Many such promises (vows) included a self-pronounced curse if it was not kept—so by failing to keep the promise, the individual would be subject to the curse they had pronounced on themselves. † 5:8 "Somewhere": literally, "in the province"—a general term. ‡ 5:8 The Hebrew meaning is unclear. It probably is saying that corruption and injustice are endemic. § 5:9 Again the meaning is unclear in this verse. *

5:13 The two words often translated as "grievous evil" really refer to "miserable illness," or something that makes you "really sick." Also in verse 16. † 5:16 As noted in footnote for 1:14, the word here can mean "wind," "breath," or "spirit." So it could just as easily be translated as "What do you gain, working for a breath of air?" etc.

¹⁷ They live their lives in darkness, very frustrated, sick, and resentful.

¹⁸ But I observed that what is good and right is to eat, drink, and to find enjoyment in the work God gives us here in this life. This is God's gift to us.

¹⁹ In addition, everyone to whom God gives wealth and possessions he also gives the ability to enjoy these gifts, to be grateful for what they are given, and to enjoy the work they do. This is also God's gift to us.

²⁰ In fact such people have little time to think about life because God keeps them busy with all that makes them happy.‡

¹ I have observed another evil here on earth, and it has a great impact on humanity.

² God gives wealth, possessions, and honor to someone. They have everything they want. But God doesn't let them enjoy what they have. Instead somebody else does! This is hard to fathom, and is truly evil.

³ A man could have one hundred children, and grow old, but it wouldn't matter how long his life was if he couldn't enjoy it and at the end receive a decent burial. I would say that a stillborn child would be better off than him.

⁴ The way a stillborn child comes into the world and then leaves is painfully hard to understand—arriving and departing in darkness—and who he would have been is never known.*

⁵ He never saw the light of day or knew what it was like to live. Yet the child finds rest, and not this man.

⁶ Even if this man were to live a thousand years twice over he still wouldn't be happy. Don't we all end up in the same place—the grave?†

⁷ Everyone works so they can live‡, but they're never satisfied.

⁸ So then, what real advantage do wise people have over those who are fools? And do poor people really gain anything in knowing how to behave in front of others?

⁹ Be happy with what you have instead of running after what you don't! But this is also hard to do, like running after the wind.

¹¹ For the more words you use, the harder it is to make sense. So what's the point?

‡ 5:20 Whether this is a good thing or not is not indicated. * 6:4 Literally, "In darkness his name will be covered." However, this is more than simply remaining nameless. Name in Hebrew thought is associated with character and personality, so what is being said here is that the stillborn child will never have the chance to become a person. † 6:6 "The grave": implied. ‡ 6:7 The word is literally "mouth," so generally "to eat" is understood. However, human work is to supply all kinds of needs, so it is suggested that the application is more general than simply eating. § 6:10 "Described": literally, "named." However, in Hebrew thought "name" is far more than a simple appellation, it is descriptive of the object or person. * 6:10 "A superior": literally, "stronger": this could refer to either physical or mental strength. However, some kind of argument is probably in view, but the point is that a superior does not have to "play by the rules" of argument. Some take the "stronger" one to mean God, in which case the gist of the phrase means "you can't argue with God." In addition, some have seen in this verse an argument for predestination, but the text does not necessarily support this.

¹² Who knows what's best for us and our lives? During our short lives that pass like shadows we have many unanswered questions. And who can tell us what will happen when we're gone?[†]

¹ A good reputation is better than expensive perfume, and the day you die is better than the day you were born.

² It's better to go to a funeral than to a party.* In the end, everyone dies, and those who are still alive should think about it.

³ Sorrow is better than laughter, for tragedy helps us by making us think.[†]

⁴ Wise people think about the impact of death, while those who are fools only think about having a good time.

⁵ It's better to listen to criticism from a wise person than to hear the song of fools.

⁶ The laughter of fools is like the crackling of thorn twigs burning under a pot—without sense and quickly over.[‡]

⁸ Completing something is better than starting it. Being patient is better than being proud.

¹⁰ Don't ask, "Why were the good old days better than now?" Asking such questions shows you are not wise.

¹² For wisdom provides security, as does money, but the advantage for those who have wisdom is that they are kept safe and sound!

¹³ Think about what God does. If he makes something bent, you can't straighten it!

¹⁴ On a good day, be happy. When a bad day comes, stop and think. God made each day, so you don't know what will happen to you next.

¹⁵ Throughout my life I've seen so much that is hard to understand. Good people who die young despite doing what is right,[†] and wicked people who live long evil lives.

¹⁶ Don't think you can make yourself right by a lot of religious observance, and don't pretend to be so wise.[‡] Do you want to destroy yourself?[§]

¹⁷ On the other hand,* don't decide to live an evil life—don't be a fool! Why die before your time?

[†] 6:12 This could mean what will happen on earth once people die, or what will happen to people after death. Both interpretations are possible from the text. * 7:2 Literally, "It is better to go to the house of mourning than the house of feasting." [†] 7:3 Literally, "by sadness of countenance the heart is good." In Hebrew thought, the heart was where thinking occurred. [‡] 7:6 Thorn twigs used for fuel are of limited value, for they while they burn hot, the flames die quickly. § 7:9 "Anger controls the minds of fools": literally, "anger lodges in the bosom of fools." * 7:11 "It benefits everyone in life": literally, "It is an advantage to those seeing the sun." [†] 7:15 Here the emphasis seems to be on doing right as defined by the Law. [‡] 7:16 Literally, "You must not be righteous excessively, and you must not act wisely excessively." The word "excessively" here refers to self-reliance rather than quantity. § 7:16 In the sense of trying to make yourself right, and wise, by your own efforts. * 7:17 Implied.

¹⁸ You ought to keep in mind these warnings. Those who follow God will be sure to avoid both.

²¹ Don't take to heart everything that people say, otherwise you may hear your servant talking badly[†] about you,

²² for you know how many times you yourself have talked badly about others!

²³ I have examined all this using the principles of wisdom. I told myself, "I will think wisely." But wisdom eluded me.

²⁵ I turned my thoughts to discover, investigate, and to find out more about wisdom and what makes sense. I wanted to know more about how stupid evil really is, and how ridiculous it is to be a fool.

²⁶ I discovered something more horrible[‡] than death: foolishness like a woman[§] who tries to entrap you, who wants to use her mind and hands to catch you and tie you up. Those who follow God will not be caught, but sinners will fall into her trap.

²⁷ This is what I discovered after putting two and two* together to try and find out what it all meant, says the Teacher.

²⁸ Although I really searched, I didn't find what I was looking for. People say, "I found one man among a thousand, but not one woman."[†]

²⁹ But I did find this one thing: God made people to do what's right, but they have followed their own ideas.[‡]

8

¹ Who can compare to the truly wise?* Who knows how to interpret things? If you have wisdom your face lights up, and your stern look is softened.

² My advice[†] is to do what the king says, since that's what you promised God.

³ Don't be quick to walk out on the king without thinking what you're doing, and don't get involved with those who plot against him,[‡] for the king can do what he pleases.

⁴ The king's orders have supreme authority—who is going to question him, saying, "What are you doing?"

[†] 7:21 "Talking badly"—this in the sense of speaking disparagingly rather than cursing, as some translations suggest. [‡] 7:26 Literally, "bitter." [§] 7:26 "Woman": symbolic of Folly, see Proverbs

5 and Proverbs 7. * 7:27 Hebrew: "one and one." [†] 7:28 This appears to have been some kind of proverb. It's exact meaning is uncertain. [‡] 7:29 Literally, "but they have sought out many devices." *

8:1 In the sense that to be wise is the highest ambition. Literally, "Who is like the wise?" [†] 8:2 Taking the initial "I" of the sentence to mean "I say." [‡] 8:3 Literally, "the matter is unpleasant." This term is believed to refer to a plot or a rebellion against a king. [§] 8:5 Alternatively, "Wise people know there's a time of judgment."

⁷ No one knows what's going to happen, so who can say what the future holds?

⁸ No one can hold onto the breath of life; no one can prevent the day when they die. There's no way of escaping that battle, and the wicked won't be saved by their wickedness!

¹⁰ Yes, I have seen wicked people buried with great honor.† They used to go to the holy place,‡ and were praised in the very city where they did their evil. This is hard to understand!

¹² Even though a sinner may do wrong a hundred times, and live a long life, I'm convinced that those who do what God says will be better off.

¹⁴ Another thing that is hard to understand is this: good people are treated as the wicked should be, and the wicked are treated as good people should be. As I say, this is difficult to comprehend!

¹⁵ So I recommend enjoying life. There's nothing better for us here on earth than to eat and drink and be happy. Such an attitude will go with us as we work, and as we live our lives that God gives us here on earth.

¹⁶ When I applied my mind to discovering wisdom and observing everything people do here on earth, I couldn't get any sleep, day or night.§

9

¹ I had my mind consider all this. Wise and good people and everything they do are in God's hands. Love or hate—who knows what will happen to them?*

² Yet we all share the same destiny—those who do right, those who do evil, the good, the religiously-observant and those that are not,† those who sacrifice and those who don't. Those who do good are as those who sin, those who make vows to God are as those who don't.

⁴ But the living still have hope—a live dog is better than a dead lion!

* 8:6 "Even when things are going badly for you": literally, "even though trouble is heavy on the mortal." † 8:10 The Hebrew simply says "the wicked were buried," but since this is unremarkable it is understood that they were buried with much show and ceremony. ‡ 8:10 The Hebrew text is unclear. "Holy place" would refer to the Temple or the synagogue.

§ 8:16 "I couldn't get any sleep, day or night": alternatively, "no one has any rest, day or night." *

† 9:1 The meaning of this last sentence is debated as evidenced by the variety of translations. It seems to be emphasizing the uncertainty of life in terms of what may be experienced. † 9:2 "The religiously-observant and those that are not:" literally, "the clean and the unclean."

⁵ The living are conscious of the fact that they're going to die, but the dead have no consciousness of anything. They don't receive any further benefit; they're forgotten.

⁶ Their love, hate, and envy—it's all gone. They have no further part in anything that happens here on earth.

⁷ So go ahead and eat your food, and enjoy it. Drink your wine with a happy heart. That's what God intends that you should do.

⁸ Always wear smart clothes and look good.[‡]

¹⁰ Whatever you do, do it with all your strength, for when you go to the grave there's no more working or thinking, no more knowing or being wise.

¹² You can't predict when your end[§] will come. Just like fish caught in a net, or birds caught in a trap, so people are suddenly caught by death when they least expect it.

¹³ Here's another aspect of wisdom that impressed me about what happens here on earth.

¹⁴ Once there was a small town with only a few inhabitants. A powerful king came and besieged the town, building great earth ramps against its walls.

¹⁵ In that town lived a man who was wise, but poor. He saved the town by his wisdom. But no one remembered to thank^{*} that poor man.

¹⁶ As I've always said, "Wisdom is better than strength." Yet the wisdom of that poor man was dismissed—people didn't pay attention to what he said.

¹⁷ It's better to listen to the calm words of a wise person than the shouts of a ruler of fools.

¹⁸ It's better to have wisdom than weapons of war; but a sinner can destroy a lot of good.

³ Just the way that fools walk down the road shows they have no sense, making clear to everyone their stupidity.

[‡] 9:8 Literally, "white clothes and be sure to put olive oil on your head." The sense here is to always be in a celebratory mood—white clothes were used for festivals, along with the practice of anointing the head with olive oil. [§] 9:12 Literally, "time." ^{*} 9:15 "To thank": implied.

⁵ I also realized there's another evil here on earth: rulers make a big mistake

⁶ when they put fools in high positions, while those who are richly qualified* are put in low positions.

⁸ If you dig a pit, you could fall in. If you knock down a wall, you could be bitten by a snake.

⁹ If you quarry stone, you could be injured. If you split logs,‡ you could be hurt.

¹¹ If the snake bites the snake charmer before it's charmed, there's no benefit to the snake charmer!

¹⁴ Fools talk on and on, however no one knows what's going to happen, so who can say what the future holds?*

¹⁵ Work makes fools so worn out they can't achieve anything.†

¹⁶ You're in trouble if the king of your country is young, and if your leaders are busy feasting from early morning.

¹⁷ You're fortunate if your king comes from a noble family, and your leaders feast at the proper time to give themselves energy, and not to get drunk.

¹⁹ A good meal brings pleasure; wine makes life pleasant; money provides for all needs.

²⁰ Don't talk badly about the king, not even in your thoughts. Don't talk badly about leaders,‡ even in the privacy of your bedroom. A bird may hear what you say and fly away to tell them.

² Share what you own with seven or eight people, for you never know what disaster could happen.†

* 10:6 "Richly qualified": literally simply "the rich," but surely more is in view here than simply accumulated wealth. † 10:7 In that society, it would have been very unlikely that slaves, often captured enemies, would have ever ridden on horseback. In contrast the image of princes being forced to walk is to show a loss of their dignity. ‡ 10:9 Or "cut down trees." § 10:10 Implied.

* 10:14 See 8:7. † 10:15 "They can't achieve anything": literally, "can't find their way to town," a colloquial expression meaning that people become confused so they are not successful. ‡ 10:20 "Leaders": literally, "the rich." * 11:1 This proverbial statement is a call to generosity, with the implication that it will be rewarded. † 11:2 This is also a proverb that encourages sharing.

⁴ The farmer who pays attention to the direction of the wind knows when not to sow, and by watching the clouds knows when not to reap.[‡]

⁵ Just as you don't know how the breath of life comes to the child in its mother's womb, so you can't understand the work of God, the Creator of everything.

⁶ In the morning, sow your seed. In the evening, don't stop. For you have no way of knowing which crop will grow well—one may be profitable, or the other—or maybe both.

⁷ How sweet it is to live in the light, to see the sun rise on another day.[§]

⁸ May you live for many years, and may you enjoy them all. But remember there will many days of darkness,^{*} and all that is to come is uncertain.

⁹ Young people, enjoy your youth! Be happy with what's good! While you're young, let your mind guide your life, and do as you think best. But remember that God will judge you for all your thoughts and actions.

¹⁰ So don't let your mind worry, and avoid things that hurt your body. Even so, despite youth and enthusiasm, life is still so hard to understand!

³ Before the guards of the house tremble and the strong men are bent over, the grinders stop working because there are only a few left, and the ones looking through the windows only see dimly,[†]

⁴ and the doors to the street are shut. Before the sound of the grinding mill grows low, and you wake up early when the birds are singing, but you can hardly hear them.

⁷ Then the dust returns to the earth from which it came, and the breath of life returns to God who gave it.

⁸ "Everything passes! It's all so hard to understand!" says the Teacher.^{*}

[‡] 11:4 These statements reflect the local weather. Farmers did not sow when east winds were blowing, since that was dry wind from the desert. West winds brought rain and were a good time to sow. The opposite was true for harvest—dry weather was called for, not clouds bringing rain.

What is being encouraged here is the general theme of wisdom through observation. § 11:7 Literally, "Sweet is the light and pleasant for the eyes to see the sun." However, what is clearly meant is appreciation for continued life. ^{*} 11:8 "Days of darkness" may refer to the time spent when people are dead.

^{*} 12:2 "Before": the call is to remember the Creator before all the rest that follows in the succeeding verses. [†] 12:3 The allusions to the problems of increasing age are obvious. [‡] 12:5 "Desire fails": this word only occurs once in the Old Testament. Some think it refers to the caperberry, a fruit reputed to be an aphrodisiac. The whole verse again references the experience of growing old and approaching death.

§ 12:5 "Eternal home": referring to the grave. ^{*} 12:8 Here the theme introduced in 1:2 is summarized again.

⁹ Not only was the Teacher a wise man, he also taught what he knew to others. He thought about many proverbs, studying them and arranging them.

¹⁰ The Teacher looked for the best way to explain things, writing truthfully and honestly.

¹¹ The words of the wise are like cattle prods. Their collected sayings are like nails driven home, given by one shepherd.

¹⁴ God is going to judge us for everything we do, including what we do secretly, whether good or bad.

Song of Solomon

Woman:

² Kiss me, kiss me with your mouth again and again,[†] for your love is sweeter[‡] than wine.

³ I love the way you smell from the perfumed oils you use. You have quite a reputation[§]—it spreads like spilled perfumed oil. It's not surprising that all the young women adore you!

⁶ Don't look down on me because I'm black, because the sun has burned me. My brothers were angry with me and made me look after the vineyards, so I couldn't look after my own vineyard.*

⁷ My love, please tell me where you're taking your flock. Where will you rest them at noon? For why should I have to wear a veil while looking for you[†] among the flocks of your companions?[‡]

Man

⁸ If you really don't know, you who are more beautiful than any other woman, then follow the tracks of my flock, and let your goats graze near the shepherd's tents.

⁹ My darling, to me you're like a mare among Pharaoh's horses[§] that pull his chariots,

* 1:1 Each speaker is not explicitly identified in the Hebrew text as shown in this translation, but it is usually clear from the context and gender of the words used who is speaking. Additionally this book is poetry, and therefore translation needs to be more fluid than with prose. [†] 1:2 Literally, "Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth." The repetition of the word "kiss" forms a superlative, just as "song of songs" really means "the best song." In addition the poem begins in the third person but then immediately switches to the second person. Such changes are smoothed out for less confusing reading. [‡] 1:2 Literally, "better." [§] 1:3 Literally, "name." * 1:4 In love poetry of the time "king" was also a term of endearment. [†] 1:4 The verb moves to the first person plural, which could mean the change of speaker (some versions believe this line is spoke by the "friends" of the woman). However, it is taken here to be an inclusive form, indicating the woman and the man together. [‡] 1:4 Referring back to the young women of verse 3. [§] 1:5 Her dark complexion was an issue for these women of Jerusalem, as it still is in some societies. Accordingly the woman tells them not to look down on her (verse 6). * 1:6 In other words, the woman could not look after herself. Note also that in literature of the time, "vineyard" was often used as a fertility metaphor. [†] 1:7 "Looking for you": implied. [‡] 1:7 The idea seems to be that the woman may have to hide herself during her search if she does not know where her love will be. Some have suggested that wearing a veil in such circumstances may have been like prostitutes who wished to keep their identity secret. Others suggest that the woman thinks other men may be attracted to her and she wishes to avoid that. Yet others suggest emending the text from "wear a veil" to "wander." [§] 1:9 To be compared to a horse is not a modern-day complement, but this serves as a reminder that this is a very different culture than today. In addition chariots were pulled by stallions, so there may be some additional meaning here.

¹¹ Let's make you some gold ornaments inlaid with silver.

Woman:

¹³ My love is like a pouch of myrrh,[†] lying all night between my breasts.

¹⁴ My love is like a bunch of fragrant henna flowers in the vineyards of Engedi.[‡]

Man:

¹⁵ Look at how very beautiful you are, my darling, how beautiful! Your eyes are as gentle as doves.

Woman:

¹⁶ And you, my love, are so handsome—how charming you are! The green grass is our bed,

¹⁷ with cedar trees as beams for our “house,” and pine trees for the rafters.

2

Woman:

Man:

² Just as a lily stands out among the brambles, so you, my darling, stand out among other women.

Woman:

³ My love is like an apple tree* among the forest trees, compared to other young men. I love to sit down in his shade and his fruit tastes sweet to me.

⁵ Feed me raisins to give me energy, give me apples to revive me, for love has made me weak![§]

⁷ Women of Jerusalem, swear to me by the gazelles or the wild deer that you won't disturb* our love until the right time.

⁸ Listen! I hear the voice of my love! Look! Here he comes, leaping on the mountains, skipping over the hills—

⁹ my love is like a gazelle or a young deer! Look, he's there, standing behind our wall, looking through the window, peering through the screen.

¹¹ Winter has finished; the rains are over and gone.

* 1:10 It seems the ornaments the woman is wearing reminds the man of the decorations worn by the chariot horses. † 1:13 A perfume placed in a small bag and worn on a string around the neck under clothes. ‡ 1:14 Engedi means “spring of the young goat” and in the context may have a double meaning, together with the “vineyard” symbolism already mentioned. * 2:3 The apple is not usually grown in Israel so perhaps another fruit is meant. The main point is the contrast between a fruit tree and the ordinary trees of the forest that do not produce an edible fruit. † 2:4 Literally, “He took me to the house of wine.” ‡ 2:4 The word often translated “banner” is more probably “intention” or “wish to.” § 2:5 Or “I'm totally lovesick!” * 2:7 “Rouse” or “awaken” in the sense of “interrupt.” Since it's clear that love is already “awakened” in this situation, it seems that the woman is asking for privacy.

¹² Flowers are blooming everywhere; the time when birds sing has come; the call of the turtledove is heard in the countryside.[†]

¹³ Fig trees start producing ripe fruit, while grape vines blossom, giving off their fragrance. Get up, my darling, my beautiful girl, and come away with me!”

Man:

¹⁴ My dove is out of sight in the crevices of the rock, in the hiding places of the cliff. Please let me see you! Let me hear you! For you speak so sweetly, and you look so beautiful!

Woman:

¹⁵ Catch the foxes[‡] for us, all the little foxes that come and destroy the vineyards, our vineyards that are in bloom![§]

¹⁶ My love is mine, and I am his! He feeds* among the lilies,

¹⁷ until the morning breezes blow and the shadows disappear. Come back to me, my love, and be like a gazelle or a young deer on the split mountains.[†]

3

Woman:

¹ One night when I was lying in bed, I longed for the one I love. I longed for him, but he was nowhere to be found.

² So I said to myself,* “I will get up now and go through the city, looking in its streets and squares for the one I love.” I looked for him but I didn’t find him.

³ The watchmen found me as they went through the city. “Have you seen the one I love?” I asked them.

⁴ Only a little farther on after I’d passed them I found my love! I held him close and would not let him go until I’d brought him to my mother’s house, to the room of the one who conceived me.[†]

⁵ Women of Jerusalem, swear to me by the gazelles or the wild deer that you won’t disturb our love until the right time.

Women of Jerusalem:

⁶ Who is this coming in from the wilderness like a plume of smoke,[‡] like a burning sacrifice scented with myrrh and frankincense, with all kinds of imported perfumed powders?[§]

Woman:

[†] 2:12 The turtledove is a summer visitor to Israel. Its soft call “trrr-trrr” gives it its name, and is a sign that spring has come, like the arrival of the cuckoo in northern Europe. [‡] 2:15 Or “jackals.” § 2:15 The meaning of this verse, and the speaker, are both uncertain. * 2:16 Or “finds pleasure.” [†] 2:17 Literally, “the mountains of Bether.” However, there is no such place name known. Bether means split or cleft, indicating two mountains with a ravine dividing them.

* 3:2 “So I told myself”: implied. [†] 3:4 “To the room of the one who conceived me”: or, “into the room of my conceiving,” which may be a euphemism for wishing to have a child. [‡] 3:6 The dust thrown up by travelers in a dry wilderness would be the first sign of their approach. However, the emphasis of this verse is certainly on the accompanying scent. § 3:6 Some see this speech of the women of Jerusalem as continuing through the next verses.

* 3:7 Literally, “bed” or “couch.” A sedan chair was a portable chair used by royalty, carried on poles. It certainly was not a wheeled carriage, as some translations suggest.

⁸ All of them are expert swordsmen who have battle experience. They each carry a sword strapped to the thigh, ready for any night-time attacks.

⁹ (Solomon's sedan chair[†] was made for him with wood from Lebanon.

¹⁰ Its posts were covered in silver, and the back was covered in gold. The seat cushion was purple. The interior was lovingly decorated.[‡])

Women of Jerusalem,

¹¹ come out! Look, women of Zion! See King Solomon wearing the crown that his mother placed on his head on his wedding day, his happiest day.

4

Man:

² Your teeth are as white as a flock of sheep that are just shorn and washed. None of them are missing—they are all perfectly matched.[†]

³ Your lips are as red as scarlet thread. Your mouth is gorgeous. Your cheeks[‡] are the blushing color of pomegranates behind your veil.

⁴ Your neck is as tall and shapely as David's tower, with your necklaces like the hanging shields of a thousand warriors.

⁵ Your breasts are like two fawns, two gazelles feeding among the lilies.

⁸ Come with me from Lebanon, my bride, come from Lebanon.^{*} Come down from the peak of Amana, from the peaks of Senir and Hermon, from the lions' dens, from the mountains where leopards live.

⁹ You have stolen my heart, my sister,[†] my bride. With just one look you stole my heart, with just one sparkle from a single one of your necklaces.

¹⁰ How wonderful is your love, my sister, my bride! Your love is sweeter than wine. The way you smell from your perfumed oils is better than any spice.

¹¹ Nectar drips from your lips; milk and honey are under your tongue. The smell of your clothes is like the fragrance of Lebanon.

¹² My sister, my bride, is a locked garden, a spring of water that is closed, a fountain that is sealed.

¹³ Your channel[‡] is a paradise of pomegranates, full of the best fruits, with henna and nard,[§]

[†] 3:9 "Sedan chair": a different word is used but the meaning is the same. [‡] 3:10 The meaning of the last part of this verse is unclear. Possibly "The interior was inlaid with ivory." ^{*} 4:1

Goats were usually black in color so presumably corresponding to the woman's hair. [†] 4:2 In other words, each upper tooth is matched by a lower tooth. [‡] 4:3 Or "temples." One of the Dead Sea Scrolls (4Q Canta) can be read as "chin." [§] 4:6 See 1:13. ^{*} 4:8 It is thought that Lebanon is used symbolically here (together with the other locations mentioned) as remote and inaccessible. [†] 4:9 "My sister": this is a term of endearment and not to be taken literally. Some commentators believe this also applies to the term "bride" which is only used in this section of the book. [‡] 4:13 Continuing the metaphor of a spring and fountain. [§] 4:13 "Henna and nard": two exotic perfumes.

15 You are a garden fountain, a well of living water, a flowing stream from Lebanon.*

Woman:

16 Wake up, north wind! Come, south wind! Blow on my garden so its scent may be carried on the breeze. Let my love come to his garden and eat its best fruits.

5

Man:

1 I enter my garden, my sister, my bride! I gather myrrh with my spice. I eat my honeycomb with my honey. I drink wine with my milk. Let us eat our fill of love! Let us be drunk with love!*

Woman:

2 Though I was asleep, my mind† was racing. I heard my love knocking, and calling out, “Please open the door, my sister, my darling, my dove, my perfect love. My head is soaked with dew, my hair is wet from the night mist.”

3 I replied,‡ “I’ve already got undressed. I don’t have to get dressed again, do I? I’ve already washed my feet. I don’t have to make them dirty again, do I?”

4 My love thrust his hand into the opening. Deep inside I longed for him.

5 I got up to let my love in. My hands dripped with myrrh, my fingers with liquid myrrh, as I grabbed the handles of the bolt.

6 I opened up to my love, but he had left—he was gone! I was crushed as a result.§ I looked for him but I couldn’t find him. I called him but he didn’t answer.

7 The watchmen found me as they went through the city. They beat me, they hurt me, and stole my cloak, those watchmen of the walls.

8 Women of Jerusalem, promise me if you find my love and wonder what you should tell him, tell him I am weak with love.

Women of Jerusalem:

9 Why is the one you love better than any other, most beautiful of women? In what way is the one you love better than any other that we should promise you that?

Woman:

10 My love has dazzling good looks and is very fit—better than ten thousand others!

11 His head is like the finest gold*, his hair is wavy and black as the raven.

* 4:15 Some commentators believe that in contrast to the images of verse 12 that speak of a sealed fountain that what was once locked is now open. Others believe that this is now the words of the woman and should begin with “I am...” (No verb is supplied in the Hebrew.) * 5:1 Some take this last line as being spoken by the women of Jerusalem, in which case it could be translated, “Friends, eat and drink, and become drunk with love.” † 5:2 “Mind”: literally, “heart,” but in Hebrew the heart is primarily the source of thought. Emotions are more often located in the bowels. (See e.g. KJV for Genesis 43:30; Lamentations 1:20 etc. and even in this very chapter—verse 4, translated here as “deep inside.”) ‡ 5:3 Implied. § 5:6 “As a result”: literally, “when he spoke,” but this makes no sense since the text has already stated that he was gone. * 5:11 It is unsure as to what comparison is being made—some believe it is to a bronzed complexion, others to some valued beauty.

¹² His eyes are like doves beside springs of water, washed with milk and mounted like sparkling jewels.[†]

¹⁵ His legs are columns of alabaster set on bases of gold. He looks strong, like the mighty cedars of Lebanon.

¹⁶ His mouth is the sweetest ever; he is totally desirable! This is my love, my friend, women of Jerusalem.

6

Women of Jerusalem:

¹ So where has your love gone, most beautiful of women? Which direction did he go so we can look for him with you?

Woman:

² My love has gone down to his garden, to his flowerbeds of spices. He enjoys feeding^{*} in the gardens and plucks lilies.

³ I am my love's, and my love is mine! He is the one who feeds among the lilies.

Man:

⁴ You are beautiful, my darling, as pretty as Tirzah, as lovely as Jerusalem—you look[†] stunning!

⁵ Please turn your eyes away from me—they're driving me insane! Your hair flows down like a flock of goats descending Mount Gilead.

⁶ Your teeth are as white as a flock of sheep that are just shorn and washed. None of them are missing—they are all perfectly matched!

⁸ There may be sixty queens and eighty concubines, and countless more women,

⁹ but my love, my perfect love, she's the only one! She's her mother's favorite, special to the one who gave birth to her. Young women see her and say how lucky she is; queens and concubines sing her praises.[‡]

¹⁰ Who is this who is like the dawn shining down from above, beautiful as the moon, bright as the shining sun? You look stunning![§]

¹¹ I went down to the walnut orchard to see if the trees were in leaf in the valley, to find out whether the grapevines had budded or the pomegranates were in bloom.

¹² I was so excited it was like I was riding in a royal chariot.*

[†] 5:12 "Mounted like sparkling jewels": or, "sitting beside pools." [‡] 5:13 Septuagint reading.

Hebrew "towers." § 5:14 "Lapis lazuli": sometimes translated "sapphires" but it seems these were unknown at the time. * 6:2 "Enjoys feeding": The verb is literally "to pasture" or "to graze." See 2:16.

[†] 6:4 The word used here is the same as for the "looks" of the man in 5:10.

[‡] 6:9 Some see the following words as being the song of praise, but it seems just as probable to be the continuation of the man's speech. § 6:10 The same word is used as in 6:4. * 6:12 The Hebrew of this verse is so obscure that the meaning is very unclear. Other possible translations among many could include: "I don't know how but I found myself in a nobleman's chariot with my love." Or "Before I knew it I was in a chariot beside a prince."

¹³ Come back, come back, Shulammite woman; come back, come back, so we can look at you!†

Woman:

Why do you want to look at the Shulammite dancing the dance of two camps?‡

7

Man:

¹ How beautiful are your sandaled feet, princess!* Your curved thighs are like ornaments made by a master craftsman.

² Your navel is like a round bowl—may it never lack spiced wine!† Your abdomen is like a mound of wheat surrounded by lilies.

⁴ Your neck is as elegant as a tower made of ivory. Your eyes shine like the pools of Heshbon by the Bathrabbim gate. Your nose is beautiful, prominent like the tower in Lebanon that faces Damascus.

⁵ Your head is as magnificent as Mount Carmel; your black hair has a purple sheen, as if a king‡ was held captive in your locks!

⁷ You are as tall and slender as a palm tree; your breasts are like its clusters of fruit.

⁸ I tell myself, “I will climb the palm tree and take hold of the fruit.” May your breasts be like bunches of grapes on the vine, and your breath have the scent of apples!

⁹ May your kisses§ be like the best wine, going down smoothly, gliding over lips and teeth.*

Woman:

¹⁰ My love is mine, and I am the one he desires!

¹¹ Come, my love, let's go out into the countryside, and spend the night among the henna flowers.†

¹² Let's go early to the vineyards and see if the vines have budded and are in flower, and if the pomegranates are blossoming. There I will give my love to you.

¹³ The mandrakes‡ give off their fragrant scent; we are surrounded§ by all kinds of delights, new as well as old, which I have saved up for you, my love.

Woman:

† 6:13 Some see this line as spoken by the women of Jerusalem. ‡ 6:13 “The dance of two camps”: meaning unclear. Some see it as a reference to the place name in Genesis 32:1-3 in which case it would be the “dance of Mahanaim,” but what this would indicate is unknown. * 7:1 “Princess”: literally, “daughter of a noble.” † 7:2 The meaning of this phrase is unclear. ‡ 7:5 Purple was the color of royalty. § 7:9 Literally, “mouth.” * 7:9 “Over lips and teeth”: as per some versions. Hebrew: “over lips of sleepers.” † 7:11 “Henna flowers”: or “villages.” The same word “henna” is used in 1:14 and 4:13. It seems unlikely that they would wish to go to the villages if they wished to have privacy. ‡ 7:13 A plant thought to be an aphrodisiac and associated with fertility. See for example Genesis 30:14-16. § 7:13 “We are surrounded”: literally, “over our doorways.”

¹ How I wish you were like a brother to me, one who nursed at my mother's breasts! Then if I met you on the street I could kiss you and no one would tell me off.

² Then I could take you home to my mother's house, where she used to teach me.* I would give you spiced wine to drink from the juice of my pomegranate.

⁴ Women of Jerusalem, swear to me that you won't disturb our love until the right time.

Women of Jerusalem:

⁵ Who is this coming in from the wilderness holding her love close to her?

Woman:

I woke you up under the apple tree where your mother conceived you, and where she gave birth to you.†

⁶ Stamp my name as a seal on your heart, like a seal on your arm,‡ for love is strong as death, passion as unyielding as the grave—its arrows flash like fire, a blazing flame of the Lord.

⁷ Floods of water cannot extinguish love; rivers cannot submerge it. If a man offered everything he owned in order to buy love he would be completely rejected.

Woman's brothers:

⁸ We have a younger sister whose breasts are still small. What shall we do for our sister when someone asks to marry her?

⁹ If she is a wall, we will build a silver tower on it. But if she is a door, we will bar the way with cedar planks.§

Woman:

¹⁰ I am a wall, and my breasts are like towers. So when he looks at me he's happy!*

Woman:†

¹¹ Solomon had a vineyard at Baal-hamon which he leased to tenant farmers. Each of them paid him one thousand silver coins for the fruit it produced.

¹² But I own my vineyard, it is mine alone. One thousand silver coins are for you, Solomon, and two hundred for those who look after it.

Man:

¹³ My darling, sitting there in the gardens with companions listening to you—please talk to me!

Woman:

¹⁴ Come quickly, my love! Be like a gazelle or a young deer on the mountains of spices.

* 8:2 Or "To the room of the one who bore me," paralleling 3:4. † 8:5 What this means is unclear.

‡ 8:6 As an indication of ownership. § 8:9 Some take the image of the wall as representing virginity, and the door as someone who is promiscuous. In any case, the woman identifies herself as a wall in the following verse, indicating faithfulness in any case. * 8:10 Literally, "Then in his eyes I am as one who brings peace." The woman is contradicting her brothers and is saying she is mature. † 8:10 Some believe the man is speaking the following verses.

Isaiah

¹ This is the vision that Isaiah, son of Amoz, saw about Judah and Jerusalem in the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

² Heavens, listen! Earth, pay attention! For the Lord has spoken!* I brought up children, I cared for them, but they have rebelled against me.

³ An ox knows its owner, and a donkey knows its feeding trough; but my people don't know me, they don't understand me.

⁴ What a sinful nation—a people carrying such a load of guilt, an evil generation, corrupt children! They have abandoned the Lord. They have despised Israel's Holy One. They have become strangers. They have gone backwards.

⁵ Are you wanting to be punished? Are you going to continue to rebel? The whole of your head is damaged, and your heart is totally giving out.

⁶ You're injured from head to toe, bruised and sore, with open wounds that haven't been cleaned or bandaged or treated with olive oil.

⁷ Your country has been devastated, your towns burned down, your fields stripped bare by foreigners right in front of you, as they turn it all into a wasteland.

¹⁰ Listen to what the Lord has to say, you rulers of Sodom! Pay attention to the instructions of our God, you people of Gomorrah!

¹⁶ Wash yourselves and clean yourselves up. Get rid of your sins—I don't want to see them! Stop doing evil!

* 1:2 Since the prophet is speaking for the Lord, it is not always easy to determine exactly who is speaking. This version therefore does not use quotation marks in these circumstances, as it can be rather arbitrary to determine where the direct "quotation" begins and ends. Only when it is helpful and explicit are quotation marks used in prophetic material, since all prophets spoke as directed by God. † 1:15 Meaning they are guilty of committing violence, even murder.

¹⁷ Learn to do good; strive for justice, condemn those who oppress others; support the rights of orphans, take up cases to defend widows.

¹⁸ Come on, let's argue this out, says the Lord. Even though your sins are like scarlet, they will become white like snow. Even though they are red like crimson, they will become like wool.

¹⁹ If you really want this, and if you do as you're told, then you yourselves will eat the best things that the land produces.[‡]

²⁰ But if you are defiant, and if you are rebellious, you'll be killed by the sword. This is what the Lord has declared!

²¹ The city that used to be faithful has turned into a prostitute! Once she operated on principles of justice and followed what was right, but now only murderers live there.

²³ Your leaders are rebels, friends of thieves. They all love bribes and want to get kickbacks. They don't defend the rights of orphans, and refuse to take cases to help widows.

²⁴ So this is what the Lord says, the Lord Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel: Ha! I will take satisfaction in punishing my enemies, by paying back those who hate me!

²⁶ I will give you good leaders as you used to have before, wise counselors as you had in the beginning. After that you will once again be called the City of Integrity, the Faithful City.

²⁷ Zion will be rescued by justice, those who repent by doing right.

²⁸ But rebels and sinners will be destroyed together, and those who abandon the Lord will die.

²⁹ You will be ashamed about how you enjoyed your pagan worship among the oak trees; you will be embarrassed because you chose the pleasure gardens of idols.

³⁰ As a result you will become like an oak whose leaves have withered, a dried-out garden that has no water.

³¹ Your strong people will become like tinder, and their work will become like a spark. They will burn together, and nobody will be able to put out the flames.

2

² In the last days the mountain where the Lord's Temple stands will be recognized as the highest of all mountains, rising above other hills. Many from the other nations will travel to it.

³ People will come and say, "Let's go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the Temple of the God of Jacob. There God will teach us his ways and we will follow his directions.* God's teachings will spread out from Zion, his word from Jerusalem."

[‡] 1:19 "You yourselves will eat all the good things the land produces": this means that there will be peace in the country—no invaders would come to steal the crops etc. * 2:3 Literally, "walk in his paths."

⁴ The Lord will decide the cases of the nations; he will settle arguments between nations. They will hammer their swords and turn them into plough blades, and their spears into pruning hooks. Nations will not fight against each other anymore; they will no longer learn methods of warfare.

⁶ For you, Lord, have given up on your people the Israelites, because they have adopted pagan practices from the East, they use spells like the Philistines, and make friends with foreigners.[‡]

⁷ Their country is full of silver and gold, and endless wealth. Their land is full of horses; and they have an endless amount of chariots.

⁸ Their country is full of idols; they bow down and worship what they have made themselves—produced by their own hands!

⁹ These people will be brought down and humiliated—Lord, don't forgive them!

¹⁰ Run away into rock caves, hide underground from the terrifying presence of the Lord, from the glory of his majesty.

¹¹ Those who look with arrogance will be brought low; those who are proud will be humbled. On that day only the Lord will be lifted high.

¹² The Lord has set aside a day when he will deal with the proud and arrogant. He will end all self-glorification, bringing it down.

¹³ He will cut down the cedars of Lebanon, tall and high, and all the great oaks of Bashan,

¹⁴ He will bring down the tall mountains and the high hills.

¹⁵ He will tear down every high tower and every defensive wall.

¹⁶ He will wipe out all the commercial ships of Tarshish as well as the pleasure vessels.

¹⁷ The arrogant will be humbled; the proud will be brought low. On that day only the Lord will be lifted high.

¹⁸ Idols will completely vanish away.

¹⁹ People will run away into rock caves and holes in the ground to try and hide from the terrifying presence of the Lord, from the glory of his majesty, when he arrives to shake the earth.

²⁰ On that day the people will take the idols of silver and gold that they made to worship and throw them away to the rats[§] and the bats.

3

¹ Take a look! The Lord, the Lord Almighty, is going to take away from Jerusalem and from Judah everything they rely on—all their stocks of food and all means of supplying water;

² their strong fighters and soldiers, leaders and prophets, fortune-tellers and elders,

[†] 2:5 Literally, "house of Jacob." [‡] 2:6 "Make friends with foreigners": Hebrew uncertain, probably "shake hands with children of foreigners." [§] 2:20 Literally a "dig pit," so it can refer to any burrowing animal.

* 2:22 "Only live for a while": literally, "who have breath in their nostrils."

⁵ People will mistreat one another, person against person, neighbor against neighbor; the young will assault the old, and the dregs of society will attack those who are reputable.

⁶ A man will grab hold of one of his brothers in their father's house, and tell him, "You've got a coat, you can be our leader! Take over the running of this pile of ruins!"

⁷ But immediately his brother will shout back, "No, not me! I can't take care of this family's problems. In my house I don't have food or clothes. Don't put me in charge as your leader!"

⁸ For Jerusalem has collapsed and Judah has fallen because of what they said and did in opposition to the Lord, rebelling right in front of him.

⁹ The look on their faces proves what they've done, proclaiming their sin just like Sodom—they don't even bother to try and hide it! Tragedy is coming to them! They have brought disaster down upon themselves.

¹¹ But tragedy comes to the wicked, for what they did will be done to them.

¹² Leaders who act in childish ways mistreat my people; women rule over them. My people, your leaders are misleading you, confusing you about which way to go.

¹³ The Lord stands up to prosecute his case. The Lord stands up to judge the people.

¹⁵ Why have you crushed my people? Why have you ground the faces of the poor into the dirt? the Lord Almighty demands to know.

¹⁶ The Lord says, The women of Zion are so conceited, walking with their heads held high, giving flirty glances, tripping along with their ankle bracelets jingling.

¹⁷ So the Lord will make their heads full of scabs, and the Lord will expose their private parts.

¹⁸ At that time the Lord will remove their fine ornaments: ankle bracelets, headbands, crescent necklaces,

¹⁹ pendant earrings, bracelets, veils,

²⁰ headdresses, bangles, sashes, perfume holders, lucky charms,

²¹ rings, nose rings,

²² festival clothes, gowns, cloaks, handbags,

²⁴ What will happen is that instead of smelling of perfume, she will stink. Instead of a wearing a sash, she will be tied with a rope. Instead of styled

* 3:10 "They will be happy to receive the reward for what they have done": literally, "they will eat the fruit of their deeds."

hair; she will be bald. Instead of fine clothes, she will wear sackcloth. Instead of looking beautiful, she will be shamed.[†]

²⁵ Your men will be killed by the sword; your soldiers will die in battle.

²⁶ The gates of Zion will cry and mourn. The city will be like a banished woman sitting on the ground.

4

¹ At that time seven women will grab hold of one man and tell him, “We’ll eat our own food and we can provide our own clothes. Just let us take your name by being married to you.* Please take away our disgrace!”

² But at that time, the “branch of the Lord”[†] will be attractive and glorious; the fruit the land produces will be the pride and glory of the survivors who are left in Israel.

³ Everyone who remains in Zion will be called holy—all of those who are recorded among the living in Jerusalem—

⁴ once the Lord has washed away the excrement of the daughters of Zion, and cleaned the bloodstains from Jerusalem by a spirit of judgment and a spirit of fire.

⁶ It will provide a place to stay in the shade of the daytime heat, and a shelter to hide from storm and rain.

² He dug it over, cleared the ground of stones, and planted it with the very best vines. In the middle of it he built a watchtower, and he also cut out a winepress from the rock. Then he waited for a good harvest of grapes, but it only produced wild, sour grapes.

³ “Now, you people who live in Jerusalem and Judah, please judge between me and my vineyard.

⁴ What more could I have done for my vineyard than I’ve already done? When I looked for sweet grapes, why did it only produce sour ones?

⁵ So let me tell you what I’m going to do to my vineyard. I’ll remove its hedge, and it will be destroyed. I’ll tear down its wall, and it will be trampled underfoot.

⁶ I’ll turn it into a wasteland. It won’t be pruned or weeded—it will be overgrown with brambles and thorns. I’ll order the clouds not to rain on it.”

⁷ Israel is the vineyard of the Lord Almighty, and the people of Judah are the plants in his garden that made him happy. Yet while he hoped for justice, he only saw injustice; he hoped people would live right, but he only heard the cries of those who were suffering.

* 4:1 “By being married to you”: supplied for clarity. [†] 4:2 Referring to the coming Messiah.

⁸ Tragedy is coming to you who buy house upon house and field upon field, joining them all together until no one else has anywhere to live and you live alone in the land.

¹⁰ Ten acres of vineyard will only produce a six gallons of wine, and a measure of seed only a tenth of that in grain.*

¹¹ Tragedy is coming to you who get up early in the morning wanting a drink, and who stay up late drinking wine until you're drunk.

¹² At their feasts you have lyres and harps, tambourines and flutes, and wine, but you don't ever consider what the Lord is doing, and you don't recognize his help.

¹³ As a result my people will be exiled for their lack of understanding.† Their honored leaders will starve, and the crowds will be dying of thirst.

¹⁵ Everyone will be brought down, everyone will be humbled; the proud will lower their eyes in humiliation.

¹⁶ But the Lord Almighty will be vindicated because he does what is right; the holy God will be shown to be holy because of his goodness.

¹⁷ Lambs will graze as in their own pasture; fattened livestock and goats will feed among the ruins of the rich.‡

¹⁸ Tragedy is coming to you who pull along your sins behind you with iniquity with cords made of lies, and pulling with ropes a cartful of wickedness.

¹⁹ You are among the people who say, "God should hurry up! Why doesn't God get a move on with what he's doing so we can see it? Why doesn't the Holy One of Israel execute his plan? Let's see it happen so we can understand what it is!"

²⁰ Tragedy is coming to you who say evil is good, and good is evil; who turn darkness into light and light into darkness; who make bitter sweet, and sweet bitter.

²¹ Tragedy is coming to you who are wise in your own eyes and think you're so clever.

²² Tragedy is coming to you who are wine-drinking champions, and experts at mixing alcoholic drinks;

²³ you who set the guilty free for a bribe, and yet deny justice to the innocent.

²⁴ In the same way fire burns up stubble and dry grass falls down in the flames, so their roots will decay and their flowers disintegrate into dust. For they have rejected the law of the Lord Almighty, and have treated with contempt what the Holy One of Israel has said.

* 5:10 Literally, "a homer of seed will only produce an ephah of grain." † 5:13 "For their lack of understanding": or "unawares." ‡ 5:17 Septuagint reading.

²⁵ That's why the Lord burns with anger[§] against his people. He has lifted up his hand and hit them, shaking the mountains, and leaving their corpses lying like refuse in the streets. Despite all this, his anger is not finished, and his hand is still lifted up.

²⁷ None of them gets tired or stumbles; none of them rests or sleeps. No belt comes loose, and no sandal strap breaks.

²⁸ Their arrows are already sharpened, and all their bows have been strung. The hooves of their horses are hard as flint; their chariot wheels spin like a whirlwind.

³⁰ At that time they will roar over their prey like the roaring of the sea. Anyone who looks out over the land will see only darkness and distress—even the sunlight will be darkened by clouds.

6

² Seraphim* stood above him, and each of them had six wings: They used two wings to cover their faces, two to cover their feet, and two to fly.

⁴ The sound of their shouts made the doorposts and doorsteps shake, and the Temple was filled with smoke.

⁵ I cried out, "I'm doomed! I'm going to die because I'm a man of unclean lips,[†] and I live among a people of unclean lips, for I've seen the King, the Lord Almighty!"

⁶ Then one of the seraphim flew over to me. He was holding a glowing coal that he had picked up with tongs from the altar.

⁷ He touched me on my mouth with it and told me, "Look! This has touched your lips, so now your guilt is taken away and your sin is forgiven."

⁸ Then I heard the Lord asking, "Who shall I send? Who will go and speak[‡] for us?" So I said, "I'm here! Please send me!"

¹⁰ Make the minds of this people insensitive; make their ears deaf and shut their eyes. Otherwise they might see with their eyes, hear with their ears, understand with their minds, and repent and be healed."

§ 5:25 There are many references to the Lord's anger in Isaiah, as in other Old Testament books. This should not be equated to human anger which is often "out of control" and vindictive. The Lord's anger is an expression of his extreme displeasure, couched in human language so we can understand to some extent the impact of human sin on the Lord. Nor is it a question of God taking personal offense, but rather his concern as to what continued sin does to us, and a desire to do all he can to heal the damage sin causes. * 6:2 Literally, "shining ones." † 6:5 "Unclean lips": symbolizing imperfection. ‡ 6:8 "And speak": supplied for clarity.

11 Then I asked, "How long will this last, Lord?"

He replied, "Until towns are ruined and empty, houses are abandoned, and the land is devastated and destroyed;

12 until the Lord sends the people far away and the country is totally deserted.

13 Even though a tenth of the population remains in the land, it will be destroyed again. But in the same way as the terebinth and oak trees leave stumps when they're cut down, so the holy seed will remain as stump."

7

1 It was during the reign of Ahaz son of Jotham, son of Uzziah, king of Judah, that Rezin, king of Aram, marched to attack Jerusalem. Pekah, son of Remaliah, king of Israel, joined in the attack, but they couldn't conquer the city.

2 When the royal family of Judah was told,* "Aram and Ephraim have an alliance," Ahaz and his people were terrified and they shook like trees in the forest tossed about by the wind.

3 Then the Lord told Isaiah, "Take your son Shear-jashub† with you and go and meet Ahaz. He'll be at the end of the aqueduct of the upper pool, by the road to the laundry field.

4 Tell him, 'Calm down and keep quiet. Don't be afraid or scared over a couple of smoldering bits of firewood, over the burning anger of Rezin and Aram, and of Remaliah's son.

5 Aram has plotted to destroy you together with Ephraim and Remaliah's son saying,

6 Let's go and attack Judah! We'll terrorize it and conquer it for ourselves, and make Tabeel's son its king."

7 But this is what the Lord God says, "This plan won't materialize—it just won't happen!

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin.‡ In addition, within sixty-five years Israel§ as a nation will be destroyed.

9 The head of Israel is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah's son. If you don't trust in me, then you won't survive."*

10 Later the Lord sent another message to Ahaz,

11 "Ask the Lord your God for a sign, whether as deep as where people are buried or as high as heaven."

12 "No, I'm not going to ask," Ahaz replied. "I refuse to put the Lord to the test."

13 Then Isaiah said, "Listen, royal family of Judah! Isn't it enough for you to wear people out? Do you have to wear my God out too?

* 7:2 "The royal family of Judah": literally, "the house of David." Also in verse 13. † 7:3 His name means "a remnant shall return," ‡ 7:8 Suggesting that the plan was dependent merely on the ambition of one man. Similarly in following verse regarding Remaliah's son. § 7:8 "Israel": literally, "Ephraim," the most prominent tribe of Israel. Also in the following verse. * 7:9 "If you don't trust in me, then you won't survive." There is a play on words in Hebrew. "In me": supplied for clarity.

¹⁴ This is why the Lord himself is going to give you a sign. Look! The virgin[†] will become pregnant and give birth to a son, and she will call him Immanuel.[‡]

¹⁵ He will eat curds and honey until the time he knows to refuse evil and choose the good.

¹⁶ For before the boy knows to refuse evil and choose the good, the land of the two kings[§] you're afraid of will be deserted.

¹⁷ The Lord will make you, your people, and the royal family experience a time unlike anything since the day Ephraim split from Judah. He will bring the king of Assyria to attack you!"^{*}

¹⁸ At that time the Lord will whistle to call flies from the distant rivers of Egypt and bees from the country of Assyria.[†]

¹⁹ They will all come and descend on the steep valleys and rock crevices, on all the thorn bushes and waterholes.

²¹ At that time a someone who manages to keep a young cow and two sheep alive

²⁵ In fact, all the hills that were once tilled by the hoe you won't want to go to because you'll worry about the brambles and thorns there. They'll just be where cattle are let loose and where sheep roam.

8

¹ Then the Lord told me, "Get a large tablet and write on it in with an ordinary pen, 'Maher-shalal-hash-baz.'"^{*}

² I will need Uriah the priest and Zechariah, son of Jeberekiah, to be my trustworthy witnesses."

³ Then I slept with my wife[†] the prophetess, and she became pregnant and gave birth to a son. The Lord told me, "Call him Maher-shalal-hash-baz.

⁴ For even before the boy knows how to say 'Daddy' or 'Mommy,' the king of Assyria will carry off Damascus' wealth and Samaria's possessions."

⁶ "Because this people has rejected the waters of Shiloah that gently flow and instead have rejoiced with Rezin and Remaliah's son,[‡]

[†] 7:14 "Virgin": or "young woman." The word used here is inclusive of both meanings. There is however a Hebrew word that exclusively means virgin but it is not used here. Matthew's reapplication of this prophecy should not blind us to its immediate application in the time of Ahaz. In this connection the rest of the prophecy should not be disregarded. [‡] 7:14 Immanuel means "God with us." [§] 7:16 Referring to king of Aram and the king of Israel. ^{} 7:17 "To attack you." Supplied for clarity. [†] 7:18 Obviously referring to the kings of Egypt and Assyria. Their armies are referenced in the next verse. ^{} 8:1 Meaning "quick the looting, swift the plunder." [†] 8:3 "My wife": supplied for clarity. [‡] 8:6 It is unclear from the Hebrew exactly why the people are rejoicing with Rezin and Remaliah's son.

⁷ the Lord is going to bring the powerful floodwaters of the Euphrates River against them—the king of Assyria with all his glorious army. It will flood all its channels and overflow all its banks.

⁸ It will sweep on into Judah, overflowing and flooding through, reaching up to the neck. Like outspread wings it will engulf the whole of your land, Immanuel!

⁹ Pay attention, [§] you nations, and be smashed! Listen, all you distant lands, get ready, but you will be smashed. Get ready, but you will be smashed.

¹⁰ You can plan your strategy, but it will be foiled; you can say what you're intending, but it won't happen, for God is with us."

¹¹ For this is what the Lord told me, holding me with a strong hand, instructing me not to follow the way of this people. He said,

¹² Don't call a conspiracy everything that these people call a conspiracy. Don't fear what they fear. Don't be overawed!

¹³ The Lord Almighty is the one you should see as holy. He is the one you should fear, he is the one you should be in awe of.

¹⁴ He will be a sanctuary for you. But to the royal families of both Israel and Judah he will be a stone they trip over and a rock that makes them stumble, a trap and a snare to the people who live in Jerusalem.

¹⁵ Many people will stumble over them. They will fall and be broken. They will be trapped and caught.

¹⁶ Safeguard this testimony, seal these instructions—they are for my disciples.

¹⁷ I will wait for the Lord, the one who is hiding his face from Jacob's descendants. I will wait in hope for him.

¹⁸ Look, I'm here, together with the children the Lord has given me. They are signs and wonders in Israel from the Lord Almighty, who lives on Mount Zion.

¹⁹ When someone suggests to you, "Go and ask mediums and spiritists who whisper and mutter," shouldn't people ask their God? Why should they ask the dead on behalf of the living?

²⁰ Go and examine God's law and his instructions! If what they say doesn't correspond with God's word, there will be no dawn for them.*

²¹ They will wander round the country, depressed and hungry. When they are starving they will become furious, and looking up they will curse their king and their God.

²² Then they will look towards the earth and see only misery and gloom and agonizing depression, and they will be thrown out into the darkness.

¹ Even so, there will be no more darkness for those who suffered. In the past he humiliated the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but in the future he will bring honor to Galilee of the foreigners that is on the route that leads from Jordan to the sea.

² People walking in the dark will see a bright light; a light will shine on those living in a land of total darkness.

[§] 8:9 "Pay attention." There is much debate over the meaning of the Hebrew word here. Possibilities include: raise the war cry, huddle together, be broken, make an uproar, rage, know etc.

* 8:20 The word "God" is not in the Hebrew text but is supplied here for clarity and emphasis.

⁴ For you will smash the yoke that burdens them down, the bar across their shoulders, and the oppressors' rod used to beat them just as you did when you defeated the Midianite army.

⁵ For every army boot that noisily trampled people down, and every uniform soaked in blood—they are going to be burned, fuel for the fire.

⁶ For a child will be born for us, a son will be given to us. He will bear the responsibility to rule. He will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

⁷ His rule and the peace he brings know no limits and will never come to an end. He will sit on David's throne and rule his kingdom, making it secure. He will operate from principles of justice and goodness, from the time he begins his rule and for all eternity. The Lord Almighty is determined to make this happen.

⁹ All the people will soon realize it—Ephraim and the people who live in Samaria. Proudly and arrogantly they say,

¹⁰ "The brick buildings have collapsed, but we will rebuild them with dressed stone; the sycamore fig trees have been cut down, but we will replace them with cedars."

¹² Arameans from the east and Philistines from the west have greedily eaten swallowed Israel up. In all of this he is still angry and his hand is still raised.[§]

¹³ But the people didn't return to the one who punished them; they didn't come to worship the Lord Almighty.

¹⁵ Elders and honorable people are the head, and prophets who teach lies are the tail.

¹⁶ The people's leaders have misled them; those who were guided by them are confused.

¹⁷ As a result the Lord isn't pleased with their young men, he has no compassion for their orphans and widows, because all of them are hypocrites and do what's evil—they all talk stupidly. In all of this he is still angry and his hand is still raised.

¹⁹ The anger of the Lord Almighty burns the land. People are like fuel for the fire, and nobody tries to help anyone else.

* 9:3 The verbs in this section (9:2-7) are in the past tense, but are translated here in the future tense, since this is an example of the "prophetic perfect" tense in which future actions are considered so definite they are stated as if they had already happened. † 9:11 Rezin's enemies would be the Assyrians. ‡ 9:11 "Israel": supplied for clarity. § 9:12 Meaning that in these events God is still displaying his anger and it is not over yet. Also in verses 17 and 21.

²¹ Manasseh destroys Ephraim, and Ephraim destroys Manasseh. Together they turn to destroy Judah. In all of this he is still angry and his hand is still raised.

10

² They pervert the legal rights of the needy, and rob justice from the poor of my people. They steal from widows and cheat orphans.

³ What are you going to do on the day you're punished, when disaster falls on you from far away? Who are you going to run to so you can get help? Where are you going to leave all your wealth?

⁴ All you'll be able to do is to bow down as prisoners, or lie among the dead! In all of this he is still angry and his hand is still raised.

⁵ Tragedy is coming to the Assyrians, even though the rod they use represents my anger and the stick they hold in their hands represents my fury!

⁶ I am sending the Assyrians against a nation that has given up on its God, against a people that make me angry. I order the Assyrians to loot them, to take their possessions, and to trample them down like mud in the street.

⁷ But this isn't what is behind the thinking of the king of Assyria. This isn't the plan he has in mind. What he wants to do is to destroy and eliminate many nations.

⁸ He says: "All my commanders are kings!

⁹ We conquered Calno like we did Carchemish; Hamath like Arpad; Samaria like Damascus.

¹⁰ I was the one who conquered these kingdoms along with the idols of their gods. These kingdoms had images of their gods that were better than those of Jerusalem and Samaria.

¹¹ Why shouldn't I do to Jerusalem and her idols just what I did to Samaria and her idols?"*

¹² Once the Lord has finished all his work against Mount Zion and Jerusalem, he† will punish the king of Assyria for his terrible arrogance and for the conceited look in his eyes.

¹³ For the king of Assyria says: "I have done this in my own strength. It was through my wisdom, because I'm clever. I have wiped out the boundaries of nations and looted their treasures. Like a bull I knocked their rulers off their thrones.

¹⁴ Like robbing a bird's nest, I took the wealth of the nations. Like collecting abandoned eggs, I collected the whole the earth. There wasn't a fluttering wing or an open beak, not even a chirp!"

¹⁵ Does an ax say it's more important than the person swinging it? Does a saw boast that it's greater than the person sawing with it? It would be as if a rod waved the person holding it, or a walking stick lifted up a person—who certainly wasn't wood!

¹⁶ So the Lord, the Lord Almighty, will send a disease on the king of Assyria's strong warriors that will make them waste away; a flaming fire will be set under everything he's so proud of.

¹⁷ Israel's light will become a fire, and his Holy One will become a flame. It will burn up his thorns and brambles in just one day.

¹⁸ It will totally destroy its splendid forests and orchards. Assyria will waste away, staggering off like someone sick.

¹⁹ The trees left in its forests will be so few that a child could count them.

²⁰ At that time those who are left in Israel and the survivors of the house of Jacob will no longer trust in those who turn on them, but they will truly trust in the Lord, the Holy One of Israel.

²² Israel, even though your people are as numerous as sand on the seashore, only a remnant will return. The Lord has rightly decided to destroy his people.

²³ The Lord God Almighty has rightly decided to bring destruction throughout the whole country.

²⁵ Very shortly I will stop being angry with you. Then I will turn my anger on them and I will destroy them.

²⁶ The Lord Almighty will lash them with a whip, just as he did when he attacked the Midianites at the rock of Oreb. He will hold up his rod over the sea, just as he did in Egypt.

²⁷ At that time he will remove the burden from your shoulders and the yoke from your neck. The yoke will be broken because of the anointing with oil.†

²⁸ The Assyrians came to Aiath, passed through Migron, and stored their supplies at Michmash.

²⁹ They cross the pass, saying, "We'll stay overnight at Geba." The people of Ramah tremble in fear; the inhabitants of Gibeah of Saul run away.

³⁰ Shout out a warning, people of Gallim! Pay attention, those living in Laishah! You poor people of Anathoth!

³¹ The people of Madmenah, are all running away. The inhabitants of Gebim are looking for somewhere safe.

† 10:27 "Anointing with oil:" literally, "before the oil/fat." The meaning of this phrase is much debated. Some suggest that this means that Israel has symbolically grown so fat that the yoke no longer fits. Jewish tradition however associates it with the anointing of King Hezekiah, and some Christian writers have pointed to Christ as the Messiah, the "anointed one." § 10:33 The prophecy now turns to judgment on the Assyrian invaders, who will be "cut down like trees."

³⁴ He will cut down the thick forest with an ax, and Lebanon* will fall at the hand of the Mighty One.

² The Spirit of the Lord will rest on him, which is Spirit of wisdom and understanding, a Spirit of advice and power, a Spirit of knowledge and awe of the Lord.

³ His happiness will be in giving reverence to the Lord. He will not judge by what he sees, and he will not make decisions based on what he hears.

⁴ Instead, he will judge the poor justly, and make decisions fairness on behalf of the destitute people of the earth. He will strike the earth when he pronounces judgment, and he will execute the wicked with just a word from his lips.

⁶ Wolves will live with lambs; leopards will lie down with young goats, calves and young lions and young livestock will be together, and a small child will lead them along.

⁸ Babies will be able to play safely near snake holes, little children will be able to put their hands into a vipers' den.

⁹ Nothing will cause any harm or damage anywhere on my holy mountain, for the earth will be full of the knowledge of the Lord in the same way that water fills the sea.

¹⁰ At that time the root of Jesse will stand like a banner for the nations. Foreigners will come to him, and the place of where he lives will be glorious.

¹¹ At that time the Lord will act a second time* to bring back the remnant of His people from Assyria, Egypt, Pathros, Ethiopia, Elam, Babylonia, Hamath, and from the Mediterranean islands.

¹² He will raise a banner for the nations and gather the exiled people of Israel; he will bring together the scattered people of Judah from the ends of the earth.

¹⁴ Together they will fly downhill to attack the Philistines to the west; they will plunder the people of the east. They will defeat Edom and Moab, and the Ammonites will become their subjects.

¹⁵ The Lord will divide the Gulf of Suez;† he will wave his hand over the Euphrates River creating a scorching wind. He will split into seven streams that people can cross easily on foot.

¹⁶ There will be a highway from Assyria for the remnant of his people that are left, just as there was for Israel when they left the land of Egypt.

* 10:34 "Lebanon": a symbolic term for Assyria, see for example Ezekiel 31:3. * 11:11 "Second time": The first time was the exodus from Egypt. † 11:15 "Gulf of Suez": modern name. Literally, "the tongue of the sea of Egypt."

¹ At that time you will say, “I will praise you, Lord! Though you were angry with me, your anger is over, and now you comfort me.

² Look! God is my salvation! I will trust in him and I won’t be afraid! For the Lord is my strength and song, and he has saved me!”

⁴ At that time you will say: “Praise the Lord, shout out his name! Tell the nations what he has done—let them know of his wonderful character!

⁵ Sing to the Lord for all the glorious things he’s done—let the whole world know!

² Set up a banner on a bare hilltop; shout out to them; wave your hand to encourage them to enter the palaces of princes.†

³ I have ordered the ones I have chosen to attack; I have called my warriors to execute my furious judgment and to celebrate my triumph.

⁴ A noise comes from the mountains, sounding like that of a huge crowd! It’s the roaring sound from the kingdoms, from nations gathering together! The Lord Almighty is calling up an army for war.

⁵ They are coming from distant lands, from beyond the far horizons—the Lord and the weapons of his fury—coming to destroy the whole country.

⁶ Howl in fear, for the day of the Lord is approaching—the time when the Almighty destroys.

⁷ Everyone’s hands will fall limp, and everyone will lose their minds in panic.

⁸ They will be terrified; pain and anguish will seize them; they will suffer like a woman giving birth. They will look in shock at each other, their faces burning in fear.

⁹ Look! The day of the Lord is coming—cruel, with fury and fierce anger—to devastate the land and to wipe out its sinners.

¹⁰ The stars in the constellations of heaven above will not shine. When the sun rises it will stay dark. The moon will give no light.

¹¹ I will punish the world for its evil, and the wicked for their sin, says the Lord.‡ I will put an end to the conceit of the arrogant, and I will humiliate tyrants and their pride.

¹² I will make people scarcer than pure gold, rarer than the gold of Ophir.

¹³ So I will shake the heavens and make the earth jump out of its place because of the fury of the Lord Almighty, at the time when his anger burns.

¹⁵ Anyone who is captured will be stabbed to death; anyone who is caught will be killed by the sword.

* 13:1 Literally, “saw.” † 13:2 “Palaces of princes”: literally, “gates of the nobles.” ‡ 13:11 “Says the Lord.” Supplied for clarity. § 13:14 “The Babylonians”: supplied for clarity.

¹⁶ Their little children will be dashed to pieces as they watch, their houses will be looted, and their wives will be raped.

¹⁷ I'm going to get the Medes to attack them, people who don't care about silver or gold.

¹⁸ Their bows will slaughter their young men; they will show no mercy to babies; they will have no pity on children.

²⁰ No one will ever live in Babylon again. It will be deserted—no desert nomad will set up a tent there, no shepherd will bring a flock to rest there.

²¹ Only desert animals will make their homes there, and the ruined houses will be inhabited by wild dogs. Owls will live there, and wild goats will leap around.

²² Hyenas will howl in her fortresses and jackals in her lavish palaces. Babylon's time is coming soon—they will not last much longer.

¹ But the Lord will be merciful to the descendants of Jacob. Once again he will choose Israel and he will bring them back to live once more in their own land. Foreigners will come and join them there, and they will unite with the descendants of Jacob.

² Nations will go with them and escort them to their own land. The foreigners who stay in the Lord's land will serve the Israelites. In this way the captors become their captives, and they rule over their former oppressors.

³ At that time the Lord will give you relief from your pain and trouble, and from the hard labor you were forced to do.

⁴ You will mock the king of Babylon, saying, "How your oppressive rule has been ended, and your insolence stopped!"

⁷ Now the whole earth rests peacefully, and everyone starts celebrating!

⁸ The cypress and cedar trees are glad you're gone. They sing, 'Since you were cut down no woodcutters are coming to cut us down!'

⁹ Those in the grave beneath are keen to meet you when you arrive. It wakes the spirits of the dead to welcome you, those of all the rulers of the earth. All the kings of the nations stand up from their thrones.*

¹⁰ They will all speak up and tell you, 'So you too are as weak as we are—you've become just like us!'

¹¹ Your pride is now buried with you in the grave, along with the harp music you loved. Maggots are the bed you lie on, and worms are your blanket.'

¹² Morning star,[†] son of the dawn, how you have fallen from heaven! Destroyer of nations, you have been cut down to the ground!

* 14:9 These verses are poetic, and not to be taken literally. [†] 14:12 Literally, "shining one," referring to the planet Venus whose rise in the sky promised the soon-coming dawn. In the Septuagint this was translated as "dawn bringer" which in Latin became "Lucifer," (light bringer) which is the basis for the King James translation.

¹³ You said to yourself: 'I will ascend to heaven. I will raise my throne above the stars of God. I will sit enthroned on the mountain of meeting, the summit of the northern mountain.†

¹⁵ But you are dragged down to the grave, into the depths of the pit.

¹⁶ Those who see you will stare at you, examining you closely, asking, 'Is this the man who shook the earth, who made kingdoms tremble?

¹⁷ Is this the one who turned the world into a desert, destroyed cities, and never let his prisoners return home?'

²⁰ you will not be buried like those other kings‡ because you destroyed your own land and killed your own people. The descendants of those who do evil will never survive.

²¹ Get ready to execute his sons because of their fathers* sins. Don't let them take over the earth; don't let them fill the whole world with their cities.

²² I will come and attack them, declares the Lord Almighty. I will destroy everything: their reputation, those who remain, their children, and their descendants, says the Lord.

²³ I will make Babylon into a place for water birds† and into marshland. I will sweep her away with the broom of destruction, declares the Lord Almighty."

²⁴ The Lord Almighty has sworn an oath: It will be as I have planned. It will happen as I have decided.

²⁵ I will smash the Assyrians when they are in my country Israel; I will trample them underfoot on my mountains. I will remove their yoke from my people, and take away the burdens they place on my people's shoulders.

²⁷ The Lord Almighty has made his plan, and who will block it? His hand stretches out, and who will push back against it?

²⁹ All you Philistines, don't celebrate the fact that the rod that was hitting you is broken, because from the root of that snake will grow up a viper, its fruit will be a flying serpent.

³⁰ The poor will have food, and the needy will live in safety, but you Philistines will die in a famine, and I‡ will kill those who survive.

³¹ Howl, gates! Weep, town! Melt away in fear, all you Philistines! For a cloud of smoke is approaching from the north—an army with no soldier hanging back.

† 14:13 This fits with Babylonian mythology in which the gods were thought of as meeting on a mountain north of Babylon. § 14:20 "Like those other kings": supplied for clarity. * 14:21

"Fathers" is plural to suggest that the guilt was not just the immediate father, but his ancestors as well. † 14:23 Some suggest a species of owl, others the bittern. ‡ 14:30 "I": Dead Sea Scroll reading. Traditional text, "he."

³² What will be the answer given to the messengers from that nation? “The Lord was the one who laid the foundations of Zion, and that’s where his suffering people will be kept safe.”

¹ A message about Moab. The town of Ar in Moab is devastated, destroyed in a single night! The town of Kir in Moab is devastated, destroyed in a single night!

² The people of Dibon go up to their temple to weep at its high places. The Moabites weep over the towns of Nebo and Medeba. Every head has been shaved, every beard has been cut off in mourning.

³ They wear sackcloth in their streets. On the rooftops and in the open squares they all weep, falling down crying.

⁴ The people of Heshbon and Elealeh cry out in sadness, their voices heard as far as Jahaz. That’s why even the bravest soldiers of Moab shout—because they’re so terrified.

⁵ I weep over Moab. Moabite refugees run all the way to Zoar and to Eglath-sheleshiah. Weeping they go up Luhith hill; crying for their destruction they walk along the road to Horonaim.

⁷ Everything they had gained, all their possessions, they have to carry across Willow River.

⁸ Their cry of grief echoes through the whole country of Moab; their wailing and mourning extends all the way from Eglaim to Beer-elim.

⁹ River Dimon* is full of blood, but I will bring more upon the town of Dimon—a lion to attack the Moabite refugees and those who are left in the country.

³ Think about it and make a decision. Make your shadow as invisible at midday as during the night. Hide the refugees; don’t betray them as they run away.§

⁴ Let my refugees stay among you, Moab.* Hide them from our enemies until the destroyer is no more, the destruction is over, and the aggressive invaders have gone.

* 15:9 Or “Dibon.” * 16:1 Referring to the king of Judah. † 16:1 “The daughter of Zion” is Jerusalem. ‡ 16:2 This was the ancient boundary between the Moabites and the Amorites. After the Israelites conquered the Amorites, their territory was meant to have been taken over by the tribes of Reuben and Dan, yet they did not fully approach this border. What seems to be happening here is that these inhabitants of Moab are wondering whether they should cross the river and leave their homeland. § 16:3 Some believe these words are from the Moabites to the people of Judah, others see them as the prophet’s advice to the Moabites, encouraging them to look after refugees from Judah. * 16:4 Or “Let my refugees from Moab stay among you.”

⁵ Then a kingdom will be set up based on trustworthy love, and on its throne will sit a faithful king from the line of David. He will judge fairly, and will be passionately committed to doing what is right.

⁶ We know all about the pride of the Moabites, how terribly vain and conceited they are, completely arrogant! But their boasting is false.

⁸ Heshbon's fields have dried up, as have Sibmah's grapevines. The rulers of the nations have trampled down the vines that once branched out to Jazer and east towards the desert, and west as far as the sea.

⁹ So I cry with Jazer for Sibmah's vines; I soak Heshbon and Elealeh with my tears. Nobody shouts in celebration over your summer fruit and your harvest any more.

¹⁰ Joy and happiness are gone. Nobody celebrates in the harvest fields or the vineyards; nobody shouts happily. Nobody treads grapes in the winepresses. I have stopped their cheering.

¹¹ Heartbroken I cry for Moab like sad music on a harp; deep inside I weep for Kir-hareseth.

¹² The Moabites go and wear themselves out worshiping at their high places. They go to their shrines to pray, but it does them no good.

¹⁴ But now the Lord speaks again, and says, In three years, just as a contract worker precisely counts years, Moab's glory will turn into something to be laughed at. Despite there being so many Moabites now, soon there will only be a few feeble people left.

17

¹ A message about Damascus. Look, Damascus will cease to exist as city. Instead it will become a pile of ruins.

² The towns of Aroer will be abandoned. Flocks will live in the streets and rest there, because there won't be anyone to chase them away.

⁴ At that time the glory of Jacob will fade away; he will lose his strength.[†]

⁵ It will look as empty as fields after reapers have harvested the grain, gathering up the grain in their arms. It will be like when people pick the heads of grain in the Valley of Rephaim.

⁷ At that time people will pay attention to their Creator and look to the Holy One of Israel.

⁸ They won't believe in the altars they built and the idols they made; they will not look to the Asherah poles or the altars of incense.

[†] 16:7 Not only a valuable food item, but also much used in pagan worship festivals. * 17:3 In other words, Samaria, capital city of the northern tribes symbolized by Ephraim, will be destroyed.

[†] 17:4 "He will lose his strength": literally, "the fat of his flesh will become lean."

¹⁰ You have forgotten the God who saves you; you have not remembered the Rock who protects you. So, even though you plant beautiful plants and grow exotic vines, ¹¹ even though you make them grow on the day that you plant them, and have them blossom in the morning that you sow them,[§] your harvest will heap of trouble on a day of grief and pain that cannot be cured.

¹³ The nations roar like the roaring of crashing waves. But he[†] confronts them, and they run far away, blown by the wind like chaff on the mountains, like tumbleweeds driven by a storm.

¹⁴ Sudden terror comes in the evening! By morning, they're gone! This is what happens to those who loot us, the fate of those who plunder us.

² They send messengers downriver* in papyrus boats. Swift messengers, go and take a message to a tall and smooth-skinned people, to a people feared by everyone, to a very powerful nation of conquerors, whose land is washed away by rivers.[†]

³ All you people of the world, everyone who lives on earth—you will see when a banner is raised on the mountains, you will hear when a trumpet sounds.

⁵ For before the harvest, after the flower is gone and becomes an unripe grape, he prunes the vine with a knife to take out the shoots and branches.

⁶ They will all be left as carrion for the birds of prey of the mountains, and for the wild animals. The birds will eat them in summer, and all the wild animals in winter.

⁷ At that time a gift will be brought to the Lord Almighty from a tall and smooth-skinned people, from a people feared by everyone, from a very powerful nation of conquerors, whose land is washed away by rivers. It will be brought to Mount Zion, the place identified with the Lord Almighty.

[‡] 17:9 The reference is made to the time when the Israelites conquered the land. This is made explicit in the Septuagint which states that the cities will be abandoned just as the Amorites and the Hivites had done when confronted by the Israelites. [§] 17:11 Clearly an impossibility, and is to be taken as a symbol of the rapid "cultivation" of pagan fertility religions. *

[†] 17:12 While the nation is not named, this prophecy probably applies to Assyria. [†] 17:13 "He": referring to the Lord. * 18:2 Probably referring to the Nile. Literally, "sea." [†] 18:2 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear and has been variously interpreted.

¹ A message about Egypt. Look, the Lord is riding on a fast-moving cloud on his way to Egypt. The idols of Egypt will tremble before Him, and the Egyptians will become weak with fear.

² I will encourage Egyptians to attack other Egyptians. They will fight each other, neighbor versus neighbor, town versus town, and kingdom versus kingdom.

³ I will destroy the confidence of the Egyptians. I will have their plans become all mixed up. They will ask their idols and the spirits of the dead what to do through mediums and spiritists.

⁶ The channels will start to stink; the branches of the Nile in Egypt will dry to a trickle and dry up; the reeds and rushes will wither away.

⁷ The vegetation along the banks of the Nile, and all the plants in the cultivated land along the Nile, will dry up and be blown away. Everything will be gone.

⁸ Fishermen will mourn: all of them all who use hooks to fish in the Nile will weep and wail, along with those who fish by throwing nets into the water.

¹⁰ The cloth workers will be depressed, and everyone who earns a wage will feel sick inside.

¹¹ The leaders of Zoan are stupid. Pharaoh's wise counselors give advice that doesn't make sense. How can you‡ tell Pharaoh, "I myself am a wise man, descended from ancient kings"?

¹⁴ The Lord has mixed up a spirit of confusion for them to drink, making the Egyptians stagger around in everything they do, like a drunk slipping up on his own vomit.

¹⁵ Nobody in Egypt can do anything, whoever they are—head or tail, palm tree or reed.*

¹⁶ At that time the Egyptians will become like women. They will shake with fear when the Lord Almighty raises his arm against them.

¹⁷ The land of Judah will be a source of terror to Egypt for whenever Judah is mentioned, all Egyptians will tremble over what the Lord Almighty has planned to do to them.

* 19:5 Literally, "the waters of the sea." † 19:9 Probably referring to cotton. ‡ 19:11 Referring to the "wise counselors." § 19:13 Literally, "Noph." * 19:15 See 9:14. The palm tree was valued, reeds not so much.

¹⁸ At that time there will be five cities in Egypt that speak the language of Canaan[†] and who have sworn to worship the Lord Almighty. One of them will be called the City of the Sun.[‡]

¹⁹ At that time there will be an altar to the Lord right in the middle of Egypt, and a stone monument to the Lord on its border.

²⁰ This will be a sign and a witness to the presence of the Lord Almighty in the land of Egypt. When they cry out to the Lord for help because they are being oppressed, he will send them a savior to fight for them and to rescue them.

²¹ The Lord will make himself known to Egypt, and at that time Egypt will come to know the Lord. They will worship him with sacrifices and offerings; they will make promises to the Lord and keep them.

²² The Lord will inflict a plague on Egypt. He will do this, but he will heal them. They will come back to the Lord. He will respond to their prayers and heal them.

²³ At that time there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will go to Egypt, and the Egyptians will go to Assyria. The Egyptians and Assyrians will worship together.

²⁴ At that time Israel will be the third part of this alliance, joining with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing to the whole of the earth.

²⁵ The Lord Almighty will bless them, saying, "Blessed be Egypt, my people, Assyria, the creation of my hands, and Israel, my special possession."

20

² at that time the Lord spoke through Isaiah, son of Amoz. He told him, "Take off the sackcloth clothes from your body and remove your sandals." Isaiah did so and went around naked and barefoot.

³ Then the Lord said, "In the same way that my servant Isaiah has gone naked and barefoot for three years as a sign and a warning against Egypt and Ethiopia,

⁴ so shall the king of Assyria lead the Egyptian prisoners and the Ethiopian exiles, both young and old, naked and barefoot. Their buttocks will be bare, to Egypt's shame.

⁵ They[†] will be discouraged and humiliated because they had put their hope in Ethiopia and proudly trusted in Egypt.

⁶ At that time the people living in the coastal lands[‡] will say, 'Look what has happened those we were depending on! We ran to them for help to save us from the king of Assyria. We don't stand a chance!' "

[†] 19:18 In other words, Hebrew. [‡] 19:18 "City of the Sun": or as it is called today, using the Greek equivalent, "Heliopolis." This reading is found in the Dead Sea Scrolls and in one version of the Septuagint etc. The current Hebrew text reads "City of Destruction" which may be related to the destruction of sun worship in the city. ^{*} 20:1 This is the only Biblical mention of Sargon II, king of Assyria. However, his campaign against Ashdod in 711 BC has been confirmed by archaeology.

[†] 20:5 Referring to the Philistines in Ashdod. [‡] 20:6 The area including Ashdod occupied by the Philistines.

² a horrifying vision that has been explained to me. The betrayer still betrays; the destroyer still destroys. Elamites and Medes, go ahead, attack and lay siege to Babylon,[†] for I'm putting a stop to all the pain it has caused.[‡]

³ As a result my body is filled with agony. I'm overwhelmed with pain, like the pain of a woman giving birth. I am confused by what I hear; I am distressed by what I see.

⁴ My mind falters; I shake in panic. The night I looked forward to has become terrifying.

⁶ This is what the Lord told me: "Go! Have a lookout keep watch, and make sure he reports what he sees.

⁷ When he sees chariots coming pulled by pairs of horses, riders on donkeys and on camels, he should watch very carefully, paying close attention."

⁸ Then the lookout[§] shouted "Sir, I've stood here on the watchtower day after day; night after night I've remained at my post.

⁹ Now look! A man in a chariot with a pair of horses is coming."

Then he said, "Babylon has fallen, has fallen! All the idols of its gods lie smashed on the ground!"

¹⁰ My poor downtrodden people, so badly mistreated, I have told you what I have heard from the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel.

¹¹ A message about Edom.* A voice is calling to me from Seir, asking, "Watchman, what time of night is it? Watchman, what time of night is it?"

¹² The watchman replies, "Morning is coming, but the night is coming again soon. If you want to ask again, then come back and ask."

¹³ A message about Arabia. Caravans from Dedan, spend the night in the bushes.

¹⁴ People of Tema, take water to the thirsty, meet the refugees with food.

¹⁶ This is what the Lord told me: "Within one year, just as a contract worker precisely counts years, all the glory of Kedar will be gone.

¹⁷ There will only be a few left of the archers, the warriors of Kedar." The Lord, the God of Israel, has spoken.

¹ A message about the Valley of Vision (Jerusalem). What's happening? Why has everyone gone up onto the rooftops?

* 21:1 "Desert by the sea," usually taken to refer to Babylon. Although there is no literal sea nearby, the large Euphrates River can be referred to as a "sea" in the same way the Nile is described in 18:2, 19:5. [†] 21:2 "Babylon": supplied for clarity. [‡] 21:2 "All the pain it has caused": literally, "all its sighing." [§] 21:8 Dead Sea Scroll reading. Hebrew text, "lion." * 21:11 The word used here actually means silence, and is a play on words with the actual name of the country of Edom. This is how the Septuagint interprets it.

² There are shouts and commotion all over the city with people celebrating.

³ All your leaders ran away together; they were captured without resistance. All your people trying to escape were captured together, even though they had run a long way away.

⁵ For the Lord has a day of defeat, of panic and confusion in the Valley of Vision, a day of tearing down walls and crying for help to the mountains.

⁸ Judah's defenses have been stripped away and so at that time you went looking for weapons in the Palace of the Forest.[§]

¹⁰ You reviewed the number of houses in the city and demolished some to provide stone* to repair the walls.

¹² At that time the Lord, the Lord Almighty, was calling you to weep and mourn, to shave your heads and wear sackcloth.

¹³ Instead, you go on happily partying! You slaughter cattle and sheep so you can have your feasts, eating meat and drinking wine, saying, "Let's eat and drink, because we're going to die tomorrow!"

¹⁴ The Lord Almighty has made this clear to me: "I will not forgive this sin till your dying day, says the Lord, the Lord Almighty."

¹⁵ This is what the Lord, the Lord Almighty, told me to do. "Go to Shebna, the palace manager, and give him this message:

¹⁶ 'What are you doing here? Who do you think you are, cutting out a tomb for yourself high up on a hill, carving out for yourself a place to rest?

¹⁷ Watch out, you "great man"! The Lord is about to grab you and violently toss you aside.

¹⁸ He's going to roll you up into a ball, and throw you far away into a vast country.[†] You will die there, and that's where the chariots you were so proud of will remain. You're a disgrace to your lord's royal family.

²⁰ After that I will call for my servant, Eliakim, son of Hilkiah.

* 22:2 A criticism of the people of Jerusalem who were not fighting the invaders. † 22:4 "Daughter of my people": probably a reference to Jerusalem. The "ruining" was not the destruction of Jerusalem at the time of Sennacherib's attack, but the huge amount of money and other valuable gifts Hezekiah gave him to "buy him off." See 2 Kings 18:15-16. ‡ 22:6 "Ready for battle": supplied for clarity. § 22:8 "The Palace of the Forest": "The Palace of the Forest of Lebanon" made by Solomon. See 1 Kings 10:17, 1 Kings 10:21; 14:27-28. * 22:10 "To provide stone": supplied for clarity. † 22:18 "Vast country": literally, "a broad-handed land." ‡ 22:19 Referring to the Lord.

²¹ I will put your robe and place your sash around him, and I will give your authority to him. He will be a father to the people living in Jerusalem and Judah.

²² I will give him the key to the house of David.[§] What he opens, nobody can shut; what he shuts, nobody can open.

²⁴ The heavy burden of his father's family will hang on him—all the descendants and the inlaws—all the little containers, bowls and all kinds of jars.

²⁵ So the time will come, declares the Lord Almighty, when the nail will come out of the wall, even though it was hammered in securely. It will break off and fall down, and everything hanging on it will fall down too. The Lord has spoken.

23

³ Egyptian grain* came across the wide oceans. The Nile's harvest was what made Tyre money; she was the merchant to the nations.

⁴ Feel the shame, Sidon! For the fortress of the sea says,[†] "I have no children, having never been in labor or given birth. I have not brought up young men or brought up young women."

⁵ When the news about Tyre reaches Egypt they will be in agony.

⁶ Sail across to Tarshish!

⁷ Is this really your triumphant city, whose beginnings are from the distant past, who has sent out people to colonize faraway places?

⁸ Who planned this attack on Tyre? Tyre, who created kingdoms, whose merchants were princes, whose traders were honored around the world!

¹⁰ Work your land, people of Tarshish, as they do beside the Nile, for you don't have a harbor anymore.[‡]

¹¹ The Lord held his hand out over the sea and shook kingdoms.[§] He has condemned Phoenicia, giving the order to destroy their fortresses.

[§] 22:22 "House of David" this could refer both the palace and to David's descendants. * 23:3

"Egyptian grain": literally, "the grain of Shihor." † 23:4 Tyre was called the daughter of Sidon (Isaiah 23:12), so the words that follow could be Sidon mourning the loss of her "daughter." Alternatively it could be Tyre, mourning the loss of her children (inhabitants). ‡ 23:10 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear. It apparently suggests that the people of Tarshish should turn to agriculture now that there won't be any more trade from the mother city of Tyre. § 23:11 "Kingdoms": presumably the other Phoenician kingdoms along the coast from Tyre.

¹³ Look at the country of the Babylonians, this people that are not as they used to be! The Assyrians have turned it into a place for desert animals. They set up their siege towers, they demolished the fortresses, and ruined the country.

¹⁵ At that time Tyre will be forgotten for seventy years, a king's lifetime, as it were. But at the end of these seventy years, Tyre will be like the song about a prostitute,

¹⁶ "Take a lyre and walk around the city, forgotten prostitute! Play and sing so people will remember you!"

¹⁷ After seventy years, the Lord will restore Tyre. But then she will go back to hiring herself out as a prostitute, selling herself to all the kingdoms of the world.

¹⁸ However, her profits and what she earns will be consecrated to the Lord. They won't be kept or saved up, for her business earnings will go to those who worship the Lord, to provide them with plenty of food and good clothes.

¹ Watch out! The Lord is going to destroy the earth, to make it totally devastated. He's going to rip up the surface of the earth and scatter its inhabitants.

² It will happen the same for everybody—whether people or priests, servants or their masters, maids or their mistresses, buyers or sellers, lenders or borrowers, creditors or debtors.

³ The earth will be completely laid waste and looted. This is what the Lord has said.

⁶ That is why a curse is destroying the earth. The people suffer because of their guilt. The inhabitants of the earth are burned up and only a few survive.

⁸ The happy sound of tambourines is over; the noise of the party-goers has stopped; the delightful harp music has finished,

⁹ People don't sing any more as they drink wine, and the beer tastes bitter.

¹⁰ The chaotic city is falling apart; every house is barred shut to keep others out.

¹² The city is in a horrible state of ruin; its gates have been broken down.

¹³ This is the way it's going to be all throughout the earth among the nations—only a few olives are left after the tree is shaken, only a few grapes are left to be gleaned after the harvest.

* 24:4 "The high and mighty people": or, "the heavens."

¹⁵ From the east they glorify the Lord; from the sea shores they praise the name of the Lord, the God of Israel.

¹⁶ We hear songs coming from the ends of the earth, singing, "Glory to the God who does right."

But I'm miserable, miserable. Pity me! Deceitful people go on betraying, again and again.[†]

¹⁷ Terrors and pit-traps and snares are waiting for you, people of the earth.

¹⁸ Those who run away in terror will fall into a pit-trap, and those who escape from the pit-trap will be caught in a snare. Heaven's windows[‡] are opened; earth's foundations shake.

¹⁹ The earth is completely broken up; the earth is ripped apart, the earth is violently shaken.

²⁰ The earth staggers to and fro like a drunk, and sways this way and that like a shelter. The guilt of its rebelliousness weighs heavily on it, and it collapses—it won't rise again.

²² They will be brought together, prisoners in a pit. They will be imprisoned, and eventually they will be punished.

²³ The moon will be embarrassed and the sun will be ashamed,[§] for the Lord Almighty will reign in glory on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem in the presence of its leaders.

¹ Lord, you are my God. I will honor you and praise who you are, because you have done wonderful things that you planned long ago. You are faithful and trustworthy!

² You have turned the city* into a pile of rubble; the fortified town is now a ruin; the foreigner palace is gone. It is no longer a city and it will never be rebuilt.

³ Because of this powerful nations will honor you; cities of brutal nations will be in awe of you.

⁴ But you have protected the poor and needy when they were in trouble, you shielded them from storms and shaded them from the heat. For the actions of brutal people are like rain beating against a wall,

⁵ like heat in a desert. You end the noisy uprising of foreigners. In the same way that a cloud's shadow cools down the heat of the day, so the song sung by brutal people is silenced.

⁷ On this mountain he will destroy the veil that covers all the nations, the sheet that is over everyone.

[†] 24:16 In the Hebrew this line is literally, "The treacherous deal treacherously, with treachery the treacherous deal treacherously." [‡] 24:18 "Heaven's windows": usually associated with rainfall/floods. [§] 24:23 Because their light will seem so dim in comparison to the Lord's glory.

* 25:2 Though no specific city is named, it is probable that Babylon is meant. Certainly it is an enemy city (having a foreigner's palace). [†] 25:6 Referring to Mount Zion.

⁸ He will destroy death forever. The Lord God will wipe away all tears, and everywhere he will take away the humiliation suffered by his people. The Lord has spoken.

⁹ At that time his people will say, "Look! This is our God; we have trusted in him and he has saved us! This is the Lord we have been looking for. Now we can be happy and celebrate the salvation he brings!"

¹⁰ The Lord's hand of protection will be on this mountain. But the Moabites will be trampled underfoot like straw into the water of a manure pit.

¹¹ They will reach out their hands to try and save themselves, like swimmers using their hands to swim, but their pride will be humbled however much they thrash about.

¹² Moab,[‡] he will demolish your fortress with the high walls, bringing it down to the ground, into the dust.

¹ At that time, this will be the song that is sung in the land of Judah: "Ours is a strong city! Its walls and defenses are our salvation!"

³ You will keep in complete peace those who keep their minds focused on you, because they trust in you.

⁴ Trust in the Lord forever, for the Lord God is the eternal Rock.

⁵ He brings down those who live so high and mighty; he demolishes the proud city with its high walls, bringing it down to the ground, into the dust.

⁷ You God, do what is right, and you straighten out the way for those who live right; you smooth out their path.

⁸ Yes, we follow your instructions, Lord, we put our hope in you. What we most want is to remember you and your wonderful character.

⁹ I look for you in the night; deep inside me I long for you. When your laws are shown to the earth, then the people of the world learn what is right.

¹⁰ Though grace is shown to the wicked, they don't learn to do right. Even in a country where people do what's right, they continue to do evil and they don't think about how great the Lord is.

¹¹ Lord, you are holding your hand up, but they don't see it. Let them see your passionate commitment for your people, and be embarrassed; may the fire reserved for your enemies destroy them!

¹³ Lord our God, there have been other lords besides you who have ruled us, but you are the only one we worship.

¹⁴ They are dead, they will not live again;* they will not rise from the grave. Lord, you punished them and destroyed them—even wiping out every memory about them.

[‡] 25:12 "Moab": supplied for clarity. * 26:14 Probably referring to those enemies of Judah who at times ruled them. Alternatively some see this as a reference to previous idol worship—the pagan gods who "ruled" over them.

¹⁵ You have made the nation grow, Lord, you have made the nation grow. You have expanded our borders of the land, and we honored you.

¹⁸ However, even though we became pregnant and we tossed about in pain, we gave birth to nothing but air. We did not bring about the salvation of the earth, and the people of the world have not become alive.[†]

¹⁹ But those who died in you, Lord, will live! Their bodies will rise again! Wake up, and sing for joy, you people sleeping in the dust, for the dew you receive is like the dew of the morning giving life to those in the grave.

²⁰ My people, go inside your homes and close your doors behind you. Hide there for a little while until the fury has passed.

²¹ Watch out! The Lord is coming from where he lives to punish the people of the earth for their sins. The earth will reveal the blood that has been shed on it; the earth won't hide those who have been killed any no longer.”

² At that time, sing about a beautiful vineyard.

³ I, the Lord, take care of it, watering it often. I guard it night and day so that nobody can damage it.

⁴ I'm not angry anymore.[†] If there are thorns and brambles I would go and fight them, burning them all up,

⁵ Otherwise they should come to me for protection. They should make their peace with me, yes, make their peace with me.

⁶ In the future the descendants of Jacob will be like a tree taking root. Israel will flower and send out shoots, and fill the whole world with fruit!

⁷ Has the Lord hit Israel as he hit those that attacked them? Were they killed like their killers were killed?[‡]

⁸ You dealt with them by sending them into exile, by banishing them. He drove them away with his powerful force, like when the east wind blows.

⁹ Through this experience Jacob's guilt will be forgiven. The removal of their sins will come to fruition when they take all the pagan altar stones and crush them to pieces like chalk—no Asherah poles or altars of incense will be left standing.

¹⁰ The fortified city will be abandoned, its houses as empty and lonely as a desert. Cattle will graze and rest there, stripping bare the branches of its trees.

¹¹ Their dry branches are broken off and used by women to make fires. This is a people that doesn't have any sense, so their Maker won't feel sorry for them, and their Creator won't help them.

[†] 26:18 “Become alive”: the word is actually “fall,” but is taken to mean “to be born.” * 27:1 Leviathan and the sea dragon come from pagan mythology, and are personifications of evil.

¹² At that time the Lord will thresh the grain harvested from the Euphrates River to the Wadi of Egypt, and you Israelites will be gathered up one by one.

¹³ At that time a loud trumpet will sound, and those who were dying in Assyria will return along with those exiled in Egypt. They will come and worship the Lord on the holy mountain in Jerusalem.

² Watch out, for the Lord has someone who is strong and powerful! He is going to smash it to the ground like a hailstorm and a tornado, like a torrential rain and an overwhelming flood.

³ That crowning glory of Ephraim's drunks will be trampled underfoot.

⁴ That fading flower of wonderful beauty, sitting above a fertile valley, will be like figs ripe before the summer harvest—as soon as people discover them, they grab and eat them.

⁶ He will be an inspiration to the judges to do what's right, and he will encourage those who fight off the attacks on the gate.

⁷ But these people also drink so much wine and beer that they sway from side to side and stumble over. Even priests and prophets stagger along, their minds muddled by beer and wine. Because of the drink they are confused about visions and make mistakes when they give decisions.

⁹ “Just who is he trying to teach knowledge to?” they ask.† “Who is he explaining his message to? To children just weaned from milk, to babies just removed from the breast?”

¹⁰ He tells us this blah and that blah, blah upon blah, and again blah and blah, and even more blah and blah!‡ It's a bit here and a bit there.”

¹¹ Fine—so now the Lord will talk to this people in foreign languages that sound strange to them!§

¹² He had told them, “You can rest here. Let those who are tired rest. This is the place where you can safely relax.” But they refused to listen.

¹³ Therefore the Lord's message to them will become, “This blah and that blah, blah upon blah, and again blah and blah, and even more blah and blah, a bit here and a bit there,” so that they'll fall over backwards, and they'll be wounded, trapped, and captured.*

¹⁴ So pay attention to the Lord's message, you scornful rulers who lead these people in Jerusalem.

* 28:1 “The city of Samaria”: supplied for clarity. † 28:9 “They ask.” Supplied for clarity.

‡ 28:10 There are indeed eight “blahs” in the Hebrew. The word was also used to describe idols, because they are also “blah”! § 28:11 Since the people had said that God was talking nonsense to them, he now will reveal his truth through other languages in order that he might communicate with them—even though these languages would sound like “blah” to them! Also verse 13. * 28:13 In other words, since they treat the Lord's message so contemptuously, they will reap the painful consequences of dismissing the Lord's advice.

¹⁵ You claim, "We've made an agreement with death; we've got a contract with the grave. When the terrible disaster rushes by, it won't affect us, because our lies protect us and we hide in our own deceptions."

¹⁷ I will make justice as straight as a measuring line, and doing what's right the standard rule. Hail will destroy the protection of your lies, and water will flood the place where you're hiding.

¹⁸ Your agreement with death will be canceled; your contract with the grave will be revoked. When the terrible disaster rushes by, it will trample you underfoot.

¹⁹ It will rush by time after time, dragging you away morning upon morning, day and night, rushing on and on. Once you understand this message you will be absolutely terrified.

²⁰ The bed is too short so you can't stretch out; the blanket is too narrow so you can't cover yourself.

²² So don't mock, or your imprisonment will be even worse, for the Lord, the Lord Almighty, has explained to me his decision to destroy the whole country.

²³ Listen to what I'm saying! Listen and pay attention! Hear what I have to say!

²⁴ Does the farmer spend all his time ploughing? Does he spend all his time preparing the soil?

²⁷ You don't use a heavy tool to thresh dill! You don't use the wheel of a cart to thresh cumin! Instead you use a stick to beat out the dill, and a rod to beat out the cumin.

²⁸ Grain used for bread is easily damaged so you don't thresh it forever. When you drive your cart wheels over it with your horses, you don't crush it.

²⁹ This is also from the Lord Almighty who is very wise and gives great advice.

² But I'm going to cause trouble for Ariel; the city will cry and mourn, it will be like an altar hearth^{*} to me.

³ I will surround you, I will besiege you with towers and build ramps to attack you.

[†] 28:16 "Shaken loose": the word used normally means "hurry," but can also have the meaning "disturbed." [‡] 28:21 "Philistines": supplied for clarity. See 1 Chronicles 14:8-16. ^{*} 29:2 "Altar hearth": the part where the sacrifice was burned, generally a messy area of animal remains and ash. In Hebrew the word Ariel can mean "altar" (Ezekiel 43:15-16) or "lion of God."

⁴ You will be brought down, you will speak from where you're lying on the ground, mumbling in the dust. Your words will come like a ghost from the grave; your voice will be a whisper from the dust.

⁵ But then all your enemies will become like fine dust; all your cruel oppressors like chaff that's blown away. Then suddenly, in no time at all,

⁶ the Lord Almighty will arrive with thunder, earthquake, and tremendous noise, with whirlwind, storm, and flames of fire that burn everything up.

⁸ It will be like someone hungry dreaming that they're eating but who wakes up still hungry. It will be like someone thirsty dreaming of drinking but who wakes up still weak and thirsty. This is what it will be like for all your enemies, the ones attacking Mount Zion.

¹⁰ For the Lord has made you very sleepy, and he has shut the eyes and covered the heads of those who speak for God and see visions.

¹¹ This entire vision is like words in a scroll that is sealed shut. If you give it to someone who knows how to read and say, "Please read it," they'll say, "I can't read it because it's sealed shut."

¹² If you give it to someone who doesn't know how to read and say, "Please read it," they'll say, "I don't know how to read."

¹³ The Lord says, "These people come and praise me with their words, and honor me with lip service, but their thoughts are miles away. Their worship of me only consists of them following rules people have taught them.

¹⁴ So once again I will surprise these people with miracle upon miracle. The wisdom of the wise will die, and the insight of the insightful will disappear."

¹⁵ Tragedy is coming to people who take such trouble to hide their plans from the Lord. They work in the dark and say to themselves, "Nobody can see us, can they? Nobody will know, will they?"

¹⁶ How perverse you are! It's as if the clay was thought of as making the potter! Should something made say to its maker, "You didn't make me"? Can the pot tell the potter, "You don't understand anything"?

¹⁷ It won't be long and the forests of Lebanon will be turned into a productive field, and a productive field will seem like a forest.

¹⁸ At that time the deaf will hear the words of the scroll, and the eyes of the blind will see through the gloomy darkness what's written there.[†]

¹⁹ The humble will be even happier in the Lord, and the poor will find their joy in the Holy One of Israel.

²⁰ Cruel people will no longer exist, the scornful will vanish, and those looking to do evil will be destroyed—

²¹ those who say things to trick others into sin, those who trap people by legal arguments in court, those who lie to mislead the innocent.

[†] 29:18 "What's written there": supplied for clarity.

²³ When you see all your children and everything I've done for you, then you will regard my character as holy, and you will respect the Holy One of Jacob. You will have reverence for the God of Israel.

²⁴ Those who've gone astray will understand their mistakes; those who grumble will learn how to receive instruction."

¹ Tragedy is coming to my defiant children, declares the Lord. You make plans that don't come from me; you make alliances against my wishes, adding sin to sin.

² You go to Egypt without asking me, looking to Pharaoh for protection, hoping to find safety hiding behind Egypt.

⁴ Even though he has officials at Zoan and his messengers reach Hanes,

⁵ the Egyptians will offend everyone because they are useless—they're no help and good for nothing, except for causing shame and bringing disgrace.

⁸ Now go and write all this down on a tablet and on a scroll so that it will last forever and ever.

⁹ For they are a rebellious people, deceitful children, who refuse to listen to the Lord's instructions.

¹⁰ They tell people who see visions, "Stop seeing visions!" and to the prophets, "Don't give us prophecies about doing right—just tell us pleasant things and give us fake prophecies.

¹¹ Stop telling us straight; go a different direction! We don't want to hear any more about the Holy One of Israel."

¹² So this is how the Holy One of Israel replies, Since you have rejected this message, and since you trust in oppression and believe in dishonesty,

¹³ your punishment will suddenly fall on you, like a high wall that bulges out and collapses in an instant.

¹⁴ You will be smashed like a clay pot, broken into such tiny pieces that there won't be a big enough piece to pick up coals from a hearth or a little bit of water from a well.

¹⁵ This is what the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, said, If you repent and patiently trust in me, you would be saved; you would be strong if you had such calm confidence. But you refused to do it.

¹⁶ You replied, "No! We'll escape on horseback! We'll get away on fast horses!"

But the fast ones will be the ones chasing you!

* 30:7 "Sitting Down": in other words, Egypt still speaks with arrogance, but it is so weak it does nothing but sit. The word for pride/arrogance also referred to a mythical sea-monster, Rahab.

¹⁷ Just one of them will chase after a thousand of you. Just five of them will make you all run away. All that will be left of you will look like a flag fluttering on the top of a mountain, a banner waving on a hill.

¹⁸ So the Lord waits, wanting to be kind to you, ready to act to show you mercy, for the Lord is a God who does what is right. All who wait for him are blessed.

¹⁹ People of Zion, you who live in Jerusalem, you won't have to weep any more. When you cry for help he will be kind to you. He will answer you immediately he hears you.

²⁰ Even though the Lord will give you the bread of hardship to eat and the water of suffering to drink, your teacher will no longer hide himself from you—you will see him with your own eyes.

²² You will defile your silver-coated idols coated with silver and your gold-covered images. You will throw them away like a dirty cloth used for periods, and say to them, "out of here!"

²⁴ The oxen and donkeys that help cultivate the earth will eat good greens and grain, spread with fork and shovel.

²⁶ The moon will shine as bright as the sun, and the sun will shine seven times brighter, like having seven days light in one. This is the way it will be when the Lord bandages the injuries of his people and heals the wounds he caused them.

²⁷ Look how the Lord arrives from far away, burning with anger and accompanied by thick clouds of smoke! What he says shows his anger—it's like a fire that burns everything up.

²⁹ But you will have a song to sing like you do on the night of a holy festival. You will celebrate in happiness like those who play pipes as they go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the Rock of Israel.

³⁰ The Lord will shout so everyone hears him he will reveal his great power. He will hit out in his anger and fury, with a fire that burns everything up, and with torrential rain, storm, and hail.

³¹ At the Lord's command the Assyrians will be shattered, knocked down by his scepter.

³² Every time the Lord hits them with his rod of punishment it will be accompanied by the music of tambourines and harps as he fights them, swinging into them in battle.

³³ The place of burning[†] has been prepared a long time ago, ready for the king. Its funeral pyre is deep and wide, and has plenty of fire and wood. The breath of the Lord, like a flood of burning sulfur, sets it on fire.

² Yet he's also wise! He will bring disaster and won't withdraw his orders. He will take action against this wicked nation* and the evil people who help them.

³ The Egyptians are only human beings—they're not God! Their horses are only physical, not spiritual. When the Lord lifts up his hand to attack, those who came to help will stumble, and those who are helped will fall. They will all die together.

⁵ Like birds that hover above, so the Lord Almighty will take care of Jerusalem. He will protect it and save it; he will pass over† it and rescue it.

⁷ For at that time every one of you will throw away all the idols of silver and gold made by your own sinful hands.

⁸ The Assyrians will be killed by the sword of one who is not a man. They will be destroyed by the sword of one who is not mortal. They will run away at the sight of the sword,‡ and the young Assyrian men will be taken away as slave laborers.

⁹ Their "rock"§ will be scared to death, and their officers will be terrified and in panic at the sight of the battle flag, declares the Lord, who has his fire in Zion, and his furnace in Jerusalem.

² Each one will be like a shelter from the wind, like a protection from the storm, like rivers of water in the dry desert, like the shade of a large rock in a sun-baked* land.

³ Then everyone with eyes will be able to truly see, and everyone who has ears will be able to truly hear.

⁴ Those whose minds are impulsive will be sensible and think things through; those who stammer will speak clearly.

⁵ No longer will fools be called respectable or crooks highly-regarded.

* 31:2 "Wicked nation": literally, "house of evil"—referring particularly to the royal house who led the nation in seeking an alliance with Egypt. † 31:5 "Pass over": the same word as used for the Passover. ‡ 31:8 The sword of the Lord. § 31:9 Thought to refer to the Assyrian king. * 32:2 "Sun-baked": literally, "faint, weary"—in other words an oppressively hot climate that causes fatigue.

⁸ But noble people act unselfishly; they keep to their principles of generosity.

⁹ Get up, you women who are lying around relaxing, and pay attention to what I'm saying! You ladies without a care in the world, listen to me!

¹⁰ In just over a year, you who think yourselves so safe will tremble with fear. The grape harvest is going to fail and there'll be no harvest.

¹¹ Shudder, you women relaxing! Tremble, you ladies who feel so safe! Strip off your clothes, bare yourselves and put on sackcloth around your waists.

¹³ over the loss of the land of my people. Mourn because it's now overgrown with thorns and brambles, mourn because of the loss of all the happy homes and joyful towns.

¹⁴ The palace is abandoned, the crowded town is deserted. Castles and watch towers will forever become homes loved by wild donkeys, and places where sheep graze, ¹⁵ until the Spirit is poured out on us from above, and the desert becomes like a good field full of crops, and a good field will grow like a forest.

¹⁶ Then people living in the desert will practice justice, and those living among the fields will do what is right.

¹⁷ Living right will bring peace and security that endures.

¹⁸ My people will live in peace, safe and secure in their homes.

¹⁹ Even though hail can destroy a forest, and a town can be demolished,

²⁰ you will be happy as you sow your crops beside the waters and let your cattle and donkeys roam freely.

¹ Tragedy is coming to you, you destroyer who has not experienced destruction yourself, you deceiver who has not experienced deception yourself! When you have finished with your destroying, you will be destroyed yourself. Then you are finished with your deceiving, you will be deceived yourselves.

² Lord, please be kind to us; we put our confidence in you. Be the strength we rely on every morning; be our salvation in times of trouble.

⁵ The Lord is praised for he lives in highest heaven; he has filled Zion with justice and right.

⁶ He will be your constant support throughout your lives an abundant source of salvation, wisdom, and knowledge. Reverence for the Lord is what makes Zion rich.

⁷ But look! Even your bravest soldiers are crying loudly in the street; the messengers you sent to ask for peace are weeping bitterly.

* 33:4 "Defeated enemy armies": supplied for clarity. This is usually taken to refer to the defeat of the Assyrians under Sennacherib.

8 Your highways are deserted; nobody's traveling on your roads anymore. He breaks the treaty,[†] he despises the witnesses;[‡] he doesn't care about anybody.

9 Israel[§] is in mourning and fades away; Lebanon withers in shame; the fields of Sharon have become a desert; the forests of Bashan and Carmel have shed their leaves.

10 "But now I'm going to intervene!" says the Lord. "I'm prepared to act! I will show myself to be above all others!

11 All you give birth to is only dry grass, all you deliver is just stubble. Your breath is a fire that will burn you up.

12 You people will be burned to ashes like thorns that are cut down and thrown into the fire.

13 Those of you who are far away, recognize what I have accomplished; those of you who are nearby, recognize how powerful I am."

14 The sinners who live in Zion tremble with fear; those who are irreligious are overcome with terror. They ask,* "Who can live with this fire that consumes everything? Who can live among such everlasting burning?"

15 Those who live right and speak the truth, those who refuse to profit from extortion and refuse to take bribes, who don't listen to plots to kill people, who close their eyes rather than look at evil.

16 They will live on high; they will be protected by the mountain fortresses; they will always be provided with food and will always have water.

17 You will see the king in his wonderful appearance, and you will view a land that stretches into the distance.

18 In your mind you will think about the terrifying things that were expected, and then ask yourself, "Where are the enemy officials—the scribes who were to record events, the treasurers who were to weigh the looted money, the surveyors who were to count and destroy the towers?"[†]

19 You won't see these offensive people anymore with their barbaric language that sounds like someone stammering and is impossible to understand.

20 On the contrary, you'll see Zion as a festival city. You will view Jerusalem as a quiet and peaceful place. It will be like a tent that's never taken down, whose tent-pegs are never pulled up, whose guy ropes never snap.

21 Right here our majestic Lord will be like a place of broad rivers and waters that no enemy ship with oars can cross—no great ship can pass.

22 For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king. He is the one who will save us.

23 The rigging on your ship hangs loose so the mast isn't secure and the sail can't be spread. Then all the looted treasure you're carrying will

[†] 33:8 "Treaty": or "covenant." In the context here it probably refers to a treaty between Israel and Assyria that the Assyrians have broken, not caring what anybody thinks. [‡] 33:8 "Witnesses":

be divided among the victors[‡]—even those who are lame will have their share.

²⁴ Nobody in Israel will say, “I’m sick,” and those who live there will have their guilt removed.

34

¹ Come close, you nations, and listen! You peoples, pay attention! Hear these words everyone who lives on earth, and all that comes from it!

² The Lord’s anger is against all the nations and his fury is against all their armies. He will completely destroy them; he will have them slaughtered.

³ Those who are killed won’t be buried; the stink of their bodies will rise; mountains will be washed away with their blood.

⁵ After my sword has finished what it has to do[†] in the heavens, it will come down on Edom, on the people I have doomed for destruction.

⁶ The sword of the Lord is coated in blood and covered with fat—the blood of lambs and goats, and the fat of rams’ kidneys. For there is a sacrifice for Lord happening in Bozrah,[‡] a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

⁷ Wild ox will fall with them, the young bulls along with the mature ones. Their land will be soaked with blood, and their soil soaked with fat.

⁸ For the Lord has a day of punishment, a year of retribution, for the trouble caused to Zion.

¹⁰ The fire will burn day and night, and will never go out, its smoke will rise forever. From one generation to the next it will remain desolate—people won’t ever go there again.

¹¹ The desert owl and screech owl will take it over, and the eagle owl and raven will live there. The Lord will stretch out over Edom a measuring line of destruction and a plumb line of desolation.

¹³ Thorns will grow over its palaces; weeds and thistles will take over its fortresses. It will be a place where jackals live, a home for owls.

¹⁴ It will be a meeting place for desert animals and hyenas, and wild goats will call to each other there. Night animals will settle there and find a place to rest.

¹⁵ There the owl will build its nest, lay and hatch its eggs, and raise its chicks in the shade of its wings. It has become a roost for birds of prey, each one with its mate.

[‡] 33:23 “Among the victors”: supplied for clarity. * 34:4 The Dead Sea Scrolls have “The depths will be split open.” [†] 34:5 “After my sword has finished what it has to do in the heavens”: the Dead Sea Scrolls have “My sword will appear in the sky.” [‡] 34:6 Bozrah was an important Edomite town.

¹⁶ Look in the scroll of the Lord and read what it says: Not a single one of these will be missing its mate, for the Lord has ordered this to happen, and his Spirit has gathered them together.

¹⁷ He assigns them their territories, he divides up the land for them using a measuring line. These birds and animals* will own it forever, from one generation to the next.

¹ The wilderness and dry land will celebrate; the desert will blossom like the crocus.

² Bloom profusely, celebrate and sing! The glory of Lebanon shall be given to it, the splendor of Carmel and Sharon. They shall see the glory of the Lord, the splendor of our God.

³ Make the weak hands strong, and make the trembling knees firm!

⁴ Tell those who are frightened, "Be strong! Don't be afraid! Look, your God is coming to punish his enemies, with divine retribution he will come to save you."

⁵ When that happens, the blind will see, and the deaf will hear.

⁶ The lame will jump like a deer, and the dumb will sing for joy. Springs will gush in the wilderness; streams will flow in the desert.

⁷ The dried-up ground will become like a pool, the arid land like water springs. In the place where jackals* used to live, there will be grass and reeds and rushes.

⁸ There will be a highway there, a road called "The Way of Holiness." Nobody bad† will travel on it, only those who follow the Way. Fools will not go there.

⁹ No lions or other dangerous animals will be found there on the road—only the redeemed will walk along it.

¹⁰ Those the Lord has set free will return, singing as they enter Jerusalem, wearing crowns of everlasting joy. They are overcome with thankfulness and happiness; sorrow and sadness simply disappear.

² The king of Assyria sent his army general,† along with a large army, from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. He stopped by the aqueduct of the upper pool, on the road to the Launderer's Field.

³ Eliakim, son of Hilkiah, the palace manager; Shebna the scribe, and Joah, son of Asaph, the record-keeper, went out to speak with him.

⁴ The Assyrian army general said to them, "Tell Hezekiah this is what the great king, the king of Assyria, says: What are you trusting in that gives you such confidence?

⁵ You say you have a strategy and are ready for war, but these are empty words. Who are you relying on, now that you have rebelled against me?

* 34:17 "Birds and animals": supplied for clarity. * 35:7 Jackals are animals of the desert.

† 35:8 "Bad": literally, "unclean." * 36:1 Much of the next three chapters parallel 2 Kings 18 to 2 Kings 20. † 36:2 Literally, "the Rabshakeh." However, this is an Assyrian title, not a personal name.

⁶ Now look! You're trusting in Egypt, a walking stick that's like a broken reed that will cut the hand of anyone leaning on it. That's what Pharaoh, king of Egypt, is like to everyone who trusts in him.

⁷ If you tell me, 'We're trusting in the Lord our God,' well didn't Hezekiah remove his high places and his altars, telling Judah and Jerusalem: 'You have to worship at this altar in Jerusalem'?

⁹ How could you defeat even a single officer in charge of the weakest of my master's men when you're trusting in Egypt for chariots and horsemen?

¹¹ Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah, said to the army general, "Please speak to us, your servants, in Aramaic, for we understand it. Don't speak to us in Hebrew while the people on the wall are listening."

¹² But the army general replied, "Did my master only send me to say these things to your master and to you, and not to the people sitting on the wall? They too, just like you, are going to have to eat their own excrement and drink their own urine!"

¹³ Then the army general shouted out in Hebrew, "Listen to this from the great king, the king of Assyria!

¹⁵ Don't believe Hezekiah when he tells you to trust in the Lord, saying, 'I'm certain the Lord will save us. This city will never fall into the hands of the king of Assyria.'

¹⁷ I will come and take you to a land that's like your own, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

¹⁸ But don't let Hezekiah trick you when he says, 'The Lord will deliver us.' Have any of the gods of any nation ever saved their land from the power of the king of Assyria?

¹⁹ Where were the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where were the gods of Sepharvaim? Were they able to save Samaria from me?

²¹ But the people remained silent and didn't say anything, for Hezekiah had given the order, "Don't answer him."

²² Then Eliakim, son of Hilkiah, the palace manager, Shebna the scribe, and Joah, son of Asaph, the record-keeper, went to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and they told him what the Assyrian army general had said.

37

² He sent Eliakim the palace manager, Shebna, the scribe, and the leading priests, all wearing sackcloth, to see the prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz.

³ They told him, "This is what Hezekiah says: Today is a day of trouble and of punishment. It's like when babies arrive at the entrance to the birth canal but there's no strength to deliver them.

⁴ Maybe the Lord your God, hearing the message the army commander delivered on behalf of his master, the king of Assyria—a message sent to insult the living God—will punish him for his words. Please say a prayer for the remnant of us who still survive."

⁶ Isaiah replied to them, "Tell your master, 'This is what the Lord says: Don't be frightened by the words that you have heard, the words used by the servants of the king of Assyria to blaspheme me.

⁷ Look, I'm going to scare him—he'll hear a rumor, and he'll have to return to his own country. When he's there I'll have him killed by the sword."

⁹ Sennacherib had received a message about Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, that said, "Watch out! He is coming to attack you." So Sennacherib sent messengers again to Hezekiah, saying,

¹⁰ "Tell Hezekiah, king of Judah: 'Don't let your God, the one you're trusting in, fool you by saying that Jerusalem won't fall into the hands of the king of Assyria.

¹¹ Look! You've heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries they've invaded*— they destroyed them completely! Do you really think you'll be saved?

¹² Did the gods of the nations my forefathers destroyed save them—the gods of Gozan, Haran, Rezeph, and the people of Eden who lived in Telassar?

¹³ Where today is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the king of the city of Sepharvaim, the king of Hena, or the king of Ivvah?"

¹⁴ Hezekiah received the letter from the messengers and read it. Then he went up to the Lord's Temple and opened it out before the Lord.

¹⁵ Hezekiah prayed to the Lord, saying,

¹⁶ "Lord Almighty, God of Israel, you who live above the cherubim, you alone are God over all the kingdoms of the earth, you are Creator of heaven and earth.

¹⁸ Yes, it's true, Lord, that the Assyrian kings have destroyed these nations and their lands.

¹⁹ They have thrown their gods into the fire because they are not really gods—they are just the work of human hands, made of wood and stone so they could destroy them.

²⁰ Now, Lord our God, please save us from him, in order that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that only you, Lord, are God."

* 37:11 "They've invaded": implied.

²¹ Then Isaiah, son of Amoz, sent a message to Hezekiah, saying, “This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: Because you’ve prayed to me about Sennacherib, king of Assyria, ²² this is the word of the Lord condemning him: The virgin daughter of Zion scorns you and mocks you; the daughter of Jerusalem shakes her head as you run away.

²³ Who have you been insulting and ridiculing? Who did you raise your voice against? Who did you look at with so proud eyes? It was against the Holy One of Israel!

²⁴ By your servants you have mocked the Lord. You said: ‘With my many chariots I have ascended to the high mountains, to the farthest peaks of Lebanon. I have chopped down its tallest cedars, the best of its cypress trees. I have reached its most distant heights, its deepest forests.

²⁶ The Lord replies,[†] “Haven’t you heard? I decided it long ago; I planned it in the olden days. Now I am making sure it happens—that you are to knock down fortified towns into piles of rubble.

²⁷ Their people, powerless, are terrified and humiliated. They’re like plants in a field, like soft green shoots, like grass that sprouts on the rooftop—scorched before it can even grow.

²⁸ But I know you very well—where you live, when you come in, when you leave, and your furious anger against me.

²⁹ Because of your furious anger against me, and because I know how you disrespect me, I’m going to put my hook in your nose and my bit in your mouth, and I will force you to return the same way you came.”

³² For a remnant will come out of Jerusalem, and survivors will come from Mount Zion. The intense determination of the Lord will make sure this happens.

³⁵ I will defend this city and save it, for my own sake and for the sake of my servant David.”

³⁶ Then the angel of the Lord went to the Assyrian camp and killed 185,000 of them. When the survivors woke up in the morning, they were surrounded by dead bodies.

³⁷ Sennacherib, king of Assyria, gave up and left. He returned home to Nineveh and stayed there.

[†] 37:26 “The Lord replies”: supplied for clarity. [‡] 37:30 “To prove this is true”: implied.

³⁸ While he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisroch, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer killed him with the sword and then ran away to the land of Ararat. His son Esar-haddon succeeded him as king.

¹ About this time Hezekiah fell very sick and was about to die. The prophet Isaiah, son of Amoz, went to him and said, "This is what the Lord says: Put your affairs in order, because you are going to die. You won't recover."

² When Hezekiah heard this, he went to pray privately* to the Lord, saying

³ "Please remember Lord how I have followed you faithfully with all my heart. I have done what is good in your sight." Then Hezekiah cried and cried.

⁴ Then the Lord sent a message to Isaiah, saying,

⁵ "Go and tell Hezekiah, This is what the Lord, the God of your forefather David, says: I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears. I will add fifteen years to your life.

⁶ I will save you and this city from the king of Assyria. I will defend this city.

⁷ This is the sign from the Lord to you that the Lord will do what he promised:

⁸ Look, I will make the shadow made by the sun go back the ten steps that it has gone down on the stairway of Ahaz. So the sun went back the ten steps that it had gone down on the stairway of Ahaz."

¹⁰ I said to myself, "Do I have to go to my death† just as my life is going well? Why can't I count on the rest of my years?"

¹¹ I said, "I will never again see the Lord, the Lord, in the land of the living. I won't see anyone else again, none of the inhabitants of this world.

¹² Like a shepherd's tent, the place where I live‡ has been pulled up and taken away from me. Like a weaver I have rolled up the cloth of my life and cut it from the loom. Day and night you bring me to an end.

¹³ I lie there patiently until the morning, but I feel like there's a lion breaking every bone in my body. Day and night you bring me to an end.

¹⁴ I scream like a swift or a songbird,§ I moan like a dove. My eyes grow dim as I look heavenwards. I'm being attacked, Lord, please come and support me!

¹⁵ Yet what can I say? He told me what was going to happen, and he himself did it.* I will walk quietly for the rest of my life because of the painful experience I went through.

¹⁶ Lord, we live by what you say and do, and I find life in all of this. You have given me back my health and allowed me to live.

* 38:2 "Privately": literally, "turned his face to the wall." † 38:10 "Death" literally, "gates of Sheol." ‡ 38:12 "The place where I live": referring to his body. § 38:14 "Songbird": some have suggested "thrush," but the meaning is uncertain. It was certainly meant to reflect a plaintive, sad cry, and therefore the common translation of "crane" is certainly incorrect. * 38:15 Referring to his illness.

¹⁷ It was definitely for my own good I went through this bitter experience. You in your love saved me from the pit of destruction and you have forgiven all my sins.

¹⁸ Those in the grave cannot praise you, the dead cannot praise you. Those who go down into the pit can no longer hope in your faithfulness.

²⁰ The Lord saved me! We will sing my songs with stringed instruments all the days of our lives in the Lord's Temple."

²¹ Isaiah had said, "Prepare a dressing of figs and spread it on the skin sores so he may recover."

²² Hezekiah had asked, "What is the sign to confirm that I will go to the Lord's Temple?"

39

¹ At the same time Merodach-baladan, son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, because he had heard that Hezekiah was sick and had recovered.

² Hezekiah happily welcomed the visitors and showed them what he had in his treasury—all the silver, the gold, the spices, and the expensive oils. He also showed them his whole armory and all that he had in his storehouses. In fact there wasn't anything in his palace or in the whole of his kingdom that Hezekiah didn't show them.

³ Then the prophet Isaiah went to King Hezekiah and asked him, "Where did those men come from, and what did they tell you?"

"They came to see me from a long way away, from Babylon," Hezekiah replied.

⁴ "What did they see in your palace?" Isaiah asked.

"They saw everything in my palace," replied Hezekiah. "There wasn't anything in all my storehouses I didn't show them."

⁵ Isaiah told Hezekiah, "Listen to what the Lord says:

⁶ You can be certain that the time is coming when everything in your palace, and everything that your forefathers have saved up until now, will be taken away to Babylon. There will be nothing left, says the Lord.

⁷ Some of your sons, your own offspring, will be taken to serve as eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon."

⁸ Hezekiah said to Isaiah, "The message from the Lord that you have told me is fine." For he said to himself, "There'll definitely be peace and safety in my lifetime."

² "Speak lovingly to the people of Jerusalem, telling them that their hard times are over, that their sins have been forgiven, and that the Lord has paid them twice over for their sins."

³ A voice is heard calling, "Prepare the way for the Lord in the wilderness, make a straight highway for our God through the desert.

⁵ The Lord's glory will be revealed, and everyone will see it together. This is what the Lord has declared."

⁶ A voice is heard saying, "Shout it out." I asked, "What shall I shout?" "All human beings are like grass, and all their trustworthiness is like the flowers of the field.

⁸ However, even though the grass wilts and the flower fades, the word of our God will endure forever."

¹⁰ Look! The Lord God is coming with power! He will rule with a firm hand. Look! He's bringing his reward with him, coming to give his gift.

¹¹ He looks after his flock like a shepherd. He picks up the lambs in his arms and holds them close to his chest. He leads those that are nursing young.

¹² Who has measured the waters he holds in the palm of his hand? Who has marked off the heavens with the span of his hand? Who has worked out the amount of dust of the earth? Who has weighed the mountains on a scale and the hills with a balance?

¹⁴ Who did the Lord go to for advice to help him understand? Who taught him right from wrong? Who gave him knowledge and showed him the way of wisdom?

¹⁵ It's obvious that the nations are just a drop in a bucket. They're like dust on a set of scales. He can pick up islands as if they weigh next to nothing.

¹⁶ All the wood in Lebanon for a fire and all its animals as a sacrifice wouldn't be enough a burnt offering.

¹⁷ To him all the nations are like nothing. He counts them as less than nothing—like they don't exist.

¹⁸ Who do you think is like God? What image do you think he looks like?

¹⁹ Is he a metal idol that a craftsman casts in a mold, and then a goldsmith overlays it with gold and makes silver chains for it?

²¹ Don't you know? Haven't you heard? Hasn't it been explained to you from the very beginning? Haven't you understood from the time the world was created?*

²² God sits on his throne above the horizon of the earth; the people that live there are like grasshoppers. He stretches out the heavens like a curtain, spreading them out like a tent to live in.

²³ He brings leaders down; he makes the rulers of the world like nothing.

²⁴ In fact they are hardly even planted, hardly even sown, hardly even taken root, when he blows on them and they wither, and the wind carries them away like straw.

* 40:21 "The world was created": literally, "the foundations of the world."

²⁵ “Who are you going to compare me with? Who is equal to me?” asks the Holy One.

²⁷ Why do you speak like this, Jacob, and why do you say, Israel, “The Lord doesn’t see what’s happening to me, and he’s ignoring my rights!”

²⁸ Don’t you know? Haven’t you heard? The Lord is the eternal God, the Creator of the whole earth. He’s never weak or tired; you can’t find out all he knows.

³⁰ Even young people grow weak and tired—they fall down when they’re exhausted.

³¹ But those who trust in the Lord will have their strength renewed. They will fly high with wings like eagles. They will run and not be tired. They will walk and not be worn out.

¹ Listen to me in silence, you people who live in lands beyond the sea. Let the nations regain their strength. Then let them come and speak, and let us join together for judgment.*

² Who has encouraged this one from the east who is called into God’s service† to do what is right‡? He gives him nations, and helps him trample kings underfoot. He makes them like dust with his sword, and turns them into chaff with his bow, blown before him on the wind.

³ He chases them down, and goes on unharmed, not following the usual routes.

⁴ Who has achieved and done this, calling into existence each generation from the beginning of time? I, the Lord, the first and the last, I am the one.

⁶ They all help each other, encouraging one another to “Be strong!”

⁷ The craftsman encourages the goldsmith; the one who beats out the metal with a hammer encourages the one hitting the anvil, saying the soldering is good. They nail the idol down so it won’t fall over.

⁹ I brought you back from distant lands, I called you back from faraway places, telling you, “You are my servants.” I have chosen you, and I have not abandoned you.

¹⁰ Don’t be afraid, for I am with you! Don’t be frightened for I, your God, will make you strong, and I will certainly help you. I will support you with my strong hand, acting for what is right.

¹² Even though you look for your enemies, you won’t find them. Those who attack you will become absolutely nothing.

* 41:1 From what follows, and the context of previous verses, this chapter appears to be a call to decide between the true God and idols. † 41:2 “Into God’s service”: literally, “to his feet.”

13 For I the Lord will grab you by the hand and tell you, “Don’t be afraid! I myself will help you.

14 Don’t be frightened, Jacob, you little worm, you people of Israel, for I will help you,” declared the Lord your Savior, the Holy One of Israel.

15 Look! I will make you into a new and sharp threshing device,[§] with many pointed teeth. You will thresh the mountains and crush the hills, turning them into chaff.

16 You will throw them into the air; the wind will carry them away, and a storm will scatter them. Then you will be happy in the Lord, and boast about the Holy One of Israel.

17 The poor and needy search for water, but don’t find any—their tongues are dry with thirst. I, the Lord, will respond to them; I, the God of Israel, won’t abandon them.

18 I will open up rivers in the desolate highlands and springs in the valleys. I will make pools in the wilderness and springs in the desert.

19 I will plant cedars, acacias, myrtles, and olive trees in the desert. I will place evergreens in the desert, firs and box trees together.

20 In this way everyone can see and know, they can think about it and draw the conclusion that the it is the Lord who has done this, that the Holy One of Israel made it happen.

21 “Now you submit your case,”* says the Lord. “Present your evidence,” says the King of Jacob.

22 “Let them[†] come and tell us what’s about to happen. Let them explain the things of the past, so that we can think about them and discover the final outcome. Or they can tell us about the future.

23 Predict what’s coming so we can know for sure that you are gods. At least do something, good or bad, to impress us when we see it.

24 But look at you! You’re nothing, and you can’t do anything! Anyone who chooses you is disgusting!

25 I have encouraged the one who comes from the north. He is from the east,[‡] and will respect me.[§] He will tread on rulers as if they were mortar, like a potter treading on clay.*

26 Who announced this beforehand so that we could know about it? Who let us know in the past, so that now we could say: ‘He was right’? None of you announced it, none of you predicted it, and nobody heard you say a word![†]

27 I was the first to announce to Zion: ‘Look, here they are!’ I was the one who brought to Jerusalem the good news.

28 I look at these idols, and find there is no one who can say anything.[‡] None of them can give advice; when I ask them something, they can’t even answer.

§ 41:15 “Threshing device”: used for processing grain. * 41:21 Regarding the abilities of idols in contrast to the evidence of the actions of God already mentioned † 41:22 Referring to the idols, the false gods. ‡ 41:25 If this prophecy is taken to refer to Cyrus (see verse 2), then he comes from the east (literally “the rising sun”), but his entrance into Palestine would be from the north.

§ 41:25 “Respect me”: literally, “call on my name,” often associated with the idea of worship.

* 41:25 Both mortar and clay were mixed using the feet. † 41:26 Referring to the inability of idols to predict the future. ‡ 41:28 Expanded for clarity.

42

1 Look! Here is my servant, the one I support; my chosen one who pleases me.* I have placed my Spirit on him, and he will show the nations what is right.

2 He won't shout or cry out; he won't raise his voice in the street.

3 He won't break a damaged reed; he won't snuff out a smoldering wick. He will faithfully make sure everyone is treated fairly.

4 He won't give up or become discouraged until he has made sure that justice is upheld throughout the world. Even lands overseas will look forward to his teachings.

5 This is what God the Lord says, the one who created the heavens and stretched them out, who made the earth and everything in it, who gives breath to the people on it, and life to those who live there:

6 "I, the Lord, have called you to demonstrate what's right, and I will hold your hand. I will take care of you, and give you as a sign of my agreement with the people and as a light to the nations.

7 You will make the blind see, set free those who are locked up, and lead those who sit in darkness out from prison.

8 I am the Lord—that is my name! I do not give my honor to anyone else; I do not give my praise to idols.

9 Notice that what I foretold has come true, as will the new things I'm saying to you now. I tell you what will happen before it does."

10 Sing a new song to the Lord! Sing praise from everywhere on earth, you who sail on the sea and everything in it, you islands and everyone who lives in them.

11 Let the people in the desert and its towns shout; let the people of the villages of Kedar cry out loud. Let the people of Sela sing for joy; let them shout from the mountaintops.

12 Let them glorify the Lord and praise him in the islands.

13 Like a mighty warrior the Lord will march out, like a seasoned soldier he goes out with courage. He gives his war-cry, shouting as he battles and defeats his enemies.

14 "I didn't say anything for a long time, I kept quiet and restrained myself. But now like a woman giving birth, I will moan and gasp and pant.

15 I will dry up the mountains and the hills, and make all their greenery wither. I will turn rivers into islands and dry up the pools.

16 I will lead the blind along a road they don't know; I will guide them along paths they don't know. I will turn darkness into light before them, and smooth out the rough places. This is what I'm going to do for them; I won't let them down.

17 But those who trust in idols and say to images, 'You are our gods!' will be rejected in humiliation and shame.

18 Listen, you deaf people! Look and see, you blind people!

§ 41:29 "Hot air": literally, "wind and emptiness." * 42:1 Matthew applies this passage to Jesus: Matthew 12:18-21.

¹⁹ Who is blind like my servant? Who is deaf like my messenger that I send? Who is as blind as the people of the agreement? Who is as blind as the servant of the Lord?[†]

²¹ Because the Lord does what is right he wanted to show how important and wonderful his instructions were.

²² But this people ended up robbed and raided, all of them trapped in holes or hidden in prisons. They have been stolen like loot, with no one to save them from being someone's prize, no one to say "Give them back!"

²³ Who of you is going to listen to this, or pay attention later on?

²⁵ So he poured out his furious anger on them, and the violence of war. Even though they were surrounded by flames, but they still didn't understand. The fire burned them up, but they still did not take the situation seriously.

¹ But now this is what the Lord says to Jacob, the one who created you; to Israel, the one who formed you: "Don't be afraid! I have saved you! I have called you by name; you are mine!

² When you walk through the water, I will be with you; and when you go through the rivers, they won't flood over you. When you walk through fire, you will not be burned; the flames will not set you on fire.

³ For I am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior. I gave Egypt to pay for your freedom; I traded Ethiopia and Seba for you.

⁴ Because you are so valuable to me, because I honor you, and because I love you, I give people in exchange for you, nations in exchange for your lives.

⁵ Don't be afraid, for I am with you! I will bring you and your children from the east and the west, and gather you together.

⁶ I will tell the north, 'Hand them over!' and the south, 'Don't stop them!' Bring my sons back from far away and my daughters from distant lands.

⁷ Bring back everyone who bears my name, those I created for my honor, those I formed and made.

⁹ Have all the nations gather together! Have all the peoples assemble! Who among them could have said this, and predict what was going to happen? Have them bring their witnesses to prove that they're right. Then have them listen, and say, 'It's true!'^{*}

¹⁰ However, you are my witnesses, the Lord declares, and my chosen servant, so that you can think about it, and believe me and understand that I am God.[†] No god preceded me, and none will come after me.

[†] 42:19 This verse and the following seem to apply to God's people rather than the "Messianic" servant. ^{*} 43:9 This refers back to the previous chapter and the inability of the idols to predict the future, as God has just done. Clearly nobody could meet God's challenge. [†] 43:10 "I am God":

literally, "I am he." Also in verse 25.

¹¹ I, yes I am the Lord, and there is no Savior apart from me.

¹² I predicted what was going to happen, then I saved you, then I announced it—there was no foreign god among you that did this. You are my witnesses that I am God, declares the Lord.

¹³ I am God from the beginning.[‡] No one can snatch anybody from my hand. No one can reverse what I do.

¹⁴ This is what the Lord, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel, says: For your sake I will send attackers against Babylon and bring them down. All the Babylonians will be like fugitives, escaping in the ships they're so proud of.[§]

¹⁵ I am the Lord, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, and your King.

¹⁶ This is what the Lord says, the one who makes a way through the sea, a path through the mighty waters;

¹⁷ the one who brought out a great army with its horses and chariots and lay them down, never to rise again, snuffed out like a burning wick.

¹⁸ But don't dwell on the past; don't concentrate on what happened back then.

¹⁹ Just look at something new I'm going to do now! In fact it's started already. Can't you see it? Yes, I'm making a way through the wilderness, rivers in the desert!

²⁰ The wild animals will be grateful to me, the jackals and the owls, because I'm providing water in the wilderness, rivers in the desert, so my people, my chosen people, can drink.

²³ You haven't brought me sheep for burnt offerings; you haven't honored me with your sacrifices. I haven't burdened you by asking for grain offerings; I haven't tired you out by demanding incense.

²⁴ You haven't used your money to buy scented calamus;^{*} you have not pleased me with the fat of your sacrifices. Instead you have burdened me with your sins, and tired me out with your guilt.

²⁵ I, yes I am the God who wipes out your sins because of who I am, and who doesn't remember your sins any more.

²⁶ Remind me of the evidence so we can come to a decision together! Present your case to prove that you're right!

²⁷ Your very first father sinned, and your leaders rebelled against me.

²⁸ So I treated the priests of the sanctuary with contempt, and I handed Jacob over to be destroyed, and Israel to be scorned."

² This is what the Lord says, the one who made you, who formed you in the womb, and who will help you: Don't be afraid, Jacob, my servant, Jeshurun,^{*} the one I've chosen.

[‡] 43:13 "I am God from the beginning": literally, "Before the day was I am he." [§] 43:14 The Hebrew of the last part of this verse is obscure. ^{} 43:24 "Calamus": a sweet-smelling plant used in perfumes and ancient medicines. ^{} 44:2 "Jeshurun": another name for Israel.

³ For I'm going to pour out water on the thirsty land, and streams on the dry ground. I'm going to pour out my Spirit on your descendants, and my blessing on your children.

⁴ They will grow up among the grass, like willows beside streams.

⁵ One of them will say, "I belong to the Lord," while another will call himself by the name Jacob, and yet another will write on his hand, "Belonging to the Lord," and will name himself Israel.

⁶ This is what the Lord says, the King and Redeemer of Israel, the Lord Almighty: I am the first and I am the last, and there is no God besides me.

⁷ Who is like me? Let them announce it, make a declaration, and demonstrate it before me. For I was the one who long ago established a people and predicted its future. Let them predict what's going to happen.

⁸ Don't tremble, don't be afraid! Didn't I tell you long ago what I was going to do? Didn't I explain it? You are my witnesses. Is there any God besides me? There is no other Rock—I don't know any!

⁹ All those who make idols are stupid; these things they love so much don't bring them any benefit. Those people who believe in idols can't see this, and they don't know anything, making them look foolish.

¹⁰ Who makes a god, who molds an idol that's no use to them?

¹¹ Everyone who makes idols should be ashamed of themselves. Idol-makers are just human beings! Bring them all together and have them stand up, trembling in shame.

¹⁴ He chops down cedars, or takes a cypress or an oak. He lets them grow strong in the forest. He plants a fir tree, and the rain makes it grow.

¹⁵ Some wood he burns, to keep him warm and to bake his bread. Then he uses some of the same wood to make a god to worship, an idol he bows down to!

¹⁶ So he burns part of the wood to roast his meat to eat, and to warm him up, and says, "Ah! Look at that fire that keeps me warm!"

¹⁷ Then he uses the rest of the wood to make himself a god, an idol he bows down to in worship and prays to, saying, "Save me, for you are my god!"

¹⁸ How ignorant they are, how dumb! Their eyes have been plastered over so they can't see, their minds closed so they don't have insight.

¹⁹ They can't think things over; they don't have the wisdom or the understanding to say, "Some of the wood I burned in the fire—I used it to bake my bread and roast my meat to eat. The rest of it I used to make a disgusting idol, and I bow down in worship to a block of wood."

²⁰ He is feeding on ashes, seduced by the deceptive thinking of his mind. He can't save himself, and he doesn't even ask, "Isn't this idol I'm holding just a lie?"

²¹ "Remember all this, Jacob and Israel, for you are my servant. I made you, Israel, you are my servant. I won't forget you.

²² I have wiped away your acts of rebellion as if they were like a cloud, your sins as if they were like the mist. Come back to me, for I have set you free.”

²⁴ This is what the Lord says, your Redeemer, who shaped you in the womb: “I am the Lord, the Creator of everything. I alone made the heavens, and I myself formed the earth.”[†]

²⁵ I am the one who proves the signs of false prophets are wrong. I am the one who makes fools of fortune-tellers. I turn the wisdom of the wise upside-down, and make their knowledge ridiculous.[‡]

²⁶ But I confirm the messages given by my servants, and fulfill what my messengers say. They state, ‘Jerusalem will be inhabited again, the towns of Judah will be rebuilt, your ruins will be repaired.’

²⁸ When I say to Cyrus, ‘You are my shepherd,’ he will carry out everything I wish. He will give the order, ‘Jerusalem shall be rebuilt,’ and he will say, ‘the Temple shall be restored.’ ”

² I will go ahead of you and level the mountains.* I will break down bronze gates and cut through iron bars.

³ I will give you hidden treasure, treasure concealed in secret places, so that you can know for sure that I am the Lord, the God of Israel, the one who calls you by name.

⁴ I call you by name and I have given you a title of honor, for the sake of Jacob my servant, and Israel the one I chose, even though you don’t know me.

⁵ I am the Lord, there is no God apart from me. Apart from me there is no God. I will make you strong, even though you don’t know me,

⁶ so that everyone, from the east to the west, will know that there is no God apart from me, that I am the Lord, and there is none apart from me.

⁷ I create light, and I make darkness, I bring peace and I bring about disaster. I am the Lord and I do all this.

⁸ Let the rain fall from the sky above, let goodness fall from the clouds, let the earth open up to receive goodness and salvation so they can grow together. I, the Lord, created them.

⁹ What trouble people face when they fight with their Creator—they’re just pots among all the other pots on earth! Does the clay tell the potter who is shaping it, “What are you doing?” or “What you’re making is so bad it’s like you have no hands!”

[†] 44:24 Isaiah poetically speaks of the heavens being “stretched out,” and the earth being “spread out.” [‡] 44:25 “Ridiculous”: or “nonsensical.” * 45:2 Dead Sea Scrolls and Septuagint reading.

¹⁰ How bad it would be if you said to your father, “Why did you have me?” or to your mother, “Why was I ever born?”!

¹¹ This is what the Lord says, the Holy One of Israel, your Creator: You can ask me about things to come. But are you going to lecture me about my children and what I do?

¹² I'm the one who made the earth, and I created human beings to live there. It was my hands that stretched out the heavens, and I ordered all the stars to come into being.[†]

¹³ Because I do what's right, I will encourage him[‡] and smooth out all the roads he takes. He will rebuild my city and will set my exiles free without being paid or bribed to do so, says the Lord Almighty.

¹⁴ This is what the Lord says: “The productive Egyptians and the Ethiopian traders, as well as the tall Sabeian people, will come over to you and will belong to you. They will walk behind you in chains and bow down to you, pleading with you, saying, ‘God is certainly with you, and there is no other God besides him.’”

¹⁵ Yet you are a God who hides himself, God of Israel, Savior.

¹⁶ Everyone who makes idols are ashamed and humiliated, all of them are disgraced.

¹⁷ But Israel will be saved by the Lord with a salvation that lasts forever. You will never be ashamed or disgraced for all eternity.

¹⁸ For this is what the Lord says, the God who created the heavens, who formed and made the earth, he founded it. He didn't make it to be left empty, but formed it to be inhabited. He is the one who says, I am the Lord, and there is no God apart from me.

¹⁹ I haven't been talking in secret in an obscure place. I didn't tell the descendants of Jacob: Look for me in a place where no one can be found.[§] I, the Lord, tell the truth—I say what's right.

²⁰ Gather yourselves together, and come, come close, you refugees of the nations. Aren't they stupid, these people who carry around their wooden idols, and who pray to a god that can't save them?

²¹ Discuss this together, and then speak up, present your case. Who predicted this long ago? Who said what would happen in the future back in the past? Wasn't that me, the Lord? There is no other God except me, no other God who does what is right, and who saves. There is no God apart from me.

²² Everyone on earth, come to me and be saved, for I am God and there is no God apart from me.

²³ I have sworn by my own self, I have spoken what is right, and I won't ever go back on it. Everyone shall bow before me; everyone shall acknowledge me.

²⁴ They will say about me, “Salvation and strength can only be found in the Lord.” Everyone who has fought against him will come to him and will be ashamed.

[†] 45:12 “To come into being”: supplied for clarity. [‡] 45:13 Referring back to Cyrus mentioned in verse 1. [§] 45:19 “In a place where no one can be found”: literally, “emptiness.”

46

¹ Bel bows down, Nebo bends low;* their idols are carried off on beasts of burden, a heavy weight for the tired animals.

³ Listen to me, descendants of Jacob, all those who are left of the people of Israel. I have looked after you since you were born, carrying you from birth.

⁴ Even when you're old, I will still be your God; even when your hair turns white, I will still support you. I made you, I will carry you, I will support you, and I will save you.

⁵ Who will you liken me to? Who will you reckon to be my equal? Who will you compare me with, as if we were alike?

⁶ There are those who extravagantly tip out gold from their bags, and weigh out silver on the scales, and hire a goldsmith to make them a god they can bow down to and worship.

⁷ They lift the idol onto their shoulders, carry it along, and then put it in place. It stays there and doesn't move. Even when people cry out to it for help, it doesn't answer—it can't save them from their troubles.

⁹ Remember what I've done for you since the beginning, for I am God, and there is no God apart from me. I am God, and there is none like me.

¹⁰ I am the one who can predict what will happen in the end from the very beginning, declaring from ancient times what the future will bring. Whatever I plan will take place; I will accomplish everything I wish.

¹¹ I'm calling a bird of prey from the east, a man from a distant country who will carry out my plan.[†] I have spoken, and I will make sure it happens. I have made my plan, and I will carry it out.

¹² Listen to me, you stubborn people, who are such a long way from doing what's right!

¹³ Very shortly I am going to make things right—it won't be long. I will come with my salvation without delay—I will save Zion to demonstrate my glory to Israel.

¹ Go down and sit in the dust, virgin daughter of Babylon. Sit on the ground without a throne, daughter of Babylonia!* No longer will people call you gentle and delicate.

³ You will be seen naked; what should be kept private will be shamefully exposed. I will take vengeance—I won't spare anyone.

⁵ Sit quietly, and go into the darkness, daughter of Babylonia. Never again will you be called queen of all kingdoms.

* 46:1 Bel and Nebo were Babylonian gods. The picture here is of the conqueror dragging away the idols of a defeated people. [†] 46:11 Once again this is taken to refer to Cyrus. * 47:1 "Babylonia": literally, "Chaldea," another name for Babylonia. Also verse 5, and 48:14.

⁶ I was angry with my people, and I abandoned those who belonged to me.[†] I handed them over to you. But you didn't show them mercy—you even mistreated old people.

⁷ You said, "I will reign forever as the eternal queen." But you didn't think about what was coming; you didn't remember what would happen to you in the end.

⁸ Now listen to this, you sensual woman,[‡] sitting there so sure of yourself, saying to yourself, "I am supreme[§]—there's nobody besides me. I shall never be a widow or experience the loss of my children."

⁹ But both these things will happen to you in quick succession! In just one day you will lose your children and become a widow. You will have this experience in its totality, in spite of all your witchcraft, in spite of all your magic spells.

¹⁰ You put your trust in your evil actions, saying "No one can see what I'm doing." Your wisdom and knowledge seduced you, and you told yourself, "I am supreme—there's nobody besides me."

¹¹ Evil^{*} is going to strike you, and you won't be able to magic it away. Disaster will fall on you that you can't stop by paying a ransom. Destruction will suddenly hit you that you weren't expecting.

¹² So keep going with your magic spells and all your witchcraft, which you have worked at since you were young. Maybe you'll be successful, maybe you'll terrify people!

¹³ All the advice you've received has worn you out! Where are your astrologers, those who look to the stars for guidance, who give you their predictions every month? Let them stand up and save you from what's coming down on you!

¹⁴ But look at them! They're like stubble that fire burns up completely—they can't even save their own lives from the flames. This is no fire to sit beside and grow warm!

¹⁵ All those people you've worked with, all those you've traded with from when you were young—they will all go their own way, nobody will come and save you.

48

¹ Listen to this, descendants of Jacob, called by the name of Israel, and who come from the lineage^{*} of Judah. Listen, you people who swear by the name of the Lord, or who invoke the God of Israel, but not truly or sincerely.

² You say you're from the "Holy City," and claim you're trusting in the God of Israel, whose name is the Lord Almighty.

³ I predicted long ago what was going to happen—I said it and let people know. Then suddenly I decided to act, and it all came true.

⁴ I know how stubborn you are, with necks as unbending as iron and foreheads as hard as bronze.

[†] 47:6 "I abandoned those who belonged to me": literally, "I profaned my inheritance." [‡] 47:8 Though the image of a woman continues, the subject is the kingdom of Babylon. [§] 47:8 "I am supreme": the Hebrew simply has the emphatic "I." ^{} 47:11 The same word is used here as in verse 10. ^{} 48:1 "Lineage": literally, "waters."

⁵ I predicted these things to you long ago, before they happened. I explained them to you so that you couldn't say "My idol did this," or "My image and my metal god ordered this to happen."

⁶ You've heard all I predicted, and seen it happen. Won't you admit it? Now I'm going to tell you new things, secrets you don't know anything about.

⁷ These are brand-new, not something from the past. Before today you won't have heard anything about them, so you can't say, "Oh yes, I know about that."

⁸ No, you've never heard that, and you've never known that! Nobody's told you about that before! I know how deviously you operate—you're called "rebels from birth"!

⁹ But because of my nature[†] I am delaying my punishment; and because of my reputation, I'm not going to destroy you.

¹⁰ Look how I've refined you, but not like silver—I chose you in the furnace of trouble.

¹¹ The reason I'm doing this is because of who I am, yes, because of my very nature. I won't let my reputation be damaged—I won't let anyone else have it.

¹² Listen to me, Jacon, and Israel, the one I called. Only I am God. I am the first, and I am the last.

¹³ I laid the foundations of the earth with my own hands; I personally spread out the heavens. When I call the stars, they all take their positions.

¹⁴ Everyone gather round and listen. Which of your "gods"[‡] told you anything like this? The one the Lord loves will carry out the Lord's wishes against Babylon—he will attack the Babylonians.

¹⁵ I myself have spoken. I have called him to do this, and he will be successful in what he does.

¹⁶ Come close to me, and listen to this. From the very beginning I haven't spoken in secret; I am always there right when it happens. Now the Lord God and his Spirit has sent me to tell you this:

¹⁷ This is what the Lord says, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel, I am the Lord your God. I am the one who teaches you what is good for you, who leads you along the way you should go.

¹⁸ If you had only listened carefully to what I told you! Then your blessings would have flowed like a river, and goodness would have washed over you like the waves of the sea.

¹⁹ Your children, your descendants, would have been like all those grains of sand. They wouldn't have had to be destroyed, wiped out before me.

²⁰ Leave Babylon! Run away from Babylonia with happy shouts! Let everyone know, telling the whole earth, "The Lord has redeemed his servant Jacob!"

²¹ They weren't thirsty when he led them through the desert—he made water come out of the rock for them. He split the rock open and water poured out.

²² The wicked have no peace, says the Lord.

[†] 48:9 "Nature": literally, "name." [‡] 48:14 "Of your 'gods' ": literally, "among you," but the reference in context is clearly to idol.

¹ Listen to me, you people of the islands! * Pay attention, you who live far away! The Lord called me before I was born; he gave me my name while I was still in my mother's womb.

² The words he gave me to speak are like a sharp sword. He has protected me by covering me with his hand. He put me in his quiver like a sharp arrow, keeping me safe there.

³ He told me, "You are my servant, Israel, and I will reveal my glory through you."

⁴ But I replied, "I've worked for nothing! I've exhausted myself, and for what? Even so, I leave it with the Lord to do what's right, and my reward is with my God."

⁵ Now my Lord is going to speak, the one who formed me in the womb as his servant to bring Jacob back to him, to gather Israel to himself. † I am honored in the Lord's sight, and my God has given me strength.

⁶ He says, "It's nothing much for you to be my servant to bring back the tribes of Jacob, those people of Israel that I've preserved. I'm also going to make you a light for the foreigners so that my salvation may reach everybody."

⁷ This is what the Lord says, the Redeemer and Holy One of Israel, to the one who was despised and detested by the nation, to the one who is the servant of rulers: Kings will see you and stand up, and princes will bow down to you, because the Lord, who is trustworthy, the Holy One of Israel, has chosen you.

⁸ This is what the Lord says: I will answer you at the proper time; I will help you on the day of salvation. I will take care of you, and I will give you to the people as my agreement with them, to restore the land and to reassign the parts that have been abandoned.

⁹ Tell the prisoners, "Come out!" Tell those living in darkness, "Come into the light!" Like sheep they will feed along the roads and in the pastures on hills that once were barren.

¹⁰ They won't be hungry or thirsty, and they won't get hot in the sun, for the one who loves them will lead them to springs, and guide them to water.

¹¹ I will turn all my mountains into a road; my highways will be really high!

¹² Look at these people coming from far away! Look at these people coming from the north, and from the west, and from Upper Egypt. ‡

¹³ Heavens, shout for joy! Earth, celebrate! Mountains, sing out in happiness! The Lord has come to care for his people, and he will treat his suffering people kindly.

¹⁴ But Zion said, "The Lord has given up on me; the Lord has forgotten about me."

¹⁵ Really? Can a mother forget her nursing baby? Can she forget to be kind to the child she carried in her womb? Even if she could forget, I will never forget you!

* 49:1 "Islands": or, "coastlands." † 49:5 "To gather Israel to himself": Dead Sea Scrolls and some Hebrew manuscripts; the Hebrew text includes the word "not." ‡ 49:12 "Upper Egypt": following the reading from the Dead Sea Scrolls which appears to indicate Aswan. The Septuagint reads "Persia," while the Hebrew reads "Sinim," an unknown place.

¹⁶ Look at your names I've written on the palms of my hands! I'm always thinking about your walls.^S

¹⁷ Soon your children will come running back. Your destroyers, those that devastated your land, will be gone.

¹⁸ Take a look around. See all your children gathering and coming back to you. As I live, declares the Lord, you will wear them all as jewelry, proudly putting them on like a bride.

¹⁹ Your ruined towns and abandoned places and devastated lands will be crowded with people, while those who took over your country will be long gone.

²⁰ The children born during your time of mourning in exile will say, "This place is too crowded for me! Make room so I have a place to live!"

²¹ Then you will say to yourself, "Who gave birth to all these children for me? My children were killed and I was unable to have more; I was exiled and thrown aside—so who brought these children up? Look, I was abandoned, so where did they come from?"

²³ Kings will be your child-minders; queens will be your nurses. They will bow low before you, and lick the dust from your feet. Then you will know that I am the Lord, and that those who put their trust in me will never be ashamed.

²⁵ But this is what the Lord says: Even the prisoners of warriors will be won back; even loot will be recovered from a dictator. I will fight with your enemies, and I will rescue your children.

²⁶ I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh and drink their own blood like wine. Then everyone will know that I, the Lord, am your Savior and Redeemer, the Mighty One of Israel.

¹ This is what the Lord says: Where's your mother's divorce certificate I gave her when I sent her away? Which of my creditors did I sell you to? Now look! You were sold because of your sins, and your mother was sent away because of your wrongdoing.

² When I came, why wasn't anyone there? When I called, why didn't anyone answer? Is it because I don't have the strength to save you, or the power to rescue you? Can't you see that if I order it, the sea will dry up? I can turn rivers into a desert. Their fish stink because they've died of thirst since there's no water.

⁴ The Lord God has given me the ability to teach others, to know how to encourage those who are exhausted with a word. He wakes me up every morning; he helps me listen as a disciple.

^S 49:16 Presumably the walls of Jerusalem that were knocked down. * 49:24 "Dictator": Dead Sea Scrolls reading.

⁵ The Lord God has instructed me, and I haven't been rebellious and I haven't turned away.

⁶ I offered my back for people to beat me and my cheeks for people to pull my beard. I didn't hide my face from their mocking and spitting.

⁷ The Lord God helps me, so I haven't been disgraced. That's why I'm so determined, setting my face hard as stone, knowing I won't be humiliated.

⁸ The one who vindicates me is close by, so who will bring charges against me? Let's stand to oppose one another! Come on, anyone who wants to accuse me!

⁹ The Lord God defends me. Who is going to declare me guilty? Look! Those who try will fall apart like old clothing, eaten up by moths.

¹⁰ Who among you respects the Lord and obeys what his servant says? Who among you walks in darkness and doesn't have light? Let them trust in the Lord and put their confidence in God.

¹¹ Beware all you who start a fire, who pick up blazing torches! Go ahead, walk in the light of your own fire and of the torches you yourselves have set alight! This is what you will receive from me: You are going to lie down in a place of suffering.

¹ Listen to me, those of you who follow what is right, and who worship the Lord. Think about the rock from which you were cut, and to the quarry from which you were chiseled.

² Look back at Abraham your father, and Sarah who gave birth to you. When I called him, he was only one man, but then I blessed him and he had many descendants.

³ The Lord will care for Zion and feel sorry about all her ruined places. He will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert areas like the garden of the Lord. People there will have joy and happiness, giving thanks and singing sweet songs.

⁴ Pay attention to me, my people; listen to me, my nation: I will send out my law, and my justice will be a light to the nations.

⁵ My rule of right will arrive soon. My salvation is coming. My power will bring judgment to the nations. The distant lands are waiting for me and my power.

⁶ Look up at the heavens, and look down at the earth beneath. The heavens will disappear like smoke, the earth will wear out like old clothes. The people living there will die like flies, but my salvation will last forever, and my way of goodness and right will never be destroyed.

⁷ Listen to me, you who know what's right, and who have really accepted my teachings. Don't be afraid of people's insults—they're just human—or be terrified by their abusive language.

⁸ Moths will eat them up like clothing; bugs will chew through them like wool. But my goodness will last forever, my salvation will endure for all generations.

⁹ Please wake up, wake up! Use your strength, powerful Lord! Act as you used to in olden days, in former generations. Weren't you the one who cut Rahab* to pieces, who killed that sea monster?

* 51:9 "Rahab": a monster used as a poetic description for Egypt.

¹⁰ Weren't you the one who dried up the sea, making a way through the deep waters for the redeemed to cross over?

¹³ You have forgotten the Lord, your Maker, who stretched out the heavens and who laid the foundations of the earth! That's why you shake with fear all day long, because you're threatened by the anger of those who oppress you, wanting to destroy you. But where are your oppressors and their anger now?

¹⁶ I have told you what to say, and I have protected you with my hand. I created the heavens and founded the earth, and told Zion, "You are my people."

¹⁸ Of all your children you had, there's not one left to guide you. Of all the children you raised, there's not one to take you by the hand.

¹⁹ Two tragedies have struck you: devastation caused by famine, and destruction caused by war.[†] Who is going to sympathize with you? Who is going to comfort you?

²⁰ Your children have collapsed, lying in every street like antelopes caught in a trap. They experienced the full anger of the Lord, the condemnation of your God.

²² This is what your Lord God says, your God, who defends his people's cause: Look! I have taken away from you the cup that made you stagger around. You will never again have to drink from that cup, the cup of my anger.

²³ Instead I will give that cup to the people who tormented you, to those who said to you, "Lie face down so we can walk all over you." You had to make your backs like the ground, like a street to be walked on.

² Shake yourself free from the dust and get up. Sit on your throne, Jerusalem. Throw off the chains around your neck, captive daughter of Zion.

³ This is what the Lord says: You were sold for nothing, and you will be bought back without money.

[†] 51:19 "War": literally, "the sword."

⁴ This is what the Lord God says: First of all, my people went to live in Egypt, then Assyria conquered them for no reason.

⁵ What do have I to do now? asks the Lord. My people have been taken into captivity for no reason. Those who rule them mock them, and I'm treated with contempt that whole time, says the Lord.

⁶ So I'm going to make sure my people know me; at that time they will know that I am the one who means what he says. Yes, it's me!

⁷ What a wonderful sight in the mountains is the one running to bring good news, announcing peace and good news, announcing salvation, telling Zion, "Your God reigns!"

⁸ The city watchmen shout loudly and sing for joy together; they all see the Lord returning to Jerusalem.

¹¹ Leave, leave, get out of there! Don't bring anything pagan;* come out and leave it all behind. Those of you who carry the Lord's sacred articles are to purify yourselves.

¹² But don't leave in a hurry, don't be in a rush as if you're running away, for the Lord will go ahead of you, and he will also protect those at the back.

¹³ Look: my servant will act wisely; he will be praised highly, he will be elevated in position, and seen as someone people look up to.

¹⁵ He will surprise many nations, and kings will keep quiet because of him—for they'll see what they haven't been told, and they'll understand what they hadn't heard.

² Like a young shoot he grew up before him, like a root growing up from dry ground. He had no beauty or glory to make us look at him; nothing about his appearance attracted us to him.

³ People despised him and rejected him. He was a man who really suffered and who experienced the deepest pain. We treated him like someone you turn away from in disgust—we despised him and had no respect for him.

⁴ However, he was the one who carried our weaknesses, he was loaded down with our pain—but we assumed he was being hit, beaten, and humiliated by God.

* 52:11 "Pagan": literally "unclean," likely referring to anything associated with idol worship.

† 52:14 "Him": This is the reading of the Syriac and the Targums. Hebrew has "you." * 53:1 The way these questions are framed, they expect a negative response: "No one." The verses that follow explain why nobody paid attention to the news.

⁵ But he was wounded because of our rebellious acts, he was crushed because of our guilt. He experienced the discipline that brings us peace,[†] and his wounds heal us.

⁶ All of us have wandered off, just like sheep. Each of us has gone our own way, and the Lord allowed all our guilt to fall on him.[‡]

⁷ He was persecuted and mistreated, but he didn't say anything. He was led like a lamb to be killed, and in the same way that a sheep about to be sheared is silent, he didn't say a word.

⁸ Through force and a death sentence he was killed[§]—who cared what happened to him? He was executed, removed from the land of the living; he was killed because of my people's wickedness.

⁹ They buried him as if he was someone evil, giving him a grave among the rich, even though he hadn't done anything wrong, and he hadn't told any lies.

¹⁰ However, it was the Lord's will for him to be crushed and to suffer, for when he gives his life as a guilt offering he will see his descendants,^{*} he will have a long life, and what the Lord wants will be achieved through him.

¹¹ After his suffering, he will see the results and be satisfied. Through his knowledge my servant who does what is right will set many right,[†] and he will bear their sins.

¹ Sing for joy, childless woman, you who have had a baby! Shout aloud, and sing happily, Jerusalem, you who have never given birth! For the abandoned woman now has more children than the married woman, says the Lord.

² Make the tent where you live bigger; stretch the fabric to enlarge your home. Don't try and save space—extend your tent cords and make your tent pegs stronger.

³ You're going to be spreading out right and left; your descendants will take over the land of other nations and live in towns that were once abandoned.

⁴ Do not be afraid, for you won't be humiliated; don't be upset, for you won't be disgraced. You will forget about the shame of your youth, and you won't remember the embarrassment of your widowhood any longer.

⁵ For your Maker is your husband, the Lord Almighty is his name the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer, he is called the God of the whole earth.

[†] 53:5 "Peace": often in the sense of "well-being" rather than the absence of war. In addition, the word "discipline" in this verse is more to do with training a child than punishment, as the Septuagint translators recognized. [‡] 53:6 The Septuagint ends this verse "the Lord gave him up for our sins." The word translated "fall on" is variously translated, for example: approach, came, met, touched, pray to, interceded, pleaded etc.

[§] 53:8 The Septuagint has: "In humiliation his judgment was taken away." See Acts 8:33. Taken away refers to being taken away in death.

^{*} 53:10 "Descendants": literally, "seed," or better, "posterity." This is to be taken in the wider view of the many who become "children of God." [†] 53:11 Right before God.

⁶ The Lord has called you to come back, like a wife who's been abandoned and deeply hurt, a wife who was married when she was young, only to be rejected, says your God.

⁸ In a moment of anger I turned my face away from you, but now with trustworthy love I will always be kind to you, says the Lord, your Redeemer.

⁹ To me this is just like Noah's time, when I promised on oath that a flood would never cover the earth again. In the same way I promise on oath that I won't be angry with you or tell you off.

¹⁰ Though the mountains cease to exist and the hills disappear, yet my trustworthy love for you won't cease to exist and my agreement of peace won't disappear, says the Lord, who shows you kindness.

¹¹ My poor storm-damaged city that can't be comforted! Look, I'm going to reset your stones in cement made of antimony,* I will use sapphires to lay your foundations.

¹² I will make your fortifications out of rubies; I will make your gates out of sparkling beryl. All your walls will be made of precious stones,

¹⁴ Your society will operate from principles of goodness and right; nobody will be there to oppress you. You won't be afraid; you won't have to face any kind of terror.

¹⁵ If any invader comes to attack you, I didn't send them; you will defeat anyone who attacks you.

¹⁶ Look—I have created a blacksmith who blows the coals into a hot flame and forges a suitable weapon; and I have created the destroyer who brings destruction.

¹⁷ None of the weapons forged against you will succeed, and you will condemn anyone who accuses you. This is how the servants of the Lord are blessed, and I am the one who vindicates them, declares the Lord.

¹ Come, everyone of you who's thirsty, come and drink the water! You who don't have money, come—you can buy and eat! Come and buy wine and milk—you don't need money; there's no cost!

² Why are you spending money on what isn't food, and why work for something that doesn't satisfy you? Listen carefully to me: eat what is good, and you'll enjoy the very best food.

³ Come here, and pay attention, so you can truly live. I'm going to make an agreement with you that will last forever, based on the trustworthy love I showed to David.

⁴ See how I made him a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander for them.

⁵ You will call nations you don't even know, and nations who don't know you will come running to you. For the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, I made you glorious.

⁶ Look for the Lord while you can still find him; call out to him while he's nearby.

⁷ Wicked people should change their ways and get rid of even the thought of doing something wrong. They should turn to the Lord so he can be merciful to them. Come back to our God, because he's generous with his forgiveness.

⁹ In the same way the heavens are higher than the earth, my ways are higher than your ways, and my thoughts higher than your thoughts.

¹⁰ It's like the rain and snow that fall from heaven. They don't go back there until they've watered the earth, making plants grow and flower, providing seeds for the sower and food to eat.

¹² You will live happily, taught the ways of peace. Mountains and hills will celebrate, singing beside you; and all the trees will clap their hands!

¹³ Cypress trees will grow instead of thorn bushes; myrtle trees will grow instead of brambles. This is to confirm the Lord's reputation—an everlasting sign, never to be destroyed.

¹ This is what the Lord says: Follow the law, and do what is right, for my salvation will soon arrive, and my goodness will be revealed.

² Blessed is everyone who does this—those who keep to it, who observe the Sabbath without violating it, and who don't do anything wrong.

³ Don't allow foreigners who have dedicated themselves to the Lord say, "The Lord will definitely exclude me from his people." And don't allow eunuchs to say, "Look at me—I'm as worthless as a dried-up tree because I'm childless."

⁴ For this is what the Lord says: To the eunuchs who observe my Sabbaths, who choose to do what pleases me, and to keep my agreement,

⁵ I will give them, in my house and within my walls, a place to remember them and a reputation better than that of sons and daughters. I will give them an everlasting reputation that will never fade.

⁶ About the foreigners who have dedicated themselves to the Lord, who worship him, who love the Lord, and who are his servants, everyone who observes the Sabbath without violating it and who keep to my agreement—

⁷ I will bring these foreigners to my holy mountain and make them happy in my house of prayer. I will accept their burnt offerings and sacrifices, because my Temple will be called a house of prayer for all nations.

⁸ This is what the Lord God says, who brought back the scattered people of Israel: I will bring back still others* to join you.

⁹ Come, wild animals, wild animals of the countryside and forests, come and eat my people!

¹⁰ For all the watchmen are blind. None of them know what's going on. They're all silent—they can't bark. They spend their time lying down, dreaming, loving to sleep.

* 56:8 "Others": referring to the foreigners.

¹¹ They're greedy dogs that are never satisfied. They're sheepdogs who don't know their job. All of them go their own way, each of them looking out for themselves.

¹² "Come on," they say, "I'll get some wine and let's get drunk! We'll do this today, and tomorrow we'll drink so much more!"

² Those who follow what's right rest in peace; they find rest as they lie down in death.

³ But as for you, children of fortune-tellers, the product of adultery and prostitution—come here!

⁴ Who are you making fun of when you make sneering faces and stick out your tongues? Aren't you the children of sin and lies?

⁵ You're the ones having pagan orgies under the oak trees, under every green tree. You sacrifice your children in the valleys and among the rocky peaks.

⁸ You've placed your pagan signs behind your doors and on your doorposts. Deserting me, you took off your clothes and climbed into bed, committing yourselves to those you love to be in bed with. You've seen them naked.†

⁹ You went to offer Molech‡ olive oil, covering yourself with many perfumes. You sent your messengers to distant places; you even went down into the world of the dead.§

¹⁰ You wore yourselves out by such running around, but you didn't give up and say, "It's hopeless!" You found new strength* and so didn't become weak.

¹¹ Who were you scared of, who frightened you so much that you lied to me, didn't remember me, didn't even think about me? Is it because I've been quiet for so long that you don't even fear me?

¹³ When you cry out for help, let's see if your collection of idols will save you! The wind will blow them all away, just a breath and they're gone! But whoever comes to me for help will own the land and possess my holy mountain.

* 57:7 "Committed adultery": literally, "made your bed." † 57:8 "You've seen them naked." The Hebrew is literally "You have seen a hand." In this case it is usually thought to be a euphemism for the genitals. ‡ 57:9 A Canaanite god associated with child sacrifice. § 57:9 "The world of the dead": literally, "Sheol." * 57:10 "New strength": literally, "life of your hand," an expression whose meaning is uncertain. "Hand" is often used to mean strength or power, however in this context it is also possible it may have the same indecent meaning as given in verse 8.

¹⁴ He[†] will say, Build a highway, remove anything that's in the way of my people.

¹⁵ This is what the one who is high above all says, he who lives in eternity, whose name is holy: I live in a high and holy place, together with those who repent and who act humbly, restoring their spirits and encouraging them.

¹⁶ I won't fight with you forever; I won't be angry with you forever. Otherwise you'd lose heart, the very people I gave life to.

¹⁷ Yes, I was angry with these sinful, greedy people so I punished them. I was angry, so I hid myself from them, but they went on their own rebellious way, doing whatever they wanted.

¹⁸ I know what they're doing, but I will heal them. I will lead them and comfort those who mourn,

¹⁹ so they will be able to say thank you. The Lord declares, Peace, peace, to those who are far away and those who are near. I will heal you.

²⁰ But the wicked are like the sea that is tossed about, never keeping still, churning up the mud and muck with its waves.

²¹ There's no peace for the wicked, says my God.

² Every day they come to me, pleased to know my ways as if they were a nation that does what is right and follow the laws of their God! They ask me to treat them right; they like to be close to their God.

³ "Didn't you see that we fasted?" they ask. "Didn't you notice how we denied ourselves?"

That's because whenever you fast you still do whatever you want, and you treat your workers badly.

⁴ Can't you see that when you're fasting you quarrel and argue, and end up having a vicious fist-fight? When you fast like this you can't expect your prayers to be heard on high!

⁷ Share your food with the hungry, take the poor and homeless into your house. When you see people naked, give them clothes, and don't reject your own relatives.

⁸ Then your light^{*} will shine out like the dawn, and you will be healed quickly; your salvation will go before you, and the glory of the Lord will go behind you.

⁹ Then when you call, the Lord will answer; when you cry out for help, the Lord will say, "I'm here." If you get rid of oppression among you, if you stop pointing the finger and slandering others, [†] 57:14 Referring to the Lord. ^{*} 58:8 Israel was meant to be a light to the world.

¹⁰ if you dedicate yourselves to helping the hungry and give the poor what they need, then your light will shine out in the darkness, and your night will be like the sun at noon.

¹¹ The Lord will always lead you; he will give you all you need in you in a desolate land; he will make you strong again. You will be like a well-watered garden, like a spring that never runs dry.

¹³ If you make sure you don't break[†] the Sabbath by doing whatever you please on my holy day, if you say the Sabbath brings you pleasure and the Lord's day is to be honored, and if you honor it by leaving aside your own ways, by not doing whatever you please, and by avoiding everyday chatting,[‡]

¹⁴ then you'll find the Lord is the one who truly makes you happy, and I will give you high positions on the earth and give you what I promised to Jacob, your forefather. I, the Lord, have spoken.

¹ Don't you see? The Lord's arm isn't too weak to save you, and his ear isn't too deaf to hear you!

² It's your guilt that has created a barrier between you and your God; your sins have hidden his face from you so he can't hear you.

³ Your hands are covered in blood and your fingers tainted with guilt, your lips speak lies and your mouth whispers evil things.

⁴ Nobody wants justice, nobody pleads their case with honesty. They rely on false testimony, and tell lies. They conceive evil plans, and give birth to trouble.

⁷ They run to do evil; they're quick to murder innocent people. Their minds are full of sinful thoughts; they only cause havoc and destruction.

⁸ They don't know how to live in peace; they're not straight and fair with others. Their way is totally crooked, and anyone who follows them won't experience any peace.

⁹ So that's why we don't have justice, and we don't do what's right. We look for the light, but only find the dark; we look for bright light, but we walk in deep darkness.

¹⁰ We grope like blind people along a wall, feeling with our hands as if we have no eyes. We stumble at noon as if it were the evening. Among those who are full of life,^{*} we are like the dead.

[†] 58:13 "If you make sure you don't break," literally, "If you keep your foot from." [‡] 58:13 "Everyday chatting": the Hebrew is literally "the speaking of a word," but clearly this does not mean that nothing at all is to be said on the Sabbath, as this would preclude worship services. What seems to be the concept is that conversation of little value is to be avoided. ^{*} 59:10 "Full of life": the word so translated only occurs once in Scripture and its meaning is uncertain.

¹¹ All of us growl like bears and coo like doves as we wait for justice to be done, but it never happens; we wait for salvation, but never receive it.

¹² You are aware of all our rebellious acts; our sins witness against us. Yes, we acknowledge our rebellious acts; we know all about our sins.

¹³ We have disobeyed and denied you, Lord; we have turned our backs on our God. We have encouraged oppression and rebellion, telling lies we've carefully thought out.

¹⁵ There's no truth anywhere, and anyone who does give up evil is robbed. The Lord saw what was going on, and was upset that there was no justice.

¹⁶ He looked around, and he was appalled to find there was no one who would do anything about it, so he intervened himself, and his sense of what was right kept him going.

¹⁷ He put on integrity as a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his head. He put on clothes of vengeance and wrapped himself with determination as a cloak.

¹⁸ He will repay everyone for what they've done: fury to his enemies, revenge to those who oppose him, payback to the distant lands.

¹⁹ Those in the west will be in awe of the Lord, and those in the east will be amazed at his glory, for he will arrive like a raging flood, driven by the Spirit of the Lord.

²⁰ The Redeemer will come to Zion, to Jacob's descendants who turn from their sins, declares the Lord.

²¹ This is my agreement with them, says the Lord. My Spirit, who is upon you, won't leave you, and my words that I have given you to speak will always be on your lips, on the lips of your children, and on the lips of your descendants, from now until forever, says the Lord.

¹ Stand up and shine, for your light has come; the glory of the Lord has risen on you.

² Even though darkness covers the earth, and deep darkness covers the people, the Lord has risen to shine on you, and his glory appears over you.

³ Nations will come to your light, and kings will come to the brightness of your shining dawn.

⁴ Look all around you, and see everyone gathering and coming to you—your sons returning from far away, your young daughters being carried on the hip.

⁵ Then you will see and shine brilliantly, your heart will beat wildly for joy, for the riches that cross the sea, the wealth of the nations, will be brought to you.

⁶ Long caravans of camels will cover the land, young camels of Midian and Ephah. All the people of Sheba will come to you carrying gold and frankincense, shouting praises to the Lord.

⁷ All the flocks of Kedar will be brought to you, the rams of Nebaioth will be placed at your disposal. I will accept them as they are sacrificed on my altar, and I will glorify the Temple where I'm honored.

⁹ Coming from the islands that trust in me, these are ships led by those of Tarshish, bringing your children home from far away, carrying with them silver and gold. They come to honor of the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, for he has made you glorious.

¹⁰ Foreigners will rebuild your walls, and their kings will work for you. Even though I did hit you when I was angry with you, now I will be kind and merciful to you.

¹¹ Your gates will always be kept open. They won't ever be shut, day or night, so the wealth of the nations can be brought to you, with their kings being led along in a procession.

¹² Any nation or kingdom that does not serve you will be completely destroyed.

¹³ The glory of Lebanon will come to you: cedars, acacias, and myrtle trees, to make my Temple beautiful and to honor the place I choose to live.

¹⁴ The children of those who persecuted you will come and bow before you; everyone who looked down on you will bow down at your feet and will call you the City of the Lord, Zion of the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁵ Once you were abandoned and despised, somewhere people didn't go, but now I will make you a place to be proud of forever, a joy to every generation.

¹⁶ Nations will provide you with what you need, kings will take care of you as if you were their own children.* You will know that I, the Lord, am your Savior and Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

¹⁷ I will bring you gold instead of bronze, silver instead of iron, bronze instead of wood, and iron instead of stone. I will appoint Peace as your watchman, and Goodness as your leader.

¹⁸ There won't be any more violence in your land, no more devastation and destruction within your borders. You will call your walls Salvation, and your gates Praise.

¹⁹ You won't need the light of the sun during the day, or the light of the moon at night, for the Lord your God will be your everlasting light, and your God will be your glory.

²⁰ Your sun will never set, and your moon will never wane, for the Lord will be your everlasting light, and your time of mourning will end.

²¹ All your people will be good, and they will own the land forever. They are the shoot I have planted with my hands, and they will reveal my glory.

¹ The Spirit of the Lord God is on me, because the Lord has anointed me to bring good news to the poor. He has sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to announce liberation to the captives, to set the prisoners free,

² to declare the year of the Lord's grace and the day of our God's punishment,* to comfort those who mourn.

* 60:16 Literally, "You will suck the milk of nations, you will nurse at the breast of kings." * 61:2 Notice that the Lord's grace lasts for a year, while his punishment lasts for just one day.

³ The Lord will give to everyone who mourns in Zion a crown instead of ashes on their head, the oil of happiness instead of mourning, clothes of praise instead of a spirit of despair. They will be called oaks of integrity, planted by the Lord to reveal his glory.

⁴ They will rebuild the old ruins; they will restore places abandoned long ago; they will restore towns that were destroyed, places left desolate for generation after generation.

⁵ Foreigners will shepherd your flocks, and take care of your fields, and look after your vineyards.

⁶ You will be called priests of the Lord, identified as ministers of our God. You will enjoy the wealth of nations and be proud that you have it.

⁷ Instead of shame you will receive a double blessing; instead of insults, you will be happy to have a double amount of land given to you, and your joy will last forever.

⁸ I, the Lord, love what is right. I hate robbery and injustice. I will faithfully reward my people and make an everlasting agreement with them.

⁹ Their descendants will be acknowledged among the nations, and their children among the peoples. Everyone who sees them will agree that they are people that the Lord has blessed.

¹⁰ I will happily celebrate in the Lord! My whole being will shout praises to my God. For he has dressed me with the clothing of salvation, and has wrapped around me in a robe of goodness. I am like a bridegroom dressed for the wedding,[†] like a bride wearing her jewels.

¹¹ Just as the earth sends up shoots, and plants grow in a garden, so the Lord makes goodness and praise grow before all nations.

² The nations will see the way you live right, and all the kings will see how you are blessed, and you will be called by a new name that the Lord gives you.

³ You will be a crown of beauty in the Lord's hand; a royal head-dress in the hand of your God.

⁴ You won't be called Abandoned anymore; your land won't be called Desolate. Instead you will be called She Makes Me Happy, and your land will be called Married, because you make the Lord happy, and your land will be married.*

⁵ For just like a young man marries a young woman, so your sons will marry you; and like a groom is happy with his bride, so your God will be happy with you.

⁶ I have placed watchmen on your walls, Jerusalem; they won't ever be silent, day or night.[†] You who pray to the Lord, don't ever stop and take a rest.

[†] 61:10 "Dressed for the wedding": literally, "wearing a head-dress like a priest." * 62:4 The literal names are Hephzibah and Beulah. Hephzibah was actually the name of Hezekiah's queen, and Beulah became a symbolic name for Jerusalem. [†] 62:6 It was the duty of watchmen to regularly give a report by calling out. In this case it could be the prophets who are represented as Jerusalem's watchmen.

⁷ Don't give the Lord a rest either, until he finishes his work, until he makes Jerusalem the most praiseworthy place on earth.

⁸ The Lord has made a solemn promise, swearing by his power and might: I won't ever again let your enemies have your grain to eat, or let foreigners drink the new wine you worked hard for.

¹⁰ Exit! Exit through the gates! Clear the way for the people! Build the highway! Get rid of any rocks on the road! Lift up a flag so the nations can see![‡]

¹¹ See! The Lord has announced to everyone on earth, Tell the Daughter of Zion: Look! Your Savior is coming. He's bringing his reward with him, coming to give his gift!

¹² They will be called the Holy People, the Redeemed of the Lord; and you will be called the Sought-After Place, A City No Longer Abandoned.

It is me, the one who always speaks goodness and truth, the one who has the power to save.

³ I've been treading the winepress by myself; from the nations around no one came to help me. So in my anger I trod them down as if they were grapes, in my fury I trampled them. It's their blood that has stained my clothes.

⁵ I looked around, but no one came to help; I was shocked that there was no one to assist me. So I saved them through my own strength alone, and my own anger kept me going.

⁷ I want to tell everyone about the Lord's trustworthy love. I will praise the Lord for everything he's done for us—all the good things he has done for the descendants of Israel because of his kindness and his infinite trustworthy love.

⁸ He said, "Aren't they my people, children who wouldn't lie to me?" So he became their Savior.

[‡] 62:10 The imagery of this verse is taken to represent the people leaving Babylon. * 63:1 Bozrah was an important Edomite town. [†] 63:1 Once again, quotation marks are avoided in translating the books of the prophets due to the problems of deciding which are the prophet's own words and which are the Lord's. Since the prophets were speaking for the Lord, the distinction is a minor one. In this passage where there appears to be a dialogue going on, the change in speaker is represented by a new paragraph.

⁹ He suffered with them in all their suffering, and the angel of his presence[‡] saved them. In his love and kindness he redeemed them. He picked them up and carried them all throughout those years long ago.

¹² Where is the one who lifted Moses' right hand, and who used his amazing power to divided the sea in front of them, giving him such a wonderful, enduring reputation?

¹⁴ Like cattle descending into a valley, the Lord's Spirit gave them rest. This is how you led your people, earning a glorious reputation for yourself.

¹⁶ But you are still our Father, even though Abraham wouldn't know us and Israel wouldn't acknowledge us. You, Lord, are our Father; you have always been called our Redeemer from long ago.

¹⁷ Lord, why do you make us wander from your ways, and make us stubborn so we don't respect you? Come back to us for the sake of your servants, the tribes that belong to you.

¹⁸ Your Temple belonged to us for a little while, but then our enemies invaded and destroyed it.

¹⁹ We were yours from ancient times, but we've ended up like people you've never ruled, never identified as yours.

64

² In the same way that fire burns wood and makes the water boil, make your reputation known to your enemies, so that nations will tremble in your presence!

³ In the past you did things we weren't anticipating. You came down and the mountains trembled in your presence!

⁴ Since the beginning, no one has heard about, no one has paid attention to, and no one has seen any God except you, the one who helps those who place their confidence in you.

⁵ You join with those who are glad, and with those who do what's right and remember to follow your ways. But when we went on sinning, you became angry. How can we be saved if we go on like this?[†]

[‡] 63:9 “The angel of his presence”: the exact implications of this phrase have been debated so is left as usually translated. Angel means messenger. In whatever case, it is God who is the “agent of salvation.” [§] 63:11 “They”: the Hebrew text reads “he” at this point, and so could refer to the Lord. However, in the context of what follows, it is more likely that this refers to the Israelites.

^{*} 64:1 This verse is included in the previous chapter in the Hebrew text. [†] 64:5 The Hebrew of the end of this verse is unclear.

⁶ We've all become unclean, and all the good things we do are like dirty rags. We wither and die like autumn leaves, and our sins, like the wind, blow us away.

⁷ There's no one who calls for you or really wants to hold onto you, because you have hidden your face from us and let us drown in our own sins.

⁸ But you, Lord, are our Father. We're the clay, you're the potter. You made us all with your own hands.

⁹ Please limit your anger, Lord, and don't remember our sins forever. Look at us, and see that we are all your people.

¹⁰ Your holy cities have been turned into a wilderness; Zion has become a desert; yes, even Jerusalem is an abandoned ruin.

¹¹ Our beautiful, holy Temple where our forefathers praised you has been burned down, and all that we treasured has been destroyed.

¹² In view of all this, are you still going to refuse to help us? Are you going to stay quiet and punish us so severely?

¹ I let myself be consulted by people who weren't even asking me questions; I let myself be found by people who weren't even looking for me. To a nation that wasn't even calling for me, I said, "I'm here, I'm here!"

² I spread out my hands all day long, pleading with a stubborn people who follow bad ways, doing whatever they choose.

³ These people are always making me angry, because they present sacrifices to idols in their sacred gardens, and offer incense on pagan altars made of brick.

⁴ They spend the night among the graves and in caves, eating pork and cooking other unclean meats.

⁵ They tell others, "Keep your distance! Don't come close to me as I'm too holy to be touched by you!" These people are like smoke in my nostrils, a stink burning all day long!

⁶ Look—it's all written down right in front of me! I'm not going to keep quiet. I'm going to pay them back by throwing their punishment into their laps.

⁷ I'm going to pay you back for both your own sins and the sins of your forefathers, says the Lord, because they burned incense on the mountains and ridiculed me on the hills. I'm going to measure into their laps full payment for what they've done.

⁸ This is what the Lord says: It's like when there's a bit of juice left in a bunch of grapes and people say, "Don't get rid of it all; there's still some good in it," I'll do the same for my servants—I won't destroy them all.

⁹ I will make sure Jacob has descendants, and people from Judah who can take ownership of my mountain. My chosen ones, my servants, will own the land and live there.

¹² I will make sure your destiny is to be killed by the sword. All of you will bow down to be slaughtered, because I called out to you but you didn't answer; I spoke to you, but you didn't listen. Instead you did what's evil in my sight, choosing to do what I hate.

¹³ So this is what the Lord says, My servants will eat, but you will go hungry. My servants will drink, but you will go thirsty. My servants will celebrate, but you will feel ashamed.

¹⁵ Your name will only be used as a curse by my chosen ones, for the Lord God will kill you and give his servants another name.

¹⁶ Whoever asks a blessing or takes an oath in the land will do so by the one true God, for I have forgotten the troubles of the past—I don't look on them anymore.

¹⁷ Look! I'm going to create new heavens and a new earth. The former things won't be remembered—they won't cross anyone's mind!

¹⁸ Be glad, and be happy forever and ever in what I'm going to create, for I will make Jerusalem a delightful place, and its people a real joy.

¹⁹ I will be so happy over Jerusalem; I will celebrate among my people. The sound of weeping and cries for help won't ever be heard there again.

²⁰ No babies will die after just a few days, and no adults will die without having lived a long life.‡ Those who reach a hundred will be thought of as just a child, and anyone who doesn't reach a hundred will be seen as being under a curse.

²² No longer will they build houses for others to live in; no longer will they plant for others to eat. For my people will live as long as trees do; my chosen ones will live long enough to enjoy all they've worked for.

²³ They won't work for nothing, and they won't have children destined for disaster. For they are people living under the blessing of the Lord, and their children will be too.

²⁴ I will reply even before they ask me. While they are still speaking, I will answer them!

²⁵ The wolf and the lamb will eat together. The lion will eat straw like the ox. The snakes will eat dust. Nothing will cause any harm or damage anywhere on my holy mountain, for the earth will be full of the knowledge of the Lord in the same way that water fills the sea.§

¹ This is what the Lord says: Heaven is my throne, and the earth is where I place my feet. So where will this house be that you're going to build for me? Where will I lie down to rest?

* 65:11 "The god of good luck": literally, "Gad," a pagan god of good fortune. The name Baal-Gad occurs in Joshua 11:17 and Joshua 12:7, meaning "Lord Gad." † 65:11 "The god of destiny": literally, "Meni," a pagan god of fate. It is thought that the name comes from the Semitic word "to apportion," meaning that this god determined the fates of human beings. ‡ 65:20 But see 25:8.

² I made everything; that's how it all came into existence, says the Lord. Those I look favorably on are humble and repentant, and they tremble when I speak.

³ When someone sacrifices a bull it's like human sacrifice, and when someone sacrifices a lamb, it's like breaking the neck of a dog.* When they present a grain offering it's like presenting pig's blood, and when they burn incense it's like worshiping an idol. Since they have chosen to act like this and to love such disgusting things,

⁴ I will also choose to punish them severely and to terrify them, because I called out to them but no one answered; I spoke to them, but no one listened. Instead they did what's evil in my sight, choosing to do what I hate.

⁵ Listen to what the Lord has to say, those of you who tremble when he speaks.† This is what some of your people who hate you and throw you out have said, "Let the Lord be glorified, so we can see how happy you are!"‡ but it's them who are going to be humiliated.

⁶ Hear all the shouting from the city! Hear all the noise from the Temple! It's the sound of the Lord giving his enemies back what they deserve.

⁹ Would I bring a baby to the point of birth and then not deliver it? the Lord asks. Would I who deliver the baby stop it from being born? the Lord asks again.

¹² This is what the Lord says: Watch! I'm going to give her peace and prosperity like a flowing river, the wealth of nations like an overflowing stream. You will nurse and be carried on her hip and played with on her knees.

¹⁴ When you see this happening, you'll be happy deep inside, and you'll prosper like growing grass. The Lord's power will be recognized as blessing his servants and cursing his enemies.

¹⁶ The Lord will execute judgment on everyone by fire and by his sword. There will be many killed by the Lord.

¹⁷ Those who dedicate themselves and make themselves pure in order* to enter the sacred gardens, to worship the idol placed in the center, and

* 66:3 A dog was considered both unclean and a low form of animal life. † 66:5 Referring back to verse 2. ‡ 66:5 Clearly said with sarcasm. § 66:7 Referring to Jerusalem as a woman.

* 66:17 "Dedicate themselves and make themselves pure": this is referring to pagan practice, not to the worship of the true God.

to eat pork and vermin and rats and other disgusting things—they will all die together, says the Lord.

¹⁸ I know[†] what they're doing and what they're thinking. I will soon come to gather all nations and peoples of different languages. They will come and see my glory.

¹⁹ I will give them a sign, and I will send some who survive to the nations. They will go to Tarshish, to the Libyans and Lydians[‡] (who are famous as archers), to Tubal and Greece, and to the distant lands that haven't heard about me or seen my glory. They will announce my glory among the nations.

²⁰ They will bring back all your people from every nation to my holy mountain in Jerusalem as an offering to the Lord. They will come on horses, in chariots and wagons, and on mules and camels, says the Lord. They will bring them in the same way the Israelites bring their grain offerings to the Lord's Temple using vessels that are ceremonially clean.

²² As the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, will last forever, so your descendants and your reputation will also last forever, says the Lord.

²⁴ They will go out and see the dead bodies of those who rebelled against me. The worms that eat them won't die, the fire that burns them won't go out, and everyone who sees them will be horrified.

Jeremiah

² The Lord's message came to Jeremiah beginning in the thirteenth year of the reign of Josiah, son of Amon, king of Judah,

³ and on through the time of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah, up to the fifth month of the eleventh year of Zedekiah, son of Josiah, king of Judah, which was when the people of Jerusalem went into exile.

⁴ The Lord came and told me,

⁵ "I knew exactly who you would be before I created you in your mother's womb; I chose you before you were born to be a prophet to the nations."

⁶ "Oh no, Lord God!" I replied. "I really don't know how to speak in public because I'm still too young!"

⁷ "Don't say you're too young," the Lord told me. "Go to everyone I send you to. Tell them everything I order you to say.

⁸ Don't be afraid of them because I'll go with you and I'll look after you. This is the Lord's promise."

⁹ The Lord stretched out his hand, touched my mouth, and told me: "Look, I've put my words in your mouth.

¹⁰ Today I've placed you over nations and kingdoms to pull up and tear down, to destroy and demolish, to build and plant."

¹¹ The Lord's message came to me, asking, "Jeremiah, what can you see?"

"I see a twig from an almond tree," I answered.

¹² "That's right, because I am watching* to make sure what I say happens," the Lord said.

¹³ The Lord's message came to me again, asking, "What can you see?"

"I see a pot that's boiling," I answered, "and it's tipping in this direction from the north."

¹⁴ Then the Lord told me, "Trouble brewing from the north will sweep out over everyone living in the country.

¹⁵ Watch out! I'm going to summon all the nations and kings of the north," declares the Lord. "Each of these kings will come and set up their thrones right at the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem, and attack all its fortifications and all the towns in Judah.

¹⁶ I will carry out my sentence against the inhabitants for all their wickedness, because they abandoned me to burn incense to pagan gods, to worship idols they themselves made.

¹⁷ You need to get yourself ready. You are going to stand before the people and tell them everything that I order you to say. Don't be scared by them, or I will scare you in front of them.

¹⁸ Look! Today I have made you like a fortified city, a pillar of iron, a wall of bronze to stand against the whole country—against the kings of Judah, its officials, its priests, and the people of the country.

* 1:12 In Hebrew, the almond tree is called "wakeful" because it is the first tree to bloom in spring.

¹⁹ They will fight against you but they won't defeat you, because I'll be there to rescue you," declares the Lord.

2

² Go and announce to the people of Jerusalem that this is what the Lord says:*

I remember when you were young how devoted to me you were. I remember how you loved me when you were my bride. I remember how you followed me in the desert, in a land where nothing is grown.

³ Israel was holy to the Lord, the firstfruits of his harvest. Anyone who ate this harvest was guilty of sin, and they experienced the disastrous results, declares the Lord.

⁵ This is what the Lord says: What did your forefathers think was wrong with me that they went so far away from me? They went off to worship useless idols, and as a result became useless themselves!

⁶ They didn't ask themselves, "Where is the Lord who led us from Egypt, who led us through the wasteland, through a land of deserts and ravines, a land of drought and darkness, a land that no one travels through and where no one lives?"

⁷ I led you into a productive land to eat all the good things that grow there. But you came and made my land unclean, making it offensive to me.

⁸ Your priests did not ask, "Where is the Lord?" Your teachers of the law no longer believed in me, and your leaders rebelled against me. Your prophets prophesied by calling on Baal and followed worthless idols.

¹⁰ Travel over to the islands of Cyprus[†] and take a look; go to the land of Kedar[‡] and examine carefully to see if anything like this has ever happened before.

¹² You heavens, you should be appalled, shocked and horrified! declares the Lord.

¹³ For my people have done two evil things. They have abandoned me, the source of living water, and they have dug their own cisterns—broken cisterns that can't hold water.

¹⁴ Are Israelites slaves? Were they born into slavery? So why have they become victims?

* 2:2 As is usual in this translation, when a prophet is speaking for God no quote marks are used. This avoids too many quote within quote marks, and also it is sometimes problematic to differentiate between God's words and those of the prophet himself. In addition there are many times when the phrase "This what the Lord says" is repeated frequently which should normally start a set of quote marks, ending up with a large number of "nested" quotations. A similar situation exists with the phrase "declares the Lord," which also should be outside quote marks, but would add considerably to their number. For this reason quote marks are kept to a minimum and generally used only when speakers other than Jeremiah or the Lord need to be represented. [†] 2:10 Hebrew: "Kittim." The meaning is to go to the farthest west. [‡] 2:10 Kedar was far to the east.

¹⁵ The young lions roared at you; they growled loudly. They have devastated your country; your towns lie in ruins. No one lives there.

¹⁸ Now what will you benefit as you travel back to Egypt to drink the waters of Shihor River?^{*} What will you gain on your way to Assyria to drink the waters of the Euphrates River?

¹⁹ Your own wickedness will discipline you; your own disobedience will teach you a lesson. Think about it and you'll recognize what a bitter evil it is for you to abandon the Lord your God and not to respect me, declares the Lord God Almighty.

²⁰ You broke off your yoke and ripped off your chains long ago. "I won't worship you!" you declared. On the contrary, you lay down like a prostitute on every high hill and under every green tree.

²¹ I was the one who planted you like the finest vine, grown from the very best seed. How could you degenerate into a useless wild vine?

²² Even bleach and plenty of soap can't get rid of your guilty stains. I still see them, declares the Lord God.

²³ How dare you say, "I'm not unclean! I haven't gone to worship the Baals!" Look at what you've been doing down in the valley. Admit what you've done! You're a young female camel, racing around everywhere.

²⁴ You're a female donkey living in the desert, sniffing the wind for a mate because she's in heat. No one can control her at mating time. All those who're looking for her won't have trouble finding her when she's in heat.

²⁵ You don't have to run around barefoot or have your throat go dry. But you reply, "No, it's impossible! I'm in love with foreign gods—I must go to them."

²⁶ In the same way that a thief feels guilty when they're caught, so the people of Israel have been shamed. All of them—their kings, their officials, their priests, and their prophets.

²⁷ They say to an idol made of wood, "You are my father," and one made of stone, "You gave birth to me." They turn their backs on me, and hide their faces from me. But when they're in trouble they come begging to me, saying, "Please come and save us!"

²⁸ So where are these "gods" of yours that you made for yourselves? Let them come and help you when you're in trouble! Let them save you if they can, because you Israelites have as many gods as you have towns.

²⁹ Why are you complaining to me? It's all of you who have all rebelled against me! declares the Lord.

³⁰ It was pointless of me to punish your children because they refused to accept any discipline. You used your own swords to kill your prophets, destroying them like a ferocious lion.

³¹ You people of today, think about what the Lord is saying: Israel, have I treated you like an empty desert, or a land of thick darkness? Why are my people saying, “We can go where we like! We don't have to come and worship you any more?”

[§] 2:16 "Memphis": Septuagint reading. Hebrew, "Toph." Memphis and Tahpanhes were towns in Egypt. The shaving of heads was a humiliation inflicted on a captured people. ^{*} 2:18 The Shihor River was a branch of the Nile River.

³² Does a girl forget her jewelry or a bride her wedding dress?[†] Yet my people have forgotten me for too many years to count.

³³ How cleverly you look for your lovers! Even prostitutes could learn something from you!

³⁴ On top of that, your clothes are stained with the blood of the poor and the innocent. It's not like you killed them breaking into your homes.

Despite all this,

³⁵ you go on saying, “I'm innocent! Surely he can't still be upset with me!”

Watch out! I'm going to punish you because you go on saying, “I haven't sinned.”

³⁶ You're just so fickle—you keep on changing your mind! You will end up just as disappointed by your alliance with Egypt as you were with Assyria.

³⁷ In fact you will go into exile with your hands on your head as prisoners, because the Lord will have nothing to do with those you trust; they will be no help to you.

¹ If a man divorces his wife and she goes and marries someone else, could he ever go back to her? Wouldn't the country be made totally unclean by this? But you have done worse by prostituting yourselves with many lovers, and now you want to come back to me? declares the Lord.

² Look up at the bare hilltops. Is there anywhere that you haven't had sex? You sat at the roadside like someone from the desert waiting for your lovers to pass by. You have made the land unclean with your prostitution and evil.

³ That's why no showers have been sent, and no spring rains have fallen. But you just stare back shamelessly like a prostitute; you refuse to accept you've done anything wrong.

⁴ Didn't you just tell me, “My father, you've been such a close friend to me since I was little.

⁵ You won't be angry with me for a long time, will you? You won't go on being like that forever?” This is what you've said, but you keep on sinning as much as you can.

⁶ During the reign of King Josiah, the Lord told me, Have you seen what unfaithful Israel has done? She has prostituted herself on every high hill and under every green tree.

⁷ I hoped that after she'd done all this she'd come back to me. But she didn't come back, and her unfaithful sister Judah saw what happened.

⁸ She^{*} saw that because of everything unfaithful Israel had done on committing adultery, I sent her away, giving her a certificate of divorce. But her unfaithful sister Judah wasn't afraid and prostituted herself too.

¹⁰ Despite all this, her unfaithful sister Judah didn't come back to me in sincerity. She only pretended to do so, declares the Lord.

[†] 2:32 “Dress”: probably a “sash.” ^{*} 3:8 Dead Sea Scroll reading. Masoretic text has “I.”

¹² Now go and announce this message to the north:[†] Come back, unfaithful Israel, declares the Lord. I won't be angry with you anymore, because I am merciful, declares the Lord. I won't be angry forever.

¹³ Just admit you did wrong, that you rebelled against the Lord your God. You spread yourself around, committing adultery by worshiping foreign gods under every green tree, refusing to do what I told you, declares the Lord.

¹⁴ Come back, unfaithful children, declares the Lord, because I am married to you. I will take you, one from a town and two from a family, and bring you to Zion.

¹⁵ I will give you shepherds who are like me who will feed you wisely and with understanding.

¹⁶ At that time as you increase in number in the country, declares the Lord, no one will be talking about the Ark of the Lord's Agreement anymore. People won't need to think about it or remember it or wonder what happened to it; and certainly won't need to make a new one.

¹⁷ When that time comes Jerusalem will be called the Throne of the Lord, and all the nations will come together in Jerusalem to honor the Lord. They won't be stubborn or wicked anymore.

¹⁸ At that time the people of Judah will join with the people of Israel, and they will return from the land of the north to the country I gave to your forefathers to own.

¹⁹ I said to myself, I really want you to be my children, and to give you the best country, the most beautiful place of any nation. I hoped you would call me "Father," and never give up following me.

²⁰ But just like a wife might betray her husband, you have betrayed me, people of Israel, declares the Lord.

²² Come back, unfaithful children, and I will heal your unfaithfulness.

"We're here! Yes, we're coming back to you, because you are the Lord our God."

²³ There's no doubt that pagan worship from the hills is pure lies; the idolatry that comes from the mountains is just noise.[‡] Israel's salvation is in the Lord our God alone.

²⁴ All our lives pagan idolatry has destroyed what our fathers worked so hard for: their flocks and herds, their sons and daughters.

²⁵ We should lie down in shame, and have our disgrace bury us. We have sinned against the Lord our God, us and our fathers. From when we were young right up to now we have not obeyed what the Lord our God told us to do.

4

¹ Israel, if you want to come back, then come back to me, declares the Lord. If you get rid of these disgusting idols I see, and don't wander away,

[†] 3:12 The ten northern tribes had been taken north to exile in Assyria. [‡] 3:23 The Hebrew of this verse is obscure.

² and if when you make your vows, you do so only to me, sincerely, truly, and honestly, then the nations will be blessed by me, and they will praise me.

⁴ Dedicate yourselves to the Lord; be totally committed to him,[†] people of Judah and Jerusalem. Otherwise, my anger will blaze like fire, burning so hard that no one can put it out because of the evil you've done.

⁵ Announce this warning throughout Judah and Jerusalem! Tell them: Blow the trumpet everywhere in the country! Shout out, "Hurry! Let's run to the fortified towns for protection!"

⁹ When that happens declares the Lord, the king and officials will lose heart, the priests will be devastated, and the prophets will be shocked.

¹⁰ Then I said, "Oh, Lord God, you have completely fooled the people of Jerusalem by telling them, 'You will have peace,' while holding a sword to our throats."

¹¹ At that time the people of Jerusalem will be told, "A burning wind from the bare hills of the desert is blowing toward the Jerusalem, but not to blow away the chaff or the dust.

¹² No, this wind is too strong for that, and it comes from me. Now I'm also going to tell them how I will punish them."

"What a disaster! We're ruined!"

¹⁴ Clean the evil from your heart, Jerusalem, so that you can be saved. How long will you hold onto your evil thoughts?

¹⁶ "Let the nations know! Look what's happening! Announce this to Jerusalem: An army is coming to besiege you from a distant country; shouting war-cries against the towns of Judah.

¹⁷ They encircle her like men guarding a field, because she has rebelled against me, declares the Lord.

¹⁸ You've brought this on yourself by your own attitudes and actions. This is your punishment, and it's so painful, it's like being stabbed in the heart!"

¹⁹ "I'm[‡] in agony, absolute agony! My heart is breaking! It's beating wildly in my chest! My heart pounds within me; I can't keep quiet because I've heard the trumpet, the signal for battle.

* 4:3 This is not agricultural advice but an invitation to stop being hard and stubborn and to be open to the Lord in order to be spiritually productive. [†] 4:4 The image used here is one of "spiritual circumcision." [‡] 4:19 Jeremiah is the speaker.

²⁰ News of one disaster after another comes flooding in, for the whole country is in ruins. My own home is destroyed in a moment, and everything inside.

²¹ How long do I have to see the flags of war and hear the trumpets of battle?"

²² "My people are stupid; they don't know me. They are foolish children who just don't understand. They're experts at doing evil, but they don't know how to do good."

²⁴ I looked at the mountains, and saw that they were shaking; all the hills were swaying to and fro.

²⁶ I looked, and the productive fields were a desert. All the towns were demolished because of the Lord's furious anger.

²⁸ The earth will mourn and the heavens above will go dark. I have spoken; this is what I have ordered. I'm not going to stop or change my mind."

²⁹ People from every town: run away when they hear the enemy horsemen and archers coming. They hide in the forest and among the rocks. All the towns are abandoned; no one lives in them.

³⁰ You, Jerusalem, now desolate, what are you going to do? Even though you dress in scarlet clothes, and put on gold jewelry, and paint your eyes with make-up, all your dressing-up is pointless! Your lovers hate you; they want to kill you!

³¹ I hear the cries like a woman in labor, the agonizing moans of a woman giving birth to her first child. These are the cries of the Daughter of Zion gasping for air, holding out her hands, saying, "Please help me, I'm being murdered!"

5

² They may make promises in my name, but they're not sincere.

⁴ Then I said to myself, "These people are only the poor—they're just fools who don't know any better. They certainly don't know what the Lord wants, God's right way of living.

⁵ Let me go to and talk to the ones in charge. They would surely know what the Lord wants, God's right way of living." But they had all broken off the yoke as well, and ripped off the chains.

⁶ As a result a lion from the forest will attack them; a wolf from the desert will rip them apart. A leopard will lie in wait for them near their towns, ready to tear to pieces anyone who goes outside. For they keep on rebelling, and turn away from me so often.

⁷ Why should I forgive you? Your children have abandoned me and believe in gods that are not gods. I gave them everything they need, yet they went and committed adultery, gathering together at prostitutes' houses.

¹⁰ Go through her vineyards and damage them, but don't destroy them completely. Rip off her branches, because they don't belong to the Lord.

¹² They have lied about the Lord, saying, "He won't do anything. Nothing bad will happen to us. We won't have war or famine.

¹³ The prophets are just like the wind. The Lord doesn't speak through them. What they predict can happen to them!"

¹⁴ So this is the reply from the Lord God Almighty: Because of what you've said, I will make my words like a fire in your mouth and you people like the wood it burns up.

¹⁵ Look! I am bringing a nation from far away to attack you, people of Israel, declares the Lord. It's a powerful nation that has existed for a long time; it's a nation whose language you don't know, and when they speak you can't understand them.

¹⁶ Their arrows bring death;* they are all strong warriors.

¹⁷ They will consume your harvest and your food; they will destroy your sons and your daughters; they will eat your flocks and your herds; they will feed on your vines and your fig trees. They will attack and will destroy the fortified towns that you have so much confidence in.

¹⁸ But even at that time I won't completely destroy you, declares the Lord.

¹⁹ When people ask you Jeremiah, "Why did the Lord our God do all these things to us?" you are to tell them, "In the same way you have abandoned me and served foreign gods here in your country, so you will serve foreigners in a country that isn't your own."

²⁰ Announce this to the people of Jacob and Judah:

²¹ Listen to this, you foolish, stupid people, who have eyes but don't see, who have ears but don't hear.

²³ But you people have a stubborn and rebellious attitude. You have left me and gone your own way.

* 5:16 "Their arrows bring death": literally, "their quivers are like an open grave."

²⁴ You didn't think to say, "We should appreciate the Lord our God, who sends the autumn and spring rains at the right time, who makes sure we can have a harvest every year."

²⁵ Your wrong actions have taken these benefits from you; your sins have deprived you of my blessings.

²⁶ For there are wicked men among my people. They're like bird-trappers, secretly watching and waiting to catch people in their snare.

²⁸ They've grown fat and smooth, and have become experts in evil. They deny justice to orphans, and they don't defend the rights of those in need.

³⁰ Something horrible, something terrible has happened here in this country.

³¹ The prophets give false prophecies; the priests rule as they please. My people love it like this, but what will you do when it all falls apart?

6

² Even though she is pretty and delightful, I will destroy† the Daughter of Zion.

³ "Shepherds" and their "flocks"‡ will come to attack her; they will set up their tents all around her; each one looking after his own.

⁴ They get ready for battle against her, saying, "Come on, we'll attack at noon! Oh no, the day is almost over; the evening shadows are growing long.

⁶ This is what the Lord Almighty says: Cut down the trees and make a siege ramp to use against Jerusalem. This city needs to be punished because it's full of people mistreating one another.

⁷ Like a spring gushing out§ water, so she pours out her evil. The sounds of violence and abuse echo inside her. I see people sick and wounded everywhere.

⁸ I'm warning you, people of Jerusalem, I'm going to give up on you in disgust. I will destroy you and leave your country uninhabited.

¹⁰ Who can I give this warning to? Who's going to listen to me? Can't you see that they refuse to listen?* They can't hear what I'm saying. See how offensive the Lord's message is to them. They don't like it at all.

* 6:1 Jerusalem was part of the original territory of Benjamin. † 6:2 The word used here usually means to "resemble," but is used in the sense of "destroy" in Hosea 4:5. ‡ 6:3 Clearly an allusion to the invading armies with their generals. § 6:7 "Gushing out": or "keeping cool." * 6:10 "They refuse to listen": literally, "They have uncircumcised ears."

¹¹ But as for me, I'm full of the Lord's anger; I have a hard time keeping it in.

The Lord replies,[†] Pour it out on children in the street, and on groups of young people, because both husband and wife are going to be captured—it's everyone, and it doesn't matter how old they are.

¹² Their houses will be given to others, their fields and wives too, because I'm going to punish everyone living in this country, declares the Lord.

¹³ Everyone cheats because they're greedy, poor and rich alike. Even prophets and priests—they are all dishonest liars!

¹⁴ They give my wounded people first aid, but they don't really care about them. They tell them, "Don't worry! We have peace!" even as war approaches.

¹⁵ Were they ashamed of the disgusting things they did? No, they weren't ashamed at all, they couldn't even blush. So they will fall just like the others, when I punish them; they will drop down dead, says the Lord.

¹⁶ This is what the Lord says: Go and stand where the roads divide, and look. Find out which are the old paths. Ask, "What's the right way?" Then follow it and you'll be content.[‡] But you refused, saying, "We won't go that way!"

¹⁷ I put watchmen in charge of you and told you, make sure you listen for the trumpet call warning you of danger. But you answered, "We won't listen!"

¹⁸ So now you other nations can listen and find out what's going to happen to them.

¹⁹ Earth, you listen too! I am bringing disaster down on this people, the end result of what they themselves planned. It's because they paid no attention to what I said, and rejected my instructions.

²⁰ What's the point of offering me frankincense from Sheba or sweet calamus from a far-away land? I don't accept your burnt offerings; I'm not pleased with your sacrifices.

²¹ So this is what the Lord says: I'm going to put blocks in front of these people to trip them up. Fathers and sons will fall down dead, friends and neighbors too.

²² This is what the Lord says: Look! An army is invading from the north; a powerful nation is getting ready to attack all the way from the ends of the earth.

²³ They pick up their bows and spears. They are cruel and show no mercy. Their war-cries are like the sea roaring, and they ride horses lined up ready to attack you, Daughter of Zion.

²⁴ The people reply,[§] "We've heard the news, and our hands are limp with shock! We're overcome with agony, suffering pain like a woman in labor.

²⁵ Don't go to the field! Don't walk down the road! The enemy is armed with swords! Terror is everywhere!"

²⁶ Oh my people, put on sackcloth and roll around in ashes. Mourn and cry bitterly like you would for an only son, because the destroyer will come down on you suddenly.

[†] 6:11 "The Lord replies": supplied for clarity. [‡] 6:16 "You'll be content:" literally, "you'll find rest for your souls." [§] 6:24 "The people reply": supplied for clarity.

²⁷ Jeremiah, I have made you a tester of metals so you can test my people as if they were metal, so you can know what they're made of and how they act.

²⁸ They're all stubborn rebels going around talking slander. They are hard as bronze and iron; they are all corrupt.

²⁹ The bellows in the refiner's furnace blow powerfully, burning away the lead. But this refining is pointless, because the wicked are not purified.

³⁰ They are identified as impure silver to be rejected, because the Lord has rejected them.

7

² Go and stand in the entrance to the Lord's Temple, and deliver this message: Listen to what Lord has to say, all of you from Judah who are coming in through these gates to worship the Lord.

³ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel says:

⁴ Don't believe in those who try and deceive you by repeating, "The Temple of the Lord is here, the Temple of the Lord is here, the Temple of the Lord is here."*

⁵ If you sincerely change your ways and do what's right, if you treat each other fairly,

⁶ if you stop mistreating foreigners and orphans and widows, and if you stop murdering innocent people and stop hurting yourselves by worshiping,

⁸ But look at you! You go on believing in these deceptions, these worthless words.

⁹ Are you really going to continue stealing, murdering, committing adultery, and lying, burning incense to Baal, and worshiping other gods that you know nothing about,

¹⁰ and then come and stand before me in my own Temple and say, "We're safe, so we can continue doing all these offensive things"?

¹¹ Do you see this house, my own Temple, as a den of thieves? Well, that's what it looks like to me too, declares the Lord.

¹² So why don't you go to Shiloh† where I first made myself a place for me to live with you, and see what I did to it because of the evil my people Israel did?

¹³ I've warned you time and again about all these things you've done but you've refused to listen, declares the Lord. I've called out to you but you didn't want to answer me.

¹⁴ So now I'm going to do to my Temple, what I did to Shiloh. This is the Temple your put your faith in, the place I gave to you and your forefathers.

¹⁵ I will throw you out of my presence, just as I expelled all your Israelite relatives, all the descendants of Ephraim.‡

* 7:4 In other words, because the Lord's Temple was located in Jerusalem, the Lord would never allow the city to be conquered. † 7:12 See Psalms 78:60. ‡ 7:15 Referring to the capture and exile of the ten northern tribes.

16 You, Jeremiah, are not to pray for these people. Don't cry out to me in prayer for them, don't plead with me on their behalf, because I won't listen to you.

17 Can't you see how they're behaving in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?

18 The children collect the firewood, the fathers light the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes for the Queen of Heaven, and they pour out drink offerings to other gods to make me angry and hurt.

19 But is it really me they're hurting? declares the Lord. Aren't they really hurting themselves and bringing shame on themselves?

20 So this is what the Lord God says: Watch! My furious anger and will be poured out on this country, on people and animals, on the orchards and the crops in the field. It will burn and nobody will be able to put it out.

21 This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You can add your burnt offerings to your other sacrifices and eat all the meat yourselves!§

22 When I led your forefathers out of Egypt I didn't just give them instructions about burnt offerings and sacrifices,

23 This is the commandment I gave them: Obey me, and I will be your God, and you will be my people. Follow everything I have commanded you to do, so that all will go well for you.

24 But they refused to listen or pay attention. Instead they followed the desires of their own stubborn and evil thinking, so they ended up going backward and not forward.

25 From the time your forefathers left Egypt until now, I have sent you time after time my servants the prophets.

26 But you refused to listen or pay them attention. Instead, you became more stubborn and rebellious than your forefathers!

27 When you tell them all this, they won't listen to you. When you call out to them, they won't answer.

28 So you have to tell them, "This is the nation that refused to listen to what the Lord their God said, and would not accept the Lord's discipline. Truth has died out; people don't even talk about it.

29 Cut off your hair and throw it away.* Sing a song of mourning on the bare hills, for the Lord has rejected and abandoned the generation who made him angry."

30 For the people of Judah have done what is evil in my sight, declares the Lord. They have placed their offensive idols in my own Temple, making it unclean.

31 They have built pagan shrines at Topheth in the Valley of Hinnom so they could sacrifice their sons and daughters by burning them in the fire. This is something I never commanded. I never even thought of such a thing!

§ 7:21 This was of course not permitted in Levitical law. However, what the Lord is saying is that since he won't accept their sacrifices they might as well eat all of the meat themselves. * 7:29 Either as a sign of mourning (which was forbidden in Deuteronomy 14:1, presumably as a pagan practice), or as a sign they had broken their vow to God as if they were a Nazarite (Numbers 6:5).

³² So watch out! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when instead of Topheth and the Valley of Hinnom this place will be called the Valley of Killing. People will bury their dead in Topheth until it's full.

³³ The dead bodies of these people will be food for birds of prey and wild animals, and there won't be anyone to scare them away.

³⁴ I will put a stop to the cheerful sounds of celebration and the happy voices of the bride and bridegroom from the cities of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, for the country will be turned into a wasteland.

¹ When that happens, declares the Lord, the bones of the kings of Judah, the bones of the officials, the bones of the priests, the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the people of Jerusalem will be taken out of their graves.

² They will lie exposed to the sun and moon, and to all the stars which they loved, which they served, which they followed, which they consulted, and which they worshiped.* Their bones will not be collected or reburied, but will be left like manure lying on the ground.

³ Those who are left of this evil family will prefer to die rather than live in every place I've scattered them, declares the Lord Almighty.

⁴ Tell them this is what the Lord says: When people fall down, don't they get up again? When people go the wrong way, don't they turn around?

⁵ So why have these people of Jerusalem gone the wrong way? Why do they refuse to turn around from their repeated betrayals, holding on to all their lies?

⁸ How on earth can you say, "We're wise, and we have the Law of the Lord?" Can't you see that the writings of your teachers of the Law have turned it into lies?

⁹ The wise will be shown to be foolish; they will be shocked at being caught out. Can't you see that they've rejected what the Lord says—so do they have any wisdom at all?

¹⁰ I'm going to give their wives to others, and their fields to different owners, since everyone cheats because they're greedy, poor and rich alike. Even prophets and priests—they are all dishonest liars!

¹¹ They give my wounded people first aid, but they don't really care about them. They tell them, "Don't worry! We have peace!" even as war approaches.

¹² Are they ashamed of the disgusting things they did? No, they're not ashamed at all, they can't even blush. So they will fall just like the others, when I punish them; they will drop down dead, says the Lord.

¹³ I'm going to destroy them, declares the Lord. There will be no grapes left on the vines, no figs on the trees—even the leaves will wither. They will lose whatever I gave them.

* 8:2 The repetition emphasizes the inability of these "gods" to do anything to protect even the bones of their worshippers.

¹⁴ The people say, “Why are we sitting around here? Let’s get together and run to the fortified towns. We can die there, for the Lord our God is killing us by giving us poisoned water to drink, because we sinned against him.

¹⁵ We hoped for peace, but instead nothing good has come; we hoped for a time of healing, but instead there was only sudden terror.”

¹⁶ The snorting of enemy horses can be heard from Dan.[†] The whole country shakes in fear at the sound of the neighing of these strong stallions. They have come to destroy the country and everything in it; Jerusalem and everyone who lives there.

¹⁸ Nothing comforts me[‡] in my suffering;[§] I feel terrible inside.

Why have they made me^{*} angry, worshipping their carved images and their useless foreign idols?

²⁰ “The harvest is over, the summer is finished, but we’re not saved,” say the people.[†]

²¹ I’m crushed by the injuries suffered by my people; I mourn for them. I’m horrified at what’s happened!

²² Isn’t there any ointment from Gilead to help heal them? Aren’t there any doctors there? So why haven’t my people been healed from their wounds?

¹ How I wish my head was a spring of water, and my eyes a fountain of tears! Then I would weep day and night over all my people who have been killed.

² I wish I had a temporary shelter in the desert—I would give up on my people and leave them, because they’re all adulterers, a bunch of traitors!

³ Their words are like arrows shot from a bow. Lies win out over the truth throughout the country. They go from one evil thing to the next, forgetting all about me, declares the Lord.

⁴ Everyone, watch out for your friends! Don’t even trust your brother! Every brother is deceitful, and every friend slanders other people.

⁷ So this is what the Lord Almighty says: Look, I’m going to test them and purify them like metal in a furnace. What else can I do because of what my people have done?

[†] 8:16 Dan was in the north of the country and would be the first to experience invasion. [‡] 8:18

Jeremiah is the speaker. [§] 8:18 The Hebrew of this line is obscure. ^{*} 8:19 The Lord is the speaker. [†] 8:20 “Say the people”: supplied for clarity

¹⁰ I will weep and wail for the mountains, I will sing a funeral song over the pastures in the countryside, because they have been so badly burned that no one can pass through, and there are no cattle to make any noise. The birds have flown and the wild animals have run away.

¹¹ I'm going to make Jerusalem into a heap of rubble, a place where jackals live. I will destroy the towns of Judah, leaving them empty.

¹² Who is wise enough to understand this? Has the Lord told anyone so they can explain what's happened? Why has the land been destroyed and burned so it's like a desert, so no one can pass through it?

¹³ The Lord replied, It's because they have given up keeping my laws that I placed before them. They haven't followed them; they haven't done what I told them.

¹⁴ On the contrary, they have followed their own stubborn way of thinking, and went to worship the Baals, just as their forefathers taught them.

¹⁵ So this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Watch out! I will give these people wormwood to eat and poisoned water to drink.

¹⁶ I'm about to scatter them among nations unfamiliar to them and their forefathers, and I will send enemies with swords to chase after them until I have wiped them out.

¹⁷ This is what the Lord Almighty says: Be aware of what's happening! Call for the professional women mourners, ask for the best of them.

¹⁸ Have them come as quickly as possible, and sing a funeral song about us, so we can cry our eyes out, so our tears will flow like streams.

¹⁹ The sound of weeping comes from Zion, "We're completely devastated! We're totally ashamed, because we've had to abandon our country, because our houses have been demolished."

²¹ Death has slipped in through our windows; it has come into our fortresses. It has killed the children playing in the streets and the young people gathering in the town squares.

²³ This is what the Lord says: The wise shouldn't boast about their wisdom. The strong shouldn't boast about their strength. The rich shouldn't boast about their riches.

²⁴ Anyone who wants to boast should boast that they really know and understand me, recognizing that I am the Lord who acts with trustworthy love, who shows fairness, and who does what is right everywhere on earth, because these mean the most to me, declares the Lord.

²⁶ Egypt, Judah, Edom, Ammon, Moab, and all the desert people who trim their hair on the sides of their heads—all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the Israelites are spiritually uncircumcised.

² This is what the Lord says: Don't adopt the practices of other nations. Don't be terrified as they are by signs in the heavens that they interpret as predicting disaster.

³ The religious beliefs of the peoples are pointless. They chop down a tree in the forest and a craftsman carves the wood with a tool to make an idol.

⁴ They decorate it with silver and gold, and nail it down with a hammer so it won't fall over.

⁵ Just like a scarecrow in a field of cucumbers, their idols can't speak. They have to be carried around because they can't walk. You don't have to be afraid of them because they can't hurt you—and they can't do you any good either.

⁶ There's no one like you, Lord! You are so great! You are incredibly powerful!

⁷ Everyone should respect you, King of the nations. This is how you should be treated. There's no one like you among all the wise men of every nation and kingdom.

⁸ Yet these “wise men” are completely foolish and stupid, because they think they can be taught by useless idols made of wood!

⁹ Sheets of hammered silver are shipped in from Tarshish, and gold from Uphaz, to be used by craftsmen and metalworkers. These idols are dressed in clothes of blue and purple made by experts.

¹⁰ But the Lord is the only true God. He is the living God and eternal King. The earth shakes when he is angry; the nations can't withstand his fury.

¹¹ This is what you are to tell the nations: “These gods, who didn't make either the heavens or the earth, will be wiped out from this earth and from under these heavens.”*

¹² It was God who made the earth by his power. He created the world by his wisdom and by his understanding he put the heavens in place.

¹³ The waters of the heavens rain down with a roar at his command. He makes the clouds to rise all over the earth. He makes lightning to accompany rain, and sends the wind from his storehouses.

¹⁴ Everyone is stupid; they don't know anything. Every metalworker is embarrassed by the idols they make. For their images made of molten metal are fraudulent—they're not alive!

¹⁵ They are useless, an object to be laughed at. They will be destroyed at the time of their punishment.

¹⁷ You people living in Jerusalem[†] under siege, get all your things together ready to leave,

¹⁸ because this is what the Lord says: Look! Right now I'm about to throw out the people living in this country, bringing them trouble they will really feel.[‡]

* 10:11 This verse which is addressed to foreign nations is written in Aramaic, the common language of the time. † 10:17 “People living in Jerusalem”: supplied for clarity. ‡ 10:18 The meaning of the Hebrew of this last clause is uncertain.

¹⁹ The people of Jerusalem responded, § “We’re suffering terribly because we’ve been badly hurt—our injuries are really serious. We thought it wouldn’t be that bad and that we could bear it.

²⁰ Our tents* have been destroyed; all our ropes have been broken. Our children have been taken from us and are no more. We don’t have anyone left to put up our tents or hang our curtains.”

²¹ The “shepherds”† have become stupid—they don’t ask the Lord for advice. That’s why they have failed, and all their flock has been scattered.

²² Listen to the news that an noisy army is invading from a country to the north. The towns of Judah will be knocked down, they will be places where only jackals live.

²³ ‡ realize, Lord, that people don’t control their own lives—no one really knows how to choose their way.

²⁴ Please discipline me fairly, Lord—not while you’re angry, otherwise you’ll kill me!

²⁵ Pour out your fury on the nations that don’t recognize you as God, and on their families that don’t worship you. For they have completely destroyed the Israelites, wiping us out. They have devastated our country.

² Listen to the terms of this agreement, and then repeat them to the people of Judah and Jerusalem.

³ Tell them this is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: You are cursed if you don’t obey the terms of this agreement.

⁴ I made this agreement with your forefathers when I led them out of Egypt, out of the iron-making furnace, saying, “Obey me, and do everything I order you to do, and you will be my people, and I will be your God.”

⁵ I did this to fulfill what I promised to your forefathers—to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it still is today.

Amen, Lord, I answered.

⁶ Then the Lord told me, Go and publicly announce this whole message in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying: Pay attention the terms of this agreement and do what they say.

⁷ From the time I led your forefathers out of Egypt until now, I seriously warned them time and again, saying, “Do what I tell you!”

⁸ But they refused to obey, they wouldn’t listen. Instead each of them followed their own stubborn and evil thinking. I had ordered them to follow the agreement, but they didn’t do so. So I brought down on them all the curses contained in the agreement.

⁹ The Lord told me, There is a rebellion happening among the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem.

¹⁰ They have gone back to the sins of their forefathers who refused to obey what I said. They have gone to worship other gods. The people of Israel and Judah have broken the agreement I made with their forefathers.

§ 10:19 “The people of Jerusalem responded”: supplied for clarity. * 10:20 “Tents” are symbolic of the houses in Jerusalem. † 10:21 “Shepherds”: referring to the nation’s leaders. ‡ 10:23 Jeremiah is speaking.

¹¹ So this is what the Lord says: I'm going to bring upon them a disaster they won't be able to escape. They will cry out to me for help, but I won't listen to them.

¹² Then the people in the towns of Judah and Jerusalem will go and call out for help to the gods they've been burning incense to, but these gods won't be able to do anything to save them in their time of trouble.

¹³ You certainly have as many gods as you have towns, Judah! You have built shameful altars, altars to burn incense to Baal. You have as many altars as the streets of Jerusalem.

¹⁴ Jeremiah, don't pray for these people. Don't cry for help or offer a prayer on their behalf, because I won't be listening when they cry out to me in the time of their trouble.

¹⁵ What right do the people I love have to be in my Temple when they've done so many evil things? Do you think the meat of sacrifices will save you? When disaster strikes will you be happy?*

¹⁶ At one time the Lord said you were a healthy olive tree, full of leaves and bearing beautiful fruit. But with a great noise he will set fire to it, destroying its branches.

¹⁷ I, the Lord Almighty, was the one who planted you, but I have announced you will be destroyed because of the evil that the people of Israel and Judah have committed, making me angry by burning incense to Baal.

¹⁸ The Lord told me about it,[†] so I knew. Then he showed me what they were actually doing.

¹⁹ I was like a trusting little lamb being led away to be slaughtered. I didn't know that they had been plotting against me. They said, "Let's destroy the tree along with everything it produces. Let's kill him so no one will even remember his name."

²⁰ I appeal to you, Lord Almighty, you who judge rightly and examine peoples thoughts and feelings, let me see how you punish them, because I've left my case in your hands.

²¹ So this is what the Lord says about the people of Anathoth who are trying to kill you, telling you, "Don't prophesy in the name of the Lord, or we'll kill you."

²³ There won't be anyone left because I will bring disaster on the people of Anathoth at the time when they're punished.

¹ Lord, when I complain to you, you always show yourself to be in the right. Even so I still want to present my case to you. Why is it that wicked people do so well? Why do those who are unfaithful to you live so comfortably?

² You planted them, and they've taken root, grown, and produced fruit. They're always talking about you but they don't think of you, even for a moment.

* 11:15 The meaning of this verse is subject to various interpretations. † 11:18 Presumably referring back to the rebellion mentioned in verse 9.

³ But you know me, Lord, you see me, and examine what I think about you. Drag off these people like sheep to be slaughtered; keep them apart for the time when they're killed.

⁴ How long will the land have to mourn and the grass in every field be dried up because of the evil of the people who live there? The animals and birds have died out because the people have said, "He* doesn't know what's going to happen to us."

⁵ The Lord says,† Once you've become worn out in a foot race against men, how would you win racing against horses? If you trip up in open ground, how would you do in the tangled undergrowth beside the Jordan?

⁶ Even your own brothers and your father's family have betrayed you; they have publicly criticized you. Don't trust them when they talk nicely to you!

⁷ I have given up on my people; I have abandoned the nation I chose. I have handed over the ones I truly love to their enemies.

⁸ They've turned into a wild lion, roaring at me—that's why I hate them.

⁹ My people are like a spotted bird of prey‡ to me with other birds of prey circling to attack it. Go and bring all the wild animals to eat up the carcass.

¹⁰ Many shepherds§ have come and destroyed my vineyard; they have trampled down the crops in my field. They have turned my pleasant land into an empty wasteland.

¹² The destructive armies have crossed all the bare desert hills for the Lord's sword destroys from one end of the country to the other. No one has any peace.

¹³ My people sowed wheat but harvested thorns. They wore themselves out but gained no benefit. You should be ashamed of such a poor harvest, caused by the Lord's furious anger.

¹⁴ This is what the Lord says: When it comes these evil nearby nations who attack the country that I gave to my people Israel, I'm going to uproot them from their land. I'm also going to uproot the people of Judah from among them.

¹⁵ However, once I have uprooted them, I will have mercy on them again, and bring each one back to their property and their land.

¹⁶ If they will honestly learn the ways of my people and respect me, making their vows to me, just as they once taught my people to swear by Baal, then they will do well among my people.

¹⁷ But if they refuse to obey, then I will not only uproot that nation but I will completely destroy it, declares the Lord.

² So I went and bought a loincloth as the Lord had instructed me, and I put it on.

* 12:4 "He" could apply to the Lord or to Jeremiah, either refuting God's foreknowledge or Jeremiah's prophetic claims. † 12:5 "The Lord says": supplied for clarity. ‡ 12:9 "Spotted bird of prey": or "hyena." § 12:10 "Shepherds": referring to the leaders of invading armies.

³ Then the Lord gave me another message:

⁴ Take the loincloth that you bought and put on, and go immediately to the River Perath* and hide it there in a hole among the rocks.

⁵ So I went and hid it at the River Perath, as the Lord had told me.

⁶ A long time later the Lord told me, Go to Perath, and get the loincloth that I ordered you to hide there.

⁷ I went to Perath and dug up the loincloth, and removed it from where I'd hidden it. Obviously it was ruined—completely useless.

¹⁰ These evil people refuse to listen to what I tell them. They follow their own stubborn and evil thinking and run off to worship other gods—they will be like this loincloth, completely useless.

¹¹ In the same way that a loincloth holds tightly to the body, so I made all the people of Israel and Judah hold tightly to me, declares the Lord. Then they could have been my people, representing me, giving me honor and praise. But they refused to listen.

¹² So tell them this is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: Every wine jar shall be filled with wine.

When they reply, "Don't we know that already? Of course every wine jar should be filled with wine!"

¹³ then tell them that this is what the Lord says: I'm going to make everyone who lives in this land drunk—the kings sitting on David's throne, the priests, the prophets, and all the people of Jerusalem.

¹⁴ I'm going to smash them against each other like wine jars,[†] both parents and children, declares the Lord. I won't let any mercy or pity or compassion stop me from destroying them.

¹⁵ Listen and pay attention. Don't be arrogant, for the Lord has spoken.

¹⁶ Honor the Lord your God before he brings the darkness, before you trip and fall in the twilight on the mountains. You long for light to come, but he send only gloom and complete darkness.

¹⁷ But if you refuse to listen, I will weep secretly inside because of your pride. My tears pouring down because the Lord's flock has been captured.

¹⁸ Tell the king and the queen mother: Get down from your thrones, because your splendid crowns have fallen from your heads.

²⁰ Look up and you'll see the invaders coming from the north. Where is the flock that was given to you to look after? Where are the sheep you were so proud of?

* 13:4 The River Parath in Hebrew is usually translated as the Euphrates. However, this would mean Jeremiah going on two round trips of some 700 miles each. Some have suggested that the river in question was one with a similar name located near to Anathoth. Insofar as this is an acted parable it seems likely that others were supposed to see what happened and understand what it meant, the actual Euphrates seems an unlikely location. However, the symbolic aspect must be included since the invaders would be coming from Babylon on the Euphrates. [†] 13:14 "Like wine jars": supplied for clarity.

²¹ What are you going to say when he puts your enemies in charge of you, people you once counted as your friends? Won't you suffer pains like a woman in labor?

²² If you say to yourself, Why has this happened to me? it's because you have been so wicked. That's why your skirts were stripped off and you were raped.

²³ Can Ethiopians change the color of their skin? Can a leopard change its spots? In the same way you can't change and do good because you're so used to doing evil.

²⁴ I'm going to scatter you like chaff blown away by the desert wind.

²⁵ This is what's going to happen to you; this is what I have decided to do to you, declares the Lord, because you have forgotten me and believed in lies.

²⁶ I will pull your skirts up over your face, so you will be seen naked and ashamed.

²⁷ I watched your acts of adultery and lust, how you prostituted yourselves shamelessly, worshiping idols on the hills and in the fields. Yes, I saw the disgusting things you did.

Disaster is coming to you, Jerusalem! How long are you going to remain unclean?

14

² Judah is in mourning; her towns are wasting away. Her people are weeping for the land, and a cry for help comes from Jerusalem.

³ Rich people send their servants to get water. They go to the cisterns, but don't find any water. They return with empty jars, disappointed and ashamed, covering their heads.

⁴ The ground has dried up because there hasn't been any rain in the land. The farmers are ashamed; they cover their heads.

⁷ Even though our sins give evidence against us, Lord, please do something for us because of your good nature. Yes, we have rebelled against you so often; we have sinned against you.

⁸ You are the hope of Israel, our Savior in times of trouble. Why do you act like a foreigner in our country, like a traveler who only stays a night?

⁹ Why do you act like someone caught unawares, like a powerful warrior who can't help? You are here among us, Lord, and we are known as your people. Please don't give up on us!

¹⁰ This is what the Lord says about his people: They really love to wander away from me—they don't even try to stop themselves. So the Lord refuses to accept them. Now he'll remember their guilty actions and punish them for their sins.

¹¹ The Lord told me, Don't pray for the welfare of this people.

¹² Even if they fast, I won't listen to their cry. Even though they offer burnt offerings and grain offerings, I won't accept them. On the contrary I will wipe them out by sword and famine and plague.

¹⁴ The prophets are prophesying lies in my name, replied the Lord. I didn’t send them or choose them or speak to them. It’s a lying vision, an empty prediction, a deluded, deceitful product of their own minds that they are prophesying to you.

¹⁵ So this is what the Lord says about such prophets who prophesy in my name: I didn’t send them, but even so they say, “This country won’t suffer war or famine.” These same prophets will die from war or famine!

¹⁶ The bodies of the people they prophesied to will be thrown into the streets of Jerusalem because of famine and war. There won’t be anyone to bury them or their wives, their sons or their daughters. I will pour out their own evil on them.

¹⁷ This is what you are to tell them: Tears flow from my eyes without stopping day or night, because my people have been crushed by a heavy blow, a really serious wound.

¹⁸ If I go out to the countryside, I see those killed by the sword; if I go into the city, I see those dying by famine. Both prophets and priests wander around the country—they don’t know what they’re doing.

¹⁹ Have you really rejected Judah? Do you hate Zion so much? Why have you wounded us so badly that we can’t be healed? We hoped for peace, but instead nothing good has come; we hoped for a time of healing, but instead there was only sudden terror.

²² Can the false gods of the other nations bring rain? Can the skies themselves send showers? No, it’s you, Lord our God. So we put our hope in you, because only you can do all this.

¹ The Lord told me: Even if Moses and Samuel were standing before me pleading with me on behalf of these people, I wouldn’t feel sorry for them. Send them away from me. Have them leave.

² If they ask you, “Where shall we go?” tell them that this is what the Lord says: Those to be killed by the plague, to the plague; those to be killed by the sword, to the sword; those to be killed by famine, to famine; and those to be killed in captivity, to captivity.

⁴ I will make all the kingdoms of the world horrified by them, because of the evil things Manasseh, son of Hezekiah, king of Judah did in Jerusalem.

⁵ Who will be sorry for you, Jerusalem? Who will mourn for you? Who will stop to ask you how you are?

* 14:13 “Claiming to be speaking for you”: supplied for clarity.

⁶ You have deserted me, declares the Lord. You have turned your back on me. So I will take action against you and destroy you; I am tired of showing you mercy.

⁷ I will scatter you with a winnowing fork* from every town in the country. I will destroy my people and take away their children because they refuse to give up their evil ways.

⁸ There will be more widows than the sand of the sea. I will bring a destroyer at noon and mothers will lose their young sons. They will suddenly experience agony and shock.

⁹ A mother of seven children will collapse; she will gasp for breath. Her sun will set while it's still daytime; she will be ashamed and humiliated. I will let the enemies kill the rest of them, declares the Lord.

¹⁰ How sad I am, my mother, that you gave birth to me! I'm a victim of argument and conflict wherever I go in the country. I have never lent anyone anything, or borrowed anything, but still everyone curses me.

¹¹ But the Lord told me: Don't worry, I'm going to take away your problems so you can do good. I will make your enemies plead with you whenever they're in trouble or suffering.[†]

¹³ I will give away your wealth and valuable possessions for free. They will become plunder for your enemies because of all the sins you committed throughout your country.

¹⁴ Then I will have your enemies make you their slaves‡ in an unfamiliar country, because I will so angry it will be like lighting a fire that will burn you up.

¹⁵ You know what's happening to me, Lord. Please remember me and look after me. Punish my persecutors! Please be patient—don't let me die! You know I put up with criticism because I want to honor you.

¹⁶ When I received your messages, I ate them up! What you said made me really happy—I was delighted. I belong to you, Lord God Almighty!

¹⁷ I didn't join in with a bunch of jokers as they had fun. I stayed by myself because you have called me, and you have filled me with outrage.§

¹⁹ So this is what the Lord says: If you come back to me, I will take you back and you will serve me again. If what you talk about are worthwhile subjects and not nonsense, you will be my spokesman, Jeremiah.* They must be the ones who follow you; you must not follow them.

²⁰ Then I will make you a wall to these people, a strong wall of bronze. They will fight against you but they won't defeat you.[†] I am with you to save you and rescue you, declares the Lord.

²¹ I will liberate you from the power of the wicked, and free you from clutches of the cruel.

* 15:7 "Winnowing fork": a tool used to separate the chaff from the grain. † 15:11 Or "I will talk to your enemies for you whenever you're in trouble, whenever you're suffering." The Hebrew is ambiguous. ‡ 15:14 "Make you their slaves": or "take you to." § 15:17 "Filled me with outrage": at the actions of mocking partygoers and the nation generally. * 15:19 "Jeremiah": supplied for clarity. † 15:20 See also 1:18-19.

² Don't marry or have children here.

⁴ They will die from fatal diseases. No one will mourn for them. Their bodies won't be buried, but will lie on the ground like manure. They will be destroyed by war and famine, and their bodies will be food for birds of prey and wild animals.

⁵ This is what the Lord says: Don't enter a home where people are having a funeral meal. Don't visit them to mourn or to offer condolences, for I have taken away my peace, my trustworthy love, and my mercy from these people, declares the Lord.

⁶ Everyone, from the most important to the least, will die in this country. They will not be buried or mourned; there will be no rites for the dead such as cutting oneself or shaving of heads.

⁷ No funeral receptions will be held to comfort those who mourn—not even a comforting drink is to be offered at the loss of a father or mother.

⁸ Don't go into a house where people are celebrating and sit down with them to eat and drink.

⁹ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am going to put a stop right here, while you watch, to any sounds of celebration and joy, the happy voices of the groom and bride.

¹⁰ When you explain all this to them they'll ask you, "Why has the Lord ordered that such a terrible disaster should happen to us? What did we do wrong? What sin have we committed against the Lord our God?"

¹¹ Answer them: It's because your forefathers deserted me, declares the Lord. They went and followed other gods, serving them and worshiping them. They abandoned me and didn't keep my laws.

¹² You however have done even more evil than your forefathers. Look at how all of you followed your own stubborn evil thinking instead of obeying me.

¹³ So I'm going to throw you out of this country and exile you in a country unfamiliar to you and your forefathers. There you'll serve other gods day and night, because I won't help you at all.

¹⁴ But listen! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when people won't any longer make vows, saying, "On the Lord's life, who led the Israelites out of Egypt."

¹⁵ Instead they'll say, "On the Lord's life, who led the Israelites back from the northern country and all the other countries where he had exiled them." I'm going to bring them back to the country I gave their forefathers.

¹⁶ But for the moment I'm going to send for many fishermen and they'll catch them, declares the Lord. Then I'm going to send for many hunters, and they'll hunt them down on every mountain and hill, even from their hiding places in the rocks.

¹⁸ First I'm going to pay them back double for their wickedness and sin, because they have made my land unclean with the lifeless bodies of

¹⁹ Lord, you are my strength and my fortress, my safe place in the time of trouble. Nations will come to you from all over the earth, and they will say, “The religion of our forefathers was a total lie! The idols they worshiped were useless—no good at all.

²¹ Now they'll see! I'll show them, and then they'll recognize my power and strength. Then they'll know that I am the Lord!

17

³ on my mountain in the fields. I will hand over your wealth and all your valuable possessions as plunder, because of the sin committed on your pagan high places inside your country.

⁴ You will have to give up the land I gave you. I will have your enemies make you their slaves in an unfamiliar country for you made my anger blaze, and it will burn forever.

⁵ This is what the Lord says: Cursed are those who put their confidence in human beings, who trust in human strength and give up relying on the Lord.

⁷ Blessed are those who trust in the Lord, who put their confidence in him.

⁸ They are like trees planted by water, sending out roots toward the stream. They don't panic when it gets hot; their leaves are always green. They don't worry during a time of drought—they go on producing fruit.

⁹ The mind is more deceptive than anything else—it's incurably sick! Who can possibly understand it?

¹⁰ But I, the Lord, see what people are thinking. I examine their minds, so I can reward them depending on their attitudes and the way they behave.

¹¹ Like a partridge hatching eggs it didn't lay is someone who makes a fortune by cheating others. Their riches will fly away at midday, and in the end they'll look like a fool.

¹² Our Temple is a throne of glory, raised up high from the beginning.

¹³ Lord, you are Israel's hope, anyone who deserts you will be disgraced. Anyone who turns their back on you will vanish like names written in the dust, for they have abandoned the Lord, the source of living water.

¹⁵ See how they keep on saying to me, “Where is the disaster that the Lord's predicted? Is it ever going to happen?”†

* 17:1 “Adamant”: an extremely hard stone used in the same way as diamond is today. Diamonds were unknown in Israel at that time. † 17:15 A colloquial expression would be, “Bring it on!”

¹⁶ But I haven't been in a hurry to give up being your shepherd. I haven't wanted the time of trouble to come. You know that whatever I said was said in front of you.

¹⁸ Bring shame on my persecutors, but not on me. Terrify them, but not me. Let them experience the time of trouble, and smash them to pieces.

¹⁹ This is what the Lord told me: Go and stand at the main gate of the city, the one used by kings of Judah, and do the same at all the other gates of Jerusalem.

²¹ This is what the Lord says: Pay attention, if you value your lives! Don't carry a load on the Sabbath day, and don't bring it through the gates of Jerusalem.

²⁴ Listen carefully to me, says the Lord, and don't bring any load through the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, and keep the Sabbath day holy, and don't do any work on it.

²⁵ Then kings and princes will enter through the gates of this city. They will sit on the throne of David. They will ride in chariots and on horses with their officials, accompanied by the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, and this city will be inhabited forever.

²⁶ People will come from the towns of Judah and everywhere around Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin, and from the lowlands the hill country, and the Negev. They will bring burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings and frankincense, and thank offerings to the Lord's Temple.

²⁷ But if you refuse to listen to me and keep the Sabbath day holy by not carrying a load while entering the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I will set its gates alight with a fire that can't be put out, and it will burn down Jerusalem's fortresses.

² Go down right away to the potter's house. I will give you my message there.

³ I went down to the potter's house and saw him working at his potter's wheel.

⁴ But the pot that he was making from the clay went wrong. So he made it into something different as he thought best.

⁵ The Lord's message came to me, saying,

⁶ People of Israel, declares the Lord, can't I deal with you just like this potter does with his clay? I hold you in my hand just like clay in the potter's hand, people of Israel.

⁸ However, if that nation I warned gives up its evil ways, then I will change my mind regarding the disaster I was about to bring.

¹⁰ But if it does evil in my sight and refuses to listen to my voice, then I will change my mind regarding the good I had planned for it.

¹² But they'll say, "We just can't! We'll do whatever we want. Each of us will stubbornly follow our own evil thinking."

¹⁴ Does the snow of Lebanon ever disappear from its rocky mountain-tops? Do its cool waters that flow from such distant sources ever dry up?

¹⁶ They have turned their country into a horrific wasteland, a place that will always be treated with contempt.* People passing by will be shocked, shaking their heads in disbelief.

¹⁷ Like a strong wind from the east I will scatter them before the enemy. I will turn my back on them and not look at them when their time of trouble comes.

¹⁸ Some people decided, "We need a plan to deal with Jeremiah. There'll still be priests to explain the law, there'll still be wise people to give advice, and there'll still be prophets to give prophecies. Let's organize a smear campaign† against him so we don't have to listen to a word he says."

²⁰ Should good be paid back with evil? Yet they have dug a pit to trap me! Remember how I stood before you to plead on their behalf, to stop you being angry with them?

²¹ But now may their children starve; may they be killed by the sword. May their wives lose their children and their husbands; may their husbands die from disease; may their young men be killed in battle.

²² May cries of agony be heard from their houses when you suddenly bring invaders to attack them, because they dug a pit to capture me and hid traps to catch me as I walk along.

²³ But Lord, you know about all their plots to try and kill me. Don't forgive their wickedness; don't wipe away their sin. Bring them down! Deal with them when you're angry!

¹ This is what the Lord says: Go and buy a clay jar from a potter. Take some of the elders of the people and leaders of the priests with you,

* 18:16 "Treated with contempt": literally, "hissed at." † 18:18 "Organize a smear campaign": literally, "strike him with the tongue."

² and go through the Broken Pottery Gate to the valley of Ben-hinnom. Announce this message I'm giving you.

³ Tell them, Listen to what the Lord says, kings of Judah and people living in Jerusalem. This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am going to bring down on this place such a disaster that it will make the ears of anyone who hears about it ring.

⁴ My people have deserted me and have made this a place where foreign gods are worshiped. They have burned incense in it to other gods that they and their forefathers and the kings of Judah never knew anything about. They have filled this place with the blood of innocent people.

⁵ They have built pagan shrines to Baal where they burn their children in the fire as offerings to Baal. This is something I never commanded or even mentioned. I never even thought of such a thing!

⁶ So watch out! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when instead of Topheth and the Valley of Hinnom this place will be called the Valley of Killing.

⁷ Right here in this place I'm going to spoil the plans of Judah and Jerusalem. I will let their enemies who want to kill them come and do exactly that. Their dead bodies will be food for birds of prey and wild animals.

⁸ I'm going to make this city desolate, a place that is mocked. Everyone who passes by will be horrified, shocked by all its damage.

⁹ The siege brought by their enemies who want to kill them will be so terrible that I will make them eat each other, even their own sons and daughters.

¹⁰ Then smash the jar in front of the people with you.

¹¹ Tell them: this is what the Lord Almighty says: I'm going to smash this nation and this city, just like a clay jar is smashed so it can't ever be repaired. People will bury their dead in Topheth until it's full.

¹² This is what I'm going to do to this place and to the people who live here, declares the Lord. I will turn this city into Topheth.

¹⁴ Jeremiah returned from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to deliver this message. He went and stood in the court of the Lord's Temple and announced to everyone, ¹⁵ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Watch out! I am about to bring down on this city and on all its surrounding villages every disaster I warned them about, because they have stubbornly refused to listen to what I say.

20

¹ Pashhur, son of Immer, was a priest and the official* in charge of the Lord's Temple. When he heard Jeremiah prophesying these things,

² he beat Jeremiah the prophet and had him put in the stocks at the Upper Benjamin Gate, near to the Lord's Temple.

* 20:1 Probably in charge of the Temple guards, and clearly not the high priest.

³ The following day, when Pashhur had Jeremiah released from the stocks, Jeremiah told him, “The Lord doesn’t call you Pashhur (tear in pieces), but Magor-missabib (terror is everywhere).

⁴ For this is what the Lord says: I’m going to make you terrified—you and all those you love. Enemies will kill them as you watch. I will hand Judah over to the king of Babylon. He will kill some, and the rest he will take away into exile in Babylon.

⁶ You, Pashhur, and everyone who lives with you, will go into captivity. You will go to Babylon. You will die there and be buried—you and all those you love, those to whom you prophesied lies.”

⁷ You fooled me, Lord, and I let myself be fooled!† You’re stronger than me—you’ve won! I’ve become a joke people laugh at all day long. Everyone is mocking me.

⁸ This is because every time I open my mouth I have to shout out warnings of violence and destruction. The Lord’s message has become the reason people criticize and ridicule me the whole time.

⁹ If I tell myself, “I won’t talk about him anymore, I won’t even mention his name,” then his message is like a fire trapped within me, burning me from the inside out. I’m getting tired of holding it in. I just can’t win.

¹⁰ I’ve heard many people gossiping: “He’s the one who says, ‘terror is everywhere!’ He has to be reported! Report what he’s doing!”‡ All my good friends are waiting for me to slip up. “Maybe he’ll make a mistake so we can defeat him and get our revenge on him,” they say.

¹¹ But the Lord stands beside me like a powerful warrior. So those who are attacking me will fall. They won’t win! Because they’re not successful they will be totally disgraced. Their shame won’t ever be forgotten.

¹³ Sing to the Lord! Praise the Lord! For he saves the poor from the power of the wicked.

¹⁴ May the day I was born be cursed! May the day my mother gave birth to me never be blessed!

¹⁵ May the man be cursed who brought my father the news that made him really happy, saying, “You have a son.”

¹⁶ May that man be like the towns that the Lord destroyed without mercy. May he hear shouts of alarm in the morning and war-cries at noon, ¹⁷ because he should have killed me in the womb so that my mother would have been my grave, remaining pregnant forever.

¹⁸ Why was I born only to see trouble and sadness, and to end my life in shame?

† 20:7 Jeremiah is expressing his ‡ 20:10 The idea is that Jeremiah is creating panic and should be reported to the country’s leaders.

¹ This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the Lord when King Zedekiah sent Pashhur, son of Malchijah, and the priest Zephaniah, son of Maaseiah to talk with him. They said,

² "Please speak with Lord on our behalf because Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon is attacking us. Perhaps the Lord will do some miracle for us like all those miracles he used to do, so that Nebuchadnezzar will retreat from us."

³ But Jeremiah replied, "Tell Zedekiah this:

⁶ I will kill those living in this city, human beings and animals. They will die from a terrible plague.

⁷ After that, declares the Lord, I'm going to hand you over, Zedekiah king of Judah, as well as your officers and the people who are left in this city after the plague and war and famine, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and to your enemies who want you dead. He will attack you; he won't spare you or show you any pity or mercy.

⁸ Tell the people this as well: This is what the Lord says: Look, I'm placing before you the path of life and the path of death.

⁹ If you stay in this city you'll die either by sword and famine and plague, but if you leave and surrender to the Babylonians who are besieging you, you will live. In fact it will be like gaining your life as plunder from a war.

¹⁰ For I am determined to bring disaster on this city, and not blessings, declares the Lord. It will be handed over to the king of Babylon, who will destroy it with fire.

¹¹ In addition tell the royal family of the king of Judah to listen to the Lord's message:

¹³ Watch out, because I'm going to fight against you people who live above the valley on top of a flat rock,* declares the Lord. You say, 'Who can attack us? Who can break down our defenses?'

¹⁴ I'm going to punish you as you deserve for what you've done, declares the Lord. I will set your forest† on fire and it will burn up everything around you."

* 21:13 Since this message was addressed to the royal family of Judah this reference is taken to refer to the royal fortresses of the City of David above Jerusalem. † 21:14 Solomon's palace was referred to as the "Palace of the Forest of Lebanon." 1 Kings 7:2; 1 Kings 10:21.

² Tell them: Listen to what the Lord has to say to you, king of Judah, sitting on the throne of David, you and your officials and the people here with you.

³ This is what the Lord says: Do what is fair and right. Protect those who are being unjustly treated by corrupt people. Don't do anything wrong to foreigners, orphans, or the widows. Don't use violence against them. Don't kill innocent people.

⁴ If you will honestly do what I tell you, then kings who sit on David's throne will ride on chariots and horses with their officials through the gates of this palace. They'll be accompanied by the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem.

⁵ But if you refuse to obey what I say, then I swear by myself, declares the Lord, that this palace will be turned into rubble.

⁶ This is what the Lord says about the royal family of the king of Judah: You are as dear to me as the forests on Gilead and on the mountains of Lebanon. But I will turn you into a desert, into towns where no one lives.

⁷ I will choose men to come and destroy you, each with their own ax. They will chop down your fine cedars* and throw them in the fire.

⁸ Foreigners from many nations will pass by this city and ask each another, "Why has the Lord done such terrible things to this great city?"

⁹ People will answer, "Because they broke the agreement of the Lord their God. They went and worshiped other gods."

¹⁰ Don't weep over the king that died. Don't mourn for him. Instead weep for the king who is exiled, who will never return, who will never see his homeland again.

¹¹ This is what the Lord says about Jehohaz† of Josiah, king of Judah. He succeeded his father Josiah but was taken away. He will never return.

¹³ Trouble is coming to Jehoiakim‡ because he mistreats others in building his palace, by dealing unfairly with those constructing the upper floors. He makes his own people work for nothing—he doesn't pay them any wages.

¹⁴ He says to himself, "I'm going to build myself a great palace, with large upper rooms." He has windows inserted, puts in cedar panels, and paints it bright red with vermilion.

¹⁵ Does it make you a king just because you have more cedar than anyone else? Your father had food and drink, didn't he? He ruled fairly and honestly, and he had a good life because of this.

¹⁶ He defended the poor and those in need, and so things went well. Isn't this what knowing me really means? declares the Lord.

¹⁷ But all you're looking for, all you think about, is getting whatever you want, however dishonestly. You kill the innocent, you violently mistreat and exploit your people.

¹⁸ So this is what the Lord says about Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah:

They won't mourn for him, saying: "How sad, my brother! How sad my sister!"

* 22:7 The palace was made of many large cedars. See 21:14. † 22:11 Here called "Shallum".

They won't mourn for him, saying: "How sad, my lord! How sad, his majesty!"

¹⁹ His burial will be that of a donkey. He'll be dragged off and thrown away outside the gates of Jerusalem.

²⁰ Go to Lebanon and cry for help! Shout in Bashan! Scream from Abarim! For all your lovers have been destroyed.[§]

²¹ I warned you when you thought you were safe and sound. But you replied, "I'm not going to listen!" That's been your attitude since you were young—you never did what I told you.

²² The wind will blow away all your "shepherds,"* and your lovers will go into exile. Then you will be shamed and disgraced because of all the evil things you've done.

²³ You who live in "Lebanon" in your cedar nest,[†] how much you're going to groan when agonizing pains hit you like a woman in labor.

²⁴ The Lord said to Jehoiachin,[‡] son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah: As I live, declares the Lord, even if you were a signet ring on a finger of my right hand, I would pull you off.

²⁵ I'm going to hand you over to those who terrify you and who want to kill you, to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and the Babylonians.

²⁶ I'm going to throw you out—you and the mother who gave birth to you—sending you to another country. Neither of you were born there, but both of you will die there.

²⁷ You won't ever return to the country you love so much.

²⁸ Who is this man Jehoiachin? A broken pot that's been thrown away, something nobody wants? Why has he and his children been thrown out, exiled in an unfamiliar country?

³⁰ This is what the Lord says: Put this man down as having no children. He's a man who won't ever be successful in his whole life. None of his children will ever be successful either. None of them will sit on David's throne or be king in Judah.

² This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says about the shepherds who were meant to look after my people: You have scattered my flock. You have chased them away. You didn't take care of them, so now I will take care of you for all the evil you've done, declares the Lord.

³ I myself will gather what's left of my flock from all the countries where I exiled them, and I will bring them back to their pasture, where they will increase in number.

[§] 22:20 All the places mentioned are mountains, so the image is of a call being shouted out from there. The lovers would most likely refer to those nations with which an alliance had been made.

* 22:22 "Shepherds": a reference to the leaders of the nation. † 22:23 Another reference to Solomon's cedar palace. ‡ 22:24 Here called "Coniah." Also verse 28.

⁴ I will put shepherds in charge of them who will take care of them, and they won't be afraid or discouraged anymore, and none of them will be missing, declares the Lord.

⁵ Look, the time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will choose a descendant of David who does what is right. As king he will rule with wisdom and do what is just and right throughout the country.

⁶ When he is king, Judah will be saved, and Israel will live in safety. This is the name he will be called: The Lord Who Makes Us Right.

⁷ Look, the time is coming, declares the Lord, when people won't say anymore, "On the Lord's life, who led the Israelites out of Egypt."

⁸ Instead they'll say, "On the Lord's life, who led the Israelites back from the northern country and all the other countries where he had exiled them." Then they'll live in their own country.

⁹ When it comes to the prophets: I'm really disturbed—I'm shaking inside! I stagger like a drunk, like someone who's had too much wine, because of what the Lord is like, because of his holy words.*

¹⁰ For the country is full of people committing adultery so it's under a curse. The land mourns and the desert pastures have dried up. The people live evil lives, using their energy to do wrong.

¹¹ Both prophets and priests show no respect for me. I see wickedness even in my Temple, declares the Lord.

¹² That's why their path will become slippery; they will be chased away in the dark and fall down. I'm going to bring disaster on them at the time when they're punished, declares the Lord.

¹⁵ So this is what the Lord Almighty says about the prophets: I will give them wormwood to eat and poisoned water to drink, because evil has spread across the country from the prophets of Jerusalem.

¹⁶ This is what the Lord Almighty says: Don't pay attention to what these prophets say when they prophesy to you. They're fooling you with visions they make up in their own minds. They're not from me.

¹⁷ They keep on telling people who don't respect me, "The Lord says that you'll live in peace," and to everyone following their own stubborn attitude, "Nothing bad is going to happen to you."

¹⁸ But who of them has attended the Lord's council to hear and understand what he's saying? Who has paid attention to his instructions and followed them?

¹⁹ Watch out! The Lord has sent out a furious storm, a tornado swirling around the heads of the wicked.

²¹ I didn't send these prophets, but they run to deliver their messages. I didn't tell them to say anything, but they still go on prophesying.

* 23:9 Jeremiah is alarmed at the contrast between what he knows of the Lord's nature and the degraded state of the nation—and what this means in terms of the coming disaster.

²² Now if they had attended my council, they would have delivered my instructions to my people and brought them back from their evil way of life, from their evil actions.

²³ Am I only a local God and not a God who operates widely? asks the Lord.

²⁴ Can people hide in secret places where I can't see them? asks the Lord. Don't I operate everywhere in heaven and on earth? asks the Lord.

²⁵ I've listened to the prophets who prophesy lies in my name. They say, "I've had a dream! I've had a dream!"

²⁷ They think the dreams that they repeat to one another will lead my people to forget me, just like their forefathers forgot me by worshipping Baal.

²⁸ A prophet who has a dream should say it's just a dream, but anyone I've spoken to should deliver my message faithfully. What is straw in comparison to grain? asks the Lord.

²⁹ Doesn't my word burn like fire? asks the Lord. Isn't it like a hammer smashing a rock?

³⁰ Pay attention to this, declares the Lord. I'm opposed to those prophets who steal words from one another and then say it's a message from me.

³¹ Pay attention to this declares the Lord. I'm opposed to those prophets who make up their own stories[†] and then announce, "This is what the Lord says."

³³ So when a prophet or priest or anyone else comes and asks you, "What is 'the burden of the Lord?'" [‡] tell them, I'm not giving you a burden. I'm giving up on you, declares the Lord.

³⁴ If a prophet or priest or anyone else claims, "This is the burden of the Lord," I will punish that person and their family.

³⁵ This is what everybody should say to their friends and relatives: "What answer has the Lord given?" or, "What has the Lord said?"

³⁶ Don't talk about "the burden of the Lord" anymore, because everybody has different ideas about this "burden," perverting the words of the living God, the Lord Almighty, our God.

³⁷ This is what you are to say ask any prophet: "What message has the Lord given you?" and "What has the Lord told you?"

³⁸ If they say, "This is the burden of the Lord," then this is the Lord's response: Because you said, "This is the burden of the Lord," and I warned you not to,

³⁹ now I'm going to pick you up like a burden and throw you away, you and the city that I gave to you and your forefathers.

[†] 23:31 "Make up their own stories": literally, "take their own tongues." [‡] 23:33 "The burden of the Lord" in the sense of some requirement that the Lord is imposing on the people. Clearly the people saw the various laws and regulations as "burdens" and related to the Lord as this legalistic "burden-giver." Though they lived evil lives it seems they thought that if they observed such "burdens," including new ones, then the Lord would be satisfied.

⁴⁰ I will disgrace you forever; you shame will never be forgotten.

24

¹ The Lord showed me in vision two baskets of figs placed in front of the Lord's Temple. This happened after Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had taken to Babylon Jehoiachin,* son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, as well as the leaders of Judah, and the craftsmen and metal-workers from Jerusalem.

² One basket was full of very good figs, like those that ripen early, but the other basket only had very bad figs, so bad they couldn't be eaten.

³ "Jeremiah," the Lord asked, "what can you see?"

"I see figs!" I replied. "The good figs look very good, but the bad figs look very bad, so bad they can't be eaten."

⁴ Then a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

⁵ This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: The good figs represent to me the exiles from Judah, those I have sent away from here to the country of Babylonia.

⁶ I will watch over them and I will bring them back to this country. I will build them up and not tear them down; I will plant them and not uproot them.

⁷ I will give them the desire to know me, to know that I am the Lord. They will be my people, and I will be their God, for they will come back completely committed to me.

⁸ But the bad figs, so bad they cannot be eaten, says the Lord, represent the way I will deal with Zedekiah, king of Judah, his officials, and those who are left of Jerusalem, as well as those remaining in this country and those living in Egypt.

⁹ I'm going to make an example of them that will horrify and offend everyone on earth. They will be disgraced, mocked, ridiculed, and cursed everywhere I've exiled them.

¹⁰ I'm going to attack them with war and famine and plague, until they're completely wiped out from the country that I gave to them and their forefathers.

¹ This is the message that came to Jeremiah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, son of Josiah, king of Judah, which was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. It concerned all the people of Judah.

² So the prophet Jeremiah went and spoke to all the people of Judah and all of the people living in Jerusalem, telling them:

³ From the thirteenth year of the reign of Josiah, son of Amon, king of Judah until now, twenty-three years in total, messages from the Lord have come to me, and I have told you what he said time and again, but you have not listened.

⁴ Even though the Lord has sent all his servants the prophets to you time and again, you don't bother to listen or pay any attention.

⁵ The consistent message has been: Give up your evil ways and the evil things you're doing so you can live in the country that the Lord has given to you and your forefathers forever.

* 24:1 Here called "Jezoniah."

⁶ Don't follow other gods and worship them, and don't anger me by making idols.* Then I won't do anything to hurt you.

⁹ watch as I summon all the people of the north, declares the Lord. I'm going to send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, to attack this country and the people who live here, and all the surrounding nations. I will set them apart for destruction.† I'm going to totally destroy you, and people will be horrified at what's happened to you and will mock you.

¹⁰ I will also put a stop to the cheerful sounds of celebration and the happy voices of the bride and bridegroom. No noise will come from millstones being used; no lamps will be lit.

¹² However, when these seventy years are over, I'm going to punish the king of Babylon and that nation, the country of Babylonia, for their sin, declares the Lord. I will completely destroy them.

¹⁵ This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, told me: Take this cup I'm handing to you. It contains the wine of my anger. You are to make all the nations I send you to drink from it.

¹⁶ They will drink and stumble around and go mad because of the war brought by the armies I'm sending to attack them.‡

¹⁷ I took the cup the Lord handed to me and made all the nations he sent me to drink from it:

¹⁸ To Jerusalem and the towns of Judah, its kings and officials, destroying them so that people were horrified at what happened to them and mocked them and cursed them (and they are still like this today);

¹⁹ to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and his officials, leaders, all his people

²⁰ and all the foreigners living there; to all the kings of the country of Uz; to all the kings of the Philistines: Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and what's left of Ashdod;

²¹ to Edom, Moab, and the Ammonites;

²² to all the kings of Tyre and Sidon; to the kings of the Mediterranean sea coast;

²³ to Dedan, Tema, Buz, and all those who trim their hair on the sides of their heads;

²⁴ to all the kings of Arabia; and to all the kings of the different tribes living in the desert;

²⁵ to all the kings of Zimri, Elam, and Media;

* 25:6 "By making idols:" literally, "by the works of your hands." † 25:9 A term used for an action that dedicated something to the Lord in terms of destroying it. See for example Joshua 6:17.

‡ 25:16 Literally, "because of the sword which I am sending among them."

²⁶ to all the kings of the north; in fact to all the kingdoms on earth whether close or far away, one after another. After all of them, the king of Babylon[§] will drink it too.

²⁷ Tell them this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Drink, make yourselves drunk, and vomit. Because of the war you'll be killed, falling down never to get up again.

²⁸ If they should refuse to take the cup and drink from it, tell them that this is what the Lord Almighty says: You can't avoid drinking it—you have to!

²⁹ Can't you see that I'm about to bring disaster down on my own city, so do you really think you wouldn't be punished as well? You won't go unpunished, for I am bringing war to everyone on earth, declares the Lord Almighty.

³⁰ Give this whole message as a prophecy against them. Tell them:

The Lord will thunder from high above. He will thunder loudly from the holy place where he lives. He will give a great roar against the sheepfolds.* He will give a loud shout like people treading the grapes, frightening everyone who lives on earth.

³¹ The sound will reach everywhere on the earth because the Lord is accusing the nations. He is judging everyone, executing the wicked, declares the Lord.

³³ Those killed by the Lord at that time will cover the earth from one end to the other. No one will mourn them, or collect them, or bury them. They will be like piles of manure lying on the ground.

³⁴ Cry out and weep, you shepherds! Roll around on the ground mourning, you leaders of the flock. The time for you to be killed has come; you will fall, smashed like the finest pottery.

³⁵ The shepherds won't be able to run away; the leaders of the flock won't escape.

³⁷ The peaceful sheepfolds have been ruined because of the Lord's fierce anger.

³⁸ The Lord has left his den like a lion, because their country has been devastated by the invading armies, and because of the Lord's fierce anger.

² This is what the Lord says: Go and stand in the Temple courtyard and deliver the whole message I have ordered you to give to everyone who comes from all the towns of Judah to worship there. Don't leave out a single word.

[§] 25:26 "Babylon": literally, "Sheshach", a code name for Babylon. "shepherd's homes." Also verse 37.

^{*} 25:30 "Sheepfolds": or

³ Maybe they'll they will listen, and each of them will give up their evil ways so that I won't have to carry out the disaster I'm planning to bring down on them because of the evil things they do.

⁴ Tell them that this is what the Lord says: If you do not listen to me and follow my law, which I have given you,

⁵ and if you don't listen to the messages of my servants the prophets—I've sent them to you time and again, but you refused to listen—

⁶ then I will destroy this Temple like I did Shiloh, and I will make this city a curse word used by everyone on earth.

⁷ The priests and prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah deliver this message in the Lord's Temple.

⁸ As soon as he had finished telling everyone all that the Lord had ordered him to say, the priests and prophets and all the people grabbed him, shouting, "You'll die for this!

⁹ How dare you claim to speak in the Lord's name here in the Temple and declare that it will be destroyed like Shiloh, and that this city will be left empty and abandoned?" Everyone crowded around Jeremiah threatening him in the Lord's Temple.

¹⁰ When the leaders of Judah heard what happened they came from the king's palace to the Lord's Temple and sat at the entrance of the New Gate of the Temple to judge the case.

¹¹ The priests and prophets complained to the leaders and all the people, "This man is deserves the death penalty because he has committed treason* by prophesying against this city. You heard it yourselves!"

¹² Jeremiah addressed all the leaders and all the people, saying, "The Lord sent me to deliver every word of this prophecy against this Temple as you've heard.

¹³ So change your ways and do what's right, and do what Lord your God tells you, so that he won't have to carry out the disaster he has announced he will bring down on you.

¹⁴ As far as I'm concerned, I'm in your hands; do with me whatever you think is good and right.

¹⁵ But be careful, because you need to be aware that if you kill me, you will make yourselves, this city, and everyone who lives here guilty of murder, because it's true that the Lord sent me to tell you everything he said."

¹⁶ Then the leaders and all the people told the priests and prophets, "This man doesn't deserve the death penalty because he was speaking on behalf of the Lord our God."

¹⁷ Some of the country's elders stood up and addressed everyone gathered there.

¹⁸ "Micah of Moresheth prophesied during the reign of Hezekiah king of Judah. He told all the people of Judah that this is what the Lord Almighty says: 'Zion will become like a plowed field; Jerusalem will end up a pile of rubble; and the Temple mount will be overgrown with trees.'†

¹⁹ Did Hezekiah king of Judah or anyone else in the country have him killed? Didn't Hezekiah respect the Lord and plead with him? Didn't the Lord change his mind about the disaster he had announced against them? But we are about to bring a great disaster on ourselves!"

* 26:11 "Committed treason": supplied for clarity. † 26:18 See Micah 3:12.

²⁰ At around that time there was another man prophesying in the name of the Lord, Uriah, son of Shemaiah, from Kiriath-jearim. He prophesied against Jerusalem and against the country just as Jeremiah did.

²¹ King Jehoiakim and all his military officers and officials heard what he was saying, and the king wanted to have him executed. But when Uriah found out about it, he was frightened and ran away to Egypt.

²³ They brought Uriah back from Egypt and took him to King Jehoiakim. The king killed him with a sword and had his body thrown into the public graveyard.

²⁴ However, Ahikam, son of Shaphan, took Jeremiah's side so he was not handed over to the people to be killed.

² This is what the Lord told me: Make for yourself a harness and a yoke and strap it on your neck

⁴ Give them this order from the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, to convey to their masters:

⁵ It was by my strength and creative power that I made the earth and the human beings and animals that live there, and I give it to those who are right in my sight.

⁶ Now I have placed my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon in charge of all these countries. I have even given him control over the wild animals.

⁷ All nations will serve him and his son and grandson, until the time that his own land comes under the control of other nations and powerful kings.

⁸ Any nation or kingdom that doesn't serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and doesn't submit to him† I will punish that nation by war and famine and plague, declares the Lord, until I let Nebuchadnezzar destroy it completely.

⁹ Don't you listen to your prophets, your fortune-tellers, your interpreters of dreams, your mediums, or your magicians when they tell you, "You won't serve the king of Babylon."

¹⁰ They're prophesying a lie to you that will lead to your removal from your country. I will expel you and you will die.

¹¹ But a nation that submits to the king of Babylon and serves him, I will leave in its own land, to cultivate it and live in it, declares the Lord.

¹² I gave the same message to Zedekiah king of Judah: Submit to the king of Babylon; serve him and his people, and live!

* 27:1 Most Hebrew manuscripts have the name "Jehoiakim" instead of Zedekiah, but this does not fit with the rest of the chapter (Zedekiah is clearly identified in verses 3 and 12). † 27:8 "Submit to him": literally, "place its neck under his yoke." Also verse 11.

¹³ Why should you and your people die by war and famine and plague, as the Lord has said he would bring against any nation that does not serve the king of Babylon?

¹⁵ I didn't send them, declares the Lord, and yet they are giving false prophecies in my name. So I will expel you and you will die—you and the prophets who prophesy to you.

¹⁶ Then I told the priests and all the people, This is what the Lord says: Don't listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, "Look! The objects from the Lord's Temple will shortly be returned from Babylon." They are prophesying a lie to you.

¹⁷ Don't listen to them. Serve the king of Babylon and live! Why should this city be destroyed?

¹⁹ This what the Lord Almighty says about the pillars, the bronze sea, the bases, and the rest of the objects that are left in Jerusalem:

²¹ Again, this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says about the objects left in the Lord's Temple, in the palace of the king of Judah, and in Jerusalem:

²² They will be taken away to Babylon and will stay there until the time I see to them again, declares the Lord. Only then will I bring them back so they will be in Jerusalem again.

The prophet Hananiah, son of Azzur, who was from Gibeon, told me in the Lord's Temple in front of the priests and all the people:

³ Before two years have passed I'm going to bring back to Jerusalem all the Temple objects that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon removed and took to Babylon.

⁵ Then the prophet Jeremiah responded to the prophet Hananiah in front of the priests and all the people who were standing in the Lord's Temple.

⁶ "Amen!" said Jeremiah. "I wish the Lord would do just that! I wish the Lord would fulfill your prophetic words and bring back Temple objects and all the exiles back to Jerusalem from Babylon.

⁷ But even so, pay attention to this message I'm going to tell you and everyone here.

⁸ The prophets of long ago who came before you and me prophesied war, disaster, and disease against many countries and great kingdoms.

⁹ When it comes to a prophet who prophesies peace, see if their prophecies come true. Only that will prove they are really sent by the Lord."

¹⁰ Then the prophet Hananiah removed the yoke from the prophet Jeremiah's neck and broke it.

¹² However, right after Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from his neck, a message of the Lord came to Jeremiah:

¹³ "Go and tell Hananiah that this is what the Lord says: You may have broken a wooden yoke of wood, but you have replaced it with an iron yoke.

¹⁴ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I have tied iron yokes on the necks of all these nations to force them to serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they will serve him. I have even given him control over the wild animals."

¹⁵ Then the prophet Jeremiah said to the prophet Hananiah, "Listen to this, Hananiah! The Lord didn't send you, but you have convinced these people to believe in a lie.

¹⁶ So this is what the Lord says: I'm going to get rid of you from the earth. You will die this year because you have promoted rebellion against the Lord."

¹⁷ The prophet Hananiah died in the seventh month of that very year.

² This was after King Jehoiachin, the queen mother, the court officials, the leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the craftsmen, and the metals-workers had been exiled from Jerusalem.

³ Elasah, son of Shaphan, and Gemariah, son of Hilkiah, took the letter with them when Zedekiah king of Judah sent them to King Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon. In the letter Jeremiah wrote:

⁴ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says to all the exiles who were taken from Jerusalem to Babylon:

⁵ Build yourselves houses there to live in. Plant gardens and grow food to eat.

⁶ Get married and have children. Arrange for your children to get married so they can have children too. Increase in number, don't decrease.

⁷ Help make the city where I've exiled you more prosperous. Pray to the Lord for it, since as it prospers, so will you.

⁸ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Don't be fooled by your prophets and fortune-tellers, and don't listen to any dreams they interpret for you.

¹⁰ This is what the Lord says: When the seventy years exile in Babylon are over, I will see to you and keep my promise to bring you back to Jerusalem.

¹¹ I know what I intend to do for you, declares the Lord. I plan good things for you and not bad. I'm going to give you a future and a hope.

¹² Then you will call for my help, you will come and pray to me, and I will answer you.

¹³ You will look for me and you will find me when you're completely committed to looking for me.

¹⁴ I will let you find me, declares the Lord. I will end your captivity, gathering you from all the nations and places where I scattered you, declares the Lord. I will bring you back home to the place from where I sent you into exile.

¹⁶ this is what the Lord says about the king who sits on David's throne and everyone who's left in Jerusalem, your fellow citizens who weren't taken with you into exile.

¹⁷ This is what the Lord Almighty says: I'm going send war and famine and disease against them. I'll make them like rotten figs, so bad that they can't be eaten.

¹⁸ I will chase them down with war and famine and disease. I will make all the kingdoms of the earth horrified by them. They will become a curse word, totally ruined, people to be mocked and criticized among all the nations where I scatter them.

¹⁹ I'm going to do this because they haven't obeyed to my words, declares the Lord, which I sent to them time and again through my servants the prophets. You exiles haven't obeyed me either, declares the Lord.

²⁰ So listen to the word of the Lord, all you exiles I sent from Jerusalem to Babylon.

²¹ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says about Ahab son of Kolaiah and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who are prophesying lies to you in my name. I'm going to hand them over to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will kill them right before your eyes.

²² Because of what happens to them, all the exiles of Judah in Babylon will curse others like this: "May the Lord treat you like Zedekiah and Ahab, burned alive by the king of Babylon!"

²³ They did outrageous things in Israel—they committed adultery with their neighbor's wives and told lies in my name. I didn't tell them to say anything. I am the one who knows what they did, and I can witness to it, declares the Lord.

²⁴ Tell Shemaiah the Nehelamite

²⁵ that this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: On your own authority you sent out letters to all the people of Jerusalem, to the priest Zephaniah, son of Maaseiah, and to all the priests, saying,

²⁶ “Zephaniah, * the Lord has chosen you as priest to replace Jehoiada, to be in charge of the Lord's Temple. In that capacity you are required to put in the stocks and neck irons any crazy person who claims to be a prophet.

²⁸ You should have done this because† he has sent a letter to us here in Babylon, stating, “The exile will last a long time. So build yourselves houses there to live in. Plant gardens and grow food to eat.”

³⁰ Then the Lord told Jeremiah:

³¹ Send this message to all the exiles: This is what the Lord says about Shemaiah the Nehelamite. Since Shemaiah has prophesied to you, even though I didn't send him, and has convinced you to believe in a lie, ³² this is what the Lord says: I'm going to punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his descendants. He won't have any family left among this people, and he won't experience the good things that I'm going to do for my people, declares the Lord, for he has promoted rebellion against the Lord.

² This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: Write down in a book everything I've told you.

³ Look, the time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will bring back my people Israel and Judah from captivity, declares the Lord. I will bring them back to the country I gave to their forefathers, and they will own it again.

⁴ This what the Lord said about Israel and Judah.

⁶ Think about it! Can men give birth? No. So why do I see every man holding his stomach with his hands like a woman in labor. Why is every face white as a sheet?

⁷ What a terrible day it will be—a day like never before! This is the time of trouble for Jacob's descendants, but they will be rescued from it.

⁸ On that day, declares the Lord Almighty, I will break the yoke from their necks and tear off their chains. Foreigners won't make them slaves anymore.

⁹ They will serve the Lord their God, and their king, David's descendant whom I will give them.

¹⁰ As far as you're concerned, my servant Jacob, don't be afraid, declares the Lord, Israel, don't be discouraged. I promise to save you from your distant places of exile, your descendants from the countries where they're being held captive. The descendants of Jacob will go home to a quiet and comfortable life, free from any threats.

¹¹ I am with you and I will save you, declares the Lord.

Even though I'm going to completely destroy all the nations where I scattered you, I won't completely destroy you. However, I will discipline you as you deserve, and you can be sure I won't leave you unpunished.

* 29:26 Name supplied for clarity. † 29:28 “You should have done this because”: supplied for clarity.

¹² This is what the Lord says: You have a wound that cannot be healed, you have a terrible injury.

¹³ There's no one to take care of your case, no cure for your sores, no healing for you.

¹⁴ All your lovers have forgotten about you; they don't bother looking for you anymore, because I have beaten you as if I were your enemy, the discipline of a cruel person, because of how wicked you are, because of your many sins.

¹⁵ Why are you crying over your wound? You pain can't be cured. I did this to you because of how wicked you are, because of your many sins.

¹⁶ Even so, everyone who destroys you will be destroyed. All your enemies, every last one, will be sent into exile. Those who plundered you will be plundered, and all who robbed you will be robbed.

¹⁷ But I will give you back your health and heal your wounds, declares the Lord, because people say you've been abandoned and that no one cares about you, Zion.

¹⁸ This is what the Lord says: I will bring Jacob's descendants back to their homes and have mercy on their families. The city will be rebuilt on top of its ruins, and the palace once again stand where it should.

¹⁹ People will be singing songs of thanks, the sounds of celebration. I will increase their number—they will not become less. I will honor them—they will not be treated as insignificant.

²⁰ Their children will be looked after like they used to be. I will make their nation strong again, and punish anyone who attacks them.

²¹ Their leader will be from their own country, their ruler will be chosen from among them. I will invite him to come close to me, and he will do so, for would anyone dare to approach me without being asked? declares the Lord.

²² You will be my people, and I will be your God.

²³ Watch out! The Lord has sent out a furious storm, a tornado swirling around the heads of the wicked.

²⁴ The Lord's anger won't fade until he's finished doing everything he wants. Only then will you really understand.

¹ At that time, I will be the God of all Israel's families, and they will be my people, declares the Lord.

² This is what the Lord says: The Israelites who survive death by the sword were blessed by the Lord in the desert as they looked for peace and quiet.

³ Long ago the Lord came and told us, My love for you will last forever. I hold you close to me with my trustworthy love.

⁴ I'm going to rebuild you, and it will happen. You will be rebuilt, Virgin Israel. You will pick up your tambourines again and run outside to dance with joy.

⁵ You will replant vineyards on Samaria's hills; those who plant and will enjoy the grapes.

⁶ A day is coming when watchmen will call out from the hills of Ephraim, "Come on, let's go up to Zion, to worship the Lord our God!"

⁸ Watch, because I will bring them back from the land of the north and gather them from the ends of the earth. Everyone will return, even the blind and the lame, pregnant women, even mothers giving birth—a great gathering coming home,

⁹ They will come back with tears in their eyes, and they will be praying as I take them home. I will lead them beside streams of waters, on level paths where they won't stumble. For I am Israel's Father; Ephraim* is my firstborn.

¹² They will return and celebrate with happy shouts on Mount Zion; their faces will beam over the Lord's wonderful gifts—the grain, new wine, and olive oil, and the young of their flocks and herds. Their life will be like a well-watered garden; and they won't ever be depressed again.

¹³ The girls will dance in celebration; young men and old people will join in too. I will turn their sorrow into joy, and I will comfort them and change their sadness into happiness.

¹⁴ I will give my priests everything they need and more, and my people will be more than satisfied with my goodness towards them, declares the Lord.

¹⁵ This is what the Lord says: The sound of terrible weeping and mourning is heard in Ramah. It's Rachel crying for her children. They are dead, and she can't be comforted

¹⁷ So you can have hope for the future, declares the Lord. Your children will return to their own country.

¹⁸ Don't worry, I've heard Ephraim's groans, saying, "You disciplined me really hard as if I was a calf that hadn't been trained. Please bring me back, let me return, for you are the Lord my God.

¹⁹ When I came back to you I was sorry, and once I understood, I held my head in sadness.[†] I was ashamed and I blushed, embarrassed at what I'd done when I was young."

²⁰ But isn't Ephraim still my precious son, my lovely child? Even though I often have to scold him, I can't forget him. So I'm torn inside with longing, wanting to show how much I care about him! declares the Lord.

²¹ Put up markers on the road; make signposts for yourselves. You need to be sure you can find the highway, the road you traveled on. Come back, Virgin Israel, come back to your towns.

* 31:9 Ephraim was not literally the firstborn but is used as a wider description for Israel. More than birth order, firstborn refers more to the rights and privileges relating to this status. † 31:19 "I held my head in sadness": literally, "I struck my thigh."

²² How long are you going to waver in your decision, you unfaithful daughter? For the Lord has made something new happen here: a woman is going to protect a man.

²³ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: When I bring them back home from exile, they will say again in the land of Judah and in its towns: "May the Lord bless you, holy mountain of Jerusalem, home of what is good and right.

²⁵ because I'm going to give rest to those who are tired and give strength to all those who are weak."

²⁶ At this I woke up and looked around. I'd had a very pleasant sleep.*

²⁷ Look! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will make the numbers of people and livestock grow in Israel and Judah.

²⁸ I took care of them by uprooting them and tearing them down, by wiping them out and destroying them and bringing them disaster. Now I will take care of them by building them up and helping them grow, declares the Lord.

³⁰ No. Each person will die because of their own sins. If anyone eats unripe grapes, they will get the sour taste themselves.

³¹ Look! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will make a new agreement with the people of Israel and Judah.

³² It won't be like the agreement that I made with their forefathers when I held their hands and led them out of Egypt. They broke that agreement, even though I was faithful like a husband to them, declares the Lord.

³³ But this is the agreement I'm going to make with the people of Israel at that time, declares the Lord. I will put my laws inside them and write them in their minds. I will be their God, and they will be my people.

³⁴ No one will need to teach a neighbor or their brother, telling them, "You ought to know the Lord." For everyone will know me, from the smallest to the greatest. I will forgive them when they do wrong, and I will forget about their sins.

³⁸ The time is coming, declares the Lord, when this city will be rebuilt for the Lord, all the way from the tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate.

³⁹ The builder's measuring line will again stretch out directly to Gareb Hill and then turn toward Goah.

* 31:26 It is unclear how this verse fits into the whole narrative. Some see it as Jeremiah's comment, others the reactions of those just mentioned.

⁴⁰ The entire valley, where the dead are buried and the trash is dumped, and all the fields from the Kidron Valley as far as the Horse Gate to the east, will be holy to the Lord. Jerusalem will never again be torn down or destroyed.

² This was when the army of the king of Babylon was besieging Jerusalem. Jeremiah the prophet was imprisoned in the guard's courtyard, part of the king of Judah's palace.

⁴ Zedekiah king of Judah won't escape from the Babylonians. He will be captured and taken to the king of Babylon to speak with him personally and see him face to face.

⁵ He will take Zedekiah to Babylon, where he'll remain until I deal with him, declares the Lord. You won't be successful if you fight against the Babylonians.' "

⁷ Your cousin Hanamel, son of Shallum, is coming to tell you, 'Why don't you buy my field in Anathoth because you have the right to redeem it and buy it?'

⁸ Just as the Lord had said, my cousin Hanamel arrived to see me in the guard's courtyard and asked me, 'Please buy my field in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin because you have the right of family ownership to redeem it.* You should buy it for yourself.' " This convinced me that this was a message from the Lord.

¹¹ Then I took the deed of sale, both the sealed original containing the terms and conditions, and the unsealed copy,

¹² and handed them to Baruch son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah. I did this in the presence of my cousin Hanamel, the witnesses who had signed the deed of sale, and all the people of Judah who were sitting there in the guard's courtyard.

¹⁴ "This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Put these deeds of sale, the sealed original and the open copy, in a clay jar so they can be kept safe for a long time.

¹⁵ For this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: The time will come when once again houses, fields, and vineyards will be bought in this country."

* 32:8 In order to keep land ownership in the family, relatives had the right of "first refusal" when another family member was forced to sell their land. See Leviticus 25:25-28.

¹⁶ After I had given the deed of sale to Baruch son of Neriah, I prayed to the Lord:

¹⁷ “Ah, Lord God! You created the heavens and the earth by your great strength and power. Nothing is too hard for you!

¹⁸ You give your trustworthy love to thousands, but you punish the sins of the fathers the consequences affect their children too., Great and powerful God whose name is the Lord Almighty,

¹⁹ you are the one who is supremely wise and who does incredible things. You watch what everyone does, and you reward them according to the way they live and what their actions deserve.

²⁰ You carried out signs and miracles in Egypt, and you still do so today, both here in Israel and among all people everywhere. As a result you gained a great reputation, and this is still true today.

²² You gave them this land that you had promised to give their forefathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.

²³ They came and took it over, but they didn't do what you said or follow your laws. They didn't do everything you ordered them to do, which is why you've brought all this disaster down on them.

²⁴ Look at the siege ramps piled up against the city to capture it! Through war and famine and disease, the city will be taken by the Babylonians who are attacking it. You can see that everything you said would happen has happened.

²⁵ Yet, Lord God, you have told me, ‘Buy yourself the field with silver in front of witnesses, even though the city has been handed over to the Babylonians!’ ”

²⁶ Then Lord gave Jeremiah this message:

²⁷ Look! I am the Lord, the God of everyone. Is anything too hard for me to do?

²⁸ So this is what the Lord says: Listen! I'm going to hand over this city to the king of Babylon and the Babylonians, and they will capture it.

²⁹ The Babylonians who are attacking the city are going to come and set fire to it. They will burn it down, including the houses belonging to the people who made me angry by burning incense to Baal on their rooftops, and by pouring out drink offerings in worship of other gods.

³⁰ From their earliest days all the people of Israel and of Judah have ever done has been evil in my sight. In fact all they've even done is to make me angry through their actions, declares the Lord.

³¹ This city has been such a source of anger and frustration from the time it was built right up till now. So I'm going to get rid of it,

³² because of all the evil things the people of Israel and Judah did that made me angry—their kings, and officials, their priests and prophets, all of those living in Judah and Jerusalem, everyone

³³ They have turned their backs on me. They wouldn't even look at me. Even though I kept on trying to teach them, they refused to listen or accept instruction.

³⁴ They have put their disgusting idols in my Temple, making it unclean.

³⁵ They have built pagan shrines to Baal in the Valley of Hinnom so they could sacrifice their sons and daughters by burning them in the fire. This is something I never commanded. I never even thought of such a thing—doing something so awful and making the people of Judah guilty of sin.

³⁶ Now about this city. You are correctly saying, “It’s going to be handed over to the king of Babylon through war and famine and disease.” However, this is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says:

³⁷ I promise to gather my people from all the lands where I exiled them because they made me so very angry. I will bring them back here and they will live in safety.

³⁸ They will be my people, and I will be their God.

³⁹ I will make sure they think the same way and act in harmony, so that they will always honor me so all will be good for them and their descendants.

⁴⁰ I will make an everlasting agreement with them: I’m never going to stop doing them good and I will help them to respect me so that they won’t ever abandon me.

⁴¹ I will be delighted to treat them well, and I will commit myself with the whole of my being to helping them to grow as a nation in this land.

⁴² This is what the Lord says: Just as certainly as I have brought this whole disaster down on my people, so I’m going to give to them all the good things I have promised.

⁴³ Fields will once again be bought in this country that you’re describing, saying, “It’s been completely destroyed—no people or animals are left. It’s been handed over to the Babylonians.”

⁴⁴ People will buy fields with silver again, deeds will be signed, sealed, and witnessed. This will happen here in the land of Benjamin, in the areas surrounding Jerusalem, and in all the towns of Judah—including the towns of the hill country, the foothills, and the Negev—because I will bring the people back from exile, declares the Lord.

¹ A second message came from the Lord to Jeremiah while he was still being held in the guard’s courtyard of the guard.

² This is what the Lord says, the Lord who made the earth, the Lord who shaped it and set it in place, the Lord is his name:

³ Call out to me, and I will answer you, explaining to you amazing, hidden things about which you don’t have any idea.

⁴ For this is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says about Jerusalem’s houses and the palaces of the kings of Judah that were demolished for materials to be used to defend against the siege ramps and the enemy attacks.

⁵ They come to fight the Babylonians but will only fill those houses with the dead bodies of those I’m going to kill in my furious anger. I have given up on this city because of all its wickedness.

⁶ But even so, in the future I will restore and repair it, and I will heal its people and give them lasting peace and safety.

⁸ I will wash away all their sins that they committed against me, and I will forgive all their guilt from when they sinned in rebelling against me.

⁹ Then this city will bring me a glorious reputation, celebrated and praised by all the nations of the earth who get to hear of all the good things I do for it. They will tremble, amazed at how much good I have done for it, how I have made it so prosperous.

¹⁰ This is what the Lord says: You call this place “a wasteland where there’s no people or animals.” Well, here in the towns of Judah and in the empty streets of Jerusalem where no people or animals live, one day

¹¹ the sounds of joy and celebration will be heard there again, the happy voices of bride and bridegroom, and the shouts of praise of those bringing thank offerings to the Lord’s Temple, saying: “Thank the Lord Almighty! For the Lord is good; his trustworthy love lasts endures forever.” For I will bring the land back from its “captivity” too, says the Lord.

¹² This is what the Lord Almighty says: In this wasteland where there’s no people or animals, and in all its towns, once again there’ll be pastures where shepherds can take their flocks.

¹³ In all the towns, whether in the hill country, or the foothills, or the Negev, or the land of Benjamin or the towns around Jerusalem, or throughout the cities of Judah, flocks will once again be counted by their shepherds, says the Lord.

¹⁴ Look! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will keep my promise to do good to the people of Israel and Judah.

¹⁵ At that time, right there and then, I will give you a good king from the line of David.* He will do what is just and right throughout the country.

¹⁶ This is when Judah will be saved, and the people of Jerusalem will live in safety. This is the name he will be called: The Lord Who Makes Us Right.

¹⁷ This is what the Lord says: David will always have a descendant who will be king of Israel,

¹⁸ and the Levitical priests will always have a descendant to present burnt offerings, grain offerings, and sacrifices to me.

¹⁹ A message from the Lord came to Jeremiah:

²⁰ This is what the Lord says: If you were able to break my agreement with the day and with the night, so that they wouldn’t come at the right time,

²¹ only then would my agreement be broken with David my servant and with the Levites who serve as my priests, so that David would not have a descendant to rule on his throne.

²² In the same way that the stars of heaven can’t be counted, and the sand on the seashore can’t be measured, that’s how many times I will multiply the number of my servant David’s descendants and the Levites who serve me.

²³ Another message from the Lord came to Jeremiah:

²⁴ Have you heard what people are saying: “The Lord chose two families, but now he’s rejected them”? So they look down on my people and don’t consider them worthy of being called† a nation.

²⁵ This is what the Lord says: Just as I can’t break my agreement with the day and the night and the laws that regulate heaven and earth,

* 33:15 Literally, “I will cause to sprout for David a righteous Branch.” † 33:24 “Worthy of being called” supplied for clarity.

²⁶ so I can't reject the descendants of Jacob and of my servant David, and I can't fail to make his descendants rulers over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. I will bring them back from exile and I will be kind to them.

¹ This is the Lord's message that came to Jeremiah when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, all his army, along with troops from all the countries he ruled and other nations were attacking Jerusalem and all its nearby towns:

² This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: Go and talk to Zedekiah king of Judah and tell him that this is what the Lord says: Listen! I am about to hand this city over to the king of Babylon, and he is going to burn it down.

³ You yourself won't escape being captured by him. You will certainly be taken prisoner and brought before him to speak with him personally and see him face to face. You will be taken to Babylon.

⁴ Listen to what the Lord is telling you, Zedekiah king of Judah. This is what the Lord says about you: You won't be killed;

⁵ you will die in peace. You will have a proper funeral with incense burned for you as they did for your forefathers, the kings who ruled before you. They will weep for you, crying, "The king is dead." I myself am telling you this, declares the Lord.

⁶ Jeremiah the prophet told Zedekiah king of Judah all this there in Jerusalem.

⁷ At this time the king of Babylon's army was attacking the city and the Judean towns of Lachish and Azekah. These were the only fortified cities that had not yet been conquered in Judah.

⁹ This meant that every slave owner should free their Hebrew slaves, both male and female. No one was to force their fellow citizens to remain slaves any longer.

¹⁰ All the officials and all the people who accepted this agreement did what they said. They freed their male and female slaves, not forcing them to remain slaves any longer. They obeyed and let them go free.

¹¹ However, later on they changed their minds and took back the male and female slaves they'd freed, forcing them back into slavery.

¹² A message from the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying,

¹³ This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: I made a agreement with your forefathers when I led them out of Egypt, out of the prison-house of slavery, saying:

¹⁴ Every seventh year, each of you are to set free all fellow Hebrews who have sold themselves to you. They can serve you for six years, but then you must set them free. But your forefathers didn't pay attention and didn't obey what I told them.

¹⁵ A little while ago you decided to do what's right, which made me happy. You all announced that you would free your slaves. You made a agreement before me in my Temple.

¹⁶ But now you've changed your minds and dishonored me. Each of you took back the male and female slaves you'd set free to do whatever they wanted. You forced them to become your slaves again.

¹⁷ So this is what the Lord says: You haven't obeyed me. You haven't announced freedom for your slaves, your own people. So now I announce "freedom" for you, declares the Lord: Freedom to be killed by war, by disease, and by famine! I will make all the kingdoms of the world horrified by you.

¹⁸ They have broken my agreement, and have not kept the terms of the agreement they promised before me. So I'm going to cut them up just like the calf they cut in half to pass between its two pieces.*

¹⁹ I will hand them over to their enemies who are trying to kill them. This includes the leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the court officials, the priests, and everyone else who passed between the pieces of the calf.

²⁰ Their dead bodies will become food for birds of prey and wild animals.

²¹ I will hand over Zedekiah king of Judah and his officials to their enemies who are trying to kill them, to the army of the king of Babylon which had paused its attack on you.†

²² Listen! I will give the order, declares the Lord, and bring them back to Jerusalem. They will attack it, capture it, and burn it. I'm going to destroy the towns of Judah so nobody will live there.

35

² Go to where the Rechabites* live. Invite them to come with you to one of the rooms in the Lord's Temple and offer them wine to drink.

³ So I went to visit Jaazaniah son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, and his brothers and all his sons—the whole Rechabite family.

⁵ I placed some jugs full of wine and some cups before the Rechabites and told them, "Have some wine to drink."

⁷ Don't ever build houses or sow crops or plant vineyards. You're not to do this. Instead, you are to always live in tents so that you may have long lives as you move from place to place in the country.'

⁸ We have done exactly what our forefather Jonadab son of Rechab told us. None of us have ever drunk wine, and that includes our wives and our sons and daughters as well as us.

* 34:18 This refers to the way in which an agreement was made. See Genesis 15. † 34:21 The Babylonian army left Jerusalem temporarily to deal with an advancing Egyptian army. This had led the leaders of Jerusalem to believe that the danger had passed, and that the Egyptian army would help them. See Jeremiah 37. * 35:2 See 2 Kings 10:15-31; 1 Chronicles 2:55.

⁹ We haven't built houses to live in, and we haven't had any vineyards or fields or grown any crops.

¹⁰ We've lived in tents and have obeyed our forefather Jonadab, following everything he ordered us to do.

¹¹ So when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon invaded the country we decided, 'Come on, let's go into Jerusalem to be safe from the armies of the Chaldeans,[†] Babylonians, and Arameans.' That's why we've stayed in Jerusalem."

¹² Then a message from the Lord came to Jeremiah:

¹³ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Go and tell the men of Judah and the residents of Jerusalem: Why don't you accept my instructions and obey what I tell you? the Lord asks.

¹⁴ The instructions of Jonadab son of Rechab have been followed. He ordered his descendants not to drink wine, and they have not drunk it to this day because they have obeyed their forefather's command. But I have told you what to do time and again, and yet you refuse to obey me!

¹⁵ Time and again I've sent you so many of my servants the prophets to tell you: Everyone, stop your evil ways and do what's right! Don't go following other gods and worshiping them. Live in the land that I gave you and your fathers. But you haven't paid attention or obeyed me.

¹⁶ These descendants of Jonadab son of Rechab have followed the command given to them by their forefather, but these people haven't obeyed me.

¹⁷ So this is what the Lord God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Watch as I bring down on Judah and on all the people living in Jerusalem all the disasters I have threatened to do to them, because I have told them what to do but they haven't obeyed; I have appealed to them but they haven't responded.

¹⁸ Then Jeremiah told the Rechabites: This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Because you have obeyed your forefather Jonadab's instructions and have followed his orders and have done everything he told you to do, ¹⁹ this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Jonadab son of Rechab will always have someone who will be in my presence serving me.

36

² Get a scroll and write down everything I've told you condemning Israel, Judah, and all the other nations, from the time I first spoke to you during the reign of Josiah right up till now.

³ Maybe when the people of Judah hear about all the disasters I plan to bring down on them, everyone will stop their evil ways. Then I will forgive their guilt and sin.

⁴ So Jeremiah called Baruch son of Neriah to come, and while Jeremiah dictated, Baruch wrote down on a scroll everything that the Lord had told Jeremiah.

[†] 35:11 "Chaldeans": this is usually translated "Babylonians," but Babylonians are also included here separately. The Chaldeans were part of Babylonia, coming from the south of the region.

⁵ Then Jeremiah gave Baruch these instructions: "I'm a prisoner here so I can't go into the Lord's Temple.

⁶ So you have to go to the Lord's Temple on a day when people are fasting, and read to them the Lord's messages from the scroll I dictated to you. Read them to all the people of Judah who come in from their towns.

⁷ Maybe they will come and ask the Lord for forgiveness, and all of them will stop their evil ways, for the Lord is threatening terrible anger against them."

⁸ Baruch son of Neriah did exactly what Jeremiah the prophet had told him to do. He went and read the Lord's message from the scroll in the Temple.

⁹ This is how it happened.* A fast to honor the Lord was declared involving all the people of Jerusalem and everyone who had come there from the towns of Judah. This was in the ninth month of the fifth year of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah.

¹¹ When Micaiah son of Gemariah, son of Shaphan, heard all the Lord's messages read from the scroll,

¹² he went down to the royal secretary's room in the king's palace, where all the officials had gathered. Elishama the secretary, Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Achbor, Gemariah son of Shaphan, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the other officials were there.

¹³ Micaiah gave them a report of everything he'd heard Baruch read from the scroll to the people.

¹⁴ The officials sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah, son of Shelemiah, son of Cushi, to summon Baruch, telling him, "Bring the scroll that you read to the people, and come here." So Baruch went to see them taking the scroll with him.

¹⁵ "Please sit down and read it to us," they said. So Baruch read it to them.

¹⁶ After they'd heard everything, they were frightened and looked at each other. They said to Baruch, "We've got to tell the king about all this."

¹⁷ Then they asked Baruch, "Now tell us, how did you come to write all this? Did Jeremiah dictate it to you?"

¹⁸ "Yes, he dictated it," Baruch replied. "I wrote down in ink on the scroll everything he told me."

²⁰ Then the officials went to see the king in the courtyard. They had kept the scroll safe in Elishama the secretary's room while they gave a full report to the king.

²¹ The king sent Jehudi to fetch the scroll. He went and got it from Elishama the secretary's room. Then Jehudi read it to the king and all the officials who were there standing next to him.

²² It was the ninth month and the king was sitting in front of a fire in his winter quarters.

* 36:9 Supplied for clarity.

²³ Whenever Jehudi finished reading three or four columns, Jehoiakim would chop them off with a scribe's knife and toss them into the fire. Eventually the whole scroll was completely burned up.

²⁵ Even when Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah pleaded with the king not to burn the scroll, he refused to listen to them.

²⁶ In fact the king ordered Jerahmeel, one of the princes,[†] as well as Seraiah son of Azriel and Shelemiah son of Abdeel, to go and arrest Baruch and Jeremiah. But the Lord hid them.

²⁸ Get another scroll and write everything out that was on the first scroll that Jehoiakim king of Judah burned.

²⁹ Regarding Jehoiakim king of Judah announce that this is what the Lord says: You have burned the scroll and asked, "Why did you write that the king of Babylon is going to come and destroy this country and kill all its people and animals?"

³⁰ So this is what the Lord says about Jehoiakim king of Judah: He won't have anyone to succeed him as king, sitting on David's throne. His body will be thrown out to lie in the heat of the day and the cold of the night.

³¹ I'm going to punish him and his descendants and officials for their sins. I will bring down on them and on the people living in Jerusalem and Judah, all the disasters I warned them about but they refused to listen.

³² Jeremiah got another scroll and gave it to Baruch. Jeremiah dictated everything that was in the scroll that Jehoiakim had burned in the fire and Baruch wrote it down. Even more messages of a similar kind were added.

² But Zedekiah and his officers and everyone else in the country refused to obey what the Lord had said through Jeremiah the prophet.

³ However, King Zedekiah sent Jehucal[†] son of Shelemiah and Zephaniah the priest, son of Maaseiah, to Jeremiah the prophet with the message, "Please pray to the Lord our God for us!"

⁴ (At this time Jeremiah could come and go freely, because as yet they hadn't put him in prison.)

⁵ Pharaoh's army was advancing from Egypt, and when the Babylonian army heard about it, they moved away from Jerusalem.

⁶ Then a message from the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet:

⁸ Then the Babylonians will return and attack Jerusalem. They will capture it and burn it down.

[†] 36:26 "One of the princes": literally, "a son of the king," but Jehoiakim would have been too young to have had a grown son. * 37:1 "Jehoiachin": here called "Coniah." † 37:3 Or "Jucal." Jeremiah 38:1.

⁹ This is what the Lord says: Don't fool yourselves by saying, "The Babylonians are gone for good," because they're not!

¹⁰ In fact, even if you were able to kill the whole Babylonian army attacking you, leaving only wounded men in their tents, they would still get up and burn this city down.

¹¹ When the Babylonian army moved away from Jerusalem because of the threat of Pharaoh's army,

¹² Jeremiah was on his way out of Jerusalem to go to his home in the territory of Benjamin to claim his share of his family's property.

¹³ However, when he reached the Benjamin Gate, the guard captain, whose name was Irijah son of Shelemiah, son of Hananiah, arrested him, saying, "You're defecting to the Babylonians!"

¹⁴ "That's not true," Jeremiah replied. "I'm not defecting to the Babylonians!"

But Irijah refused to listen to him. He arrested Jeremiah and took him before the officers.[‡]

¹⁵ The officers were furious with Jeremiah. They had him beaten and locked up in the house of Jonathan the scribe, which had been turned into a prison.

¹⁶ Jeremiah was placed in a cell in the underground dungeon and was kept there for a long time.

¹⁷ Some while later King Zedekiah secretly sent for him and had him brought to the royal palace where he asked, "Is there a message from Lord for me?"

"Yes there is," Jeremiah replied. "You are going to be handed over to the king of Babylon."

¹⁸ Then Jeremiah asked King Zedekiah, "What wrong have I done to you or your servants or these people, for you to put me in prison?"

²⁰ Now please listen to me, my lord the king, and respond positively to my request. Don't send me back to prison in the house of Jonathan the scribe, otherwise I'll die there."

²¹ King Zedekiah gave the order for Jeremiah to be held in the guard's courtyard and be provided with a loaf of bread every day from a bakery until there was no bread left in the city. So Jeremiah stayed in the guard's courtyard.

¹ Shephatiah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Pashhur, Jucal* son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malchijah heard what Jeremiah was telling everyone:

² This is what the Lord says: Anyone who remains in this city will die from war and famine and disease, but anyone who goes over to the Babylonians will live. Their reward will be to save their lives.

³ This is what the Lord says: Be sure of this—Jerusalem will be handed over to the army of the king of Babylon. He is going to capture it.

* 38:1 Or "Jehucal." Jeremiah 37:3.

4 The officers told the king, "This man deserves to die because he's demoralizing the defenders left in the city, and all the people too, by telling them this. This man isn't trying to help these people, he's only going to destroy them."

5 "Well, you can do whatever you want to him," King Zedekiah replied. "I can't stop you."

6 So they took Jeremiah and put him in the cistern belonging to Malchiah, the king's son, which was in the guard's courtyard. They lowered Jeremiah down with ropes into the cistern. It didn't have any water, only mud, and Jeremiah sank into the mud.

7 Ebed-melech the Cushite,[†] a royal official in the king's palace, found out that they had put Jeremiah in the cistern. The king was sitting at the Benjamin Gate,[‡]

8 so Ebed-melech left the palace and went to talk to the king

9 "My lord the king, all these terrible things these men have done to Jeremiah the prophet are evil. They've put him in the cistern, and he'll starve to death there because there's no more bread left in the city."

10 So the king gave the order to Ebed-melech the Cushite, "Take thirty men with you and go and pull Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern before he dies."

11 Ebed-melech took the men and went to the storehouse under the palace. He took some rags and old clothes from there and then went to the cistern where he lowered them with ropes to Jeremiah.

12 Ebed-melech the Cushite called down to Jeremiah, "Put these rags and old clothes under your arms to protect you from the ropes." Jeremiah did so,

13 and using the ropes they pulled him up and took him out of the cistern. Jeremiah stayed there in the guard's courtyard.

14 Then King Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah the prophet and met him at the third Temple entrance. "I need to ask you something," the king told Jeremiah. "You mustn't hide anything from me."

15 "If I tell you then you'll definitely have me killed," Jeremiah replied. "Even if I were to give you advice, you wouldn't listen to me anyway."

16 King Zedekiah solemnly promised Jeremiah in private, "As the Lord lives, who gave us this life, I won't have you killed, and I won't hand you over to those who want to kill you."

17 Then Jeremiah told Zedekiah, "This is what the Lord God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'If you hand yourself over to the officers of the king of Babylon, then you'll live. Jerusalem won't be burned down, and you and your family will survive.'

18 But if you don't hand yourself over to the officers of the king of Babylon, then this city will be given to the Babylonians. They will burn it down, and you yourself won't escape being captured."

19 But King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the those people of Judah who have gone over to the Babylonians, because the Babylonians might hand me over to them so they could abuse me."

[†] 38:7 "Cush" is usually thought to refer to upper Egypt. "Ebed-melech" means "servant of the king." [‡] 38:7 This probably means that the king was deciding legal cases.

²⁰ “They won’t hand you over,” Jeremiah replied. “If you obey what the Lord says by doing what I tell you, then things will go well for you and you’ll live.

²¹ But if you refuse to hand yourself over, this is what the Lord has told me:

²² All the women who are left in the palace of the king of Judah will be led out and handed over to the officials of the king of Babylon. Those women will say: ‘Those good friends of yours! You were taken in by them and conquered by them. Your feet got stuck in the mud, so they abandoned you.’

²³ All your wives and children will be handed over to the Chaldeans. And you yourself will not escape, for you will be captured by the king of Babylon, and Jerusalem will be burned down.”

²⁵ If the officers find out that I’ve talked with you, and they come and ask you, ‘Tell us what you and the king were talking about! Don’t hide anything from us, or we’ll kill you;’

²⁶ then you are to tell them, ‘I was asking the king to grant my request not to return me to the house of Jonathan to die there.’ ”

²⁷ When all the officers came to Jeremiah wanting to know, he repeated to them exactly what the king had told him to say. So they didn’t ask him anything more because no one had heard what had been said.

²⁸ Jeremiah remained there in the guard’s courtyard until the day Jerusalem was captured.

² On the ninth day of the fourth month of the eleventh year of Zedekiah’s reign, the city wall was broken through.

³ All the officials of the king of Babylon came in and took over the city, making their headquarters at the Middle Gate. They were Nergal-sharezer of Samgar, Nebo-sarsekim the Rabсарis, Nergal-sharezer the Rabmag,* and all the other officials of the king of Babylon.

⁴ When Zedekiah king of Judah and all the defenders saw them there, they ran away. They escaped from the city during the night through the king’s garden, passing through the gate between the two walls, and took the road to the Arabah.†

⁷ Then he had Zedekiah’s eyes gouged out, and had him bound with bronze chains and taken away to Babylon.

* 39:3 “Rabsaris” and “Rabmag” are functions that are not clear. However, they clearly refer to high royal officials. † 39:4 “The Arabah”: the Jordan Valley.

⁸ The Babylonians burned down the king's palace and the people's houses, and they demolished Jerusalem's city walls.

⁹ Then Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard carried off to Babylon the rest of the people who had stayed in the city, together with those who had deserted and gone over to him.

¹⁰ But he left behind in the land of Judah some of the poorest people who didn't have any property. He gave them vineyards and fields at that time.

¹¹ Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had given orders to Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard regarding Jeremiah, saying,

¹² "Go and get Jeremiah and watch out that nothing bad happens to him. Do whatever he wants."

¹³ So Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard, Nebushazban the Rabsaris, Nergal-sharezer the Rabmag, and all the army captains of the king of Babylon

¹⁴ took Jeremiah from the guard's courtyard, and they handed him over to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, to take him home. Jeremiah stayed there with his own people.

¹⁵ During the time that Jeremiah had been kept prisoner in the guard's courtyard, a message from the Lord had come to him:

¹⁶ "Go and tell Ebed-melech the Cushite that this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am about to keep my promise I made against this city—to harm it and not to help it—you'll see it for yourself when it happens.

¹⁷ But when that day comes I'm going to save you, declares the Lord. You won't be handed over to the people you're afraid of.

¹⁸ I promise to rescue you so that you're won't be killed. Your reward will be your life, because you trusted in me, declares the Lord."

40

² When the commander of the guard found Jeremiah and he told him, "The Lord your God announced that disaster would come to this place,

³ and now the Lord has made it happen—he has done just what he said he would. This happened to you people because you sinned against the Lord and did not obey what he said.

⁴ But notice that now I'm removing the chains from your wrists and releasing you. If you want to come with me to Babylon then you can come, and I will look after you. But if you think it's a bad idea to come with me to Babylon, you don't have to go any farther. Look, you're free to go anywhere in the country. Go wherever is good for you—do what you think is right."

⁵ Since Jeremiah didn't answer right away, Nebuzaradan went on, "Go back to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan. He's been appointed as governor over Judah by the king of Babylon. You can stay with him with your people, or you can go anywhere you want." The commander of the guard gave him a food allowance and some money and let him go.

⁷ The Judean army commanders and their men who were still in field found out that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam as governor of the country and had put him in charge of the poorest people of the country—the men, women, and children who hadn't been exiled to Babylon.

⁹ Geladaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, made them a solemn promise, saying, "Don't worry about serving the Babylonians. Stay here in the country and serve the king of Babylon, and things will go well for you.

¹⁰ I myself will stay here in Mizpah to represent you to the Babylonians when they come to meet with us. You yourselves should get busy harvesting grapes and summer fruit and olive oil, storing them in jars, and living in the towns you have occupied."

¹² So they all came back from the different places where they'd been scattered and went to Gedaliah at Mizpah in Judah. They were able to harvest a large quantity of grapes and summer fruit.

¹³ Johanan son of Kareah and all the commanders of the men in the field came to Gedaliah at Mizpah

¹⁴ and told him, "Do you know that Baalis king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to kill you?" But Gedaliah didn't believe them.

¹⁵ Johanan went and talked privately to Gedaliah at Mizpah. "Let me go and kill Ishmael son of Nethaniah," he told him. "No one will find out. Why should he be allowed to kill you? All the people of Judah who have joined you would be scattered, so that even those who have survived here would be killed!"

¹⁶ But Gedaliah said to Johanan, "Don't do it! What you're saying about Ishmael isn't true."

² suddenly Ishmael and his ten men got up and attacked Gedaliah, killing him—the one appointed by the king of Babylon as the country's governor.

⁴ The day after Gedaliah had been murdered and before anyone knew about it,

* 40:8 Also spelled Jaazaniah. See 2 Kings 25:23.

⁵ a group of eighty men arrived from Shechem, Shiloh, and Samaria. They had shaved off their beards, torn their clothes, and cut themselves.* They were carrying grain offerings and frankincense for the Lord's Temple.

⁶ Ishmael came out to meet them from Mizpah, weeping as he went along. When Ishmael met the men, he said, "Come and see what's happened to Gedaliah son of Ahikam!"

⁷ But when they arrived in town, Ishmael and his men killed most of† them and threw their bodies into a cistern.

⁸ But ten of them pleaded with Ishmael, "Don't kill us! We've got some good things hidden in the fields—wheat, barley, olive oil, and honey." So Ishmael didn't kill them along with the others.

⁹ (The cistern where Ishmael had thrown all the bodies of the men he'd killed, including Gedaliah, was a large one that King Asa had dug because of the threat of attack by Baasha king of Israel. Ishmael filled it with bodies.)

¹⁰ Then Ishmael took all the people left in Mizpah prisoner, including the daughters of the king, as well as everyone else living there. These were the people that Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard had put under the care of Gedaliah. Ishmael took them prisoner and left to go to the Ammonites.

¹¹ Johanan and all the army commanders of the armies with him found out about all of Ishmael's crimes.

¹² So they assembled all their men and went to attack Ishmael. They caught up with him near the large pool in Gibeon.

¹³ When Ishmael's prisoners saw Johanan and all the army commanders with him, they were happy.

¹⁴ All those that Ishmael had taken prisoner at Mizpah turned around and ran back to Johanan.

¹⁵ Ishmael and eight of his men managed to escape from Johanan and get away to the Ammonites.

¹⁷ They set off for Geruth Chimham near Bethlehem and stayed there, before leaving for Egypt

¹⁸ to get away from the Babylonians. They were afraid of what the Babylonians would do because Ishmael had assassinated Gedaliah, the governor of the country appointed by the king of Babylon.

¹ Then all the army commanders, together with Johanan son of Kareah, Jezaniah* son of Hoshaiah, and everyone from the least to the most important came to ² Jeremiah the prophet and said, "Please listen to our request.

³ Pray to the Lord your God for all of us. As you can see there's only a few of us left compared to how many there were before. In your prayer please ask the Lord your God to tell where to go and what to do."

* 41:5 All signs of extreme grief and mourning. † 41:7 "Most of": supplied for clarity in light of the next verse. * 42:1 "Jezaniah": given as "Azariah" in 43:2.

⁴ “I’ll do as you ask,” Jeremiah replied. “I will definitely pray to the Lord your God as you’ve requested, and I’ll tell you everything he says. I won’t keep anything back from you.”

⁵ Then they said to Jeremiah, “May the Lord be a true and faithful witness against us if we don’t do everything that the Lord your God tells you we should.

⁶ Good or bad, we will obey what the Lord our God says, the one we’re asking you to speak to. That way everything will go well with us, because we will be obeying what the Lord our God says.”

⁷ Ten days later a message from the Lord came to Jeremiah.

⁸ He summoned Johanan, all the army commanders, and everyone from the least to the most important.

¹⁰ If you will stay right here in this country, then I will build you up and I won’t tear you down; I will plant you and I won’t uproot you; because I’m very sad about the disaster I have brought down on you.

¹¹ I know you fear the king of Babylon, but you don’t need to be afraid of him, declares the Lord. I am with you to save you and rescue you from him.

¹² I will be merciful to you, so that he will be merciful to you and will let you stay in your own country.

¹³ But if you say, “We won’t stay here in this country,” and by doing so disobey what the Lord your God says;

¹⁴ or if you say instead, “No, we’re going to Egypt to live there, where we won’t experience war or hear trumpets sounding or go hungry;”

¹⁵ then listen to what the Lord says, you survivors from Judah! This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: If you’re absolutely determined to go to Egypt and live there,

¹⁶ then the war you’re so frightened of will catch up with you there, and the famine you’re so terrified of will chase after you into Egypt, and you will die there.

¹⁷ Everyone who decides to go to Egypt and live there will die by war and famine and disease. Not a single one will survive or escape the disaster I will bring down on them.

¹⁸ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: In the same way that my furious anger was poured out on the people living in Jerusalem, so will my anger be poured out on you if you go to Egypt. People will be horrified at what happens to you, and you will become a curse word, an insult, an expression of condemnation. You won’t ever see your homeland again.

²⁰ You’ve made a big mistake that will cost you your lives by sending me to the Lord your God, asking, ‘Pray to the Lord our God for us, and let us know everything the Lord our God says and we’ll do it.’

²¹ I have told you today what he said, but you have not obeyed everything the Lord your God sent me to tell you.

²² So you should know that without question you’re going to die by war and famine and disease in Egypt where you want to go and live.”

43

² Azariah son of Hoshaiiah, Johanan son of Kareah, and all the proud and rebellious* men told Jeremiah, “You’re lying! The Lord our God hasn’t sent you to tell us, ‘You are not to go and live in Egypt.’”

³ No, it’s Baruch son of Neriah who’s turned you against us in order to hand us over to the Babylonians so they can kill us or exile us to Babylon!”

⁴ So Johanan son of Kareah and all the army commanders refused to obey the Lord’s command to stay in the land of Judah.

⁶ These included men, women, and children, the king’s daughters, and everyone Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard had allowed to remain with Gedaliah, as well as Jeremiah and Baruch.

⁸ A message from Lord came to Jeremiah at Tahpanhes:

⁹ As the people of Judah watch, get some large stones and set them into the cement of the brick pavement in the entrance way to Pharaoh’s palace at Tahpanhes.

¹⁰ Tell them that this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I’m going to send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and bring him here. I will place his throne over these stones that I have set into the pavement, and he will spread out his royal tent over them.

¹¹ He will come and attack Egypt, bringing death to those destined to die, imprisonment to those destined to be imprisoned, and the sword to those destined to be killed by the sword.

¹² I will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt. Nebuchadnezzar will burn them and loot their idols. He will pick the land of Egypt clean like a shepherd picks his cloak clean of fleas, and he will leave unharmed.

¹³ He will knock down the sacred pillars of the temple of the sun† in Egypt, and he will burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt.

¹ This is the message that came to Jeremiah regarding all the people of Judah living in Egypt—in Migdol, Tahpanhes, and Memphis—and in Upper Egypt.

² This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You saw the complete disaster that I brought down on Jerusalem and all the towns of Judah. You can see how today they’re ruined and abandoned

³ because of the evil they did. They made me angry by burning incense and serving other gods that they hadn’t ever known, and you and your forefathers hadn’t known either.

⁴ I sent you all my servants the prophets time and again to warn you: “Don’t do these offensive things that I hate.”

* 43:2 “Proud and rebellious”: The word used here has the basic meaning of pride, but always in a negative sense that includes arrogance, presumption, and rebellion. † 43:13 “Temple of the sun”: the famous temple in Heliopolis (“Heliopolis” is the Greek for “City of the Sun”).

⁵ But you refused to listen or to pay attention. You didn't stop their wickedness or burning incense in worship of other gods.

⁶ That's why my furious anger poured out and set fire to the towns of Judah and burned in the streets of Jerusalem, making them the abandoned ruins they still are today.

⁸ Why are you making me angry by what you do, burning incense to other gods in Egypt where you have come to live?

Because if this you will be destroyed, and will you will become a curse word, an expression of condemnation among all the nations on earth.

⁹ Have you forgotten the evil of your forefathers and the evil of the kings of Judah and the evil of their wives, as well as your own evil and the evil your wives, all practiced in the country of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem?

¹¹ So this is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am determined to bring disaster and to wipe out everyone from Judah.

¹² I'm going to destroy you who are left who decided to go to Egypt to live there. You will die there, killed by the sword or by famine. Whoever you are, from the least to the most important, you're going to die by sword or by famine; and you will become a curse word, something horrible, an insult, an expression of condemnation.

¹⁴ Nobody who is left from Judah who has gone to live in Egypt will escape or survive to return to the country of Judah. You long to go back and live there, but nobody will return except a few stragglers.

¹⁵ All the men who knew that their wives were burning incense to other gods, and all the women who were there, a great crowd of people, those living in Egypt and Upper Egypt all told Jeremiah,

¹⁶ "Even though you say this message is from the Lord, we're not going to listen to you"

¹⁷ In fact we're going to do everything we said we would. We'll burn incense to the Queen of Heaven and offer drink offerings to worship her as we did before, just like our fathers, our kings, and our officials who did the same things in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. Back then we had plenty of food and we were well off and nothing bad happened to us.

¹⁹ "On top of that," the women added, "when we burned incense to the Queen of Heaven and poured out drink offerings to worship her, did we do this without our husbands knowing about it, that we baked cakes stamped with her image* and poured out drink offerings to worship her?"

* 44:19 See 7:18.

²⁰ Jeremiah replied to all the people, both men and women, who were responding to him,

²¹ “About that incense you burned to other gods[†] in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem, as well as your fathers, your kings, your officials, and the ordinary people—don’t you think the Lord wouldn’t remember and think about it?

²² The Lord couldn’t take it anymore—the evil things you did and your disgusting acts—so your country was turned into an uninhabited wasteland, a place of horror and a curse word to others, as it still is today.

²⁵ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You and your wives, you’ve said what you’re going to do, and you’ve done what you said! You said, ‘We’re going to keep our promise to burn incense to the Queen of Heaven and to pour out drink offerings to worship her.’ So go ahead! Do what you’ve said! Keep your promises!

²⁶ But even so, listen to what the Lord says, all you people from Judah living here in Egypt: I guarantee by all that I am, says the Lord, that none of you living in the Egypt will ever use my name or swear, ‘As the Lord God lives.’

²⁷ I will take care of them in the bad sense, and not in the good sense. All the people from Judah who are in Egypt will die by sword or famine, until they are wiped out.

²⁸ Those who manage to avoid being killed by the sword will go back to Judah from Egypt. But there will only be a few of them, and then all who were left from Judah and went to live in Egypt will know who’s telling the truth—me or them!

²⁹ This is your sign to prove that I’m going to punish you here, declares the Lord, so that you’ll know for certain that my threats against you will really happen.

³⁰ This is what the Lord says: Look! I’m going to hand over Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt to his enemies who are trying to kill him, in the same way that I handed over Zedekiah king of Judah to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, his enemy who was trying to kill him.”

² This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says to you, Baruch:

³ You’ve been complaining, saying, “I’m in so much trouble because the Lord has given me sorrow to make my pain worse! I’ve worn myself out with my groans. I can’t get any relief.”

⁵ So in your case, do you think you'll get special treatment? Stop looking for something like that! I'm going to bring disaster down on every living thing, declares the Lord. However, I promise you that your reward will be that you will continue living, wherever you go.

¹ In the fourth year of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah, the Lord's message that came to Jeremiah the prophet about foreign nations.

² This concerns Pharaoh Neco king of Egypt and the Egyptian army which was defeated at Carchemish on the Euphrates River by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

³ Pick up both your small and large shields, and advance ready for battle!

⁴ Put the harnesses on the horses and get into your chariots; take your positions with your helmets on! Sharpen your spears; put on your armor!

⁸ Egypt is rising like the Nile; its waters swirl like flooding rivers, boasting, "I will rise and sweep over the earth; I will destroy towns and the people in them."

⁹ Horses, charge in! Chariots, drive like crazy! Have the infantry advance: soldiers from Ethiopia and Put carrying their shields, archers from Lydia with their bows.

¹¹ Go and find some healing ointment in Gilead, Virgin Daughter of Egypt! But whatever you use to help you will fail, because there's nothing that will heal you.

¹² The other nations have heard how you were humiliated in defeat. Everyone can hear your cries of pain. Soldiers fall over each other, and die together.

¹⁴ Shout a warning in Egypt! Tell everyone in Migdol, and in Memphis and Tahpanhes: Get ready to defend yourselves, because war is destroying everything around you.

¹⁶ Many soldiers† trip and fall over one another and say, "Come on! Let's

* 46:15 The follows the repointing into "nas hap," which is also the way the Septuagint translators read the word. Otherwise the translation would be, "Why have your strong men been swept away?" Apis was the bull god worshiped in Egypt, particularly in Memphis. † 46:16 These would be mercenary troops employed by the Egyptians to fight for them, as is clear from the context.

get back home to our people where we were born, otherwise we're going to be killed."

¹⁷ When they get there they'll say about Pharaoh king of Egypt, "He just makes a lot of noise. He wasted his opportunity."

¹⁹ Pack your bags ready for exile, daughter living in Egypt! Memphis is going to be destroyed, an empty place where no one lives.

²¹ The soldiers that Egypt hired are like calves made fat for slaughter. They will also retreat. They won't stand and fight—they will all run away. Their day of destruction is coming; the time when they'll be punished.

²² The Egyptians will retreat with a rustle like a snake sliding away, because the enemy will attack them with axes, coming at them like woodcutters chopping down trees.

²⁴ The people of Egypt will be humiliated. They will be handed over to the people of the north.

²⁵ The Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Watch, because I will punish Amon, the god of Thebes, and Pharaoh. I will punish the people of Egypt with their gods and kings, and everyone who trusts in Pharaoh.

²⁶ I'm going to hand them over to those who want to kill them, to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and his officers. But after all this happens, people will live in Egypt as they used to, declares the Lord.

²⁷ But you, descendants of Jacob my servant, you don't have to be fearful. Israelites, you don't need to be discouraged. I promise to rescue you from your distant places of exile, your descendants from the countries where they're being held captive. You will go home to a quiet and comfortable life, free from any threats.

²⁸ You descendants of Jacob, don't be afraid! declares the Lord, for I will be with you. I will completely destroy all the nations where I've scattered you, I won't completely destroy you. However, I will discipline you as you deserve, and you can be sure I won't leave you unpunished.

² This is what the Lord says: Look at the waters rising from the north! They will become an overflowing river that sweeps across the country and everything in it, flooding the towns and everyone's homes. The people will cry out for help; everyone who lives in the country will weep,

³ as they hear the sound of stallions charging, the rattling of chariots and the rumble of their wheels. Fathers won't go back to help their sons—they have no strength because they're terrified.

[‡] 46:18 "King of Babylon": supplied for clarity since first referenced in verse 13.

⁵ The people of Gaza will shave their heads;* the town of Ashkelon lies in ruins. You who are left on the coastal plain, how long will you go on cutting yourself?

⁷ But how can the sword stop killing when the Lord has given it orders to attack Ashkelon and its coastlands?

¹ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says about Moab: Disaster is coming to the town of Nebo, because it will be destroyed. The town of Kiriathaim will be captured and humiliated; the fortress will be torn down and its people shamed.

² No one praises Moab anymore. People in Heshbon are plotting, "We will destroy Moab as a nation. People of the town of Madmen, we will silence you too—you will be attacked by swords and chased down."

⁴ Moab will be smashed. Hear the little ones crying for help.

⁷ It's because you put your confidence in what you do and what you own that you too will be captured. Your god Chemosh will be taken into exile along with his priests and leaders.

⁸ The invaders will attack every town; not a single one will escape destruction. The valley will be ruined, and the plain will be destroyed, for the Lord has spoken.

¹⁰ A curse on those who don't do the Lord's work properly. A curse on those who don't use their swords to kill.

¹² But watch out, the time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will send them "winemakers" who will pour them out like wine. They will empty out the Moabites, and smash them like jars.

¹³ Then the Moabites will feel let down by Chemosh, just as the people of Israel felt let down when they trusted in the golden calf idol at Bethel.†

¹⁴ How on earth can you Moabites say, "We're heroes, strong men ready to fight in battle"?

* 47:5 A sign of mourning, as is the self-mutilation mentioned in the same verse. * 48:9 This is one of the most problematic lines in Jeremiah. Other proposed translations include, "Put salt on the land of Moab," "Give Moab wings so it can fly away," "Give a flower to Moab," etc. The Septuagint translates "Set marks upon Moab," or "Place signs on Moab." † 48:13 See 1 Kings 12.

¹⁵ Moab is going to be destroyed and its towns conquered. Its finest young men will be killed, declares the King, whose name is the Lord Almighty.

¹⁷ Mourn for them, all you surrounding nations, everyone who knows them! Let others know how the great scepter has been smashed, the rod that once proudly ruled!

¹⁸ Come down from your glory and sit on the dusty ground, you who live in Dibon, for Moab's destroyer will come and attack you, destroying your fortresses.

¹⁹ Stand at the roadside and watch, you who live in Aroer. Ask the men and women who are running away to escape, "What's happened?"

²⁰ Moab has been humiliated because it has been defeated. Weep and wail! Shout out beside the River Arnon that Moab has been destroyed!

²¹ Punishment has arrived on the towns of the high plain—on Holon, Jahzah, and Mephaath,

²² on Dibon, Nebo, and Beth-diblathaim,

²³ on Kiriathaim, Beth-gamul, and Beth-meon,

²⁴ on Keriioth, Bozrah, and on all the towns of Moab, whether far away or nearby.

²⁶ Make the people of Moab drunk, because they defied the Lord. Then they will roll around in their own vomit, as people laugh at them.

²⁷ Didn't you Moabites used to ridicule the Israelites? But they weren't ever found to be thieves, were they? Yet whenever you talk about them, you shake your heads in contempt.

²⁸ You people living in Moab, run from your towns, go and live among the rocks. Be like a dove nesting on the cliffs at the entrance to a ravine.

²⁹ We know all about how pompous Moabites are, how extremely proud and conceited they are, arrogantly thinking so highly of themselves.

³¹ So I will weep for Moab; I will cry out for all the Moabites; I will mourn for the people of Kir-heres.

³² I will weep for you, people of the town of Sibmah with its vineyards, more than I weep for the town of Jazer. Your vines have spread to the sea, and all the way to Jazer. But the destroyer has stolen your harvest of summer fruit and grapes.

³³ There's no more celebration and happiness in Moab's orchards and fields. I have stopped the grape juice flowing from the winepresses. No one shouts for joy as they tread out the grapes. No, their shouts now are not because of joy!

³⁵ I'm going to finish off those in Moab who sacrifice on the pagan high places and burn incense to their gods, declares the Lord.

³⁶ So I mourn inside like a flute playing a sad song for Moab; like a flute playing a funeral tune for the people of Kir-heres, because they've lost everything of value that they worked for.

³⁷ As signs of their mourning,[‡] every head is shaved, every beard is trimmed, every hand has a gash, and every waist is wearing sackcloth.

³⁸ Everyone is mourning on all the flat roofs and streets of Moab, because I have smashed the country like a jar nobody wants, declares the Lord.

³⁹ Moab is completely shattered! Listen to them cry! See how the Moabites turn away in shame! All the surrounding nations are horrified at what's happened to the country, and ridicule its people.

⁴⁰ This is what the Lord says: Watch as an enemy like an eagle swoops down, spreading its wings as it attacks Moab.

⁴¹ Kirioth has been conquered, and the fortresses captured. At that time Moab's warriors will be as scared as a woman in labor.

⁴² Moab will cease to exist as a nation because they defied the Lord.

⁴³ You people living in Moab, what's waiting for you are terror, traps, and snares, declares the Lord.

⁴⁴ You will run away in terror and fall into a trap, and when you climb out of the trap, you'll be caught in a snare. I will do this to the Moabites at the time when they're punished, declares the Lord.

⁴⁵ Those who run away will be left defenseless in Heshbon where they went for protection, because fire blazes out from Heshbon, a fire from where Sihon once reigned. It burns up the whole country of Moab and its defiant people.[§]

⁴⁶ What a disaster has come to you Moabites! The people of Chemosh have been wiped out. Your sons and daughters have been taken prisoner and have gone into exile.

⁴⁷ But even so, later on, I will bring the people of Moab back from exile, declares the Lord. This is the end of the description of the judgment on Moab.

Don't the Israelites have any children? Don't they have heirs to inherit their property? So why has Milcom* taken over the territory belonging to the tribe of Gad? Why are his people living in their towns?

² Watch out! The time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will signal the attack on the Ammonite town of Rabbah.[†] It will be turned into a pile of ruins, and its villages will be burned down. Then the Israelites will drive out the people who took over their land, says the Lord.

[‡] 48:37 "As signs of their mourning": supplied for clarity. [§] 48:45 Literally, "It consumes the foreheads of Moab and the skulls of the sons of tumult." ^{*} 49:1 "Milcom": the name of the principal Ammonite god, also identified as "Molech." [†] 49:2 "Rabbah": the Ammonite capital, known today as Amman, Jordan.

⁵ Watch out! I'm going to bring the surrounding nations to terrorize you, declares the Lord God Almighty. You will all be driven out and scattered, and no one will be able to gather you refugees together again.

⁶ However, later on I will bring you Ammonites back from exile, declares the Lord.

⁸ Turn and run away! Find somewhere to hide, people of Dedan, because I'm bringing disaster down on you descendants of Esau when I punish you.

⁹ If people harvesting grapes came to you, they'd leave some behind, wouldn't they? If thieves came during the night, they'd only steal what they wanted, wouldn't they?

¹⁰ But I'm going to strip the whole country of bare, leaving its people with nowhere to hide. All of Esau's descendants will be destroyed, along with their relatives and friends—they will all be gone.

¹² This is what the Lord says: If those who were not required to drink from the cup of judgment had to do so, how could you not be punished yourselves? You won't go unpunished, because you have to drink it too.

¹³ I made myself a solemn promise, declares the Lord, that the town of Bozrah will become a place that horrifies people, a complete humiliation, a pile of ruins, and a name that's used as a curse word. All its surrounding towns will also be left in ruins forever.

¹⁴ I received this message from the Lord. He has sent a messenger to the nations:

¹⁵ Watch as I will make you insignificant compared to other nations—everyone will look down on you.

¹⁶ The fear you once created in others, and your pride in yourselves, has fooled you into overconfidence, you people living on the rocky mountain tops. Though you make your homes high out of reach like an eagle's nest, I will tear you down, even from there, declares the Lord.

¹⁷ People will be horrified at what's happened to Edom. Everyone passing by will be shocked, and will sneer at all its damage.

¹⁸ Just as Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed, along with their neighboring towns, says the Lord, nobody will live there—they will become uninhabited.

¹⁹ Watch out! I'm going to come like a lion from the tangled undergrowth beside the Jordan to attack the animals grazing* the green pasture. In fact I'm going to chase the Edomites from their land very quickly.

Who will I choose to conquer them? Who is like me? Who can challenge me? Which leader† could oppose me?

²⁰ So listen to what the Lord has planned to do to Edom and the people of Teman: Their children will be dragged away like lambs from the flock, and because of them their pasture will become a wasteland.

† 49:7 For a parallel prophecy against Edom see Obadiah, who uses similar language. § 49:7

Teman was a district in the country of Edom. * 49:19 "Attack the animals grazing": supplied for clarity.

²¹ When they fall, the sound they make will make the earth shake; their cries will be heard all the way to the Red Sea.

²² Watch as an enemy like an eagle flies high, then swoops down, spreading its wings as it attacks Bozrah. At that time Edom's warriors will be as scared as a woman in labor.

²³ A prophecy about Damascus:

The towns of Hamath and Arpad[‡] are disturbed, because they've received bad news. They are fearful, restless like the sea. Nothing can calm their worries.

²⁴ The people of Damascus are demoralized—they turn and run away in panic, overcome by pain and anguish like a woman in labor.

²⁵ Why isn't the city that is praised deserted, the city that made me happy?[§]

²⁶ For on that day its young men will die in its streets, all its defenders will be killed, declares the Lord of Hosts.

²⁸ A prophecy about the land of Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor that were attacked by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. This is what the Lord says:

Go and attack Kedar; destroy the people of the east!

²⁹ Take their tents and their flocks! Carry off their tent curtains and all their possessions! Take their camels for yourselves. Shout out to them: "Terror is everywhere!"

³⁰ Run!^{*} Get away as far as you can! Find somewhere to hide, people of Hazor, declares the Lord. For Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has made plans to attack and destroy you.

³¹ Go and attack[†] that self-satisfied nation that thinks it's safe, declares the Lord. They don't have any barred gates and have no allies.

³² Their camels and large herds will be plunder for you. I will scatter them everywhere, these desert people who trim their hair on the sides of their heads. I will bring disaster down on them from all directions, declares the Lord.

³³ Hazor will become a place where jackals live, a place abandoned forever. No one will live there; it will become uninhabited.

³⁴ This is the Lord's message that came to Jeremiah the prophet about Elam. This was at the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah.

³⁵ This is what the Lord Almighty says:

Look! I'm going to smash the bows of the Elamites, the weapon they rely on for their power.

³⁶ I will bring winds from all directions to attack Elam, and I will scatter them in all directions. There won't be a nation that doesn't have some of Elam's exiles.

³⁷ I will smash the Elamites in front of their enemies, before those who want to kill them. In my furious anger I will bring disaster down on them, declares the Lord. I will chase them down with the sword until I have destroyed them.

[‡] 49:23 Two towns some considerable distance north of Damascus. [§] 49:25 Some believe this verse is not spoken by the Lord but by one of the city's residents. ^{*} 49:30 This verse is addressed to those being attacked. [†] 49:31 The Lord is speaking to Nebuchadnezzar again.

³⁸ I will set up my throne in Elam, and destroy its king and officials, declares the Lord.

³⁹ However, later on I will bring the Elamites back from exile, declares the Lord.

² Tell everyone the news! Hold up a sign and shout it out, don't hold back! Tell them, Babylon has fallen! Her[†] god Bel is humiliated; the power of her god Marduk is broken; all Babylon's idols are humiliated and their power is broken.

³ A northern nation will come and attack her and turn the country into a wasteland. No one will live there—both people and animals will desert it.

⁴ That's the time when the people of Israel and Judah will join together, weeping as they go to worship the Lord their God, declares the Lord.

⁵ They will ask the way to Zion, and start going in that direction. They will arrive and commit themselves to the Lord in an everlasting agreement that won't ever be forgotten.

⁶ My people are sheep that are lost, led astray by their shepherds, making them wander aimlessly in the mountains. They go from place to place in the mountains and hills, forgetting where they used to rest.

⁷ All those who came across them attacked them. Their enemies declared, "We're not to blame! They're the ones who sinned against the Lord, their true resting place; the Lord who was the hope of their forefathers."

⁸ Run away from the city of Babylon; get away from the country of Babylonia! Lead the way like the male goats that lead the flock.

⁹ Look! I'm assembling a coalition of strong northern nations who will come and attack Babylon. They will line up in battle against her; she will be conquered from the north. Their arrows will be like the best warriors—they don't miss!

¹¹ Though for now you Babylonians celebrate and sing triumphantly as you plunder my special people, though for now you jump around like a frisky young cow treading out the grain, and neigh like stallions,

¹² you are going to bring shame on your mother, you are going to disgrace the one who gave birth to you. Watch as she becomes the least important of all the nations, a wilderness, a dry desert land.

¹³ Because of Lord's angry punishment, she will be deserted, completely desolate. Everyone who passes by will be horrified at what has happened to Babylon, and sneer at all her wounds.

¹⁴ All you archers, line up ready for battle around Babylon. Shoot at her! Don't save your arrows, because she has sinned against the Lord.

¹⁵ Shout war-cries against her from every side! She holds up her hands in surrender. Her towers have collapsed; her walls are demolished. This is the Lord paying her back, so you too can pay her back—do the same to her as she did to others.

¹⁶ Stop the sower from sowing in the country of Babylon, and stop the harvester swinging the sickle to reap the grain. Under the threat of the enemies' swords, everyone runs home to their own people, they go back to where they came from.

¹⁷ The Israelites are a flock that's been chased and scattered by lions. The first on the attack was the king of Assyria; then lastly Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon crushed their bones.

¹⁹ I will lead the Israelites back to their pasturelands, to feed on Carmel and Bashan, to satisfy their appetites on the hills of Ephraim and Gilead.

²⁰ This will be when the guilt and the sins of Israel and Judah will be looked for, but none will be found, because I will forgive those people who remain that I'm looking after, declares the Lord.

²¹ Go and attack the land of Merathaim, and the people living in Pekod.[‡] Kill them with swords, set them apart for destruction,[§] along with everything they leave behind. Make sure you do everything I have ordered you to do, declares the Lord.

²² The noise of battle is heard in the country, the noise of terrible destruction.

²³ See how the hammer of the whole earth is lying broken in pieces in the ground! The nations look with horror on what Babylon has become!

²⁴ Babylon, I set a trap for you, and you were caught before you realized it. You were hunted down and captured because you fought against the Lord.

²⁵ In his anger the Lord opened his armory to bring out his weapons, for this is what the Lord God Almighty is doing in the country of Babylonia.

²⁶ Come and attack her from every side! Open her granaries; collect the loot you take from her like piles of grain. Set her apart for destruction; don't leave any survivors.

²⁷ Kill all her young bulls* with the sword; let them be slaughtered. What a disaster for them, because their time has come when they're punished.

²⁸ (Listen to the refugees and survivors who have returned from Babylonia, announcing in Zion, "The Lord our God is paying them back for what happened to his Temple.")

²⁹ Call up the archers to attack Babylon, yes, all of them! Completely surround her—don't let anyone escape. Pay her back for what she's done, because in her pride she defied the Lord, Israel's Holy One.

³¹ Watch out, because I'm against you, you arrogant people! declares the Lord God Almighty. Your time has come when I will punish you.

[‡] 50:21 These are not actual place names. They mean "double rebellion" and "punishment." However, they are similar in sound to two locations in Babylonia. [§] 50:21 "Set apart for destruction": a special term that described a dedication to the Lord, indicating that what was promised was to be given over to the Lord and not retained. * 50:27 "Bulls": referring to the young men serving as soldiers for Babylon.

³² You arrogant people will trip and fall. Nobody will be there to pick you up. I'm going to set fire to your towns and burn up everything around you.

³³ This is what the Lord Almighty says: The people of Israel and Judah are being mistreated. All who captured them are holding onto them, refusing to let them go.

³⁴ But the one who rescues them is powerful; the Lord Almighty is his name. He will defend them and their cause, so he may bring peace on earth, but trouble to the people of Babylon.

³⁵ A sword is raised to attack the Babylonians, declares the Lord, ready to attack those who live in Babylon, and her officials and wise men.

³⁶ A sword is raised to attack her false prophets, and they will become fools. A sword is raised to attack her soldiers, and they will be terrified.

³⁸ A drought has hit her rivers, and they will dry up. For it's a country full of pagan images. These horrible idols drive their worshipers mad.

³⁹ Consequently desert animals and hyenas will live there, and it will be a home for owls. It will be uninhabited forever—it won't be lived in from one generation to the next.

⁴⁰ In the same way that God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighboring towns, declares the Lord, no one will live there, no one will stay there.

⁴³ The king of Babylon has heard the news and he's terrified. He's overcome with fear, in pain like a woman in labor.

⁴⁴ Watch out![†] I'm going to come like a lion from the tangled undergrowth beside the Jordan to attack the animals grazing[‡] the green pasture. In fact I'm going to chase the Babylonians from their land very quickly.

Who will I choose to conquer them? Who is like me? Who can challenge me? Which leader[§] could oppose me?

⁴⁵ So listen to what the Lord has planned to do to Babylon and the country of Babylonia: Their children will be dragged away like lambs from the flock, and because of them their pasture will become a wasteland.

⁴⁶ The sound of Babylon's capture will make the earth shake; their cries will be heard throughout the nations.

[†] 50:44 The following passage parallels that given against Edom in 49:19-21. [‡] 50:44 "Attack the animals grazing": supplied for clarity. [§] 50:44 "Leader": literally, "shepherd." * 51:1 Literally, "Leb-kamai," a code word for Babylonia.

² I will send foreign soldiers to attack Babylon to winnow[†] her and turn her country into a wasteland—they will attack her from all directions when her time of trouble comes.

³ The archer doesn't need to use his bow; the infantryman doesn't need to put on his armor.[‡] Don't spare her young soldiers; set apart her whole army for destruction![§]

⁴ They will fall down wounded in her streets, killed in the country of Babylonia.

⁵ Israel and Judah have not been deserted by their God, the Lord Almighty, even though they sinned against the Holy One of Israel everywhere in their country.

⁶ Escape from Babylon! Run for your lives! Don't get caught up in her punishment and die, for this is the time when the Lord pays her back for her sins.

⁷ Once Babylon was a golden cup the Lord held in his hand. She made the whole earth drunk. The nations drank her wine which is why they went mad.

⁸ Now, all of a sudden, Babylon has fallen. She has been smashed to pieces. Weep for her; get her some treatment for her pain. Maybe she can be healed.

⁹ "We tried to heal her, but she couldn't be helped. So give up on her! All of us should go home to where we came from. The news of her punishment has reached everywhere, all the way to heaven.

¹⁰ The Lord has encouraged and supported us.* Come on, let's tell people here in Jerusalem what the Lord has done for us!"

¹¹ Sharpen the arrows! Pick up the shields![†] The Lord has encouraged the kings of the Medes, because his plan is directed at the destruction of Babylon. The Lord is paying them back for what happened to his Temple.

¹² Raise the signal flag to attack the walls of Babylon; strengthen the guard; have the watchmen take their places; get the ambush ready. The Lord planned and carried out his threats against the people of Babylon.

¹³ You people who live beside by many waters, and have so much wealth, this is the time of your end—your life will be cut short.

¹⁴ The Lord Almighty vowed by his own life, saying, I'm going to make sure to fill you with so many enemy soldiers they'll be like locusts. They will shout as they celebrate their victory over you.

¹⁵ It was God who made the earth by his power. He created the world by his wisdom and by his understanding he put the heavens in place.

¹⁶ The waters of the heavens rain down with a roar at his command. He makes the clouds to rise all over the earth. He makes lightning to accompany rain, and sends the wind from his storehouses.

[†] 51:2 "Winnowing" is the process by which grain is thrown into the air so that the wind can blow away the chaff. [‡] 51:3 The Hebrew of this line has been interpreted in different ways. It seems most likely that it is saying that the attacking army was able to conquer Babylon without much trouble. [§] 51:3 See footnote 50:21 for the meaning of "set apart for destruction." * 51:10 "Encouraged and supported us." This is often translated as "vindication," however this frequently has the meaning of being "proved right," which is not the case here for the Israelites who went into exile because they were not right with God. [†] 51:11 Or "Fill the quivers!"

¹⁷ Everyone is stupid; they don't know anything. Every metalworker is embarrassed by the idols they make. For their images made of molten metal are fraudulent—they're not alive!

¹⁸ They are useless, an object to be laughed at. They will be destroyed at the time of their punishment.

¹⁹ The God of Jacob is not like these idols, for he is the creator of everything, including his own people that are special to him. The Lord Almighty is his name.

²⁰ You[‡] are my war club, the weapon I use in battle. I use you to destroy nations; I use you to destroy kingdoms.

²¹ I use you to destroy horses and their riders; I use you to destroy chariots and their drivers.

²² I use you to destroy men and women; I use you to destroy old men and youths; I use you to destroy young men and girls.

²³ I use you to destroy shepherds and their flocks; I use you to destroy farmers and their cattle; I use you to destroy rulers and state officials.

²⁴ Right in front of you I'm going to pay back Babylon and everyone who live in Babylonia for all the evil they did to Jerusalem, declares the Lord.

²⁵ Watch out, because I am against you, you destructive monster who devastates the whole world, declares the Lord. I will reach out to attack you; I will roll you down the cliffs; I will turn you into a mountain of ash.

²⁶ Nobody will be even able to find themselves a cornerstone or a foundation stone among your ruins, because you will be so utterly destroyed, declares the Lord.

²⁷ Raise a signal flag in the country! Blow the trumpet call to war among the nations! Get the nations ready to attack her; Summon the kingdoms to march against her: Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz. Choose a commander to lead the armies to attack her; send into battle cavalry like a swarm of locusts.

²⁸ Have the armies of the nations prepare for battle against her. This applies to the kings of the Medes, their leaders and all their officers, and every country they rule.

²⁹ The earth quakes and trembles because the Lord is determined to carry out what he threatened against Babylon—to turn Babylonia into a wasteland where no one lives.

³⁰ Babylon's defenders have given up fighting—they're just sitting in their fortresses. They're worn out; they've become like frightened women. Babylon's houses are burning; the bars securing her gates have been smashed.

³² the river crossings have been captured, the marshlands set on fire and his soldiers are panicking.

³³ This is what the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, says: The people of Babylon are like a threshing floor when the grain is trampled out. Her time of harvest will come very soon.

³⁴ Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon chewed me[§] up and sucked me dry, making me as empty as a jar with nothing in it. He swallowed me down as if he were some monster, filling himself with the tastiest parts of me and throwing the rest away.

³⁵ “Babylon must bear the responsibility for the violent attacks on us,” say the inhabitants of Zion. “The people of Babylonia must bear the responsibility for the blood shed in my city,” says Jerusalem.

³⁷ Babylon will be turned into a pile of rubble, a home for jackals, a place that horrifies people, a place they jeer at, a place where no one lives.

⁴⁰ I will take them down like lambs to be slaughtered, like rams and goats.

⁴¹ How could it be? Babylon* has fallen! The most famous city in the world has been conquered! What a horrible sight Babylon has become to everyone watching!

⁴³ The towns of Babylonia are in ruins, turned into a dry desert wasteland where no one lives—no one even passes by.

⁴⁴ I will punish Bel† in Babylon. I will force him to spit out what he swallowed. People of other nations won’t run to worship him anymore. Even Babylon’s wall has fallen.

⁴⁵ My people, come out of her! Each one of you, save yourselves from the Lord’s furious anger.

⁴⁷ Look, the time is coming when I will punish Babylon’s idols. The whole country will be humiliated; it will be full of the dead bodies of those who have been killed.

⁴⁸ Then everyone in heaven and on earth will celebrate with shouts of joy at what’s happened to Babylon, because the destroyers from the north will come and attack her, declares the Lord.

⁴⁹ Babylon has to fall because of the Israelites and people of other nations she killed.

⁵⁰ Those of you who have managed to escape being killed, leave now! Don’t delay! Remember the Lord in this far away place; think about Jerusalem.

⁵¹ “We are embarrassed because we’ve been mocked, and we held our heads in shame because foreigners went into the holy places of the Lord’s Temple,”‡

* 51:41 Literally “Sheshach”: a code name for Babylon. † 51:44 “Bel”: the major Babylonian god. ‡ 51:51 These words are spoken by the Israelites.

⁵² So keep watching, declares the Lord, because the time is coming when I will punish her for worshiping idols, and the sound of wounded people moaning will be heard throughout the country.

⁵³ Even if Babylon could climb up into the sky to strengthen her high fortresses, those I send to attack her will destroy her, declares the Lord.

⁵⁴ A cry comes from Babylon; the noise of terrible destruction comes from the country of Babylonia.

⁵⁶ A destroyer is coming to attack Babylon. Her soldiers will be taken prisoner, and their bows will be smashed, for the Lord is a God who punishes fairly; he will definitely pay them back.

⁵⁸ This is what the Lord Almighty says: Babylon's massive walls will be knocked down to the ground and her high gates burned. All that the people worked for will be for nothing; other nations who came to help will wear themselves out, only to see what they've done go up in flames.

⁵⁹ This is the message that Jeremiah the prophet gave to Seraiah son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, when he accompanied King Zedekiah of Judah to Babylon in the fourth year of Zedekiah's reign. Seraiah was the king's personal assistant.

⁶⁰ Jeremiah had written on a scroll a description of all the disasters that would come to Babylon—all these words written here about Babylon.

⁶¹ Jeremiah told Seraiah, "When you arrive in Babylon, make sure you read out loud everything written here,

⁶² and announce, 'Lord, you have promised to destroy this place so that none will be left—no people or animals. In fact it will be deserted forever.'

⁶³ After you finish reading this scroll out loud, tie a stone to it and throw it into the Euphrates.

¹ Zedekiah was twenty-one when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for eleven years. His mother's name was Hamutal, daughter of Jeremiah. She came from Libnah.

³ All this happened in Jerusalem and Judah, because of the Lord's anger, until he eventually banished them from his presence. Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

⁴ In the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, attacked Jerusalem with his entire army. He set up camp around the city and built siege ramps against the walls.

⁶ By the ninth day of the fourth month, the famine in the city was so bad that the people had nothing left to eat.

⁹ They captured the king and took him to the king of Babylon at Riblah, where he sentenced him.

¹¹ Then he gouged out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him in bronze shackles. The king of Babylon took him to Babylon and imprisoned him there until the day he died.

¹² On the tenth day of the fifth month, in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, an officer of the king of Babylon, entered Jerusalem.

¹⁴ The whole Babylonian army under the commander of the guard knocked down all the walls around Jerusalem.

¹⁶ But Nebuzaradan allowed others of the poor people who were left in the country to stay and take care of the vineyards and the fields.

¹⁹ The commander of the guard removed the basins, censers, sprinkling bowls, pots, lampstands, dishes and bowls, anything that was made of pure gold or silver.

²⁰ The amount of bronze that came from the two columns, the Sea, the twelve bronze bulls under it, and the movable carts, which Solomon had made for the Lord's Temple, all of this weighed more than could be measured.

²¹ Each column was eighteen cubits tall and twelve cubits around. They were hollow with walls four fingers thick.

²² The bronze capital on top of one column was five cubits high, with a network of bronze pomegranates around it. The second column was the same, and also had a decorative network.

²³ There were ninety-six bronze pomegranates around each column. Above the network were a total of one hundred pomegranates.

* 52:7 "Arabah": the Jordan Valley.

²⁴ The commander of the guard took as prisoners Seraiah, the chief priest, Zephaniah the priest, second in rank, and the three Temple doorkeepers.

²⁷ The king of Babylon had them executed at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So the people of Judah had to leave their land.

²⁸ This is a record of the number of people Nebuchadnezzar took into exile. In the seventh year of his reign he took 3,023 Judeans.

³⁰ In his twenty-third year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, Nebuzaradan, the commander of the guard, took another 745 Judeans, making a total of 4,600.

³¹ In the year Evil-merodach became king of Babylon, he released Jehoiachin, king of Judah, from prison. This happened on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month of the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin, king of Judah.

Lamentations

¹ How desolate sits the city of Jerusalem, once filled with people! She* has become like a widow, she who was once great among the nations. The queen of all the world has become a slave-laborer.

² She cries bitterly through the night, tears rolling down her cheeks. Despite all her many lovers, no one comes to comfort her. Betrayed by all her friends, they are now her enemies.

⁴ Even the roads to Zion are in mourning because no one travels on them to go to the religious festivals. All her gates are empty. Her priests groan in sadness. Her girls are suffering. She herself is in bitter distress.

⁵ Those who hated her now control her; her enemies enjoy life, because the Lord has made her suffer due to all her sins of rebellion. Her children have been taken away as prisoners of the enemy.

⁶ All the glory has left the Daughter of Zion. Her leaders are like deer that can't find any grass to eat. They don't even have the strength to run away when the hunter comes after them!

⁷ As she wanders around in her misery, Jerusalem thinks back to all the wonderful things she once had in the old days. When her enemies conquered her people, she didn't receive any help. Her enemies gloated over her, and laughed at her downfall.

⁸ Jerusalem sinned terribly which is why she is now treated as someone unclean. Everyone who used to honor her now despise her, because they've seen her naked and ashamed. She herself groans as she turns away.

⁹ Her uncleanness contaminates her skirts.† She didn't think about what would happen. Her fall was a shock, and no one was there to comfort her. "Please, Lord, see how much I'm suffering, because the enemy has won!" she says.‡

¹⁰ The invader has stolen all her treasures. She even had to watch as heathen nations went into her sanctuary, people you had forbidden to enter.

¹¹ All her people groan, looking for bread. They have spent what they value the most to buy food so they can stay alive.

"Please, Lord, look and see what's happening to me," she says. "It's as if I'm worthless!

¹² Don't you care anything about it, all you people passing by? Take a look and see! Is there any suffering as bad as mine, punished by the Lord when he became angry?

* 1:1 To preserve some of the poetic effect, the female personification of the city of Jerusalem has been preserved in this translation. † 1:9 Referring to the uncleanness resulting from unfaithfulness (see Leviticus 18:20 for example). ‡ 1:9 "She says": added for clarity.

¹³ He sent down fire from heaven that destroyed my bones. He spread out a net to catch my feet, tripping me over. He abandoned me, leaving me sick all day long.

¹⁴ He took my rebellious sins and twisted them together into a yoke that he tied to my neck. He took away all my strength, and handed me over defenseless to my enemies.

¹⁵ The Lord brushed aside all my strong soldiers defending me. He called up an army to attack me, to crush my young men. The Lord has trampled down the virgin Daughter of Judah like grapes in a winepress.

¹⁸ "The Lord has done what's right, because I rebelled against his instructions. Listen, everyone everywhere; look at what I'm suffering. My young women and young men have been taken off into captivity.

¹⁹ I called out for help to my lovers, but they betrayed me. My priests and elders starved to death in the city as they tried to find food to keep themselves alive.

²⁰ Can't you see, Lord, how upset I am? Inside I am in turmoil; my heart is breaking because I've been so rebellious. Outside, the sword kills those I love; inside, it's like I'm living in the house of death.

²¹ People hear me groaning, but no one comes to comfort me. All my enemies have heard about the bad things that have happened to me, and they're delighted that it was you who did it. Please bring about the day of judgment that you promised so they can end up like me.

²² May you see all the evil things they've done! Treat them the same way as you've treated me as a result of all my rebellious sins, for I'm groaning all the time, and I'm sick at heart."

2

¹ How the Lord has spread a cloud of his anger over the Daughter of Zion! He has thrown down Israel's glory from heaven to earth. He has deserted his Temple* from the time he became angry.

² The Lord has destroyed without mercy all the places where the descendants of Jacob lived. In his anger he has torn down the fortresses of the Daughter of Judah. He has demolished and degraded the kingdom and its leaders.

³ In his fury he has destroyed all of Israel's power, refusing to help as the enemy attacked. He was like a fire blazing in the land of Jacob, burning everything up.

⁴ He has fired arrows from his bow as if he were their enemy; he has used his power against them like an attacker. He has killed all the beloved children; he has poured out his anger like fire on the tent of the Daughter of Zion.

* 2:1 "Temple": literally, "footstool," see for example Psalms 99:5, Psalms 132:7.

⁵ The Lord has become like an enemy, completely destroying Israel and its palaces, demolishing its fortresses, making the Daughter of Judah cry and mourn more and more.

⁶ He has torn down his Temple as if it was a garden shed; he has destroyed his meeting place. The Lord has made Zion forget about her religious festivals and Sabbaths. In his fury he has disowned both king and priest.

⁷ The Lord has discarded his altar; he has abandoned his Temple. He has handed it[†] over to the enemy. They were shouting triumphantly in the Lord's Temple just as worshipers did on festival days.

⁸ The Lord was determined to destroy the defensive walls of the Daughter of Zion. He measured out[‡] what he would destroy, and didn't hesitate to do it. He made the battlements and walls weep; they both disintegrated.

¹¹ My eyes are worn out from crying; inside I am in turmoil. I'm sick and exhausted over the destruction of Jerusalem, the daughter of my people, because children and infants are fainting in the city streets.

¹² They cry out to their mothers, "We need food and drink!"[§] fainting in the city streets as if they're wounded, their lives fading away in their mothers' arms.

¹³ What can I tell you? What shall I compare you to, Daughter of Jerusalem? What can I say you're like in order to comfort you, virgin Daughter of Zion? For your wound gapes as wide as the sea—who could ever heal you?

¹⁴ The visions of your prophets were false and worthless; they didn't point out your guilt to prevent you being taken into captivity. Instead they presented to you visions that were false and deceptive.

¹⁶ All your enemies open their mouths at you, hissing and gnashing their teeth, "We've swallowed her up! This is the day we've been waiting for. Now it's here and we've seen it happen!"

¹⁷ The Lord has achieved what he decided; he has done what he warned he would. Just as he determined to do long ago, he has destroyed you, showing no mercy. He has allowed the enemy gloat over your defeat, and he has given power to those who attack you.

[†] 2:7 "It": literally, "the walls of her palaces," taken to refer to the structure of the Temple. [‡] 2:8

"Measured out": literally, "stretched out a measuring line." [§] 2:12 "We need food and drink!" literally, "Where is the grain and wine?" an unlikely diet for infants.

¹⁸ The people cry out to the Lord from the bottom of their hearts. Daughter of Zion, let your walls stream down with tears like a river all day and night. Don't stop, go on crying!

¹⁹ Get up and cry out as the night begins. Pour out your sad thoughts like water before the Lord. Hold up your hands to him in prayer for the lives of your children who are fainting from hunger at every street corner.

²⁰ Lord, please think about it! Who have you ever treated this way? Should women have to eat their children, the little ones they love? Should priests and prophets be killed in the Lord's Temple?

²¹ The dead, young and old, lie together in the dust of the streets. My young men and young women, have been killed by the sword. You killed them when you were angry; you have slaughtered them without mercy.

²² You invited enemies to attack me from every direction like you were inviting them to a religious festival. At the time when the Lord was angry nobody escaped, nobody survived. My enemy has destroyed the children I looked after and loved.

3

² He has driven me away, forcing me to walk in darkness instead of the light.

³ In fact he hits* me again and again all day long.

⁴ He has worn me out; he has broken me in pieces.

⁵ He has besieged me, surrounding me with bitterness and misery.

⁶ He has forced me to live in darkness like those long dead.

⁸ Even when I keep on crying out for help, he refuses to listen to my prayer.

¹⁰ He is a bear that lies in wait for me, a lion in hiding ready to attack,

¹² He loaded his bow with an arrow and used me as his target,

¹³ He shot me in my kidneys with his arrows.

¹⁴ Now everyone laughs at me, singing songs that mock me all day long.

¹⁶ He has broken my teeth with grit; he has trampled me in the dust.

¹⁷ Peace has been torn away from me; I've forgotten all that's good in life.

¹⁹ Don't forget everything I've suffered in my wandering, as bitter as wormwood and poison.

²⁰ I certainly haven't forgotten. I remember it all too well, so I sink into depression.

²¹ But I still hope when I think about this:

* 3:3 "Hits": literally, "turns his hand against."

22 It's because of the Lord's trustworthy love that our lives are not finished, for through his merciful actions he never lets us down.

23 He renews them every morning. How wonderfully trustworthy you are, Lord!

24 The Lord is all I need," I tell myself, "so I will put my hope in him."

25 The Lord is good to those who trust in him, to anyone who seeks to follow him.

26 It is good to wait quietly for the Lord's salvation.

27 It is good for people to learn to patiently bear discipline[†] while they're still young.

28 They should sit by themselves in silence, because it's God who has disciplined them.

29 They should bow low with their faces to the ground, for there may still be hope.

30 They should turn a cheek to someone who wants to slap them; they should take the insults of others.

31 For the Lord won't abandon us forever.

32 Even though he may bring sadness, he shows us mercy because his trustworthy love is so great.

33 For he doesn't willingly hurt people, or cause them grief.

34 Whether it's mistreating all the prisoners of the land,

35 Or denying someone their rights as the Most High watches,

36 Or cheating someone in their legal case—these things the Lord doesn't approve of.

37 Who spoke and it came into existence? Wasn't it the Lord who commanded it?[‡]

38 When the Most High speaks it can be a disaster or a blessing.[§]

39 Why should any human being complain about the results of their sins?

40 We should look at ourselves, examine what we're doing, and return to the Lord.

41 Let's not just hold up our hands to God in heaven, but our minds^{*} as well, saying,

42 "We are the ones who sinned; we are the ones who rebelled; and you haven't forgiven us!"

43 You have wrapped yourself in anger and chased us down, killing without mercy. You have killed without pity.

45 You have made us waste and refuse to the nations around.

46 All our enemies open their mouths to criticize us.

47 We're terrified and trapped, devastated and destroyed.

48 Tears stream from my eyes over the death of my people.

49 My eyes overflow with tears all the time. They won't stop

50 Until the Lord looks down from heaven and sees what's going on.

51 What I've seen torments me because of what's happened to all the women in my city.

52 For no reason my enemies trapped me like a bird.

[†] 3:27 "Learn to patiently bear discipline": literally, "carry the yoke." [‡] 3:37 A reference to Psalms 33:9. [§] 3:38 See also Isaiah 45:7. ^{*} 3:41 "Minds": literally, "hearts," but from a Hebrew perspective the heart was where you did your thinking.

⁵³ They tried to kill me by tossing me into a pit and throwing stones at me.

⁵⁴ Water flooded over my head, and I thought I was going to die.

⁵⁵ I called out for you, Lord, from deep inside the pit.

⁵⁶ You heard me when I prayed, "Please don't ignore my cry for help."

⁵⁷ You came to me when I called you, and you told me, "Don't be afraid!"

⁵⁸ You have taken my case and defended me; you have saved my life!

⁵⁹ Lord, you have seen the injustices done to me; please vindicate me!

⁶⁰ You have observed how vengeful they are and how often they've plotted against me.

⁶¹ Lord, you have heard how they've insulted me, and what they've plotted against me,

⁶³ Just look! Whether they're sitting down and or standing up, they go on making fun of me in their songs.

⁶⁴ Pay them back as they deserve, Lord, for all they've done!

⁶⁶ Chase them down in your anger, Lord, and get rid of them from the earth!

4

³ Even jackals nurse their young at their breasts, but the women of my people have become cruel, like an ostrich† in the desert.

⁴ The nursing babies are so thirsty that their tongues stick to the roof of their mouths. Little children beg for food, but nobody gives them anything.

⁵ Those who used to eat gourmet food now die starving in the streets. Those who dressed in fine clothes‡ from their childhood now live in heaps of rubbish.

⁷ Her leaders were purer than snow, whiter than milk; their bodies were a healthier red than coral, and they shone like lapis lazuli.†

⁸ But now they look blacker than soot; no one recognizes them in the street. Their skin has shrunk to their bones and is as dry as wood.

† 3:65 This may be similar to the expression in 2 Corinthians 3:15, "a veil covers their minds."

* 4:1 "Jewels from the Temple": literally, "holy stones." These could also refer to the stones from which the Temple was constructed, but in the context of things of value it seems more likely that they refer to the jewels used to decorate the Temple, or even those from the High Priest's clothing. † 4:3 Ostriches were proverbially seen as cruel because they leave their young to fend for themselves. See Job 39:14-18. ‡ 4:5 "Fine clothes": literally "purple," the color of clothes used by royalty. § 4:6 "Jerusalem": literally, "the daughter of my people." Also verse 10 and elsewhere.

* 4:6 "Without the help of human hands": or, "without anyone wringing their hands (in mourning)" † 4:7 "Coral" is sometimes translated as "rubies," however it is believed that rubies were not known at this time. Similarly "lapis lazuli," an intensely blue stone, is more likely than "sapphire."

⁹ Those killed by the sword are better off than those who die of hunger, who slowly waste away in agony because the fields produce no crops.

¹¹ The Lord has given full expression to his anger. He has poured out his fury. He has started a fire in Zion, and it has burned down her very foundations.

¹² No king on earth—in fact nobody in all the world—thought that an enemy or attacker could enter the gates of Jerusalem.[‡]

¹³ But this happened because of the sins of her prophets and the wickedness of her priests, who shed the blood of the innocent right there in the city.

¹⁴ They wandered like blind men through the streets, made unclean by this blood, so no one would touch their clothes.

¹⁵ “Go away! You’re unclean!” people would shout at them, “Go away, go away! Don’t touch us!” So they ran away and wandered from country to country, but the people there told them, “You can’t stay here!”

¹⁶ The Lord himself has scattered them; he doesn’t bother with them anymore. Nobody respects the priests, and nobody admires the leaders.

¹⁷ We wore out our eyes pointlessly looking for help the whole time; we watched from our towers for a nation to come that couldn’t save us.

¹⁸ The enemy[§] tracked our every movement so we couldn’t walk through our streets. Our end approached. Our time was up because our end had come.

²⁰ The king,^{*} the Lord’s anointed, our country’s “life-breath,”[†] was trapped and captured by them. We had said about him, “Under his protection we will live among the nations.”

²¹ Celebrate and be happy while you can, people of Edom, you who live in the land of Uz, because this cup will be passed to you too. You will get drunk and strip yourself naked.

²² People of Zion, your punishment is coming to an end—he won’t continue your exile for long.[‡] But he is going to punish your sins, people of Edom; he will reveal your sins.

5

¹ Lord, please remember what’s happened to us. Look at us and see how we’ve been humiliated!

² The land we used to own has been handed over to strangers, our houses have been given to foreigners.

³ We have lost our fathers, and our mothers are widows.

⁴ The water we drink we have to pay for; our firewood comes at a price.

⁶ We allied ourselves with Egypt and Assyria so we could have plenty of food.

[‡] 4:12 See Psalms 46:5. [§] 4:18 “Enemy” supplied for clarity. ^{} 4:20 “King”: supplied for clarity. [†] 4:20 “Life-breath”: literally, “breath of our noses.” [‡] 4:22 “He won’t continue your exile for long”: or “he won’t exile you again.” ^{} 5:5 The image is that of human beings being treated as beasts of burden.

⁷ Our forefathers sinned and they're gone, but we're being punished for their sins.

⁹ We take our lives in our hands when we look for food, because of the armed raiders in the desert.

¹³ Young men are forced to work at hand-mills; boys stagger under bundles of wood.

¹⁴ The elders have abandoned their places at the city gate;[‡] the young men have given up playing their music.

¹⁵ There's no more happiness for us; our dancing has turned into mourning.

¹⁶ The crown[§] has fallen from our head. What a disaster has come upon us because we have sinned!

¹⁷ Because of all this, we're sick at heart; because of all these things, we can hardly look;^{*}

¹⁸ Because of Mount Zion, which has been abandoned, and where only foxes[†] roam.

¹⁹ But you, Lord, live forever! You rule for all generations!

²⁰ So why have you forgotten us for such a long time? Why have you abandoned us for so many years?

²¹ Bring us back to you, Lord, so we can be with you again. Please remake our lives like they used to be.

²² Or have you have completely rejected us? Are you still really furious with us?

[†] 5:8 "Of our conqueror": supplied for clarity. [‡] 5:14 "Their places at the city gate": where legal cases were decided and advice given. [§] 5:16 The word used here is the general word for crown or garland, not the word for the royal or priestly crown. It may therefore refer to garlands used in local celebrations. ^{*} 5:17 "Hardly look": whether this is because of the appalling sights or because of the many tears is unclear. [†] 5:18 The mention of foxes is particularly significant since they are unclean animals.

Ezekiel

¹ On the fifth day of the fourth month of the thirtieth year,* I was with the other exiles by the River Kebar. The heavens opened and I saw visions of God.

² (On the fifth day of the month of the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's exile, ³ a message from Lord was given to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of Babylonia† by the River Kebar. There Lord's power came over him.)

⁴ I looked up and saw a windstorm racing in from the north, a tremendous cloud with fire flashing like lightning and surrounded by brilliant light. The middle of the fire looked like glowing metal

⁵ and within it was the shape of four beings.‡

This was what they looked like: They had a human shape,

⁶ but they each had four faces and four wings.

⁷ They had straight legs, and the soles of their feet looked like the hooves of calves, and shone like polished bronze.

⁹ and each of their wings touched the wings of the one next to it. As they moved they didn't turn—they all moved straight in one direction.

¹¹ These were their faces.

They wings were spread out above them. They all had two wings that touched the wings of the one beside it, as well as two wings that covered its body.

¹² Each of them went together in whatever direction the Spirit§ wished them to go, moving without turning.

¹³ These beings looked like bright burning coals or torches. Blazing fire moved to and fro between the beings, and lightning flashed out from the fire.

¹⁵ As I was watching these beings, I noticed a wheel on the ground next to each of the beings with their four faces.

¹⁶ The wheels looked like they were made of topaz,* and all four wheels were the same. In the middle of each wheel was what looked like another wheel set crossways.

¹⁷ They could move in any direction without turning as they did so.

* 1:1 Ezekiel is not specific regarding what the "thirtieth year" applies to. Some have considered that it refers to his age. † 1:3 "Babylonia": literally, "land of the Chaldeans." ‡ 1:5 They are identified as "cherubim" in 10:2. § 1:12 "Spirit": while the word used here can also mean breath or wind, the fact that this is the agent directing these beings indicates that it is divine.

* 1:16 "Topaz": a semi-precious stone. The identification of gems in the Bible is uncertain. Other possibilities include beryl, jasper, and chrysolite. (The Septuagint has chrysolite, indicating that the stone was golden-yellow in color.)

¹⁸ The wheel rims were impressively high, and all of the four rims were covered in eyes.

¹⁹ As the beings moved so did the wheels next to them, and when the beings flew up, the wheels did too.

²⁰ They would go wherever the Spirit went. The wheels would lift up beside them, because the Spirit of the beings was in the wheels to direct them.

²¹ When the beings moved, the wheels moved; when they stopped, the wheels stopped; and when they flew up from the ground, the wheels flew up beside them, because the Spirit of the beings was in the wheels to direct them.

²² Extending above the heads of the being was something that looked like an amazing expanse[†] that glittered like ice crystal.

²³ Under this expanse the wings of the beings spread out toward one another. Each of them also had two wings that covered its body.

²⁴ When the beings moved, I heard the sound their wings made. It was like the roar of a thundering waterfall, like the voice of the Almighty, like the noise of an army on the march.

Whenever they stopped, they folded their wings.

²⁵ A voice spoke from beyond the expanse over their heads while they were standing still with their wings folded.

²⁶ Above the expanse over their heads I saw what looked like a throne made of lapis lazuli.[‡] Sitting on the throne high above was a being who looked like a man.

²⁸ The bright light surrounding him was like a rainbow shining through the clouds on a rainy day. This was what the glory of the Lord looked like. When I saw it, I fell facedown on the ground, and then I heard someone speaking to me.

¹ “Stand up, son of man,^{*} because I want to talk to you,” he said to me.

² As he spoke to me, the Spirit entered me and had me stand up. I listened to him speaking to me.

³ “Son of man,” he told me, “I’m sending you to the people of Israel, a disobedient nation[†] that has rebelled against me. They and their forefathers have continued to rebel against me, even up to today.

[†] 1:22 “Expanse”: The same word is used in Genesis 1:6 to describe the expanse later called the sky. [‡] 1:26 “Lapis lazuli”: a semi-precious stone, bright blue in color ^{*} 2:1 “Son of man”: this is the way that Ezekiel is usually addressed. In Daniel the term has a meaning relating to the end time, but here it simply refers to Ezekiel’s humanity and could also be translated “son of Adam,” since “Adam” means “man.” [†] 2:3 The word is used in the plural so could additionally refer to other nations. However, in the context the message applies primarily to the Israelites.

⁶ Son of man, don't be afraid of them or what they say. You don't need to be afraid even though you're surrounded by brambles and thorns, even though you live among scorpions. Don't be afraid of what they say or be discouraged by the way they look at you, even though they are a rebellious family.

⁸ As for you, son of man, pay attention to what I tell you. Don't be rebellious like those rebellious people. Open your mouth and eat what I'm about to give you."

⁹ I looked up and saw a hand stretched out to me holding a scroll.

¹⁰ He spread it out in front of me, and there written on both the front and back were words of grief, mourning, and tragedy.

3

¹ "Son of man," he told me, "eat what you find placed before you. Eat this scroll, then go and speak to the people of Israel."

² I opened my mouth, and he gave me the scroll to eat.

³ "Son of man," he said to me, "eat and fill yourself up with this scroll I'm giving you."

So I ate the scroll, and it tasted as sweet as honey.

⁴ Then he told me, "Son of man, now you are to go to the people of Israel and give my message to them.

⁵ I'm not sending you to those whose language is foreign to you, to people that you don't know—but to the people of Israel.

⁶ As I say, I'm not sending you to those whose language is foreign to you, to people that you don't know, whose words you don't understand. On the other hand, if I had sent you to foreigners, they would have listened to you.

⁷ But the people of Israel won't want to listen to you, because they don't want to listen to me. All the Israelites are strong-minded* and hard-hearted.

⁸ Look! I'm going to make you as tough as them, and as strong-minded as them.†

⁹ I will make your mind like adamant,‡ harder than flint. Don't be afraid of what they say or discouraged by the way they look at you, even though they are a rebellious people."

¹⁰ "Son of man," he added, "pay close attention to everything I tell you, and think deeply about it yourself.

¹¹ Go to your people who are in exile. Tell them this is what the Lord God says, whether they listen or not."

¹² The Spirit lifted me up, and I heard a really loud noise behind me that sounded like an earthquake. (Praise to the Lord's glory where he lives!)

¹³ It was the sound made by the wings of the beings as they brushed against each other and the noise made by the wheels next to them, a really loud noise that sounded like an earthquake.

* 3:7 "Strong-minded": literally, "have hard foreheads." † 3:8 Ezekiel's name means "God strengthens." ‡ 3:9 "Adamant": the word used here is often translated "diamond," but it is not thought that diamonds were known at this time.

¹⁴ As I said, the Spirit lifted me up and carried me away. As I went I was feeling upset and angry; however the Lord's power had taken full control of me.

¹⁵ I arrived at the place where the exiles lived, Tel-abib by the River Kebar. I just sat with them, staying with them there for seven days. I was completely overcome with emotion.

¹⁶ After the seven days had passed, a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

¹⁷ "Son of man, I have chosen you as a watchman for the people of Israel. Whenever I give you a message, then you must warn them for me.

¹⁸ For example, if I give a warning to someone who's wicked, saying, 'You are going to die for sure,' but you don't warn them, if you don't speak out to warn them to stop their wicked ways so they can go on living, then that wicked person will die in their sins, and I will hold you responsible for their death.

¹⁹ But if you warn them, and they don't stop their wicked ways, they will die in their sins, but you will have saved yourself—you won't die.

²⁰ Again, if someone who lives right stops doing so and sins and disregards my attempts to correct them,[§] then they will die. If you didn't warn them, they will die in their sins, and the good things they did won't be remembered. In addition, I will hold you responsible for their death.

²¹ However, if you warn those who are living right not to sin, and they don't sin, they will live for sure, because they paid attention to your warning, and you will have saved yourself—you won't die."

²² The Lord's power took control of me there, and he told me, "Get up! Go to the valley, and I will talk to you there."

²³ So I got up and went to the valley, and there I saw the Lord's glory. It was like the glory I had seen by the River Kebar. I fell facedown on the ground.

²⁴ Then the Spirit came into me and made me stand upright. He told me, "Go into your house and shut the door.

²⁵ You will be tied up with ropes, son of man. You will be bound so that won't be able to go out among the people.

²⁶ I'll make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth. You won't be able to speak and complain to them, even though they are a rebellious people.

²⁷ However, when I talk with you, I will open your mouth so you can tell them that this is what the Lord God says. Those who want to listen will listen, and those who want to refuse will refuse, for they are a rebellious people."

4

² Show that it's under siege: establish a siege perimeter all around it,* build a siege ramp against it, set up the enemy camps beside it, and put battering rams on all sides around it.

[§] 3:20 "My attempts to correct them": literally, "I place stumbling blocks before him." ^{*} 4:2 This was to prevent the inhabitants escaping.

³ Put an iron plate between yourself and the city so it's like an iron wall. Face the city and demonstrate that it's under siege, and that you are the one attacking it. This is a symbolic warning to the people of Israel.

⁴ Then lie on your left side and take the Israelites' sins on yourself. You will carry their sins for the number of days you lie on your side.

⁵ I will make you stay there for 390 days, representing the number of years of their sins. You will bear the sins of the Israelites.

⁶ Once you have finished doing this for these days, then you are to lie down again, but this time on your right side, and carry the sins of the people of Judah. I will make you stay there for 40 days, one day for every year.

⁸ Be ready, because now I'm going to tie you up with ropes so you can't move from side to side until the days of your siege are over.

¹⁰ You are allowed to eat twenty shekels weight[†] of food each day, and you are to eat it at regular times.

¹¹ Measure out a sixth of a hin[‡] of water to drink, and you are to drink it at regular times.

¹² You are to eat the bread as you would a barley loaf. You are to bake it over a fire burning dried human excrement as everyone watches."

¹³ Then the Lord said, "This is the way the Israelites will eat their unclean bread among the nations where I'll exile them."

¹⁴ "Please no, Lord God!" I answered. "I have never made myself unclean. I haven't eaten anything found dead or killed by wild animals from the time I was young until now. I've never put unclean meat in my mouth."

¹⁵ "All right," he said. "I'll let you use cow manure instead of human excrement. You can bake your bread over a fire using that."

¹⁶ Then he went on, "Son of man, watch! I am going to put a stop to Jerusalem's food supply. Worried sick, they will eat bread rationed by weight. Despairing at what's happening, they will drink water measured in small amounts.

¹⁷ Running out of food and water, they will be horrified as they look at one another wasting away because of their sins."

5

¹ "Son of man, go and shave your head and your beard using a sharp sword like a barber's razor. Then divide up the hair using a set of scales.

² Once the days of the siege have finished, burn up one third of the hair inside the city;* slash at another third with a sword around the city; and scatter another third in the wind. I will let loose a sword behind them to chase them.

[†] 4:10 "Twenty shekels weight": around eight ounces, a very small ration to symbolize the lack of food during the siege, [‡] 4:11 "Sixth of a hin": around a pint and a half. * 5:2 Referring to the pictorial representation of Jerusalem that Ezekiel had drawn on the brick.

⁴ Take some of these and toss them into the fire to burn them. A fire will spread from there to burn everyone in Israel.

⁶ But she rebelled against my rules, acting more wickedly than the nations, and she defied my regulations more than the countries surrounding her. Her people rejected my rules and refused to follow my regulations.

⁷ Consequently this is what the Lord God says: You have caused more trouble[†] than the nations around you. You refused to follow my rules and keep my regulations. In fact you didn't even live up to the standards of the nations surrounding you.

⁸ So this is what the Lord God says: Watch out, because it's me who is condemning you, Jerusalem! I'm going to carry out my sentence against you while the other nations watch.

¹⁰ In your city parents will eat their own children, and children will eat their parents. I'm going to punish you and scatter in every directions those who are left.

¹¹ As I live, declares the Lord God, because you have made my sanctuary unclean with all your offensive idols and disgusting practices, I will stop treating you well. I won't be kind to you—I won't show you any pity.

¹² A third of your people will die from disease or starvation inside the city; a third will be killed by the sword outside the city walls; and a third I will scatter in the wind in all directions, and let loose a sword behind them to chase them.

¹³ Once my anger is over and I've finished punishing them, then I'll be satisfied. When I've finished punishing them, then they'll know that I, the Lord, meant what I said when I spoke so strongly.

¹⁴ I'm going to ruin you and humiliate you in front of the nations surrounding you, in the sight of every passer-by.

¹⁵ You will be criticized and mocked, you'll be a warning and something horrifying to the surrounding nations when I carry out my sentence against you in my rage and furious anger. I the Lord have spoken.

¹⁶ When I pour down on you deadly arrows of famine and destruction they're intended to kill you. I will make your famine worse by stopping your food supply.

¹⁷ I will send famine and wild animals to attack you. You'll have no children left. Disease and killing will sweep over you, and I will bring armies to attack you. I the Lord have spoken."

6

¹ A message from the Lord came to me that said,

³ Tell them: Mountains of Israel, listen to the message from the Lord God! This is what the Lord God says to the mountains and the hills, to the gorges and the valleys: I'm going to attack you and destroy your high places.

⁴ Your pagan altars will be torn down, and your incense altars will be smashed to pieces. I will kill your idol worshipers right in front of their idols.

⁵ I will put the dead bodies of you Israelites in front of your idols and scatter your bones around your altars.

⁶ Everywhere you live, the towns will be turned into rubble and the high places torn down. Your altars will be demolished and defiled. Your idols will be smashed and completely destroyed. Your incense altars will be knocked down, and all that you made will be ruined.

⁷ People will be killed all throughout your country. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

⁸ However, I will let some of you survive and scatter you among the different nations and countries.

⁹ Once they are there as prisoners in the nations, then the survivors will remember me. They will realize how sad they made me by their spiritual adultery as they deserted me with their eyes full of lust as they worshiped idols. They will hate themselves for the evil things they did, for all their disgusting sins.

¹⁰ Then they will know that I am the Lord, and that I was not pretending when I warned them about bringing this disaster upon them.

¹³ Then you will know that I am the Lord—when the idol worshipers lie dead among their idols and altars on the top of every hill and mountain, and under every green tree and large oak. These were the pagan shrines where they offered sweet-smelling incense to all their idols.

¹⁴ I'm going to lift up my hand to punish them. In every place they live I will make their country a wasteland, all the way from the desert in the south to Diblah in the north.* Then they will know that I am the Lord."

7

² "Son of man, this is what the Lord God says to the people living in Israel:

The end is here! The end has arrived throughout the country.

³ Now is the end for you! I'm going to direct my anger against you. I'm judging you for your actions and will pay you back for the offensive things you've done.

⁴ I won't have any pity for you, or show you any mercy. I'm going to punish you for what you've done, for your disgusting sins. Then you'll know that I am the Lord.

* 6:14 "In the south... in the north": supplied for clarity.

⁶ The end is here! The end has come, and it's coming for you! Watch out! This is the end!

⁷ You people living in the land, the consequences of your actions have come full circle.* The time has come, the day is near— shouts of panic on the mountains and not shouts of joy.

⁸ Very shortly I'm going to show you how angry I am with you. I will judge you by what you have done, and punish you for all your disgusting sins.

⁹ I won't have any pity for you or show you any mercy. I'm going to punish you for what you've done, for your disgusting sins. Then you will know that it is I, the Lord, who is attacking you.

¹⁰ Can't you see? The day is here! It has arrived! The consequences of your actions have come full circle—the walking stick has blossomed, pride has come into full bloom.

¹¹ Their way of violence has turned into a rod to punish them for their wickedness. None of them will survive—none of that whole crowd, and none of their wealth or honor.

¹² The time has come; the day is here! Buyers, don't celebrate thinking you'll get a good deal; sellers, don't cry thinking you're going to make a loss—because punishment is coming to everyone.

¹³ Sellers won't ever get back the purchase price while they're still alive. I'm not going to change the plan I have revealed that applies to everyone. People who go on sinning won't survive.

¹⁴ Even though the trumpet call to arms has sounded, even though all the preparations have been made, no one is ready to fight, because I am angry with everyone.

¹⁵ Outside the city are armed attacks; inside are disease and starvation. Those in the countryside will be killed by the sword, and those in the city will be destroyed by starvation and disease.

¹⁶ Those who do survive will escape and go to live in the mountains. They will sigh like the doves of the valley, each person thinking about their own sins.

¹⁷ Every hand will go limp, and every knee will go weak.

¹⁸ They will put on clothes made of sackcloth, and they will be totally terrified. They will all be ashamed and shave their heads in mourning.

²⁰ They were so proud of their beautiful jewelry that they used it to make their disgusting images and decorate their offensive idols.†

So I'm going to turn these idols into unclean things for them.

* ^{7:7} "Full circle": the meaning of the word used here is uncertain. It seems to have the root meaning of "twist." It is sometimes translated as "doom," but this is conjecture based on context. Also found in verse 10. † ^{7:20} It may be that the people took the valuable objects and jewels from the Lord's Temple to decorate their pagan shrines.

²¹ I'm going to hand these things over as plunder to foreigners and as loot to the wicked people of the earth, who will make them unclean.

²² I will look away as they make my precious place unclean. Men of violence will enter and make it unclean.†

²³ Get the chains ready,§ because the country is full of blood being spilled by violent crimes, and the city itself is full of violence.

²⁴ So I'm going to bring the most evil of all the nations to take over their houses. I will put an end to the pride of the powerful, and their holy places will be made unclean.

²⁵ Absolutely terrified, the people will look for peace, but won't find it.

²⁶ Disaster after disaster will come down on them, and rumor after rumor. They will ask for a vision from a prophet, but there won't be any, and there won't be any instructions from the priests or advice from the elders either.

²⁷ The king will mourn, the prince will be devastated, and no one in the country will know what to do. I will do to them as they have done to others; I will judge them as they have judged others. Then they will know that I am the Lord."

8

¹ On the fifth day of the sixth month of the sixth year, I was sitting in my house with the elders of Judah and the power of the Lord God came over me there.

² I looked around and saw a being that looked like a man.* From what seemed to be his waist downwards, he looked like fire. From what seemed to his waist upwards, he looked like brightly glowing metal.

³ He reached out what seemed to be a hand and picked me up by my hair. The Spirit took me up into the sky, and in the vision God was giving me he carried me to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the north gate of the Temple's inner courtyard, where the offensive idol that made God angry had been placed.

⁴ I saw the glory of the God of Israel there, just like I had in the vision I'd seen in the valley.

So I looked to the north, and in the entrance to the north of the Altar Gate I saw this idol that angered God.

⁶ "Son of man," he said to me, "can you see what they are doing? Look at the disgusting sins the people of Israel are committing that are driving me far away from my sanctuary? But you're going to see even more disgusting sins than these!"

⁷ He took me to the entrance to the Temple courtyard. As I looked around, I saw a hole in the wall.

⁸ "Son of man," he told me, "pull the wall apart."

So I pulled the wall apart and found a doorway.

⁹ He told me, "Go through the wall and see the evil and disgusting things they are doing in here."

† 7:22 This applies to the Temple, and on a wider scale, to the whole country. § 7:23 Chains to bind the people as prisoners. * 8:2 "Man": Septuagint reading. Hebrew "fire."

¹¹ Seventy elders of the house of Israel were standing in front of them, including Jaazaniah son of Shaphan. They all were holding censers, producing a sweet-smelling cloud of incense that rose above them.[†]

¹² "Son of man," he said to me, "can you see what the elders of the people of Israel are doing here in the dark, with each one worshipping in the shrine room of his own idol? This is what they're saying: 'The Lord can't see what we're doing; besides the Lord has abandoned our country!'"

¹³ The Lord went on to tell me, "You're going to see them doing even more disgusting things than these!"

¹⁵ "Son of man," he said to me, "have you seen this? But you're going to see even more disgusting things than these!"

¹⁶ He took me to the inner courtyard of the Lord's Temple and right there at the entrance to the Temple, between the porch and the altar, were around twenty-five men. They had their backs to the Temple, and were facing towards the east. They were bowing in worship of the sun rising in the east.

¹⁷ "Son of man," he said to me, "have you seen this? The people of Judah aren't content just to do these disgusting things. They also commit violent crimes across the country and keep on making me angry. Look at how they're deliberately insulting me![‡]

¹⁸ As a result I will respond in anger. I won't treat them kindly; I won't be merciful to them. Even though they shout loudly for my help, I won't listen to them."

¹ Then I heard him shout out with a loud voice, "Start the attack, you who are in charge of punishing Jerusalem! Pick up your weapons!"

² I watched as six men approached from the upper gate that faces north. All of them were carrying battle axes.* There was another man with them. He was dressed in linen and had a scribe's writing kit at his side. They entered and stood next to the bronze altar.

³ The glory of the God of Israel rose from its usual place on the cherubim and went over to the Temple entrance. The Lord called out to the man dressed in linen with the writing kit,

⁴ "Go through the whole the city of Jerusalem and place a mark on the foreheads of those who sighing and mourning at all the disgusting sins that are done there."

⁵ Then I heard him tell the others, "Follow him all through the city and start killing people. Don't be kind or merciful to anyone!"

⁶ Kill the old men, the young men and girls, the women and children, but do not go anywhere near those who have the mark. Start at my sanctuary."

So they started by killing the elders who were in front of the Temple.

⁷ Then he told them, "Make the Temple unclean and fill the courtyards with dead bodies. Go ahead and do it!"

So they went and started killing all through the city.

[†] 8:11 This indicates that they all were officiating as priests of these pagan gods. [‡] 8:17 Literally, "they put the branch to their nose." * 9:2 "Battle axes": literally, "weapons of shattering."

⁸ While they were busy killing people, I was left by myself. I fell facedown to the ground and cried out, "Lord God, when you pour out your anger on Jerusalem, are you going to destroy everyone who's left in Israel?"

⁹ "The sins of the people of Israel and Judah are really terrible," he replied. "The whole country is full of murderers, and those living in the city are criminals. They're saying, 'The Lord has given up on our country. He can't see what we're doing.'"

¹⁰ But I certainly won't be kind to them or have mercy on them. I will make sure they suffer the consequences of what they've done."

¹¹ Then the man in linen with the writing kit returned and reported, "I've done what you told me to do."

² Speaking from there the Lord told the man in linen, "Go in between the wheels underneath the cherubim. Collect as many burning coals as you can. Carry them from among the cherubim and scatter them all over the city." I watched as he went in.

⁵ The noise made by the cherubim's wings could even be heard in the outer courtyard, and sounded like the voice of God Almighty.

⁶ When the Lord ordered the man in linen, "Go and get some fire from in between the wheels, from among the cherubim," the man went in and stood beside one of the wheels.

⁸ (All the cherubim had what looked like human hands under their wings.)

⁹ I saw four wheels next to the cherubim, one wheel beside each cherub. The wheels shone like topaz.

¹⁰ All four wheels looked the same, and had a wheel within a wheel, set crossways.

¹¹ The cherubim could go in any direction they faced, moving without turning.

¹³ I heard the wheels being referred to as "the chariot wheels."[†]

¹⁵ Then the cherubim rose up in the air. They were the beings I'd seen beside the River Kebar.

* 10:1 See 1:26. † 10:13 This second reference to a wheel is normally used to refer to a chariot wheel. In this sense it is applicable, for the structure referred to is essentially the Lord's "chariot."

¹⁶ When the cherubim moved, the wheels moved alongside them. Even when they opened their wings to take off, the wheels stayed beside them.

¹⁹ As I watched, the cherubim lifted their wings and took off, with the wheels alongside them. They stopped at the entrance of the east gate of the Lord's Temple, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them.

²¹ Each had four faces and four wings and had what looked like human hands under their wings.

²² Their faces looked like the faces I had seen by the River Kebar. Each of them moved directly ahead.

¹ Then the Spirit picked me up and took me to the eastern entrance of the Lord's Temple. Twenty-five men were gathered there at the entrance. I recognized among them Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, leaders of the people.

² The Lord told me, "Son of man, it's these men who are making evil plans and giving bad advice to the people in this city.

³ They're saying, 'Is this the time for us to be building houses? The city is the cooking pot, and we are the meat inside it.'*

⁵ The Spirit of the Lord came upon me and told me to say: This is what the Lord says: "People of Israel, that's what you're saying! I know what you're thinking inside!

⁶ You murder more and more people in this city. You've filled its streets with the dead!

⁷ So this is what the Lord God says: Those you've killed in this city are the meat, and the city is the pot; but I'm going to take you out of it.

⁹ I'm going to take you out of the city and hand you over to foreigners, and I'm going to carry out my sentence against you.

¹⁰ You will be killed by the sword, and I will punish you right up to the borders of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

¹¹ The city won't be like a pot for you, and you won't be the meat inside it either. I will punish you right up to the borders of Israel.

* 11:3 The meaning of this verse is unclear. Literally it is, "not near to build houses. It (the city) the cooking pot, we the meat." It may be that the first part is a negative reaction to Jeremiah's advice to build houses for an extended exile in Babylon (Jeremiah 29:5). Alternatively, some interpret the phrase to mean that soon it will be time to build houses in Jerusalem again—in other words the crisis will pass. As for the cooking pot analogy, some believe it may suggest that the people (the "meat") are safe in Jerusalem (the "pot"). Others see this as an expression of fear, of becoming like meat being boiled in a pot.

¹² Then you will know that I am the Lord. For you didn't follow my rules and you didn't keep my laws. Instead you kept the laws of the nations around you."

¹³ While I was prophesying, Pelatiah son of Benaiah died. I fell facedown on the ground and shouted loudly, "Lord God, are you going to completely destroy what's left of the people of Israel?"

¹⁴ A message from Lord came to me, saying,

¹⁵ "Son of man, your brothers, including your relatives, your fellow exiles, and all the other Israelites, are those the people of Jerusalem were referring to when they said, 'They are far away from the Lord. This country was given to us and we are to own it.'"

¹⁶ So tell them that this is what the Lord God says: Even though I sent them far away to live among the foreign nations, scattering them among the different countries, I have been taking care of them for a while in the countries where they went.

¹⁷ Tell them that this is what the Lord God says: I'm going to gather you from the other nations and bring you back from the countries where you've been scattered, and I will return the country of Israel to you.

¹⁸ When they come back, they are going to get rid of all its offensive idols and disgusting practices from the country.

¹⁹ I will give them single-minded commitment and a whole new spirit. I will take away their hard-hearted attitude and replace it with one that is loving.

²⁰ This way they can follow my rules, keep my regulations, and do what I say. They will be my people, and I will be their God.

²¹ But for those who still choose to worship offensive idols and engage in disgusting practices, I will let them experience the consequences of their own actions, declares the Lord God."

²² Then the cherubim opened their wings and took off, with the wheels alongside them, and with the glory of the God of Israel above them.

²³ The glory of the Lord rose from inside the city and went over to the mountain to the east of the city.

²⁴ In the vision given to me by the Spirit of God, the Spirit picked me up and carried me back to Babylonia to where the exiles were. After the vision left me, ²⁵ I explained to the exiles everything the Lord had shown me.

² "Son of man, you are living among rebellious people. They have eyes to see but they don't see, and ears to hear but they don't hear, because they are rebellious people.

³ So, son of man, go and pack your bags as if you're going into exile. As people watch, get everything ready during the day so you can leave where you are and go somewhere else. Maybe they will realize what this means, even though they are rebellious people.

† 11:15 It seems that the people of Jerusalem were suggesting that not only were the exiles in Babylon far away from the Lord in terms of distance, but also in their relationship with him. They also seem to be suggesting that the exiles had broken their agreement with God because they were no longer permanently occupying and owning the country of Israel.

⁴ Take your bags out for traveling into exile during the day while they watch. But you yourself are to leave in the evening as they watch, just like someone going into exile.

⁶ When it gets dark, as they continue to watch, put your bags on your shoulder and carry them as you leave. Cover your face so that you can't see the country you're leaving behind, because I'm providing you as a sign to warn the people of Israel."

⁷ So I did as I was told. I took my bags out to go into exile during the day, and in the evening I knocked down part of the wall of my house with my bare hands. I took my belongings out when it got dark, carrying them on my shoulder while they watched.

⁹ "Son of man, haven't those rebellious Israelites asked you, 'What are you doing?'

¹⁰ Tell them that this is what the Lord God says: 'This prophetic sign* concerns the prince who is ruling in Jerusalem and all the people of Israel who are living there.'

¹¹ You are to say to them, 'I'm a sign to you.' Just as it was demonstrated here, so it will happen to them—they will go into exile as prisoners.

¹² When it gets dark, their prince will also put his bags on his shoulder and leave. They will knock down the wall to take him away. He will cover his face so he can't see the country he's leaving behind.

¹³ But I will catch him in my net; I will trap him in my snare. I will take him to Babylon in the country of Babylonia. However, won't see it, and he'll die there.

¹⁵ They will know that I am the Lord when I scatter them among the different nations and countries.

¹⁶ But I will let a few of them survive war, famine, and disease so that they can tell the nations where they're exiled about all their disgusting sins. Then they will know that I am the Lord."

¹⁸ "Son of man, tremble as you eat your bread; shake with worry as you drink your water.

¹⁹ Then explain to the people of this country that this is what the Lord God says to those living in Jerusalem and in the country of Israel: They will be worried as eat their bread and they will be in despair as they drink their water, for their land will be stripped bare because of the violent crimes committed by everyone who lives there.

²⁰ The towns will be destroyed, and the countryside turned into a wasteland. Then you will know that I am the Lord."

²¹ Another message from the Lord came to me, saying,

²² "Son of man, what's this proverb you people have in the land of Israel: 'Time goes by, and no vision comes true'?

* 12:10 "Prophetic sign": literally, "burden," a common way the people referred to a message from the Lord. See for example Jeremiah 23:33.

²³ So tell them that this is what the Lord God says: 'I will put a stop to this proverb. No one in Israel will quote it anymore.'

Instead tell them: The time is soon coming when every vision will come true.

²⁴ There won't be any more false visions or fake prophecies among the Israelites,

²⁵ because I, the Lord, will say whatever I choose to say, and it will happen immediately. Right now, you rebellious people, I will say something and make sure it happens, declares the Lord God."

²⁶ An additional message from the Lord came to me, saying,

²⁷ "Son of man, notice what the people of Israel are saying, 'The vision that he's describing won't happen for a long time. He's prophesying about a time in the distant future.'

²⁸ So tell them that this is what the Lord God says: Everything I've said is about to happen. There won't be any more delay, declares the Lord God."

² "Son of man, you are to prophesy against the prophets of Israel who right now are busy prophesying. Tell those who make up their own prophecies: Listen to the word of the Lord!

⁵ They didn't go and help repair the gaps in the wall that defends the people of Israel so that it would stand secure during the battle on the Day of the Lord.

⁸ So this is what the Lord God says: Since you've spoken lies and claimed to see false visions, then watch out, because I'm against you, declares the Lord God.

⁹ I will punish the prophets who see false visions and give prophecies that are lies. They will not belong to the assembly of my people or be listed in the register of Israelites, and they won't be allowed to enter the country of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Lord God.

¹⁰ They have deceived my people by saying, 'We shall have peace,' when there won't be any peace. It's like they're putting a coat of whitewash on an unstable wall of loose stones that the people have built.

¹¹ So tell those people whitewashing the wall that it's going to collapse. Rain will come pouring down. I will send hailstones crashing down on it. A windstorm will blow hard against it.

¹³ So this is what the Lord God says: In my furious anger I'm going to send a windstorm, pouring rain, and hailstones to destroy the wall.

¹⁴ I will demolish the wall you whitewashed, knocking it to the ground to reveal its foundations. The city is going to fall, and you're going to be destroyed with it. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

¹⁵ Once the wall and those who whitewashed it have experienced my anger, I will tell you: The wall is no more, and those who whitewashed it are no more,

¹⁶ those 'prophets' of Israel who prophesied to Jerusalem and claimed to have seen a vision of peace for her when there wasn't going to be any peace, declares the Lord God.

¹⁷ Now, son of man, you are to oppose those Israelite women who make up prophecies in their own minds. Prophecy against them

¹⁸ and tell them that this is what the Lord God says: Disaster is coming to the women who sew bracelets of magic charms for their wrists and make veils for all kinds of people to wear as ways to trap and exploit them. Do you think you can trap the lives of my people yet still keep your own?

¹⁹ You have disgraced me among my people for a few handfuls of barley and scraps of bread. By lying to my people who believe in you, you have killed those who shouldn't have died and let others live who shouldn't.

²⁰ So this is what the Lord God says: Watch out! I condemn the magic charms you use to trap people like birds, and I will rip them off your arms. I will set free those you have trapped.

²¹ I will also rip off your veils and rescue my people from your power, so that they will no longer be your victims. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

²² Because you have discouraged good people with your lies, even though I didn't have anything against them, and because you have encouraged the wicked that they shouldn't give up from their evil ways to save their lives,

²³ from now on you won't claim these false visions or practice magic. I will rescue my people from your power. Then you will know that I am the Lord."

² A message from the Lord came to me, saying,

³ "Son of man, these men are worshiping idols in their minds even though they know this will lead them to sin. Why should I respond to their requests?

⁴ So tell them that this is what the Lord God says: When the people of Israel worship idols in their minds that will lead them to sin, and then come to consult the prophet, I the Lord will give them an answer appropriate to their many idols.

⁵ Like this I might have the people of Israel decide to recommit themselves to me. Right now, because of their idols, all of them treat me as their enemy.

⁷ When the people of Israel or foreigners living with them worship idols in their minds that will lead them to sin and then come to consult the prophet, I the Lord will answer them myself.

⁸ I will oppose anyone who does this and make any example of them that others will talk about. I will remove them from among my people. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

⁹ But if the prophet is deceived into giving a message, it was I the Lord who deceived him to do this. I will still reach out and destroy that prophet from my people Israel.

¹⁰ They will be responsible for the punishment they receive, as will those who believe in these prophets will receive the same punishment.

¹¹ This is so that the people of Israel won't abandon me anymore and won't make themselves unclean with all their sins. Then they will be my people and I will be their God, declares the Lord God."

¹³ "Son of man, if a people in a country sin against me by being unfaithful to me, then I will act against them by cutting off their food supply, so they experience famine, with no food for people or animals.

¹⁴ Even if Noah, Daniel, and Job, these three men, were present their good lives would only save themselves, declares the Lord God.

¹⁵ I could send wild animals rampaging through the country, so they would leave it uninhabited and desolate, a place no one would travel through for fear of such animals.

¹⁷ I could bring war to that country and say, 'Have a sword cut through it,' so that I destroy both people and animals.

¹⁸ As I live, declares the Lord God, even if these three men were present, they couldn't save their own sons or daughters. They would only save themselves.

¹⁹ I could send a disease on that country and because of my anger I would kill many, both people and animals.

²⁰ As I live, declares the Lord God, even if Noah, Daniel, and Job were present, they couldn't save their sons or daughters. Their good lives would only save themselves.

²¹ This is what the Lord God says: It will be so much worse when I send my four severe judgments against Jerusalem—war, famine, wild animals, and disease, so that both people and animals are killed!

²² Even so a few of them will survive, some sons and daughters who will be taken captive. They will be brought to you in Babylon,* and when you realize what they did and how they acted, you will understand why I had to bring such a disaster down on Jerusalem—everything I did to it.

²³ Realizing what they did and how they acted will help you to see that I had good reasons to do everything I did to Jerusalem, declares the Lord God."

² "Son of man, is wood from a vine better than the wood from any other tree in the forest?

³ Can you make anything useful from vine wood? Can you use it to make even just a peg to hang up pots and pans?

* 14:22 "In Babylon": supplied for clarity.

⁴ No, you just throw it on the fire to keep the fire burning. Even then the fire burns both ends, but only chars the middle part. Can you use it for anything?

⁵ Even before you burned it you couldn't make it into anything useful. It's even less useful once the fire has burned and charred it!

⁶ So this is what the Lord God says: In the same way that I have taken the wood of a vine from the forest and thrown it on the fire to be burned, so I'm going to throw away the people of Jerusalem.

⁷ I will turn against them. While they might have escaped this fire, another fire is going to burn them up. When I turn against them, then you will know that I am the Lord.

⁸ I'm going to turn the country into a wasteland, because they were unfaithful to me, declares the Lord God."

³ Tell Jerusalem that this is what the Lord God says to her: You really are a Canaanite, both by your birth and parentage. Your father was an Amorite, and your mother was a Hittite.

⁴ On the day you were born your cord was not cut, and you weren't washed to clean you up, you weren't rubbed with salt, and you weren't wrapped in cloths.

⁵ No one looked on you with love to do anything like this for you; no one showed any kind of care for you. No, you were thrown away in a field, abandoned and despised from the day you were born.

⁶ But I passed by and saw you kicking, covered in your own blood. As you were lying there in your blood I told you, 'I want you to live!' I said to you right there, 'I want you to live!'

⁷ I help you to grow like a plant in the field. You grew up into a beautiful young woman. Your breasts developed and your body hair grew, and you were completely naked.

⁸ When I passed by again, I looked at you and saw that you were old enough for lovemaking. So I spread my robe over you* and covered up your naked body. I committed myself to you and made a solemn agreement with you, and made you mine, declares the Lord God.

⁹ Then I washed you with water, cleaned off your blood, and anointed you with oil.

¹⁰ I put a beautifully embroidered dress on you and gave you fine leather sandals. I clothed you in fine linen and covered you with silk.

¹¹ I gave you jewelry—I put bracelets on your wrists and a necklace around your neck.

¹² I put a ring in your nose and earrings on your ears, and placed a beautiful crown on your head.

¹³ You wore gold and silver jewelry, and your clothes were made of the finest linen, expensive fabric, and embroidered cloth. You ate bread made with the best flour, and honey and olive oil. You grew even more beautiful and became a queen.

* 16:8 A symbolic declaration of an intent to marry.

¹⁴ You were famous around the world because of your beauty, for I used my majestic power to make you so wonderful, declares the Lord God.

¹⁵ You were so proud of your beauty that you were unfaithful to me. You thought that because you were so famous you could prostitute yourself and sleep with anyone who passed by. They took your beautiful body for themselves.

¹⁶ You made yourself colorful pagan shrines out of the clothes I'd given you, and there you acted as a prostitute. Things like this have never happened before, and they should never happen in the future!

¹⁸ You used your embroidered clothes to dress them, and you placed before them my olive oil and incense.

¹⁹ You presented the food I had given you as an offering for them to accept—bread made from the best flour, olive oil, and honey that I had provided for you to eat. That's exactly what you did, declares the Lord God.

²¹ You slaughtered my children, sacrificing them to idols.

²² While you were busy with all your disgusting practices and your prostitution, you forgot about the time when you were young, completely naked and lying there kicking in your own blood.

²³ Disaster is coming! Disaster is coming on you, declares the Lord God. As well as all the other evil things you did,

²⁴ you built yourself a pagan shrine, a high place of idol worship[†] on every public square in the city.

²⁶ You gave yourself as a prostitute to your Egyptian neighbors with their large sexual organs, making me angry as you became even more promiscuous.

²⁷ So I acted to reduce my blessings to you.[‡] I let your enemies the Philistines do what they wanted to you. Even they were embarrassed at your immorality.

³⁰ You're really sick-minded to do all this, acting like a prostitute with no shame, declares the Lord God.

³¹ Actually you weren't even a normal prostitute when you built yourselves pagan shrines at the top of every street and high places of idol worship on every public square—because you refused to be paid for your services!

[†] 16:24 "High place of idol worship": it seems that when constructed in towns these were high platforms where ritual sexual intercourse took place. The Septuagint translates this as "brothel house." [‡] 16:27 Literally, "your portion." This could refer to Israel's territory, or to its material possessions, including food.

³² You're a wife that loves adultery! You sleep with strangers instead of your husband!

³³ Normally all prostitutes are paid, but you were the one giving gifts to all your lovers. You even bribed them to come from all around and have sex with you.

³⁴ So you're the opposite of other prostitutes. No one comes to you asking for sex, and you pay the prostitute's fee instead of receiving it. You're the exact opposite!

³⁵ So, you prostitute, listen to the message from the Lord!

³⁶ This is what the Lord God says: Because you were so crazy with desire you stripped yourself naked and committed adultery with your lovers and with all your disgusting idols, and because you killed your children as sacrifices to those idols,

³⁷ I'm going to bring together all the lovers you went to bed with, whether you loved them or hated them, and I will have them gather from everywhere around and I will strip you as they watch so they will see you totally naked.

³⁸ I will impose on you the punishment for women who commit adultery and those who murder; you will be punished in passionate anger.

³⁹ Then I will hand you over to your lovers, and they will demolish your pagan shrines and destroy your high places of idol worship.

They will strip you of your clothes, remove your beautiful jewelry, and leave you stark naked.

⁴⁰ They will come with a mob to attack you. They will stone you and chop you into pieces with their swords.

⁴¹ They will burn down your houses and punish you while many women watch.

I will stop your prostitution, and you won't ever pay your lovers again.

⁴² Then I will finish being jealous and furious with you. I will calm down and won't be angry any more.

⁴³ Since you didn't remember how I looked after you[§] when you were young, but made me angry with all the things that you did, I will make sure you experience the results of what you've done, declares the Lord God. For this immorality was in addition to all the other disgusting things you did, wasn't it?

⁴⁴ Everyone who likes to use proverbs will quote this one about you:

'Like mother, like daughter.'

⁴⁵ You are the daughter of your mother who detested her husband and children. You are just like her! You are the sister of your sisters, just like them who detested their husbands and children. In fact your mother was a Hittite and your father was an Amorite.

⁴⁶ Your older sister was Samaria, who lived north of you with her daughters. Your younger sister was Sodom, who lived south of you with her daughters.

⁴⁷ You didn't just follow their ways and do the same disgusting things they did, you very quickly became even worse than them.

§ 16:43 "How I looked after you": supplied for clarity.

⁴⁸ As I live, declares the Lord God, your sister Sodom and her daughters didn't ever do what you and your daughters have done.

⁴⁹ The sins of your sister Sodom were these: She and her daughters were proud, greedy, and lazy. They didn't help the poor and those in need.

⁵⁰ They became arrogant and did disgusting things in my presence. So I got rid of them when I saw this.

⁵¹ Samaria didn't sin half as badly as you did. You have done far more disgusting things than they did. In fact, all the revolting things you've done make your sisters look good!

⁵² Now you're going to have to put up with your shame, since by your disgraceful sins you made them seem far better. Compared to you they look good! Now you too have to put up with your shame and disgrace because you've made your sisters look as if they were good.

⁵³ Even so I'm going to bring Sodom and her daughters back from exile,* and Samaria and her daughters too. I will bring you back together with them.

⁵⁴ In this way you will have to put up with your disgrace and be ashamed of all the bad things you did that made them feel better about themselves.

⁵⁶ Didn't you mock your sister Sodom when you were feeling proud,

⁵⁸ You will have to experience the consequences of your immorality and your disgusting practices, declares the Lord.

⁵⁹ This is what the Lord God says: I'm going to punish you according to your sins, because you treated the promise you made with contempt by breaking the agreement.

⁶⁰ But I won't forget the agreement I made with you when you were young, and I will make an everlasting agreement with you.

⁶¹ Then you will remember the way you are meant to live and be ashamed when you meet your older and younger sisters when they return to you. I will give them to you as daughters, even though this was not part of our original agreement.

⁶² This is how I will endorse my agreement with you, and you will know that I am the Lord,

⁶³ so that you will remember and be ashamed, and won't ever defend your disgraceful behavior when I forgive you for everything you've done, declares the Lord God."

² "Son of man, present this riddle—share it as a parable with the people of Israel.

³ Tell them that this is what the Lord God says:

* 16:53 This must be understood figuratively since actual Sodom was destroyed, not exiled.

† 16:57 "Edom": following the Septuagint, the Vulgate, and some Hebrew manuscripts. The Hebrew has "Aram." The two words vary by only one letter and are easily confused. See footnote to 2 Samuel 8:12 for example.

There was a great eagle that had large wings, long feathers, and multi-colored plumage. It came to Lebanon and took off the top of the cedar.

⁴ He broke off its highest branch and took it to a country of merchants, and planted it in a city of traders.

⁵ He took some of the seed of the land and planted it in good soil beside a large river where he could grow it like a willow.

⁷ But there was another great eagle that had large wings and many feathers. This vine sent out its roots toward him. It stretched out its branches to him from where it had been planted, wanting him to water it.

⁸ Yet it had been planted in good soil beside a large river so it could grow strong, produce fruit, and become a superb vine.

⁹ So you tell them this is what the Lord God says: 'Will it grow well? Won't it be uprooted and its fruit ripped off so that it withers? All its leaves will dry up. You wouldn't need strong arms or lots of people to pull it up by its roots.

¹⁰ Even if it's transplanted, is it going to survive? Won't it wither up completely when the east wind blows? In fact, it will wither right where it was planted."

¹¹ A message from the Lord came to me, saying,

¹² "Tell these rebellious people: 'Don't you know what this riddle means?'

Explain to them, 'Look, the king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, made its king and officials his prisoners, and took them back with him to Babylon.

¹³ He made an agreement with one of the royal family and made him take an oath that he would be a loyal subject as king.* Then he took into exile the country's leaders,

¹⁴ so that the kingdom would be kept in subjection and wouldn't be strong enough to rebel—it would only survive by keeping its agreement with him.

¹⁵ However, this king did rebel against Babylon, and sent ambassadors to Egypt to ask for help by supplying horses and many soldiers. Will he do well? Would someone who acts like this succeed? Could he break an agreement and not be punished?'

¹⁶ As I live, declares the Lord God, 'he is going to die in Babylon, in the country of the king who put him on the throne, whose oath he disregarded and whose agreement he broke.

¹⁷ Pharaoh with his powerful army of many soldiers won't help him in battle, when attack ramps are piled up and siege walls built and many people end up being killed.

¹⁸ He disregarded his oath by breaking the agreement. Because he shook hands as a sign of the promise he made, yet rebelled in this way, he won't go unpunished!'

¹⁹ So this is what the Lord God says: As I live, I will punish him for disregarding my oath† and for breaking my agreement.

* 17:13 "As king": supplied for clarity. † 17:19 "My oath": clearly the oath was made in the name of the Lord.

²⁰ I will throw my net over him and catch him; I will trap in my snare. I will take him to Babylon and sentence him to punishment there for his treason towards me.

²¹ All his best soldiers will be killed in battle, and those who do survive will be scattered in all directions. Then you will know that I, the Lord, have spoken.

²² This is what the Lord God says: I'm going to break off a branch from the high top of the cedar, and I will plant it on the top of a high mountain.

²³ I will plant it on Israel's high mountain so that it can grow branches, produce fruit and become a magnificent cedar. All kinds of birds will live in it, nesting in the shade of its branches.

²⁴ All the trees in the countryside will know that I am the Lord. I can bring down the tall and have the low tree grow tall. I can make the green tree dry up, and make the withered tree become green again. I, the Lord, have spoken, and I will do it."

² "What's this proverb you people are quoting about the country of Israel:

³ As I live, declares the Lord God, you won't quote this proverb in Israel any more.

⁴ Can't you see that everyone belongs to me? Whether parents or children, they are all mine. It's the person who sins who will die.

⁶ He doesn't go to the pagan shrines in the mountains to eat a religious meal, or worship Israel's idols. He doesn't have sex with someone else's wife or with a woman during her period.

⁷ He doesn't exploit anyone. He gives back what a debtor has given him as security. He doesn't rob others. He feeds the hungry and clothes the naked.

⁸ He doesn't lend with interest or make a profit from loans. He refuses to do wrong and makes sure he's truly fair in his decisions between people.

¹⁰ What if that man has a son who is a violent criminal, who kills and does do such evil things just listed

¹¹ even though the father doesn't act like that at all. The son goes to the pagan shrines in the mountains to eat a religious meal. He has sex with someone else's wife.

¹² He exploits the poor and those in need. He robs others, and he doesn't give back what a debtor has given him as security. He worships idols. He commits disgusting sins.

¹³ He lends with interest and makes a profit from loans. Is someone like this going to live? No, he won't! Because he has done all these offensive things, he will die for certain, and he will be responsible for his own death.

* 18:2 In other words, "it's not our fault this is happening to us; it's due to our forefathers' sins, not ours." See also Jeremiah 31:29.

¹⁴ Now what if this man has a son who sees all the sins his father has committed. He sees them but doesn't do the same.

¹⁵ He doesn't go to the pagan shrines in the mountains to eat a religious meal, or worship Israel's idols. He doesn't have sex with someone else's wife.

¹⁶ He doesn't exploit anyone. He doesn't demand security for a loan. He doesn't rob others. He feeds the hungry and clothes the naked.

¹⁷ He refuses to do wrong and does not charge interest or make a profit on loans. He keeps my regulations and follows my laws. A man like that won't die because of his father's sins, he will certainly live!

¹⁸ But his father will die for his own sins, because he exploited others, robbed his relatives, and did wrong to his own people.

¹⁹ You ask, 'Why shouldn't the son pay for his father's sins?' If the son has done what is fair and right, keeping all my laws, then he'll live, he won't be punished.[†]

²³ Do I like it when wicked people die? declares the Lord God. Of course not—I would be delighted if they stopped sinning and lived!

²⁴ But if someone who is living according to what's right stops and does wrong, doing the same offensive things as the wicked, will that person live? Of course not! In fact, all the good things they did previously will be forgotten. That person will die because of their betrayal of me and the sins they've committed.

People of Israel, listen to me! Is it what I'm doing that isn't right? Isn't it what you're doing that isn't right?

²⁶ If someone who lives according to what's right stops doing right and does wrong, they will die. They will die because of wrong things they've done.

²⁷ But if someone wicked stops doing wrong and does what is fair and right, they will save their life.

²⁸ Because they thought about it and gave up their wicked ways, they will certainly live—they won't die.

Are my ways unfair, people of Israel? Isn't it your ways that aren't fair?

³⁰ Consequently I'm going to judge you, people of Israel! I will judge each of you depending on what you've done, declares the Lord God. Repent and stop rebelling so that your sins won't bring you down.

³¹ Get rid of all your rebellious sins! Change your way of thinking and have a new spirit. Why do you want to die, people of Israel?

³² I don't like it when anybody dies, declares the Lord God. So repent so you can live!"

- ¹ Sing this funeral song for the princes of Israel
- ² with these words: "What was your mother? She was a lioness among the lions! She lay down in her place among the young lions and reared her cubs.
- ³ She raised one of her cubs, and he grew up to be young lion. Once he had learned how to tear up his prey, he started eating people.
- ⁴ But when the nations heard about him, he was caught in their trap. They used hooks to drag him away to Egypt.*
- ⁵ When she realized that the hope she had been waiting for was gone, she made another of her cubs into a young lion.
- ⁶ He went around with the other lions, and became strong. Once he had learned how to tear up his prey, he started eating people.
- ⁷ He tore down their fortresses[†] and destroyed their towns. All the people living in the country were appalled when they heard him roaring.
- ⁸ Then the people of the countries all around attacked him. They threw their net over him; he was caught in their trap.
- ⁹ They used hooks to put him in a cage and took him to the king of Babylon. They led him away and imprisoned him so his roar wasn't heard any more in Israel's mountains.[‡]
- ¹⁰ Your mother was like a vine planted in your vineyard at the waterside. It produced a lot of fruit and had many branches because it had plenty of water.
- ¹¹ Its branches were strong like rulers' scepters. It grew high above the tree canopy. People could see how tall and full of leaves it was.
- ¹² But it was uprooted in anger and thrown down on the ground. The east wind blew and dried up its fruit. Its strong branches were stripped of leaves and they withered. Then they were burned up in the fire.
- ¹³ Now the vine has been replanted in the desert, in a dry and waterless land.
- ¹⁴ A fire blazed out from its main trunk and burned up its fruit. None of its branches that were once like a ruler's scepter are strong any more." This is a funeral song and is to be used for mourning.

- ¹ On the tenth day of the fifth month of the seventh year, some of the elders of Israel came to ask advice from the Lord, and they sat down with me.
- ² Then a message from the Lord came to me, saying,
- ³ "Son of man, tell these elders of Israel that this is what the Lord God says: Have you come to ask my advice? As I live, I'm not going to answer you, declares the Lord God.
- ⁴ Are you going to condemn them—will you do that, son of man? Remind them about the disgusting things their forefathers did,
- ⁵ and then tell them that this is what the Lord God says: At the time I chose Israel, I held up my hand and made a solemn promise to Jacob's descendants and revealed myself to them when they were in Egypt. I held up my hand and told them, 'I am the Lord your God.'

* 19:4 Referring to Jehoahaz, also called Shallum. † 19:7 Following the reading in the Targums and Theodotion's Greek translation. The Hebrew text reads "widows." ‡ 19:9 Referring to Jehoichin.

⁶ I promised them on that day to lead them out of Egypt and take them to a country that I had chosen for them, a land flowing with milk and honey—better than any other country.

⁷ I told them: ‘All of you have to get rid of your disgusting pagan images. Don’t make yourselves unclean by worshiping the idols of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.’

⁸ But they rebelled against me and wouldn’t do what I told them. None of them got rid of their disgusting pagan images, and they didn’t give up worshiping the idols of Egypt. So I warned them that I would punish them in my anger there in Egypt.

⁹ But I did act* so I would not be misrepresented, so that I wouldn’t lose respect in the eyes of the other nations living near them who had seen me reveal myself to Israel by leading them out of Egypt.

¹⁰ So I led them out of Egypt and took them into the wilderness.

¹¹ There I gave them my laws and explained to them my regulations so that those who kept them would live.

¹² I also gave them my Sabbaths to be a sign between me and them, so that they would acknowledge that I am the Lord who makes them holy.

¹³ But the people of Israel rebelled against me in the desert, refusing to observe my laws and rejecting my regulations, even though they would have given them life. They violated my Sabbaths. So I warned them that I would punish them and wipe them out there in the desert.

¹⁴ But I still acted for them so I would not be misrepresented, so that I wouldn’t lose respect in the eyes of the other nations who had seen me lead Israel out of Egypt.

¹⁵ So I held up my hand and vowed to them in the desert that I wouldn’t take them into the land that I had given them, a land flowing with milk and honey—better than any other country—

¹⁷ Even so I was sorry for them and I didn’t destroy them; I didn’t wipe them out in the desert.

¹⁸ I told their children in the desert: ‘Don’t do what your fathers told you to do. Don’t follow their practices. Don’t make yourselves unclean by worshiping their idols.’

¹⁹ I am the Lord your God. Do what I tell you to do. Follow my regulations and make sure to practice them.

²⁰ Keep my Sabbaths holy so they may be a sign between me and you, so that you may acknowledge that I am the Lord your God.’

²¹ But their children also rebelled against me. They didn’t follow my laws and didn’t keep my regulations, even though they would have given them life. They violated my Sabbaths. So I warned them that I would punish them in my anger there in the desert.

²² But I held back and did what I did so I would not be misrepresented, so that I wouldn’t lose respect in the eyes of the other nations who had seen me lead Israel out of Egypt.

²³ However, I held up my hand and vowed to them in the desert that I was going to scatter them among the various countries of different nations.

* 20:9 “Act”: by leading the Israelites out of Egypt.

²⁶ I let them make themselves unclean by their offerings to idols, including their firstborn sons. I allowed this to happen so that they would be so appalled that they would acknowledge that I am the Lord.

²⁷ So, son of man, tell the people of Israel that this is what the Lord God says: You're acting in exactly the same way your forefathers insulted me by being unfaithful to me.

²⁸ After I led them into the land that I had promised to give them, on any high hill or under any leafy tree they saw there they offered their pagan sacrifices and presented offerings to idols that made me angry, burning their sweet-smelling incense and pouring out their drink offerings.

³⁰ Therefore tell the people of Israel that this is what the Lord God says: Are you going to make yourselves unclean like your forefathers, turning yourselves into prostitutes, acting the way they did with the same disgusting practices?

³¹ When you present your offerings to idols and sacrifice your children in the fire, you continue to make yourselves unclean with all your idols right up until now. So should I give you advice when you ask me, people of Israel? As I live, declares the Lord God, I'm not going to answer you!

³² When you say to yourselves, 'Let's be like the other nations, like people in other countries who worship idols made of wood and stone,' what you're thinking is never going to happen.

³³ As I live, declares the Lord God, I will rule you with all my strength and power, and in my anger.

³⁴ With all my strength and power, and in my anger, I will lead you out from among the nations and gather you from the countries where you were scattered.

³⁵ I will bring you before me for judgment face to face in the desert of the nations.

³⁶ In the same way I judged your forefathers in the Egyptian desert after I'd led them out of Egypt, so I will judge you, declares the Lord God.

³⁸ I will get rid of those of you who rebel against me, those who sin against me. I will lead them out of the country where they're currently living, but they won't enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

³⁹ This is what the Lord God says to you, you people of Israel: All of you, go ahead and worship your idols. But after that if you don't listen to me you won't continue to disgrace me with your pagan offerings and idols.

⁴⁰ For there on my holy mountain, Israel's high mountain, declares the Lord God, every single person in the whole country of Israel will worship me. That's where I'll accept them and will ask for your offerings and your best gifts, together with all your holy sacrifices.

⁴¹ When I bring you back from the nations and gather you from countries where you were scattered, I will accept you as a suitable offering to me. I will reveal my holiness through you so the nations can see.

⁴² Then you will acknowledge that I am the Lord when I bring you back to the country of Israel, the land that I promised to give your forefathers.

⁴³ That's where you will remember your bad ways and everything you've done to make yourselves unclean, and you will hate yourselves for the evil things you did.

⁴⁴ Then you people of Israel will acknowledge that I am the Lord, because I have treated you well because of who I am, and not because of your evil ways and terrible things you've done, declares the Lord God."

⁴⁶ "Son of man, face towards the south and preach against it. Prophecy against the forest of the Negev.

⁴⁷ Tell the forest of the Negev: Listen to the word of the Lord! This is what the Lord God says: I am going to set you on fire, and it will burn up all your trees, both those that are living and those that are dead. The blaze won't be put out, and everything from the north to the south will be burned.

⁴⁸ Then everyone will recognize that it was me, the Lord, who started the fire, and it won't be put out."

⁴⁹ But then I said, "Oh no, Lord God! People already say, 'He's just telling stories!'" "

² "Son of man, face towards Jerusalem and condemn their places of worship. Prophecy against the people living in Israel

³ and tell them that this is what the Lord says: Watch out, because I'm going to attack you! I'm going to take out my sword and destroy you, both the good and the bad.

⁴ Because I'm going to destroy both the good and the bad, I will attack everyone from the north to the south.

⁶ You, son of man, you are to groan. Groan as if you're broken up inside, showing terrible sadness while they watch you.

⁷ When they ask, 'What are you groaning for?' you are to tell them, 'Because of the news that's coming. All of you will lose your courage and you'll be paralyzed with fear. All of you will be weak with worry—you won't be able to stand up!' Watch out, because it's coming! It's going to happen! declares the Lord God."

⁸ Another message from the Lord came to me, saying,

⁹ "Son of man, prophesy! Tell them this is what the Lord says: There's a sword, a sword that's being sharpened and polished.

¹⁰ It's sharpened for killing and polished so it will flash like lightning! (Are we to be happy, saying, "The scepter of my son despises every other stick?") *

¹¹ The sword is being polished right now, ready to be used. It's sharp and polished, ready to be handed over to the killer.

¹² Weep and wail, son of man, and slap your thigh in grief, for the sword is going to be used to attack my people, to attack all the leaders of Israel! They will be thrown away, killed by the sword along with my people.

¹⁴ So son of man, prophesy and clap your hands.† The sword will attack twice, and then a third time.‡ It is a sword of death, killing many people by coming at them from every direction.

¹⁵ I have placed a sword at all the gates of their city so that they may lose their courage, and many may fall. Oh no! It's made to flash like lightning and used to kill.

¹⁷ I will also clap my hands, and then my anger will be over. I, the Lord, have spoken."

¹⁸ Another message from the Lord came to me, saying,

¹⁹ "Son of man, mark the two roads that the king of Babylon's army could take, beginning from the same country. Make a signpost where the road forks, leading to two different cities.

²³ To those who have sworn to be loyal to Nebuchadnezzar this will look like a false sign, but it will reveal their guilt and they will be taken prisoner.

²⁴ So this is what the Lord God says: Because you have revealed your guilt and demonstrated your rebellion, showing your sins in everything you've done, now that you've made all this clear, you will be taken prisoner.

²⁵ As for you, you unclean, wicked prince of Israel, the time has come to complete your punishment.

²⁶ This is what the Lord God says: Take off your turban, and your crown. Things won't continue as they were. Give power to the common people and bring down the powerful!

* 21:10 The Hebrew of this verse is unclear and capable of several interpretations. It appears to be a reference to Genesis 49:10 that is being quoted to suggest that any threat of enemy invasion is not possible because of God's previous assurances. This appears to be confirmed by another allusion to Genesis 49:10 in verse 27 of this chapter. The mention of a "stick" is a dismissive reference to the scepters or rods of power of other nations. † 21:14 "Clap your hands": not applause, but a sign of horror or of anger. It may even be symbolic of the three attacks mentioned in the verse.

²⁷ I'm going to destroy everything, make it all a ruin! It won't be restored until its owner arrives, the one I've given the authority to judge.

²⁸ Prophecy, son of man, and announce that this is what the Lord God says about the Ammonites and their insults: A sword! A sword is ready for killing, polished to destroy, to flash like lightning,

²⁹ even as your prophets give you false visions and prophecies that are lies. This sword will cut the necks of the wicked, killing them—those whose day has come for their punishment to be completed.

³⁰ Sword, go back to where you came from! I'm going to judge you right where you were created, in your homeland.

³¹ I will deal with you in my anger; I will breathe my fire of anger on you; I will hand you over to cruel men who are experts in destruction.

³² You will be burned up like firewood. Your blood will be shed where you live. You will be forgotten, for I, the Lord, have spoken."

² "So, son of man, are you ready to judge them? Are you ready to judge the people of this city that have caused so much bloodshed? Make them face all the disgusting things they've done,

³ and tell them that this is what the Lord God says: You are a city who has caused your own doom by murdering people within your walls, and by making idols to worship that made you unclean.

⁴ You are guilty of murder, and you have made yourself unclean by the idols you've made. You have shortened your lives—your time is up! That's why other people taunt you—everyone mocks you.

⁵ People far and near will laugh at you, you corrupt city full of confusion!

⁶ Look at how all of your leaders in Israel use their power to murder.

⁸ You detest my holy things and violate my Sabbaths.

¹⁰ Some of those living in the city have sex with their father's wives or with women during their period.

¹¹ You're home to evil men. One does disgusting things with someone else's wife. Another seduces his daughter-in-law, while another rapes his sister, the daughter of his own father.

¹² Your people take money to murder others. You charge interest and make a profit on loans, and use extortion to get money from your neighbors. You have forgotten all about me, declares the Lord God.

¹³ So watch out! I clap my hands in condemnation at your dishonest profiteering and at all your murders.

¹⁴ Are you going to be so brave, and will you be strong enough to defend yourselves when it comes time for me to deal with you? I, the Lord, have spoken, and I'm going to act.

¹⁵ I'm going to scatter you among the nations and the different countries. I will put a stop to your unclean acts.

¹⁶ For when everyone else sees how you've made yourselves unclean, then you will acknowledge that I am the Lord."

¹⁷ A message from the Lord came to me, saying,

¹⁹ So this is what the Lord God says: Because all of you have ended up like impurities, watch as I collect you together in Jerusalem.

²⁰ In the same way a refiner collects silver, copper, iron, lead, and tin and puts them in the blast furnace to melt them with fire, I'm going to collect you in my burning anger, and keep you there until I melt you.

²¹ I'm going to collect you all together and blast you with the fire of my anger, and you'll be melted there in the city.

²² Just as silver is melted in a furnace, so you'll be melted in the city. Then you will realize that I, the Lord, have made you experience my anger."

²⁴ "Son of man, tell the city of Jerusalem, at the time of punishment, you are a country that has not been made clean, a place where no rain has fallen,

²⁵ Her leaders* conspire together and it's like watching a roaring lion ripping up its prey. They destroy the people, grab everything that's valuable, and make many more widows in the city.

²⁶ Her priests pervert my law and make my holy things unclean. They don't distinguish between what is holy and what is ordinary, and they don't separate the clean from the unclean. They forget about my Sabbaths, and they lead people to treat me with no respect.

²⁸ Her prophets cover up what they do, using false visions as whitewash and prophecies that are lies, saying, 'This is what the Lord God says,' when the Lord hasn't said anything.

³⁰ I tried to find one of them repair the wall and defend the gap so when I came I wouldn't destroy it—but I couldn't find anyone.

23

² "Son of man, there were once two women. They were daughters of the same mother.

³ They became prostitutes in Egypt. In fact, they were prostitutes from the time they were young. They allowed their virgin breasts to be fondled and their nipples squeezed.

* 22:25 "Leaders": the Hebrew reads "prophets."

⁴ The older girl was called Oholah, and her sister Oholibah.* I married them both and they had sons and daughters. Oholah represents Samaria, and Oholibah represents Jerusalem.

⁵ Oholah prostituted herself while she was still married to me. She wanted to have sex with her lovers, the Assyrians.

⁶ They were soldiers dressed in blue, leaders and commanders, all of them handsome young men in the cavalry.

⁷ She gave away herself sexually to all the important men of Assyria. She made herself unclean by her worship of all the idols of those men she wanted to have sex with.

⁸ She didn't stop her prostitution that she started in Egypt—men sleeping with her when she was young, squeezing her virgin breasts and using her to satisfy their sexual appetite.

⁹ So I handed her over to her lovers, the Assyrians she wanted to have sex with.

¹⁰ They stripped her naked, took away her sons and daughters, and killed her with the sword. She became infamous among women, and they punished her.

¹¹ Oholibah saw what happened to her sister, but she became even worse than her in her wanting sex and practicing prostitution.

¹² She also wanted to have sex with the Assyrians: their leaders and commanders, their splendidly-dressed soldiers—all of them handsome young men in the cavalry.

¹³ I saw that she had also made herself unclean—both sisters were doing the same thing.

¹⁴ However, Oholibah's prostitution was even worse. She saw pictures of Babylonian soldiers wearing bright red uniforms painted on the wall.

¹⁵ They were wearing belts on their waists and large turbans on their heads. They all looked like Babylonian officers in Chaldea, the country where they were born.

¹⁶ When she saw the paintings of them, she wanted to have sex with them and sent messengers to them in Chaldea.

¹⁷ The Babylonians came to her and her love bed, and made her unclean with their sexual desire. However, after she had been dishonored by them, she rejected them in disgust.

²⁰ She wanted to have sex with her lovers who had genitals like donkeys and who ejaculated like stallions.

²² So Oholibah, this is what the Lord God says: I'm going to encourage your lovers to attack you, those you rejected in disgust. I will bring them to attack you from every direction:

²³ the Babylonians and all the Chaldeans, the men of Pekod, Shoa, and Koa, and all the Assyrians along with them—all handsome young men,

* 23:4 "Oholah" means "her tent," and is thought to refer to the pagan shrines set up in the northern kingdom. "Oholibah" means "my tent is in her," which would apply to the Lord's Tent of Meeting in Judah.

²⁴ They will attack you from the north,[†] invading with a great army, chariots, and wagons. They will come with their shields and helmets and surround you. I will hand you over to them for punishment, and they will judge and punish you following their own laws.

²⁵ I feel so strongly about what you've done that I will oppose you, and they will treat you very badly. They will cut off your noses and ears, and they will kill those of you who are left. They will take away your sons and daughters as prisoners, and those of you who are left will be destroyed by fire.

²⁷ I'm going to put a stop to your immorality and prostitution, which started in Egypt. You won't think longingly about those times, and you'll forget all about Egypt.

²⁸ For this is what the Lord God says: Believe it when I say that I'm going to hand you over to the people you hate, the ones you rejected in disgust.

²⁹ They will treat you with hatred. They will take away everything you've worked for, leaving you stark naked with nothing, so that so that the indecent acts of your prostitution will be exposed. Your immorality and prostitution

³¹ Because you did what your sister did, I will give you her cup to drink.[‡]

³² This is what the Lord God says: You will drink from your sister's cup—a large, deep cup. You will be laughed at and insulted. You'll have to endure much of this.

³³ It will make you drunk and full of grief because it's a cup of that brings horror and destruction, the cup your sister Samaria drank from.

³⁴ You will drink it all down, smash it to pieces on the ground, and tear at your breasts. This is what I have spoken, declares the Lord God.

³⁵ In summary this is what the Lord God says: Because you have forgotten about me and have ignored me, you will have to experience the consequences of your immorality and prostitution."

³⁶ Then the Lord said to me: "Son of man, are you going to condemn Oholah and Oholibah? Expose the disgusting things they've done!

³⁷ For they have committed adultery, and they are guilty of murder. They have committed adultery with their idols, and have even offered their children, whom they had for me, as sacrifices to their idols.

³⁸ They also did this to me: On the very same day they both made my sanctuary unclean and violated my Sabbaths.

⁴⁰ They[§] even kept on sending messengers for men to come from far away. When the men arrived, you would get yourselves ready for them by bathing, doing your eye makeup, and putting in your jewelry.

[†] 23:24 "From the north": Septuagint reading. [‡] 23:31 Being handed a cup to drink was symbolic of experiencing punishment. [§] 23:40 Referring back to the two sisters.

⁴¹ You sat on an expensive couch, with my incense and my oil on a table placed in front of it.

⁴² The room was full of the noise of people partying. Drunk men were brought in from the desert along with some common people and they put bracelets on your wrists and beautiful crowns on your head.

⁴⁴ So they had sex with her like a prostitute. They had sex with Oholah and Oholibah, those immoral women.

⁴⁵ But men who believe in what's right will judge them and impose the punishment for committing commit adultery and murder, because they are adulterers and murderers.

⁴⁶ This is what the Lord God says: Have a mob attack them! Make them terrified and rob them.

⁴⁷ The mob will stone them and kill them with their swords, slaughtering their sons and daughters and burning down their houses.

⁴⁸ This is how I will put an end to immorality in the country, and all the women will be warned not to do what you have done.

⁴⁹ They will punish you for your immorality, and you will have to experience the consequences of your idol worship. Then you will know that I am the Lord God."

¹ On the tenth day of the tenth month of the ninth year, a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

² "Son of man, write down today's date, because this is the day that the king of Babylon started his siege of Jerusalem.

³ Then repeat the following parable to these rebellious people. Tell them that this is what the Lord God says:

Get a pot and set it on the fire. Pour in some water.

⁷ For the blood she shed is still inside the city. She shed it openly on bare rock—she didn't even spill it on the ground and cover it up with dirt.

⁸ In my anger and to punish, I have spilled her blood openly on bare rock, so it wouldn't be covered up.

⁹ So this is what the Lord God says: Disaster is coming to the city of that has shed so much blood. I will also pile up a large heap of firewood.

¹⁰ Put on plenty of wood and light the fire. Make sure the meat is well cooked and add spices. Burn the bones.

¹¹ Then put the empty pot back on the burning coals until it's hot and the copper metal glows. This will melt the dirt inside it and get rid of the rust.

¹² So far it's been impossible to clean it—even fire couldn't burn out all its rust.

¹³ Because of your immorality you had made yourself unclean and I tried to clean you, but you refused to let me clean away your filth. So now you won't be pure again until I've finished being angry with you.

¹⁴ I, the Lord, have spoken. The time is soon coming when I will do what I say. I won't change my mind or show pity, I won't stop. I will judge you by your attitude and actions, declares the Lord God."

¹⁶ "Son of man, look, I'm about to take away the one you love the most. She will die. But you must not mourn or weep. Don't cry any tears.

¹⁷ Mourn in silence. Don't have any rituals for the dead. Dress normally—have your turban on and put your sandals on your feet. Don't veil your face and don't eat the bread used by mourners."

¹⁸ I talked to the people in the morning, and my wife died in the evening. The next morning I did as I'd been told.

¹⁹ The people asked me, "What are you doing? Aren't you going to explain to us what this means?"

²⁰ So I told them, "A message from the Lord came to me, saying:

²¹ Tell the people of Israel that this is what the Lord God says: I am about to make my sanctuary unclean, this place you're so proud of that you think gives you power, the place you love so much, the place that makes you happy. Your sons and daughters that you left behind will be killed by the sword.

²² Then you'll do what I did. You won't veil your face or eat the bread used by mourners.

²³ You will keep your turbans on your heads and your sandals on your feet. You won't mourn or weep, but you will die inside because of your sins, and you will groan to one another.

²⁴ In this way Ezekiel will be a sign for you; you will do everything that he did. When this happens, then you will know that I am the Lord God.

²⁵ You, son of man, should know that when I destroy their fortress that is their pride and joy, the place they looked to for comfort and happiness—and their sons and daughters too—

²⁷ On that day you will be able to speak; you won't be mute any longer. This is how you will be a sign to them, and they will know that I am the Lord."

³ Tell the Ammonites to listen to the message from the Lord God, for this is what the Lord God says: Because you said, 'Oh good!' when my sanctuary was made unclean, when the country of Israel was turned into a wasteland, and when the people of Judah were taken into exile,

⁵ I will make Rabbah a camel pasture, and Ammon a sheep-pen. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

⁶ For this is what the Lord God says: Because you clapped your hands and stamped your feet in a celebration of hate over what happened to Israel,

⁷ this is why I will reach out and attack you, and hand you over to be looted by other nations. I will wipe you out so completely that you will no longer exist as a nation. I will destroy you, and then you will know that I am the Lord.

⁸ This is what the Lord God says: Because the people of Moab and Seir said, 'Look, the people of Judah are just like everybody else,'

⁹ that's why I will open Moab's border to attack, including Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim, the country's famous cities.

¹⁰ I will hand Moab over to the people of the East for them to rule so that will no longer exist as a nation just like the Ammonites.

¹² This is what the Lord God says: Because Edom committed serious sins by taking vicious revenge on the people of Judah,

¹³ this is why the Lord God says: I will reach out to attack Edom and destroy all its people and animals. I will turn it into a wasteland. All the way from Teman in the north to Dedan in the south they will die by the sword.

¹⁴ I will take revenge on the Edomites through my people Israel. They will deal with the Edomites so that they experience my anger. Then they will know what my vengeance is like, declares the Lord God.

¹⁵ This is what the Lord God says: Because the Philistines in their hatred repeatedly took revenge on Judah, trying to destroy the people,

¹⁶ this is why the Lord God says: Watch out! I'm going to reach out to attack the Philistines, and I will wipe out the Kerethites* and destroy those who are left along the coast.

¹⁷ My revenge against them will be severe as I punish them in my anger. Then they will know that I am the Lord, when they experience my anger."

¹ On the first day of the month* of the eleventh year, a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

² "Son of man, because Tyre said about Jerusalem, 'Oh good! The trade gateway to the nations has been broken—it's swung wide open for me. Now that Jerusalem has been destroyed, I will be rich!'

³ this is why the Lord God says: Watch out, Tyre! I'm condemning you, and I will have many nations come and attack you, just like the sea that sends its waves crashing against the shore.

⁴ They will destroy the walls of Tyre and tear down her towers. I will scrape off the soil that's on her and turn her into a bare rock.

⁵ Out there in the sea she will be just a place for fishermen to spread their nets. I have spoken, declares the Lord God. Other nations will come and loot her,

⁶ and the people living in her villages on the mainland will die by the sword. Then they will know that I am the Lord.

* 25:16 "Kerethites": one of the major warrior tribes of the Philistines.
number is missing from the text.

* 26:1 It appears a number is missing from the text.

⁷ For this is what the Lord God says: Watch as I bring Nebuchadnezzar, king of kings, to attack Tyre from the north. He will come with horses, chariots, cavalry, and a huge army.

⁸ He will kill the people living in your villages of the mainland with the sword. He will construct siege works to attack you. He will build a ramp against your walls, and his soldiers will hold their shields above them as they advance on you.

⁹ He will have his battering rams smash your walls and use his tools to demolish your towers.

¹⁰ He will have so many horses you will be covered by the dust they throw up.

When he comes in through your gates it will sound like an army charging into a defeated city. Your walls will shake from all the noise made by the cavalry, wagons, and chariots.

¹¹ His horses will race through your city streets. He will kill all your people with the sword. Your massive pillars will come tumbling to the ground.

¹² They will steal your wealth and loot your goods. They will knock down your walls, demolish the houses you love so much, and dump the debris and rubble into the sea.

¹³ This is how I'm going to put a stop to your singing. The music of your harps won't be heard any longer.

¹⁴ I will turn you into a bare rock, and you will be just a place for fishermen to spread their nets. Tyre won't ever be rebuilt. I, the Lord, have spoken, declares the Lord God.

¹⁶ All the rulers of the coastlands will come down from their thrones, remove their royal robes, and take off their embroidered clothes. Instead they will be clothed with terror and sit on the ground, trembling the whole time, shocked at what's happened to you.

¹⁷ Then they will sing a funeral song for you, saying, 'You've been destroyed so completely, famous city! You once ruled the sea—you and your people terrified everyone else!

¹⁸ Now the people of the coastlands tremble at your defeat, while those in the islands of the sea are horrified at your downfall.'

¹⁹ For this is what the Lord God says: I will turn you into a ruin just like other uninhabited cities. I will have the sea rise up to cover you with deep water.

²⁰ I will bring you down with those who are headed to the grave to join people from long ago. I will make you live under the earth like the ruins of the past together with those who have gone down into the grave, so that no one will live in you and you won't have any place in the land of the living.

²¹ I will turn you into something horrific, and you won't exist any longer. People will look for you, but won't ever find you, declares the Lord God."

² "Son of man, sing a funeral song for Tyre.

³ Tell Tyre, the city that stands at the gateway to the sea, supplying goods to many overseas nations, that this is what the Lord God says:

Tyre, you say to yourself, 'I'm so beautiful!'

⁵ They built you with pine timber from Mount Hermon.* They used a cedar from Lebanon to make your mast.

⁶ They made your oars with oaks from Bashan. They had wood from the island of Cyprus brought to make your deck and inlaid it with ivory.

⁸ Men from Sidon and Arvad did the rowing in your ship. You had your own skilled sailors from Tyre.

⁹ Expert craftsmen from Gebal were onboard to repair any leaks. All the other ships at sea came to trade with you and their sailors bartered for your goods.

¹⁰ Men from Persia, Lydia, and Put were soldiers in your army. They lived among you, hanging up their shields and helmets with you, making you famous.

¹¹ Men of Arvad and Helech defended all your city walls, while those from Gammad protected your towers. They hung their shields all around your walls. They made you so successful.

¹³ Greece,† Tubal, and Meshech traded with you. They bought your goods, paying with slaves and objects made of bronze.

¹⁴ People from Beth-togarmah traded horses, war horses, and mules for your goods.

¹⁵ People from Dedan traded with you. You had marketplaces in many coastal areas where the people bartered with you using ivory tusks and ebony wood.

¹⁶ The Arameans traded with you because you had so much merchandise. They provided turquoise, purple cloth, embroidery, fine linen, coral, and red jasper‡ in exchange for your goods.

¹⁷ Judah and the country of Israel traded with you, paying you with wheat from Minnith, pastries§ and honey, olive oil and balm in return for your goods.

¹⁸ Because you had many different products, in fact so much of everything, Damascus traded with you using wine from Helbon, wool from Zahar.

²⁰ Dedan traded with you, providing riding blankets.

²¹ Arabia and all the leaders of Kedar traded with you, supplying lambs, rams, and goats.

* 27:5 "Hermon," literally, "Senir," another name for this mountain. † 27:13 "Greece": literally, "Javan." ‡ 27:16 "Red jasper": one possible candidate for a red precious stone. Rubies were apparently not known at this time. § 27:17 "Pastries": the word is only ever used here and its meaning is uncertain.

²³ Haran, Canneh, and Eden traded with you, as did Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad.

²⁴ In your marketplaces they traded with you, providing the finest blue clothing, embroidery, carpets made with different colored threads, and strong ropes of twisted strands.

²⁵ Trade ships from Tarshish transported your goods. You were like a ship sailing the sea, filled with heavy cargo.

²⁶ Your rowers took you a long way out on the water, but the east wind broke you apart in there in the open ocean.

²⁷ You've lost everything! Your wealth, your goods, your cargo, your crew of sailors, officers, and repairmen, your traders and all the soldiers you had, along with everyone else on board, fall into the depths of the sea on the day of your shipwreck.

²⁸ The land around shakes when your sailors scream.

²⁹ All the rowers abandon their ships. The sailors and all the ships' officers stand on the shore.

³⁰ They shout out for you and burst out crying. They mourn for you by throwing dust on their heads and rolling in ashes.

³¹ They shave their heads for you and clothe themselves in sackcloth. They weep for you, crying out in agony and heartfelt mourning

³² As they weep and wail over you, they sing a funeral song for you: 'Who could compare to Tyre, now destroyed out in the sea?'

³³ You made many people happy when they received your goods from far across the sea. You made the kings of the earth rich with all your valuable goods and products.

³⁴ Now you have been shipwrecked by the sea, sunk in deep water, and your cargo and your people have gone down with you.

³⁶ The traders of the nations hiss at you in derision; disaster has brought you down and you're finished forever."

28

² "Son of man, tell the ruler of Tyre this is what the Lord God says: You are so proud of yourself, saying, 'I'm a god! I sit on my throne like a god in the middle of the sea.' But you're only a man. You're not a god, even though you think you are one.

³ You even think you're wiser than Daniel and there's no secret that's hidden from you!

⁴ Yes, you have used your wisdom and cleverness to make yourself rich, collecting plenty of gold and silver for your treasury.

⁵ You became wealthy through your superb trading skills, but your wealth only made you proud.

⁶ So this is what the Lord God says: Because you think that you're a god,

⁷ watch as I bring foreigners to attack you. They are more cruel than any other nation. They will use their swords to destroy you and your wonderful wisdom; they will humble your proud glory.

⁸ They will drag you down into the grave. You will die horribly out there in the sea.

⁹ Are you still going to claim, 'I'm a god,' to those who are killing you? You'll just be another human victim, not a god, in the eyes of your attackers.

¹⁰ You will be killed like some vile person* by these foreigners. I myself have spoken, declares the Lord God."

¹² "Son of man, sing a funeral song for the king of Tyre and tell him this is what the Lord God says: Once you were complete and perfect,[†] full of wisdom and flawless in beauty.

¹³ You were there in Eden, God's garden. You wore all kinds of precious stones: carnelian, topaz, and amethyst; beryl, onyx, and jasper; lapis lazuli, turquoise, and emerald.[‡] They were placed in gold mountings and settings using skilled craftsmanship, and were made on the day when you were created.

¹⁴ I gave you the position of guardian cherub, and I anointed you. You lived on God's holy mountain and you walked among the stones of fire.

¹⁵ You were innocent in everything you did from the day you were created until you were found to be doing evil.

¹⁶ You were so busy with all your trading schemes that they destroyed you inside, leading you to sin and filling you with violence. So I sent you away in disgrace from God's mountain, and I removed you from your position as guardian cherub from your place among the stones of fire.

¹⁷ You became proud because of your beauty, you ruined your wisdom because you thought you were so wonderful. So I threw you down to the ground and I made sure kings saw what happened to you.

¹⁸ By all your sins and your dishonest trading you have made your sanctuaries unclean. So I had fire come from inside you, and it burned you up. I turned you into ashes on the ground as everybody there watched.

¹⁹ All who know you among the nations are horrified at what happened to you. Disaster has brought you down and you're finished forever."

²⁰ A message from the Lord came to me, saying,

²² Tell them this is what the Lord God says: Watch out, Sidon, for I'm condemning you, and I will be vindicated by what happens to you. People will know that I am the Lord when I punish her and show my holy character through her experience.

²³ I'm going to send a disease to plague her, and have people killed in her streets. Those who are killed will fall inside the city as the enemy attacks with swords from every side. Then they will know that I am the Lord.

²⁴ The people of Israel will no longer have to put up with these people who are thorns in their side, painful brambles and sharp thorns who treat Israel with contempt. Then they will know that I am the Lord God.

* 28:10 "Killed like some vile person": literally "die the death of the uncircumcised." † 28:12 "Complete and perfect": the phrase is literally, "seal of measurement," seal as in God's "seal of approval," and measurement as something measured to an agreed standard. The word translated "standard" here is translated "measured" as a verb in Isaiah 40:13, for example; while in Ezekiel 43:10 it is translated as a "plan" that is measured. ‡ 28:13 The identification of precious stones mentioned in Scripture is uncertain.

²⁵ This is what the Lord God says: When I bring back the people of Israel from the nations where they've been scattered. I will show my holy character through them as everyone watches.

Then they will live in their own country, which I gave to my servant Jacob.

²⁶ They will live there in safety, building houses and planting vineyards. They will live there in safety when I punish all those around them who treat them with contempt. Then they will know that I am the Lord their God."

¹ On the twelfth day of the tenth month of the tenth year, a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

² "Son of man, face towards Pharaoh king of Egypt and prophesy against him and the whole of Egypt.

³ Tell him that this is what the Lord God says:

Watch out, because I'm condemning you, Pharaoh king of Egypt, you great monster lying in your rivers, who says, 'The Nile belongs to me; I made it myself.'

⁴ I'm going to put hooks in your jaws and make the fish in your river stick to your scales. I will pull you up out of your river, and all the fish will stick to your scales.

⁵ I will throw you and the fish away, leaving you in the desert. Your body will fall on the ground and be left in the open. It won't be collected or taken to be buried. I'll leave you as food for wild animals and birds of prey.

⁶ Then everyone in Egypt will know that I am the Lord. When you had to deal with the people of Israel you were like a flimsy walking stick made from a reed.

⁷ When Israel grabbed hold of you, you split apart, damaging their shoulder. When they leaned on you, you broke, putting their backs out.

⁸ So this is what the Lord God says: I will attack you with a sword and kill both people and animals.

⁹ Egypt will become an empty wasteland. Then they will know that I am the Lord.

Because you said, 'The Nile belongs to me; I made it,'

¹⁰ that's why I'm condemning you and your river. I will ruin Egypt, making it into an empty wasteland all the way from Migdol in the north to Syene in the south, and up to the border with Cush.*

¹¹ No one, human or animal, will travel that way or live there for forty years.

¹² I will make Egypt more of a wasteland than any other country, and its towns will lie in ruins for forty years among all the other ruined towns. I will scatter the Egyptians among the different nations and countries.

¹³ However, this is what the Lord God says: After forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the different countries where they were scattered.

* 29:10 "Cush": This country is often translated as Ethiopia but here it refers to the country immediately bordering Egypt to the south, sometimes referred to as Nubia, and today as Sudan.

¹⁴ I will bring Egypt out of captivity and take them back to the land of Pathros, where they originally came from. Their kingdom will be insignificant.

¹⁵ Egypt will be the lowest of kingdoms and won't ever be more important than other nations again. I will bring Egypt down so that it won't ever be able to rule over the nations again.

¹⁶ The people of Israel won't ever trust in Egypt again; instead they will be reminded them of their sin when they turned to the Egyptians for help. Then they will know that I am the Lord God."

¹⁸ "Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made his army work really hard in the siege against Tyre. The soldiers had their hair worn off their heads, and their shoulders rubbed raw. However, he and his army didn't gain any benefit from Tyre for all the work they did in attacking it.

¹⁹ So this is what the Lord God says: I'm going to give Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon who will seize everything valuable. He will loot the country, robbing it to pay his army.

²⁰ I'm rewarding him for all his work by giving him Egypt because the work they did was for me, declares the Lord God.

²¹ At that time I will give power back[†] to the people of Israel and I will help you speak to them. Then they will know that I am the Lord."

² "Son of man, prophesy and announce that this is what the Lord God says: Weep! This is a terrible day!

³ The day is soon coming—the Day of the Lord is near. It will be a gloomy, cloudy day, a time of judgment for the nations.

⁴ A sword will come to attack Egypt, and there will be anguish in Cush* when people are killed in Egypt, when it's robbed of its wealth and the country ruined.

⁵ Cush, Put, and Lud, and many other peoples, as well as Arabia, Kub, and the people of the promised land,[†] they all, like Egypt, will be killed by the sword.

⁶ This is what the Lord says: Egypt's allies will fall, and the country will lose its prestigious position. From Migdol in the north to Syene in the south, they will be killed by the sword, declares the Lord God.

⁸ Then they will acknowledge that I am the Lord when I set fire to Egypt and all its allies are crushed.

⁹ At that time I will send messengers in ships to shock Cush out of its sense of security. They will tremble in fear when disasters hit Egypt. Watch out! It's definitely coming!

[†] 29:21 "Give power back": literally, "cause a horn to sprout." * 30:4 Cush was the country immediately south of Egypt, and at times under Egyptian control. This is the reason why there would be concern at what had happened in Egypt. Today it would include the territory of Sudan.

¹⁰ This is what the Lord God says: I will use Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to take away Egypt's wealth.

¹¹ He and his army from the cruelest nation in the world will be brought to destroy the country. They will use their swords to attack Egypt, and they will fill the land with dead bodies.

¹² I will dry up the rivers and sell the land to wicked people. Using these foreigners I will ruin the land and everything in it. I the Lord have spoken.

¹³ This is what the Lord God says: I'm going to destroy the idols and get rid of the images in Memphis. There won't be a prince in Egypt any longer, and I will make everyone in the country terrified.

¹⁴ I will destroy Pathros, set Zoan on fire, and punish Thebes.

¹⁵ I will pour out my wrath on Pelusium, Egypt's fortress town, and wipe out the army at Thebes.

¹⁶ I will set fire to Egypt, Pelusium will suffer, Thebes will be ripped apart, and Memphis will face trouble every day.

¹⁷ The young soldiers of Heliopolis and Bubastis[‡] will fall by the sword, and the people from those towns will be taken captive.

¹⁸ It will be a dark day in Tahpanhes when I break Egypt's power and bring to an end their proud strength. It will be under a cloud as the people go into captivity.

²⁰ On the seventh day of the first month of the eleventh year, a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

²¹ "Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt. You can see that it hasn't been bandaged up to heal it, or put it in a splint to provide enough strength to hold a sword.

²² So this is what the Lord God says: Watch out, because I'm condemning Pharaoh king of Egypt! I will break his arms, both the one that's still good and the one already broken, and I will make him drop his sword.

²³ I will scatter the Egyptians among the different nations and countries.

²⁴ I will make the arms of the king of Babylon strong, and put my sword in his hand, but I will break Pharaoh's arms, and he will moan in pain like someone who's about to die.

²⁵ I will make the arms of Babylon's king strong, but Pharaoh's arms will drop to his sides, weak and useless.

Then they will acknowledge that I am the Lord, when I put my sword in the hand of the king of Babylon and he uses it to attack Egypt.

²⁶ When I scatter the Egyptians among the different nations and countries, they will acknowledge that I am the Lord."

¹ On the first day of the third month of the eleventh year,* a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

² "Son of man, tell Pharaoh king of Egypt and all his many people: Who is as great as you?

³ Look at Assyria. It was like a cedar in Lebanon, with its beautiful branches providing shade in the forest. It was so high that its top reached the clouds.

[‡] 30:17 "Heliopolis and Bubastis": literally, "On and Pi-deseth." * 31:1 Dating from the beginning of King Jehoiachin's exile.

⁴ Deep springs of water made it grow tall and sent streams all around it to water all the other trees.

⁵ It became really tall, higher than any other tree in the forest. Its branches grew thick and long because it was so well-watered.

⁶ All kinds of birds nested in its branches, while underneath it different wild animals had their young, and all the powerful nations lived in its shade.

⁷ It was beautiful and majestic with its long branches, because its roots reached down to the plentiful water.

⁸ The cedars in God's garden were no match for it. No pine tree had such great branches, nor did any plane tree. No tree in God's garden was as beautiful.

⁹ I made it beautiful with its many branches. All the trees of Eden in God's garden envied it.

¹⁴ This was in order that no other trees growing by the water would grow up so high and have their tops reach the clouds. This was so that no other trees, however much water they had, would be as tall as them. For they all will die and go down into earth, just like human beings who go down into the grave.

¹⁵ This is what the Lord God says: On the day it was brought down to Sheol,[†] I had the deep waters mourn for it; I stopped its rivers flowing; I held back all its waters. I covered Lebanon in darkness, and all the trees in the forest withered.

¹⁶ I made the nations tremble when they heard it fall, when I threw it down into Sheol with those who die.

Then all the trees of Eden, the finest and best in Lebanon, all the trees that had plenty of water, were happy that this tree joined them in the earth below.

¹⁷ They also went down with it into Sheol, to those who had been killed by the sword. They had been part of its army living in its shade among the nations.

¹⁸ Who is as great and glorious as you among the trees of Eden? But you too will be brought down to the earth below to be with the trees of Eden. You will lie there with the heathen,[‡] with those killed by the sword. This is what will happen to Pharaoh and all his many people, declares the Lord God."

[†] 31:15 "Sheol," the place of the dead.

[‡] 31:18 "Heathen": literally, "uncircumcised."

You think you're like a lion among the nations but in reality you're like a sea monster. You roll around in your rivers, stirring up the waters with your feet, making the water muddy.

³ This is what the Lord God says: In the presence of many nations I'm going to spread my net over you, and they will pull you up in my net.

⁴ I will drop you on the land; I will throw you down on the bare earth. I will make all the birds of prey come and land you; I will have all the wild animals eat you until they're satisfied.

⁶ I will fill the land with your flowing blood, pouring it out on the mountains, filling the valleys.

⁷ When I put out the light of your life, I will cover the heavens and darken their stars. I will use a cloud to cover the sun, and the moon will stop shining.

¹⁰ Many will be shocked at what I do to you, and their kings will be horrified at what has happened to you, trembling when I wave my sword in front of them. On the day that you fall all of them will shake in fear for their lives.

¹² I will allow your army to be defeated, your soldiers killed by the swords of the powerful enemy army from the cruelest of all nations. They will ruin the glories of Egypt and destroy all your people.

¹³ I will slaughter all your livestock living beside the wide rivers. Nobody will be there to stir rivers up with their feet; no livestock hooves will make them muddy.

¹⁵ When I turn Egypt into a wasteland, completely emptying it out, when I kill everyone who lives there, then they will acknowledge that I am the Lord.

¹⁶ This is the funeral song that foreign women will sing. They will sing it in mourning over Egypt and all its many people, declares the Lord God.”

¹⁷ On the fifteenth day of the twelfth month of the twelfth year, a message from the Lord came to me, saying,

¹⁸ “Son of man, weep for all the many Egyptians. Send them along with the people of powerful nations down into the depths of the earth with those who go down into the grave.

¹⁹ Do you think you're more beautiful than anyone else? Go down and take your place in the grave with the heathen!

²⁰ They will lie among those killed by the sword. A sword is ready to kill all the many people of Egypt.

²² Assyria is there with all its people—it's surrounded by graves. All of them died violent deaths, killed by the sword.

²³ Its graves are set in the deepest parts of the place of the dead, and the graves of all its people surround Assyria's grave. All of them died violent deaths, killed by the sword, these people who once terrorized others when they were alive.

²⁴ Elam is there with all its people around its grave. All of them died violent deaths, killed by the sword. They went down into the grave, these heathen people who once terrorized others when they were alive. They are disgraced, along with all others who go down into the grave.

²⁵ A resting place is made ready among those who have been killed for Elam and all its many people—their graves surround Elam's grave. They are all heathen and were killed by the sword, though they once terrorized others when they were alive. They are disgraced, along with all others who go down into the grave. They are laid to rest among those who have been killed.

²⁶ Meshech and Tubal are there with all their many people, surrounded by all their graves. They are all heathen and were killed by the sword, though they once terrorized others when they were alive.

²⁸ However, you will also be cut down and laid to rest with the heathen, with those killed by the sword.

²⁹ Edom is there with all its kings and princes. Once they were powerful, but now they too are laid to rest with those killed by the sword. They lie with the heathen, with those who go down into the grave.

³⁰ All the leaders from the north, and all the people of Sidon are there too. They also are disgraced, going down with those who were killed, in spite of their formidable power. They are heathen, lying there with those killed by the sword, and have the disgrace of those who go down into the grave.

³¹ Pharaoh will see them and be pleased that he and all his many people are not the only ones killed by the sword, declares the Lord God.

³² For I will terrorize those who are alive so that Pharaoh and all his many people will be laid to rest with the heathen, with those killed by the sword, declares the Lord God."

² "Son of man, tell your people: If I brought an army to attack a country, the people there would choose one of them to be their watchman.

³ When he saw the army advancing to attack the country, he would blow the trumpet to warn everyone.

⁴ So if you hear the trumpet but don't pay attention to the warning, and you're killed in the attack, you will be responsible for your own death.

⁵ Since you heard the trumpet but didn't pay attention to the warning, then you will be responsible for your own death. If you had paid attention to the warning, you could have saved your life.

⁶ But if the watchman saw the attack coming and didn't blow the trumpet to warn everyone, and someone is killed, then that person will die in their sins, but I will hold the watchman responsible for their death.

⁷ Son of man, I have appointed you as a watchman for the people of Israel. Listen to what I tell you and warn them for me.

⁸ If I tell the wicked 'You're wicked; you're going to die'; but you don't warn them to change what they're doing, then they'll die in their sins and I will hold you responsible for their deaths.

⁹ But if you warn the wicked to change what they're doing, and they don't, they will die in their sins, but you will save your own life.

¹⁰ Son of man, tell the people of Israel that this is what they've been saying, 'We recognize our sins and wrongs, and they weigh on us, wearing us out. How can we go on living?'

¹¹ Tell them: As I live, declares the Lord God, it brings me no pleasure when wicked people die. I wish they would stop sinning and live! Stop! Stop sinning! Why should you die, people of Israel?

¹² So, son of man, tell your people: All the good things a good person has done won't save them when they sin; while the bad things a bad person has done won't be a problem for them if they stop sinning. But good people won't live if they start sinning.

¹³ If I tell a good person that they will live and then they rely on their goodness and start sinning, then none of the good things they did will be remembered; he will die because of the sins.

¹⁴ But if I tell a bad person, 'You're going to die' and they stop sinning and do what is good and right, ¹⁵ if they return security given for a loan, pay back what they've stolen, and follow my laws about how to live, not doing wrong—then they will live; they won't die.

¹⁶ None of their sins will be remembered; they have done what is good and right and so they will live.

¹⁸ If a good person stops doing good and sins, they will die because of it.

¹⁹ On the other hand, if a bad person turns from their sins and they do what is good and right, they will live as a result.

²⁰ So how can you say, 'What the Lord does isn't right'? Well, I'm going to judge each of you depending on what you've done, people of Israel."

²¹ On the fifth day of the tenth month of the twelfth year of our exile, a refugee who'd escaped from Jerusalem arrived and told me, "The city has been captured!"

²² The previous evening before the messenger arrived the Lord had touched me so I could speak again. This was before the man came to see me in the morning. I wasn't mute any longer—I could speak again.

²⁴ "Son of man, people living among the ruins in Israel are saying, 'Abraham was only one man, but the country was given to him to own. There's plenty of us, so the country should belong to us.'

²⁵ So tell them that this is what the Lord God says: You eat meat with the blood still in it. You go and worship your idols. You commit murder. Do you really think the country should belong to you?

²⁶ You rely on your swords to get your way. You have done some disgusting things. You're all having sex with each other's wives. Should the country belong to you?

²⁷ Tell them that this is what the Lord God says: As I live, in the people living among the ruins will be killed by the sword. Those living in the countryside will be eaten by wild animals. Those living in the fortresses and caves will die from disease.

²⁸ I will turn the country into a wasteland, and power you are so proud of will be ended. The mountains of Israel will become wild places that no one will want to travel through.

²⁹ Then the people will acknowledge that I am the Lord, when I have turned the country into a wasteland because of all the disgusting things they have done.

³⁰ Son of man, your people are talking about you out in the streets and in the doorways of their houses. They encourage one another, saying, 'Come on! Let's go and hear a message from the Lord!'

³¹ So my people come and visit you like they usually do. They sit and listen to the message you share, but they don't do anything about it. Even though they talk about love, all they're thinking about is how to cheat others.

³² In fact, to them you're just someone who sings love songs with a lovely voice and who is a fine musician. They listen to the message you share, but they don't do anything about it.

³³ So when what you say does happen (and it will), then they will realize that they did have a prophet among them."

34

² "Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds who lead Israel. Prophesy and tell them that this is what the Lord God says: Disaster is coming to the shepherds of Israel, who only look after themselves, and not the sheep! Shouldn't shepherds make sure their flock is fed?

³ You eat the cream, you use the wool for clothes, and you slaughter the fattened sheep, but you don't feed the flock.

⁴ You haven't taken care of the weak, healed the sick, bandaged the injured, brought home the strays, or looked for the lost. On the contrary, you ruled them using violence and cruelty.

⁶ My sheep strayed, going to all the mountains and high hills. They were scattered everywhere, and there was no one to go and look for them.

⁷ So, you shepherds, listen to what the Lord has to say:

⁸ As I live, declares the Lord God, because my sheep didn't have a shepherd and were preyed on by all the wild animals for food, and because my shepherds didn't look after my sheep but instead only fed themselves,

⁹ so, you shepherds, you listen to what the Lord has to say!

¹⁰ This is what the Lord God says: Watch out, because I'm condemning the shepherds, and I will take my sheep back and stop them looking after the sheep so they won't be able to feed themselves anymore. I will take away my sheep from them, and I won't let them eat the sheep anymore.

¹² Just like a shepherd goes looking for his lost sheep when he is with the flock, so I will look for my sheep.

I will rescue them from everywhere they were scattered on a dark and dismal day.

¹³ I will take them out from among the other nations. I will gather them from the different countries, and bring them back to their own country. Like a shepherd I will have them feed them on the mountains of Israel, in the valleys and everywhere that people live in the country.

¹⁴ I will provide them with good pasture and places to graze in the high mountains of Israel. They will also be able to rest there in the good pasture and in the places to graze in mountains of Israel.

¹⁵ I myself will look after my sheep and give them a place to rest, declares the Lord God.

¹⁶ I will go looking for the lost, bring home the strays, bandage the injured, and strengthen the weak. However, I will destroy those who are fat and strong. Because I do what's right, I will be sure to take care of them.

¹⁷ My flock, this is what the Lord God says to you: Watch, because I will judge between one sheep and the next, between the rams and the goats.

²⁰ That's why the Lord God says to them: Watch, because I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the skinny sheep.

²¹ Since you push others around with your sides and your shoulders, and use your horns to attack all the weak ones until you have chased them away,

²² I will rescue my flock, and they will no longer be your victims. I will judge between one sheep and the next.

²³ I will put one shepherd in charge of them, my servant David, and he will take care of them. He will take care of them and be their shepherd.

²⁴ I the Lord will be their God, and my servant David will be their leader. I the Lord have spoken.

²⁵ I will make an agreement of peace with them, and get rid of the wild animals from the country, so that they can live safely in the wilderness and sleep securely in the forest.

²⁶ I will bless them and everywhere around my hill. I will send rain at the right time. They will be showers of blessing.

²⁷ The trees in the orchards will produce their fruit; the earth will grow its crops; and my flock will be live in safety in their country. Then they will know that I am the Lord, when I break their yokes of slavery, and set them free from those who made them slaves.

²⁸ They won't be the victims of other nations anymore, and wild animals won't eat them. They will live in safety, and no one will terrorize them.

²⁹ I will make their fields produce remarkable harvests, and they won't suffer famine in their country again or be mocked by others.

³⁰ Then they will know that I am with them as the Lord their God, and that the people of Israel belong to me, declares the Lord God.

³¹ You are my sheep, the sheep that I feed. You are my people, and I am your God, declares the Lord God."

² "Son of man, face towards Mount Seir and prophesy against it

³ Announce that this is what the Lord God says: Watch out, because I'm condemning you, Mount Seir. I'm going to attack you and turn you into a wasteland.

⁴ I will ruin your towns; you will be completely devastated. Then you will acknowledge that I am the Lord.

⁵ Because of your lasting hatred for the Israelites you let them be attacked with swords as they went through terrible disasters when the time of their punishment was coming to an end.

⁶ So as I live, declares the Lord God, I will let you be violently attacked and chased down. Since you did not hate bloodshed, bloodshed will come after you.

⁸ I will fill its mountains with the dead. Those killed by the sword will fall in your hills, valleys, and all your ravines.

⁹ I will ruin you forever. Your towns will not be inhabited again. Then you will acknowledge that I am the Lord.

¹⁰ Because you said, 'These two nations and their lands belong to us,* and we will take them over, even though the Lord was there with them,'

¹¹ then as I live, declares the Lord God, I will deal with you in the same way that you showed anger and jealousy to them in your hatred of them. They will realize that I'm punishing you because of the way you treated them.

¹² You will also realize that I, the Lord, heard all the nasty things you said about the mountainous land of Israel when you announced, 'The mountains have been left empty; they're ours to take!'

¹⁴ This is what the Lord God says: I will destroy you as everyone else in the world celebrates.

¹⁵ Just as you celebrated when Israel was destroyed, I will do the same to you. Mount Seir, you will become a wasteland, and so will the rest of Edom. Then they will acknowledge that I am the Lord."

* 35:10 Perhaps a reference back to how Jacob deceived Esau in obtaining his birthright. The Edomites were descended from Esau.

¹ “And you, son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say: Mountains of Israel, listen to this message from the Lord.

² This is what the Lord God says: The enemy said about you, ‘Aha! These old high places now belong to us,’

³ so you must prophesy and announce that this is what the Lord God says: They have turned you into a wasteland, attacking you from every direction, so that you became the property of other nations and people gossiped about you and slandered you.

⁴ So now, mountains of Israel, listen to the message from the Lord God. This is what the Lord God says to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys, to the deserted ruins and abandoned towns, that the other nations around you have looted and mocked.

⁵ Yes, this is what the Lord God says: I have spoken passionately against these other nations, and against all the Edomites, who took over my country and made it theirs, happily celebrating as they looted the land and treated me with complete contempt.

⁸ But you, mountains of Israel, will grow trees that will produce fruit for my people Israel, for soon they'll be coming home.

⁹ Look, I am for you and I will help you. Your land will be ploughed, and crops will be sown.

¹⁰ You will support the people of Israel as they return and grow in number. People will live in the towns again and rebuild the ruins.

¹¹ The number of your people will grow— they will have many children. The animals too will have many young. I will make sure that you're inhabited just as you used to be, and I will make you more prosperous that you were before. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

¹² I will have my people Israel walk on you mountains. You will be theirs; you will belong to them, and you will no longer rob your nation of their children.*

¹⁴ from now on you won't eat people or rob your nation of their children, declares the Lord God.

¹⁵ I'm going to stop these nations insulting you, and you won't have to put up with their taunts any more, or make the nation fall, declares the Lord God.”

¹⁶ Another message from Lord came to me, saying,

¹⁷ “Son of man, when the people of Israel were living in their country, they made it unclean by the way they behaved, by what they did. The way they were behaving in my presence was like the ceremonial uncleanness of a woman's period.

* 36:12 “Rob your nation of their children”: this strange phrase is thought by some to refer to the times when the Israelites practiced child sacrifice.

¹⁹ I scattered them among the different nations and countries. I judged them according to the way they had behaved and what they did.

²⁰ But wherever they went among the nations, they ruined my reputation, because people said about them, 'These are the Lord's people, but they had to leave his country.'

²¹ So I had to take care of my reputation for holiness which the people of Israel had ruined among the nations where they'd gone.

²² Tell the people of Israel that this is what the Lord God says: I'm not doing this for you, people of Israel, but for my reputation for holiness, which you ruined among the nations where you went.

²³ I will reveal the holy nature and importance of my reputation, which has been ruined among the nations, the reputation you have ruined among them. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, declares the Lord God, when I reveal my holiness through you as they watch.

²⁴ For I will bring you back from among the nations, gathering you from all the different countries, and I will lead you back into your own country.

²⁵ I will also pour pure water over you, and you will be clean. I will wash you clean from all your uncleanness and from all your idols.

²⁶ I will give you a new mind and I will put a new spirit inside you. I will take away your stubborn mind and I will give you a loving mind.

²⁷ I will put my Spirit inside you so you will follow my laws and remember to do what I tell you.

²⁸ Then you will live in the country I gave to your forefathers. You will be my people, and I will be your God.

²⁹ I will save you from everything that makes you unclean. I will make sure you have plenty of grain. I won't send you any famines.

³⁰ I will also make sure you have good harvests from your orchards and fields, so that you won't be mocked by other nations anymore because of famine.

³¹ Then you will remember your evil ways and terrible things you've done, and you'll hate yourselves for your sins and disgusting actions.

³² You need to realize that I'm not doing this for your sake, declares the Lord God. You should be ashamed and embarrassed for what you've done, people of Israel!

³³ This is what the Lord God says: On the day I make you clean from all your sins, I will have you live in your towns again and make sure the ruins are rebuilt.

³⁴ The land that was deserted will be cultivated again instead of looking abandoned to everyone passing by.

³⁵ Then they will say, 'This deserted land is now like the garden of Eden. The towns that were demolished, abandoned, and destroyed have been restored and strengthened, and people are living in them.'

³⁶ Then those nations around you that are left will acknowledge that I, the Lord, have rebuilt what was demolished, and that I have replanted what was destroyed. I, the Lord, have spoken, and I will carry it out.

³⁷ This is what the Lord God says: I will once again answer the prayers of the people of Israel. This is what I will do for them: I will have them increase in number like a flock.

38 Just like all the many flocks that are brought to Jerusalem to be sacrificed during the religious festivals, so the towns that were once demolished will be full of flocks of people. Then they will know that I am the Lord."

37

1 The Lord picked me up and carried me away by his Spirit. He set me down in the middle of a valley that was full of bones.

2 He led me around them, and in all directions I saw many, many bones on the valley floor. They were really dry.

3 Then he asked me, "Son of man, can these bones come back to life?"

"Lord God, only you know the answer," I replied.

4 He told me, "Prophecy to these bones and tell them, Dry bones, listen to this message from the Lord!

5 This is what the Lord God says to these bones: I will breathe into you, and you will come back to life.

6 I will give you tendons and have flesh grow over you and cover you with skin. I will breathe into you so that you will come back to life. Then you will know that I am the Lord."

7 So I prophesied just as I had been ordered. When I started prophesying, suddenly I heard a rattling noise. The bones joined together, bone attached to bone.

8 As I watched, I saw tendons and flesh grow on them, and skin covered them; but the bodies didn't breathe.

9 Then he told me, "Prophecy to the breath! Prophecy, son of man, and tell the breath that this is what the Lord God says: Breath, come from the four winds, and breathe into these bodies, so that they can come back to life!"

10 So I prophesied just as he had ordered me, and the breath went into the bodies, and they came back to life and stood up, a huge army!

11 He told me, "Son of man, these bones represent all the people of Israel. Listen to what the people are saying, 'Our bones have dried up, and our hope has been crushed. We have been wiped out!'

12 So prophecy and tell them that this is what the Lord God says: My people, I'm going to open your graves and lift you out of them, and I will take you back to the country of Israel.

13 Then you will know that I am the Lord, when I open your graves and lift you out of them, my people.

14 I will put my Spirit in you and you will live again, and I will take you back to your own country. Then you will know that I, the Lord, have spoken, and I will carry it out, declares the Lord."

15 Another message from the Lord came to me, saying,

16 "Son of man, get one piece of wood and write on it: 'This belongs to Judah and the Israelite tribes allied to them.' Then get another piece of wood and write on it: 'This belongs to Joseph. This is Ephraim's piece of wood, and to the Israelite tribes allied to them.'

17 Then join the two pieces of wood into one, so that you hold them as one in your hand.

18 When your people come and ask you, 'Are you going to explain what this is all about?'

¹⁹ tell them that this is what the Lord God says: I'm going to take Joseph's piece of wood, which Ephraim is holding, along with the Israelite tribes allied with them, and I'll join them with Judah's piece of wood. I will make them into a single piece of wood, and they will be as one in my hand.

²⁰ When you're holding the pieces of wood you've written on, and while everyone is watching,

²² I will make them one nation in the country, living in the mountains of Israel, and one king will rule them all. They won't be two nations any longer; never again will they be divided into two kingdoms.

²³ They won't make themselves unclean anymore with their idols or disgusting images, or with any of their rebellious sins. I will save them from all their sins when they abandoned me,* and I will make them clean. They will be my people, and I will be their God.

²⁴ My servant David will be their king. They will be united under one ruler. They will follow my laws, and they will observe and practice my regulations.

²⁵ They will live in the country I gave to my servant Jacob where your forefathers lived. They will live there with their children and grandchildren forever, and my servant David will be their prince forever.

²⁶ I will make an agreement of peace with them. This will be an everlasting agreement. I will make them secure and increase their numbers, and I will keep my sanctuary there with them forever.

²⁷ My Tabernacle will be with them. I will be their God, and they will be my people.

²⁸ The nations will acknowledge that I am the Lord who blesses Israel, when my sanctuary is with them forever."

38

² "Son of man, face towards Gog of the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech and Tubal. Prophecy against him

³ and declare that this is what the Lord God says: Watch out, I am condemning you, Gog, chief prince of Meshech and Tubal.

⁵ Soldiers from Persia, Cush, and Put will join them, all equipped with shields and helmets,

⁶ together with Gomer and all its armies, as well as Beth-togarmah from the distant places of the north with all its armies—and many other nations that join with you.

⁷ Get ready! Make sure you and your whole army with you is prepared. You're the one in charge of them.

* 37:23 "Sins when they abandoned me": some Hebrew manuscripts and the Septuagint. Hebrew text: "the places they lived where they sinned."

⁸ A long time later you will be called to battle. In the final years you will invade a country that has recovered from war. Its people will have been gathered from many nations to the mountains of Israel, which had been abandoned for a long time. They had been brought back from the nations, and were all living in safety.

⁹ You and your whole army, and the armies of many nations with you, will advance like an incoming storm, like a cloud that covers the land.

¹⁰ This is what the Lord God says: On that day you will start thinking about things in your mind, and you will come up with an evil plan.

¹¹ You tell yourself, 'I'm going to attack a country of undefended villages, a peaceful people who don't suspect an attack. They all live in towns without defensive walls or barred gates.

¹² I'll be able to loot them—I'll rob them of their possessions. I'll attack those places that were once ruined but now are inhabited again. I'll attack a people brought back from the other nations, who now own livestock and possessions, living in the center* of the country.'

¹³ Sheba and Dedan and the traders from Tarshish with all its strong leaders† will ask, 'Are you going to loot the place? Have you gathered your armies to rob them, to carry away silver and gold, to take cattle and possessions—to grab a great deal of plunder?'

¹⁴ So prophesy, son of man, and tell Gog that this is what the Lord God says: On the day you attack aren't you going to notice that my people Israel are unsuspecting?

¹⁶ You will attack my people Israel like a cloud that covers the land. Gog, in the last days I will send you to attack my land, so that the nations may acknowledge me as holy when I reveal myself to them by what I do through you.

¹⁷ This is what the Lord God says: Aren't you the one of whom I spoke about long ago through my servants, the prophets of Israel? During that time didn't they prophesy for years that I would have you come and attack them?

¹⁸ Now on that day, the day when Gog comes to attack the country of Israel, I will become very angry, declares the Lord God.

²⁰ Everything that lives on the earth will tremble at my presence—the fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the wild animals, every creature that runs upon the ground, and every human being. The mountains will be torn down, the cliffs will collapse, and every wall will be knocked to the ground.

²¹ I will call for an attack on Gog from all my mountains, declares the Lord God. Everyone will attack his brother with sword.

* 38:12 The word used for center is "navel," and is similar to Mount Tabor. It is in the same general area as "Armageddon," the location for the end-time battle referred to in Revelation 16:16.

²² I will punish him with disease and bloodshed. I will send rainstorms, hailstones, fire, and sulfur down on him and his army, and on the armies of his many allies.

²³ I will demonstrate my true power and holiness, revealing myself to many nations. Then they will acknowledge that I am the Lord.

² I will send you in a different direction, drag you along, bring you from the distant places of the north, and send you to attack the mountains of Israel.

³ Then I will knock the bow out of your left hand and make you drop the arrows from your right hand.

⁴ You will be killed on the mountains of Israel, you and your whole army and armies of your allies. I will provide you as food to all kinds of flesh-eating birds and animals.

⁵ You will fall and die out in the open, for I have spoken, declares the Lord God.

⁶ I will set Magog on fire, as well as the coastlands where people think it’s safe to live, and then they will acknowledge that I am the Lord.

⁷ In this way I will make my reputation for holiness known among my people Israel and won’t allow it to be ruined anymore. Then the nations will acknowledge that I am the Lord, the Holy One of Israel.

⁹ Then those living in the towns of Israel will go out to light fires and burn the weapons—the large and small shields, the bows and arrows, the clubs and spears. They will use the weapons to make fires for seven years.

¹⁰ They won’t need to go and gather firewood from the countryside or cut it from the forests, because they’ll use the weapons to make fires. They will loot and plunder those who looted and plundered them, declares the Lord God.

¹¹ At that time I will give Gog a place to be buried in Israel, the Travelers’ Valley, east of the Sea. People won’t be able to travel through because all his army will be buried there. So it will be called the Valley of Gog’s Army.

¹² It will take the people of Israel seven months to bury them in order to make the country clean.

¹³ Everyone in the country will be involved in burying them, and this will give them a good reputation when I reveal my glory, declares the Lord God.

¹⁴ Men will be chosen to go repeatedly through the country to make it clean it by burying the bodies of the invaders that are still left lying the ground. They will start doing this at the end of the seven months.

¹⁵ As they search the country, if they find a human bone they will place a marker next to it so that those in charge of burials can have it buried in the Valley of Gog’s Army.

¹⁶ Even the town there will be named Hamonah.* In this way they will make the country clean.

¹⁸ You will eat the flesh of the powerful and drink the blood of the world's leaders just as if they were rams, lambs, goats, and bulls—all the fattened animals that come from Bashan.

¹⁹ You will eat fat until you are totally full and drink blood until you are drunk at the sacrifice I'm going to prepare.

²⁰ You will eat at my table until you're full, consuming horses and riders, powerful men and all kinds of warriors, declares the Lord God.

²¹ I will reveal my glory to the other nations, and all of them will see the punishment I hand out to them.

²³ The nations will realize that the people of Israel were taken prisoner because of their sins, because they were unfaithful to me. So I gave up on them and handed them over to their enemies, so that they were all[†] killed by the sword.

²⁴ I dealt with them because of their uncleanness and sins, and I gave up on them.

²⁵ So this is what the Lord God says: Now I will bring back the descendants of Jacob from exile and I will show mercy to all the people of Israel, and I will demonstrate my reputation for holiness.

²⁶ They will forget their shameful actions and all the ways they were unfaithful to me once they live in safety in their country, with no one to threaten them.

²⁷ When I bring them home from the nations, gathering them from the countries of their enemies, I will reveal my holiness among as many nations watch.

²⁸ Then they will know that I am the Lord their God, when I bring them home to their own country again, not leaving any of them behind.

²⁹ I won't give up on them anymore, for I will fill the people of Israel with my Spirit, declares the Lord God."

40

¹ At the beginning of the year, on the tenth day of the month of the twenty-fifth year of our exile, (fourteenth years after Jerusalem had been captured), was the exact day that the Lord's power came over me and he took me there to the city.

² God took me to the country of Israel in vision and set me down on a very high mountain. On the south side of the mountain there were buildings that seemed to be a city.

³ When he took me there I saw a man who looked like shining bronze. He was holding a linen cord and a measuring rod as he stood in the entrance way.

* 39:16 "Hamonah," referring to the "army." † 39:23 "All": an example of hyperbole, since clearly they were not all killed.

⁴ “Son of man,” he told me, “watch with your eyes, listen with your ears. Concentrate on everything I’m about to show you, because that’s the reason you were brought here. You are to explain to the people of Israel what you’ve been shown, everything you see.”

⁵ I could see a wall that surrounded the Temple. The measuring rod the man was holding was six long cubits in length (a long cubit is a cubit plus a handbreadth). He measured the wall as six cubits thick and six cubits high.

⁶ Then he went up the steps of the east-facing gate. He measured the gate’s threshold as six cubits deep.

⁷ Beyond that were alcoves that measured six cubits by six cubits, with five cubits between the alcoves. The threshold of the inside entrance facing the porch measured six cubits.

⁸ Then he measured the entrance porch.

⁹ It was eight cubits deep, and its posts* were two cubits thick. The entrance porch faced the Temple.

¹⁰ There were three alcoves on each side of the east gate entrance that all measured the same. The posts on each side also measured the same.

¹¹ He measured the width of the entrance gateway as ten cubits. It was thirteen cubits long.

¹² A wall one cubit high was in front of alcove, and the alcoves measured six cubits by six cubits.

¹³ Then he measured the entrance gateway from the roof of one alcove to the roof of the one opposite. It was twenty-five cubits from one doorway to the opposite doorway.

¹⁵ It was fifty cubits from the gateway entrance to the far side of the inside porch.

¹⁷ He took me into the outer courtyard. I saw rooms and a pavement had been constructed around the courtyard. There were thirty rooms facing the pavement.

¹⁸ This was termed the lower pavement and it extended along the sides of the gateways and was the same length as them.

¹⁹ He measured the distance from the front of the lower gateway to the far side of the inner courtyard as one hundred cubits, both to the east side and the north.

²⁰ He also measured the length and width of the gateway of the outer courtyard that faced north.

²¹ Its three alcoves on both sides, its posts, and its porch all measured the same as the first gateway and was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

* 40:9 “Posts” this is thought to refer to the side of a door, otherwise known as the “door jamb.” Sometimes this word is translated as “pillars,” but in verse 49 it clearly refers to “columns” (or pillars) beside the posts.

²² Its windows, porch, and palm tree decorations were the same as those of the east-facing gate. It had seven steps leading up to it, with its porch facing them.

²³ There was an entrance to the inner courtyard facing the north gate, just like the east gate. He measured the distance from the entrance to the gate as a hundred cubits.

²⁴ He took me to the south side, and I saw a gateway that faced south. He measured its posts and its porch, and they measured the same as those previously.

²⁵ Both the gateway and its porch had windows all around it that were like the other windows. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

²⁶ It had seven steps leading up to it, and its porch faced them. It had one post on each side with palm tree designs on them.

²⁸ He took me into the inner courtyard through the south gate, and he measured the south gate. It measured the same as those previously.

²⁹ Its alcoves, posts, and porch had the same measurements as those previously. The gateway and its porch had windows all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³⁰ (The other surrounding porches measured twenty-five cubits long and five cubits deep.)

³¹ Its porch faced the outer courtyard, and its pillars were decorated with palm tree designs. It had eight steps leading up to it.

³² He took me to the inner courtyard on the east side. He measured the gateway and it measured the same as those previously.

³³ Its alcoves, posts, and porch measured the same as those previously. The gateway and its porch had windows all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³⁴ Its porch faced the outer courtyard, and its posts were decorated with palm tree designs. It had eight steps leading up to it.

³⁵ He took me to the north gate and measured it. It measured the same as those previously,

³⁶ including its alcoves, posts, and porch. The gateway and its porch had windows all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³⁷ Its porch faced the outer courtyard, and its posts were decorated with palm tree designs on all sides. It had eight steps leading up to it.

³⁸ A room with a doorway stood beside by the porch of the inner gateways. This was where the burnt offering was washed.

⁴⁰ Outside, on the way up to the entrance of the north gateway, were two tables on one side of the gate's porch and two tables on the other side.

⁴¹ So there were four tables on the inside the of gateway and another four outside, making a total of eight tables. This is where the sacrifices were slaughtered.

⁴² There were also four tables of cut stone for the burnt offering. They each measured one and a half cubits long, one and a half cubits wide, and a cubit high. The tools used to slaughter the burnt offerings and the other sacrifices were placed on these tables.

⁴³ Hooks measuring the width of a hand were attached to the walls inside the room. The meat of the offering was to be placed on the tables.

⁴⁴ Outside the inner gate but inside the inner courtyard were two rooms. One was beside the north gate and faced south; the other beside the south gate and faced north.

⁴⁵ The man told me: "The room that faces south is for the priests in charge of the Temple,

⁴⁶ and the room that faces north is for the priests in charge of the altar. These priests are the descendants of Zadok and are the only Levites who are allowed to come near to the Lord and minister before him."

⁴⁷ He measured the square courtyard: a hundred cubits long and a hundred cubits wide. The altar stood in the courtyard in front of the Temple.

⁴⁸ He took me to the Temple porch and measured the pillars of the porch as five cubits on each side. The gateway was fourteen cubits wide and its sides measured three cubits.

⁴⁹ The porch was twenty cubits wide and twelve cubits deep, and had ten steps leading up to it. There were columns by the posts, one on both sides.

¹ He took me to the Temple and measured the posts as cubits wide on both sides.

² The entrance was ten cubits wide, and the sides of the entrance were five cubits long on both sides. He measured the outer sanctuary as forty cubits long and twenty cubits wide.

³ He went into the inner sanctuary and measured the entrance posts as two cubits wide. The entrance was six cubits wide, and the walls on both sides were seven cubits wide.

⁴ He measured the room beside the inner sanctuary as twenty cubits long and twenty cubits wide. He told me, "This is the Most Holy Place."

⁵ He measured Temple wall as six cubits thick, and each side room around the Temple was four cubits wide.

⁶ There were three levels of side rooms above one another, each having thirty rooms.

The wall of the Temple had external supports for the side rooms, so that they would not be fixed into the wall of the Temple itself.

⁷ The side rooms around the Temple became wider at each higher level, because as the structure around the Temple went up the Temple wall grew narrower. A stairway provided access from the bottom story to the top, going through the middle level.

⁸ I saw that the Temple was on a raised platform that surrounded it. This was the foundation for the side rooms. Its height was the complete length of a measuring rod, six long cubits.

⁹ The thickness of the outer wall of the side rooms was five cubits, and there was open space between the side rooms of the Temple

¹¹ The doors of the side rooms opened into this area, with one entrance to the north and another one to the south. The open space was five cubits wide on each side.

¹² Another building faced the Temple courtyard on the west side. It measured seventy cubits wide and ninety cubits long, with walls all the way round that were five cubits thick.

¹⁶ as well as the thresholds and the narrow windows and the surrounding open halls with their three levels up to and including the threshold, were covered with wood on every side. This extended from the ground up to and including the windows.

¹⁷ On the outside of all the walls by the entrance to the inner sanctuary, spaced at regular intervals around the inner and outer sanctuary,

¹⁸ were carved designs of cherubim and palm trees. Every cherub had two faces:

²¹ The Temple's doorframe was rectangular, as was the doorframe of the sanctuary.

²² An altar made of wood stood there, three cubits high and two cubits by long. All of it—its corners, base, and sides—were made of wood. The man told me, "This is the table that stands before the Lord."

²³ The Temple and the sanctuary both had hinged double doors.

²⁴ Each door had two panels that opened. There were two panels for one door, and two panels for the other door.

²⁵ There were carvings of cherubim and palm trees on the Temple doors like those on the walls, and there was a wooden roof that covered the outside part of the porch at the front.

²⁶ There were narrow windows and palm tree designs on the walls of the porch. The side rooms of the Temple also had roofs.

² The building with the north-facing door was a hundred cubits long and fifty cubits wide.

³ It had three floors of open halls on both sides, one facing the twenty-cubit area of the inner courtyard and one facing the pavement of the outer courtyard.

⁵ The upper rooms were smaller because of the space taken up by the open halls on the lower and middle levels of the building.

⁶ Since they didn't have pillars like the courtyards, the upper rooms were set farther back than the lower and middle levels.

⁸ The rooms on the outer courtyard extended for fifty cubits, but those that faced the Temple were a hundred cubits long.

¹⁰ Along the wall on the south* side of the outer courtyard were rooms next to the courtyard and opposite the building.

¹² Similarly there was an entrance under the rooms on the south side of the building, coming from the east side.

¹³ The man told me, "The north and south rooms that face the Temple courtyard are holy rooms where the priests who go before the Lord will eat the most holy offerings. They will place the most holy offerings there because the place is holy, and include the grain offerings, the sin offerings, and the guilt offerings.

¹⁴ Once the priests have entered these rooms, they are not to go to the outer courtyard before leaving their priestly clothes, because these are holy. They must change into other clothes before go where the ordinary people are."

¹⁵ After the man finished measuring inside of the Temple area, he took me out through the east gate, and he measured the surrounding area as well.

¹⁶ Using the measuring rod he measured the east side. It was five hundred cubits long.

¹⁷ He measured the north side. It was five hundred cubits long.

¹⁸ He measured the south side. It was five hundred cubits long.

¹⁹ And he came around and measured the west side. It was five hundred cubits long.

²⁰ So he measured all four sides. There was a wall surrounding it, five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide, separating the holy from the common.

² There I saw the glory of Israel's God coming from the east. His voice sounded like a thundering waterfall, and the earth blazed bright with his glory.

* 42:10 "South": Septuagint reading.

³ The vision I saw was just like the vision I'd seen when he* came to destroy the city of Jerusalem and like the visions I'd seen beside the River Kebar. I fell facedown on the ground.

⁷ He told me, "Son of man, this is where I have my throne. It's my home† where I will live among the Israelites forever. The people of Israel and their kings won't ever again disgrace me and my holiness by their acts of prostitution and by their honoring their dead kings in their pagan high places.

¹⁰ Son of man, tell the people of Israel about the Temple and they'll be ashamed of their sins. Have them carefully consider its plan,

¹¹ and if they're ashamed of everything they've done, then explain to them the Temple's design, its layout, exits, and entrances—the complete plan—as well as all its regulations, specifications, and laws. Write them down as they watch, so that they can remember its complete plan and follow all its regulations.

¹² This is the Temple law: the whole area around the Temple on the mountain top is very holy. Pay attention: this is the Temple law.

¹³ These are the measurements of the altar in cubits (a cubit and the width of a hand): The gutter is to be one cubit deep and one cubit wide, with a rim one hand span wide along its edge. The back of the altar

¹⁵ The altar hearth is to be four cubits high, with four horns pointing upwards from it.

¹⁶ The altar hearth shall be square, its four sides each measuring twelve cubits.

¹⁷ The ledge is also to be square, measuring fourteen cubits by fourteen cubits, with a half-cubit rim and a one-cubit gutter all around it. The altar steps are to face the east."

¹⁸ Then he told me: "Son of man, this is what the Lord God says: These are the regulations regarding the altar once it's built, so that it can be used to sacrifice burnt offerings and to sprinkle blood on it:

* 43:3 "He": in the Hebrew it reads "I" which is either scribal error or reflects the concept that the prophet carried out what he only predicted. † 43:7 "My home": literally, "the place for the soles of my feet."

¹⁹ You shall give a young bull as a sin offering to the Leviticus priests from the family of Zadok, who come and minister before me, declares the Lord God.

²² On the second day you are to bring as male goat without defects as a sin offering, and the altar shall be purified as it was purified with the bull.

²³ After you've finished the purifying process, you are to present a young bull and a ram, both free from defects.

²⁴ You are to offer them to the Lord. The priests shall sprinkle salt on them and sacrifice them to the Lord as a burnt offering.

²⁵ For seven days you are to supply a male goat daily for a sin offering. You are also to supply a young bull and a ram, they are both to have no defects.

²⁶ For seven days the priests are to set the altar right and purify it. This is how they will dedicate it.

²⁷ Once these days are over, then from the eighth day the priests are to present the burnt offerings and peace offerings of your people on the altar. Then I will accept all of you, declares the Lord God."

² The Lord told me, "This gate will stay shut. It is not to be opened. No one is allowed to come in through it, because the Lord, the God of Israel, has passed through it. So it will stay shut.

³ The prince himself is permitted to come and sit inside the gateway to eat in the presence of the Lord. He is to come in through the gateway's porch and leave the same way."

⁴ The man took me to the front of the Temple through the north gate. As I looked, I saw the glory of the Lord filling his Temple, and I fell with my face to the ground.

⁵ The Lord told me, "Son of man, concentrate! Keep your eyes open! Listen carefully to everything I tell you about all the regulations and laws of the Lord's Temple. Pay close attention to the Temple entrance and all the exits of the sanctuary.*

⁶ Tell those rebels, the people of Israel, that this is what the Lord God says: I've had more than enough of all your disgusting sins, people of Israel!

⁷ As well as all your other offensive practices, you invited unconverted, pagan foreigners[†] to come into my sanctuary. You made my Temple unclean even while you offered food to me, the fat and the blood. You broke my agreement.

* 44:5 Presumably to determine who is allowed access. [†] 44:7 "Unconverted, pagan foreigners": literally, "uncircumcised in heart and flesh."

⁸ In addition you have not taken care of my sanctuary as you were required to, but instead you employed others to look after my sanctuary for you.

¹¹ However, they will serve in my sanctuary, supervising the Temple gates and working in the Temple. They will slaughter the burnt offerings and sacrifices brought by the people and be there to serve them.

¹² But because they served the people in front of their idols and encouraged the people of Israel to sin, I held up my hand to promise on oath that they would experience the consequences of their sin, declares the Lord God.

¹³ They are not allowed to come near me to serve me as priests, and they are not to touch anything I regard as holy or most holy. They will have to experience the shame of the disgusting sins they committed.

¹⁴ However, I will put them in charge of all Temple work and everything that needs to be done there.‡

¹⁵ It is the Levitical priests, descended from Zadok and who took care of my sanctuary when the Israelites abandoned me, are the ones to come near to me and minister before me. They will stand in my presence to offer me fat and blood, declares the Lord God.

¹⁶ Only they are allowed to enter my sanctuary and approach my table to minister before me. They will do what I say.

¹⁸ They shall wear linen turbans on their heads and linen underwear. They are not to wear anything that makes them sweat.

¹⁹ When they go to the outer court where the people are, they must take off their priestly clothes they wore when they were serving, and leave them in the holy rooms. They are to put on other clothes so that they don't carry holiness to the people with their clothing.

²⁰ They are not permitted to shave their heads or let their hair grow long; they must have a proper haircut.

²² They are not to marry a woman who is a widow or divorced; they can only marry a virgin of Israelite descent, or a widow of a priest.

²³ They are to teach my people the difference between what is holy and what is common, and explain to them how to distinguish between what is clean and what is unclean.

²⁴ They are to serve as judges in legal cases, and base their decisions on my laws. They are to follow my instructions and regulations regarding all my regular religious festivals, and they are to keep my Sabbaths holy.

‡ 44:14 In other words the larger body of Levites were to do the menial work required in the Temple.

²⁵ A priest must not make himself unclean by going near a dead body. However, if it's his father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or a sister that's not married, then he may do so.

²⁶ Afterwards, once he is purified, he must wait for seven days.

²⁷ Then when he enters the sanctuary, going into the inner courtyard and ministering there in the sanctuary, he has to present his sin offering, declares the Lord God.

²⁸ Regarding their share of the land, I will take care of them. You are not to give them any property in Israel, because I will provide for them.

²⁹ They are to eat the grain offerings, sin offerings, and guilt offerings. Everything brought by the people of Israel and dedicated to the Lord will be theirs.

³⁰ The best of all the firstfruits and all your offerings are for the priests. You shall give the first loaf you bake to the priest, so that your home may be blessed.

³¹ The priests are not permitted to eat any bird or animal found dead or killed by wild beasts."

¹ When you allocate the land ownership by lot, you are to make a provision for the Lord, a holy allocation of the land that measures 25,000 cubits long and 20,000* cubits wide. This whole area is holy.

² Inside this there is the section for the sanctuary that measures 500 cubits square, with an open area around it 50 cubits wide.

³ From this holy allocation, measure out a section that is 25,000 cubits by 10,000 cubits. This will contain the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place.

⁴ This area is a holy allocation of the land which will be used by the priests who serve in the sanctuary, who come before the Lord to minister. It will be where they can live, and a holy place for the sanctuary.

⁵ The other section measuring 25,000 cubits by 10,000 cubits will be assigned the Levites who work in the Temple where they can live.†

⁶ Allocate to the city an area 5,000 cubits wide and 25,000 cubits long beside the sanctuary section. It is for the all the people of Israel.

⁷ The prince will be assigned the territory on both sides of the area that includes the holy section and that of the city. It will extend to the western border of the country from the west side and to the eastern border from the east side, in the same way as the allocation to the tribes.

⁸ This territory will be his to own in the country of Israel. My princes won't exploit my people anymore, and will make sure the people of Israel occupy the country according to their tribal allocations.

¹⁰ You must use correct methods of measurement—whether it's weights on scales, or ephah for measuring solids, and a bath for measuring liquids.

* 45:1 "20,000." Septuagint reading. The Hebrew is "10,000," but since this allocation is divided into two sections of 10,000 cubits each, the Septuagint is likely correct. † 45:5 "Where they can live": literally, "property for twenty rooms."

¹¹ The ephah and the bath shall be the same quantity of volume. The bath will be equivalent to a tenth of a homer, and the ephah will also be equivalent to a tenth of a homer. The homer is to be the fundamental measurement.

¹⁴ In the case of olive oil, one tenth of a bath from every cor. (The measurement is based on baths, and a cor consists of ten baths or one homer, since ten baths equal one homer.)

¹⁶ Everyone in the country has to make these contributions to the prince in Israel.

²⁰ You are also to do this on the seventh day of the month on behalf of anyone who does wrong unintentionally or in ignorance. By doing this you purify the Temple.

²¹ You are to keep the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. This is a religious festival that lasts seven days, during which time bread made without yeast is to be eaten.

²² On that day the prince will provide a bull as a sin offering for himself and for everyone on the country.

²³ Every day for the seven days of the festival, he will provide seven bulls and seven rams without defects as a burnt offering to the Lord, together with a male goat for a sin offering.

²⁴ He will also provide an ephah of grain and a hin of olive oil as an offering to accompany each bull and each ram.

¹ This is what the Lord God says: "The east gate of the inner court is to be kept shut during the six working days, but it shall be opened on the Sabbath and on the day of the New Moon

[‡] 45:12 "Sixty": given as 20 plus 25 plus 15. No reason for this is clear. [§] 45:13 The taxes are to be paid to the prince for the operating costs of the Temple. * 45:25 The Festival of Shelters.

² The prince must come through the gateway porch from outside and he will stand by the gatepost, and the priests will sacrifice his burnt offerings and peace offerings. He is to bow in respect at the gate's threshold of the gate and leave, but the gate is not to be shut until evening.

³ The people of Israel will also bow before the Lord at the gateway entrance on Sabbaths and New Moons.

⁴ The burnt offering that the prince is to offer to the Lord on the Sabbath day shall be six male lambs and a ram, all without defects.

⁶ On the day of the New Moon he is to offer a young bull, six lambs, and a ram. They are all to be without defects.

⁷ He is also to provide a grain offering of an ephah with the bull, an ephah with the ram, and as much as he chooses with the lambs, together with a hin of olive oil for every ephah of grain.

⁹ When the people of Israel gather before the Lord at the regular religious festivals, anyone who enters through the north gate to worship has to leave through the south gate, and anyone who enters through the south gate leave through the north gate. No one is allowed to go back through the same gate through which they entered. Everyone must leave by the opposite gate.

¹² When the prince decides to make a freewill offering to the Lord, whether it's a burnt offering or a peace offering, the east gate is to be opened for him. He shall offer his burnt offering or peace offering in the same way he does on the Sabbath. When he leaves, the gate must be closed after him.

¹³ Every morning a year-old lamb without defects is to be sacrificed as a daily burnt offering to the Lord.

¹⁴ Every morning a grain offering of a sixth of an ephah with a third of a hin of olive oil to moisten the best flour is to be provided as a grain offering to the Lord. This regulation is to be followed forever.

¹⁶ This is what the Lord God says: If the prince gives a gift of property to any of his sons to own, it will belong to his descendants. They will be able to inherit the property.

¹⁷ However, if he gives a gift of his property to one of his servants, that servant will only own it until the Jubilee Year. Then ownership will return to the prince. His property that he passes on through inheritance belongs only to his sons—it is theirs.

¹⁹ The man took me through the entrance beside the gate into the north-facing holy rooms that belonged to the priests. He showed me a place at the far western end

²⁰ and told me, "This is where the priests cook guilt offerings and sin offerings, and where they bake the grain offering. This is so that they don't take them to the outer courtyard and carry holiness to the people."

²² There were separate walled courtyards in the four corners of the outer courtyard. They each measured forty cubits by thirty cubits—they were all the same size.

²³ Each of the four courts had a stone ledge with ovens built into the base of the walls on every side.

²⁴ He told me, "These are the kitchens where those who serve in the Temple will cook the people's sacrificial offerings."

47

² Then he took me out through the north gate and led me around the outside to the outer gate that faced east. I saw water was trickling out from the south side of the gate.

³ The man walked east holding a measuring line. He measured a thousand cubits and led me through the water which came up to my ankles.

⁴ He measured another thousand cubits and led me through water which came up to my knees.

He measured another thousand cubits and led me through water that came up to my waist.

⁵ He measured another thousand cubits, but this was a river I couldn't cross. The water had risen so high you could swim in it. It was a river that couldn't be crossed on foot.

⁶ "Son of man, have you observed all this?" he asked. Then he took me back to the riverbank.

⁸ He told me, "This water flows out into the land to the east and into the Arabah.* When it arrives at the Dead Sea, it turns the saltwater fresh.

⁹ There will be many animals and fish wherever the river flows. Because the river turns the saltwater fresh wherever it flows, everything will be able to live there.

¹⁰ Fishermen will stand on the shore of the Dead Sea. They will be able to spread their nets from En-ge-di to En-eg-laim and catch many kinds of fish. There will be plenty of fish just like the Mediterranean Sea.

* 47:8 The Arabah is the Jordan Valley and its southern extension that includes the Dead Sea.

¹¹ However, the marshes and swampy areas won't become fresh; they will remain salty.

¹² All types of fruit trees will grow on both sides of the river. Their leaves won't wither, and they won't fail to produce fruit. They will produce fruit every month, because the river flowing from the sanctuary comes to water them. Their fruit will be eaten as food and their leaves will be used for healing."

¹³ This is what the Lord God says: "These are the boundaries you are to use when allocating ownership of the land to the twelve tribes of Israel (Joseph is to receive two allocations.)

¹⁴ You are to allocate the land to them equally. I held up my hand and made a solemn promise to give it to your forefathers, so this land will come to you to own and to pass on as an inheritance.

¹⁵ These shall be the country's boundaries:

On the northern side it runs from the Mediterranean Sea along the Hethlon road and through Lebo-hamath to Zedad;

¹⁶ then on to Berothah, and Sibraim on the border between Damascus and Hamath, and all the way to Hazer-hatticon, on the border of Hauran.

¹⁷ So the border is from the Mediterranean Sea to Hazar-enan, along the northern border with Damascus, with the border of Hamath to the north. This is the northern boundary.

¹⁸ The eastern boundary runs from Hauran and Damascus, down along the Jordan between Gilead and the land of Israel, to the Dead Sea and on to Tamar. This is the eastern boundary.

¹⁹ The southern boundary runs from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, then along the Wadi of Egypt to the Mediterranean Sea. This is the southern boundary.

²² You are to allocate land to own and to pass on as an inheritance for yourselves, and for the foreigners who live among you who have children. You shall treat them in the same way as Israelites born in the country. They are to be given a land allocation to own among the Israelite tribes in the same way as you.

²³ Foreigners are to be allocated land to own among the tribe where they live, declares the Lord God."

48

¹ This is a list of the allocations according to the names of the tribes. At the northern frontier, Dan's allocation borders the Hethlon road to Lebo-hamath and to Hazar-enan on the border of Damascus with Hamath to the north, and extends from the eastern boundary of the country to that on the west.

³ Naphtali's allocation borders that of Asher from east to west.

⁴ Manasseh's allocation borders that of Naphtali from east to west.

⁵ Ephraim's allocation borders that of Manasseh from east to west.

⁶ Reuben's allocation borders that of east to west.

⁷ Judah's allocation borders that of Reuben from east to west.

⁸ Adjacent to Judah's allocation, from east to west, is the special area you are to make provision for.* It is to be 25,000 cubits wide, and extend the same length as a tribal allocation from east to west. The sanctuary will be in the middle of it.

⁹ The special allocation you make is for the Lord and shall be 25,000 cubits by 10,000 cubits.

¹⁰ This is to be the holy allocation for the priests. It will be 25,000 cubits long on the north and south sides, and 10,000 cubits wide on the west and east sides. The sanctuary will be in the middle of it.

¹³ The Levites shall have an area 25,000 cubits by 10,000 cubits adjacent to the allocation of the priests. Its entire length will be 25,000 cubits, and its width 10,000† cubits.

¹⁴ They are not permitted to sell exchange or transfer any of it, for it is the best part of the land and is holy to the Lord.

¹⁵ The remainder, 5,000 cubits by 25,000 cubits, is for ordinary use by the city for houses and pastureland. The city will be in the middle of it,

¹⁷ The city's pastureland will surround it for 250 cubits on all sides, north, south, east, and west.

¹⁸ What remains of the land bordering the holy allocation and running beside it will be 10,000 cubits on both the east side and the west side. The crops it produces will provide food for those who work in the city.

²⁰ The whole allocation will be a square, 25,000 cubits by 25,000 cubits. You are to make provision for the holy allocation, together with the area for the city.

²¹ The land that remains on both sides of the holy allocation and of the area for the city will belong to the prince. This land will be next to the tribal allocations and extend east from the 25,000 cubits of the holy section to the eastern border, on the other side west from the 25,000 cubits to the western border. In the middle of them will be the holy section and the Temple sanctuary.

²² The Levites area and the city's area will lie in the middle of the prince's allocation, and will lie between the borders of the allocations of Judah and Benjamin.

²³ These are the allocations for the rest of the tribes:

Benjamin's allocation extends from the eastern boundary of the country to that on the west.

²⁴ Simeon's allocation borders that of Benjamin from east to west.

²⁵ Issachar's allocation borders that of Simeon from east to west.

²⁶ Zebulun's allocation borders that of Issachar from east to west.

²⁷ Gad's allocation borders that of Zebulun from east to west.

²⁸ The southern border of Gad's allocation will be from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-kadesh, then along the Wadi of Egypt to the Mediterranean Sea.

* 48:8 See 45:1-8. † 48:13 The Septuagint has 20,000.

²⁹ This is the land you are to allocate for the tribes of Israel to own and pass on as an inheritance. These are their assigned allocations, declares the Lord God.

³⁰ These are to be the city exits, starting on the north side, which is 4,500 cubits long.

³¹ The city gates are to be named after the tribes of Israel.

There will be three gates on the north side: the gates of Reuben, Judah, and Levi.

³² There will be three gates on the east side, (also 4,500 cubits long): the gates of Joseph, Benjamin, and Dan.

³⁴ There will be three gates on the west side, (also 4,500 cubits long): the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher, and the gate of Naphtali.

³⁵ The distance around the outside of the city will be 18,000 cubits. From that day on the name of the city will be "The Lord Is There."

Daniel

² The Lord allowed him to defeat King Jehoiakim,* and also to remove some of the objects used in the Temple of God. He took them back to Babylon,† to the house of his god,‡ placing them in the treasury of his god.

³ Then the king ordered Ashpenaz, his chief eunuch,§ to take charge of some of the captured Israelites from the royal and noble families,

⁴ “They are to be young men without any physical defect who are good-looking,” he said. “They must be well-educated, quick to learn, have good insight, and be well able to serve in the king’s palace and be taught the literature and language of Babylon*.”

⁵ The king also provided them with a daily allowance of the same kind of rich food and wine he was served. At the end of their three years of education they would enter the king’s service.†

⁶ Among those chosen were Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, from the tribe of Judah.

⁸ However, Daniel made up his mind not to make himself impure‡ by eating the king’s rich food and wine. He asked the chief eunuch to allow him not to make himself impure.

⁹ God had helped Daniel to be viewed with kindness and sympathy by the chief eunuch.

¹⁰ But the chief eunuch told Daniel, “I’m afraid of what my lord the king would do to me. He’s the one who decided what you should eat and drink. What if he were to see you looking pale and sickly compared to the other young men of your age. Because of you the king would have my head!”

¹³ “After that, compare us with those young men who ate the king’s rich food. Then decide on the basis of what you see.”

* 1:2 “The Lord allowed him to defeat King Jehoiakim”: literally, “The Lord gave King Jehoiakim into his hand.” † 1:2 Literally, “the land of Shinar.” ‡ 1:2 Or “gods.” § 1:3 In other words, his chief of staff. Eunuchs were often given such positions in these times, and the term also came to mean the one in charge of the court, without necessarily meaning he had been castrated. The emphasis is on this man’s position of authority. * 1:4 Literally, “the Chaldeans.” † 1:5 “Enter the king’s service”: literally, “they would stand before the king.” This is taken to mean entering service (see Deuteronomy 10:8). ‡ 1:8 “Make himself impure”: or “unclean.” An observant Jew would have had several problems in consuming such a diet—the use of unclean meats, the animals not killed in accordance with Levitical law, portions of the meat and also the wine offered to pagan gods, the rich food and wine would not be a healthy diet etc. § 1:12 The word means “from plants,” so would include cereals, beans, green plants, etc.

¹⁴ The guard agreed to the proposal they made and tested them for ten days.

¹⁶ After that the guard didn't give them the rich food and wine, just vegetables.

¹⁷ God gave these four young men the ability to learn and understand in all areas of literature and knowledge, while Daniel was also given the gift of interpreting all kinds of visions and dreams.

¹⁸ When their time of education ordered by the king was over, the chief eunuch brought all the young men before King Nebuchadnezzar.

¹⁹ The king talked with them and none could compare with Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. So they entered the king's service.

¹ In the second year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign the king had dreams that upset him so much that he found it difficult to sleep.

² So the king summoned the magicians, enchanters, sorcerers, and astrologers to tell him what he had dreamed. They came in and stood before him.

³ "I've had a dream that has really upset me," he told them. "I need to know what it means."

⁴ The astrologers answered the king in Aramaic,* "May Your Majesty the king live forever! Tell us your dream and we your servants will interpret it for you."

⁵ "I can't recall it,"† the king told the astrologers. "If you can't reveal the dream to me, and its meaning, you will be cut into pieces and your houses will be totally destroyed!"

⁶ But if you can tell me the dream and its meaning you will receive from me gifts, rewards, and great honor. So tell me the dream and what it means!"

* 1:20 The Hebrew does not say "wisdom and understanding" as most versions translate it. Some argue that "wisdom of understanding" indicates a superlative, in that the highest form of wisdom is indicated. Others suggest that "understanding" qualifies the term "wisdom," indicating that this wisdom did not include so-called Babylonian "wisdom" of astrology and divination etc. * 2:4 The language of the original switches from Hebrew to Aramaic at this point until the end of chapter 7.

† 2:5 "I can't recall it." Some take this phrase to be, "I've firmly decided." The issue is the word "azda," which some see as a loan word from Persian. The Septuagint and Vulgate understand it to mean "gone away," but most modern translations read it as "firm." If it is taken in the sense understood by the Septuagint and Vulgate, the phrase would literally be, "the matter is gone from me." The phrase also occurs in verse 8.

⁸ "It's obvious to me that you're just trying to buy time!" said the king. "You can see that I can't remember the dream.†

⁹ If you can't reveal the dream to me, you will all receive the same punishment! You have conspired against me, telling me lies, hoping things will change. So tell me what my dream was and then I'll know that you can explain what it means."

¹⁰ The astrologers answered the king, "No one on earth could tell the king what he dreamed! Never before has a king, however great and powerful, demanded this of any magician, enchanter, or astrologer!

¹¹ What Your Majesty is asking is impossible! No one can tell Your Majesty what you dreamed, except the gods, and they do not live among us mortals."

¹² This made the king extremely angry, and he ordered all the wise men of Babylon executed.

¹³ The decree was issued. The wise men were about to be executed, and the king's men[§] went looking for Daniel and his friends.

¹⁴ Daniel approached Arioch, the commander of the imperial guard, whom the king had put in charge of the order to execute all the wise men of Babylon.* Wisely and tactfully

¹⁵ Daniel asked him, "Why would the king issue such a harsh decree?" So Arioch explained to Daniel what had happened.

¹⁶ Daniel immediately went to see the king and asked for more time to explain the dream and its meaning to him.

¹⁷ Then Daniel went home and shared with Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah what was going on.

¹⁸ He told them to pray to the God of heaven, asking for help regarding this mystery, so that he and his friends would not be killed along with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

¹⁹ That night the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision. Then Daniel praised the God of heaven:

²⁰ "Praise the wonderful nature† of God forever and ever, for he is wise and powerful.

²¹ He is in charge of time and history.‡ He removes kings, and he sets kings in place. He gives wisdom to make people wise; he gives knowledge to people so they can understand.

²² He reveals deep, mysterious things. He knows what lies in darkness, and light lives in his presence.

²³ I give thanks and praise to you, God of my fathers, for you have given me wisdom and power. Now you have revealed to me what we asked you; you have revealed to us the king's dream."

† 2:8 It may not be that the king was already convinced that they could not tell him the dream, but that they were plotting against him by deferring the interpretation. Dreams were often understood to come at an "opportune time," and the king may have been concerned that delay could mean he would "miss his chance." § 2:13 "King's men": implied. * 2:14 It appears Arioch intended to collect all the wise men together before executing them. † 2:20 "Wonderful nature": literally "name," but in Semitic thought "name" is a description of character—who the person actually is.

‡ 2:21 "He is in charge of time and history": literally, "He changes times and seasons."

²⁶ The king asked Daniel (also called Belteshazzar), “Are you really able to tell me what my dream was, and what it means?”

²⁸ “But there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and he has revealed to King Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in the last days. Your dream and the visions that came to your mind as you were lying in bed were these.

³⁰ It’s not because I have any more wisdom than anyone else that this mystery has been revealed to me, but to explain to Your Majesty what you were thinking about so you could understand.

³¹ Your Majesty, as you looked, there before you stood a great statue. The statue standing in front of you was huge, and blazingly bright. It looked terrifying!

³² The head of the statue was gold, the chest and arms were silver, its middle and thighs were bronze,

³⁴ While you were watching, a stone was quarried, but not by human hands. It struck the iron and clay feet of the statue and smashed them to pieces.

³⁵ Then the rest of the statue—the bronze, the silver, and the gold—broke into pieces like the iron and clay. The wind blew them all away like chaff from the summer threshing floor, so that no trace of them could be found. But the stone that struck the statue became a great mountain and filled the whole earth.

³⁸ He gave you control over all peoples,[§] as well as the wild animals and birds. He made you ruler of all of them. You are the head of gold.

³⁹ But after you another kingdom will rise that is inferior to your kingdom and will replace yours. After that a third kingdom that is bronze will rise and rule over the whole world.

⁴⁰ The fourth kingdom will be strong as iron and in the same way that iron crushes and smashes everything; it will crush and smash all others.

⁴¹ You saw the feet and toes made from iron and baked clay, and this indicates it will be a divided kingdom. It will have some of the strength of iron but mixed with clay.

⁴³ In the same way that you saw the iron mixed with ordinary clay, so the people will mix but they will not stick together just as iron and clay do not mix.

⁴⁴ During the time of these kings* the God of heaven will set up an eternal kingdom that will never be destroyed or taken over by others. It will crush all these kingdoms, bringing them to an end, and it will last forever;

⁴⁵ in the same way that you saw the stone quarried from the mountain, but not by human hands, crush the iron, bronze, clay, silver, and gold. The great God has revealed to Your Majesty what is to come. The dream is true, and the explanation is trustworthy.”

⁴⁷ The king said to Daniel, “Truly, your God is the God of gods, the Lord of kings, the revealer of mysteries, for you have been able to reveal this mystery.”

¹ King Nebuchadnezzar had a gold statue made that was sixty cubits tall and six cubits wide.* He had it set up on the plain of Dura in the province of Babylon.

² Then he summoned the provincial governors,[†] prefects, local governors, counselors, treasurers, judges, magistrates, and all the officials of the provinces to come to the dedication of the statue he had set up.

³ They all[‡] came to the dedication of the statue Nebuchadnezzar had set up and stood in front of it.

⁴ Then a herald announced in a loud voice, “People of all nations and languages, pay attention to the king's command!”

⁶ Anyone who doesn't immediately fall down and worship will be thrown into a furnace of blazing fire.”

⁷ So when all the people heard the sound of the musical instruments§ they all fell down—the people of all nations and languages worshiped the gold statue that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

⁹ They said to King Nebuchadnezzar, “May Your Majesty the king live forever!”

* 2:44 Referring to the kings of the time of iron and clay. * 3:1 This corresponds to around 90 feet high by 9 feet wide; however, the numbers in cubits are significant, especially in the Babylonian context. † 3:2 “Provincial governors”: literally, “satraps.” Also verse 27 and 6:1. ‡ 3:3 The complete group as identified in verse 2 is repeated in the text. § 3:7 The names of five of the six instruments mentioned in verse 5 are repeated again here. * 3:8 “Made accusations against the Jews”: literally, “ate pieces of the Jews.”

¹¹ and that anyone who does not shall be thrown into a furnace of blazing fire.

¹² But there are some Jews that you placed in charge of the province of Babylon—Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego—who pay no attention to Your Majesty's decree. They do not serve your gods and will not worship the gold statue you set up."

¹³ This made Nebuchadnezzar absolutely furious. "Bring me Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego!" he demanded. So they were brought before the king.

¹⁴ "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, are you deliberately[‡] refusing to serve my gods and worship the gold statue I set up?" asked the king.

¹⁵ "Are you ready now to fall down and worship the statue I had made when you hear the sound of the musical instruments? If you don't, you will be immediately thrown into the furnace of blazing fire, and there's no god who can save you from my power!"

¹⁶ "King Nebuchadnezzar, we don't need to defend ourselves before you over this," Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego replied.

¹⁷ "If our God whom we serve so wishes, he is able to rescue us from the furnace of blazing fire. He will save us from your power, Your Majesty.

¹⁸ But even if he does not, Your Majesty needs to know that we would never serve your gods or worship the gold statue you have set up."

¹⁹ This made Nebuchadnezzar so angry with Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego that his face twisted in rage. "Make the furnace seven times hotter than normal!" he ordered.

²⁰ Then he commanded some of his strongest soldiers, "Tie up Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego and throw them into the furnace of blazing fire!"

²³ Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, still tied up, fell into the furnace of blazing fire.

²⁴ Then King Nebuchadnezzar suddenly jumped up in amazement. "Didn't we throw three men tied up into the furnace?" he asked his advisors. "Yes, that's right, Your Majesty," they replied.

²⁵ "Look!" he cried out. "How is it that I can see four men, not tied up, walking around in the fire and not being burned? And the fourth one looks like a god!"*

²⁶ Nebuchadnezzar went towards the door of the furnace of blazing fire. "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come

[†] 3:10 The musical instruments listed in verse 5 are repeated again here. Also verse 15. [‡] 3:14 "Deliberately": often translated as "true," but this is an Aramaic word more to do with intent and purpose. [§] 3:21 The meaning of the words used for these items of clothing is debated. * 3:25

"A god." This expression on the lips of a pagan king surely referred to his own religious beliefs. The actual term is "son of god (s)," however in Hebrew "son of" often simply refers to the actual person, not the son (see for example 2:25 which in fact refers to the "sons of the captives," etc). However, in verse 28 Nebuchadnezzar identifies him as an angel.

out! Come here!" he shouted. So Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came out of the fire.

²⁸ Then Nebuchadnezzar said, "Praise the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego! He sent his angel and he rescued his servants who trusted in him! They disobeyed my royal command, putting their lives on the line, and refused to worship any other gods except their God.

²⁹ Consequently I am issuing a decree that if anyone of any nation or language speaks disrespectfully about the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego they will be torn to pieces and their houses will be destroyed. There is no other God who is able to save like this!"

³⁰ Then Nebuchadnezzar promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, giving them even greater responsibilities in the province of Babylon.

4

² It is my pleasure to share with you an account of the signs and wonders the Most High God has done for me.

³ His signs are incredible. His wonders are amazing! His kingdom is an eternal kingdom, and his rule will last for all generations!

⁴ I, Nebuchadnezzar, was doing well at home, living happily in my palace.

⁵ But then one night I had a dream that really scared me—I saw visions that terrified me while I lay in my bed.

⁶ So I ordered all the wise men of Babylon brought before me to explain the dream to me.

⁸ In the end Daniel came before me and I told him the dream. (He is also called Belteshazzar after my god, and he has the spirit of the holy gods† in him.)

⁹ "Belteshazzar, chief of magicians," I said,‡ "I certainly know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you and that no mystery is difficult for you to explain. So tell me about what I saw in my dream and explain what it means.

¹⁰ As I lay in bed dreaming, I saw a tree in the middle of the earth—a really large tree.

¹¹ It grew strong and tall, reaching high into the sky so it could be seen by everyone in the whole world.

¹² Its leaves were beautiful, and it was full of fruit for all to eat. Wild animals rested in its shade, and birds nested in its branches. It fed all living creatures.

* 4:1 "I wish you well": literally, "May your 'shelam' increase." "Shelam" is equivalent to the Hebrew "Shalom" and can mean both peace and prosperity. However, this is a standard letter greeting, and its use is really a stylized formula. † 4:8 "Spirit of the holy gods": or, "spirit of the holy God." Nebuchadnezzar clearly vacillated in his "god concepts"—one moment identifying the true God as the only one, while at other times referring to a pagan god as "his god." Also verses 9 and 18; and 5:11 and 5:14. ‡ 4:9 Implied.

¹³ As I went on dreaming, lying on my bed, I saw a watcher, a holy one, § coming down from heaven.

¹⁴ He cried out in a loud voice, ‘Cut down the tree and chop off its branches! Shake off its leaves and scatter its fruit! Drive the animals away from its shade, and scare off the birds from its branches.

¹⁵ But leave the stump and its roots in the ground, and bind it with iron and bronze, surrounded by the new grass of the field. Let him* become soaked with the dew of heaven, and let him live with the animals outside in the undergrowth.

¹⁶ Let his mind become like that of an animal. Let him be like this for seven times.†

¹⁷ This is the decree conveyed by the watchers, the verdict declared by the holy ones in order that everyone alive may know that the Most High rules over human kingdoms. He gives them to whoever he chooses—he puts the most humble individuals in charge.’

¹⁸ This is what I, King Nebuchadnezzar, saw in my dream. Now it’s up to you, Belteshazzar, to give me the explanation as you have before. None of the wise men in my kingdom could explain it to me. But you can, because the spirit of the holy gods is in you.”

¹⁹ When Daniel (also called Belteshazzar) heard this, he was upset for a while, disturbed as he thought about it. The king told him, “Belteshazzar, don’t be worried about the dream and what it means.”

“My lord, I only wish this dream was for those who hate you and the explanation for your enemies,” Daniel replied.

²⁰ “The tree you saw was growing strong and tall, reaching high into the sky so it could be seen by everyone in the whole world.

²¹ Its leaves were beautiful, and it was full of fruit for all to eat. Wild animals lived under its shade, and birds nested in its branches.

²² This is you, Your Majesty. You have grown strong, your power has become so great that it has reached high into the sky, and your rule extends to the ends of the earth.

²³ Then Your Majesty saw a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven who said, ‘Cut down the tree and destroy it, but leave the stump and its roots in the ground, and bind it with iron and bronze, surrounded by the new grass of the field. Let him become soaked with the dew of heaven and let him live with the animals outside in the undergrowth. Let his mind become like that of an animal. Let him be like this for seven times.’

²⁵ You will be driven away from human society and you will live with the wild animals. You will eat grass like the cattle, and you will be soaked with the dew of heaven. You will be like this for seven times until you acknowledge that the Most High rules over human kingdoms, and that he gives them to those he chooses.

§ 4:13 “A watcher, a holy one”: this is usually understood to be an angel. * 4:15 “Him”: there is a gradual transition from the actual image of the tree to its application to King Nebuchadnezzar.

† 4:16 The most common interpretation of “times” is “years,” and this is the understanding of the Septuagint, Josephus, and traditional Jewish commentators.

²⁶ However, as it was decreed, the stump and its roots were to be left in the ground. Your kingdom will be restored to you when you acknowledge that Heaven rules.

²⁷ So, Your Majesty, please take my advice. Stop sinning and do what's right. End your iniquities and be merciful to the oppressed. Maybe then things will continue to go well for you."

²⁸ (However, all this did happen to King Nebuchadnezzar.

²⁹ Twelve months later he was walking on the roof[‡] of the royal palace in Babylon.

³⁰ He said, "I was the one who built this great city of Babylon! By my own great power I built it as my royal residence for my majestic glory!"

³² You will be driven away from human society and you will live with the wild animals. You will eat grass like the cattle, and you will become soaked with the dew of heaven. You will be like this for seven times until you acknowledge that the Most High rules over human kingdoms, and that he gives them to whoever he chooses."

³³ Immediately the decree was fulfilled, and Nebuchadnezzar was driven away from human society. He ate grass like the cattle, and his body was soaked with the dew of heaven. His hair grew matted like a vulture, and his nails like bird claws.)

³⁴ Once the time had passed, I, Nebuchadnezzar, looked up to heaven and my sanity returned to me. I blessed and praised the Most High and worshiped the One who lives forever. His rule is an eternal rule, and his kingdom lasts for all generations.

³⁵ Everyone who lives on earth are as nothing compared to him. He does whatever he chooses among the heavenly host and among those who live on earth. No one can hold him back from what he does, or ask him, "What are you doing?"

³⁶ When my sanity returned, then my kingdom, majesty, and splendor also returned to me. My advisors and nobles came looking for me, and I was restored as ruler over my kingdom, even greater than before.

³⁷ So now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise, honor, and glorify the King of Heaven, for everything he does is right, and his ways are true. He is able to humble those who are proud.

¹ King Belshazzar held a great feast for one thousand of his nobles, and he was drinking wine with them.

² Under the wine's influence Belshazzar ordered his servants to bring in the cups and bowls of gold and silver his father* Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the Temple in Jerusalem so that he and his nobles, his wives and concubines, could drink from them.

[‡] 4:29 "On the roof": literally just "on." Buildings of the time had flat roofs, which would explain why the king was walking "on" the royal palace. * 5:2 "Father" as used here does not necessarily mean his actual father.

³ So they brought in the gold cups and bowls that had been taken from the Temple of God in Jerusalem. The king and his nobles, his wives and concubines, drank from them.

⁴ As they drank wine they praised their gods—idols made of gold, silver, bronze, iron, wood, and stone.

⁵ Immediately the fingers of a human hand appeared, writing on the plaster wall of the king's palace, opposite the lampstand. The king watched the hand as it wrote.

⁷ The king shouted, "Bring in the enchanters and astrologers and diviners!" He told these wise men of Babylon, "Anyone who can read this writing and explain it to me will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around his neck, and he will become the third highest ruler in the kingdom."[‡]

⁸ However, after all the king's wise men had come in, they could not read the writing or explain to him what it meant.

¹⁰ When the queen mother[§] heard the noise the king and the nobles were making she went to the banquet hall. She said to Belshazzar, "May Your Majesty the king live forever! Don't be frightened! Don't look so pale!"

¹¹ There's a man in your kingdom who has the spirit of the holy gods in him. In your father's^{*} time he was found to have understanding and insight, and wisdom like that of the gods. Your Majesty's father, King Nebuchadnezzar put him in charge of the magicians, enchanters, astrologers, and diviners. Your father did this

¹² because Daniel, (called Belteshazzar by the king) was found to have an excellent mind, full of understanding and insight, and also able to interpret dreams, explain mysteries, and solve difficult problems. Call Daniel in and let him explain what this means to you."

¹³ So Daniel was brought in before the king. The king asked him, "Are you Daniel, one of the prisoners my father the king brought from Judah?"

¹⁴ I have heard about you, that the spirit of the gods is in you, and that you were found to have understanding, insight, and great wisdom.

¹⁵ Just now the wise men and enchanters were brought before me to read this writing and explain it to me, but they weren't able to do so—they couldn't tell me what it meant.

¹⁶ However, I'm told that you are able to give interpretations and solve difficult problems. If you can read this writing and explain it to me, you will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around your neck, and you will become the third highest ruler in the kingdom."

¹⁷ Daniel answered the king, "Keep your gifts and give your rewards to another. Even so I will read the writing to Your Majesty and explain to you what it means.

[†] 5:6 "His face turned pale": literally "his face changed." [‡] 5:7 "Third highest ruler": It is believed that Belshazzar was regent for his father Nabonidus, which is why he could only offer third place rather than second place in the kingdom. [§] 5:10 "Queen mother": literally, "the queen."

Most commentators agree with this interpretation. ^{*} 5:11 See note under 5:2. "Father" does not necessarily mean his actual father. This could equally be "grandfather" or simply "predecessor."

¹⁹ Because of the power he gave him, people of every nation and language trembled with fear before him. Those he wished to kill were killed, and those he wished to live were allowed to live. Those he wanted to honor were honored, and those he wanted to humble were humbled.

²⁰ But when he became arrogant and hard-hearted, acting proudly, he was removed from his royal throne and his glory was taken away from him.

²¹ He was driven away from human society and his mind became like that of an animal. He lived with the wild donkeys and ate grass like cattle, and he was soaked with the dew of heaven until he acknowledged that the Most High rules over human kingdoms, and that he gives them to whoever he chooses.

²³ You have arrogantly defied the Lord of heaven and you had the cups and bowls of his Temple brought to you. You and your nobles, your wives and concubines, drank wine from them as you praised gods made of silver, gold, bronze, iron, wood, and stone that can't see or hear or know anything. But you have not honored God who holds in his hand your very breath and everything you do.

²⁴ That's why he sent the hand to write this message.

²⁵ What was written on the wall was this: 'Number, number, weigh, divide.'[†]

²⁶ Here is the meaning: Number—God has numbered your reign and brought it to an end.

²⁸ Divided—your kingdom has been divided and given to the Medes and the Persians."

²⁹ Then Belshazzar gave the order and Daniel was clothed in purple and had a gold chain placed around his neck. He was proclaimed the third highest ruler in the kingdom.

³⁰ On that very night Belshazzar, king of the Babylonians, was killed

³¹ and Darius the Mede was given[‡] the kingdom at the age of sixty-two.

6

¹ Darius decided it would be good to place the kingdom under the control of one hundred and twenty provincial governors.

² Three chief ministers were placed over them to look after the king's interests. Daniel was one of the three.

³ Soon Daniel was shown to be a far better administrator than the other chief ministers and provincial governors. Because of his exceptional ability, the king planned to put him in charge of the whole kingdom.

⁴ As a result the other chief ministers and provincial governors tried to find a pretext against Daniel as to the way he ran the kingdom. But they couldn't find any cause for complaint or any corruption, for he was trustworthy. They could not discover any evidence that Daniel was negligent or corrupt.

⁵ So they said to themselves, “We won’t find any pretext to attack Daniel unless we use his observance of his God’s laws against him.”

⁷ “We have all agreed—chief ministers, prefects, provincial governors, counselors, and local governors—that Your Majesty should issue a decree, legally enforced, that for the next thirty days anyone who prays to any god or human being except you, Your Majesty, shall be thrown into the lions’ den.

⁸ Now, Your Majesty, if you will sign the decree and have it issued so that it cannot be changed, according to the law of the Medes and the Persians that cannot be revoked.”

⁹ So Darius signed the decree into law.

¹⁰ When Daniel found out that the decree had been signed he went home to his upstairs room where he would pray three times a day, with the windows open facing Jerusalem. There he kneeled down, praying and thanking his God as he always did.

¹² They went to the king right away and asked him about the decree. “Didn’t Your Majesty sign a decree that for the next thirty days anyone who prays to any god or human being except you, Your Majesty, shall be thrown into the lions’ den?”

“I certainly did!” the king replied. “The decree stands. According to the law of the Medes and the Persians it cannot be revoked.”

¹³ Then they told the king, “Daniel, one of those captives from Judah, pays no attention to Your Majesty or to the decree you signed and prays three times a day.”

¹⁴ When the king heard this, he was very upset and tried to think of how to save Daniel. He worked hard until sundown trying to rescue him.

¹⁵ Then the men returned together and said to the king, “You know, Your Majesty, that according to the law of the Medes and the Persians no decree or statute can be changed.”

¹⁶ Eventually the king gave the order and Daniel was taken and thrown into the lions’ den. The king told him, “May the God you so loyally serve save you!”

¹⁸ Then the king went back to his palace. He ate nothing at all that night and refused any kind of entertainment. He couldn’t sleep a wink.

¹⁹ At dawn, as soon as it was light, the king got up and rushed to the lions’ den.

²⁰ As he approached the den, he called out anxiously to Daniel, “Daniel, servant of the living God whom you honor so faithfully, was your God able to save you from the lions?”

²¹ Daniel replied, “May Your Majesty the king live forever!”

* 6:11 “The men who had plotted against Daniel”: literally, “these men.”

²² My God sent his angel to shut the lions' mouths. They have not hurt me because I was found innocent in his sight. In addition, I have never done you any wrong, Your Majesty."

²³ The king was extremely pleased and ordered Daniel brought up from the den. Daniel was lifted up from the den and he was found to have no injuries at all because he had trusted in his God.

²⁵ Then Darius wrote to all the people of the world, the different nations and languages, saying, "I wish you well![‡]

²⁶ I decree that throughout my entire kingdom everyone should respect and honor the God of Daniel, for he is the living God. He is everlasting and his kingdom will never be destroyed. His reign will never end.

²⁷ He is the one who rescues and saves; he does miracles and wonders in the heavens and on earth. He saved Daniel from death in the lions' den."

¹ In the first year of Belshazzar's reign as king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream in which visions passed through his mind as he lay in bed. Afterwards he wrote down the dream, describing it in summary form.

² In my vision that I had that night I saw a tremendous storm, blowing from every direction, stirring up a great sea.

⁴ The first was like a lion and had the wings of an eagle. As I watched, its wings were torn off and it was pulled upright so it was standing with its hind legs on the ground and it was given the mind of a human being.

⁵ A second beast appeared, looking like a bear, hunched up on one side and holding three ribs in its mouth with its teeth. It was told, "Get up and eat all the flesh you can."

⁶ After this I saw a third beast. It looked like a leopard with four wings like those of a bird on its back, and it had four heads. It was given power to impose its rule.

⁷ Then in my vision that I had that night a fourth beast appeared. It was terrifying, frightening, and extremely powerful, with great iron teeth. It tore apart and ate up its victims, and then trampled on what was left. This beast was different to those that came before it, and it had ten horns.

⁸ As I was wondering about the horns, another horn, a little one, came up between them and three of the earlier horns were pulled out before it. It had human-looking eyes and a mouth that made arrogant boasts.

⁹ While I was watching, thrones were set up and the Ancient of Days took his seat.* His clothes were white as snow and his hair looked like the purest wool. His throne blazed like flames; its wheels like burning fire.

[†] 6:24 "Ripping them to pieces": literally, "crushing all their bones." [‡] 6:25 On the greeting see

4:1. * 7:9 "Took his seat": in other words, to begin judgment.

¹⁰ A stream of fire poured out, flowing from before him. A thousand thousands attended him; ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him. The court sat to begin its judgment, and the books were opened.

¹¹ I was watching because of the boasts the little horn was making. I went on watching until that beast was killed and its body destroyed by burning.

¹² The rest of the beasts were allowed to go on living for a season and a time, but their power to rule had been taken away.

¹³ As I continued watching in my vision that I had that night I saw one like a son of man coming with the clouds of heaven. He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence.

¹⁴ He was given authority, glory, and the power to rule over all people, the different nations and languages, so they would all worship him. His rule is everlasting—it will never cease, and his kingdom will never be destroyed.

¹⁵ I, Daniel, was deeply disturbed—the visions that had passed through my mind frightened me.

¹⁶ I went up to one of the attendants[†] and asked him to explain what all this meant. He said he would explain it so I could understand.

¹⁷ “These four large beasts symbolize four kingdoms[‡] that will rise to power on the earth.

¹⁹ Then I wanted to know what the fourth beast stood for—the one that was different to the rest and so terrifying. It had iron teeth and bronze claws, and it tore apart and ate up its victims, trampling on what was left.

²⁰ I also wanted to know about the ten horns on its head, and the other one that came up later, causing three of the other horns to fall. This horn looked more impressive than the others and had eyes and a mouth that made arrogant boasts.

²² until the Ancient of Days came and gave judgment in favor of[§] the dedicated people of the Most High, and at that time they took possession of the kingdom.

²³ Then he told me, “The fourth beast stands for the fourth kingdom to rule the earth. It will be different to all the rest of the kingdoms. The beast will eat up the whole world, trampling it down and crushing it.

²⁴ The ten horns are ten kings that will come to power from this kingdom. The one who comes later is different from them, and will defeat three of them.

²⁵ He will speak words of defiance against the Most High and oppress the dedicated people of the Most High, and attempt to change times and laws, and they will be placed under his power for a time, two times, and half a time.

²⁶ Then the court will execute judgment and take away his power, destroying it forever.

[†] 7:16 Referencing those mentioned in verse 10. [‡] 7:17 “Kingdoms”: literally, “kings.” [§] 7:22 “Gave judgment in favor of”: or “Gave the right to judge to.”

²⁷ Then the right to rule, the power, and the greatness of all the kingdoms under heaven will be given to those dedicated to the Most High. His kingdom will last forever, and all who rule will serve and obey him.”

²⁸ This is the end of the summary. As for me, Daniel, my thoughts really disturbed me and my face turned pale, but I kept it all to myself.

8

² In my vision I looked around and saw I was in the castle at Susa in the province of Elam. In the vision I was beside the River Ulai.

³ I looked around and saw a ram standing beside the river. It had two long horns, one longer than the other, even though the longer one had grown last.

⁴ I watched the ram charging west, north, and south. No animal could stand up to it—nor was there any chance of rescue from its power. It did whatever it wanted* and grew powerful.

⁶ It approached the ram with the two horns which I had seen standing beside the river, rushing in to attack in a furious rage.

⁷ I watched as the goat charged furiously at the ram, hitting it and breaking off its two horns. The ram did not have the strength to resist the goat's attack. The goat threw the ram to the ground, trampling on it, and there was no possibility of rescuing it from the goat's power.

⁸ The goat grew very powerful, but at the height of its power its large horn was broken off. In its place four large horns came up, pointing to the four winds of heaven.†

⁹ A little horn came up from one of them, and grew extremely powerful to the south and to the east and to the Beautiful Land.‡

¹⁰ It grew in power until it reached the heavenly army, throwing some of them and some of the stars down to the earth and trampled on them.

¹¹ It even tried to make itself as great as the Prince of the heavenly army—it removed the continual service,§ and the place of his sanctuary was destroyed.

¹² An army of people* and the continual service were handed over to it because of rebellion,† and it overthrew truth, and it was successful in everything it did.

* 8:4 Compare 11:3, 11:16, 11:36 † 8:8 “Four winds of heaven”: north, south, east, and west.

‡ 8:9 “The beautiful land”: a reference to the land of Israel. § 8:11 “Continual service”: the word here refers to the continuing sanctuary services that were carried out on a daily basis. (The word used here simply says “daily.”) Some translations restrict this to “daily sacrifice” but the daily ministry in the sanctuary involved much more than this. The same term is used in verses 12 and 13, and 11:31. The continual service was initiated in Exodus 29:38. It was expected to be continual (Leviticus 6:13, Numbers 28:1-15). * 8:12 The army referenced here is clearly different from the heavenly army mentioned in verse 10. The word for “army” or “host” can simply mean a large group.

¹³ Then I heard a holy one speaking, and another holy one asked the one who was speaking, "How long is this vision for—the removal of the continual service, the rebellion that causes devastation, the handing over of the sanctuary and the army of people to be trampled down?"

¹⁴ He replied, "For two thousand three hundred evenings and mornings, then the sanctuary will be cleansed."[‡]

¹⁶ I also heard a human voice calling from the River Ulai, "Gabriel, explain to this man the meaning of the vision."

¹⁷ As he approached me, I was terrified and fell face down before him. "Son of man," he told me, "You need to understand that this vision refers to the time of the end."

¹⁸ As he spoke to me I lost consciousness as I laid face down on the ground. But he took hold of me and helped me to my feet.

¹⁹ He told me, "Pay attention! I'm going to explain to you what's going to happen during the time of anger, which refers to the appointed time of the end.

²⁰ The ram with two horns that you saw symbolizes the kings of Media and Persia.

²¹ The male goat is the kingdom of Greece, and the large horn between its eyes is its first king.

²² The four horns that came up in place of the large horn that was broken represent the four kingdoms that arose from that nation, but not as powerful as the first.

²⁴ It will become very powerful but not by its own power. It will be terribly destructive, and will succeed in everything it does. It will destroy great leaders and God's dedicated people.

²⁵ Through its deviousness, its lies will be convincing and successful. It shows its arrogance both in thought and action, destroying those who thought they were perfectly safe. It even fights in opposition against the Prince of princes, but it will be defeated, though not by any human power.

²⁶ The vision about the evenings and mornings that has been explained to you is true, but for now seal up this vision because it refers to the distant future."

²⁷ After this, I, Daniel, became exhausted, and I was sick for days. Then I got up and went back to working for the king, but I was devastated at what I'd seen in vision and I couldn't understand it.

9

[‡] 8:14 "Cleansed": some have suggested "justified" or "restored," however the Septuagint and the Vulgate both read "cleansed." [§] 8:23 "Kingdom" literally, "king," but here expressive of more than a single person. * 9:1 Xerxes in Greek.

² During the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, understood from the Scriptures as given to the prophet Jeremiah that the time of seventy years for Jerusalem to lie desolate would soon be fulfilled.[†]

³ So I turned to the Lord God in prayer. I fasted and wore sackcloth and ashes, and I pleaded with him in prayer to act.[‡]

⁴ I prayed to the Lord my God, and confessed, saying, § “Lord, you are a great and awesome God! You always keep your promises and show your trustworthy love to those who love you and keep your commandments.

⁵ But we have sinned, we have done wrong. We have acted wickedly, we have rebelled against you. We have turned away from your commandments and your laws.

⁶ We have not paid attention to your servants the prophets who spoke in your name to our kings and leaders and forefathers, and to everybody in the country.

⁷ Lord, you always do what is right, but we continue to be ashamed* to this very day—we the people of Judah, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and all Israel, those nearby and those far away, those of every country where you have driven them because of their unfaithfulness to you.

⁸ Public shame is ours Lord, and on our kings and princes and forefathers, because we have sinned against you.

⁹ Yet you, the Lord our God, are compassionate and forgiving, even though we have rebelled against you.

¹⁰ We have not obeyed what you, the Lord God, have told us. We have not followed your law that you gave us through your servants the prophets.

¹¹ The whole of Israel has broken your law and turned away from you, not listening to what you had to say. That's why the condemnation that comes from our broken promise has been poured out on us—because of our sin, as made clear in the Law of Moses, the servant of the Lord.

¹² You have carried out what you warned us about, against us and against our rulers—such a terrible punishment brought upon Jerusalem, the worst that has ever happened in the whole world.

¹³ Just as the Law of Moses said, all this punishment has fallen on us, but we still have not asked you, the Lord our God, to be favorable to us, turning away from our sins and paying attention to your truth.

¹⁴ You were ready to punish us, and you were right to do everything you have done, for we didn't listen to you.

¹⁵ You, our Lord God, by your great power brought us out of Egypt, making a name for yourself that lasts even until now. But we have sinned, we have done wicked things.

¹⁶ So Lord, because you are so good, please turn away from your anger and fury against Jerusalem, your holy mountain. Because of our sins and

[†] 9:2 Daniel's concern, as shown by the following verses, was that the seventy years would soon be completed, but that there was no sign that any change was imminent. [‡] 9:3 “To act”:

implied. § 9:4 Daniel's prayer draws on a number of texts from the Old Testament (Deuteronomy, 1 Kings, Ezra, Nehemiah, and Jeremiah) and so switches between me/our, you/your, and he/his. For consistency here the pronouns are regularized e.g. all references to God are designated as “you.”

* 9:7 “Ashamed”: this was especially true as a defeated and enslaved nation. Living in Babylon was a daily reminder that their God had not protected them from capture and exile. This humiliation must have been particularly hard to bear for those such as Daniel who maintained their faith in the true God.

those of our forefathers, Jerusalem and your people are mocked by all our neighbors.

¹⁷ Now, our Lord, please listen to the prayer and pleading of your servant, and for your own sake look kindly† on your abandoned sanctuary.

¹⁸ Please listen carefully and open your eyes and see the terrible state we are in, and the city that bears your name. We're not making these requests to you for this because of our goodness, but because of your great mercy.

¹⁹ Lord, please listen! Lord, please forgive! Please pay attention and do something! For your own sake, my God, don't delay, for your city and your people are identified by your name."

²⁰ I continued speaking, praying and confessing my sins and those of my people Israel, pleading before the Lord my God on behalf of Jerusalem, his holy mountain.

²¹ While I was still praying, Gabriel, whom I'd seen previously when I'd had the vision, came flying rapidly towards me at the time of the evening sacrifice.

²³ As soon as you started praying, the answer was given, and I have come to explain it to you because God loves you very much. So please listen to the explanation and understand the meaning of the vision.

²⁴ Seventy weeks has been allotted to your people and your holy city to deal with the rebellion, to put an end to sin, to forgive wrongdoing, to bring in everlasting goodness, to confirm the vision and the prophecy, and to anoint the Most Holy Place.

²⁵ You need to know and understand that from the time the command is given to restore and rebuild Jerusalem, until the Messiah,§ seven weeks plus sixty-two weeks will elapse. It will be built with streets and defenses, in spite of the difficult times.

²⁶ After sixty-two weeks the Messiah will be put to death, and will be brought to nothing.* A ruler will come to power whose army will destroy the city and the sanctuary. Its end will come like a flood. War and devastation will continue until that period of time is completed.

²⁷ He will confirm the agreement with many people for one week, but in the middle of the week he will put an end to sacrifices and offerings. The idolatry† that causes devastation will be supported until the end when the same fate is poured out on the one who devastates."‡

¹ In the third year of the reign of King Cyrus of Persia, a message* was revealed to Daniel (also called Belteshazzar). The message was certain

† 9:17 "Look kindly": literally, "shine your face." ‡ 9:22 "He gave me the following explanation": literally, "He instructed and he spoke with me and he said." § 9:25 "Messiah": literally means

"anointed one." * 9:26 "He has nothing": literally, "there is not for him." The meaning of this phrase is unclear. † 9:27 "Idolatry": literally, "abomination." ‡ 9:27 The latter part of this verse literally reads, "on a wing of abominations desolation until the end and what was determined is poured on the desolator." It has been variously understood. * 10:1 "Message": literally, "word." This is not the same as the vision mentioned later—the vision explained the message.

and concerned a great conflict. He understood the message and gained understanding of the vision.

² When this happened, I, Daniel, had been in mourning for three full weeks.

³ I ate no fine food. No meat or wine passed my lips. I used no perfumed oils until those three weeks were over.

⁴ On the twenty-fourth day of the first month I was standing on the bank of the great River Tigris.

⁵ I looked around and saw a man dressed in linen, and around his waist was a belt of pure gold.

⁶ His body shone like a jewel;[†] his face was as bright as lightning; his eyes were like blazing torches; his arms and legs gleamed like polished bronze; and his voice sounded like the roar of a crowd.

⁷ I, Daniel, was the only one to see this vision[‡]—the others with me did not see the vision, but they suddenly felt very frightened and ran away to hide themselves.

⁸ I was left alone to see this wonderful vision. My strength drained away, and my face turned pale as death. I didn't have an ounce of strength left.

⁹ I heard him speaking, and when I heard his voice I lost consciousness and I lay face down on the ground.[§]

¹¹ He said to me, "Daniel, God loves you very much. Pay attention to what I'm telling you. Stand up, because I have been sent to you." When he told me this I stood up, trembling.

¹² "Don't be afraid, Daniel," he said. "From the first day you concentrated on trying to understand this, and to humble yourself before God, your prayer was heard, and I have come to answer you.

¹³ But the prince of the kingdom of Persia* opposed me for twenty-one days. Then Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, because I was being detained there by the kings of Persia.

¹⁴ Now I've come to explain to you what will happen to your people in the last days,[†] for the vision is about a time in the future."

¹⁵ As he told me this I remained there with my face to the ground and couldn't say a word.

¹⁶ Then the one who looked like a human being touched my lips and I was able to speak. I told the one standing in front of me, "My lord, since I saw the vision I've been in agony and I feel really weak.

¹⁷ How can I, your servant, speak to you, my lord? I have no strength, and I can hardly breathe."

¹⁸ Once again the one who looked like a human being touched me and restored my strength.

[†] 10:6 "Jewel": the exact gemstone is uncertain—beryl, topaz, and jasper have been suggested.

[‡] 10:7 This vision, or appearance, is different to Daniel's previous visions, and indeed the form of the Hebrew word is slightly different. Previously the visions have been while dreaming or are clearly happening "inside his head." This "vision" seems to be one in which there is a real physical manifestation, and the fact that those present experience some "supernatural effect" supports this.

[§] 10:9 See the similar experience in 8:18. * 10:13 "Prince of the kingdom of Persia": in the context likely a supernatural being, one opposed to those serving God. [†] 10:14 "Last days": the future as described in the prophetic vision.

¹⁹ “Don’t be afraid; God loves you very much. May you have peace! Be strong! Have courage!” As he spoke to me, I became stronger and I said, “My lord, speak to me, for you have strengthened me.”

²⁰ “Do you know why I’ve come to you?” he asked. “Shortly I will have to go back and fight the prince of Persia, and after that the prince of Greece will come.

²¹ But before that I will tell you what is written down in the Book of Truth. No one helps me fight against these princes except Michael your prince.

² So now let me reveal the truth to you. There are still three kings to come to power in Persia, and then a fourth who will be far richer than all the others. When he becomes strong through his wealth, he will rally the whole kingdom against Greece.‡

³ Then a mighty king will come to power. He will rule with great authority and do whatever he wants.§

⁴ But as he extends his power his kingdom will be broken up, divided towards the four winds of heaven.* It will not go to his descendants, and it will not be ruled as he ruled. It will be pulled up and given to others.

⁵ The king of the south will grow strong, but one of his officers will grow even stronger and will rule his kingdom with great authority.

⁶ Some years later they will form an alliance, and the daughter of the king of the south will be married to the king of the north to guarantee the peace treaty. However, she will not be able to keep her hold on power, nor will his power† continue. She and her attendants will be betrayed, along with her child and husband.‡ Later on, however,

⁷ a new king of the south from her family will take over. He will come to attack the army of the king of the north and enter his fortress. He will fight against them and will win.

⁸ In addition he will take back with him to Egypt the idols of their gods, along with their expensive vessels of silver and gold. For some years he will leave the king of the north alone.

* 11:1 “I myself” refers to the angel, not to Daniel. His speech continues until 12:4. † 11:1 The meaning of this verse is debated, however this statement clearly continues the speech of God’s messenger. The next chapter really begins at verse 2. ‡ 11:2 “Rally the whole kingdom against Greece.” Alternatively, this could be read as “rally all the kingdoms of Greece,” though this is a minority opinion. § 11:3 “Do whatever he wants”: see 8:4 and 11:16 and 11:36. * 11:4 “Towards the four winds of heaven”: in other words, “into four parts.” † 11:6 Or “offspring.” ‡ 11:6 “This vision”: referring back to the vision beginning in 8:13.

¹¹ This will infuriate the king of the south, who will go out into battle against the large army assembled by the king of the north and will defeat it.

¹⁴ At the same time many will rebel against the king of the south. Violent men from your own people will rebel in order to fulfill this vision,[§] but they shall fail.

¹⁵ Then the king of the north will come and build siege ramps and he will capture a city with strong defenses. The forces of the south will not be able to prevent it—even his best troops won't be able to resist the attack.

¹⁶ The invader will do whatever he wants;^{*} no one will be able to oppose him. He will stand in the Beautiful Land[†] with the power to destroy it.

¹⁷ He will be determined to come with all the power of his kingdom and will make a peace treaty with the king of the south. To secure this he will give him a daughter of women to marry in order to destroy the kingdom. But she will not be successful and will not support him.

¹⁸ Then he will turn to attack the coastlands and will conquer many, but a commander will put a stop to his arrogant behavior, paying him back for it.

¹⁹ He will return to the fortresses of his own land, but he will stumble and fall, and will be gone.

²⁰ His successor will send out a tax collector to maintain royal wealth. However, in a short time he will die, but not violently or in battle.

²¹ A contemptible person will follow him who will not be given royal majesty. He will take over peaceably[‡] and assume control of the kingdom through deception.

²² Great armies will be swept away before him. They will be broken, as well as the prince of the agreement.[§]

²⁴ He will invade the richest parts of the land and do what his fathers and forefathers never did—he will distribute plunder, spoil, and possessions. He will make plans to attack fortresses, but only for a time.

²⁶ Those closest to him^{*} will destroy him. His army will be wiped out—many will fall in battle.

^{} 11:16 "Do whatever he wants": see 8:4 and 11:3 and 11:36 [†] 11:16 Israel. [‡] 11:21 "Peaceably" or "in a time of peace." This word is repeated in verse 23, and contrasts with the violence mentioned in verse 22. [§] 11:22 See 9:27. ^{} 11:26 "Those closest to him": literally, "those who eat his royal food."

²⁷ The two kings, with evil intentions, will tell each other lies even as they sit together at the same table. But their scheming is pointless—the end will come at the time predicted.

²⁸ The king of the north will return to his own country with all the wealth he has looted.[†] He will be determined to attack[‡] the people of the holy agreement, and do all he can to destroy it before returning to his own country.

³⁰ Ships from Cyprus[§] will come to attack him, frightening him off so that he retreats. But this will make him mad, and he will attack the people of the holy agreement, recognizing those who abandon their commitment to the holy agreement.

³¹ His forces will occupy and defile the Temple fortress. They will put a stop to the continual service,^{*} and set up a form of idolatry that causes devastation.[†]

³² The king will use flattery to corrupt those who break the solemn agreement,[‡] but the people who know their God will stand firm in their resistance.

³³ Wise leaders of the people will teach many, though for a time they will be killed by sword and fire, or they will be imprisoned and robbed.

³⁵ Some of the wise will be killed, so that they may be refined and purified and cleansed until the time of the end, for the predicted time is still to come.

³⁶ The king will do whatever he wants,[§] praising himself and considering himself greater than any god, even saying outrageous things against the God of gods. He will be successful until the time of anger has finished, for what has been decided will be accomplished.

³⁷ He will have no time for the gods of his forefathers, nor for the one loved by women, nor for any other god, for he considers himself greater than any of these.

³⁸ Instead he will honor the god of fortresses—a god unknown to his forefathers—giving him offerings of gold and silver and precious stones and expensive gifts.

³⁹ He will deal with strong fortresses^{*} with the help of this foreign god. He will give riches to those who acknowledge him, making them rulers over the people, and distributing the land at a price.

⁴¹ He will invade the Beautiful Land[†] and kill many people there.

[†] 11:28 “He has looted”: implied. [‡] 11:28 “Be determined to attack”: literally, “set his heart against.” In addition, the word “people” is added as an explanation, since the action taken is against them as believers. [§] 11:30 Hebrew: “Kittim.” ^{} 11:31 “Continual service”: see on 8:11. [†] 11:31 “Idolatry that causes devastation”: see 9:27. [‡] 11:32 “Solemn agreement”: or “covenant,” but this word is not often used today outside of legal contexts. [§] 11:36 “Do whatever he wants”: see 8:4 and 11:3 and 11:16. ^{} 11:39 Whether these are his fortresses or those he attacks is not clear. [†] 11:41 Referring to Israel.

However, Moab, Edom, and most of the Ammonites will escape his power.

⁴² He will extend his attacks against different countries—even the land of Egypt will not be able to escape.

⁴⁴ But news from the east and the north will alarm him, and in a furious rage he will set out to destroy and exterminate many people.

⁴⁵ He will set up his royal camp between the sea and the beautiful holy mountain. But he will die with no one to help him.

¹ At that time Michael the great prince, the protector of your people, will stand up and there will be a time of trouble like never before, since nations first existed. But at that time your people will be saved, all whose names are written in the book.

² Millions* sleeping in the ground in death will awake, some to eternal life, and some to eternal shame and disgrace.

³ Those who are wise will shine as bright as the sky; those who have shown many the right way to live will shine as bright as the stars forever and ever.

⁴ But as for you, Daniel, keep this message secret, and seal the book closed until the time of the end. Many will search this way and that way,† and knowledge will grow greater and greater.”

⁵ Then I, Daniel, noticed two others, each standing on opposite sides of the river.

⁶ One of them asked the man dressed in linen‡ who was above the river's waters, “How long before these outrageous things§ come to an end?”

⁷ The man dressed in linen, who was above the river's waters, lifted both hands to heaven made a solemn promise by the One who lives eternally. I heard him say, “It will last for a time, times, and half a time. When the scattering* of the power of the holy people has come to an end, then all these things will also come to an end.”

⁸ I heard the answer, but I didn't understand it. So I asked, “My lord, what's the final result of all this?”

¹⁰ Many will be purified and cleansed and refined,† but the wicked will go on being wicked. None of the wicked will understand, but the wise will understand.

¹² Blessed are those who patiently wait for and reach the one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days.

* 12:2 “Millions”: the usual translation of “many” seems inappropriate here. It really signifies “a great number” which in modern-day idiom would be “millions.” † 12:4 Theodotion in his Greek translation render this as “peruse carefully,” which would then mean that the increase in knowledge would refer to an increased understanding of the prophecy. ‡ 12:6 See 10:4. § 12:6 See 11:36.

* 12:7 “Scattering”: or, “shattering.” † 12:10 See 11:35. ‡ 12:11 See 8:11, 11:31.

§ 12:11 See 9:27, 11:31.

¹³ But as for you, go your way until your life ends, and then rest. You will rise to receive your reward at the end of time.”

Hosea

¹ The Lord sent a message to Hosea son of Beeri at the time when Uzziah, Jotham, and Ahaz were the kings of Judah, and Jeroboam son of Jehoash* was the king of Israel.

² The Lord began speaking through Hosea by telling him, “Go and take a wife who is a prostitute and have children born to a prostitute† because those living in this land have committed terrible prostitution by turning away from the Lord.”

⁴ The Lord told Hosea, “Call him Jezreel,‡ because I am going to punish the house of Jehu for the blood he shed at Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of Israel.

⁶ Gomer became pregnant again and gave birth to a daughter. The Lord told Hosea, “Call her Lo-ruhamah,§ because I will no longer love the house of Israel and certainly not forgive them.

⁷ But I will have pity on the house of Judah, and I will save them—but I will not save them by bow or sword or war or horses and riders.”

⁸ After Gomer had weaned Lo-ruhamah she became pregnant again and gave birth to a son.

⁹ The Lord told Hosea, “Call him Lo-ammi,* because you are not my people and I am not your God.†

¹⁰ Even so‡ the number of the people of Israel will be like the sand on the seashore that cannot be measured or counted. Then right there at the place where they were told ‘you are not my people’ they will be called ‘the children of the living God.’

¹¹ The people of Israel and the people of Judah will be gathered together and they will choose one leader for themselves and they will take possession of the land, and the day of Jezreel will be great.”

¹ “On that day you will call your brothers Ammi, and you will call your sisters Ruhamah.*

* 1:1 Spelled here “Joash.” † 1:2 Literally “children of prostitution.” There is much debate over this phrase. Some believe this indicates that Gomer had children as a result of her prostitution before marrying Hosea. Others believe this could have happened later as she returned to her former ways (note that only the first child, Jezreel, is clearly identified as being Hosea's). Still others believe that this means any children Hosea had with Gomer would be tainted by her reputation as a prostitute. ‡ 1:4 Jezreel means “the Lord will sow” (or scatter, since that was the way in which seed was sown). Jezreel was historically a place of much violence and bloodshed. § 1:6

The name means “unloved.” * 1:9 The name means “not my people.” † 1:9 Literally, “I am not yours.” ‡ 1:10 “Even so”—transition supplied. The Hebrew simply says “and.” * 2:1 Ammi means “my people,” and Ruhamah means “pitied” or “loved.”

² Condemn your mother, condemn her because she is not my wife and I am not her husband. Tell her to stop looking like a prostitute—get rid of the makeup and the provocative clothing.[†]

³ Otherwise I will strip her naked as the day she was born, and make her like a desert, a barren land, and let her die of thirst.

⁵ For their mother was a prostitute who conceived them in a shameful way. She said, 'I'll run after my lovers who give me my food and water, my wool and flax and olive oil, and my drink.'

⁶ That is why I am going to block her path with thorn bushes, and build a stone wall to stop her so she won't find her way.

⁸ She doesn't consider that it was me who gave her grain, new wine, and olive oil; the silver and the gold which I gave her abundantly that they made into an idol of Baal.

⁹ So I will take back my ripened grain and my new wine I gave at harvest time. I will take back my wool and my flax I provided to cover her nakedness.

¹⁰ I will strip her naked while her lovers watch; no one will be able to rescue her from me.

¹¹ I will put a stop to all her festivities: her feasts, new moon celebrations, special Sabbaths—all her festivals.[‡]

¹² I will destroy her vines and fig trees that she said were given to her as payment for being a prostitute. I will turn them into scrub-land; only wild animals will eat the remaining fruit.

¹³ I will punish her for all the times she offered incense to Baal, dressing herself up, putting on rings and jewelry, going after her lovers, but forgetting about me, declares the Lord.

¹⁴ See what I'm going to do! I will win her back, taking her into the desert where I will speak to her heart-to-heart.

¹⁵ There I will return her vineyards to her and make the Valley of Achor[§] a door of hope. There she will respond to me as she did when she was young, as in the time when she left the land of Egypt.

¹⁶ Then on that day, says the Lord, you will call me 'my husband' and not 'my Baal.'^{*}

¹⁷ I will stop her appealing to the Baals—their names won't be mentioned ever again.

[†] 2:2 Literally, "Let her remove her fornication from her face and her adultery from between her breasts." The exact meaning is unclear. Possibilities include: the suggestive looks of a prostitute; the prostitute's makeup and jewelry; revealing clothing; or a prostitute's actions with her lovers. In any case the main sense is clear: Israel is to stop prostituting herself with other gods. [‡] 2:11 While the celebrations mentioned are all part of the religious calendar, it seems that they had become an excuse for partying rather than true observance. [§] 2:15 "Achor" means "trouble."

^{*} 2:16 "My Baal" would normally be translated as "my lord," but since the context is that of Israel following pagan religions who called their god(s) "Baal" then this is more appropriate here. In addition, God wants the close relationship of being Israel's husband rather than simply her Lord.

¹⁸ At that time I will make a solemn agreement[†] with the wild animals and the birds of the sky and the creeping things of the ground. I will do away with the bow and the sword; I will abolish war from the land so you can lie down in safety.

¹⁹ I will make you my wife forever; I will make you my wife in goodness and justice and love and mercy.

²⁰ I will be faithful to you, my wife, and you will know me as the Lord.

²¹ On that day, declares the Lord, I will answer the heavens and they will answer the earth.[‡]

²³ I will ‘sow’ her for myself in the earth. I will love Lo-ruhamah (unloved) and I will say ‘you are my people’ to Lo-ammi (not my people), and they will say ‘You are my God.’”

3

² So I bought her back for fifteen shekels of silver and one and half homer of barley.[‡]

³ I told her, “You must remain with me for many days and you shall stop your prostitution. You shall not be intimate with any man, and then I shall be yours.”

⁴ For the people of Israel shall be without a king or a prince, without a sacrifice or a stone pillar or a pagan image or an idolatrous shrine[§] for a long time.

⁵ After this, the people of Israel will return and dedicate themselves to the Lord their God and to the line of David their king. In the last days they will come with awe and reverence for the Lord and his goodness.

² Instead there is only cursing, lying, murdering, stealing, and adultery. They commit violence, and bloodshed follows bloodshed.

³ As a result the land dries up,^{*} and everyone who lives there is wasting away, along with the wild animals and the birds of the sky and the fish of the sea—they are all dying.

[†] 2:18 Or “covenant.” Here it implies that these creatures will not hurt the people of Israel.

[‡] 2:21 This is usually understood to mean that the clouds will give rain to the earth. ^{*} 3:1 “A woman”—understood to be Gomer from what follows. It may be that Gomer is not specifically identified since she cannot claim to be Hosea’s wife because of her adultery. [†] 3:1 Literally “raisin cakes”—part of the pagan worship rituals. [‡] 3:2 About the cost of an ordinary slave. Why Hosea had to buy her back is unclear; in some way she had become someone’s “property.” § 3:4 The phrase “a stone pillar or a pagan image or an idolatrous shrine” are all aspects of Israel’s adultery in following other gods. Even “king” and “prince” were symbols of Israel’s rejection of God as their leader

^{*} 4:3 Or “is mourning.”

⁴ But no one should accuse or blame anyone else. My quarrel is with you the priests—you are the ones responsible.[†]

⁵ Consequently you will stumble in daylight, and the prophet[‡] will stumble together with you in the night, and I will destroy your mother.[§]

⁶ My people are dying because they don't know me. Because you have refused to know me, I refuse to accept you as my priests. You have forgotten my teachings, so I will forget your children.

⁷ The more there were of them,^{*} the more they sinned against me, so I will change their glory into shame.

⁸ They feed on the sin[†] of my people, greedy for their iniquity.

⁹ So it will be for the people like the priests: I will punish them for what they have done, repaying them for their actions.

¹⁰ They will eat, but they will not be satisfied; they will engage in prostitution,[‡] but they will not prosper because they have given up on the Lord to go and prostitute themselves to other gods.

¹² My people consult their wooden idols and their divining rods give them answers, for a spirit of prostitution makes them go astray. Prostituting themselves, they have deserted their God.

¹⁴ I will not punish your daughters when they practice prostitution, nor your daughters-in-law when they commit adultery, because you men visit whores and sacrifice with temple prostitutes. A people who lack understanding end up in disaster.

¹⁵ Though you, Israel, have become a prostitute, may Judah not offend in the same way and not enter Gilgal, nor go up to Beth-aven,[§] nor swear saying, "the Lord lives."

¹⁶ For Israel is as stubborn as a stubborn cow. Should the Lord then take care of them like a lamb in a wide pasture?

¹⁷ Ephraim^{*} is bewitched[†] by idols, so leave him alone!

¹⁸ Once the leaders finish drinking, they go off and find prostitutes to sleep with. They love their shameful acts more than honor.

[†] 4:4 What seems to be meant here is that the priests have done such a poor job of representing God and leading the people in correct ways that there's no point in ordinary people blaming one another. [‡] 4:5 Presumably false prophets. [§] 4:5 Mother—meaning the nation of Israel. ^{} 4:7 Referring to the priests. [†] 4:8 Or "sin offerings." Because the priests were given a share of what was offered, it was in their interest to increase the need for sacrifices. [‡] 4:10 Prostitution here can have various meanings—the basic act of adultery, visiting temple priestesses/prostitutes as part of pagan "worship," and spiritual prostitution through breaking vows to the true God by following heathen gods. [§] 4:15 One place that was called Gilgal was where the Israelites crossed the Jordan and set up a stone monument (see Joshua 4). It may be that Gilgal actually refers to a circle of standing stones, and so there may be more than one place so named. Certainly Hosea's condemnation indicates that this particular Gilgal had become associated with pagan worship. Beth-aven is a deliberate misnaming of Beth-el. Beth-el means "house of God" but Hosea chooses to call the place Beth-aven, meaning "house of nothingness." ^{} 4:17 Ephraim was the leading tribe of the northern kingdom of Israel and so was often used to describe the whole kingdom. [†] 4:17 The word used can mean "joined to" or "enchanted, under a spell."

¹⁹ A wind will carry them away; they will be ashamed of their pagan worship.

5

² Judgment belongs with you* because you have been a snare set at Mizpah and a net spread out on Tabor.† You dug a deep trap in Shittim,‡ but I will punish you for all these things you have done.

³ I know Ephraim very well, and Israel cannot hide from me, for now Ephraim is a prostitute and Israel is defiled.

⁴ Your actions stop you from coming back to your God for a spirit of prostitution is within you and you do not know the Lord.

⁵ Israel's pride speaks against them, right in the face. Israel and Ephraim will stumble because of their guilt, and Judah will stumble along with them.

⁷ They have been unfaithful to the Lord and have had children that are not his.* Now the New Moon will destroy them along with their fields.†

⁸ Blow the horn in Gibeah! Sound the trumpet in Ramah! Shout an alarm in Beth-aven! Lead the way, Benjamin!‡

⁹ Ephraim will be left desolate on the day of punishment. Among the tribes of Israel I will reveal what is the real truth.

¹⁰ The rulers of Judah have become thieves like those who illegally move boundaries. I will pour out my anger like water upon them.§

¹¹ The people of Ephraim are crushed, smashed to pieces in judgment because they were determined to follow human commands.*

* 5:2 The phrase is literally “for you the judgment” and so is ambiguous. It could simply mean that God’s judgment is against these leaders; but it could also mean that the power of judgment belongs to them and they have not exercised this authority wisely. † 5:2 Both Mizpah and Mt. Tabor had particular historical significance for Israel but are now sites of degradation. ‡ 5:2

Shittim was the last place the Israelites camped before crossing the Jordan (Numbers 25). § 5:6

The mention of herds and flocks indicate that the people were using many sacrifices and offerings, thinking God would be pleased. However, theirs is not a true worship, but is more like pagan worship trying to appease the deity. * 5:7 The word used here of the children is that they are “foreign”—meaning that they are both illegitimate and also the offspring of “foreign” gods. † 5:7

Various explanations of this sentence have been given. The observance of new Moon festivals was part of Israelite worship but had become corrupted (see for example Is. 1:13) so this could be now taken as a symbol for pagan worship. In addition the northern kingdom under Jeroboam had instituted different festivals which were not ordained of God (see 1 Kings 12:33). The main point is the corrupting influence of pagan beliefs on the genuine worship of the true God. ‡ 5:8 The three places mentioned are on the northern border between Judah and Israel in the territory of the southern tribe of Benjamin. § 5:10 See a similar image in Isaiah 8:5-10 describing the end of the northern kingdom at the hands of the Assyrians. * 5:11 This verse has been linked to the decision of King Menahem of Israel’s decision to agree to a huge payment in silver to the Assyrian king as a means of avoiding conflict (see 2 Kings 15:19-20). Others have thought the “human commands” are Jeroboam’s institution of calves as images to worship (1 Kings 12). Alternatively the end of this verse could also be translated “determined to follow idolatry.”

¹³ When Ephraim saw how sick they were, and Judah saw how wounded they were, Ephraim turned to the great king of Assyria for help, but he could not heal them or cure their wounds.

¹⁴ For I will be like a lion to Ephraim, like a fierce lion to the people of Judah. I will come and tear them to pieces, and carry them off, and no one will be able to rescue them.

¹⁵ Then I will leave and return to where I came from until they acknowledge their wrongs, and in their distress they will seek my face and beg for my help."

6

¹ "Come on! Let's go back to the Lord. He has torn us to pieces, but now he will heal us. He has struck us down, but now he will bind up our wounds.

² In two days he will heal us; after three days he will raise us up so we can live in his presence.

³ Let's get to know the Lord, really strive to know him, and he will appear to us as surely as the sun will rise; he will come to us as certainly as the spring rains fall on the earth."

⁴ Ephraim,* what shall I do with you? Judah, what shall I do with you? Your love disappears like mist at dawn; it vanishes like dew in the morning.

⁵ So I cut you down through the prophets; I killed you with my words. My judgment shines out like a light.

⁶ I want your true love, not your sacrifices; I want you to know me, not your burnt offerings.

⁷ But you, just like Adam, broke our agreement,† there you were unfaithful to me.

⁹ Priests are like a gang of bandits, lying in wait to ambush travelers on the road. They commit murder in Shechem, carrying out wicked crimes.

¹⁰ I have seen in the house of Israel something totally disgusting: Ephraim engages in prostitution and Israel is sexually corrupt.‡

¹¹ And as for you, Judah, your harvest-time has been set! When I restore the fortunes of my people,§

7

¹ when I heal Israel, Ephraim's sins will be exposed, together with the evil actions of Samaria. They deal in lies; they are thieves who break into homes and rob people on the outside.

² But they don't realize that I remember all of their wickedness. Their sins surround them and are always before me.

³ They make their king happy with their wickedness, and the princes with their lies.

* 6:4 Ephraim was taken as representative of the northern kingdom of Israel, and Judah the south.

† 6:7 Literally, "covenant." ‡ 6:10 The image of prostitution and sexual immorality is used to describe Israel's spiritual adultery in following other gods. § 6:11 This latter phrase is better taken with the beginning of the following chapter.

⁵ On the king's birthday† the princes drink so much they are sick, while he joins in with those who mock.

⁶ Their minds are fired up like an oven; they go to him with their plots. All through the night their anger burns; in the morning it blazes out uncontrollably.

⁷ All of them are as hot as a burning oven, and they exhaust their leaders. All of their kings have fallen, and not one of them calls on me.

⁸ Ephraim mixes with the foreign nations; he is as useless as half-baked bread!‡

⁹ Foreigners drain his strength, and he doesn't even realize it. His hair is turning grey and he doesn't even notice.

¹¹ Ephraim is like a dove, foolish and without sense—calling to Egypt, then going to Assyria.

¹² When they go I will throw my net over them; I will bring them down like wild birds. When I hear them flocking together I will punish them.

¹³ What disaster is coming to them because they have strayed from me! Destruction is coming to them because they have rebelled against me! I wish I could redeem them, but they tell lies about me.

¹⁶ They turn, but not to the Most High; they are like a useless bow. Their leaders will be killed by the sword because of their cursing.* Because of this they will be ridiculed in Egypt.

8

¹ Put a trumpet to your lips! An eagle* swoops over the house of the Lord because they have broken my agreement and rebelled against my law.

² Israel calls out to me, "Our God, we know you!"

³ But Israel has rejected what is good. An enemy will chase after them.

⁴ They appointed kings without my consent and chose princes without my knowledge. With their silver and gold they made idols for their own destruction.

⁵ Samaria, I reject this calf idol you have made! My anger burns against them! How long will you be incapable of being good?

* 7:4 The image is of a very hot fire that is prepared for baking bread. The rising of the dough is compared to the time of Israel before their end, carried off into captivity. It also seems to be a reference to the king who does nothing to keep the fire of apostasy under control. † 7:5 Literally, "the day of the king." ‡ 7:8 Literally, "a flat bread that is not turned over." § 7:14 A practice used in pagan worship—see 1 Kings 18:28. * 7:16 Usually understood to be cursing against God.

* 8:1 Symbolic of an invading enemy.

⁶ This idol is from Israel! A craftsman made it—it's not God! The calf of Samaria will be broken in pieces!

⁷ Those who sow the wind will reap the whirlwind. The stalk has no head of grain; it will produce no flour. Even if it did produce grain, foreigners would swallow it all up.

⁸ Israel is swallowed up; among the nations they are like something nobody wants.

⁹ They have gone up to Assyria like a donkey wandering alone. Ephraim has hired lovers.

¹⁰ Even though they have hired allies among the nations, I will gather them[†] together. Then they will writhe under the burden of the great king.[‡]

¹² I wrote down for them the many aspects of my law, but they looked on them as foreign.[§]

9

² Your threshing floors and winepresses will not feed you; the land will fail to produce your new wine.

⁴ You won't pour out any drink offerings to the Lord. None of your sacrifices will please him. Your sacrifices will be like food eaten by a person in mourning[†]—all who eat will be unclean. You will eat this food yourselves, but it will not enter the house of the Lord.

⁵ What are you going to do on the days of your appointed religious feasts, on the days of the festivals of the Lord?[‡]

⁶ Look, they have left because of the destruction: Egypt will gather them, and Memphis will bury them. They gain a "valued possession" for their silver.[§] Weeds will possess them, and thorns will grow over their tents.

[†] 8:10 This could refer either to the Israelites or to the nations. Even though Israel tried to hire allies, eventually these allies worked together against Israel. [‡] 8:10 Referring to the burden of taxation needed to pay off foreign invaders, particularly the Assyrians. [§] 8:12 In other words, they regarded the law as not applying to them. * 9:1 The threshing floor where grain was processed after harvest was often the place where fertility gods were worshiped in connection with a good harvest. [†] 9:4 A person in mourning would have touched a dead body, making them unclean (see Leviticus 21:11, Numbers 19:11 etc.) [‡] 9:5 This may refer specifically to the special day instituted by Jeroboam I (1 Kings 12:32) as a substitute religious observance in the northern shrines, in contrast to the true days given by God that were celebrated in the southern kingdom.

[§] 9:6 Obviously there is a degree of sarcasm here. By fleeing to Egypt, all they received in return for their payment was ruin and death.

⁷ The time of punishment has come; the day of retribution has arrived. Let Israel know! You say* the prophet is a fool, the man of the Spirit is mad, because your sin and hostility is so great.

⁸ The watchman over Ephraim is with my God, and a prophet is a birdcatcher's snare on all his ways.[†] Hatred is in the house of his God

⁹ for they have corrupted themselves so deeply, as in the time of Gibeah.[‡] He will remember their sin; he will punish their wickedness.

¹⁰ When I found Israel, it was like finding grapes in the desert. When I saw your forefathers it was like seeing early fruit on the fig tree. But when they came to Baal Peor, they gave themselves over to that shameful idol, becoming as filthy as the filthy thing they loved.[§]

¹¹ Ephraim! Like a bird that flies away so shall your glory—no births, no pregnancies, no conceptions.

¹² Even if they bring up children, I will make sure they do not survive. What a disaster for you when I turn away from you!

¹⁴ Give them—well, Lord, what should you give them? Give them wombs that miscarry and dry breasts.[†]

¹⁵ All of their evil began at Gilgal, and that's where I began to hate them. I will drive them out of my house because of their wickedness. I will love them no longer; all their leaders are rebels.

¹⁶ Ephraim, you are blighted, dried up from the roots. You shall bear no fruit. Even if you have children, I will slaughter your beloved offspring.

¹⁷ My God will reject you because you have not listened to him, and you will become homeless wanderers among the nations.

¹ Israel is like a spreading* vine that produces fruit for itself. The more fruit they produced, the more altars[†] they built. The more productive the land, the more beautiful they made the sacred pillars.[‡]

² The people have minds that are deceptive, and now they must take responsibility for their guilt. The Lord will break apart their altars and destroy their sacred pillars.

³ Then they will say, "We have no king, for we do not fear the Lord, and yet what would a king do for us?"

* 9:7 Implied. Clearly this is the view of the people. [†] 9:8 Some have seen this as the work of a false prophet, but bearing in my Israel's sinfulness, a true prophet would be regarded by the people as setting snares for them, following the reasoning of the preceding verse. [‡] 9:9 This alludes to the story of the rape and murder of the Levite's concubine in Judges 19 and on. § 9:10 This refers to the incident in Numbers 25 when the people of Israel were seduced by Moabite women into immoral sexual worship of their god.

* 9:13 Both Israel and the people of Tyre practiced child sacrifice. Both cities were conquered by the Assyrians in 722 BC. [†] 9:14 Since Baal worship centered on fertility, barrenness was a clear punishment, opposite of what fertility gods claimed. * 10:1 The word used here usually means "to lay waste." While many translations use terms such as "luxuriant," the point made here is that this vine is unpruned and overgrown, and additionally only produces fruit "for itself"—not a good description of a productive vine for the gardener. [†] 10:1 Altars used for pagan worship. [‡] 10:1 Again, pagan symbols used for the worship of fertility gods.

⁴ They speak empty words, swearing false promises to make a covenant. § Their “justice” flourishes like poisonous weeds in the furrows of a field.

⁶ Ephraim will be disgraced, and Israel will be ashamed at its own decisions.‡

⁷ Samaria and its king will be destroyed, swept away like a twig on the surface of the water.

⁸ The high places of Aven,§ where Israel sinned, will be demolished, and thorns and thistles will grow over their altars. Then they will call to the mountains, “Bury us!” and to the hills, “Fall on us!”

⁹ Since the days of Gibeah you have been sinning, Israel, and you haven’t changed. Do the people of Gibeah think that war will not come to them?

¹¹ Ephraim is like a trained heifer that loved to thresh the grain, but now I will place a yoke on her strong neck. I will harness Ephraim; Judah will have to pull the plough; and Jacob must break up the ground for himself.

¹² Sow for yourselves what is right and you will reap unfailing love. Break up the unploughed ground. It’s time to go to the Lord until he comes and rains down goodness on you.

¹³ But instead you have planted wickedness and reaped an evil harvest. You have eaten the fruit of lies, because you trusted in your own strength and in your many warriors.

¹⁴ The terrifying noise of battle will rise against your people, and all your fortresses will be destroyed, just as Shalman devastated Beth Arbel in the time of war. Even mothers and children were dashed to pieces.

¹⁵ This is what will happen to you, Bethel, because of your great wickedness. At dawn, the king of Israel will be utterly destroyed.

11

¹ I loved Israel when he was a child. He’s my son I called out of Egypt.

² As they called them, so they went from them:* they sacrificed to the Baals and offered incense to idols.

§ 10:4 The context is making false promises to God of agreements they do not intend to keep.

* 10:5 The real name of the place was Bethel, the house of God, but because of the pagan practices celebrated there the later prophets referred to it as Beth-aven, the house of nothingness (idols).

† 10:5 The verbs used in this verse describe the pagan worship of Baal, in which his death is mourned with self-mutilation and then his return is celebrated with orgiastic rites. However, the idol will eventually be taken away by the Assyrians when they invade. ‡ 10:6 Decisions—that it trusted in idols, and sought help from heathen nations. § 10:8 Where the pagan shrines were located. * 11:2 Sometimes this is translated: “The more I called them, the more they went from me,” but this requires significant changes to the original text. What the Hebrew text appears to be saying, in the context of the Exodus from Egypt, is that as they (Israel) called them (Egypt) was the way in which they (Israel) went from them (Egypt). In other words even at the Exodus Israel was hankering after the things of Egypt and only left under pressure. Many would have preferred to stay, and Hosea traces the apostasy he is dealing with to a reluctant and rebellious spirit of some even at the time of the Exodus. This is confirmed by the second part of the verse.

³ I myself taught Ephraim to walk, taking them by the hand,[†] but they didn't realize I was the one who healed them.[‡]

⁴ I led them along with cords of kindness, with ropes of love. I was the one who eased their burden and bent down to feed them.[§]

⁵ However, because my people refuse to return to me, they will not return to the land of Egypt* but Assyria shall be their king.

⁶ War[†] will sweep through their cities, putting an end to their boasting and destroying their plans.

⁷ My people are hanging on to their apostasy from me. They call him “god on high”[‡] but he will not raise them up at all.

⁹ I will not execute the fierceness of my anger, I will not destroy Ephraim again. For I am God, not a human being. I am the Holy One living among you. I will not enter your cities.*

¹⁰ The people will follow me, the Lord. He will roar like a lion. When he roars like a lion then his children will come trembling from the west.

¹¹ Like a flock of frightened birds they will come from Egypt, like doves they will come from Assyria, and I will bring them back home, declares the Lord.

¹² Ephraim surrounds me with lies and Israel with deceit, and Judah still wanders with some deity, faithful to some “Holy One.”[†]

² The Lord also has an accusation against Judah, and will punish Jacob for the way the people act; he will repay them for what they have done.

³ Even in the womb he fought with his brother;[†] when he became a man he fought with God.

⁴ He fought with the angel, and he won. He wept, and begged him for a blessing. Jacob found God at Bethel, and spoke with him there—

⁵ the Lord God Almighty, the Lord is his memorable name!

[†] 11:3 Literally, “arm.” [‡] 11:3 In the context of the Exodus see Exodus 15:26. [§] 11:4 The image shifts to care for a farm animal. The Hebrew literally says, “I became like those who lift up a yoke that was in their jaws.” The burden is not removed altogether, but is made easier to bear. * 11:5 Even though they are not taken into captivity to Egypt, they are still led away in bondage—this time to Assyria. [†] 11:6 Literally, “the sword.” [‡] 11:7 Israel called their idol “El Al,” or “god on high,” but this was a deliberately confusing title that merged together the worship of Yahweh and Baal. [§] 11:8 Admah and Zeboiim were the twin cities of Sodom and Gomorrah (see Genesis 14:2).

* 11:9 Meaning God would not totally annihilate them as he did with the cities mentioned above. [†] 11:12 It seems that Judah was merging ideas from pagan worship with that of the true God, and using the term “el” which was the name of the highest Canaanite god but could also be applied to Yahweh. So what is being said here seems to be that Judah too is wavering in its allegiance to the true God. * 12:1 In other words, while making a treaty with Assyria they are covering their options by trying to gain support from Egypt as well by sending supplies of olive oil. [†] 12:3 Literally, “he grasped his brother’s heel.”

⁶ You must return to your God. Act lovingly and do what is right, and always wait for your God.

⁸ Ephraim says, "I'm rich! I've made myself wealthy! I've made so much from my work, and nobody can prove me guilty of doing wrong."

⁹ But I am the Lord your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt. I will make you live again in tents like you do at the time of that particular festival.[‡]

¹⁰ I spoke through the prophets. I myself gave many visions and parables through the prophets.

¹¹ If Gilead is idolatrous,[§] they will surely come to nothing. In Gilgal they sacrifice bulls. Even their altars are like heaps of rocks in the furrows of the field.*

¹² Jacob fled to the land of Aram; Israel[†] worked there to gain a wife, earning a wife by looking after sheep.

¹³ Through a prophet[‡] the Lord brought Israel up from Egypt, and by a prophet they were cared for.[§]

¹⁴ Ephraim has really upset the Lord, and the Lord will let them have the consequences of their bloodshed and pay them back for their contempt.

¹ When Ephraim spoke, they were feared, for they were the leading tribe in Israel. But when they were guilty of Baal worship, they died.

² Now they constantly sin, making for themselves idols from molten metal. All of these idols are skillfully made from silver by their craftsmen. "Offer sacrifices to these idols," say the people. "Kiss the bull calf idols."

³ Consequently they will be like the morning mist, like early morning dew, like chaff blowing away from the threshing floor, like smoke from a chimney.

⁴ Yet I am the Lord your God who brought you out of the land of Egypt. You shall know* no other gods but me. None can save you except me.

⁵ I looked after you in the wilderness; in that dry desert land it was like pasture to them[†]

⁶ and they were satisfied. But when they were satisfied they became arrogant, and they forgot me.[‡]

⁷ So I will be like a lion to them, like a leopard I will lie in wait beside the path.

[‡] 12:9 This refers to the Festival of Tabernacles where the people lived outside in tents or shelters for a week to remember their journey through the wilderness. § 12:11 The word used here is the same as in Beth-aven, the parody name for Bethel, signifying the worship of idols who are truly worthless, they are nothing. * 12:11 This verse suggests mixed worship that merged idols with the true God. Like rocks in a ploughed field, this was barrier to knowing the true God. † 12:12 Israel was the new name God gave to Jacob. ‡ 12:13 The prophet referenced here is Moses.

§ 12:13 The same word is used for Jacob looking after sheep and the Lord looking after Israel through Moses. * 13:4 A variation of the Ten Commandments with "know" replacing "have" (Exodus 20:3). This change is significant in that the word "know" carries overtones of intimate relations, and can be linked to the erotic nature of Baal worship. Israel should not be "knowing" Baal but the true God. † 13:5 "It was like pasture to them," or "I fed them." ‡ 13:6 See the warning that this could happen in Deuteronomy 8:11-14.

⁸ I will be like a mother bear whose cubs have been taken, I will rip out their hearts. I shall devour them like a lion, like a wild beast I will tear them apart.

⁹ You have destroyed yourselves, Israel, for your only help is in me.

¹⁰ Where then is your king? Let him save you in all your cities! Where are your leaders who demanded a king and princes from me?

¹¹ In my anger I give you a king, and in my fury I take one.[§]

¹³ The pain of childbirth has come to them, trying to give birth to a son who is not "wise" because he is not in the right position when the time comes.[†]

¹⁴ I shall redeem them from the power of Sheol; I shall deliver them from death. Where, death, are your plagues? Where, Sheol, is your destruction? Compassion is hidden from my sight.

¹⁵ Even though they flourish among the reeds,[‡] an east wind will come, a wind from the Lord that rises in the desert will dry up their springs and their wells will fail. It will rob from their treasury everything of value.

¹⁶ Samaria will have to bear the consequences of their guilt, because they rebelled against her God. They will be slaughtered by the sword; their children will be dashed to the ground; their pregnant women will be ripped open.

¹ Return, Israel, to the Lord your God, because your sins have brought you down.

² Take words like these with you and come back to the Lord, saying to him, "Please take away all our guilt, accept what is good, and we will repay you with praise from our lips.

³ Assyria can't save us; we will not ride our warhorses; we will never again say 'You are our gods' to the idols we have made. For in you orphans find mercy."

⁴ I will heal their unfaithfulness; I will love them freely, for I'm not angry with them any more.

⁶ They shall send out new shoots, their splendor will be like the olive tree, their scent will be like the cedars of Lebanon.

[§] 13:11 The verb forms used here are not past tense, so the usual translation referring back to God's provision of king Saul in response to the people's demands is problematic here. Since Hosea is dealing with the present situation of the northern kingdom, one interpretation is that the king God is giving is the king of Assyria, and the one he is taking is the king of Israel. Though in the previous verse God does mention the people's previous demand for a king, he begins that verse with the current question, "Where then is your king?" * 13:12 "Eradicated": literally, "concealed." What Hosea seems to be saying is that Israel's sins have come to the point that God has to take action by eliminating the problem by allowing invasion and exile. The worship of Baal has to be ended ("concealed"—but not in sense of it being simply hidden away and continuing). † 13:13 This could refer to the problems of a breech baby delivery in which both mother and baby could potentially die. ‡ 13:15 Or "brothers."

⁷ Those who live under their shade shall return, they will flourish like grain, they will blossom like the vine, and they will be as famous as the wine of Lebanon.

⁸ Ephraim, how much more do I have to warn you about idols? ^{*} I have answered and now I am watching. [†] I am like a tree that is evergreen; your fruit is found in me.

⁹ Who is wise to understand these things? Who has discernment in understanding them? The Lord's paths are right—the good follow them, but rebels trip and fall along the way.

^{*} 14:8 In other words, God has had enough of the subject. [†] 14:8 To see the people's response.

Joel

² Listen to this, elders; pay attention, everyone who lives in the land. Has anything ever happened like this before in your experience, or that of your forefathers?

⁵ Wake up, you drunks, and weep! Howl you wine-drinkers, because the new wine has been suddenly taken away from your mouth!

⁶ A nation has invaded my land: powerful and too many to count. Their teeth are like lion's teeth, their fangs like those of a lioness.

⁷ It has ruined my grapevines and destroyed my fig trees, stripping them completely and reducing them to stumps, white and bare.

⁸ Mourn like a bride dressed in sackcloth, mourning the death of her husband-to-be.†

¹⁰ The fields are devastated, the earth mourns; for the grain is ruined, the new wine dries up, the olive oil fails.

¹¹ Be ashamed, farmers, and wail in sorrow, keepers of vineyards, over the wheat and the barley, for the crops from the fields are ruined.

¹² The vines are shriveled, the fig trees are withered; the pomegranate, the palm, and the apricot§ trees—all the fruit trees have dried up, and at the same time the people's happiness has also dried up.

¹⁴ Proclaim a fast; call a sacred assembly. Have the elders and all people of the land gather in the Temple, and cry out to your God, to the Lord.

¹⁵ What a terrible day! For the day of the Lord is near, it will come as destruction from the Almighty.

¹⁶ Haven't we seen our food taken away from us, right before our eyes? There is no joy and happiness in God's Temple.

¹⁷ Seeds planted in the ground shrivel up; the storehouses are empty, the barns are torn down because the grain has dried up.†

* 1:4 Whether these terms for locusts refer to different species or different stages of the locust's life-cycle is uncertain. † 1:8 The image is of a woman betrothed to a man who dies before the marriage is consummated. ‡ 1:9 Literally, "house of the Lord." § 1:12 This fruit is more likely than apple as is usually translated. * 1:13 The traditional sign of mourning. † 1:17 The Hebrew in this verse is obscure. The Greek Septuagint for the first part of the verse reads "the heifers leap at their mangers."

¹⁹ To you, Lord, I cry out![‡] For fire has destroyed the pastures in the wilderness; flames have burned up all the orchards.

²⁰ Even the wild animals long for you because the streams have dried up, and fire has destroyed the pastures in the wilderness.

¹ Blow the trumpet in Zion! Sound the alarm on my holy mountain! Let all who live in the land tremble for the day of the Lord* is coming—it's definitely near!

² It's a gloomy day of darkness, a day of thick clouds and heavy shadows. Like the dawn spreading over the mountains, an army appears,[†] so large and powerful that there has never ever been anything like it before, nor will there ever be anything like it again.

⁴ They have the appearance of horses; they charge like cavalry.

⁵ Listen to the sound: they are like rumbling chariots leaping over the mountain tops, they are like crackling flames burning stubble, they are like a mighty army marching in formation into battle.

⁷ They attack like mighty warriors; they scale walls like soldiers. They all march as one, never breaking ranks.

⁸ They do not jostle one another; they stay on track; and even if some are cut down, they are not stopped.

¹⁰ The earth quakes before them, the heavens tremble, the sun and the moon grow dark, the stars stop shining.

¹² "Yet even now," says the Lord, "Come back to me while there is still time. Come to me with all your heart, with fasting and prayer.

¹³ Repent in your minds, and not by tearing your clothes."[§] Come back to the Lord your God for he is gracious and kind. He is slow to get angry and full of faithful love, and changes his mind about sending punishment.

¹⁴ Who knows? Maybe he will change his mind, leaving behind a blessing so that you will be able to make grain and wine offerings to the Lord your God.

[‡] 1:19 Joel makes it clear he is calling on Yahweh, while many of his fellow-countrymen would be calling on Baal, the fertility god, for help. * 2:1 The day of the Lord is the time of God's judgment.

[†] 2:2 While the initial focus in Joel is on a devastating plague of locusts, what follows in chapter 2 morphs into a picture of an invading human army. [‡] 2:9 The fact that they can do this shows that the city's defenders are dead. [§] 2:13 Tearing one's clothes was a sign of intense emotion, grief, and repentance.

17 Let the priests, the ministers of the Lord, weep between the porch and the altar of the Temple.* Let them say, “Lord, please take pity on your people, and do not let your inheritance be disgraced, ruled over by foreign nations, so that the people of these nations could ask, ‘Where is their God?’ ”

19 The Lord will reply, saying to his people, “Look! I am sending you grain and new wine and olive oil, and you will be satisfied. You will no longer be a disgrace among the foreign nations.

20 I will remove from you the army from the north; I will drive them into the desolate wilderness—the front into the eastern sea, and the rear into the western sea. The stench of the dead army‡ will rise up—a real stink—for it has done terrible things.”

21 Don't be afraid, people of the land! Be happy and celebrate, for the Lord has done incredible things!

22 Don't be afraid, wild animals! For the pastures of the wilderness are turning green. The trees are fruiting again—the fig trees and the grapevines are producing a good crop.

23 People of Jerusalem! Celebrate and be happy in the Lord your God because he has given you rain to show his goodness. As before he sends the autumn and the spring rains.

24 The threshing floors will be full of grain, the vats will overflow with new wine and olive oil.

25 “I will give back to you what you lost over the years to the swarming, hopping, destroying, and cutting locusts, this great army that I sent against you.

26 You will have plenty to eat, and you will be satisfied, and you will praise the name of the Lord your God who has done miracles for you. My people will never again be ashamed.

27 You will know that I am in the midst of my people Israel, that I am the Lord your God, and that there is no other. My people will never again be ashamed.

28 After this I will pour out my spirit on everyone. Your sons and daughters will be my prophets, your old men will dream dreams, and your young men will see visions.

29 In those days I will also pour out my spirit on male slaves and female slaves.

30 I will place wonders in the heavens and on earth: blood, and fire, and columns of smoke.

31 The sun will turn dark, and the moon will turn red like blood at the coming of the great and fearful day of the Lord.”

32 Then everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved, rescued from Mount Zion and Jerusalem, as the Lord has said—these are among the survivors the Lord has called.

* 2:17 “Of the Temple”: implied. † 2:18 Or “jealous.” ‡ 2:20 “Of the dead army”: implied.

3

¹ At that time when this happens, when I bring back the exiles to Judah and Jerusalem,

² I will gather together all the nations in the valley of Jehoshaphat* and I will judge them there over my people Israel, my inheritance, whom they have scattered among the nations, and have divided up my land.

³ They cast lots for my people; they traded boys in payment for prostitutes and girls to buy wine to drink.†

⁴ Also, what have you got to do with me, Tyre and Sidon, and all the regions of Philistia? Are you trying to get back at me? If you are trying to pay me back, I will quickly pay you back what you deserve for what you've done.

⁶ You sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks so they could be sent far away from their land.

⁷ But watch out! I will get them moving from the places you sold them to, and bring them back, and I will pay you back what you deserve for what you've done.

⁸ I will sell your sons and daughters to the people of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabeans, a distant nation. I the Lord have spoken.

¹⁰ Hammer your plough blades and turn them into swords. Turn your pruning hooks into spears. Even the weak should say 'I am a strong fighter!'

¹¹ Hurry up and come, all nations from everywhere, and gather there.§ Bring down your warriors, Lord!

¹² Let the nations get ready, let them come to the valley of Jehoshaphat for there I will sit in judgment on all the nations.

¹³ Start swinging the sickle, for the harvest is ripe. Come and tread the grapes for the winepress is full and the vats are overflowing because their wickedness has become so great.

¹⁶ The Lord will roar from Zion, shouting in a loud voice from Jerusalem, shaking the heavens and the earth. But the Lord will shelter his people, protecting the people of Israel.

¹⁷ Then you will know that I, the Lord your God, dwell in Zion, my holy mountain, and Jerusalem will be a holy place forever, and no foreigners will ever march through her again.†

* 3:2 Meaning "the Lord judges." † 3:3 The point being made here is the casual way the victims were treated, and how little they were valued: being traded to buy a prostitute's services or some wine to drink. ‡ 3:9 Literally, "Sanctify a battle." Joel is presumably being ironic here. The same word is used in 1:14 for calling a sacred assembly. § 3:11 In the valley of Jehoshaphat,

3:2. * 3:14 The usual translation "in the valley of decision" suggests that these "multitudes" still are making their decision. However, this decision is that of God, and is the execution of that decision—in other words the verdict or sentence. † 3:17 Referring to conquest by other nations.

¹⁸ At that time new wine will pour down the mountains, and the hills will flow with milk, and all the riverbeds of Judah will run with water. A spring will flow out of the Temple and will water the valley of Shittim.[‡]

¹⁹ But Egypt will become desolate, and Edom a desert wasteland, because of the violence they did against Judah, for in their land they shed innocent blood.

²⁰ Judah will be lived in forever, and Jerusalem for all generations.

²¹ Will I pardon and leave unpunished the shedding of innocent blood? The Lord lives in Zion!"

Amos

¹ Here is the message that was given to Amos, a shepherd from Tekoa in Judah. This is what he saw* concerning Israel when Uzziah was king of Judah and Jeroboam, son of Jehoash, was king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

² And he said,† The Lord roars from Zion, he shouts from Jerusalem. The shepherds' pastures wither, the top of Mount Carmel dries up.

⁴ So I will send fire down on the house of Hazael and burn up Ben-Hadad's fortresses.*

⁵ I will smash the gates of Damascus, I will cut down those who live in the Valley of Aven, and the ruler from Beth Eden.† The people of Aram will be deported as prisoners to the land of Kir, says the Lord.

⁶ This is what the Lord says: The people of Gaza have repeatedly sinned and so I will not hesitate to punish them, for they sent into exile whole communities, handing them over to Edom.

⁸ I will cut down those who live in Ashdod and the ruler of Ashkelon. I will turn to punish‡ Ekron and the Philistines who remain will die, says the Lord God.

⁹ This is what the Lord says: The people of Tyre have repeatedly sinned and so I will not hesitate to punish them, for they exiled whole communities, handing them over to Edom, and did not keep their agreement to help each other as members of the same family.§

¹⁰ So I will send down fire on the walls of Tyre and burn up its fortresses.

¹¹ This is what the Lord says: The people of Edom have repeatedly sinned and so I will not hesitate to punish them, for they hunted down the Israelites to whom they were related,* killing them with swords. They attacked without mercy, tearing the Israelites to pieces in an angry rage that never stopped.

* 1:1 The message was given through visions. † 1:2 Because the vast majority of the book is the message from God, it seems better not to use quotation marks to identify such words as they would be generally superfluous, and break the flow. ‡ 1:3 Literally, "For three sins of Damascus, and for four." § 1:3 The reference is to threshing grain, where wooden boards studded with sharp iron spikes were dragged across the grain on the threshing floor to cut up the stalks and separate out the grain.

* 1:4 Hazael and Ben-Hadad were kings of Syria, and Damascus was the capital. † 1:5 Valley of Aven means "the Valley of Wickedness" and Beth Eden means "the House of Pleasure." ‡ 1:8 "Turn to punish": literally, "turn my hand against." § 1:9 "Members of the same family": literally, "brothers." * 1:11 The Edomites were descended from Esau, the brother of Jacob.

¹⁴ I will set fire to the walls of Rabbah and burn up its fortresses. There will be shouts on the day of battle which will whirl with rage like a windstorm.

¹⁵ Their king will be sent into exile together with his princes, says the Lord.

2

² So I will send down fire on Moab, and I will burn up the fortresses of Kerioth, and the people of Moab will die in the midst of uproar, battle cries, and the sound of the trumpet.

³ I will cut down their king and all their princes with him, says the Lord.

⁴ This is what the Lord says: The people of Judah have repeatedly sinned and so I will not hesitate to punish them, because they rejected the law of the Lord and have not kept his commands. Their lies have led them astray, the same lies that their forefathers followed.

⁸ At every altar they stretch themselves out in clothes taken from debtors as collateral, in the temple of their god they drink wine taken from the people they fined.

⁹ Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorites before you,† even though they were as tall as cedars and as strong as oaks. I destroyed them root and branch.

¹⁰ It was I who brought you out of the land of Egypt and led you through the desert for forty years so that you could take the Amorites' land.

¹² But you made the Nazirites sin by drinking wine, and you told the prophets, "Don't tell us what God says."§

¹³ Now see what I am going to do. I will crush you where you are, as if crushed by a heavy cart loaded down with sheaves of grain.

¹⁵ The archer will not stand his ground. The quickest on his feet will not be able to get away, and even those on horseback will not save themselves.

* 2:1 Some have thought that they then used this lime to plaster their homes. The main point is that they deliberately desecrated the remains. † 2:9 The people of Judah. "Before you": or "for your sake." ‡ 2:11 Nazirites: men who took special vows of service for God, and who were not allowed to drink wine or cut their hair. § 2:12 "Don't tell us what God says": literally, "You shall not prophesy."

¹⁶ On that day even the bravest of the mighty warriors will run away naked, says the Lord.

3

¹ People of Israel, listen to this message that the Lord has spoken against you—all of you, whom I brought out of the land of Egypt.

² I chose a special relationship* with you alone out of all the families of the earth, and so I will punish you for your wrongdoing.

³ Can two people walk together unless they have arranged to meet?

⁴ Does a lion roar in the forest before finding its prey? Does a young lion growl from its den if it has caught nothing?

⁵ Does a bird fall into a trap and get caught unless the spring is set? Does a trap spring shut if there's nothing there to catch?

⁶ When the trumpet sounds in the city, shouldn't the people be alarmed? When a disaster comes to a city, isn't it the Lord who does it?

⁸ The lion has roared—so who isn't scared? The Lord God has spoken—so who can refuse to speak for him?†

⁹ Announce this to the fortresses of Ashdod and to the fortresses in the land of Egypt: Assemble yourselves on Samaria's mountains and see all the turmoil and oppression happening in the country.

¹⁰ They don't know how to do what is right, declares the Lord. They have stored up in their fortresses what they've taken by violence and robbery.

¹² This is what the Lord says: Just as a shepherd tries to rescue a sheep from a lion's mouth, but only saves a couple of legs or a piece of an ear, so it will be for the people of Israel living in Samaria—all that will be “saved” will be the corner of a couch and a piece of a leg from a bed.‡

¹⁴ For on that day I will punish Israel for their sins. I will destroy the altars of Bethel: the corners§ of the altar will be cut off and fall to the ground.

¹⁵ I will tear down their winter houses and their summer houses as well, their houses filled with ivory will be ruined—their many houses will be destroyed.

* 3:2 The word often translated here as “know” is related to choice and intimacy, not mere knowledge. † 3:8 “Speak for him”: or “prophecy.” ‡ 3:12 The point being made here is not how little is saved, but nothing is saved except proof of total destruction. A shepherd took the remains of a sheep to the owner to prove how the animal died; otherwise he would have to pay for it himself. Similarly with Israel, it's destruction would be so complete that the only evidence left would only confirm this. § 3:14 Literally, “horns.” If anyone held on to these horns on the corner of an altar they were given sanctuary. By cutting them down the Lord shows that nowhere can be seen as a place of safety.

¹ Listen to this message, you well-fed cows of Bashan* who live on Mount Samaria, who oppress the poor and crush the needy, and who order your husbands,[†] “Bring us drinks!”

² The Lord God has sworn by his holiness: Watch out! For the time is coming when they will drag you away with hooks, each one of you will be like a fish on a hook.

³ You will leave through breaches in the city walls, thrown out in the direction of Mount Hermon.

⁴ Why don't you go to Bethel and sin? Go to Gilgal and add to your sins even more?[‡] Offer your sacrifices in the morning, bring your tithes after three days.

⁵ Burn a thank offering of bread made with yeast,[§] and announce what you're giving as freewill offerings so everyone will know. This is what you love to do! declares the Lord God.

⁶ It was I who made sure you had nothing to eat* in all your cities, and a lack of food wherever you lived, but still you wouldn't return to me, says the Lord.

⁷ It was I who kept the rain from falling when there was still three months before harvest.[†] One city would have rain, while another would not. One field would have rain, another would dry up from lack of rain.

⁸ People wandered from town to town looking for water, yet were still thirsty. But still you did not return to me, declares the Lord.

⁹ I struck your many farms and vineyards with blight and mildew; locusts devoured your fig trees and olive trees. But still you did not return to me, declares the Lord.

¹⁰ I sent a plague on you like I did in Egypt. I killed your young men in battle; I took away your horses; I made you smell the stench of dead bodies in your camps. But still you did not return to me, declares the Lord.

¹¹ Some of you I destroyed as I destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah. You were like a burning stick pulled out of a fire. But still you did not return to me, declares the Lord.

¹² Therefore, this is what I am going to do to you, Israel. Because I am going to do this, Israel, prepare to meet your God!

¹³ Watch! The One who made the mountains, who created the winds, who reveals his thoughts to humankind, who turns the sunlight into darkness, who walks on the high places of the earth—the Lord God of power is his name!

5

² Virgin Israel has fallen, and will never rise again! She lies abandoned on the ground, and there is no one to help her up.

* 4:1 It is thought that this refers to the high society women of Samaria who lived well. The reference to the cows of Bashan is that they were fattened cattle (see Ez. 39:18). [†] 4:1 The word used for husbands is not the usual term, but one meaning “lord” or “master.” It is used here to show that the wives are reversing roles in that “masters” are acting as servants. [‡] 4:4 Clearly the tone is sarcastic. [§] 4:5 This was expressly forbidden: Leviticus 6:17; Leviticus 7:12. * 4:6 Literally, “cleanness of teeth.” [†] 4:7 This was the critical time in order to ensure a good harvest. No rain at this time would mean the crops would fail.

³ This is what the Lord says: From a city that sends out a thousand soldiers, only a hundred will return; from a city that sends out a hundred soldiers, only ten will return.

⁵ Do not look to the false gods of Bethel, do not go to the pagan shrines of Gilgal or travel to those of Beersheba. For Gilgal will go into exile, and Bethel will come to nothing.

⁶ Look to the Lord so you may live! Otherwise he will explode like fire against the descendants of Joseph and no one from Bethel* will be able to quench it.

⁷ You twist justice and make it bitter;† you throw integrity to the ground.

⁸ The One who made the Pleiades and Orion,‡ who turns the darkness into morning, and daytime into night, who calls for the water of the seas, and pours it down as rain upon the earth—the Lord is his name!

¹⁰ You hate anyone who confronts injustice§ and loathe anyone who speaks honestly.

¹¹ Because you trample down the poor and impose a tax on their grain, building for yourselves impressive houses, you will not live in them, and you will not drink wine from the fine vineyards you have planted.

¹² For I know the extent of your wrongdoing and your numerous sins. You oppress good people by taking bribes, and you prevent the poor from getting justice in the courts.

¹³ So smart people keep quiet in such evil times.

¹⁴ Do what is right, and not evil, so you may live. Then the Lord God of power will be with you, as you claim he is.

¹⁵ Hate evil and love good—and make sure justice wins out in your courts. Maybe the Lord God of power will have mercy on those who are left of Jacob's people.

¹⁶ For this is what the Lord, the Lord God of power says: There will be weeping in the city squares and wailing* in the streets. They will call even the farmers to grieve, as well as the professional mourners.

¹⁷ There will be wailing in every vineyard, for I will pass through† the midst of you, says the Lord.

¹⁸ How disastrous it will be for those of you who long for the day of the Lord. Why would you want the day of the Lord to come? It will bring darkness, not light.

²⁰ Isn't the day of the Lord darkness without light? Yes, pitch dark without a glimmer of light.

* 5:6 Possibly meaning the false gods of Bethel will be able to do nothing. † 5:7 Literally, "wormwood," a plant with a very bitter taste. ‡ 5:8 Two constellations of stars. § 5:10 This is the meaning of the Hebrew "in the gate"—the place where legal cases were heard. * 5:16 Literally, "saying 'Alas! Alas!'" † 5:17 In punishment. Vineyards, normally places of laughter and celebration, are filled with weeping and wailing.

²¹ I hate, I despise your festivals and take no delight in your religious assemblies.

²² Even though you present me with burnt offerings and grain offerings, I will not accept them. As for your peace offerings of fattened cattle—I will not even look at them.

²³ Stop your noisy worship songs. I will not listen to the melody of your harps.

²⁷ So I will send you into exile in a land beyond Damascus, says the Lord, whose name is the God of power.

6

¹ How disastrous it will be for you who have an easy life in Zion, and you who feel secure living on Mount Samaria—you who are the most famous men in all of Israel to whom people come for help!

² But go to Calneh, and see what took place there. Then go on to the great city of Hamath, and down to the Philistine city of Gath.* Were they better kingdoms than yours? Did they have more territory than you?

³ You put out of your minds any thought of coming disaster, yet you are bringing closer the time when violence reigns.

⁴ How disastrous it will be for you people who lie on beds decorated with ivory and lounge on couches, eating lamb from your flocks and fattened calves from the stall.

⁷ So you will be at the head of those led away into exile; the feasting and lazing around will be over.

⁸ The Lord God has sworn an oath on his own life. This is what the Lord God of power declares: I detest Jacob's arrogance and I hate his fortresses; I will hand over this city and all in it to the enemy.†

¹⁰ And when a relative comes to take away the bodies from the house, he will ask someone inside "Is there anyone else with you?" The person will reply, "No..." Then the other will say, "Quiet! Don't even mention the Lord's name."

¹¹ Watch out! When the Lord gives the command, large houses will be reduced to rubble, and small houses smashed to pieces.

¹³ You joyfully celebrate your conquest of Lodebar;‡ and say "Didn't we in our own strength capture Karnaim?"§

* 6:2 Foreign cities destroyed by invaders. † 6:8 "To the enemy": implied. ‡ 6:13 The name of this town means "nothing." § 6:13 Karnaim means "strength."

¹⁴ Watch out, people of Israel! I am going to send an enemy nation to attack you, says the Lord God of power, and they will oppress you from the Pass of Hamath to the Arabah Valley.*

7

¹ This is what the Lord God showed^{*} me. I saw that he was preparing a swarm of locusts just when the spring crops began to grow. (Spring crops begin to grow right after the time when the king's hay is cut.)[†]

² And so when the locusts finished eating every green plant in the fields, I pleaded with the Lord God, "Please forgive your people! How can the descendants of Jacob survive? They are so weak."

³ So the Lord changed his mind. "It won't happen," said the Lord.

⁴ This is what the Lord God showed me. I saw that the Lord God was calling for a judgment of fire. The fire burned up the depths of the sea and destroyed the farmland.

⁵ I pleaded with the Lord God, "Please stop! How can the descendants of Jacob survive? They are so weak."

⁷ This is what he showed me. I saw the Lord was standing beside a wall that had been built with a plumb line.[‡] He was holding a plumb line in his hand.

⁸ And the Lord asked me, "Amos, what do you see?" I replied, "A plumb line." And the Lord God said, "I am placing a plumb line in the midst of my people Israel.[§] I won't ignore their sins anymore."

⁹ The high places^{*} of the descendants of Isaac will be torn down, and the holy places of Israel will be destroyed. Sword in hand, I will rise up against the house of Jeroboam."

¹⁰ Then Amaziah, priest of Bethel, sent a message to Jeroboam, king of Israel, saying, "Amos is plotting against you among the people of Israel. What he's saying is unbearable!"

¹¹ For he's saying Jeroboam will be killed by the sword, and the people will be taken away from their land into exile."

¹² Amaziah said to Amos, "Go away prophet! Run away to the land of Judah. Go and prophesy there to earn your bread.[†]

¹³ But don't ever prophesy again at Bethel, for this is where the king worships, the national Temple."

¹⁴ But Amos replied, "I'm not a trained prophet,[‡] or the son of a prophet. I was just a shepherd, and also took care of fig trees."

¹⁵ The Lord took me from following my flock, and the Lord told me, 'Go, and give my message to my people of Israel.'

¹⁶ So now hear what the Lord is telling you: You say, "Don't prophesy against Israel, and don't preach against the descendants of Isaac."

¹⁷ But this is what the Lord says: Your wife will become a prostitute in the city; your sons and daughters will be killed by the sword. Your land will be measured and divided up, and you yourself will die in a foreign land. The people of Israel will definitely be taken from the land and go into exile.

8

² He asked me, "What do you see, Amos?" I said, "A basket of fruit." Then the Lord told me, "This is the end of my people Israel! I won't ignore their sins anymore.

³ On that day the Temple songs will become sorrowful wailing. There will be dead bodies scattered everywhere. Silence!" declares the Lord.

⁴ Listen to this, you who trample down the needy, and wipe out the poor of the land.

⁵ You who ask, "When will the holy day[†] be over so we can get back to selling grain? When will the Sabbath be over so we can open our storehouses, and cheat people with short measures and unfair scales?"

⁶ You buy the poor for silver, the needy for a pair of sandals, and you sell grain mixed with chaff.

⁷ The Lord God, of whom the descendants of Jacob are so proud, has sworn an oath: I will never forget the evil you have done.

⁸ Shall not the land tremble because of this, and everyone who lives there mourn? The earth will rise up like the Nile river in flood, be tossed around, and then fall again.

¹⁰ I will turn your festivals into times of mourning, your happy songs into laments. I will make you wear sackcloth and shave your heads.[‡] I will make your mourning like that for an only son. At the end of it all it will be a bitter day.

¹¹ The time is coming, declares the Lord, when I will send a famine on the land—not a famine of bread, or a lack of water, but a famine of hearing the words of the Lord.

¹² People will wander from sea to sea,[§] from north to east, running to and fro searching for the word of the Lord, but they will not find it.

¹³ On that day, even the beautiful girls and healthy young men will collapse from thirst.

¹⁴ Those who swear by the disgraceful idols* of Samaria, who take oaths like, "By the life of your god, Dan," or "A pilgrimage to the god of Beersheba"—they will fall, and never rise again.

¹ Then I saw the Lord standing beside the altar, and he said: Strike the tops of the Temple pillars so that the foundations shake, and shatter them on the heads of all the people below. Those who survive I will kill by the sword. None of them will escape, not a single one.

* 8:1 Probably figs. † 8:5 Literally, "new moon"—one of Israel's religious festivals. ‡ 8:10 Signs of mourning for the dead. § 8:12 From the Mediterranean to the Dead Sea. * 8:14 "disgraceful idols": literally, "guilt."

² Even if they dig down into Sheol,* I will catch them and pull them up. Even if they climb up to heaven, I will bring them down.

⁴ Even if they are driven into exile by their enemies, I will order them put to death by the sword. I will watch them carefully—and for evil, not for good.

⁵ The Lord God of power touches the earth and it melts, and all who live there mourn. The earth rises up like the Nile river in flood, and then falls again.

⁶ The Lord builds his upper rooms in heaven, and places the foundations on the earth. He calls for the water of the seas, and pours it down as rain upon the earth—the Lord is his name!

⁷ Aren't the Ethiopians† as important to me as you, people of Israel? asks the Lord. Yes, I brought the Israelites out of the land of Egypt, but I also brought the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Syrians from Kir.

⁸ Watch out! I'm watching this sinful kingdom.‡ I will eradicate it from the face of the earth. Yet I will not completely destroy the descendants of Jacob.

⁹ See what I'm doing! I will give the command, and the people of Israel will be shaken among the nations like flour through a sieve, and nothing will fall to the ground.

¹⁰ All the sinners of my people will be killed by the sword—all those who say, "Nothing bad is going to happen; no disaster will fall on us."

¹¹ On that day I will restore the fallen kingdom of David; I will repair the broken walls, I will rebuild the ruins, and I will make it as it was in days of old.

¹² And they will possess what is left of Edom and all the nations that were once mine,§ declares the Lord. He will make this happen.

¹³ Look! The time is coming, says the Lord, when the reaper will overtake the plowman, and the one who treads the grapes will overtake the one who sows the seed.* The mountains will drip with sweet wine, and flow from all the hills.

¹⁴ I will bring my people back from captivity, and they will rebuild the ruined cities, and they shall live in them. They shall plant vineyards and drink their wine; they will plant gardens and eat the fruit they produce.

¹⁵ I will plant them in their own land, and they shall never be uprooted again from the land I have given them, declares the Lord your God.

* 9:2 The place of the dead, understood to be underground. † 9:7 Literally, "Cushites." ‡ 9:8 Meaning Israel. § 9:12 Literally, "called by my name." * 9:13 In other words, this will be a time of great plenty.

Obadiah

¹ Obadiah's vision. This is what the Lord says about the land of Edom. We have heard from the Lord that a messenger was sent to tell the nations: Get ready! Let's go to war against Edom!

² I will make you* insignificant among the nations. You will be totally despised.

³ Your heart's pride has deceived you—you who live in a secure fortress of rock in the high mountains, saying to yourselves, "Who can ever bring us down?"

⁴ But even though you soar like an eagle, even though you make your nest among the stars, I will bring you down from there, declares the Lord.

⁵ You will be completely destroyed! If thieves came to you, if robbers came at night, wouldn't they steal only what they wanted? If those who harvest grapes came to you, wouldn't they leave some behind?

⁶ But how Esau† will be plundered and their hidden treasures looted!

⁷ All your allies will drive you out, past the borders of your land. Those who were at peace with you will deceive you, and conquer you. Those who ate with you have ambushed you. You don't understand a thing!

⁸ On that day, declares the Lord, I will destroy the wise men of Edom—there will be no more wisdom in the mountains of Esau.‡

⁹ Teman, § your fighting men will be terrified, so that everyone of the mountains of Esau will be cut down in the massacre.

¹² You should not have gloated over your brother's day of disaster. You should not have rejoiced over the day of destruction of the sons of Judah. You should not have boasted over the day of their distress.

¹³ You should not have marched through the city gates of my people on their day of disaster. You should not have gloated over them on the day of their disaster. You should not have looted their wealth on the day of their disaster.

¹⁴ You should not have stood at the crossroads, cutting down those trying to escape. You should not have handed over† those who survived on the day of their distress.

¹⁵ For the day of the Lord‡ is near for all nations. What you have done will be done to you; your actions will fall back on your own heads.

¹⁶ For as you drank on my holy mountain, so will all the nations continually drink, and swallow, and they shall be as if they never existed.

* 1:2 The Lord is speaking about Edom, though Obadiah was addressing the people of Judah.

† 1:6 Esau was the father of the Edomites. ‡ 1:8 "Mountains of Esau": another way of saying the kingdom of Edom. § 1:9 Teman was one of the major towns of Edom, and is used here to represent the whole country.

* 1:11 When Israel was attacked. † 1:14 To the foreign invaders.

‡ 1:15 The day of the Lord refers to the time of judgment.

¹⁷ But on Mount Zion there will be a place of escape, a holy place, and the descendants of Jacob will reclaim their inheritance.

¹⁸ The descendants of Jacob will become a fire, and the descendants of Joseph a flame, and they shall burn up the descendants of Esau like stubble, consuming them completely, so that there will be not a single survivor of the descendants of Esau. For the Lord has spoken.

²¹ Those who have been saved will go up Mount Zion and rule the mountains of Esau. And the kingdom shall be the Lord's.

§ 1:19 Literally, "Shephelah." * 1:20 Sepharad: Possibly the town of Sardis in Asia Minor.

Jonah

² "Go immediately to the great city of Nineveh and condemn it because I have seen the wickedness of its people."

⁴ But the Lord sent a terrible wind across the sea, creating a violent storm that threatened to break up the ship.

⁵ The sailors were terrified and each of them prayed to their own god to save them. They threw the cargo overboard to make the ship lighter. Meanwhile, Jonah had gone down into the hold where he had laid down and fallen fast asleep.

⁶ The ship's captain went to Jonah and asked him, "How can you be sleeping? Get up and pray to your God. Maybe he will take notice of what's happening to us and we won't drown."

⁷ Then the sailors said to each other, "Let's draw lots§ so we can find out who's to blame for this disaster that's fallen on us." They drew lots and Jonah's name was came up.

⁸ So they asked him, "Tell us who is responsible for this trouble that we're in. What do you do for a living? Where are you from? What is your country? What is your nationality?"

⁹ "I am a Hebrew," Jonah replied, "and I worship* the Lord, the God of the heavens, the sea, and the land."

¹⁰ The sailors became even more terrified and said to Jonah, "What have you done?" because Jonah had explained to them that he was running away from the Lord.

¹¹ "What shall we do to you to calm the storm?" they asked him, since the storm was getting worse.

¹² "Pick me up and throw me into the sea," Jonah replied. "Then the sea will become calm, because I know it's because of me that you're in this terrible storm."

¹³ Instead the sailors tried to row to get back to the shore, but they couldn't because the sea had become so wild from the worsening storm.

¹⁵ So they picked Jonah up and threw him into the sea, and it became calm.

* 1:1 Literally, "the word of the Lord came to..." indicating a specific message delivered to a prophet. † 1:3 Probably Tartessus on the southern coast of Spain. ‡ 1:3 Literally, "from before the face of the Lord." He was trying to remove himself from God's presence, showing that he was rejecting God's call. § 1:7 A process similar to drawing straws. * 1:9 Literally, "fear." † 1:14 The sailors use the same name for God as Jonah did, Yahweh, showing that they believe him to be responsible. ‡ 1:14 Or "it pleased you Lord to do this."

¹⁶ The sailors were overcome with fear. They offered a sacrifice to the Lord and made many promises[§] to him.

¹⁷ The Lord sent a huge fish^{*} to swallow Jonah. Jonah spent three days and nights in the belly of the fish.

2

² He began, "In my agony I cried out to the Lord and he answered me; from the depths of Sheol[†] I pleaded for help and you answered me.

³ You threw me into the deep, all the way down to the bottom of the sea.[‡] Water flooded all around me; your crashing waves rolled over me.

⁴ I said to myself, "The Lord has banished me from his sight. Will I ever see your holy Temple again?"[§]

⁵ The water swirled over me so I couldn't breathe; the deep sucked me down; seaweed wrapped itself around my head.

⁶ I sank down to the base of the mountains; the earth barred me in forever. But you, my Lord, my God, brought me back up from the abyss.

⁷ As my life ebbed away, I remembered the Lord; my prayer came to you in your holy Temple.

⁹ But I will offer you sacrifices, shouting out my thanks. I will keep my promises to you, for salvation comes from the Lord."

¹⁰ Then the Lord told the fish to spit out Jonah onto the shore.

3

² "Go immediately to the great city of Nineveh and announce the message I'm giving you."

³ Jonah did what God told him. He set out and went to Nineveh, a city that was so big^{*} it took three days to walk through it.

⁴ Jonah went into the city, walking for one day, shouting out, "In forty days Nineveh will be destroyed!"

⁵ The people of Nineveh believed in God. They announced a fast, and all of them, from the greatest to the least, put on sackcloth.[†]

⁶ When the news of what was happening reached the king of Nineveh he came down from his throne, took off his robe, put on sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

⁷ Then the king and the nobles issued a proclamation throughout Nineveh: "No person, no animal, no herd, and no flock, shall eat or drink anything.

[§] 1:16 Or "vows." ^{} 1:17 Note that a whale is not mentioned. ^{} 2:1 It is significant that Jonah is not recorded as praying until this point in the story. [†] 2:2 Sheol: the place of the dead. [‡] 2:3 Literally, "the heart of the sea." [§] 2:4 Or "but even so I will see your holy Temple again." ^{*} 3:3 Literally, "great to God." [†] 3:5 To show their repentance. [‡] 3:8 Literally, "with force."

⁹ Who knows? God may change his mind and relent. He may decide not to destroy us in his fierce anger.”

¹⁰ God saw what they had done—that they had given up their evil ways—so he changed his mind and did not carry out the destruction he had threatened.

¹ But this really upset* Jonah, and he became very angry.

² He prayed to the Lord and told him, “Lord, wasn’t this what I said when I was back home?[†] That’s why I ran away to Tarshish in the first place! For I knew that you are a gracious and compassionate God, very patient[‡] and full of kindhearted love, who relents from sending disaster.

³ So just kill me now, Lord, because I’d prefer to die than to live!”

⁴ The Lord responded, “Do you have a good reason to be so angry?”[§]

⁵ Jonah left the city and sat down to the east of it. There he made himself a shelter so he could sit in the shade and watch what would happen to the city.

⁷ The next day at dawn the Lord had a maggot attack the plant and it withered.

⁸ Then as the sun came up the Lord arranged for a scorching east wind to blow, and the sun beat down on Jonah’s head so that he became faint and wanted to die. “I’d rather die than live!” he said.

⁹ But the Lord asked Jonah, “Do you have a good reason to be so angry about the plant?”

“Yes I do!” Jonah replied. “I’m angry enough to die!”

¹⁰ Then the Lord told Jonah, “You’re concerned about a plant which you did nothing about, and you didn’t make it grow. It came up overnight and died overnight.

* 4:1 In the sense that Jonah thought that this was a wrong decision on God’s part. † 4:2 Literally, “in my land.” ‡ 4:2 Or “slow to become angry.” § 4:4 Or “Is it good for you to be so angry?” or “What right do you have to be so angry?” * 4:11 In other words they are spiritually ignorant.

Micah

¹ Here is the message that the Lord gave to Micah of Moresheth at the time when Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah were kings of Judah. This is what he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

² Listen, all the nations! Pay attention, everyone on earth! The Lord God testifies against you from the Lord's holy Temple.

³ Look! The Lord is coming, leaving his place and coming down, and is walking on the high places of the earth.

⁴ The mountains melt beneath him, the valleys burst apart, like wax in front of a fire, like water rushing down a slope. All this is happening because of the rebellion of the descendants of Jacob, the sins of the people of Israel.

⁵ What is the rebellion of the descendants of Jacob? Isn't it what is happening in Samaria? Where are the idolatrous high places* of Judah? Aren't they right in Jerusalem?†

⁶ Therefore I will make Samaria a pile of rubble in a field, a place for planting vineyards. I will roll its stones down into the valley; I will lay bare its foundations.

⁷ All their carved idols will be smashed to pieces. All that was earned by their temple prostitutes will be burned. All of their idols will be destroyed, for what she collected through the earnings of temple prostitutes will be taken away and used to pay other temple prostitutes.

⁸ Because of this I will weep and wail, I will walk barefoot and naked, and will howl like jackals and mourn like owls.

⁹ Their‡ wound cannot be healed, it has extended to Judah, and reached right to the gates of Jerusalem.

¹¹ Leave,† people of Shaphir, naked and ashamed. People of Zanaan don't come out. People of Beth Ezel mourn, for you have lost your support.‡

¹³ Harness the team of horses to the chariot, you people of Lachish, because the sins of the people of Jerusalem§ began with you, for the sins of Israel were first found in you.

* 1:5 The high places were where pagan gods were worshiped. † 1:5 Samaria was the capital of the northern kingdom, and Judah the capital of the southern. This indicates the extent of the apostasy. ‡ 1:9 Referring back to the people of Samaria. § 1:10 Gath was a Philistine city. The meaning is that this tragic situation should not be shared with Israel's enemies, so that they do not take advantage or gloat. * 1:10 Rolling in the dust was a way of showing extreme grief. In addition, there is a wordplay on the names of the towns mentioned in this section, but some of the meanings have been lost. † 1:11 This is thought by some to refer to the exile. ‡ 1:11 Meaning uncertain. § 1:13 Literally, "daughter of Zion."

14 Send your goodbye gifts to Moresheth.* The town of Achzib is a deception to the kings of Israel.

15 I will bring a conqueror to attack you, people of Moresheth. The leaders of Israel will go to Adullam.†

16 Shave your heads, for the children you love will be taken away; make yourselves as bald as a vulture, for they will be exiled far away from you.

2

1 How disastrous it will be for those who devise evil plans as they lie awake at night. They get up in the morning to carry them out, because they have the power to do just that.

2 They seize any fields they want. They take any houses they want. They cheat people of their houses, and steal their inheritance.

3 So this is what the Lord says. Watch out! I am planning to bring disaster on such families. They won't be able to escape. You will no longer walk around arrogantly, for this will be a time of disaster.

4 On that day they will make up a saying to taunt you. With a mocking lament they will say, "We are totally ruined! Our possessions are being sold off. They've taken everything away, and given our fields to your conquerors."

5 Consequently at that time there will be none of you in the assembly of the Lord responsible for the division of the land.*

6 But you preach at me, saying,† "Don't preach such things. Don't prophesy like this. Such a humiliation won't happen to us!"

7 Should you talk like that, descendants of Jacob? You ask,‡ "Can the Lord run out of patience? Is this what he does?" Are not my words good to those who do what is right? asks the Lord.§

8 Lately my people have risen up against me like an enemy. You steal the coats off the backs of those passing by, men returning from war who expect to be safe in their homeland.

9 You drive the women of my people from their comfortable homes; you have robbed their children of my blessings forever.

10 Get up! Leave! For this is not a place for you to stay. It is defiled and totally ruined.

11 If a false prophet should come to you and lie, saying, "I'll preach to you about the virtues of wine and alcohol," he would be the perfect prophet for your kind of people.

12 I will certainly gather all of you, descendants of Jacob, I will certainly bring back together those who are left, Israel. I will place them like sheep in the fold, like a flock in its pasture. The land will be filled with people celebrating.

* 1:14 Micah's hometown. Some see these gifts as related to the dowry given to a daughter when she married, before she left. In other words, the people of Israel were saying goodbye to Moresheth—perhaps by enemy conquest since it appears to be close to the border with the Philistines. † 1:15 Adullam was the cave where David hid when he was running away from king Saul (1 Samuel 22:1). In other words, the leaders of Israel will run away to hide.

* 2:5 This refers back to the original division of the Promised Land by lot. Once the land has been conquered, Israel no longer has any say about who owns it, or who lives where. † 2:6 Implied. ‡ 2:7 Implied. § 2:7 Implied. Who is saying what is confusing in this verse.

¹³ The One who opens the way for them will lead them, breaking through the gate and going out. Their King will lead them; the Lord himself will be at their head.

¹ Then I said, "Please listen, leaders of the descendants of Jacob, people of Israel. You are meant to know the difference between right and wrong, ² you who hate good and love evil! You tear off their skin, and rip the flesh from their bones.

⁴ Then they'll cry out to the Lord, but he won't answer them. He will turn away* from them at that time because of the evil things they have done.

⁵ This is what the Lord says about the prophets who deceive my people. To those who feed† them they prophesy peace to them, while to those who do not they prophesy war against them.

⁶ Therefore it will be like night for you, with no visions; dark, with no predictions. The sun will set on these prophets; their day will end in darkness.

⁷ The seers will be disgraced, the fortune-tellers put to shame, and they will cover their faces because none of them receive any answer from God.

⁸ But as for me, I am filled with power, with the spirit of the Lord. I am filled with justice and strength to make clear to the descendants of Jacob their rebellion, and to the people of Israel their sin.

¹² Therefore because of you Zion will become a ploughed field and Jerusalem a heap of rubble, and the Temple mount will be overgrown.

¹ In the last days, the mountain where the Lord's Temple stands will be recognized as the highest of all mountains, rising above other hills. Crowds of people from many places will travel to it.

² Many nations will come and say, "Let's go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the Temple of the God of Jacob. There God will teach us his ways and we will follow his directions."* God's teachings will spread out from Zion, his word from Jerusalem.

³ The Lord will decide the cases of the nations, he will settle arguments between distant powerful nations. They will hammer their swords and turn them into plough blades, and their spears into pruning hooks. Nations will not fight against each other anymore; they will no longer learn methods of warfare.

* 3:4 Literally, "hide his face." † 3:5 Literally, "biting with their teeth."

* 4:2 Literally, "walk in his paths."

⁴ Everyone will be able to sit under their own vine and their own fig tree, for there will be no one to make them afraid. I the Lord Almighty has spoken!

⁶ On that day, declares the Lord, I will gather those who are lame, I will bring together those who have been scattered in exile, those whom I punished.

⁷ I will make those who remain, crippled and driven far away, into a strong nation, and the Lord will rule them from Mount Zion forever and ever.

⁸ And as for you, Jerusalem,[†] watchtower of the flock,[‡] your former royal rule and power will be returned to you: the kingdom will be given back to Jerusalem.

⁹ So why are you screaming aloud? Don't you have a king? Has the king who advises you died so that pain has gripped you like a woman in childbirth?

¹⁰ Thrash around in agony like a woman giving birth, people of Zion—for you will be expelled from the city, forced to camp out in the open, and exiled to Babylon. But the Lord will bring you back, and rescue you from the power of your enemies.

¹¹ Right now many enemies are gathered against you, saying, "Let us attack and violate her, so we can look with gloating over Zion!"

¹² But they don't know what the Lord is thinking, and don't understand what he is planning. He has brought them together like bundles of grain to the threshing floor.

¹³ People of Zion, get up and start threshing, for I will make for you iron horns and bronze hooves[§] so you can break many nations into pieces. You will present their stolen plunder to the Lord, their wealth to the Lord of all the earth.

5

² But from you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, (though you are only a small place in Judah), will come a ruler of Israel to do my will. His existence is from the ages of eternity past.

³ So the Lord will give up on them until the woman in labor has given birth. Then the rest of his brothers will return to the people of Israel.

⁵ He will be our source of peace when the Assyrians invade our land and destroy our fortresses. Then we will appoint many strong leaders,[†]

[†] 4:8 Literally, "hill of the daughter of Zion." [‡] 4:8 Migdal Edar, mentioned in Genesis 35:21 as the place where Jacob camped. [§] 4:13 As if Jerusalem was like a bull, the Lord will give them the extra strength like metallic horns and hooves to defeat their enemies. ^{*} 5:1 "Jerusalem": literally, "daughter of troops." [†] 5:5 Literally, "seven shepherds and eight leaders." The numbers are not considered of particular significance; they simply indicate there would be sufficient for the situation.

⁶ and they will rule Assyria with their swords, the land of Nimrod with drawn swords. He shall rescue us from the Assyrians when they invade our land, marching across our borders.

⁸ Those who are left of the people of Jacob shall be among many nations, in the center of many peoples. They will be like a lion among the wild animals of the forest, like a young lion among flocks of sheep, clawing and tearing as it passes through, with no one to come to the rescue.

⁹ Lift your hand in triumph against your enemies; all of them will be destroyed.

¹⁰ On that day, says the Lord, I will kill your horses and break your chariots.†

¹¹ I will tear down your city walls and demolish your fortresses.

¹² I will stop the witchcraft you practice; there will be no more fortune-tellers for you.

¹³ I will smash down the idols and stone pillars that stand among you: you shall not bow down and worship idols that you make with your own hands any more.

¹⁴ I will pull up the Asherah poles§ that you have and destroy your pagan places.*

¹⁵ In anger and fury I will execute vengeance on those nations that do not obey me.

6

² And now, mountains, hear the Lord's argument. Listen, everlasting foundations of the earth, for the Lord has a case against his people. He will bring charges against Israel.

³ My people, what have I done to you? What is it that I have done to make you tired of me?

⁶ What should I take with me when I approach the Lord, when I bow down before the God of heaven? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?

⁷ Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or ten thousand rivers of olive oil? Shall I sacrifice my firstborn child for my rebellion, my own flesh and blood for the sins I have committed?

‡ 5:10 The Lord is intent on removing everything the people trusted in apart from himself—in this case their military power. § 5:14 Idol poles set up as part of pagan worship. * 5:14 Or “cities.”

* 6:5 Balak wanted Balaam to curse the Israelites, but Balaam was only able to speak blessings. See Numbers 22 to Numbers 24. † 6:5 Between Shittim and Gilgal Israelites crossed the Jordan River.

⁸ The Lord has told you what is good, and what the Lord asks from you: to do what is right, to love kindness, and to walk in humility[‡] with your God.

⁹ The voice of the Lord calls to the city—to respect your name is to be wise—pay attention to the rod and who summoned it.[§]

¹¹ How can I accept those who use unfair scales and dishonest weights?

¹² Your rich people make money by using violence; they tell lies and practice deceit.

¹³ So I will strike you to make you ill; I will ruin you because of your sins.

¹⁴ You will eat, but never be satisfied; inside you will still feel hungry. Even though you try to save money, what you save won't be worth anything because I will give it to the sword.*

¹⁵ You will sow, but you won't reap; you will press your olives, but not use the oil; you will make your wine, but drink none of it.

¹⁶ You have kept the laws of Omri, and adopted all the practices of the house of Ahab,[†] you have followed their ways. So I will make your country desolate and the people who live there an object of scorn; you will bear the shame of my people.

7

³ They are experts at evil;* both officials and judges ask for bribes; the powerful demand their evil desires; and they scheme together to get what they want.

⁵ Don't trust a neighbor, don't rely on a friend. Watch what you say even to the one who lies in your arms.

⁶ For a son treats his father with contempt; a daughter opposes her mother, and a daughter-in-law her mother-in-law. Your enemies are members of your own family.

⁷ But as for me, I look to the Lord. I will wait for the God who saves me. My God will hear me.

⁸ Don't gloat over me, my enemies! Even though I fall, I will rise again. Though I sit in darkness, the Lord is my light.

[‡] 6:8 Or "respectfully." [§] 6:9 This is taken to mean the "rod" of punishment through the invasion by foreign armies. * 6:14 "Give it to the sword." This could mean either that what is saved will be destroyed, or that it will be taken by the invaders. [†] 6:16 King Omri and his son Ahab were two of the most evil kings of Israel. * 7:3 Literally, "they do evil with both hands well." [†] 7:4 Literally, "the day of your watchmen."

⁹ I will endure the Lord's anger because I have sinned against him. But after that he will argue my case and give me justice. He will bring me into the light and I will see his integrity.

¹⁰ Then my enemies will see it and cover their faces in shame for taunting me, asking, "Where is the Lord your God?" With my own eyes I will see what happens to them; they will be trodden down like mud in the streets.

¹¹ On that day it will be time to build your walls. On that day your boundaries will be extended.

¹³ But the rest of the earth will become desolate because of what those who live there have done.

¹⁴ Protect your people with your shepherd's rod. Take care of your flock, your special people,[‡] who live alone in the wilderness and in cultivated land. Let them feed in Basham and Gilead as they did long ago.

¹⁵ Like the time when you left the land of Egypt, I will do miracles for you.

¹⁶ The nations will see, and they will be humiliated despite their strength. They will cover their mouths with their hands, and their ears shall become deaf.

¹⁷ They will lick the dust like snakes; they will be like the creepy-crawlies of the earth. They will come trembling from their fortresses to meet the Lord our God, fearful and afraid before him.

¹⁸ Who is a God like you who forgives sin and passes over the rebellion of those who are left of his special people? You do not remain angry forever because you delight in showing faithful love.

¹⁹ You will have compassion on us again. You will tread our sins under your feet, and you will throw our sins into the depths of the sea.

²⁰ You will give your trustworthy truth to the people of Jacob, your faithful love to the people of Abraham, as you promised our forefathers long ago.

[‡] 7:14 Literally, "inheritance." Also in verse 18.

Nahum

² The Lord is a jealous and avenging God—the Lord God is avenging and angry. The Lord takes vengeance on his enemies, he is angry with those who are hostile to him.

³ The Lord is slow to become angry, has great power, and will not leave the guilty unpunished. He walks among the whirlwind and the storm; the clouds are like dust beneath his feet.

⁴ He commands the sea and makes it dry; he dries up all the rivers. Bashan and Carmel* wither; the blossom of Lebanon fades.

⁵ Mountains quake in his presence; hills melt away. The earth trembles before him—the whole world and everyone who lives there.

⁷ The Lord is good, a place of safety in a time of trouble. He takes care of those who place their trust in him,

⁸ but those who oppose him will be swept away by a tremendous flood to their destruction. He pursues his enemies into the darkness of death.

⁹ Why are you plotting against the Lord? He will end it completely; misery won't arise twice.

¹⁰ They† entangle themselves like people caught in thorn bushes; they are like drunks full of drink. They will be completely burned up like dry straw.‡

¹¹ One of you is plotting evil against the Lord, someone who is planning wickedness.

¹² This is what the Lord says: Even though they are strong and numerous, they will be cut down and they will pass away. Though I have caused you trouble, I will not do so anymore.

¹⁴ This is what the Lord has ordered concerning you.§ You will have no descendants to carry on your name. I will destroy the gods in your temples, all the wooden and metal idols. I am digging your grave, for you are deprived.

¹⁵ Look! A messenger is coming over the mountains, bringing good news and proclaiming peace. Judah, celebrate your religious festivals and keep your vows, for never again will wicked enemies invade your land—they will be completely destroyed.

* 1:4 Two places famous for good pasture. † 1:10 God's enemies. ‡ 1:10 This verse is acknowledged as one of the hardest verses to translate in the Bible as the specific interpretation is uncertain. However, the main point of destruction of those opposed to God is clear. § 1:14 Referring to the people of Nineveh. * 2:1 Or "smashes to pieces."

² (For the Lord will restore the splendor of the people of Jacob as he will restore the splendor of Israel, for invaders have plundered them, and destroyed their land.†)‡

⁵ He shouts orders to his officers. They stumble as they rush to attack the wall. The battering ram is set up.

⁸ Nineveh is a leaky pool—its population is like water running away. “Stop! Stop” people shout, but nobody turns back.

⁹ Loot the silver! Loot the gold! There’s an endless supply—an abundance of everything you could ever want.

¹¹ Where now is the lion’s den? Where is the place where the young lions used to feed? Where is the lion, and the lioness, and the lion cub that were afraid of no one?‡

¹³ Watch out! For I am against you, declares the Lord Almighty. I will set fire to your chariots and they will go up in smoke. Your strong young men§ will be killed by the sword. I will stop you plundering other peoples.* The demands of your ambassadors† will no longer be heard.

3

² Listen to the noise: whips crack, wheels clatter, horses gallop, chariots rattle!

³ Horsemen charge, swords flash, spears glitter! Many dead, piles of corpses, countless bodies—so many that people stumble over them.

† 2:2 Literally, “vine branches.” ‡ 2:2 This sentence is placed in parentheses to indicate that it is not part of the description of the attacking army and its commander. § 2:3 The word for spear here is that of the wood used, and it is debated whether this is pine, cypress, or fir. * 2:6

Or “dissolves in fear.” † 2:7 The word used here is of uncertain meaning. It does not occur anywhere else in the Old Testament. ‡ 2:11 The symbol of the lion was used extensively by the Assyrians, and also reflects their cruel treatment of their victims. § 2:13 Literally, “young lions.” * 2:13 Literally, “cut off your prey from the earth.” † 2:13 Emissaries: the Assyrians sent their representatives to other nations to demand submission and tribute. * 3:1 Literally,

“its prey never departs.”

⁵ Watch out! For I am against you, declares the Lord Almighty. I will lift your skirts over your face and let the nations see your nakedness, and kingdoms see your shame.

⁶ I will throw filth at you. I will treat you with contempt, and make a spectacle of you.

⁷ Then everyone who sees you will shun you saying, "Nineveh is ruined! But who is going to mourn your loss?" Where should I look to find anyone to comfort you?

⁸ Are you any better than the city of Thebes[†] on the River Nile, surrounded by water? Water was its defense, water was its wall.[‡]

⁹ The city ruled Egypt and Ethiopia.[§] Put and Libya were its allies.

¹⁰ Yet its people were also taken away into exile, into captivity. Their babies were dashed to pieces in every street. Their nobles were bound in chains and taken away as servants, chosen by lot.

¹¹ You too will behave like a drunk. You will hide in fear, trying to find a place safe from the enemy.

¹² All your fortresses are like fig trees ripe with fruit—they fall when they are shaken into the mouth of the one eating.

¹³ Look! Your soldiers are women among you. The gates of your land are wide open to your enemies; the bars of the gates will be set on fire.

¹⁴ Store water to prepare for a siege! Strengthen your fortresses! Go to the clay pits to tread it well, mix the cement, get your brick molds ready!

¹⁵ But even so, there^{*} the fire will consume you, you will be cut down by the sword. You will be destroyed as if you were devoured by a swarm of locusts. So multiply yourselves like locusts, like a swarm of locusts.

¹⁶ You increased your merchants so that there are more of them than the stars of heaven. But like locusts they strip everything and then fly away.

¹⁷ Your leaders are like locusts, your officials like a swarm of locusts. They rest on walls on a cold day, but when the sun rises they fly away, and no one knows where they've gone.

¹⁸ King of Assyria, your shepherds are asleep, your princes are slumbering.[†] Your people are scattered across the mountains and no one can gather them.

¹⁹ There is no way to heal your injuries, you are too badly wounded. Everyone who hears this news will applaud what has happened to you, for was there anyone who escaped your continuous cruelty?

[†] 3:8 Literally, "No Amon," the city of the Egyptian god Amen. It had earlier been destroyed by the Assyrians. [‡] 3:8 The Qumran peshar (commentary) on Nahum makes it clear that the pronoun refers to the city. [§] 3:9 Literally, "Cush." ^{*} 3:15 Referring to the siege. [†] 3:18 In Scripture death is often referred to as sleep, so this verse means all the leaders who cared for the people are dead.

Habakkuk

¹ This is the message that Habakkuk saw in vision.

² Lord, how long do I have to cry out for help and you don't listen? I cry out, "Violence!" but you don't save us from it.

³ Why do you force me to see this wickedness and suffering? Why do you just observe such destruction and violence? Arguments and fighting happen right in front of me!

⁴ As a result the law is paralyzed, and justice never wins. The wicked crowd out those who do right so that the course of justice is perverted.

⁵ Look around at the nations, watch and be surprised and amazed.* Something is going to happen in your time that you wouldn't believe even if you were told.

⁶ Watch! I am raising up the Babylonians,[†] a cruel and brutal people who will march across the world to seize other lands.

⁷ They are fearsome and terrifying, and so proud of themselves that they set their own rules.[‡]

⁹ Here they come, all intent on violence. Their armies advance in frontal assault as rapidly as the desert wind, capturing so many prisoners they are like sand.

¹² Haven't you existed from eternity past? You are Lord my God, my Holy One, you do not die. Lord, you appointed them to execute judgment; God our Rock, you sent them to punish us.

¹⁴ You make people become like fish in the sea, or like crawling insects, that have no ruler.

¹⁵ They* drag everyone up with hooks, they pull them out with nets, catching them in dragnets. Then they happily celebrate.

¹⁷ Will they keep on unsheathing their swords[†] forever, killing nations without mercy?

* 1:5 This is the beginning of the Lord's response. [†] 1:6 Literally, "Chaldeans." [‡] 1:7 In other words, they do whatever they like. § 1:8 The Masoretic Text has "their horsemen, yes their horsemen." The Habbakuk peshier (commentary) from Qumran is the basis for the reading here.

* 1:15 The Babylonians. [†] 1:17 "Unsheathing their swords": Habbakuk peshier (commentary) from Qumran reading.

¹ I will climb my watchtower; I will take my place on the city wall. I will keep watch and see what he will say to me, how he will answer my grievances.

² Then the Lord told me, Write down the vision, inscribe it on tablets, so it can be easily read.*

³ For the vision is for a future time, it is about the end and it does not lie. If it seems slow in being fulfilled, wait for it, for it will definitely come—it will not be delayed!

⁴ Look at those who are proud!† They do not live right. But those who live right do so through their trust in God.

⁵ In addition wealth provides no security.‡ Those who are arrogant never have any peace; their greedy mouths are as wide open as the grave,§ and like death they are never satisfied. They gather nations like possessions, swallowing up many peoples.

⁶ Won't all these peoples taunt them? They will ridicule them, saying, "What disaster is coming to you who pile up things that don't belong to you! You make yourselves rich by forcing debtors to pay! How long can you go on doing this?"

⁸ Because you have plundered many nations, those who are left will plunder you—for the human blood you have shed and the destruction you brought on lands and cities, and those who lived there.

⁹ What disaster is coming to you who build houses through dishonest gain! You think you can place your "nest" so high it will be safe from disaster.

¹⁵ What disaster is coming to you who make your neighbors drunk! You force your cup of anger* on them and make them drink so you may see them naked.

¹⁶ In turn you will be filled with shame instead of glory. Drink yourself and expose your nakedness!† The cup the Lord holds in his right hand will be passed round to you and your glory will turn to shame.

¹⁷ As you destroyed the forests of Lebanon you will also be destroyed; you hunted the animals there, and now they will hunt‡ you. For you shed

* 2:2 Literally, "so he who runs can read it." † 2:4 Again this applies to the main subject of the vision, the Babylonian people. ‡ 2:5 "Wealth provides no security": following one understanding of the Habbakuk peshier (commentary) from Qumran reading. The Masoretic Text has "wine is deceptive." § 2:5 Literally, "Sheol," the place of the dead.

* 2:15 Or "poison." † 2:16 "Expose your nakedness": or "stagger": Habbakuk peshier (commentary) from Qumran reading. ‡ 2:17 Literally, "terrify."

human blood and you destroyed lands and cities, along with those who lived there.

¹⁸ What use is a wooden idol carved by human hands, or a metal image that teaches lies? What is the point of their makers trusting in their own handiwork, creating idols that can't speak?

²⁰ But the Lord is in his holy Temple; let all the earth be silent in his presence.

⁶ Where he stands, the earth shakes. When he looks the nations tremble. The ancient mountains shatter, the age-old hills collapse, but his ways are eternal.

⁸ Did you burn with rage against the rivers, Lord? Were you angry with the rivers? Were you furious with the sea when you rode your horses and chariots of salvation?

⁹ You took out your bow; you filled your quiver with arrows. Selah. You split the earth open with rivers.

¹⁰ Mountains saw you and shook. Water poured down and swept by. The deep called out, lifting high its waves.[†]

¹¹ The sun and moon stood still in the sky as your sparkling arrows flew and your spears flashed bright.

¹² Indignant, you marched across the earth, trampling the nations in your anger.

¹³ You came out to save your people, to save your chosen people. You crushed the head of the house of the wicked, stripping him from thick to neck.[‡]

* 3:1 "On Shigionoth": the meaning is unknown. It may be a musical instrument. [†] 3:3 Teman is in the land of Edom, while Mount Paran is in the Sinai Peninsula. [‡] 3:3 "Selah": an unknown term often also used in Psalms. [§] 3:5 Or "bolts of fire." * 3:7 By this Habakkuk probably means the people that lived in these tents. [†] 3:10 Literally, "hands." [‡] 3:13 This verse has been interpreted in many ways.

¹⁶ I shook inside when I heard this; my lips quivered at the sound; my bones turned to jelly; I trembled where I stood. I wait quietly for the day of trouble that will come upon those who attacked us.

¹⁷ Even though there are no blossoms on the fig trees and there are no grapes on the vines; even though the olive crop fails and the fields produce no harvest; even though there are no animals in the pen and no cattle in the stalls;

¹⁹ The Lord God is my strength. He makes me able to walk in the highest mountains, as sure-footed as a deer.

Zephaniah

¹ This is the message that the Lord gave to Zephaniah. He was the son of Cushti, son of Gedaliah, son of Amariah, son of Hezekiah.* This happened when Josiah, son of Amon, was king of Judah.

² I will completely sweep away everything from the face of the earth, declares the Lord.

³ I will sweep away people and animals, I will sweep away the birds of the air and the fish of the sea. I will overthrow† the wicked; I will destroy human beings from the face of the earth.

⁴ I will strike‡ Judah and everyone who lives in Jerusalem. I will destroy all that remains of their Baal worship along with their pagan priests so that even their names will be forgotten.§

⁵ I will destroy those who go up to the rooftops to bow down before the sun, moon, and stars. They also bow down and swear allegiance to the Lord, but then they do the same to Milcom.*

⁶ I will destroy those who once worshiped the Lord but don't anymore. They don't seek the Lord or ask for my help.

⁷ Be silent before the Lord God! For the day of the Lord is near: the Lord has prepared a sacrifice and consecrated his guests.†

⁸ Then on the day of the Lord's sacrifice I will punish the officials and the king's sons, and those who follow pagan ways‡.

⁹ I will also punish those who jump over the threshold.§ On that day I will punish those who fill up their masters' houses using violence and deception.

¹⁰ On that day, declares the Lord, a cry of grief will come from the Fish Gate, a wailing from the Second Quarter, and a loud crash from the hills.

¹³ Their possessions will be looted; their houses will be demolished. They will build houses, but not live in them; they will plant vineyards, but not drink the wine.

¹⁴ The great day of the Lord is near and approaching rapidly. It will be a bitter day—even warriors will cry out loud.

* 1:1 Probably king Hezekiah, one of the previous kings of Judah. † 1:3 Literally, "stumbling-blocks," which makes the meaning unclear. ‡ 1:4 Literally, "stretch out my hand against."

§ 1:4 Implied. * 1:5 Or "Molech," a pagan god. † 1:7 In the context, Israel is the sacrifice, and the Babylonians are the "guests." ‡ 1:8 Literally, "those who dress in foreign clothes." § 1:9 The meaning of this is debated. Some think it was a pagan custom (see for example 1 Samuel 5:4-5). Others tie it to the following verse and see it as eagerness to rob the poor. * 1:11 Literally, "the Mortar." † 1:11 Literally, "people of Canaan." ‡ 1:12 In other words, they dismiss the Lord because they don't think he cares about them.

¹⁵ It will be a day of anger,[§] a day of trouble and distress, a day of disaster and ruin, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and blackness,

¹⁷ I will bring trouble on humanity, making them walk like blind people because they have sinned against the Lord. Their blood will be spilled like so much dust; their intestines like dung.

¹⁸ Their silver and their gold won't help to save them on the day of the Lord's anger. The whole earth will be burned up by the fire of his jealous* anger. He will make sure the end of the people of the world is sudden and complete.

² before the decree is issued, before you wither and die like a flower,* before the burning anger of the Lord falls on you, before the day of the Lord's anger comes on you.

³ Look to the Lord, all you people of the land who are humble and who follow his commands. Look to do what is right; look to live in humility. Perhaps you will be protected† on the day of the Lord's anger.

⁴ Gaza will be abandoned, Ashkelon will become desolate, Ashdod will be emptied by noon, Ekron will be ripped up.

⁵ What disaster is coming to you Philistines, you sea-people who live along the coast and in the land of Canaan! The Lord has passed judgment on you. I will destroy you—there will be no survivors.

⁶ Your seacoast will become pastures, with meadows for shepherds and sheep pens for flocks.

⁷ It will belong to those who remain of the people of Judah. They will graze their flocks there, and the shepherds will sleep in the abandoned houses of Ashkelon. For the Lord their God will be with them and make them prosperous again.

⁸ I have heard the mocking taunts of the Moabites and the scornful derision of the Ammonites who have insulted my people and made threats against their territory.

⁹ Consequently, as I live, declares the Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, the Moabites will become like Sodom, and the Ammonites like Gomorrah. Their land will become a place of weeds and salt pits and ruins forever. Those who remain of my people will plunder them and occupy their land.

¹⁰ This is what they will receive for their pride because they mocked and threatened the people of the Lord Almighty.

[§] 1:15 The expression of God being angry or full of wrath is a frequent image in the prophetic writings, but should not be understood in the same way as human anger. God's anger is not emotional like some kind of unthinking "red mist," but a principled opposition to all that is evil. God uses this anger to try to convince those who are wrong to do what is right for their own sake, not because he "gets mad" and lashes out. Human anger is self-centered; divine anger is other-centered.

* 1:18 "Jealous" when applied to God is not the same as human jealousy. It means God's strong desire that people follow only him, for he alone can save. He wants an exclusive relationship for he knows that anything else leads to disaster. * 2:2 Septuagint reading, otherwise "before you are blown away like chaff in the wind." † 2:3 Literally, "hidden."

¹¹ The Lord will make them terribly afraid as he starves to death all the gods of the land. Every nation will worship the Lord wherever they are—all around the world.

¹² You Ethiopians will be killed by the sword.

¹⁴ Herds will lie down in the middle of the city. It will become the home for every kind of wild animal. Eagle owls and screech owls[‡] will roost on its columns. Their calls will echo through the windows. Rubble will block the doors, and the cedar woodwork will be exposed.

¹⁵ This is what will happen to this triumphant city that thought it was so secure. “Look at me!” it said proudly to itself. “There is no city as great as me!” But it has become a desolate place—just a home for wild animals. Everyone who passes by will point their finger and laugh in derision.

² You [†] don't listen to anybody, you don't accept correction, you don't trust in the Lord, you don't ask for God's help.[‡]

³ Your leaders are as greedy as roaring lions; your judges are ravenous wolves that leave nothing behind by morning.

⁴ Your prophets are arrogant, deceitful men who defile what is sacred and who openly break the law.[§]

⁵ But the Lord who does right is still among you, he does no wrong. Every morning he gives his judgment, every day without fail. But those who act unjustly have no shame.

⁶ I have destroyed nations. Their fortresses are deserted; their streets are empty; their cities are destroyed—there are no survivors, not one.

⁷ I told myself, “Surely they* will respect me now and accept my correction. Then their homes would not be destroyed to teach them a lesson.” But instead you're just as eager to go on doing evil.

⁸ You just wait, declares the Lord. The day is coming when I will rise to give evidence. For I have decided to gather together all the nations and kingdoms and to pour out on them my anger, my fury and my rage. The whole earth will be burned up by the fire of my jealous[†] anger.

¹¹ On that day you won't be ashamed because of what you did in rebelling against me, for I will remove from among you those who are proud and boastful. Never again will you be conceited on my holy mountain.

[‡] 2:14 The actual birds mentioned here are uncertain, but are listed in Leviticus and Deuteronomy as unclean. * 3:1 “Jerusalem”: implied by the context. [†] 3:2 Literally, “she,” but using the second person pronoun makes the warning more vivid. [‡] 3:2 Literally, “you don't draw near to God.” § 3:4 Or “use the law to their own advantage.” * 3:7 Referring to the people of Jerusalem. [†] 3:8 On jealousy see note on verse 1:18.

¹² I will leave among you those who are meek and humble, those who trust in the name of the Lord.

¹³ The people of Israel who remain will not act wickedly nor will they tell lies. They will not deceive one another. They will be able to eat in peace and sleep in safety for there will be nothing to frighten them.

¹⁴ Sing out, Jerusalem! Shout aloud, Israel! Jerusalem, be happy and celebrate with all your heart!

¹⁵ For the Lord has turned aside from punishing you, and he has turned back your enemies. The Lord, the king of Israel, is with you, and you will never again have to fear disaster.

¹⁶ On that day the message to the people of Jerusalem will be, “Don’t be afraid; don’t be discouraged!”[‡]

¹⁷ The Lord your God is among you as a mighty warrior who saves. He will be so happy with you. He will renew[§] his love for you. He will celebrate over you with loud singing.

¹⁹ Look at what I am going to do! At that time I am going to deal with all those who have oppressed you. I will save those who are helpless and bring back those who were scattered, and I will turn their shame into praise, and all the world will respect them.

²⁰ At that time I will bring you home, gathering you together. I will give you a good reputation, and you will be praised by all the peoples of the earth when I restore your status before your very eyes, says the Lord.

[‡] 3:16 “Don’t be discouraged”: literally, “don’t have limp hands.” [§] 3:17 Septuagint. Hebrew: “he will be silent in his love” hardly fits the previous or following phrase. ^{*} 3:18 This is one interpretation of the Hebrew which is unclear. The meaning is that when in exile the Israelites were not able to celebrate their religious festivals as they wished and this was a cause of disgrace to them.

Haggai

¹ In the second year of the reign of king Darius, on the first day of the sixth month,^{*} the Lord sent a message through the prophet Haggai to Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and to Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest.

² The Lord Almighty says this: the people say, “This isn't the proper time to rebuild the Lord's house.”

³ Then the Lord sent a message through the prophet Haggai, saying,[†]

⁴ Is it the proper time for you to live in your paneled houses while this house[‡] remains a ruin?

⁵ So the Lord Almighty says this: Think about what you're doing!

⁶ You have sown much but harvested little. You eat but you're still hungry. You drink but you're still thirsty. You put on clothes but you're still cold. You work hard to earn money but put it in a bag full of holes.[§]

⁸ Go into the hills and bring wood to build the house. This will please me and honor me, says the Lord.

⁹ You were hoping for so much, but look, it turned out to be so little. Everything you brought home I blew away. And why was that? Because my house remains a ruin while you are preoccupied with building your own houses, declares the Lord Almighty.

¹¹ I called for a drought on the land, on the hills, on the grain fields, on the vineyards, and on the olive groves—on whatever the earth produces—and on people and livestock, on everything you do!

¹² Then Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest, together with all the remaining people, paid attention to what the Lord said, and to the words of Haggai the prophet that the Lord their God had sent. The people showed reverence before the Lord.

¹⁵ This happened on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month in the second year of the reign of king Darius.

^{*} 1:1 Thought to be in 520 BC. [†] 1:3 The use of quotation marks is avoided once again as it is confusing to open and close them when the Lord refers to himself speaking. It is also at times hard to determine which are the Lord's words and those of the prophet who is speaking for him. See also footnote for Isaiah 1:2. [‡] 1:4 Referring to the ruined Temple. [§] 1:6 An early example of inflation...

² Say to Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, governor of Judah, and Joshua, son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and all the remaining people,

³ Is there anyone left among you who saw this house in its former glory? ^{*} How does it look to you now? Does it seem like nothing to you?

⁵ Just as I promised you when you left Egypt, my Spirit continues to be among you. Don't be afraid!

⁶ This is what the Lord Almighty says: Soon I will shake the heavens and the earth once more, and the sea and the dry land.

⁷ I will shake all the nations, and the one desired[†] by all of the nations will come and I will fill this house with glory, says the Lord Almighty.

⁸ The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, declares the Lord Almighty.

⁹ The glory of this second house will be greater than the first, says the Lord Almighty, and I will bring peace in this place. So declares the Lord Almighty.

¹⁰ On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of the reign of king Darius, the Lord sent a message through the prophet Haggai.

¹² If someone carries some meat from a holy sacrifice in a fold of their clothes and that fold touches some bread or stew or wine or olive oil or any other kind of food, does that food become holy?" And the priests answered, "No."

¹³ Then Haggai asked, "If someone becomes unclean by touching a dead body[‡] and then touches any of these foods, do they become unclean?" The priests answered, "Yes, it does become unclean."

¹⁴ Then Haggai responded, "This is how it is with these people, and with the nation before me, says the Lord. All that they do, every offering they bring, is unclean."

¹⁵ Now think about what you're doing from this day on. Before a stone was laid on another stone in the house of the Lord,

¹⁶ how was it for you? You expected a store of grain with twenty measures but only found ten. You thought you could empty out fifty measures from the winepress but there was only twenty.

¹⁷ I struck with blight and mildew and hail everything you were working so hard for, but even so you refused to come back to me, says the Lord.

¹⁸ Think about what you're doing from this day on, today the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month when a foundation was laid for the house of the Lord. Think about it:

¹⁹ the seed is still in the barn. The vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate tree, and the olive tree have not yet given fruit. But from this day on I will bless you.

²⁰ The Lord sent another message through the prophet Haggai on the twenty-fourth day of the month:

^{*} 2:3 Some of the old people may have seen the previous Temple that was destroyed almost 70 years earlier. [†] 2:7 Or "treasures." [‡] 2:13 Implied. See Numbers 19.

²² I will overthrow the thrones of kingdoms and destroy the power of the nations' kingdoms. I will overthrow the chariots and their riders. The horses and riders will fall, and the men will kill each other by the sword.

²³ On that day, says the Lord, I will take you, Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, my servant, and make you like my signet ring, for I have chosen you. So declares the Lord Almighty.

Zechariah

¹ The Lord sent a message to Zechariah the prophet, son of Berekiah, son of Iddo, in the eighth month of the second year of king Darius' reign, saying:*

³ So tell the people this: Return to me, and I will return to you, says the Lord Almighty.‡

⁴ You must not be like your forefathers. They were told by previous prophets: Give up your evil ways, and the evil things you do. But they would not listen or pay any attention to me, says the Lord.

⁵ Where are your forefathers now? And the prophets, did they live forever?

⁶ But didn't all my instructions and warnings§ that I ordered my servants the prophets to communicate, didn't all that I said happen to your forefathers? So they repented and said, "What the Lord Almighty planned to do to us was what we deserved because of our ways and our actions. He did what he said he would."

⁷ The Lord sent a message to Zechariah the prophet, son of Berekiah, son of Iddo, on the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month (the month of Shebat) of the second year of king Darius' reign:

⁹ I asked him, "My lord, what are these?" The angel I was talking to replied, "I will show you."

¹⁰ The man who was there among the myrtle trees said, "These are the ones the Lord has sent out to patrol the earth."

¹¹ The riders† reported to the angel of the Lord who was among the myrtle trees, "We have been patrolling the earth and saw that the whole earth has been pacified.‡"

* 1:1 There are quotes within quotes at the beginning of Zechariah, and if they were all identified then the result would be an unwieldy set of quote marks within quote marks—in fact there would be five degrees of quotations. Consequently here (and in most of the Minor Prophets) quote marks have generally not been used except where they help identify other speakers. † 1:2 "Angry." In many of the prophetic books of the Old Testament God is spoken of as being angry. But it should be noted that this is a description of God's opposition and intense hostility to evil and rebellion, rather than anger as experienced by human beings which is very self-referenced, emotionally-based, and even irrational. God's anger is a rational response to wickedness, and is based on his desire to save and heal, rather than to exact retributive vengeance. His focus is on making sure people understand the terrible danger they are in by pursuing evil. ‡ 1:3 Literally, "The Lord Almighty says, Return to me, declares the Lord Almighty, and I will return to you, says the Lord Almighty." The repetition has been removed for easier reading. § 1:6 Literally, "regulations." * 1:8 "With their riders." Implied, see verse 11. † 1:11 Implied. ‡ 1:11 "Pacified." In the context this "peace" has more to do with being forced into submission and defeat than a time of harmony and tranquility. It could be compared to the imposed "Pax Romana" of later times in which the Romans asserted their control over the nations they had defeated militarily and brought "peace."

¹² Then the angel of the Lord said, “Lord Almighty, how long will it be before you have mercy on Jerusalem and the cities of Judah which you have been angry with for the past seventy years?”

¹³ So the Lord replied to the angel I was talking to with kind and comforting words.

¹⁴ Then the angel I was talking with told me, This is what you are to announce. The Lord Almighty says this: I am jealously protective[§] of Jerusalem and Mount Zion,

¹⁵ and I am extremely angry with the arrogant nations who think they are secure. I was only a little angry with my people,^{*} but they made the punishment far worse.[†]

¹⁶ Therefore this is what the Lord says: I have returned to be merciful to Jerusalem. My Temple shall be rebuilt there, as well as the city,[‡] declares the Lord Almighty.

¹⁷ Announce this as well, says the Lord Almighty: Prosperity will flood out of my cities. I the Lord will comfort Zion, and Jerusalem will be my chosen city.

¹⁸ Then I looked and saw four animal horns.[§]

¹⁹ “What are these?” I asked the angel I was talking to.

“These are the horns that scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem,” he replied.

²⁰ Then the Lord showed me four craftsmen.^{*}

²¹ “What are these men coming to do?” I asked.

The angel replied, “The four horns—these nations—scattered Judah, humbling the people so that they could not lift up their heads. These craftsmen have to come to terrify these nations, and to destroy them—those who used their power against the land of Judah, scattering the people.”

2

² “Where are you going?” I asked him.

“I’m going to Jerusalem to measure its width and length,” he replied.

³ The angel I was talking to came forward and another angel came to meet him

⁴ and told him, “Run, and tell the young man^{*} that Jerusalem will have so many people and farm animals that it will be too big to have walls.”

⁵ The Lord declares, I myself will be a wall of fire all around the city, and I will be the glory inside it.

⁶ Run! Run! Run away from the northern land, says the Lord, because I have scattered you to the four winds of heaven.

⁸ For this is what the Lord Almighty said: Afterwards the glorious Lord[†]

[§] 1:14 “Jealously protective”: To be justly concerned over loved ones. ^{*} 1:15 “With my people” implied. [†] 1:15 In other words God had allowed the heathen nations to punish his people because of their sins, but these nations went too far in their attacks. [‡] 1:16 “As well as the city”: literally, “a measuring line will be stretched out over Jerusalem.” [§] 1:18 Horns in prophetic writings are symbolic of powers.

^{} 1:20 Probably blacksmiths or metal workers. ^{} 2:4 Referring to the man with the measuring line mentioned in 2:1. [†] 2:8 “Afterwards the glorious Lord”: Hebrew unclear. Literally, “after glory.”

sent me against the nations that plundered you—for those who touch you touch the apple of his eye.

⁹ I will raise my hand against them and their former slaves will plunder them. Then you will know the Lord Almighty has sent me.†

¹⁰ Sing in celebration, people of Zion, for I am coming to live with you, declares the Lord.

¹¹ Many nations will become believers§ in Lord on that day, and they shall be my people. I will live among you, and you will know the Lord Almighty has sent me to you.

¹³ Be silent before the Lord, everyone, for he has risen from the holy place where he lives.

3

² And the Lord said to Satan, "The Lord rebukes you Satan. I, the Lord who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you. Isn't he like a half-burned stick snatched from the fire?"

⁴ The angel said to those‡ standing there, "Take off his filthy clothes." Then he said to Joshua, "See how I have taken away your sins from you, and now I am dressing you with fine clothes."

⁵ Then I said, "Wrap a clean turban around his head." So they wrapped a clean turban around his head and put the clothes on him while the angel of the Lord stood there.

⁶ Then the angel of the Lord solemnly advised Joshua, saying,

⁷ "This is what the Lord Almighty says: If you follow my ways and observe my commands, then you will govern my Temple and its courtyards. I will allow you to walk among those standing here.

⁸ Pay attention, high priest Joshua and all your fellow-priests that you teach!§ You are a sign of good things to come. Look! I am going to bring my servant, the Branch.*

⁹ See that I have placed a precious stone in front of Joshua, a single stone with seven faces. Watch, for I myself am going to engrave seven eyes on it, declares the Lord Almighty, and I will wipe away the sins of this land in a single day.

¹⁰ On that day everyone will invite their friends to sit in peace† under their vines and fig trees, says the Lord Almighty."

‡ 2:9 "Me." Zechariah is referring to himself, and saying that the fulfillment of this prophecy will confirm the truth of his message. § 2:11 "Become believers": literally, "join themselves." * 3:1 Literally, "he" which could refer either to the Lord or the angel previously mentioned. † 3:1 Satan means "the accuser." ‡ 3:4 Presumably other angels. § 3:8 Literally, "friends who sit before you." * 3:8 Both "my servant" and "the branch" are titles applied to the Messiah. † 3:10 "In peace" implied.

4

1 Then the angel I had been talking to returned and got my attention, like waking someone from sleep.*

2 "What do you see?" he asked me.

"I see a lampstand made of solid gold with a bowl at its top having seven lamps on it, each with seven lips.†

4 Then I asked the angel I was talking to, "What are these, my lord?"

5 "Don't you know what these are?" the angel replied.

"No, my lord," I responded.

6 Then he told me, "This is the Lord's message to Zerubbabel: Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, says the Lord Almighty.

7 Even obstacles as big as mountains will be flattened before Zerubbabel. Finally he will bring out the capstone‡ to shouts of 'Blessings on it!' "

8 Then the Lord gave me another message.

9 Zerubbabel with his own hands laid the foundations for this Temple, and it will be completed the same way. Then you§ will know the Lord Almighty has sent me.

10 For who dares look down on this time of small beginnings? They will be happy when they see the plumb line in Zerubbabel's hand.

"The seven lamps represent the eyes of the Lord which see all over the world."*

11 Then I asked the angel, "What are the two olive trees that stand to the right and the left of the lampstand?"

12 And I also asked him, "What are the two olive branches from which the golden oil pours out from through golden pipes?"

13 "Don't you know?" the angel replied.

"No, my lord," I responded.

14 "These are the two who have been anointed‡ who stand by the Lord of all the earth," he replied.

5

1 I looked again and saw a flying scroll.

2 "What do you see?" asked the angel.

"I see a flying scroll," I replied. "It's thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide."*

3 He told me, "This is the curse that is going out to all the world. Anyone who steals will be purged† from society, according to one side of the scroll. Anyone who swears lies under oath will be purged from society, according to the other side of the scroll."‡

* 4:1 Clearly Zechariah was not actually asleep, only deep in thought. † 4:2 The lips are small channels holding the wicks. ‡ 4:7 Probably meaning the topmost stone of the rebuilt Temple.

§ 4:9 "You" here is singular, and so is taken to mean Zerubbabel. * 4:10 The angels is answering his own question from 4:5 regarding the meaning of the lamps. † 4:14 The identity of these two beings is debated. Some see them as heavenly beings, while others identify them as Joshua and Zerubbabel. * 5:2 Literally, "Twenty cubits in length and ten cubits in width." † 5:3 Or "cut off." ‡ 5:3 One side of the scroll/other side. This is the commonest understanding of the meaning here, but there are other interpretations.

⁴ “I have sent the curse out and it will go into the house of the thief and into the house of the one who swears lies in my name, declares the Lord Almighty. The curse will remain in that house, and will destroy it, both the timbers and the stones.”

⁵ Then the angel I had been talking to came over to me and said, “Look. What do you see moving away?”[§]

⁶ “What is it?” I asked.

“What you see moving away is a barrel* full of the sins† of everyone in the country,”[‡] he replied.

⁷ Then the lead lid was lifted from the barrel and there was a woman sitting inside.

⁸ “She represents wickedness,” he said, and pushed her back inside, forcing the lead lid shut.

⁹ I looked once more and saw two women flying towards me. Their wings looked like those of a stork. They picked up the barrel and flew away, high into the sky.

¹⁰ “Where are they taking it?” I asked the angel I was talking to.

¹¹ “They’re taking it to the land of Babylon[§] to build a house for it. When the house is ready, the barrel will be placed at its base.”*

6

¹ Then I looked again and I saw four chariots coming out from between two mountains that looked like bronze.

³ the third by white horses, and the fourth by dappled grey horses—all of them strong horses.

⁴ “My lord, what are these?” I asked the angel I was talking to.

⁵ “They are going out to the four winds of heaven,* after presenting themselves to the Lord of all the earth,” the angel explained.

⁶ The chariot with the black horses went north, the one with the white horses went west, and the one with the dappled grey horses went south.

⁷ When the strong horses came out they were eager to set off to patrol the earth. And he said, “Go and patrol the earth!” So they left and patrolled the earth.

⁸ Then the angel called to me, saying, “Look! Those who went north have achieved what the Lord wanted† in the land of the north.”

[§] 5:5 Or “going forth.” * 5:6 Literally, “ephah,” a container for measuring grain; sometimes translated “basket.” However, in this case it obviously needs to be large enough to hold a woman inside (5:7), so the word barrel has been used for translation. † 5:6 Septuagint reading. The Hebrew text currently reads “eye,” but this is hard to understand in this context, and the revised reading is only one letter different in the Hebrew. ‡ 5:6 The country of Judah. § 5:11

Literally, “Shinar.” * 5:11 “At its base.” Some interpret this to mean the woman who represents wickedness will be worshiped, and that the “house” is actually a temple. * 6:5 In other words they are all going in different directions. † 6:8 “Achieved what the Lord wanted”: literally, “set at rest my spirit.”

¹¹ Use the silver and the gold they brought to make a crown, and place it on the head of Josiah, son of Jehozadak, the high priest.

¹² Tell him this is what the Lord Almighty says: Look! The man who is called the Branch will grow[‡] from where he is and will build the Lord's Temple.

¹³ He is the one who will build the Lord's Temple, and he will be the one given the honor to rule from both the royal throne and the priestly throne and there will be peace and understanding between the two roles.

¹⁵ People who live in distant lands will come and build the Temple of the Lord, and you will know that the Lord Almighty sent me to you. This will happen if you listen attentively to what the Lord tells you.

7

³ They were to ask the priests of the Temple of the Lord Almighty and the prophets, "Should I go on mourning and fasting in the fifth month, as I have done for so many years?"

⁴ The Lord Almighty sent a message to me saying,

⁵ Tell everyone in the land and the priests, when you fasted and mourned in the fifth month and the seventh month during these seventy years, was it really me you were fasting for?

⁷ Isn't this what the Lord told you to do through the former prophets, when Jerusalem was prosperous and inhabited, and when people were living in the Negev and the Shephelah?*

⁸ The Lord Almighty sent another message to me.

⁹ This is what the Lord says. Judge fairly and truthfully. Show mercy and kindness to one another.

¹¹ But they refused to listen. They were obstinate, turning their backs and closing their ears.

¹⁴ With the winds of a storm I scattered them among the nations where they lived as foreigners. The land they left became so desolate that no one even traveled through it. They turned the Promised Land into a desert.

[‡] 6:12 Or "sprout." [§] 6:14 Literally, "Hen." * 7:7 "The Negev and the Shephelah": the area to the south and the west.

8

² This is what the Lord Almighty says. I am jealously protective of the people of Zion; I am extremely passionate about them.

³ This is what the Lord says. I have returned to Zion, and I will live in Jerusalem. Then Jerusalem will be called the “Faithful City,” and the mountain of the Lord Almighty the “Holy Mountain.”

⁴ This is what the Lord Almighty says. Old people will be able to sit again in the streets of Jerusalem, each with their walking sticks* they need because of their age.

⁵ The streets will be full of boys and girls playing happily.

⁶ This is what the Lord Almighty says. It may seem too good to be true† now, to you who remain of my people in these days. But is it impossible for me to do? asks the Lord Almighty.

⁸ I will bring them back and they will live in Jerusalem, and they will be my people and I will be their God, trustworthy and true.‡

⁹ This is what the Lord Almighty says. Be strong, so that the Temple may be completed. Everyone who is here today is listening to the same words from the prophets who were present on the day when the foundation of the Lord Almighty’s Temple was laid.

¹⁰ Before that time there wasn’t enough§ for people or for animals. No one could live normally because they were not safe from their enemies, and I set everyone against each other.

¹² They will sow in peace; the vine will produce grapes; the soil will grow crops and the heavens will water them. I will make sure this happens to all those who remain of this people.

¹³ People of Judah and Israel: just as you were considered a curse among the nations, so I will save you and you will become a blessing. Don’t be afraid! Be strong!

¹⁴ For this is what the Lord Almighty says: I decided to bring disaster on you when your forefathers angered me and I did not change my mind.

¹⁵ But now I have made up my mind to do good to Jerusalem and the people of Judah. Don’t be afraid!

¹⁶ This what you have to do: Tell each other the truth. In your courts judge honestly and truthfully, which makes for peace.

¹⁷ Don’t think up evil schemes against one another. Stop your love of lies. I hate all this, declares the Lord.

¹⁸ The Lord Almighty gave me another message.

¹⁹ This is what the Lord Almighty says: The fasts you observe in the fourth, fifth, seventh, and tenth month will become times of joy and happiness for the people of Judah—they will be festivals of celebration. But love truth and peace.

* 8:4 Literally, “staffs.” † 8:6 “It may seem too good to be true”: or “it may seem impossible (or marvelous).” ‡ 8:8 “True”: literally, “righteous.” § 8:10 This verse seems to be referring more to having enough to eat rather than money which was an uncommon commodity at that time.

²⁰ This is what the Lord Almighty says: People from many nations and cities will yet come to Jerusalem,*

²¹ going from one city to another saying, "Let us be sure to go and seek the Lord and ask for the blessing of the Lord Almighty. I myself am going!"

²³ This is what the Lord Almighty says: At that time ten men from different nations and languages will grab hold of the hem of a Jewish man's robe and plead, "Please take us with you for we have heard that God is with you."

9

¹ A prophecy:* A message from the Lord to the land of Hadrach, and Damascus its main objective.† For the eyes of human beings together with all the tribes of Israel are on the Lord,‡

² and Hamath too since it is close by. Also Tyre and Sidon for they are very wise.

³ The people of Tyre built a fortress, and piled up silver like dust and gold like the dirt of the street.

⁴ But look at what will happen. The Lord will take away everything they have, and knock down their strong defenses§ into the sea. The city will be burned down.

⁵ The people of Ashkelon will see this and be terrified; those in Gaza will thrash around in agony like a woman giving birth; and the people of Ekron too, because their hopes are shattered. The king of Gaza will be killed, and Ashkelon will be deserted.

⁶ Mixed-race people will live in Ashdod, and I will wipe out the Philistine's pride.

⁷ I will remove the blood-filled meat from their mouths; the unclean food from their jaws.* Those who remain will belong to our God—they shall become like a family of Judah—and those from Ekron will become part of my people, just as the Jebusites did.

⁸ I will make my camp in my Temple to guard it from invaders, and no oppressors will conquer them, for now I myself am keeping watch.

⁹ Be happy and celebrate, people of Zion! Shout loudly, people of Jerusalem! Look, your king is coming to you. He does what is right and has salvation;† he is humble, riding on a donkey—on a colt, the foal of a donkey.

¹⁰ (I will remove the chariots from Ephraim and the warhorses from Jerusalem. I will destroy the bows used in battle.) He will proclaim peace to the nations, and he will rule from sea to sea, from the Euphrates River to the ends of the earth.

* 8:20 "To Jerusalem": implied, see 8:22. * 9:1 Literally, "burden." † 9:1 "Main objective" Literally, "resting place." In other words this was the city to which the prophecy was particularly directed. ‡ 9:1 This could also be translated as "for the Lord has his eye on humanity as well as all the tribes of Israel."

§ 9:4 "Strong defenses": literally, "power." Alternatively this could refer to the Lord destroying the sea power of Tyre. * 9:7 The Philistines did not follow the Jewish regulations regarding slaughtering animals, particularly in draining the blood from the flesh. Consequently their eating of meat still containing blood made them unclean.

† 9:9 "Has salvation," or "is victorious."

¹¹ And as for you,[‡] because my agreement[§] with you, sealed with blood, I will set you free from the waterless pit.*

¹² Return to the stronghold,[†] you prisoners who have hope! Today I promise I will repay you double what you lost.[‡]

¹³ I will use Judah as my bow, and I will load it with Ephraim my arrow. I will call up you men of Zion to fight against you men of Greece, wielding you like a warrior's sword.

¹⁴ Then the Lord will appear over his people and his arrow will flash like lightning! The Lord God will blow the trumpet and march out like a windstorm from the south.

¹⁵ The Lord Almighty will protect them. They will destroy their enemies, conquering them with slingshots. They will drink and shout loudly like people who are drunk. They will be filled like a bowl, soaked like the corners of an altar.[§]

¹⁶ On that day the Lord their God will save them—his people that are his flock—for they will glitter as crown jewels in his land.

¹⁷ How lovely and beautiful they* will be! Young men will grow strong on grain, and young women flourish on the new wine.

¹ Ask the Lord for rain in springtime, for he makes the rainclouds and sends showers to grow crops for everyone.

² Household idols give worthless answers, fortune-tellers tell lies, while interpreters of dreams just make things up and offer only false hope. As a result, people wander aimlessly like sheep, suffering because there is no shepherd.

⁴ From the people of Judah will come the cornerstone, from them the tent-peg, the bow used in battle—all their rulers together.[†]

⁵ They will be like warriors going into battle, trampling their enemies in the mud. Because the Lord is with them they will fight and defeat the enemy cavalry.

⁶ I will strengthen the people of Judah; I will save the people of Joseph. I will bring them back home because I am concerned for them. It will be like I had never rejected them, for I am the Lord their God and I will answer their cries for help.[‡]

⁷ The people of Ephraim will become like warriors, and they will become so happy—as if they had drunk wine. Their children will see what is happening and will be glad too, joyful in the Lord.

[‡] 9:11 Referring back to the people of Jerusalem in 9:9. [§] 9:11 Literally, “covenant.” * 9:11 “Waterless pit”: referring to the exile. [†] 9:12 Understood to refer to Jerusalem. [‡] 9:12 “What you lost” implied.

[§] 9:15 This refers to the sacrificial system where a bowl was used to catch the blood of the sacrifice and sprinkle the blood on the corners of the altar. * 9:17 Some believe these words are applied to the Lord, but the context suggests they refer back to the jewels, the people of God. * 10:3 The speaker is the Lord. [†] 10:4 In other words the people of Judah will not be subject to foreign rulers. [‡] 10:6 “Their cries for help” implied.

⁸ I will whistle to them and they will run to me. I will rescue them, and there will be as many as there were before.[§]

⁹ I have scattered them like seed among the nations, and in distant places they will remember me. They will bring up their children, and together they will return.

¹⁰ I will bring them back from the land of Egypt; I will gather them from Assyria. I will bring them to Gilead and Lebanon, and there won't be enough room for them!

¹¹ They will pass through the sea of trouble and strike the waves of the sea, and the waters of the Nile will dry up.* Assyria's pride will be brought down, and Egypt's rule will pass away.

¹² I will make them strong in the Lord, and they will follow all he says, declares the Lord.

² Weep, juniper, because the cedar has fallen, the majestic trees are ruined! Weep, oaks of Bashan, for the thick forest has been cut down!

⁴ This is what the Lord my God says: Become a shepherd of the flock marked for slaughter.

⁵ Those who buy them kill them and don't feel guilty; those who sell them say, "Praise the Lord! Now I'm rich!" Even their shepherds don't care about them.

⁶ For I will no longer care about the people of the Land, declares the Lord. I am going to make them victims of each other, and of the king. They will devastate the earth and I won't help anyone get away from them.

⁷ So I became a shepherd of the flock marked for slaughter by the sheep merchants.‡ Then I took two staffs, one named Grace, the other named Union, and I shepherded the flock.

⁸ In one month I dismissed three shepherds. I became impatient with them§, and they also hated me.

⁹ Then I said, "I will not be your shepherd.* If the sheep die, they die. Let those that are to perish, perish. Let those who are left eat each other!"

¹⁰ Then I took my staff called Grace and broke it, breaking the agreement I had made with all the peoples.†

¹¹ It was broken on that day, and the sheep merchants who were watching me knew that it was a message from the Lord.

§ 10:8 Literally, "They will multiply as they have multiplied." * 10:11 This is clearly a reference to the Exodus, even down to Moses striking the water. * 11:3 Literally, "glory." The parallel with the second line of the verse indicates something in the natural world. † 11:3 "Jordan habitat": literally, "majesty of Jordan." ‡ 11:7 Reading the text as "sheep merchants" rather than "oppressed sheep." § 11:8 Scholars are divided as to who "them" refers to. Some take it to mean the three shepherds, others the sheep, and still others the sheep merchants. *

11:9 Clearly Zechariah is now speaking to the sheep merchants for whom he was working as a shepherd (11:7) † 11:10 Since there is no record of an agreement, or "covenant," with any other nation, it is presumed that "peoples" here refers to the Israelites.

¹² I told them, "If you want to pay me my wages, then do so. If not, then don't." So they paid me my wages—thirty pieces of silver.

¹³ And the Lord said to me, "Throw the money to the treasury,"[‡] this measly sum they thought I was worth! So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw it into the treasury of the Lord's Temple.

¹⁵ The Lord told me, Get the things you use as a shepherd, a useless shepherd.

¹⁶ For I am placing a shepherd in charge of the land who won't care for those who are dying, or look for the lost,[§] or heal the injured, or feed the healthy. Instead he will eat the meat from the fattest sheep. He even tears their hooves off.*

² Look! I am going to make Jerusalem like a cup containing alcoholic drink that will make all the surrounding nations stagger like drunks when they come to attack Judah and Jerusalem.

³ On that day I will make Jerusalem like a heavy rock to all peoples. Anyone who tries to lift the rock will injure themselves badly. All the nations will join together to attack Jerusalem.

⁴ On that day I will make every horse panic-stricken and every rider go mad, declares the Lord, but I will watch over the people of Judah while I blind all the horses of their enemies.

⁷ The Lord will give the victory to the soldiers[‡] of Judah first so that the glory of the house of David and the glory of the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall not be greater than that of Judah.

⁸ On that day the Lord will place a shield around the people of Jerusalem so that even the clumsiest of them will be as skilled a warrior as David, and the house of David will be like God, like the angel of the Lord who leads them.

[‡] 11:13 Or "to the potter." However, since "of the Lord's Temple" is mentioned later in the verse, this seems a more likely scenario. [§] 11:16 Or "the young." * 11:16 Perhaps illustrating the extent of cruelty to the animals. * 12:1 Literally, "burden." [†] 12:1 "Breath of life": or "spirit."

¹⁰ I will pour out a spirit of grace and prayer on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. They will look at me whom they pierced, and they will wail in grief over him, mourning as for an only child, weeping bitterly as for a firstborn.

¹¹ On that day the mourning in Jerusalem will be as great as the mourning in Hadad-Rimmon in the valley of Megiddo.[§]

¹² The land will mourn, every family alone: the family house of David alone and their women by themselves, the families of Nathan,

¹³ Levi, and Shimei—

¹⁴ and all the surviving families and their women, each group mourning alone by themselves.

13

¹ On that day a spring will be opened and continually flow* for the house of David and for the people of Jerusalem to wash away their sin and impurity.

² On that day, declares the Lord Almighty, I will wipe out idol worship from the land—the idols will not be remembered any longer. I will remove the false prophets and the spirit of impurity from the land.

³ If anyone continues to prophesy, his father and mother to whom he was born will tell him, “You shall not live, because you have told lies in the Lord’s name.” Then his parents shall kill him because he has prophesied.

⁴ On that day such prophets will be too humiliated to prophesy their supposed visions. In order to deceive they will not put on their prophet’s clothes made of coarse hair.[†]

⁵ They will say, “I’m not a prophet, I’m a farmer. I’ve worked on the land since I was a child.”

⁶ If somebody asks him, “What are those wounds on your back?”[‡] he will answer, “I was wounded in my friend’s house.”

⁷ Wake up, my sword! Attack my shepherd, the man who stands beside me! declares the Lord. Strike the shepherd and the sheep will be scattered, and I will raise my hand against the lambs.

⁸ Two thirds of the people of the land will be cut down, only one third will remain, says the Lord.

⁹ I will place this one third in the fire, and I will refine them as silver is refined, and test them as gold is tested. They will call on me for help, and I will answer them. I will say, “These are my people,” and they will say, “The Lord is my God.”

² I will bring together all the nations to attack Jerusalem. The city will be captured, the houses looted, and the women raped. Half the population will be taken into exile, but the rest of the people will not be removed from the city.

³ Then the Lord will go out to fight against the nations as he fights in times of war.

⁴ On that day his feet will stand on the Mount of Olives which faces Jerusalem to the east. The Mount of Olives will split apart, with half moving north and half moving south, creating a wide valley from east to west.

⁵ You will run away through this mountain valley for it will reach as far as Azal.* You will run away like people did at the time of the earthquake during the reign of Uzzah, king of Judah. Then the Lord will come, accompanied by all his holy ones.

⁶ On that day there will be no longer cold and frost.†

⁷ It will be one continuous day (only the Lord knows how this could happen). It won't be day or night, because in the evening it will still be light.

⁸ On that day living waters will flow out of Jerusalem, half of it going east to the Dead Sea and half going west to the Mediterranean Sea, flowing in summer and winter alike.

⁹ The Lord will be king over all the earth. On that day there will be one true Lord, and his name the only one.

¹⁰ The whole land will be transformed into a plain, from Geba to Rimmon, south of Jerusalem.‡ But Jerusalem will be raised up to where it was, and people will live there from the Benjamin Gate to where the old gate was, to the Corner Gate, and from the Tower of Hananel to the king's winepresses.§

¹¹ It will be inhabited and never again condemned to destruction again—people will be able to live in safety in Jerusalem.

¹⁵ A similar plague will strike the horses, mules, camels, donkeys, and all other animals that may be in their camps.

¹⁶ After this every one of the survivors from the nations that attacked Jerusalem will go there to worship the King, the Lord Almighty, and to celebrate the Festival of Shelters.

¹⁷ If any of the peoples of the world refuse to go to Jerusalem to worship the King, the Lord Almighty, they will have no rain.

¹⁸ If the Egyptian people refuse to go and attend, then the Lord will inflict on them the same plague as on the other nations who will not go celebrate the Festival of Shelters.

* 14:5 If this is a place name its location is unknown. † 14:6 The words used here and their meaning are debated. ‡ 14:10 This indicates the whole of the land of Judah. § 14:10 This would include the whole of the old city of Jerusalem.

* 14:14 Septuagint reading. Hebrew "against."

¹⁹ This will be the punishment on Egypt and all the nations if they do not go to Jerusalem and celebrate.

²⁰ On that day the bells worn by horses will be engraved with the words “Holy to the Lord.” The household cooking pots used in the Lord's Temple will be as holy as the bowls used on the altar in the presence of the Lord.

²¹ Every pot in Jerusalem and in Judah will be holy to the Lord Almighty, so that everyone who comes to sacrifice can take them and cook their sacrificial meat in them.[†] On that day there will no longer be traders in the Lord's Temple.

[†] 14:21 These verses suggest that so many will come to worship the Lord in Jerusalem that every cooking pot will need to be used in the sacrificial system.

Malachi

² I have loved† you, says the Lord.
But you ask, "How have you loved us?"

Wasn't Esau Joseph's brother? the Lord responds. But I loved Joseph
³ and despised Esau. I have made Esau's mountain homeland into a wasteland, and turned his inheritance into a desert for jackals.

⁴ The people of Edom may be saying: "We have been beaten down, but we will rebuild the ruins."

But this is what the Lord Almighty says, They may try and build, but I will tear down. They will be called a land of wickedness, and the people those who make the Lord angry‡ forever.

⁵ You§ will see this destruction with your own eyes, and you will say, "The Lord is great, even beyond the borders of Israel."

⁶ A son honors his father, and a servant respects his master. So if I am your father, where is my honor? If I am your master, where is my respect? says the Lord Almighty to you priests who show contempt for me.

But you ask, "How have we shown contempt for you?"

⁷ By making defiled* offerings on my altar.

Then you ask, "How have we defiled you?"

By saying† the Lord's table doesn't deserve respect.

⁸ When you offer a blind animal as a sacrifice, isn't that wrong? Or when you offer an animal that is crippled or sick, isn't that wrong? Would you give such gifts to your governor? Would he be pleased with you? Would he be kind and show favor to you? asks the Lord Almighty.

⁹ So why don't you try being kind to God, begging him to be merciful to you?‡ But when you bring such offerings, why should he show favor to you? asks the Lord Almighty.

¹⁰ I really wish one of you would shut the Temple doors to stop you lighting pointless fires§ on my altar! I am not pleased with you, says the Lord Almighty, and I will not accept offerings from you.

¹¹ I am honored by nations from the farthest east to the distant west; everywhere people make offerings to me of incense and pure sacrifices. I am honored among the nations, says the Lord Almighty.

* 1:1 Literally, "burden." † 1:2 The tense of the verb indicates not just a past action but a past action that continues in the present. ‡ 1:4 Divine anger must not be equated with human anger. Here it has the sense of God's total hostility to evil, rather than an emotional self-centered reaction.

§ 1:5 The people of Israel. * 1:7 "Defiled": the concept here is that the priests have not followed the Lord's instructions as to how sacrifices were to be offered, showing a careless contempt in their worship of the Lord. † 1:7 The priests may not have said so audibly but their actions show what they were saying to themselves. ‡ 1:9 This line is usually taken as ironic. § 1:10 Fires were lit on the altar to burn up the sacrifices. God is saying he doesn't want such sacrifices. They are pointless, because they do not represent any repentance on the part of the worshipers.

¹³ You say, “All this is too much trouble!” and you sniff scornfully at it, says the Lord Almighty. But when you bring animals that are stolen or crippled or sick and offer them as sacrifices, should I accept what you’re giving? asks the Lord.

¹⁴ Cursed are those who cheat by vowing to bring a ram as a sacrifice and then offers an imperfect animal to the Lord. For I am a great King, says the Lord Almighty, and I am respected* among the nations!

² If you will not listen and if you will not take it to heart to honor me, says the Lord Almighty, then I will place a curse on you and I will curse your blessings—in fact I have already cursed them because you haven’t taken what I said to heart.

³ Watch out! I am going to penalize† your descendants. I will spread manure on your faces from the animals you sacrifice, the manure from your religious festivals, and you will be thrown out with it.

⁴ Then you will know that I sent you this command so that my agreement with Levi‡ can continue, says the Lord Almighty.

⁵ My agreement with him was one of life and peace, which I gave to him, and respect—he respected me. He stood in awe of me.

⁶ He taught the people the truth; nothing in his teaching was false. He walked with me in peace and did what was right, and he helped many to turn away from sin.

⁸ But you have turned from my way. You have made many people to fall into sin. By your teaching you have broken the agreement with Levi, says the Lord Almighty.

⁹ So I have destroyed any respect you had, and humiliated you before all the people. For you have not kept my ways, and have shown favoritism in what you teach.*

¹⁰ Don’t we all have one Father? Didn’t one God create us? So why are we unfaithful to each other, violating the agreement made by our forefathers?

¹¹ The people of Judah have been unfaithful and have committed a disgusting sin† in Israel and Jerusalem. For the men of Judah have defiled the Lord’s Temple‡ (which he loves) by marrying women who worship idols.

¹² May the Lord expel the family of any man who does this from the nation of Israel! May there be no one left to bring an offering to the Lord Almighty!§

* 1:14 Literally, “feared,” but in this instance is linked to the respect that is missing mentioned in 1:6. † 2:1 “Command” in the sense of instructions to follow, a warning. ‡ 2:3 Or “rebuke.”

‡ 2:4 “Levi”: this refers not only to Levi, but to his descendants as priests. § 2:7 “A priest should explain the truth about God”: literally, “A priest should guard knowledge.” * 2:9 Or “You have not brought blessings to people through your teaching.” † 2:11 “A disgusting sin”: or “an abominable thing.” ‡ 2:11 “Temple”: literally, “holiness.” § 2:12 There is much debate over the meaning of the Hebrew text here.

¹³ Something else you do is to pour out your tears on the Lord's altar weeping and moaning because he no longer pays attention to your offerings or doesn't want to accept them.

¹⁴ "Why not?" you ask. Because the Lord witnessed the vows you and your wife exchanged when you were young.* You were unfaithful to her, your wife and partner joined to you by marriage contract.

¹⁵ Did he not make you one, and give some of his Spirit to you? And what does he want? Children of God.[†] So watch what you do, and don't be unfaithful to the wife you married when you were young.

¹⁶ For I hate divorce, says the Lord God of Israel, for it's a violent attack on the wife,[‡] says the Lord Almighty. So watch what you do, and don't be unfaithful.

¹⁷ You have worn the Lord out with your words.[§]

"How have we worn him out?" you ask.

By saying everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord and he is happy with them, or by asking, where is the Lord's justice?

3

¹ Look! I am sending my messenger,* and he will prepare the way for me. The Lord you are seeking[†] will suddenly arrive at his Temple. The messenger of the agreement you say is so happy with you[‡] is coming, says the Lord Almighty.

² Who can survive the day when he comes? Who can stand before him when he appears? For he will be like a blazing furnace that refines metal, or like the strong alkali that cleanses stains.

³ He will sit down like a refiner who purifies silver; he will purify Levi's descendants and refine them like gold and silver so they can present pure offerings to the Lord.

⁵ I will come and put you on trial. I am ready to be a witness against those who:

practice witchcraft commit adultery tell lies give false evidence

* 2:14 Some believe that these priests not only divorced their wives but then married foreign women. [†] 2:15 This is one of the most obscure verses in the Old Testament, and consequently there are many very different interpretations. Some take this line to refer to the man and wife become one flesh, as noted in Genesis. Others see the "not one" as the subject of the sentence and so another possible translation would be something like: "No one would have acted like that if he had a remnant of the spirit." Some have seen the "one" as referring to Abraham as the father of Israel, and the fact that he divorced Hagar may have cited as a precedent by some for their divorces. The response then would be that Abraham was protecting the "children of God" through Isaac. Whatever the case, it seems best to leave some of the ambiguity present, though in the context of discussing marriage relationships it would seem that the original design for marriage in Eden would be a relevant aspect for Malachi to mention. [‡] 2:16 "A violent attack on the wife": literally, "covers his garment with violence." [§] 2:17 This may be a reference to mindless repetitions of prayers.

* 3:1 Malachi means "my messenger." [†] 3:1 In the light of the previous verses, the idea that God is being sought is surely ironic. [‡] 3:1 "You say is so happy with you": referring back to 2:17.

cheat employees
oppress widows and orphans abuse foreigners
and do not respect me, says the Lord Almighty.

⁶ For I am the Lord, I don't change, and you haven't stopped being descendants of Jacob. [§]

⁷ From the time of your forefathers onward, you have turned away from my laws and not kept them. Return to me, and I will return to you, says the Lord Almighty.

But you ask, "How should we return?" ^{*}

⁸ Should people defraud God? Yet you are defrauding me! [†]

But you ask, "How have we defrauded you?"

In tithes and offerings.

⁹ You are under a curse, for you and the whole nation are defrauding me.

¹⁰ Bring the full tithe into the storehouse so that there will be food in my Temple. Put me to the test in this, says the Lord Almighty, and I will open the windows of heaven and pour out so much blessing that you won't have enough room for it.

¹² All nations will call you blessed because you live in such a wonderful land, says the Lord Almighty.

¹³ You have said hard things about me, says the Lord.

But you say, "What have we said against you?"

¹⁴ You have said, "What's the point of serving God? What benefit is there in keeping his commandments or going before the Lord Almighty with long faces?" [§]

¹⁵ From now on we'll say that the proud are blessed. Evil people do well, and nothing happens when they dare God to punish them. ^{*}

¹⁶ Then those who truly respected the Lord spoke to each other, and the Lord heard what they said. A scroll of remembrance was written in his presence of those who respected the Lord and paid attention to him. ^{*}

¹⁷ They shall be mine, says the Lord Almighty, my prized possession on the day when I take action. I will treat them kindly, as a father treats an obedient son.

¹⁸ Then you will once again be able to distinguish those who do right from those who do wrong, between those who serve him and those who don't.

[§] 3:6 There is debate over the meaning of this second part of the verse. It could be interpreted that it is because of God's unchanging nature that the descendants of Jacob have not been destroyed. However, in context it seems more likely that God is saying "I haven't changed, and you haven't changed either—you are just like your forefather Jacob who was a deceiver too..." The word used can mean either "ended as in destroyed," or simply "stopped." ^{*} 3:7 The sense seems to be that the people do not see any necessity to return, not recognizing they have done anything wrong.

[†] 3:8 "Defraud": this is closer to the original meaning than rob. It also continues the theme of the people being descendants of the deceiver Jacob, who defrauded his brother out of his birthright.

[‡] 3:11 Literally, "the devourer." [§] 3:14 "Long faces": literally, "as mourners"—however it does not appear that the people were sincerely repentant. ^{*} 3:16 "Paid attention to him": literally, "pondered his name."

4

¹ Watch out! The day is coming—it burns like an oven—when the proud and the wicked will be burned like straw. When that day comes they will be completely burned up, root and branch, says the Lord Almighty.

² But for those who have reverence for me, the sun of God's salvation will rise with healing in its wings, and you will be set free, leaping like calves released from their stalls.

⁴ Remember the law of Moses my servant that I commanded him and all Israel to follow—all the instructions and ceremonies I gave on Mount Sinai.*

⁵ Look! I am going to send Elijah the prophet before the day of the Lord arrives, the great and terrifying day.

⁶ He will restore harmony between parents and children, and if that does not happen, I will come and strike the land with a curse.

* 4:4 Literally, "Horeb."

Matthew

¹ This book is the record of Jesus the Messiah,* the son of David, the son of Abraham, beginning with the family line:

² Abraham was the father† of Isaac; and Isaac the father of Jacob; and Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers;

³ and Judah the father of Perez and Zerah (their mother was Tamar); and Perez the father of Hezron; and Hezron the father of Ram;

⁴ and Ram the father of Amminadab; and Amminadab the father of Nahshon; and Nahshon the father of Salmon;

⁵ and Salmon the father of Boaz (his mother was Rahab); and Boaz the father of Obed (his mother was Ruth); and Obed the father of Jesse;

⁶ and Jesse the father of King David. David was the father of Solomon (his mother had been Uriah's wife);

⁷ and Solomon the father of Rehoboam; and Rehoboam the father of Abijah; and Abijah the father of Asa;

⁸ and Asa the father of Jehoshaphat; and Jehoshaphat the father of Jehoram; and Jehoram the father of Uzziah;

⁹ and Uzziah the father of Jotham; and Jotham the father of Ahaz; and Ahaz the father of Hezekiah;

¹⁰ and Hezekiah the father of Manasseh; and Manasseh the father of Amon; and Amon the father of Josiah;

¹¹ and Josiah the father of Jehoiachin and his brothers, at the time of the exile to Babylon.

¹⁴ and Azor the father of Zadok; and Zadok the father of Akim; and Akim the father of Eliud;

¹⁵ and Eliud the father of Eleazar; and Eleazar the father of Matthan; and Matthan the father of Jacob;

¹⁶ and Jacob was the father of Joseph, who was the husband of Mary, to whom Jesus was born, the one who is called the Messiah.

¹⁷ So all the generations from Abraham to David add up to fourteen; from David to the Babylonian exile, fourteen; and from the Babylonian exile to the Messiah, fourteen.

¹⁹ Joseph, her fiancé, was a good man and didn't want to shame her publicly, so he decided to break the engagement discreetly.

²⁰ While he was thinking about all of this, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream and told him, "Joseph, son of David, don't be afraid to marry Mary because she is pregnant by the Holy Spirit.

²¹ She will give birth to a son and you shall call him Jesus, for he will save people from their sins."

* 1:1 Or "Christ." Christ is the Greek word for Messiah in Hebrew. † 1:2 "Was the father of": or "fathered."

22 (Now this all happened to fulfill what the Lord said through the prophet:

23 "A virgin will become pregnant, and will give birth to a son. They will call him Immanuel," which means "God with us.")‡

24 Joseph woke up and did what the angel of the Lord told him to do.

25 Joseph married Mary, but did not sleep with her until after she had given birth to a son, whom he named Jesus.

1 After Jesus was born in Bethlehem in Judea during the reign of King Herod, wise men* came from the east to Jerusalem.

2 "Where is the King of the Jews who has been born?" they asked. "We saw his star in the east and we've come to worship him."

3 When King Herod heard about it, he was very disturbed, and the whole of Jerusalem with him.

4 Herod summoned all the chief priests and religious teachers of the people, and asked them where the Messiah was supposed to be born.

5 "Bethlehem in Judea," they told him, "for that's what the prophet wrote:

6 "Bethlehem in the land of Judea, you are certainly not the least important of Judah's leading cities,† for a leader will come from you who will be the shepherd for my people Israel.‡" "

7 Then Herod called the wise men and met with them in private and found out from them exactly when the star appeared.

8 He sent them to Bethlehem, telling them, "When you get there, search for the child. Once you find him let me know so that I can come and worship him too."

9 After they had heard what the king had to say they went on their way, and the star which they had seen in the east led them until it stopped right above the place where the child was.

11 They went into the house and saw the child with Mary his mother. They bowed and worshiped him. Then they opened their bags of treasure and presented him with gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

13 After they'd left, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, and told him, "Get up, and take the child and his mother, and flee to Egypt. Remain there until I tell you, because Herod is going to search for the child to kill him."

15 They stayed there until Herod's death. This fulfilled what the Lord said through the prophet, "I called my son out of Egypt."*

‡ 1:23 See Isaiah 7:14. * 2:1 Or "Magi." These are believed to be religious priest-rulers, probably from Persia, who studied the stars. † 2:6 "Cities," implied. ‡ 2:6 Referencing Micah 5:2 and 2 Samuel 5:2. § 2:10 Clearly meaning when they saw the star stop, since they had already seen the star and followed it all the way from their home in the east. * 2:15 Quoting Hosea 11:1.

¹⁶ When Herod realized he'd been fooled by the wise men, he got very angry. He sent men to kill all the young boys in Bethlehem and the regions nearby who were two years old and under. This was based on the time frame he'd discovered from the wise men.[†]

¹⁷ In this way Jeremiah's prophecy was fulfilled:

¹⁸ "The sound of terrible weeping and mourning was heard in Rama, Rachel crying for her children. They are dead, and she can't be comforted."[‡]

¹⁹ After Herod died the angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, and told him,

²⁰ "Get up! Take the child and his mother, and return to the land of Israel, because those who were trying to kill the child are dead."

²¹ So Joseph got up and took the boy and his mother, and returned to the land of Israel.

²² But Joseph was afraid to go there after he learned that Archelaus had succeeded his father Herod as king of Judea. Warned in a dream, Joseph went to the Galilee area

²³ and settled down in Nazareth. This fulfilled what the prophets had said, "He will be called a Nazarene."[§]

3

³ He was the one Isaiah spoke about when he said, "A voice is heard crying out in the desert, 'Prepare the way of the Lord. Make the paths straight for him.'"^{*}

⁵ People came to him from Jerusalem, all of Judea, and the entire Jordan region,

⁷ But when John saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to be baptized, he said to them, "You vipers' brood! Who warned you to run away from the coming judgment?[‡]

⁸ Show by what you do that you have truly repented,[§]

⁹ and don't presume to say proudly to yourselves, 'Abraham is our father.' I tell you that God could make children of Abraham from these stones.

¹⁰ In fact the ax is ready to chop down the trees. Every tree that doesn't produce good fruit will be chopped down and thrown into the fire.

¹¹ Yes, I baptize you in water to show repentance, but after me is coming one who is greater than I am. I'm not worthy even to remove his sandals. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire.

[†] 2:16 In other words, it had been up to two years previously that the star had first appeared to the wise men. [‡] 2:18 Quoting Jeremiah 31:15. [§] 2:23 Referring to Jesus. Matthew is not citing one specific prophecy here. ^{*} 3:3 See Isaiah 40:3. [†] 3:4 Probably locust beans. [‡] 3:7 Literally, "wrath." [§] 3:8 Literally, "Produce fruit worthy of repentance."

¹² He has his winnowing tool* ready in his hand. He will clean up the threshing floor and gather the wheat into the storehouse, but he will burn the chaff with fire that can't be put out."

¹³ Then Jesus came from Galilee to the Jordan River to be baptized by John.

¹⁴ But John tried to change his mind. He told Jesus, "I need to be baptized by you, and you come to me to baptize you?"

¹⁵ "Please do so, because it's good for us to do what God says is right," Jesus told him. So John agreed to do it.

¹⁶ Immediately after he was baptized, Jesus came out of the water. The heavens were opened, and he saw God's Spirit like a dove descending, landing on him.

¹⁷ A voice from heaven said, "This is my son whom I love,† who pleases me."

4

¹ Then Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert to be tempted by the devil.

² After fasting forty days and nights, he was hungry.

³ The tempter came and said to him, "If you really are the Son of God, order these stones to turn into bread."

⁵ Then the devil took him to the holy city† and placed him on the top of the Temple.

⁶ "If you really are the son of God, then throw yourself off," he told Jesus. "As Scripture says, 'He will order his angels to save you from harm. They will catch you so that you won't fall by tripping over a stone.' "‡

⁷ Jesus answered, "As Scripture also says, 'You shall not tempt the Lord your God.' "§

⁸ Then the devil took Jesus to a very high mountain and showed him all the kingdoms of the world in all their glory.

⁹ He said to Jesus, "I will give you all these if you fall down on your knees and worship me."

¹⁰ "Go away, Satan!" said Jesus. "As Scripture says, 'You shall worship the Lord your God and serve him, and him alone.' "*

¹¹ Then the devil left him, and angels came to care for him.

¹³ Leaving Nazareth, he came to stay in Capernaum, on the shores of the sea in the regions of Zebulun and Naphthali.

¹⁴ This fulfilled what Isaiah the prophet said,

¹⁵ "In the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphthali, on the road to the sea, across the Jordan River, in Galilee where the foreigners live:

¹⁶ The people living in darkness saw a great light; the light of dawn has shined on those living in the land of the shadow of death."†

* 3:12 Used after harvest to separate the grain from the chaff. † 3:17 Or "This is my son, the beloved one." * 4:4 Quoting Deuteronomy 8:3. † 4:5 Referring to Jerusalem. ‡ 4:6 Quoting Psalms 91:11-12. § 4:7 Quoting Deuteronomy 6:16. * 4:10 Quoting Deuteronomy 6:13. † 4:16

Quoting Isaiah 9:1-2.

¹⁷ From that time on Jesus began declaring his message, saying, “Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has arrived!”

¹⁹ “Come and follow me, and I will teach you how to catch people,” he told them.

²¹ Continuing on he saw two other brothers, James and John. They were in a boat with their father Zebedee, mending their nets. He called them to follow him.[‡]

²³ Jesus traveled throughout Galilee, teaching in the synagogues, telling the good news of the kingdom, and healing all the diseases and illnesses the people had.

² He began teaching them, saying:

⁴ Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.

⁵ Blessed are those who are kind* for they will own the whole world.

⁶ Blessed are those whose greatest desire[†] is to do what is right, for they will be satisfied.

⁷ Blessed are those who are merciful, for they will be shown mercy.

⁸ Blessed are those who have pure minds, for they will see God.

¹² Be glad, be really glad, for you will receive a great reward in heaven—for they persecuted the prophets who came before you in just the same way.

[‡] 4:21 “To follow him,” implied. § 4:24 The area to the north of Galilee. * 5:5 Meaning meek, mild tempered. † 5:6 Literally, “those who are hungry and thirsty.” ‡ 5:13 Or “useless.”

¹⁵ No one lights a lamp and then puts it under a bucket. No, it's placed on a lamp-stand and it provides light to everyone in the house.

¹⁶ In the same way you should let your light shine before everyone so they can see the good things you do and praise your heavenly Father.

¹⁷ Don't think I came to abolish the law or the writings of the prophets. I didn't come to abolish them, but to fulfill them.

¹⁸ I assure you, until heaven and earth come to an end, not a single letter, not a single dot of the law will come to an end before everything is fulfilled.

¹⁹ So whoever disregards§ the least important commandment, and teaches people to do so, will be called the least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever practices and teaches the commandments will be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

²⁰ I tell you, unless your moral rightness* is more than that of the religious teachers and the Pharisees, you can never enter the kingdom of heaven.

²¹ You've heard that the law said† to the people of long ago: 'You shall not murder, and anyone who commits murder will be condemned as guilty.‡

²³ If you're at the altar making an offering, and remember that your brother has something against you,

²⁴ leave your offering on the altar and go and make peace with him first, and afterwards come back and make your offering.

²⁵ While you're on the way to court with your opponent, make sure you settle things quickly. Otherwise your opponent might hand you over to the judge, and the judge will hand you over to the court official, and you will be thrown into jail.

²⁶ I tell you the truth: you won't get out of there until you've paid every last penny.

²⁷ You've heard that the law said, 'Do not commit adultery.†

²⁸ But I tell you that everyone who looks lustfully at a woman has already committed adultery with her in his mind.

§ 5:19 Or "invalidates." * 5:20 "Moral rightness": Literally, "righteousness." However, this term is little used in general non-church language and so in this translation it is replaced with phrases such as "those who live right" or "those who do good/right" etc. This is more than being correct, it means living a life that is morally right. † 5:21 Literally, "You've heard that it was said." This phrase is used often in this passage by Jesus to refer to the laws found in the Old Testament. ‡ 5:21

Or "liable to judgment." Exodus 20:13 or Deuteronomy 5:17. § 5:22 Probably the Sanhedrin council. *

5:22 The word here is literally, "Gehenna," sometimes translated "hell" or "hellfire." Gehenna was the place outside of Jerusalem where fires were lit to dispose of rubbish by burning. However, "hell" is a concept that is derived from Nordic and Anglo-Saxon mythology and does not parallel the idea here. † 5:27 Quoting Exodus 20:14 or Deuteronomy 5:18.

³⁰ If your right hand leads you to sin, then cut it off and throw it away, for it's better for you to lose one of your limbs than for your whole body to go into the fire of judgment.

³¹ The law also said, 'If a man divorces his wife, he should give her a certificate of divorce.'[‡]

³² But I tell you that any man who divorces his wife except for sexual immorality causes her to commit adultery, and whoever marries a divorced woman commits adultery.

³³ And again, you've heard that the law said to the people of long ago, 'You shall not perjure yourself. Instead make sure you keep the oaths you swear to the Lord.'[§]

³⁴ But I tell you, don't swear at all. Don't swear by heaven, because it's the throne of God.

³⁵ Don't swear by the earth, because it's God's footstool. Don't swear by Jerusalem, because it's the city of the great King.

³⁶ Don't even swear by your head, because you're not able to make a single hair white or black.

³⁷ Simply say yes or no—more than this comes from the evil one.

³⁸ You've heard that the law said, 'An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.'^{*}

³⁹ But I tell you, don't resist someone who is evil. If someone slaps you on the right cheek, turn the other cheek to them as well.

⁴⁰ If someone wants to sue you in court and takes your shirt, give them your coat too.[†]

⁴¹ If someone demands that you go one mile, go with them two.[‡]

⁴² Give to those who ask you, and don't turn away those who want to borrow from you.

⁴³ You've heard that the law said, 'Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.'[§]

⁴⁴ But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you,

⁴⁵ so you may become children of your heavenly Father. For his sun shines on both the good and the bad; and he makes the rain fall on both those who do right and those who do wrong.

⁴⁸ Grow up and become completely trustworthy,[†] just as your heavenly Father is trustworthy.

[‡] 5:31 Quoting Deuteronomy 24:1. § 5:33 Quoting Numbers 30:2. * 5:38 Quoting Exodus 21:24; Leviticus 24:20; Deuteronomy 19:21. † 5:40 The coat was a much more valuable article of clothing. ‡ 5:41 Probably referring to a Roman soldier demanding his belongings be carried for him. § 5:43 Quoting Leviticus 19:18. * 5:47 Literally, "nations," or "Gentiles." A common term used in the New Testament to identify non-Jews, those regarded as not following the true God.

† 5:48 Literally, "perfect, complete, undivided, whole, mature." The idea here is of a way of life totally dedicated to God rather than focusing on some abstract concept of perfection. The focus is on spiritual maturity which translates into being someone dependable, someone who can always be trusted.

² When you give to the poor, don't be like the hypocrites* who blow their own trumpets to announce what they're doing in the synagogues and in the streets so that people will praise them. I tell you the truth: they already have their reward.

⁴ That way what you give will be in secret, and your Father who sees what happens in secret will reward you.

⁵ When you pray, don't be like the hypocrites, for they love to stand up and pray in the synagogues and on the street corners so that people can see them. I promise you, they already have their reward.

⁶ But you, when you pray, go indoors and close the door, and pray to your Father in private, and your Father who sees what happens in private will reward you.

⁷ When you pray, don't babble on meaninglessly like the foreigners do, who think they will be heard because of all the words they repeat.

⁸ Don't be like them, for your Father knows what you need even before you ask him.

⁹ So pray like this:

¹⁰ Our heavenly Father, may your name be honored. May your kingdom come! May your will be carried out in earth as it is in heaven.

¹¹ Please give to us today the food we need.

¹² Forgive our sins, just as we have forgiven those who have sinned against us.

¹³ Don't let us be tempted to do wrong,[†] and save us from the evil one.

¹⁴ For if you forgive those who sin against you, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

¹⁵ But if you don't forgive those who sin against you, then your heavenly Father won't forgive your sins.

¹⁶ When you fast, don't be like the hypocrites who put on sad faces and make themselves look terrible so that everyone can see they're fasting. I tell you the truth, they already have their reward.

¹⁷ Instead, when you fast, wash your face and look smart,

¹⁸ so that people won't see you're fasting, and your unseen Father who sees what happens in private will reward you.

¹⁹ Don't pile up wealth here on earth where moths and rust ruin it, and where thieves break in and steal it.

²⁰ Instead, you should store up your wealth in heaven, where moths and rust don't ruin it, and where thieves don't break in and steal it.

²¹ For what you value the most shows who you really are.

²² The eye is like a lamp that lights the body. So if your eye is healthy,[‡] then your whole body will have light.

²³ But if your eye is evil, then your whole body will be in the dark. If the light in you is darkness, how dark is that!

* 6:2 A word taken from the Greek which literally means "play-acting." † 6:13 Or "Please help us not to give in to temptation." ‡ 6:22 Or "good, innocent."

²⁴ No one can serve two masters. Either you'll hate one and love the other, or you'll be devoted to one and despise the other. You can't serve both God and Money. §

²⁵ That's why I'm telling you not to worry about your life. Don't worry about what to eat, or what to drink, or what clothes to put on. Isn't life more than food, and the body more than clothes?

²⁶ Look at the birds*—they don't sow or reap or store food in barns, for your heavenly Father feeds them. Aren't you worth more than they are?

²⁷ Who of you by worrying can add a minute to your life?

²⁸ And why are you worried about clothes? Look at the beautiful flowers in the field. See how they grow: they don't work hard, they don't spin thread.

²⁹ But I tell you, not even Solomon in all his glory was dressed like one of these flowers.

³⁰ So if God decorates the fields like this, grass which is here today and tomorrow is thrown into the fire, won't he do much more for you, you people who trust so little?

³¹ So don't worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?'

³² These are all the things that the heathen chase after, but your heavenly Father knows everything you need.

³³ Seek his kingdom first, and his way of living right, and everything will be given to you.

³⁴ So don't worry about tomorrow, because tomorrow can worry about itself. There's already enough evil in every day.

² For whatever standard you use to judge others will be used to judge you, and whatever measurement you use to measure others will be used to measure you.

³ Why do you see the speck that's in your brother's eye? Don't you notice the plank that's in your own eye?

⁵ You're being hypocritical! First get rid of the plank that's in your own eye. Then you'll be able to see clearly to take out the speck from your brother's eye.

⁶ Don't give dogs what's holy. Don't throw your pearls to pigs. That way the pigs won't trample them underfoot, and the dogs won't turn and attack you.

⁷ Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you.*

⁸ Everyone who asks, receives; everyone who seeks, finds; and everyone who knocks has the door opened for them.

§ 6:24 Literally, "Mammon," a transliteration from the Aramaic word for the Syrian god of money and wealth. *

6:26 Literally, "birds of the air," referring to wild birds rather than domesticated birds. *

7:7 In the original these are present imperatives, and could be translated "Keep on asking" etc.

⁹ Would any of you give your son a stone if he asked for bread?

¹⁰ Or if he asked for fish, would you give him a snake?

¹¹ So if even you who are evil know to give good things to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give good things to those who ask him.

¹² Treat others the way you want them to treat you. This sums up the law and the prophets.

¹⁵ Watch out for false prophets who come wearing sheep's clothing, but who on the inside are vicious wolves.

¹⁶ You can recognize them by their fruits.[†] Do people harvest grapes from thorn bushes, or figs from thistles?

¹⁷ So every good tree produces good fruit, while a bad tree produces bad fruit.

¹⁹ Every tree that doesn't produce good fruit is chopped down and thrown into the fire.

²⁰ So you'll recognize them by their fruits.

²² Many will say to me at the Day of Judgment, 'Lord, Lord, didn't we prophesy in your name and drive out demons in your name, and perform many miracles in your name?'

²³ Then I will tell them, 'I never knew you. Leave me, you people who practice wickedness!'[‡]

²⁴ Everyone that hears the words I say, and follows them, is like a wise man who built his house on solid rock.

²⁵ The rain poured down, and the floods rose, and the winds blew hard against the house, but it didn't fall down, because its foundations were on solid rock.

²⁶ Everyone that hears the words I say, and doesn't follow them, is like a foolish man who built his house on the sand.

²⁷ The rain poured down, and the floods rose, and the winds blew hard against the house, and it fell down—it totally collapsed."

²⁸ When Jesus finished explaining these things, the crowds were amazed at his teaching,

8

² A leper approached him and bowed down, worshipping him, and said, "Lord, if you're willing, please heal me."

[†] 7:16 In other words, you can recognize them by the results of what they do. [‡] 7:23 See Psalms 6:8.

³ Jesus reached out and touched him with his hand. "I am willing," he said. "Be healed!" Immediately he was healed from his leprosy.

⁴ "Make sure you don't tell anyone," Jesus told him. "Go and show yourself to the priest and give the offering which Moses required as public proof."^{*}

⁵ When Jesus entered Capernaum, a centurion came up to him, begging for help,

⁶ "Lord, my servant is at home, lying down, unable to move. He's in terrible agony."

⁸ The centurion answered, "Lord, I don't merit a visit to my home. Just say the word, and my servant will be healed."

⁹ For I am myself under the authority of superiors, while I also have soldiers under my command. I command one, 'Go!' and he goes. I command another, 'Come!' and he comes. I tell my servant, 'Do this!' and he does it."

¹⁰ When Jesus heard what he said, he was astonished. He told those who were following him, "I tell you the truth, I haven't found this kind of trust anywhere in Israel."

¹¹ I tell you that many will come from the east and the west, and sit down with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven.

¹² But the heirs of the kingdom will be thrown out into utter darkness where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth."

¹³ Then Jesus told the centurion, "Go home. Because you trusted that it would happen, what you asked for has been done." The servant was healed right away.

¹⁴ When Jesus arrived at Peter's house, he saw that Peter's mother-in-law was sick in bed with a high fever.

¹⁶ When evening came they brought many who were demon-possessed to Jesus. He made the spirits leave at his command, and he healed all those who were sick.

¹⁷ This fulfilled what the prophet Isaiah said: "He healed our diseases, and freed us from our illnesses."[†]

¹⁸ When Jesus saw the crowds around him, he gave instructions that they[‡] should go to the other side of the lake.

¹⁹ One of the religious teachers approached him and said, "Teacher, I will follow you wherever you go!"

²⁰ "Foxes have their dens, and wild birds have their nests, but the Son of man has nowhere he can lie down and rest,"[§] Jesus told him.

²² "Follow me. Leave the dead to bury their own dead," Jesus replied.

²³ Then Jesus got into a boat and his disciples went with him.

²⁴ A violent storm suddenly blew up, and waves crashed over the boat, but Jesus went on sleeping.

^{*} 8:4 Proof that he had been healed and was ceremonially clean. See Leviticus 14. [†] 8:17 Quoting Isaiah 53:4. [‡] 8:18 "They" meaning Jesus and the disciples. [§] 8:20 Literally, "lay down his head."

²⁵ The disciples went over to him and woke him up. "Save us, Lord! We're going to drown!" they shouted.

²⁶ "Why are you so afraid? Why do you trust so little?" he asked them. Then he got up, and commanded the winds and the waves to stop. Everything was absolutely calm.

²⁷ The disciples were astonished, and said, "Who is this? Even the winds and the waves obey him!"

²⁸ When he arrived on the other side, in the region of the Gadarenes, two demon-possessed men came out of the graveyard to meet him. They were so dangerous that nobody dared to travel that way.

²⁹ They shouted out, "What have you got to do with us, you Son of God? Have you come to torture us before our time?"

³⁰ In the distance a large herd of pigs was feeding.

³¹ The demons pleaded with him, "If you're going to drive us out, send us into the herd of pigs."

³² "Go!" said Jesus. The demons left the men and went into the pigs. The whole herd ran down the steep hillside into the sea and drowned.

³³ The pig herders ran away. They went to the town and told the people there everything that had taken place, and what had happened to the demon-possessed men.

³⁴ The whole town came out to meet Jesus. When they found him, they begged him to leave their district.

9

² There they brought to him a paralyzed man lying on a mat. When Jesus saw how they trusted him, he told the paralyzed man, "My friend,* cheer up! Your sins are forgiven."

³ In response some of the religious teachers said to themselves, "He's speaking blasphemy!"

⁴ But Jesus knew what they were thinking. He asked them, "Why are you thinking evil thoughts in your minds?"

⁶ But to convince you that the Son of man does have the authority to forgive sins..." he said to the paralyzed man, "Get up, pick up your mat, and go home!"

⁷ The man got up and went home.

⁸ When the crowds saw what had happened, they were scared. Then they praised God that he had given human beings such power.

⁹ As Jesus moved on from there he saw a man called Matthew sitting at the tax booth. Jesus called to him, "Follow me!" He got up, and followed Jesus.

¹⁰ While Jesus was eating at Matthew's home, many tax-collectors and sinners came and sat down at the table with Jesus and his disciples.

¹² When Jesus heard the question, he replied, "Those who are well don't need a doctor, but sick people do."

* 9:2 Literally, "child."

¹³ Go and discover what this means: 'I want mercy, not sacrifice. For I didn't come to call those who do what's right—I came to call sinners.' "[†]

¹⁴ Then the disciples of John came and asked, "Why is that we and the Pharisees fast frequently, but your disciples don't?"

¹⁵ "Do wedding guests mourn while the bridegroom is with them?" Jesus responded. "But the time is coming when the bridegroom will be taken from them, and then they will fast.

¹⁶ No one puts a new patch on old clothes, otherwise it will shrink and make the tear worse.

¹⁷ No one puts new wine in old wineskins either; otherwise the wineskins will burst, spilling the wine and ruining the wineskins. No, new wine is put into new wineskins, and both last."

¹⁸ While he was telling them this, one of the leading officials came and bowed before him. "My daughter has just died," the man told Jesus. "But if you come and place your hand on her, I know she will come back to life."

¹⁹ Jesus and his disciples got up and followed him.

²⁰ At that moment a woman who had been sick with bleeding for twelve years came up behind him and touched the hem of his cloak.

²¹ She had told herself, "If I can just touch his cloak, I'll be healed."

²³ Jesus arrived at the official's house. He saw the flute-players and the crowd that was weeping loudly.

²⁵ But once the crowd had been sent out, he went in and took the girl by the hand, and she got up.

²⁶ News of what happened spread throughout that region.

²⁸ When Jesus arrived at the house where he was staying, the blind men came in too.

"Are you convinced that I'm able to do this?" he asked them.

"Yes, Lord," they replied.

²⁹ Then Jesus touched their eyes, and said, "Because of your trust in me it will happen!"

³⁰ And they could see. Then Jesus warned them, "Make sure nobody knows about this."

³² As Jesus and his disciples were leaving, a man was brought to him who was dumb and demon-possessed.

³³ Once the demon had been thrown out of him, the dumb man spoke, and the crowds were amazed. "Nothing ever happened like this before in Israel," they said.

³⁴ But the Pharisees remarked, "He throws out demons using the power of the chief of demons."

[†] 9:13 Quoting Hosea 6:6.

³⁵ Jesus went all over, visiting the towns and villages. He taught in their synagogues, telling them about the good news of the kingdom, and he healed all kinds of sicknesses and diseases.

³⁸ Pray to the Lord of the harvest, and ask him to send more workers for his harvest."

² These are the names of the twelve apostles: first, Simon, (also called Peter), Andrew his brother, James the son of Zebedee, John his brother,

³ Philip, Bartholomew, Thomas, Matthew the tax-collector, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddeus,

⁴ Simon the revolutionary, and Judas Iscariot, who betrayed Jesus.

⁵ These Twelve Jesus sent out, telling them, "Don't go to the foreigners, or to any Samaritan city.

⁶ You are to go to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

⁸ Heal those who are sick. Resurrect the dead. Cure the lepers. Drive out demons. You received freely, so give freely!

⁹ Don't carry any gold, silver, or copper coins in your pockets,

¹⁰ or a bag for your journey, or two cloaks, or sandals, or a walking stick, for a worker deserves to be supported.*

¹¹ Wherever you go, whatever town or village, ask for someone who lives according to good principles, and remain there until you leave.

¹² When you enter the house, give it your blessing.

¹³ If the home deserves it, let your peace† rest on it, but if it doesn't deserve it, let your peace return to you.

¹⁴ If someone doesn't welcome you, and refuses to listen to what you have to say, then leave that house or that town, shaking its dust off your feet as you go.

¹⁶ Look, I'm sending you out like sheep among wolves. So be as wise as serpents and harmless as doves.

¹⁷ Watch out for those who will hand you over to be tried by town councils‡ and will whip you in their synagogues.

¹⁸ You will be dragged before governors and kings because of me, to witness to them and to the foreigners.

¹⁹ But when they put you on trial, don't worry about how you should speak or what you should say, because you'll be told what to say at the right time.

* 10:10 Or "fed." † 10:13 "Peace," meaning blessing. ‡ 10:17 Literally, "sanhedrins," local religious courts.

²⁰ For it isn't you who will speak but the spirit of the Father will speak through you.

²¹ Brother will betray brother and have him killed, and a father will do the same to his child. Children will rebel against their parents, and have them put to death.

²² Everyone will hate you because you follow me, but those who endure until the end will be saved.

²³ When you're persecuted in one town, run away to the next. I'm telling the truth: you won't finish going to the towns of Israel before the Son of man comes.

²⁵ Disciples should be satisfied to become like their teacher, and servants like their master. If the head of the house has been called the head demon Beelzebub,[§] then the members of his household will be demonized even more!

²⁶ So don't be frightened of them, for there's nothing covered that won't be exposed, and nothing hidden that won't be made known.

²⁷ What I tell you here in the dark, declare when it's light, and what you hear whispered in your ear, shout from the rooftops.

²⁸ Don't be afraid of those who can kill you physically, but can't kill you spiritually. Instead, be afraid of the one who can destroy you physically and spiritually in the fires of destruction.*

²⁹ Aren't two sparrows sold for just one penny? But not a single one of them falls to the ground without your Father knowing about it.

³⁰ Even the hairs on your head have all been counted.

³² Anyone who publicly declares their commitment[†] to me, I will also declare my commitment to them before my Father in heaven.

³⁴ Don't think I've come to bring peace on earth. I haven't come to bring peace, but a sword.

³⁵ I've come 'to turn a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

³⁶ Your enemies will be those of your own family![‡]

³⁷ If you love your father or mother more than me you don't deserve to be mine, and if you love your son or daughter more than me you don't deserve to be mine.

³⁹ If you try to save your life, you will lose it,[§] but if you lose your life because of me you will save it.

⁴⁰ Those who welcome you welcome me, and those who welcome me welcome the one that sent me.

⁴¹ Those who welcome a prophet because that's what they are will receive the same reward as a prophet. Those who welcome someone who does right will receive the same reward as someone who does right.

[§] 10:25 Beelzebub, referring to Satan. * 10:28 Literally, "the fires of Gehenna." See note under 5:22. † 10:32 Literally, "confess." ‡ 10:36 Referencing Micah 7:6. § 10:39 In other words, if you try to hold on to your life by your own human effort, you will not succeed.

⁴² I tell you the truth, those who give a drink of cool water to the least important of my disciples will definitely not miss out on their reward."

¹ When Jesus had finished giving instructions to his twelve disciples, he left to go and teach and speak publicly in the nearby towns.

² While John was in prison he heard what the Messiah was doing, so he sent his disciples

³ to ask on his behalf, "Are you the one we were expecting to come, or should we continue to look for someone else?"

⁴ Jesus answered them, "Go back and tell John what you hear and what you see.

⁵ The blind can see, the crippled can walk, the lepers are healed, the deaf can hear, the dead are resurrected, and the poor hear the good news.

⁶ Blessed are those who don't reject me!"

⁷ As they left, Jesus began to talk to the crowds about John. "What were you expecting to see when you went out into the desert? A reed tossed about by the wind?

⁸ So what did you go to see? A man dressed in fancy clothes? People dressed like that live in kings' palaces.

⁹ So what did you go to see then? A prophet? Yes, and I tell you he is much more than a prophet!

¹⁰ He's the one this Scripture was written about: 'I'm sending my messenger on ahead of you. He will prepare your way for you.'*

¹¹ I tell you the truth, that among humanity† there's no one greater than John the Baptist, but even the least important in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he is.

¹² From the time of John the Baptist up till now the kingdom of heaven continues to be under attack and violent people are trying to seize it by force.

¹⁴ If you're prepared to believe it, he is Elijah, the one who was expected to come.§

¹⁵ Anybody with ears should be listening!

¹⁶ What shall I compare this generation to? It's like children sitting in the market places shouting to each other,

¹⁷ 'We played the flute for you and you didn't dance; we sang sad songs and you didn't cry.'

¹⁸ John didn't come feasting and drinking, so people say, 'He's devil-possessed!'

²⁰ Then he began to reprimand the towns where he'd done most of his miracles because they had not repented.

* 11:10 Quoting Malachi 3:1. † 11:11 Literally, "among those who are born of women." ‡ 11:13 Referring to the message of the Old Testament. § 11:14 See Malachi 4:5.

21 “Shame on you, Korazin! Shame on you, Bethsaida! If the miracles had been performed in Tyre and Sidon which happened among you, they would have repented in sackcloth and ashes long ago.

22 But I tell you that on the Day of Judgment it will be better for Tyre and Sidon than it will for you!

23 And what about you, Capernaum? Will you be exalted to heaven? No, you'll go down to Hades! If the miracles had been performed in Sodom which happened among you, Sodom would still be here today.

24 But I tell you that on the Day of Judgment it will be better for Sodom than it will for you!”

25 Then Jesus prayed, “I praise you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for you've hidden these things from the clever and sophisticated. Instead you've revealed them to ordinary people.*

26 Yes, Father, you were pleased to do this!

27 Everything has been entrusted to me by my Father, and no one really understands the Son, except the Father, and no one really understands the Father, except the Son, and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him.

28 Come to me, all of you who struggle and who are burdened down. I will give you rest.

29 Accept my yoke, and learn from me. For I am kind and I have a humble heart, and in me you will find the rest you need.

30 For my yoke is gentle, and my burden is light.”

12

1 Around that time Jesus was walking through fields of grain on the Sabbath day. His disciples were hungry so they started to pick ears of grain and eat them.

2 When the Pharisees saw this they said to Jesus, “Look at your disciples—they're doing what isn't allowed on the Sabbath!”

3 But Jesus told them, “Haven't you read what David did when he and his men were hungry?

4 He went into the house of God, and he and his men ate the sacred bread that they weren't allowed to eat since it's only for the priests.

5 Haven't you read in the law that on the Sabbath day the priests in the Temple break the Sabbath but are not considered guilty?

6 However, I tell you that someone is here who is greater than the Temple!

7 If you'd known the meaning of this Scripture, ‘I want mercy, and not sacrifice,’* you wouldn't have condemned an innocent man.

10 A man was there with a crippled hand. “Does the law allow healing on the Sabbath?” they asked him, looking for a reason to accuse him.

11 “Suppose you have a sheep and it falls into a hole in the ground on the Sabbath. Don't you grab hold of it and pull it out?” Jesus asked them.

12 “Don't you think a human being is worth much more than a sheep? So yes, you are allowed to do good on the Sabbath.”

* 11:25 Literally, “infants.” * 12:7 Quoting Hosea 6:6.

¹³ Then he said to the man, “Hold out your hand.” The man held out his hand, and it was healed, just as healthy as the other hand.

¹⁴ But the Pharisees went out and plotted how to kill Jesus.

¹⁶ but instructed them not to tell people who he was.

¹⁷ This fulfilled what Isaiah the prophet said:

¹⁸ “This is my servant whom I’ve chosen,

The one I love, who pleases me.

I will put my Spirit on him,

¹⁹ He won’t argue, he won’t shout out,

²⁰ He won’t break a damaged reed,

And he won’t extinguish a smoking wick,

Until he has proved that his judgment is right,[†]

²¹ And foreigners will put their hope in him.”[‡]

²² Then a man was brought to Jesus who was demon-possessed and blind and dumb. Jesus healed him, so that the dumb man could speak and see.

²³ All the crowds were amazed, and asked, “Could this really be the son of David?”[§]

²⁴ But when the Pharisees heard this, they replied, “This man can only throw out demons through the power of Beelzebub, the chief of demons!”

²⁵ Knowing what they were thinking, Jesus told them, “Any kingdom that is divided against itself will be destroyed. No town or household that is divided against itself can stand.

²⁶ If Satan drives out Satan, then he’s divided against himself—so how could his kingdom stand?

²⁷ If I’m throwing out demons in the name of Beelzebub, in whose name are your people throwing out demons? Your own people prove you’re wrong!

²⁸ But if I’m throwing out demons through the power of the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come to you!

²⁹ Can you enter a strong man’s house and take his belongings unless you tie him up first? If you do that then you can take everything in his house.

³⁰ Those who are not with me are against me, and those who do not gather together with me do the opposite: they are scattering.

³² Those who say something against the Son of man will be forgiven, but those who say something against the Holy Spirit won’t be forgiven, neither in this life nor the next.

³³ Either decide that the tree is good, and its fruit is good, or decide that the tree is bad and its fruit is bad—for the tree is known by its fruit.

[†] 12:20 Or “has brought victory to justice.” [‡] 12:21 Literally, “hope in his name.” These verses are a quote from Isaiah 42:1-4. [§] 12:23 Meaning the Messiah who was expected to come.

³⁴ You viper's brood, how can you who are evil say anything good? For your mouth simply says what your mind is busy thinking about.

³⁶ I tell you, people will have to account for every careless thing they say on the Day of Judgment.

³⁷ For what you say will either vindicate you or condemn you."

³⁹ "Evil people who don't trust in God are the ones who look for a miraculous sign. The only sign they will be given is the sign of the prophet Jonah," Jesus told them.

⁴⁰ "In the same way Jonah was in the belly of a huge fish for three days and three nights, the Son of man will lie in the earth for three days and three nights.

⁴¹ The people of Nineveh will rise in the judgment together with this generation and they will condemn it because they repented in response to Jonah's message—and as you see, there's someone greater than Jonah here!

⁴² The Queen of the South will be raised in the judgment together with this generation and will condemn it because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon—and as you see, there's someone greater than Solomon here!

⁴⁴ So it says, 'I'll go back to the place I left,' and when it returns it finds the place empty, all clean and tidy.

⁴⁵ Then it goes and brings back seven other spirits even more evil than it is, and it enters and lives there. So the person ends up worse than they were at the beginning. That's the way it will be with this evil generation."

⁴⁶ While he was speaking to the crowds, his mother and his brothers arrived and stood outside, wanting to talk to him.

⁴⁷ Someone came and told him, "Look, your mother and brothers are outside, wanting to talk to you."

⁴⁸ "Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?" Jesus asked.

⁵⁰ For those who do the will of my heavenly Father, they are my brother, sister, and mother!"

² So many people gathered around him that he got into a boat and sat down there to teach, while all the crowds stood on the beach.

³ He explained many things to them, using stories as illustrations.†

"The sower went out to sow," he began.

* 13:1 Implied. The religious teachers sat down when they wanted to instruct their disciples.

† 13:3 "Stories as illustrations," literally, "parables."

⁴ “As he was sowing, some of the seeds fell on the path. The birds came and ate them up.

⁵ Other seeds fell on stony ground where there wasn't much earth where they sprouted quickly.

⁶ The sun rose and scorched them and they withered because they had no roots.

⁷ Other seeds fell among thorns that grew up and choked them.

⁸ Still other seeds fell on good soil. They produced a harvest—some one hundred, some sixty, and some thirty times what had been planted.

⁹ Anybody who has ears should be listening!”

¹⁰ The disciples came to Jesus and asked him, “Why do you use illustrations when you speak to the people?”

¹¹ “You're privileged to have revealed to you the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but they're not given such insights,” Jesus replied.

¹² “Those who already have[‡] will have more given to them, more than enough. But those who don't have, whatever they have will be taken away from them.

¹³ That's why I speak to them in illustrations. For even though they see, they do not see; and even though they hear, they do not hear; nor do they understand. §

¹⁴ The prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled in them: ‘Even though you hear, you won't understand, and even though you see, you won't perceive.

¹⁶ Your eyes are blessed, for they see. Your ears are blessed too, for they hear.

¹⁷ I'm telling you, many prophets and good people longed to see what you're seeing, but didn't see it. They longed to hear what you're hearing, but didn't hear it.

¹⁸ So listen to the story of the sower.

¹⁹ When people hear the message about the kingdom and don't understand it, the evil one comes along and rips out what was sown in them. This is what happens to the seeds sown on the path.

²⁰ The seeds sown on stony ground are people who hear the message and happily accept it straight away.

²² The seeds sown among thorns are people who hear the message, but then life's worries and the temptation of money choke the message so that they become fruitless.

²³ The seeds sown on good soil are people who hear the message, and understand it, and who produce a good harvest—some one hundred, some sixty, and some thirty times what was sown.”

²⁴ Then he told them another illustrated story: “The kingdom of heaven is like a farmer who sowed good seeds in his field.

[‡] 13:12 Probably meaning “have understanding.” § 13:13 Jesus was referencing the Old Testament here. It could be any of these: Deuteronomy 29:4, Isaiah 42:20, Jeremiah 5:21, Ezekiel

12:2. * 13:15 Quoting Isaiah 6:9-10.

²⁶ So when the wheat grew and produced ears of grain, the weeds also grew up.

²⁷ The farmer's workers came and asked him, 'Sir, didn't you sow good seeds in your field? Where did the weeds come from?'

²⁹ 'No,' he answered, 'as you pull up the weeds, you might uproot the wheat too.'

³⁰ Let them both grow until harvest, and then at harvest-time I'll tell the reapers to first gather the weeds, tie them up into bundles and burn them, and then gather the wheat and store it in my barn.' "

³¹ He gave them another illustration: "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed that a farmer sowed in his field.

³² Even though it's the tiniest of seeds it grows much bigger than other plants. In fact it grows into a tree big enough for birds to roost in its branches."

³³ He told them another illustrated story: "The kingdom of heaven is like yeast that a woman mixed with a large quantity[‡] of flour, until all the dough was raised."

³⁵ This fulfilled the prophet's words: "I will speak using stories, and I will explain things hidden from the creation of the world."[§]

³⁶ Then he left the crowds and went into a house. His disciples came over to him, and asked him, "Please explain to us the story about the weeds in the field."

³⁷ "The one who sows the good seed is the Son of man," Jesus explained.

³⁹ The enemy that sowed the weed seeds is the devil. The harvest is the end of the world. The reapers are angels.

⁴⁰ Just as the weeds are harvested and burned so it will be at the end of the world.

⁴³ Then those who live right will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their father.* Anybody with ears should be listening!

⁴⁴ The kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field. A man found it, reburied it, and then full of joy went and sold all he had and bought that field.

⁴⁶ When he found the most expensive pearl ever he went and sold all he had and bought it.

[†] 13:25 Actually "darnel," or "false wheat," a weed that looked similar to wheat. [‡] 13:33 Approximately 50 pounds, or 23 kilos. [§] 13:35 Quoting Psalms 78:2. * 13:43 See Daniel 12:3.

⁴⁷ Once more, the kingdom of heaven is like a fishing net thrown into the sea that caught all kinds of fish.

⁴⁸ When it was full it was dragged ashore. The good fish were put into baskets while the bad ones were thrown away.

⁴⁹ That's the way it will be when the end of the world comes. The angels will go out and separate the evil people from the good,

⁵⁰ and throw them into the blazing furnace where there will be weeping and grinding of teeth.

⁵¹ Now do you understand everything?"

"Yes," they replied.

⁵² "Every religious teacher who's learned about the kingdom of heaven is like a house-owner who brings out from his storeroom both new and old treasures," Jesus said.

⁵³ After Jesus finished telling these stories, he left.

⁵⁴ He went back to his home town[†] and taught in the synagogue there. People were amazed, and asked, "Where does he get his wisdom and miracles from?"

⁵⁶ Don't his sisters live here among us? So where does he get all this from?"

⁵⁷ And so they refused to believe in him.

"A prophet is honored everywhere except in his homeland and in his family," Jesus told them.

⁵⁸ Since they failed to trust in him, he did not do many miracles there.

² and he told his servants, "He must be John the Baptist resurrected from the dead, and that's why he has such powers!"

³ Herod had detained John, and had him put in chains and imprisoned on account of Herodias, the wife of Philip, his brother.

⁴ For John had told him, "It's not legal for you to marry her."

⁵ Herod wanted to kill John but he was afraid of the people's reaction for they considered John a prophet.

⁸ Prompted by her mother, she said, "Give me here on a plate the head of John the Baptist."

⁹ Then the king regretted the promise he had made, but because of the oaths he'd made in front of his dinner guests, he gave the order to do it.

¹¹ John's head was brought on a plate and given to the girl, who took it to her mother.

[†] 13:54 Nazareth. ^{*} 14:1 "Tetrarch," meaning a ruler of a fourth part. In this case it was the region of Galilee. [†] 14:6 Usually identified as Salome.

¹³ When Jesus heard the news he went away by boat to a quiet place to be alone, but when the crowds learned where he was, they followed him on foot from the towns.

¹⁴ When Jesus got out of the boat and saw the huge crowds, he was full of sympathy for them, and healed their sick.

¹⁵ As evening came the disciples went up to him and said, "This place is miles from anywhere and it's getting late. Send the crowds away so they can go to the villages and buy food for themselves."

¹⁶ But Jesus told them, "They don't need to leave. You give them something to eat!"

¹⁷ "All we have here are five loaves and a couple of fish," they replied.

¹⁸ "Bring them to me," said Jesus.

¹⁹ He told the crowds to sit down on the grass. Then he took the five loaves and the two fish, looked up to heaven and blessed them. After that he broke the loaves into pieces and gave the bread to the disciples, and the disciples gave it to the crowds.

²⁰ Everybody ate until they were full. Then they collected up the leftovers which filled twelve baskets.

²² Right after this he made the disciples get into the boat and go back to the other side of the lake while he sent the crowds on their way.

²³ After he'd sent the crowds away, he went up into the mountains to pray. Evening came and he was there all alone.

²⁴ By now the boat was a long way out from land, being pounded by the waves because the wind was blowing against it.

²⁵ About 3 a.m.[‡] Jesus caught up with them, walking on the sea.

²⁶ When the disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were terrified. They screamed out in fear, "It's a ghost!"

²⁷ But immediately Jesus said to them, "Don't worry, it's me! Don't be afraid!"

²⁸ "Lord, if it's really you, tell me to come over to you, walking on the water," Peter replied.

³⁰ But when he saw how strong the wind was, he became scared, and started to sink. "Lord! Save me!" he cried out.

³¹ Immediately Jesus reached out and grabbed hold of him, and said, "You have such little trust in me. Why did you doubt?"

³² When they got into the boat, the wind died down,

³³ and those in the boat worshiped him, saying, "You really are the Son of God!"

³⁵ When the people there realized Jesus was there, they let everyone in the whole area know. They brought all who were sick to him, ³⁶ and pleaded with him to let the sick just touch the edge of his cloak. Everyone that touched him was healed.

1 Then some Pharisees and religious teachers from Jerusalem came to Jesus and asked him,

2 "Why do your disciples break the tradition of our forefathers by not washing their hands before they eat a meal?"

3 "Why do you break God's commandment because of your tradition?" Jesus replied.

4 "For God said, 'Honor your father and mother,'* and 'Those who curse their father or mother should be put to death.'[†]

5 But you say that if someone tells their father or mother, 'Whatever you might have expected to get from me is now a gift to God,' then

6 they don't have to honor their father. In this way you've annulled God's word for the sake of your tradition.

7 You hypocrites! How well Isaiah described you when he prophesied:

8 "These people say they honor me but in their minds they don't care about me.[‡]

9 Their worship of me is pointless. What they teach are just man-made requirements.' "§

10 He called the crowd over and told them, "Listen, and understand this:

11 it's not what goes into you through your mouth that defiles you. It's what comes out of your mouth that defiles you."

12 Then Jesus' disciples came to him and said, "You do realize that the Pharisees were offended by what you said."

13 "Every plant my heavenly Father didn't plant will be uprooted," Jesus replied.

14 "Forget about them—they are blind guides.* If a blind man leads another blind man, then they'll both fall into a ditch."

15 Then Peter asked, "Please tell us what you mean by this illustration."

16 "Haven't you understood this yet?" replied Jesus.

17 "Don't you see that whatever goes in through the mouth then passes through the stomach, and then leaves the body as waste?[†]

18 But what comes out through the mouth comes from the mind, and that's what defiles you.

19 For what comes from the mind are evil thoughts, murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false witness, and blasphemy

20 and those are what defile you. Eating with unwashed hands doesn't defile you."

21 Jesus left and went to the region of Tyre and Sidon.

22 A Canaanite woman from that area came, shouting out, "Lord, son of David! Please have mercy on me, because my daughter is suffering badly because she's possessed by a demon!"

23 But Jesus didn't reply at all. His disciples came to him and told him, "Tell her to stop following us. All her shouting is really annoying!"

24 "I was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel," Jesus said to the woman.

* 15:4 Quoting Exodus 20:12 or Deuteronomy 5:16. † 15:4 Quoting Exodus 21:17 or Leviticus 20:9. ‡ 15:8 Or "These people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are a long way from me."

§ 15:9 Quoting Isaiah 29:13. * 15:14 Referring to the Pharisees. † 15:17 Literally, "discharged into the sewer."

²⁵ But the woman came and kneeled before him, and said, "Lord, please help me!"

²⁶ "It's not right to take the children's food and throw it to the dogs,†" Jesus told her.

²⁷ "Yes, Lord, but even dogs are allowed to eat crumbs that fall from their master's table," she replied.

³⁰ Huge crowds came to him, bringing those who were lame, blind, crippled, dumb, and many others who were sick. They laid them on the ground at his feet, and he healed them.

³¹ The crowd was astounded at what they saw happen: the deaf could speak, the crippled were healed, the lame could walk, and the blind could see. They praised the God of Israel.

³² Jesus called his disciples over and told them, "I feel really sorry for all these people, because they've been with me now for three days, and they have nothing to eat. I don't want to send them away hungry, in case they faint on their way home."

³⁴ "How many loaves of bread do you have?" Jesus asked.

"Seven, and a few small fish," they replied.

³⁵ Jesus told the crowd to sit down on the ground.

³⁶ He took the seven loaves and the fish, and after blessing the food he broke it into pieces and gave it to the disciples, and the disciples gave it to the crowds.

³⁷ Everybody ate until they were full, and then they collected the leftovers, filling seven baskets.

³⁹ Then he sent the crowds away, got into a boat, and went to the Magadan region.

² Jesus replied, "In the evening you say, 'It'll be a fine day tomorrow, because the sky is red,'

³ while in the morning you say, 'It'll be bad weather today, because the sky is red and overcast.' You know how to predict the weather by what the sky looks like, but you can't recognize the signs of the times!

⁴ Evil people who don't trust in God are the ones who look for a miraculous sign, and no sign will be given to them except the sign of Jonah." He left them and went away.

⁵ Going to the other side of the lake, the disciples forgot to bring bread with them.

† 15:26 The word used for dogs indicates pet dogs, or puppies. * 16:1 Since the test was in an attempt to discredit Jesus, this could also be translated "came to trap Jesus."

7 The disciples started arguing among themselves. “He’s saying that[†] because we didn’t bring any bread,” they concluded.

8 Jesus knew what they were saying and said, “You have so little trust in me! Why are you arguing among yourselves about not having any bread?”

9 Haven’t you worked it out yet? Don’t you remember the five loaves that fed five thousand? How many baskets of leftovers did you collect?

10 And what about the seven loaves that fed the four thousand? How many baskets of leftovers did you collect?

11 Haven’t you worked it out yet that I wasn’t talking to you about bread? Watch out for the yeast of the Pharisees and Sadducees!”

12 Then they realized that he wasn’t warning them to watch out for bread yeast, but about the teachings of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

13 When Jesus arrived in the region of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, “Who do people say that the Son of man is?”

14 “Some say John the Baptist, some say Elijah, and others say Jeremiah or one of the other prophets,” they replied.

15 “But what about you?” he asked them. “Who do you say I am?”

16 “You are the Messiah, the Son of the living God,” Simon Peter replied.

17 “You are truly blessed, Simon son of John,” Jesus told him. “For this wasn’t revealed to you by human flesh and blood, but by my Father in heaven.

18 I also tell you that you are Peter,[‡] and on this rock I will build my church and the powers of death[§] won’t overcome it.

19 I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatever you ban on earth will be banned in heaven, and whatever you allow on earth will be allowed in heaven.”

20 Then he warned his disciples not to tell anyone that he was the Messiah.

21 From that time on Jesus began to explain to his disciples that he would have to go Jerusalem, and that he would suffer terribly at the hands of the elders, chief priests, and religious teachers; and that he would be killed, but he would rise again on the third day.

22 Peter took Jesus aside and started to tell him he shouldn’t talk like that. “God forbid, Lord, that this would ever happen to you!” he said.

23 Jesus turned to Peter, and told him, “Get away from me, Satan! You are a trap to trip me up,^{*} because you’re thinking in a human way, and not as God thinks!”

24 Then Jesus told his disciples, “If you want to be a follower of mine, you must deny yourself, take up your cross, and follow me.

25 For if you want to save your life you will lose it, and if you lose your life for my sake you will save it.

26 What benefit is it for you to gain the whole world, yet lose your life? What would you give in exchange for your life?

[†] 16:7 Implied. [‡] 16:18 Peter means “a stone,” in contrast to the word for solid rock also used in this verse. [§] 16:18 Literally, “gates of Hades.” ^{*} 16:23 Literally, a “stumbling block” or a “snare.”

²⁷ For the Son of man is going to come in his Father's glory, together with his angels. Then he will give everyone what they deserve according to what they've done.

²⁸ I tell you the truth, there are some standing here who won't die[†] before they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom."

¹ Six days later Jesus took Peter, James and his brother John, with him and they went up a high mountain to be by themselves.

⁴ Peter spoke up, saying to Jesus, "Lord, it's really good to be here. If you want I'll make three shelters—one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

⁵ While he was still speaking, a bright cloud covered them. A voice came from the cloud, saying, "This is my son whom I love, who pleases me. Listen to him."

⁶ When they heard this, the disciples fell down on their faces, absolutely terrified.

⁷ Jesus went over to them and touched them. "Get up," he told them. "Don't be afraid."

⁸ When they looked up they didn't see anybody there except Jesus.

⁹ As they descended the mountain Jesus gave them strict instructions. "Don't tell anybody what you saw until the Son of man has risen from the dead," he told them.

¹² "but I tell you that Elijah has already come and yet people didn't recognize who he was. They did whatever they felt like to him. In the same way the Son of man will also suffer at their hands."

¹⁴ When they approached the crowd, a man came to Jesus, and knelted before him.

¹⁵ "Lord, please have mercy on my son," he said. "He loses his mind^{*} and suffers such terrible fits that he often falls in the fire or into water.

¹⁶ I brought him to your disciples but they couldn't heal him."

¹⁷ "You people[†] refuse to trust me, and are so corrupt!" Jesus responded. "How long do I have to remain here with you? How long do I have to put up with you? Bring him here to me!"

¹⁸ Jesus confronted the demon and it left the boy, and he was healed straight away.

¹⁹ Later the disciples came to Jesus in private and asked him, "Why couldn't we drive it out?"

[†] 16:28 Literally, "taste death." ^{*} 17:15 Literally, "moonstruck." This parallels the English term "lunatic" from the Latin "lunaticus." [†] 17:17 Literally, "generation."

²⁰ “Because you don’t trust enough,” Jesus told them. “I tell you, even if your trust was as small as a mustard seed, you could say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it would move. Nothing would be impossible for you.”

²² As they were walking together through Galilee, Jesus told them, “The Son of man is going to be betrayed and people will have power[§] over him.

²³ They will kill him, but on the third day he will rise again.” The disciples were filled with sadness.

²⁴ When they arrived at Capernaum, those who were in charge of collecting the half-shekel Temple tax came to Peter and asked him, “Your teacher does pay the half-shekel tax, doesn’t he?”

²⁵ “Yes, of course,” Peter replied.

When he returned to where they were staying, Jesus anticipated the issue. “What do you think, Simon?” Jesus asked him. “Do the kings of this world collect their taxes and duties from their own sons or from others?”

²⁶ “From others,” Peter replied. So Jesus told him, “In that case the sons are exempt.

²⁷ But to avoid giving offense to anyone, go to the lake, and throw out a fishing line with a hook. Pull in the first fish you catch, and when you open its mouth there you’ll find a stater coin.* Take the coin and give it to them for both me and you.”

18

¹ Around that time the disciples came to Jesus, and asked, “Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?”

³ “I tell you the truth, unless you change the way you think and become like little children, you won’t ever enter the kingdom of heaven,” he told them.

⁷ What a disaster is coming on the world for all its temptations to sin! Temptations will surely come, but it will be a disaster for the person through whom the temptation comes!

⁸ If your hand or your foot causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. It’s better for you to enter eternal life crippled or lame rather than to have two hands or two feet and to be thrown into eternal fire.

‡ 17:21 Verse 21 is not in the earliest manuscripts. § 17:22 Literally, “betrayed into the hands of men.” * 17:27 Worth one shekel. The Temple tax of the time was half a shekel per person.

* 18:6 Literally, “a donkey millstone,” referring to the massive millstone turned by a donkey, rather than a small millstone turned by hand.

⁹ If your eye causes you to sin, pull it out and throw it away. It's better for you to enter eternal life with one eye than to have two eyes and to be thrown into the fire of judgment.

¹² What do you think about this? If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them gets lost, won't he leave the ninety-nine on the hills and go in search of the one that's lost?

¹⁴ In the same way my heavenly Father does not want any of these little ones to be lost.

¹⁵ If a brother§ sins against you, go and point out the wrong to him, just between the two of you. If he listens to you, you've won your brother over.

¹⁶ But if he doesn't listen, then take one or two more people with you, so that by two or three witnesses the truth can be confirmed.*

¹⁷ If, however, he refuses to listen to them, then tell the church. If he refuses to listen to the church as well, then treat him as a foreigner† and a tax-collector.

¹⁸ I tell you the truth, whatever you ban on earth will be banned in heaven, and whatever you allow on earth will be allowed in heaven.

¹⁹ I also tell you that if two of you agree here on earth about something you're praying for, then my heavenly Father will do it for you.

²⁰ For where two or three gather together in my name, I'm there with them."

²¹ Peter came to Jesus and asked him, "How many times should I forgive my brother for sinning against me? Seven times?"

²² "No, not seven times. I would say seventy times seven!" Jesus told him.

²³ "This is why the kingdom of heaven is like a king who wanted to settle accounts with those servants who owed him money.

²⁴ As he began to settle accounts, one servant was brought to him who owed him ten thousand talents.‡

²⁵ Since he didn't have the money to pay, his master ordered him to be sold, along with his wife and children and all his possessions, so that the debt could be paid back.

²⁶ The servant fell down on his knees and said to his master, 'Please be patient with me! I will pay everything back!'

²⁷ The master took pity on the servant, released him, and canceled the debt.

²⁸ But when that same servant went out he found one of his fellow-servants who owed him just a hundred denarii.§ He grabbed him by the neck and choked him, saying, 'Pay me back what you owe me!'

²⁹ His fellow-servant threw himself down at the man's feet and begged him, 'Please be patient with me! I will pay you back!'

† 18:10 Literally, "see the face of." ‡ 18:11 Verse 11 is not in the earliest manuscripts.

§ 18:15 Or "fellow believer." * 18:16 See Deuteronomy 19:15. † 18:17 Literally, a "Gentile," a non-believer. ‡ 18:24 An astronomical amount. § 18:28 A denarius was a small coin. The contrast is between the huge amount forgiven the first servant and the very small amount owed to him by the second servant.

³⁰ But the man refused, and went and threw his fellow-servant into prison until he paid back what he owed.

³¹ When the other servants saw what took place they were shocked and upset. They went and told their master everything that had happened.

³² Then the master called the man back in and told him, 'You evil servant! I forgave you all your debt because you begged me to.

³³ Shouldn't you have been merciful to your fellow-servant as well, just as I was merciful to you?'

³⁵ This is what my heavenly Father will do to every one of you unless you sincerely* forgive your brothers."

² Large crowds followed him, and he healed those who were sick there.

³ Some Pharisees came to test him. "Is a man allowed to divorce his wife for any reason?" they asked.

⁵ He said, 'This is the reason a man will leave his father and mother, and join with his wife, and the two shall become one.'[†]

⁶ Now they're no longer two, but one. What God has joined together no one should separate."

⁷ "Then why did Moses give a law that a man could divorce his wife by giving her a written certificate of divorce, and sending her away?"[‡] they asked.

⁸ "Because of your hard-hearted attitude Moses permitted you to divorce your wives, but it wasn't like that in the beginning," Jesus replied.

⁹ "I tell you, anyone who divorces his wife except on the grounds of sexual immorality and then marries another woman, commits adultery."

¹¹ "Not everyone can accept this instruction,[§] only those it's given to," Jesus told them.

¹² "Some are born as eunuchs, some are made eunuchs by men, and some choose to be eunuchs for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. Those who can accept this should accept it."

¹⁴ But Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me. Don't stop them. The kingdom of heaven belongs to those who are like them!"

¹⁶ A man came to Jesus and asked him, "Teacher, what good things must I do to gain eternal life?"

* 18:35 Literally, "from your heart." * 19:4 See Genesis 1:27 and Genesis 5:2. † 19:5 Literally, "one flesh." Quoting Genesis 2:24. ‡ 19:7 See Deuteronomy 24:1. § 19:11 Literally, "word."

17 "Why do you ask me what is good?" Jesus replied. "There's only one who is good. But if you want to have eternal life,* then keep the commandments."

18 "Which ones?" the man asked him.

"Don't murder, don't commit adultery, don't steal, don't give false testimony, 19 honor your father and mother, and love your neighbor as yourself,"† replied Jesus.

20 "I've kept all these commandments," the young man said. "What else do I need to do?"

21 Jesus told him, "If you want to be perfect,‡ then go and sell your possessions, give the money to the poor, and you'll have treasure in heaven. Then come and follow me."

22 When the young man heard Jesus' answer he went away very sad, because he had many possessions.

23 "I tell you the truth," Jesus said to his disciples, "rich people find it hard to enter the kingdom of heaven.

24 I also tell you this: It's easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God."

25 When the disciples heard this, they were very surprised, and asked, "So who can be saved?"

26 Jesus looked at them and said, "From a human point of view it's impossible, but all things are possible with God."

27 Peter answered him, "Look, we've left everything and followed you. What reward will we have?"

28 Jesus replied, "I tell you the truth: when everything is remade and the Son of man sits on his glorious throne, you who have followed me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

29 All those who because of me have left their homes, brothers, sisters, father, mother, children, and fields, will receive back a hundred times more, and will receive eternal life.

30 For many who are first will be last, and many who are last will be first.

20

1 For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire workers for his vineyard.

2 He agreed to pay the workers one denarius for the day, and sent them to work in his vineyard.

3 Around 9 a.m. he went out and saw others without work standing in the marketplace.

4 'Go and work in the vineyard too, and I'll pay you what's right,' he told them. So they went to work.

5 Around noon and 3 p.m. he went out and did the same thing.

6 At 5 p.m. he went out and found others standing there. 'Why are you standing around all day doing nothing?' he asked them.

7 'Because nobody has hired us,' they replied. 'Go and work in the vineyard too,' he told them.

* 19:17 Literally, "enter life." † 19:19 Quoting Exodus 20:12-16; Leviticus 19:18; Deuteronomy 5:16-20. ‡ 19:21 "Perfect" here has the idea of something fulfilled or complete.

⁸ When evening came, the owner of the vineyard told his manager, 'Call the workers in, and pay them their wages. Begin with the workers hired last and then move on to those hired first.'

¹⁰ So when those who were hired first came in, they thought they would get more, but they also received one denarius.

¹¹ When they received their pay, they complained to the owner.

¹² 'Those who were hired last only worked for an hour, and you've paid them the same as us who worked the whole day in the burning heat,' they grumbled.

¹³ The owner answered one of them, 'My friend, I haven't treated you unfairly. Didn't you agree with me to work for one denarius?'

¹⁴ Take your pay and go. I want to pay those who were hired last the same as I paid you.

¹⁵ Can't I choose to do what I want with my own money? Why should you give me evil looks because I want to do good?'

¹⁶ In this way the last shall be first and the first shall be last."

¹⁷ On the way to Jerusalem, Jesus took the twelve disciples aside as they walked along and told them,

¹⁸ "Look, we're going to Jerusalem, and the Son of man will be betrayed to the chief priests and religious teachers. They will condemn him to death

¹⁹ and hand him over to the foreigners* to mock him, whip him, and crucify him. But on the third day he will be raised from the dead."

²⁰ Then the mother of the sons of Zebedee came with her two sons to Jesus. She kneeled down before him to make a request.

²¹ "What is it you are asking me for?" Jesus said to her.

"Please appoint my sons to sit beside you in your kingdom, one on your right and the other on your left," she asked.

²² "You don't know what you're asking," Jesus told them. "Are you able to drink the cup† I'm about to drink?"

"Yes, we are able to do that," they told him.

²³ "You will certainly drink from my cup," he said to them, "but the privilege to sit on my right or on my left isn't mine to give. My Father is the one who has decided who that will be.‡"

²⁴ When the other ten disciples heard what they had asked, they were annoyed with the two brothers.

²⁶ It shall not be like that for you. Whoever among you wants to be the most important will be your servant.

²⁸ In the same way the Son of man didn't come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

³⁰ Two blind men were sitting at the side of the road. When they heard that Jesus was passing by, they called out, "Have mercy on us, Lord, son of David!"

* 20:19 Here referring to the Romans. † 20:22 Meaning the cup of suffering. ‡ 20:23 Or "it is for those for whom it has been prepared by my Father."

³¹ The crowd told them to be quiet, but they shouted even louder, "Have mercy on us, Lord, son of David!"

³² Jesus stopped. He called them over, asking, "What do you want me to do for you?"

³³ "Lord, please make us able to see," they replied.

³⁴ Jesus had pity on them and touched their eyes. Immediately they could see, and they followed him.

21

¹ Jesus and his disciples went to Jerusalem. As they were getting close, they came to the village of Bethphage on the Mount of Olives. Jesus sent two disciples on ahead,

² telling them, "Go into the village. Right there you'll find a donkey tied up with a colt. Untie them and bring them to me.

³ If anyone asks you what you're doing, just tell them, 'The Lord needs them,' and they will send them right away."

⁴ This was to fulfill what the prophet said:

⁵ "Tell the daughter of Zion, 'Look, your King is coming to you. He is humble, and rides a donkey, and a colt, the offspring of a donkey.' " *

⁶ The disciples went and did as Jesus had instructed.

⁷ They brought back the donkey and the colt. They placed their cloaks on them, and he sat on them.

⁹ The crowds that went ahead of him and those that followed were all shouting, "Hosanna† to the son of David! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! Hosanna in the highest!"

¹⁰ When Jesus arrived in Jerusalem, the whole city was in an uproar. "Who is this?" they were asking.

¹¹ "This is Jesus, the prophet from Nazareth in Galilee," the crowds replied.

¹² Jesus went into the Temple, and threw out all the people buying and selling. He overturned the tables of the money-changers and the chairs of the dove-sellers.

¹⁵ But when the chief priests and religious teachers saw the wonderful miracles he did, and the children shouting in the Temple, "Hosanna to the son of David," they were offended.

"Do you hear what these children are saying?" they asked him.

¹⁶ "Yes," Jesus replied. "Haven't you ever read the Scripture that says, 'You arranged for children and infants to give you perfect praise'?" §

¹⁸ The next morning as he walked back into the city, he was hungry.

* 21:5 Referencing Isaiah 62:11 and Zechariah 9:9. † 21:9 An Aramaic word meaning "please save us," used as an exclamation of praise. ‡ 21:13 Quoting Isaiah 56:7. § 21:16 Quoting Psalms 8:2.

¹⁹ He saw a fig tree at the side of the road, so he went over to it but didn't find any fruit, only leaves.

He told the fig tree, "May you never ever produce fruit again!" Immediately the fig tree withered.

²⁰ The disciples were amazed to see this. "How did the fig tree wither so suddenly?" they asked.

²¹ "I tell you the truth," Jesus replied, "If you really trust in God, and don't doubt him, you could not only do what was done to the fig tree, but even more. If you said to this mountain, 'Get up and throw yourself into the sea,' it would happen!"

²² You will receive everything you ask for in prayer, as long as you trust in God."

²³ Jesus went into the Temple. The chief priests and the ruling elders of the people came to him while he was teaching and asked, "By what authority are you doing these things? Who gave you this authority?"

²⁴ "I too will ask you a question," Jesus replied. "If you give me the answer, I will tell you by what authority I do these things.

²⁵ Where did the baptism of John come from? Was it from heaven, or was it from human beings?"

They argued with each other. "If we say 'it was from heaven,' then he'll ask us why we didn't believe him.

²⁶ But if we say, 'it was from human beings,' then the crowd will turn against us,* because they all consider John to be a prophet."

²⁷ So they answered Jesus, "We don't know."

"Then I won't tell you by what authority I'm doing these things," Jesus replied.

²⁸ "But what do you think about this illustration? Once there was a man who had two sons. He went to the first son, and said, 'Son, go and work in the vineyard today.'

²⁹ The son answered, 'I won't,' but afterwards he was sorry for what he said and he did go.

³⁰ The man went to the second son, and told him the same thing. He replied, 'I'll go,' but he didn't.

³¹ Which of the two sons did what his father wanted?"

"The first," they answered.

"I tell you the truth: tax-collectors and prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God before you," Jesus told them.

³² "John came to show you the way to live right with God, and you didn't believe him, but the tax-collectors and prostitutes did believe him. Later, when you saw what happened, you still didn't repent and believe him.

³⁴ At harvest time, he sent his servants to the farmers to collect the fruit that belonged to him.

³⁵ But the farmers attacked his servants. They beat one, killed another, and stoned another.

³⁶ So he sent more servants, but the farmers did the same things to them.

* 21:26 Literally, "we fear the crowd."

³⁷ So then he sent his son. 'They will respect my son,' he told himself.

³⁸ But the farmers, when they saw the son, said to each other, 'Here's the heir! Come on! Let's kill him so we can take his inheritance!'

³⁹ They grabbed him, threw him out of the vineyard, and killed him.

⁴⁰ When the vineyard owner returns, what will he do to those farmers?"

⁴¹ The chief priests and elders said to Jesus, "He will put to death those wicked men in the most awful way, and rent out the vineyard to other farmers who will be sure to give him his fruit at harvest time."

⁴² "So haven't you read this in the Scriptures?" Jesus asked them. "The stone which the builders rejected has become the chief cornerstone. The Lord has done this, and it is wonderful in our eyes.'

⁴³ That's why I'm telling you that the kingdom of God will be taken away from you. It will be given to a people who produce the right kind of fruit.

⁴⁴ Anyone who falls on this stone will be broken, but it will completely crush anyone it falls upon."

⁴⁵ When the chief priests and the Pharisees heard his illustrations, they realized he was speaking about them.

⁴⁶ They wanted him arrested, but they were afraid of what the people would do because the people believed he was a prophet.

² "The kingdom of heaven is like a king who organized a wedding celebration for his son," Jesus explained.

⁴ So he sent out more servants, with the instructions, 'Tell those who are invited that I've prepared the wedding banquet. The bulls and fattened calves have been killed—everything's ready. So come to the wedding!'

⁷ The king became furious. He sent his soldiers to destroy those murderers and burn down their town.

⁸ Then the king said to his servants, 'The wedding banquet is ready, but those who were invited didn't deserve to attend.

⁹ Go into the streets and invite everyone you find to come to the wedding.'

¹⁰ So the servants went out into the streets and brought back everyone they could find, both the good and the bad. The wedding hall was full.

¹¹ But when the king came in to meet the guests, he noticed a man who didn't have a wedding robe on.

¹² He asked him, 'My friend, how did you get in here without a wedding robe?' The man had nothing to say.

¹³ Then the king told his servants, 'Bind his hands and feet, and throw him out into the dark, where there'll be crying and grinding of teeth.'

¹⁴ For many are invited, but few are chosen."

17 "Teacher, we know you are a honest man, and that you teach God's way is the truth," they began. "You don't allow yourself to be influenced by anyone, and you don't care about rank or status.

18 So let us know your opinion. Is it right to pay Caesar's taxes, or not?"

19 Jesus knew their motives were evil. He asked them, "Why are you trying to trap me, you hypocrites?

20 Show me the coin that is used to pay the tax." They brought a denarius coin* to him.

22 "Caesar's," they replied.

23 "You should give back to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and to God what belongs to God," he told them.

24 When they heard Jesus' answer they were stunned. They went away and left him.

25 Later the same day some Sadducees came to see him. (They are the ones who say there's no resurrection.)

26 They asked him, "Teacher, Moses said that if a married† man dies without having children, his brother should marry his widow and have children on behalf of his brother:‡

27 Well, once there were seven brothers here with us. The first married, and died, and since he had no children he left his widow to his brother.

28 The same thing happened to the second and third husband, right up to the seventh.

29 In the end the woman died too.

30 So when the resurrection takes place, whose wife of the seven brothers will she be, for she married all of them?"

31 Jesus replied, "Your mistake is you don't know Scripture or what God can do.

32 For in the resurrection people don't marry, and they aren't given in marriage either—they're like the angels in heaven.

33 As for the resurrection of the dead—haven't you read what God said to you,

34 'I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob'? He's not the God of the dead, but of the living."§

35 When the crowds heard what he said, they were amazed at his teaching.

36 When the Pharisees heard that he'd left the Sadducees speechless, they got together and went to ask some more questions.

37 One of them, who was a legal expert, asked him a question to try to trap him:

38 "Teacher, which is the greatest commandment in the law?"

39 Jesus told them, " 'Love the Lord your God in all you think, in all you feel, and in all you do.'*

41 The second is just like it, 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'†

* 22:19 A silver Roman coin used for paying the tax imposed by the Romans. † 22:24 Implied.

⁴⁰ All biblical law and the writings of the prophets depend on these two commandments.”

⁴¹ While the Pharisees were gathered there, Jesus asked them a question. ⁴² “What do you think about the Messiah?” he asked. “Whose son is he?”

⁴³ “But how can David under inspiration call him ‘Lord’?” Jesus asked them. “He says,

⁴⁴ “The Lord said to my Lord, sit down at my right hand until I defeat all your enemies.”[‡]

⁴⁵ If David called him Lord, how can he be his son?”

⁴⁶ Nobody could answer him, and from then on nobody dared to ask him any more questions.

² “The religious teachers and the Pharisees are responsible as interpreters of the law of Moses,^{*}

³ so obey them and do everything they tell you. But don't follow what they do, because they don't practice what they preach.

⁴ They tie up heavy burdens, and place them on people's shoulders, but they themselves don't lift a finger to help them.

⁵ Everything they do is to make sure they get noticed. They make themselves large prayer boxes[†] to wear and long tassels on their clothes.[‡]

⁶ They love to have the places of honor at banquets and the best seats in the synagogues.

⁷ They love to be greeted with respect in the market places, and for people to call them, ‘Rabbi.’[§]

⁸ Don't let people call you ‘Rabbi.’ Only one is your Master Teacher, and you are all brothers.

⁹ Don't call anyone by the title ‘Father’ here on earth. Only one is your Father, who is in heaven.

¹⁰ Don't let people call you ‘Teacher.’ Only one is your Teacher, the Messiah.

¹² Those who make themselves great will be humbled, and those who humble themselves will be made great.

¹³ But what a disaster is coming on you, religious teachers and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You slam shut the door of the kingdom of heaven in people's faces. You yourselves don't go in, yet you don't let anyone in who is trying to enter.

[‡] 22:44 Literally, “place all your enemies under your feet.” Quoting Psalms 110:1. ^{*} 23:2 Literally, “sit in Moses' seat.” [†] 23:5 Or “phylacteries.” These were leather boxes tied to the forehead and arms containing written texts: Exodus 13:1-6 and Deuteronomy 6:4-9; Deuteronomy 11:13-21.

[‡] 23:5 These tassels were to show their devotion to God. See Numbers 15:37-41. [§] 23:7 This is a Hebrew word meaning “my great one,” and was used as a term of respect for religious teachers.

^{*} 23:14 Verse 14 is not in the most reliable early manuscripts.

¹⁵ What a disaster is coming on you, religious teachers and Pharisees, you hypocrites! For you travel over land and sea to make a single convert, and when you do, you make him twice a son of darkness[†] as you are yourselves.

¹⁶ What a disaster is coming on those of you who say, ‘If you swear by the Temple that doesn’t count, but if you swear by the gold of the Temple, then you have to keep your oath.’ How foolish and blind you are!

¹⁷ What is greater—the gold, or the Temple that makes the gold holy?

¹⁸ You say, ‘If you swear on the altar that doesn’t count, but if you swear on the sacrifice that’s on the altar, then you have to keep your oath.’

¹⁹ How blind you are! What is greater—the sacrifice, or the altar that makes the sacrifice holy?

²⁰ If you swear by the altar, you swear by it and by everything that’s on it.

²⁴ You blind guides—you strain what you drink to keep out a fly but then you swallow a camel!

²⁵ What a disaster is coming on you, religious teachers and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You clean the outside of the cup and the plate, but inside you’re full of greed and self-indulgence.

²⁶ You blind Pharisees! First clean the inside of the cup and the plate, so that the outside will also be clean.

²⁷ What a disaster is coming on you, religious teachers and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You are like white-washed tombs, looking good on the outside, but on the inside full of skeletons and all kinds of rottenness.[‡]

²⁸ You’re just the same. On the outside you look like good people to others, but on the inside you’re full of hypocrisy and wickedness.

²⁹ What a disaster is coming on you, religious teachers and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You build tombs as memorials to the prophets, and decorate the tombs of the good,

³⁰ and you say, ‘If we had lived in the times of our ancestors we would not have joined them in shedding the blood of the prophets.’

³¹ But by saying this you testify against yourselves, proving that you belong to those who murdered the prophets!

³³ You snakes, you brood of vipers, how will you escape the judgment of condemnation?[§]

³⁴ That’s why I’m sending you prophets, wise men, and teachers. Some of them you will kill, some of them you will crucify, and some of them you will flog in your synagogues, hunting them from town to town.

[‡] 23:27 Literally, “uncleanness.” [§] 23:33 Literally, “Gehenna” (see under 5:22). Referring to the end-time judgment.

³⁵ As a result, you will be held accountable for the blood of all the good people that has been poured out on the land—from the blood of Abel, who did what was right, to the blood of Zachariah son of Barachiah, whom you killed between the Temple and the altar.

³⁶ I'm telling you, the consequences of all this will fall on this generation.

³⁷ Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who kill the prophets and stone those who are sent to you! So often I wanted to gather your children as a mother hen gathers her chicks under her wings—but you wouldn't let me.

³⁹ I tell you this: you won't see me again until you say, 'Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord.' "†

24

² But Jesus replied, "You see all these buildings? I tell you the truth: there won't be one stone left upon another. Every last one will come crashing down!"

³ As Jesus sat on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to him in private, and asked, "Please tell us when this will happen. What will be the sign of your coming and the end of the world?"

⁴ "Make sure no one misleads you," Jesus replied.

⁷ Nations will attack other nations, and kingdoms will fight against other kingdoms. There will be famines and earthquakes in various places,

⁹ Then they will arrest you, they will persecute you, and they will kill you. All people will hate you because of me.

¹⁰ At that time many believers will give up believing. They will betray one another and hate one another.

¹¹ Many false prophets will come and deceive many people.

¹² The increasing evil will lead the love of many to grow cold,

¹⁴ The good news of the kingdom will be proclaimed around the whole world so everyone will be able to hear it, and then the end will come.

¹⁵ So when you see the 'idolatry that defiles'* standing in the holy place that the prophet Daniel spoke about (those who read this please consider carefully),

¹⁷ Anyone who is on the housetop must not go down and fetch what's in the house.

¹⁹ How awful it will be for those who are pregnant, and those who are nursing babies at that time!

* 23:38 The word house may refer to the Temple. † 23:39 Quoting Psalms 118:26. * 24:15 Or "desolating sacrilege," referring back to Daniel 9:27, Daniel 11:31, Daniel 12:11.

²⁰ Pray that you don't have to run away in winter, or on the Sabbath day.

²¹ For at that time there will be terrible persecution—more terrible than anything that has happened from the beginning of the world up till now, and won't ever happen again.

²² Unless those days are cut short, nobody will be saved, but for the sake of the chosen those days will be cut short.

²³ So if anyone tells you, 'Look, here's the Messiah,' or, 'There he is,' don't believe it.

²⁴ For false messiahs will appear, and false prophets too, and they will perform incredible signs and miracles in order to deceive the chosen, if that were possible.

²⁵ Notice that I've told you this before it even happens.

²⁶ So if they tell you, 'Look, he's out in the desert,' don't go looking there; or if they say, 'Look, he's secretly here,' don't believe it.

²⁸ 'Vultures gather where the carcass is.'

²⁹ But right after those days of persecution the sun will be darkened, the moon will not shine, the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of heaven will be shaken.

³⁰ Then the sign of the Son of man will appear in heaven, and all the peoples of the earth will mourn. They will see the Son of man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and in brilliant glory.[†]

³¹ With a blast from a trumpet he will send his angels to gather his chosen ones from every place, from one end of heaven and earth to the other.[‡]

³² Learn an illustration from the fig tree. When its shoots become tender and leaves begin to sprout, you know that summer is coming.

³³ In the same way when you see all these things happening, you know that his coming is near, in fact it's right at the door!

³⁴ I tell you the truth: this generation won't pass away until all these things have happened.

³⁵ Heaven and earth may pass away, but my words won't pass away.

³⁶ But no one knows the day or hour when this will take place, not the angels in heaven, nor the Son. Only the Father knows.

³⁷ When the Son of man comes it will be like it was during the time of Noah.

³⁸ It will be as in the days before the flood, when they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, right up until the day that Noah went into the ark.

³⁹ They didn't realize what was going to happen until the flood came and swept them all away. That's how the coming of the Son of man will be.

⁴⁰ Two men will be working in the fields. One will be taken, the other left.

⁴¹ Two women will be grinding grain with a mill. One will be taken, the other left.

⁴² So stay alert, because you don't know what day your Lord is coming.

[†] 24:30 See Daniel 7:13-14. [‡] 24:31 Literally, "from the four winds, from one end of the heavens to the other."

⁴³ But consider this: if the house-owner knew what time a thief was coming, he would keep watch. He would not allow his house to be broken into and robbed.

⁴⁴ You also need to be ready, because the Son of man is coming at a time when you're not expecting him.

⁴⁵ For who is the trustworthy and thoughtful servant? It's the one his master puts in charge of his household to provide them with food at the proper time.

⁴⁶ How good it will be for that servant to be found doing that when his master returns!

⁴⁷ I tell you the truth: the master will put that servant in charge over everything he has.

⁴⁸ But if he was evil, the servant would say to himself, 'My master is taking a long time,'

⁴⁹ and would start beating the other servants, feasting and drinking with the drunks.

⁵¹ He'll cut him to pieces, and treat him in the same way as the hypocrites,[§] sending him to a place where there's crying and gnashing of teeth.

² Five were foolish, and five were wise.

⁵ The bridegroom took a long time and all the girls became drowsy and fell asleep.

⁷ All the girls got up and trimmed the wicks of their lamps. The foolish girls said to the wise ones,

⁸ 'Give us some of your oil, because our lamps are going out.' But the wise girls replied,

⁹ 'No, because otherwise there won't be enough for both you and for us. Go to the shopkeepers and buy some oil for yourselves.'

¹⁰ While they went to buy oil, the bridegroom arrived, and those who were ready went in with him to the wedding, and the door was locked shut.

¹¹ The other girls came later. 'Lord, Lord,' they called, 'Open the door for us!'

¹² But he answered, 'I tell you the truth: I don't know you.'

¹³ So stay alert, for you don't know the day, or the hour.

¹⁴ It's like a man who went away on a trip. He called in his servants and entrusted them with what he owned.

¹⁵ To one of them he gave five talents,* to another he gave two, and to another one, according to their different abilities. Then he left.

¹⁶ Immediately the one with five talents went and invested them in a business, and made another five talents.

¹⁷ In the same way the one with two talents made another two.

¹⁸ But the man who'd received the one talent went off and dug a hole and hid his master's money.

¹⁹ A long time later the master of those servants returned, and settled accounts with them.

²⁰ The one with five talents came and presented the other five talents. 'Master,' he said, 'You gave me five talents. Look, I've made a profit of five talents.'

²¹ His master said to him, 'You've done well—you are a good, faithful servant. You have proved yourself trustworthy over small things, so now I'm placing you in charge over many things. Be happy because I'm really pleased with you!'

²² The one with two talents also came. 'Master,' he said, 'You gave me two talents. Look, I've made a profit of two talents.'

²³ His master said to him, 'You've done well—you are a good, faithful servant. You have proved trustworthy over small things, so now I'm placing you in charge over many things. Be happy because I'm really pleased with you!'

²⁴ Then the man with one talent came. 'Master,' he said, 'I know that you're a hard man. You reap where you didn't sow, and you harvest crops that you didn't plant.'

²⁵ So since I was afraid of you I went and buried your talent in the ground. Look, you can have back what belongs to you.'

²⁶ But his master answered him, 'You wicked and lazy servant! If you think I reap where I don't sow, and harvest crops I didn't plant,

²⁷ then you should have deposited my silver in the bank so that when I returned I could have had my money with interest.

²⁸ Take the talent away from him, and give it to the one with ten talents.

²⁹ For everyone who has will be given even more; and everyone who doesn't have anything, even what they have will be taken away from them.

³⁰ Now throw this useless servant out into the darkness where there'll be crying and gnashing of teeth.'

³⁴ Then the king will say to the ones on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father, and inherit the kingdom that's been prepared for you from the beginning of the world.

³⁵ For I was hungry, and you gave me food to eat. I was thirsty, and you gave me a drink. I was a stranger and you invited me in.

³⁶ I was naked and you clothed me. I was sick and you looked after me. I was in prison and you visited me.'

* 25:15 Probably referring to talents of silver, a large amount of money.

³⁷ Then those who are right will answer, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and fed you, or thirsty and gave you a drink?

³⁸ When did we see you as a stranger and invite you in, or naked and clothe you?

³⁹ When did we see you sick, or in prison, and visit you?'

⁴⁰ The king will tell them, 'I tell you the truth: whatever you did for one of these of least importance you did for me.'

⁴¹ He'll also say to those on his left, 'Go away from me, you who are doomed, into the eternal[†] fire prepared for the devil and his angels!

⁴² For I was hungry and you didn't give me anything to eat. I was thirsty and you didn't give me a drink.

⁴³ I was a stranger and you didn't invite me in. I was naked and you didn't clothe me. I was sick and in prison and you didn't visit me.'

⁴⁴ Then they will also answer, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry, or thirsty, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and didn't look after you?'

⁴⁵ Then he will tell them, 'I tell you the truth: whatever you didn't do for one of these of least importance you didn't do for me.'

⁴⁶ They will go away into eternal condemnation, but those who are good will enter eternal life."

26

¹ After Jesus had said all this, he told his disciples,

² "You know that it's Passover in two days time, and the Son of man will be handed over to be crucified."

³ Then the chief priests and the elders of the people gathered in the courtyard of Caiaphas, the high priest.

⁴ There they plotted to arrest Jesus on some deceitful pretext* and kill him.

⁵ But they said, "Let's not do this during the festival so that the people don't riot."

⁶ While Jesus was staying at Simon the leper's house in Bethany,

⁷ a woman came over to him carrying an alabaster jar of very expensive perfume. She poured it on Jesus' head while he was sitting eating. But when the disciples saw what she did, they were upset.

⁸ "What a terrible waste!" they objected.

¹² By pouring this perfume on my body she's prepared me for burial.

¹³ I tell you the truth: wherever in the world this good news is spread, the story of what this woman has done will also be told in memory of her."

¹⁴ Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve disciples, went to the chief priests

See Deuteronomy 15:11.

* 26:4 Literally, "with guile." [†] 26:11

¹⁵ and asked them, "How much will you pay me for betraying Jesus to you?" They paid him thirty silver coins.

¹⁶ From then on he looked for an opportunity to betray Jesus.

¹⁷ On the first day of the festival of unleavened bread, the disciples came to Jesus and asked him, "Where do you want us to prepare the Passover meal for you to eat?"

¹⁸ Jesus told them, "Go into the city and find this particular man, and tell him that the Teacher says, 'My time is approaching. I'm coming to celebrate the Passover with my disciples at your house.'"[§]

¹⁹ The disciples did as Jesus told them, and prepared the Passover meal there.

²⁰ When evening came he sat down to eat with the Twelve.

²¹ While they were eating he told them, "I tell you the truth: one of you is going to betray me."

²² They were extremely upset. One after the other they asked him, "Lord, it's not me, is it?"

²³ "The one who's dipped his hand into the dish with me will betray me," Jesus replied.

²⁴ "The Son of man will die just as it was prophesied about him, but what a disaster it will be for the man who betrays the Son of man! It would be better for that man if he'd never been born!"

²⁵ Judas, the one who would betray Jesus, asked "It's not me, is it, Rabbi?"

"You said it," Jesus replied.

²⁶ While they were eating, Jesus took some bread and blessed it. Then he broke it and gave pieces to the disciples. "Take and eat this for it is my body," said Jesus.

²⁷ Then he picked up the cup, blessed it, and gave it to them. "Drink from it, all of you," he told them.

²⁸ "For this is my blood of the agreement,[‡] poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins.

²⁹ However, I tell you, I won't drink this fruit of the vine until the day I drink it new with you in the kingdom of my Father."

³¹ "All of you will abandon me tonight," Jesus told them. "As Scripture says, 'I will strike the shepherd, and the flock of sheep will be completely scattered.'[§]

³² But after I have risen, I'll go ahead of you to Galilee."

³⁴ "I'm telling you the truth," Jesus told him, "This very night, before the cock crows, you'll deny me three times."

³⁵ "Even if I have to die with you, I'll never deny you!" Peter insisted. And all the disciples said the same thing.

³⁶ Then Jesus went with his disciples to a place called Gethsemane. He told them, "Sit down here while I go over there and pray."

³⁷ He took Peter and the two sons of Zebedee with him, and he began to suffer agonizing sorrow and distress.

³⁸ Then he said to them, "I am so overwhelmed with sadness that it's killing me. Wait here and keep watch with me."

[‡] 26:28 Or "covenant." [§] 26:31 Quoting Zechariah 13:7.

39 He went a little farther forward, fell face down, and prayed.

"My Father, please, if it's possible, let this cup of suffering be taken from me," Jesus asked. "Even so, may it not be what I want but what you want."

40 He went back to the disciples and found them asleep. He said to Peter, "What, you couldn't stay awake with me for just one hour?"

41 Stay awake and pray, so that you don't fall into temptation. Yes, the spirit is willing, but the body is weak."

42 He went away a second time and prayed.

"My Father, if this cup cannot be taken from me without me drinking from it, then your will be done," he said.

44 So he left them once more, and went off and prayed a third time, repeating the same things.

45 Then he returned to the disciples, and told them, "How can you still be sleeping and resting? Look, the time has come. The Son of man is about to be betrayed into the hands of sinners!

47 As he said this, Judas, one of the Twelve, arrived with a large mob armed with swords and clubs sent by the chief priests and elders of the people.

48 The betrayer had arranged to give them a signal: "The one that I kiss, that's him—arrest him," he'd told them.

49 Judas came up to Jesus immediately, and said, "Hello, Rabbi," and kissed him.

50 "My friend, do what you came to do," Jesus said to Judas. So they came and grabbed hold of Jesus, and arrested him.

51 One of those who was with Jesus reached for his sword and pulled it out. He struck the high priest's servant, cutting off his ear.

52 But Jesus told him, "Put your sword away. Everyone who fights with the sword will die by the sword.

53 Don't you think I could ask my Father, and he'd immediately send more than twelve legions of angels?

54 But then how could the Scriptures be fulfilled that say it must be like this?"

55 Then Jesus told the mob, "Have you come with swords and clubs to arrest me as if I was some kind of dangerous criminal? Every day I sat in the Temple teaching and you didn't arrest me then.

56 But all this is happening to fulfill what the prophets wrote." Then all the disciples abandoned him and ran away.

57 Those who'd arrested Jesus took him to the home of Caiaphas, the high priest, where the religious teachers and elders had gathered.

58 Peter followed him at a distance, and went into the high priest's courtyard. He sat there with the guards to see how things would end.

59 The chief priests and the whole council were trying to find some false evidence against Jesus so they could put him to death.

60 But they couldn't find anything, even though many false witnesses came forward. Eventually two came forward

* 26:43 Literally, "their eyes were weighed down."

⁶¹ and reported, "This man said, 'I can destroy God's Temple, and rebuild it in three days.'"

⁶² The high priest stood up and asked Jesus, "Have you no answer? What do you have to say in your defense?"

⁶³ But Jesus remained silent.

The high priest said to Jesus, "In the name of the living God I place you under oath. Tell us if you are the Messiah, the Son of God."

⁶⁴ "You said it," Jesus replied. "And I also tell you that in the future you'll see the Son of man sitting at the right hand of the Almighty, and coming on the clouds of heaven."[†]

⁶⁵ Then the high priest tore his clothes, and said, "He's speaking blasphemy! Why do we need any witnesses? Look, now you've heard for yourselves his blasphemy!"

⁶⁶ What's your verdict?"

"Guilty! He deserves to die!" they answered.

⁶⁷ Then they spat in his face and beat him. Some of them slapped him with their hands,

⁶⁸ and said, "Prophecy to us, you 'Messiah'! Who just hit you?"

⁶⁹ Meanwhile Peter was sitting outside in the courtyard. A servant girl came up to him, and said, "You were with Jesus the Galilean too!"

⁷⁰ But he denied it in front of everyone. "I don't know what you're talking about," he said.

⁷¹ When he went back to the courtyard entrance another servant girl saw him and said to the people there, "This man was with Jesus of Nazareth."

⁷² Once again he denied it, saying with an oath, "I don't know him."

⁷³ A little while later the people standing there came up to Peter and said, "You definitely are one of them. Your accent gives you away."

⁷⁴ Then he started to swear: "Curses on me if I'm a liar!‡ I don't know the man!" Immediately the cock crowed.

⁷⁵ Then Peter remembered what Jesus had told him: "Before the cock crows, three times you will deny knowing me." He went outside and wept bitterly.

² They bound him, led him away, and handed him over to Pilate, the governor.

³ When Judas, the one who'd betrayed Jesus, saw that Jesus had been condemned to death, he regretted what he'd done and returned the thirty silver coins to the chief priests and the elders.

⁴ "I've sinned! I've betrayed innocent blood!" he told them.

"What's that got to do with us?" they replied. "That's your problem!"

⁶ The chief priests took the silver coins and said, "This is blood money, so it's not lawful to put this in the Temple treasury."

⁷ So they agreed to buy the potter's field as a place to bury foreigners.

[†] 26:64 See Psalms 110:1 and Daniel 7:13. [‡] 26:74 Or "he called down curses on himself."

⁹ This fulfilled the prophecy spoken through the prophet Jeremiah: "They took thirty silver coins—the 'value' of the one who was bought at the price set by some of the children of Israel—

¹⁰ and used them to pay for the potter's field, just as the Lord instructed me to do."^{*}

¹¹ Jesus was brought before Pilate the governor who asked him, "Are you the King of the Jews?"

"You said it," Jesus replied.

¹² But when the chief priests and elders brought charges against him, Jesus did not answer.

¹³ "Don't you hear how many charges they're bringing against you?" Pilate asked him.

¹⁴ But Jesus didn't say anything, not a single word. This greatly surprised the governor.

¹⁵ Now it was the custom of the governor to release to the crowd during the festival whichever prisoner they wanted.

¹⁶ At that time a notorious prisoner was being held, a man named Barabbas.

¹⁷ So Pilate asked the crowds that had gathered, "Who do you want me to release to you? Barabbas, or Jesus, called the Messiah?"

¹⁸ (He had realized it was because of jealousy that they had handed Jesus over to him to be tried.)

¹⁹ While he was sitting on the judge's seat, his wife sent a message to him that said, "Don't do anything to this innocent man, for I've suffered terribly today as a result of a dream about him."

²⁰ But the chief priests and the elders convinced the crowds to ask for Barabbas, and to have Jesus put to death.

²¹ When the governor asked them, "So which of the two do you want me to release to you?" they answered, "Barabbas."

²² "Then what shall I do with Jesus, the Messiah?" he asked them.

They all shouted out, "Have him crucified!"

²³ "Why? What crime has he committed?" Pilate asked. But they shouted even louder, "Crucify him!"

²⁴ When Pilate saw it was a lost cause, and that a riot was developing, he took some water and washed his hands in front of the crowd. "I'm innocent of this man's blood. It's on your heads!"[†] he told them.

²⁵ All the people answered, "May his blood be on us, and on our children!"

²⁶ Then he released Barabbas to them, but he had Jesus whipped and sent to be crucified.

²⁷ The governor's soldiers took Jesus into the Praetorium[‡] and the whole troop surrounded him.

²⁸ They stripped him and put a scarlet cloak on him.

²⁹ They made a crown of thorns and placed it on his head, and put a stick in his right hand. They knelt down in front of him and mocked him, saying, "We salute you, King of the Jews!"

^{*} 27:10 See Zechariah 11:12-13, referencing Jeremiah 32:6-15. [†] 27:24 Literally, "see to it yourselves." [‡] 27:27 The military headquarters.

³⁰ They spat on him, and took the stick and beat him over the head with it.

³¹ When they'd finished mocking him, they took off the robe and put his own clothes back on him. Then they led him away to crucify him.

³² On the way they found a man called Simon, from Cyrene, and they forced him to carry Jesus' cross.

³³ When they arrived at Golgotha, meaning "Place of the Skull,"

³⁴ they gave him wine mixed with gall. But having tasted it, he refused to drink it.

³⁵ After they had crucified him, they rolled dice to divide his clothes between them. §

³⁶ Then they sat down and kept watch over him there.

³⁷ They placed a sign over his head with the charge against him. It read, "This is Jesus, the King of the Jews."

³⁹ Those who passed by shouted insults at him, shaking their heads,

⁴⁰ saying, "You who promised to destroy the Temple and rebuild it in three days, why don't you save yourself! If you really are the Son of God, then come down from the cross."

⁴¹ The chief priests mocked him in the same way, along with the religious teachers and elders.

⁴² "He saved other people, but he can't save himself!" they said. "If he really is the king of Israel, let him come down from the cross, and then we'll believe him!"

⁴³ He trusts God so confidently—well let God rescue him now if he wants him, * because he claimed 'I am the Son of God.' "

⁴⁵ From noon until three o'clock darkness covered the whole country.

⁴⁶ At about three o'clock Jesus shouted out loud, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?" which means, "My God, my God, why have you abandoned me?" †

⁴⁷ When some of those standing there heard it, they said, "He's calling for Elijah!"

⁴⁸ Immediately one of them ran and grabbed a sponge, soaked it in vinegar, put it on a stick, and gave it to Jesus to drink. ‡

⁴⁹ But the others said, "Leave him alone. Let's see if Elijah will come and save him."

⁵² and the graves were opened. Many of those who had lived good lives and had fallen asleep in death were raised to life.

⁵³ After the resurrection of Jesus they went out from the graveyards into the holy city* where many people saw them.

§ 27:35 See Psalms 22:18. * 27:43 What makes this even worse is that they were quoting Scripture back at him: Psalms 22:8. † 27:46 Quoting Psalms 22:1. ‡ 27:48 See Psalms 69:21.

§ 27:50 The expression is a Hebrew one meaning that he died. * 27:53 Referring to Jerusalem.

⁵⁴ When the centurion and those with him who were guarding Jesus saw the earthquake and what happened, they were terrified, and said, "This really was the Son of God!"

⁵⁶ These included Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of the sons of Zebedee.

⁵⁷ When evening came, a rich man named Joseph, from Arimathea, (who was also a disciple of Jesus), ⁵⁸ went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Pilate ordered it to be handed over to him.

⁵⁹ Joseph took the body and wrapped it up in a fresh linen cloth,

⁶⁰ and placed it in his own new tomb, cut out of solid rock. He rolled a large stone across the entrance to the tomb, and left.

⁶¹ Mary Magdalene and the other Mary were there, sitting opposite the tomb.

⁶² The next day,[†] after the Preparation day, the chief priests and the Pharisees went together to see Pilate.

⁶³ They said to him, "Sir, we recall that the imposter said while he was still alive, 'After three days, I'll rise again.'

⁶⁴ Give orders to secure the tomb until the third day. That way his disciples can't come and steal his body and tell people that he was raised from the dead, and the deception in the end will become worse than it was at first."

⁶⁵ "I'll give you a guard of soldiers," Pilate told them. "Now go, and make it as secure as you possibly can."

⁶⁶ So they went and made the tomb secure, sealing the entrance stone and posting soldiers as guards.

28

² All of a sudden there was a tremendous earthquake, for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and rolled away the stone, and sat on it.

⁴ The guards shook with fear, falling down as if they were dead.

⁵ The angel told the women, "Don't be afraid! I know you're looking for Jesus, who was crucified.

⁶ He's not here. He's risen from the dead, just as he said he would. Come and see where the Lord was lying.

⁷ Now go quickly and tell his disciples that he's risen from the dead and that he's going on ahead of you to Galilee. You will see him there, I promise you!"

⁹ Suddenly Jesus came to meet them, and greeted them. They went over to him, held onto his feet and worshiped him.

[†] 27:62 Referring to the Sabbath.

¹⁰ Then Jesus said to them, "Don't be afraid! Go and tell my brothers to leave for Galilee, and they will see me there."

¹¹ As they left, some of the guards went into the city and explained to the chief priests everything that had happened.

¹² After the chief priests had met with the elders, and worked out a plan, they bribed the soldiers with a great deal of money.

¹³ "Say that his disciples came during the night and stole him while we were sleeping," they told the soldiers.

¹⁴ "And if the governor hears about this, we'll talk to him and you won't have to worry."

¹⁵ So the soldiers took the money and did what they were told. This story has been spread among the Jewish people to this very day.

¹⁶ But the eleven disciples went to Galilee, to the mountain where Jesus had told them to go.

¹⁷ When they saw him they worshiped him, though some doubted.

¹⁸ Jesus came to them and told them, "All power in heaven and on earth has been given to me.

¹⁹ So go and make disciples of people of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.

²⁰ Teach them to follow all the commands I have given you. Remember, I am always with you, to the very end of the world."

Mark

² Just as the prophet Isaiah wrote, "I'm sending my messenger ahead of you to prepare your way.

⁵ Everybody from the country of Judea and from Jerusalem went to him. They admitted their sins publicly and were baptized in the Jordan River.

⁷ This is what he had to say: "After me someone is coming who is greater than I am. I'm not worthy to bend down and untie his sandals.

⁸ I baptized you in water but he will baptize you in the Holy Spirit."

⁹ Then Jesus came from Nazareth in Galilee and was baptized by John in the Jordan River.

¹¹ A voice from heaven said, "You are my son, the one I love. I am very pleased with you."

¹³ where he was tempted by Satan for forty days. He was with the wild animals, and angels took care of him.

¹⁴ Later, after John was arrested, Jesus went to Galilee, announcing God's good news.

¹⁵ "The time predicted has come," he said. "God's kingdom has arrived!" Repent and believe in the good news."

¹⁶ As he was walking beside the Sea of Galilee, Jesus saw Simon and his brother Andrew throwing a net into the water, for they made their living by fishing.

¹⁷ "Come and follow me," he told them, "and I will have you fishing for people."

¹⁸ They left their nets at once and followed him.

¹⁹ He went a little farther and saw James and his brother John, the sons of Zebedee. They were in a boat mending their nets.

²⁰ Immediately he called them to follow him,[†] and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired workers, and followed Jesus.

* 1:3 See Malachi 3:1 and Isaiah 40:3. † 1:4 Repentance means a "change of mind," but here also reflects the Old testament prophets' call to return to the Lord as his people and to renounce false religious ideas and evil practices. ‡ 1:6 Most likely locust beans rather than the insect. § 1:10

Or "into." * 1:15 Even "God's rule has been inaugurated!" The kingdom is not to be seen as a territory in the usual sense, but God's kingship and rule being restored through the coming of Jesus. Note also that the verb tense indicates that the kingdom is not merely close, but that it has arrived in the person of Jesus. This adds urgency to the response of repentance. † 1:20 Implied.

22 The people were amazed at his teaching, for he spoke with authority, unlike the religious teachers.‡

23 Suddenly, right there in the synagogue, a man with an evil spirit started shouting out,

24 “Jesus of Nazareth, why are you bothering us? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are! You’re God’s Holy One!”

25 Jesus interrupted the evil spirit, telling him, “Be quiet! Come out of him.”

26 The evil spirit screamed, threw the man into convulsions, and came out of him.

27 Everyone was amazed at what happened. “What is this?” they asked each other. “What is this new teaching that has such authority? Even evil spirits do what he tells them!”

28 News about him spread quickly throughout the whole region of Galilee.

29 Then they left the synagogue and went to the home of Simon and Andrew, along with James and John.

30 Simon’s mother-in-law was sick in bed with a fever, so they told Jesus about her.

32 After sunset that evening, those who were sick and demon-possessed were brought to Jesus.

33 The whole of the town gathered outside.

34 He healed many people who had various diseases, and threw out many demons. He did not permit the demons to speak, for they knew who he was.

35 Very early in the morning, while it was still dark, Jesus got up and went alone to a quiet place to pray.

36 Simon and the others went to search for him.

37 When they found him, they told him, “Everybody’s looking for you.”

38 But Jesus replied, “We have to go to the other towns around here so that I can tell them the good news as well—for that’s why I came.”

39 So he went all over Galilee, speaking in the synagogues and expelling demons.

40 A leper came to him asking for help. The man kneeled down before Jesus, saying, “Please, if you’re willing, you can heal me!”

41 With compassion Jesus reached out and touched the man, and said, “I am willing. Be healed!”

43 Jesus sent him away with a strong warning.

44 “Make sure you don’t tell anybody anything about this,” he told him. “Go to the priest and show yourself to him. Give the offering which is required by the law of Moses for such cleansing, so that people will have proof.”§

‡ 1:22 “Religious teachers” or “scribes.” These were more than “scribes” in the writing sense. These were men who had authority in interpreting Scripture and spent time instructing people in the requirements of the religious law. § 1:44 See Leviticus 14.

⁴⁵ But the healed leper went out and told everyone what had happened. As a result Jesus could not openly go into the cities anymore, but had to stay out in the country where people came to him from everywhere around.

¹ A few days later Jesus returned home to Capernaum, and news spread that he was there.

² So many people crowded inside the house that it was packed, even outside the door, as Jesus told them the message.*

³ Four men had brought a man who was paralyzed,

⁴ but they could not get near Jesus because of the crowds. So they went up on the roof and took it apart. After they had made an opening above Jesus, they lowered down the mat with the paralyzed man lying on it.

⁶ Some of the religious teachers sitting there thought to themselves,

⁷ "Why is he talking like this? He is blaspheming! Who can forgive sins? Only God can do that!"

⁸ Jesus knew right away what they were thinking. He said to them, "Why are you thinking like this?"

⁹ What's easier: to say to the paralyzed man, 'Your sins are forgiven,' or 'Get up, pick up your mat, and walk'?

¹¹ I say to you (the paralyzed man), 'Get up, pick up your mat, and go home.' "

¹² He stood up, picked up his mat, and walked out in front of everyone there. They were all amazed, and praised God, saying "We've never ever seen anything like this!"

¹⁴ As he walked along, he saw Levi son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax-collector's booth.

"Follow me," Jesus told him. Levi got up and followed Jesus.

¹⁵ That evening Jesus ate dinner at Levi's house. Many tax collectors and "sinners"† joined Jesus and his disciples for the meal, for there were many of these people that followed Jesus.

¹⁶ When the religious leaders of the Pharisees saw Jesus eating with such people, they asked Jesus' disciples, "Why does he eat with tax collectors and sinners?"

¹⁷ When Jesus heard this, he told them, "It's not healthy people who need a doctor, but those who are sick. I haven't come to invite those who live right, but those who don't—the sinners."

¹⁸ Now John's disciples and the Pharisees were fasting.‡ Some of them came to Jesus, and asked him, "Why is it that John's disciples and the Pharisees fast, but your disciples don't?"

* 2:2 Literally, "the word," here used for the first time to mean the message of God's good news.

† 2:15 "Sinners" here refers to those who were not seen as so strict in their keeping of the religious law as the religious teachers and the Pharisees.

‡ 2:18 Fasting: choosing not to eat on certain days for religious reasons.

¹⁹ "Do wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them?" Jesus asked them. "No. While the bridegroom's with them, they can't fast.

²⁰ But the day is coming when the bridegroom will be taken from them, and then they'll fast.

²¹ No one puts a patch that's not shrunk on old clothes. Otherwise the new piece will shrink away from the old, and make the tear worse.

²² No one puts new wine in old wineskins. Otherwise the wine will burst the wineskins, and both the wine and wineskins will be wasted. No. You put new wine in new wineskins."

²³ One Sabbath day as Jesus was walking through the grain fields, his disciples started picking heads of grain as they walked along.

²⁵ "Haven't you ever read what David did when he and his men were hungry and in need?" Jesus asked them.

²⁶ "He went into God's house when Abiathar was high priest, and ate the consecrated bread which no one except the priests are permitted to eat, and gave it to his men too."

²⁸ "So the Son of man is Lord even of the Sabbath."

¹ Jesus went to the synagogue again. A man was there who had a crippled hand.

² Some of those there were watching Jesus to see if he would heal the man on the Sabbath, because they were looking for a reason to accuse him of breaking the law.

⁴ "Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath, or to do evil? Should you save life, or should you kill?" he asked them. But they didn't say a word.

⁵ He looked around at them in exasperation, very upset by their hard-hearted attitude. Then he told the man, "Hold out your hand." The man held out his hand, and it was healed.

⁷ Meanwhile Jesus returned to the Sea,* and a large crowd followed him. They were from Galilee, Judea,

⁸ Jerusalem, Idumea, Transjordan, and from the regions of Tyre and Sidon. So many people came to see him because they'd heard all he was doing.

⁹ Jesus told his disciples to have a small boat ready in case the crowd crushed him,

¹¹ Whenever the evil spirits saw him they would fall down in front of him and shout out, "You are the Son of God!"

¹² But he commanded them not to reveal who he was.

* 3:7 Of Galilee.

¹³ Then Jesus went away to the hill country. He called those he wanted to be with him, and they came to him.

¹⁴ He chose twelve to be with him, and called them apostles. They were to be with him, and he would send them out to announce the good news, and with the authority to drive out demons.

¹⁶ These are the twelve he chose: Simon (whom he called Peter),

¹⁷ James the son of Zebedee and his brother John (who he called Boanerges, meaning “sons of thunder”),

¹⁸ Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Revolutionary,

¹⁹ and Judas Iscariot (who betrayed him).

²⁰ Jesus went home, but such a large crowd gathered again that he and his disciples didn't even have time to eat.

²¹ When Jesus' family[†] heard about it, they came to take him away, saying, “He's lost his senses!”

²² But the religious leaders from Jerusalem said, “He's possessed by Beelzebub! It's by the ruler of demons that he's driving out demons!”

²³ But Jesus called them over to him. Using illustrations[‡] he asked them, “How can Satan throw out Satan?”

²⁴ A kingdom fighting itself can't continue.

²⁵ A household that's divided is doomed.

²⁶ If Satan is divided and fights against himself, he won't last long—he'll soon come to an end.

²⁷ Clearly, if someone breaks into the house of a strong man and tries to take his things, he won't get far in his theft unless he ties up the strong man first.”

²⁸ “I tell you the truth: all sins and blasphemies can be forgiven,

²⁹ but if people blaspheme by rejecting the Holy Spirit they can never be forgiven, because they are guilty of an eternal sin.”

³⁰ (Jesus said this[§] because they said, “He has an evil spirit.”)

³¹ Then Jesus' mother and brothers arrived. They waited outside and sent him a message, asking him to come out.

³² The crowd that was sitting around him told him, “Your mother and brothers are outside asking for you.”

³³ “Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?” he responded.

³⁴ Looking around at all those sitting there in a circle, he said, “Here is my mother! Here are my brothers!”

³⁵ Whoever does what God wants, they are my brother, and sister, and mother.”

4

¹ Jesus began teaching beside the Sea again. So many people came to listen to him that he climbed into a boat and sat in it on the water while the crowd listened from the shore.

³ “Listen,” he said. “A sower went out to sow.

⁴ Now as he was scattering the seeds, some fell on the path, and birds came and ate them up.

[†] 3:21 Literally, “those who were close to him.”

[‡] 3:23 Or “parables,” meaning analogies, comparisons, illustrations. § 3:30 Implied.

[‡] 3:23 Or “parables,” meaning analogies,

⁵ Other seeds fell on stony ground where there wasn't much earth. In the shallow soil the plants started growing quickly, but because the soil wasn't deep

⁷ Other seeds fell among thorns. The thorns grew up and choked the sprouting seeds, so they produced nothing.

⁸ Other seeds fell on good soil where they sprouted and grew. They produced a harvest of some thirty, some sixty, and some a hundred times what was planted.

⁹ If you have ears to hear, listen to what I'm saying."

¹¹ He told them, "The mystery of God's kingdom has been given to you to understand. But outsiders only have the stories, ¹² so that even though they see, they don't really 'see,' and even though they hear, they don't understand, otherwise they might turn to me and be forgiven."*

¹³ "Don't you understand this story?" Jesus asked them. "If you can't, how are you going to understand all the other stories?"

¹⁴ The sower sows the word.[†]

¹⁵ The seeds on the path where the word is sown illustrate those who hear the message, but then Satan immediately comes along and takes away the word that's been sown in them.

¹⁶ Likewise the seeds on the rocky ground illustrate those who hear the word, and happily accept it right away.

¹⁸ Those sown among the thorns illustrate those who hear the word,

²⁰ But the seeds sown on good soil illustrate those who hear the word, accept it, and are productive—producing thirty, sixty, and hundred times what was originally sown.

²¹ Who puts a lamp under a bucket, or beneath a bed?" Jesus asked them. "No, you put a lamp up on a lamp-stand.

²² Everything that is hidden will be revealed, and everything that is secret will be brought out into the open.

²³ If you have ears to hear, listen to what I'm saying!

²⁴ Pay attention to what you're hearing," he told them, "for you will be given according to how much you want to receive, measure for measure.

²⁵ More will be given to those who already have understanding, but those who don't want to know will have what little understanding they have taken from them.

²⁶ God's kingdom is like a man sowing seed in the ground," Jesus said.

²⁷ "He goes to bed and gets up, day after day, but the man has no knowledge of how the seeds sprout and grow.

²⁸ The earth produces a harvest by itself. First a shoot appears, then the heads of grain, and then the heads of grain ripen.

* 4:12 Quoting Isaiah 6:9-10. † 4:14 Word—or "message," the Word of God that Jesus came to bring. (See also John 1:1.)

²⁹ When the grain is ripe, the farmer reaps it with a sickle, because the harvest is ready.[‡]

³⁰ What can we compare God's kingdom to? What illustration shall we use?" he asked.

³¹ "It's like a mustard seed, the tiniest seed of all.

³² But when it's sown it grows into a plant that's larger than other plants. It has branches big enough that birds can roost in its shade."

³⁴ In fact, when he spoke publicly, he only used stories; however in private he explained everything to his disciples.

³⁵ Later that day, in the evening, he said to his disciples, "Let's go across to the other side of the Sea."

³⁶ Leaving the crowd behind, the disciples went with Jesus and got into a boat. Other boats went with them.

³⁸ Jesus was asleep in the stern, resting his head on a cushion. The disciples woke him up, shouting at him, "Teacher, don't you care that we're about to drown?"

³⁹ Jesus woke up. He told the wind to die down and told the waves, "Be quiet! Be still." The wind stopped, and the water became completely calm.

⁴¹ They were stunned and terrified.* They asked each other, "Who is this? Even the wind and the waves obey him!"

5

² When Jesus got out of the boat a man with an evil spirit came from the graveyard to meet him.

³ This man lived among the tombs, and it had been impossible to tie him up any more, even with a chain.

⁴ He had often been tied up with chains and shackles, but he simply tore the chains apart and broke the shackles into pieces. No one had the strength to subdue him.

⁵ Day and night he was always shouting out among the tombs and in the hills nearby, cutting himself with sharp stones.

⁶ Seeing Jesus from a distance he ran and kneeled in front of him.

⁷ In a loud voice he cried out, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of Almighty God? Swear by God that you won't torture me!"

⁸ For Jesus had already told the evil spirit to leave the man.

⁹ Then Jesus asked him, "What is your name?"

"My name is Legion, because we are many!" he replied.

¹⁰ He also repeatedly pleaded with Jesus not to send them a long way away.*

[‡] 4:29 Possibly a reference to Joel 3:13. [§] 4:40 The word used is for cowards. * 4:41 Although the aspect of fear is usually brought out in translations, the text indicates that they had been frightened previously. Now they were amazed, in awe at what had happened, though no doubt still terrified. * 5:10 Literally, "out of the region."

¹² The evil spirits pleaded with him, "Send us into the pigs so we can enter them."

¹³ Jesus allowed them to do this. The evil spirits left the man and went into the pigs. The whole herd, about two thousand, rushed down the steep cliff into the sea and drowned.

¹⁶ Then those who had seen what had happened to the man who had been demon-possessed and the pigs told the others.

¹⁷ They began pleading with Jesus to leave their district.

¹⁸ As Jesus climbed into the boat, the man who had been demon-possessed begged to go with him.

¹⁹ But Jesus refused, telling him, "Go home to your own people, and tell them how much the Lord has done for you and how he has been merciful to you."

²⁰ So the man went on his way and began to tell the people of the Ten Cities everything Jesus had done for him, and everyone was amazed.

²¹ Jesus went back again by boat to the other side of the lake where a large crowd gathered around him at the shore.

²² A synagogue leader, a man named Jairus, came to him. When he saw Jesus, he fell at his feet

²³ and pleaded with him, saying, "My little daughter is about to die. Please come and place your hands on her so she may be healed and live."

²⁵ A woman was there who had been ill from bleeding for twelve years.

²⁶ She'd suffered considerably under the care of many doctors, and had spent all she had. But nothing helped her—in fact she'd grown worse.

²⁸ She was telling herself, "If I can just touch his cloak, I'll be healed."

²⁹ The bleeding stopped immediately, and she felt her body healed from her disease.

³⁰ Jesus, sensing at once that power had gone out from him, turned around in the crowd and asked, "Who touched my cloak?"

³¹ "Look at the crowd jostling you. What do you mean, 'Who touched me?' " the disciples replied.

³⁴ "My daughter, your trust in me has healed you. Go in peace. You have been completely cured of your disease," Jesus told her.

³⁵ While he was still speaking some people came from the home of the synagogue leader. "Your daughter is dead," they said. "You don't need to bother the Teacher any longer."

³⁶ But Jesus paid no attention to what they said. He told the synagogue leader, “Don’t be afraid, just trust in me.[†]”

³⁷ He wouldn’t let anyone go with him except Peter, James, and James’ brother John.

³⁸ When they arrived at the synagogue leader’s house, Jesus saw all the commotion, with people crying and wailing.

³⁹ He went in and asked them, “Why are you making such a commotion with all this crying? The little girl isn’t dead, she’s just sleeping.”

⁴⁰ They laughed scornfully at him.

Jesus made everyone leave. Then he went into the room where the little girl was lying, taking with him the child’s father and mother, and the three disciples.

⁴¹ Taking the little girl’s hand he said, “Talitha koum,” which means, “Little girl, get up!”

⁴³ He gave them strict instructions not to let anyone know, and he told them to give the little girl something to eat.

² On Sabbath he began teaching in the synagogue, and many of those who were listening were surprised.

“Where does he get these ideas?” they asked. “What’s this wisdom he’s been given? Where does he get the power to do miracles?”

³ Isn’t this the carpenter, Mary’s son—the brother of James, Joseph, Judas and Simon? Don’t his sisters live here among us?” They were offended and rejected him.*

⁴ “A prophet is treated with respect except in his home town, among his relatives, and within his own family,” Jesus told them.

⁵ The result was that Jesus could not do any miracles there, except to heal a few sick people.

⁶ He was amazed at their lack of trust.

Jesus traveled around the villages, teaching as he went.

⁷ He called together the twelve disciples, and began sending them out two by two, giving them authority over evil spirits.

⁸ He told them not to take anything with them except a walking stick—no bread, no bag, and no money in their belts.

¹⁰ “When you’re invited into a home, stay there until you leave,” he told them.

¹¹ “If you’re not welcomed and not listened to, then shake the dust from your feet as you leave as a sign you have given up on them.[†]”

¹² So they went around telling people to repent.

¹³ They drove out many demons, and healed many who were sick by anointing them with oil.

[†] 5:36 “In me,” implied. * 6:3 “And rejected him”—implied in the idea of taking offense. [†] 6:11 Literally, “a witness to them.” The act of shaking even the dust of the place from your feet was to indicate you completely abandoned them.

¹⁴ King Herod got to hear about Jesus since he had become well-known. Some said, "This is John the Baptist risen from the dead. That's why he has such miraculous powers."

¹⁵ Others said, "It's Elijah." Still others said, "He's a prophet, like one of the prophets of the past."

¹⁶ But when Herod heard about it, he said, "It's John, the one I beheaded! He's come back from the dead!"

¹⁷ For Herod had given orders to arrest and imprison John because of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife, whom Herod had married.

¹⁸ John had been saying to Herod, "It's against the law to marry your brother's wife."

¹⁹ So Herodias had a grudge against John and wanted him killed. But she wasn't able to arrange it

²¹ Herodias had her opportunity on Herod's birthday. He gave a banquet for the nobles, military officers, and important leaders of Galilee.

²² Herodias' daughter came in and danced for them. Herod and those eating with him were delighted at her performance, so he told the girl,

²³ "Ask me for whatever you like, and I'll give it to you." He confirmed his promise with an oath, "I'll give you up to half my kingdom."

²⁵ The girl hurried back in and said to the king, "I want you to give me right now the head of John the Baptist on a plate."

²⁶ The king was very upset, but because of the oaths he'd made in front of his guests, he didn't want to refuse her.

²⁷ So he immediately sent an executioner to bring him John's head. After beheading him in the prison,

²⁸ the executioner brought John's head on a plate and gave it to the girl, and the young girl handed it to her mother.

³⁰ The apostles returned[‡] and gathered around Jesus. They told him all they had done and what they had taught.

³¹ "Come with me, just yourselves. We'll go to a quiet place, and rest for a while," Jesus told them, because there was so much coming and going that they didn't even have time to eat.

³² So they went by boat to a quiet place to be alone.

³⁴ When Jesus got off the boat he saw a huge crowd, and he felt pity for them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd. So he began to teach them about many things.

³⁵ It was getting late in the day and Jesus' disciples came to him. They told him, "We're miles from anywhere, and it's really late."

³⁶ You should tell the people to go and buy themselves something to eat in the villages and countryside nearby."

³⁷ But Jesus replied, “You give them something to eat.”

“What? We’d need more than six month’s pay[§] to buy bread to feed all these people,” the disciples replied.

³⁸ “Well, how much bread do you have?” Jesus asked. “Go and see.”

They went and checked, and told him, “Five loaves, and a couple of fish.”

³⁹ Jesus told everyone to sit down in groups on the green grass.

⁴⁰ They sat in groups of hundreds and fifties.

⁴¹ Then he took the five loaves and the two fish. Looking up to heaven he blessed the food and broke the bread into pieces. Then he handed the bread to the disciples to give to the people, and he divided the fish up between all of them.

⁴² Everyone ate until they were full.

⁴⁴ A total of five thousand men plus their families ate the food.

⁴⁵ Immediately after this Jesus instructed his disciples to get back into the boat. They were to go on ahead to Bethsaida on the other side of the lake while he sent the people on their way.

⁴⁸ He could see them being buffeted about as they rowed hard because the wind was blowing against them. In the early morning hours Jesus came to them, walking on the water. He would have passed them,

⁴⁹ but when they saw him walking on the water they thought he was a ghost. They screamed out

⁵⁰ because they could all see him and were absolutely terrified.

⁵¹ He went over to them and climbed into the boat, and the wind died down. They were totally shocked,

⁵² for they hadn’t understood the meaning of the feeding miracle due to their stubborn, hard-hearted attitude.

⁵³ After crossing the Sea they arrived at Gennesaret and moored the boat.

⁵⁴ As they climbed out, the people immediately recognized Jesus.

⁵⁶ Wherever he went, in the villages, in the towns, or in the countryside, they put the sick in the marketplaces and begged Jesus to let the sick touch just the edge of his clothes. Everyone who touched him was healed.

7

⁴ In the same way, they don't eat when they return from the market until they have had a wash. They observe many other rituals, like the washing of cups, pots, and pans.)*

⁵ So the Pharisees and religious leaders asked Jesus, "Why don't your disciples follow the tradition of our ancestors? They eat food† with unclean hands."

⁶ Jesus replied, "Isaiah was right about you hypocrites when he said, 'These people claim they honor me, but in their thinking they are far from me.'

⁷ There's no point in their worship of me, for what they teach as doctrines are merely human rules.‡

⁸ You disregard God's law, and instead you carefully observe human traditions," he told them.

¹⁰ Moses said, 'Honor your father and mother,' and 'Whoever curses their father or mother should die.'§

¹¹ But you say that if someone tells their father or mother, 'Anything you might have received from me is now Corban,' (that means dedicated to God),

¹² then you don't permit them to do anything further for their mother or father.

¹³ By means of this tradition of yours that you pass down, you make God's word null and void. You do many other things like this."

¹⁴ Jesus called the crowd to him again and told them, "Please, everyone listen to me and understand.

¹⁵ It's not what's on the outside and goes into you that makes you unclean. It's what comes out that makes you unclean."

¹⁶ *

¹⁷ Then Jesus went inside to escape the crowd, and his disciples asked him about his illustration.

¹⁸ "Don't you understand it either?" he asked them. "Don't you see that what you eat doesn't make you unclean?"

¹⁹ It doesn't go into your mind, but into your stomach, and then passes out of the body. So all foods are ceremonially 'clean.'†

²⁰ It's what comes out of you that makes you unclean.

²¹ It's from the inside, from people's minds, that evil thoughts come: sexual immorality, theft, murder, adultery,

²³ all these evils come from inside and defile people."

²⁴ Then Jesus left and went to the region of Tyre. He didn't want anyone to know he was staying in a house there, but he couldn't keep it a secret.

²⁶ The woman was Greek, born in Syrophenicia. She begged Jesus to drive out the demon from her daughter.

* 7:4 While hygienic, the focus was on making sure everything was ceremonially clean. † 7:5 Literally, "bread." ‡ 7:7 Quoting Isaiah 29:13. § 7:10 Quoting Exodus 20:12 and Exodus 21:17.

* 7:16 The earliest manuscripts do not have verse 16. † 7:19 Some scholars believe this sentence is a later addition.

27 "First let the children eat until they're full," Jesus replied. "It's not right to take the children's food and throw it to the dogs."[‡]

28 "True, sir," she said, "but even the dogs under the table eat the scraps the children leave."

29 Jesus told her, "For such an answer you may go—the demon has left your daughter."

30 She went home and found the child lying on the bed, the demon gone.

31 Leaving the region of Tyre, Jesus passed through Sidon and then on to the Sea of Galilee and the territory of the Ten Cities.

32 There they brought him a deaf man who also could not speak properly. They asked Jesus to touch the man with his hand and heal him.

33 After Jesus took him aside from the crowd, Jesus put his fingers in the deaf man's ears. Then he touched the man's tongue with spit.

34 Jesus looked up to heaven and with a sigh he said, "Ephphatha,"[§] which means, "Open!"

35 The man's ears were opened, his speech impediment was gone, and he began speaking properly.

36 Jesus gave strict orders not to tell anyone, but the more he said this, the more they spread the news.

37 They were totally amazed and said, "Everything he does is marvelous. He even makes the deaf hear, and the dumb speak."

8

1 Around this time there was another large crowd that had nothing to eat. Jesus called the disciples together and told them,

2 "I feel for the crowd because they have already stayed with me for three days and they have nothing to eat.

3 If I send them home without food, they'll faint on the way. Some have come from a long way away."

5 "How many loaves do you have?" he asked.

"Seven," they replied.

6 He told the crowd to sit down on the ground. Then he took the seven loaves of bread, and gave thanks. He broke the bread and handed the pieces to his disciples to give to the crowd.

7 They had a few fish as well, so having blessed them, he said, "Take these and share them too."

8 They ate until they were full, and then collected up seven baskets of leftovers.

9 There were four thousand people there. After sending them on their way,

10 Jesus climbed into a boat with his disciples and went to the region of Dalmanutha.

11 The Pharisees arrived and began to argue with him, wanting him to give them a miraculous sign from heaven, trying to get him to prove himself.

12 Jesus sighed deeply, and asked, "Why do you people* want a sign? I

[‡] 7:27 Or puppies, small dogs. [§] 7:34 This is the Aramaic word meaning "cause to be open."

* 8:12 Literally, "this generation."

tell you the truth: I will not give you a sign.”

¹⁴ But the disciples had forgotten to bring bread with them. All they had in the boat was one loaf.

¹⁵ “Watch out—beware of the yeast of the Pharisees and of Herod!” he warned them.

¹⁶ “He’s saying that because we don’t have any bread,” they concluded.

¹⁷ Jesus knew what they were saying, and said, “Why are you talking about not having any bread? Are you still not thinking and not understanding? Have you closed your minds?[†]”

¹⁸ You’ve got eyes to see, haven’t you? And ears to hear?[‡]

¹⁹ Don’t you remember when I shared five loaves among five thousand? How many basketfuls of leftovers did you pick up?”

“Twelve,” they replied.

²⁰ “And the seven loaves divided among four thousand. How many basketfuls of leftovers did you pick up?”

²¹ “Do you still not understand?” he asked them.

²² They went to Bethsaida where some people brought a blind man to Jesus. They begged Jesus to touch him and heal him.

²³ Jesus took the blind man by the hand and took him outside the village. Jesus spat on the man’s eyes and touched him with his hands.

Then Jesus asked him, “Can you see anything?”

²⁴ The man looked around, and said, “I can see people, but they look like trees walking.”

²⁶ Jesus sent the man home, and told him, “Don’t go back through the village.”[§]

²⁷ Jesus and his disciples left to go to the villages of Caesarea Philippi. On the way he asked his disciples, “Who do people say I am?”

²⁹ “But who do you say I am?” he asked them.

“You are the Messiah!” Peter answered.

³⁰ Jesus warned them not to tell anybody about him.

³¹ Then Jesus began to explain to them that the Son of man would suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, chief priests, and religious teachers. He would be killed, but three days later would rise again.

³² Jesus explained this to them very clearly. But Peter took Jesus aside and started to reprimand him for what he said.

³³ Jesus turned around and looking at his disciples, reprimanded Peter. “Get away from me, Satan,” he said. “You’re not thinking as God thinks, but as human beings do.”

[†] 8:17 Literally, “Have you hardened your hearts?” [‡] 8:18 An Old Testament expression: see Deuteronomy 29:4, Isaiah 42:20, Jeremiah 5:21, and Ezekiel 12:2. [§] 8:26 In other words, do not spread the news of what has happened.

³⁴ Jesus called the crowd and his disciples over to him, and told them, “If you want to follow me, you must give up on yourselves, pick up your cross and follow me.

³⁵ If you want to save your life you will lose it, but if you lose your life because of me and the good news you will save it.

³⁶ What use is it for you to gain everything in the whole world, and lose your life?

³⁷ What would you give in exchange for your life?

³⁸ If you're ashamed to acknowledge* me and what I say among this unfaithful and sinful people,† then the Son of man will be ashamed to acknowledge you when he comes with his Father's glory with the holy angels.”

9

² Six days later Jesus took Peter, James, and John with him, and led them up a high mountain to be by themselves. His appearance totally changed.

⁴ Then Elijah and Moses appeared in front of them as well, talking with Jesus.

⁵ Peter spoke up and said, “Rabbi, it's great for us to be here! We should make three shelters—one each for you, Moses, and Elijah.”

⁶ (He really didn't know what to say because they were all so frightened!)

⁷ Then a cloud covered* them, and a voice came from the cloud, saying, “This is my Son, the one I love. Listen to him.”

⁸ Then, all of a sudden, as they were watching, there was nobody. Only Jesus was with them.

⁹ As they came down the mountain Jesus instructed them not to tell anyone what they'd seen until the Son of man had risen from the dead.

¹⁰ They kept this to themselves, but they did argue with each other over what it meant to rise from the dead.

¹² “It's true that Elijah comes first to prepare everything,” Jesus replied. “But why then does it say in Scripture that the Son of man has to suffer so much and be treated with contempt?”

¹³ However, I tell you that Elijah has come, and they abused him in whatever way they wanted, just as Scripture said they would.”

¹⁵ As soon as the crowd saw Jesus they were in total awe, and ran to greet him.

¹⁶ “What are you arguing with them about?” Jesus asked them.

¹⁷ One of the people in the crowd answered, “Rabbi, I brought my son to you. He has an evil spirit that prevents him speaking.

* 8:38 “Ashamed to acknowledge me,” or, “do not take your stand for me.” † 8:38 Literally, “generation.” * 9:7 Or “overshadowed.”

18 Whenever he has a seizure it throws him down, and he foams at the mouth, grinds his teeth, and he becomes rigid. I asked your disciples to drive it out of him, but they couldn't do it."

19 "You unbelieving people!" Jesus responded. "How long must I remain here with you? How long do I have to put up with you? Bring him over here to me!"

20 So they brought him to Jesus. When the evil spirit saw Jesus it immediately sent the boy into convulsions and threw him on the ground, where he rolled around, foaming at the mouth.

21 "How long has he had this?" Jesus asked the boy's father.

"Since he was small," the father replied.

22 "Often it throws him into the fire to burn him to death, or throws him into water to drown him. Please have mercy on us and help, if you can."

23 "Why do you say,† 'if you can?' " replied Jesus. "Whoever trusts has every power!"

24 "I do trust in you," the man shouted out right away. "Help me not to distrust you."

25 Jesus, seeing that the crowd was closing in,‡ commanded the evil spirit, "Spirit that causes deafness and dumbness, I order you to come out of him and never return."

26 The spirit screamed and threw the boy into severe convulsions. Then the spirit came out of the boy and left him for dead—to the extent that many of the people said, "He's dead."

27 But Jesus took the boy by the hand and helped him up, and he got to his feet.

28 Later, when Jesus had gone indoors, his disciples asked him in private, "Why couldn't we drive the evil spirit out?"

29 "This kind can't be driven out except by prayer," Jesus told them.

30 They left and passed through Galilee. Jesus didn't want anyone to know where he was

31 because he was teaching his disciples.§ "The Son of man will be betrayed to human authorities," he told them. "They will kill him, but three days later he will rise again."

32 They didn't understand what he meant and were too afraid to ask him about it.

33 They arrived at Capernaum, and once they were inside the house where they were staying, Jesus asked them, "What were you talking about on the way?"

34 But they didn't say anything because they had been arguing over who was the most important.

35 Jesus sat down and called the twelve disciples together. "If anyone wants to be first, he has to be the very last, the servant of everyone else," he told them.

36 He took a small child and had the child stand right in the middle of them. Then he picked up and hugged the child, and told them,

37 "Whoever welcomes a child like this in my name, welcomes me, and whoever welcomes me doesn't welcome me but the one who sent me."

† 9:23 Implied. Jesus was asking why the man said to him, "if you can," which suggested doubt as to what Jesus could do. ‡ 9:25 Or "running together." This word is only used once in the New Testament.

§ 9:31 In other words, he wanted to spend time teaching his disciples.

³⁸ John said to Jesus, "Rabbi, we saw someone driving out demons in your name. We tried to stop him because he wasn't one of us."

³⁹ "Don't stop him," Jesus replied. "For no one who is doing miracles in my name can curse me at the same time."

⁴⁰ Anyone who is not against us is for us.

⁴¹ Anyone who gives a cup of water to you in my name, because you belong to Christ, won't lose their reward, believe me.

⁴² But if anyone leads one of these little ones who trust in me into sin, it would be better for them if they were thrown into the sea with a large millstone tied around their neck.

⁴³ If your hand leads you to sin, cut it off! It's better to enter eternal life as a cripple than to go with both hands into Gehenna*, into the fire that can't be put out.

⁴⁵ If your foot causes you to sin, cut it off! It's better to enter eternal life lame than to be thrown into Gehenna still having two feet.

⁴⁷ If your eye causes you to sin, gouge it out! It's better to enter the kingdom of God with just one eye than to be thrown into Gehenna still having both eyes,

⁴⁹ Everybody will be 'salted' by fire.

⁵⁰ Salt is good, but if it loses its taste, how could you make it salty again? You need to be like salt, and live in peace with one another."

10

¹ Jesus left Capernaum and went to the region of Judea and Transjordan. Once again people flocked to see him, and he was teaching them like he always did.

² Some Pharisees came to see him. They tried to test him by asking the question, "Is divorce legal?"

³ "What did Moses tell you to do?" he asked in reply.

⁴ "Moses allowed a man to write a certificate of divorce and send the woman away,"* they replied.

⁵ Then Jesus told them, "Moses only wrote down this rule for you because of your hard-hearted attitude.

⁶ However, in the beginning, from creation, God made male and female.

⁷ That's why a man leaves his father and mother and is joined in marriage to his wife,

⁸ and the two become one body. They are no longer two but one.†

⁹ Let no one separate what God has joined together."

¹⁰ When they were back indoors, the disciples began asking him about this.

* 9:43 The word used here is Literally, "Gehenna," sometimes translated "hell" or "hellfire." Gehenna was the place outside of Jerusalem where fires were lit to dispose of rubbish by burning. "Hell" is a concept that is derived from Nordic and Anglo-Saxon mythology and does not adequately convey the meaning here. † 9:44 Verse 44 is not found in the early manuscripts. ‡ 9:46 Verse

46 is not found in the early manuscripts. * 10:4 See Deuteronomy 24:1. † 10:8 See Genesis 2:24.

11 “Any man who divorces his wife and marries again commits adultery against her,” he told them.

13 Some people brought their children to Jesus so that he could bless them, but the disciples told them off and tried to keep the children away from Jesus.

14 But when Jesus saw what they were doing, he became very upset and told them, “Let the children come to me! Don’t stop them, for the kingdom of God belongs to those who are like these children.

15 I tell you the truth, anyone who doesn’t welcome the kingdom of God like a child won’t enter it.”

16 He hugged the children, placed his hands on them, and blessed them.

17 As Jesus set out on his journey,[‡] a man came running over and knelt down before Jesus. “Good teacher, what should I do to make sure I have eternal life?” he asked.

18 “Why do you call me good?” Jesus asked him. “No one is good, only God.

19 You know the commandments: you shall not murder, you shall not commit adultery, you shall not steal, you shall not give false testimony, you shall not cheat, honor your father and mother...”[§]

21 Jesus looked at him with love and said, “You’re only missing one thing. Go and sell everything you own, give the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come and follow me.”

22 At this, the man’s face fell, and he left feeling very sad, for he was very wealthy.

23 Jesus looked around, and said to his disciples, “It’s only with difficulty that wealthy people enter the kingdom of God!”

24 The disciples were shocked at this. But Jesus went on, “My friends, it is difficult to enter God’s kingdom.

26 The disciples were even more confused. “Then who on earth can be saved?” they asked one another.

28 Peter spoke up, “We’ve left everything to follow you...”

29 “I tell you the truth,” Jesus replied, “anyone who has left behind their home or brothers or sisters or mother or father or children or lands because of me, and for the sake of the good news,

30 will receive in return in due course a hundred times as many homes and brothers and sisters and children and lands—as well as persecution. In the world to come they will receive eternal life.

31 However, many of the first will be last, and the last first.”

32 They continued on their way to Jerusalem, with Jesus walking on ahead. The disciples were apprehensive and the other followers were afraid. So Jesus took the disciples aside and began to explain to them what was about to happen to him.

³³ “We’re going to Jerusalem,” he told them, “and the Son of man will be betrayed to the chief priests and religious teachers. They will condemn him to death and hand him over to the foreigners.*

³⁴ They will mock him, spit on him, flog him, and kill him. But three days later he will rise again.”

³⁵ James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to see him.

“Teacher,” they said, “We want you to do for us whatever we ask you.”

³⁶ “So what do you want me to do for you?” Jesus replied.

³⁷ “When you’re victorious and sit on your throne,[†] make sure we sit beside you, one on the right, the other on the left,” they told him.

³⁸ “You don’t know what you’re asking,” replied Jesus. “Can you drink the cup I drink? Can you be baptized with the baptism of pain I will suffer?”

³⁹ “Yes, we can,” they replied.

“You will drink the cup I drink, and you will be baptized with the same baptism as me,” Jesus told them.

⁴⁰ “But it’s not for me to grant who should sit on my right or on my left. These places are reserved for those for whom they have been prepared.”

⁴¹ When the other ten disciples heard about this, they started getting upset with James and John.

⁴² Jesus called the disciples together and told them, “You realize that those who claim to rule over nations oppress their people. The rulers act like tyrants.

⁴⁴ and anyone who wants to be first among you must be the slave of all of you.

⁴⁵ For even the Son of man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.”

⁴⁶ Jesus and his disciples passed through Jericho, and as they were leaving town, accompanied by a large crowd, Bartimaeus,[‡] a blind beggar, was sitting at the roadside.

⁴⁷ When he heard it was Jesus of Nazareth, he started shouting out, “Jesus, son of David, please have mercy on me!”

⁴⁸ Lots of people told him to be quiet, but that only made him shout even more, “Jesus, son of David, please have mercy on me!”

⁴⁹ Jesus stopped, and said, “Tell him to come here.” So they called him over, telling him, “Good news![§] Get up. He’s calling for you.”

⁵¹ “What do you want me to do for you?” Jesus asked him.

“Teacher,” he said to Jesus, “I want to see!”

⁵² “You can go. Your trust in me has healed* you.” Immediately Bartimaeus could see and he followed Jesus as he went on his way.

* 10:33 In this context meaning the Romans. † 10:37 Implied. ‡ 10:46 For his non-Jewish readers Mark also adds that Bartimaeus means the “son of Timaeus.” § 10:49 Literally, “take courage.” * 10:52 Or “saved.” The word can mean both “save” and “heal.”

² He told them, "Go into the village ahead of you, and as soon as you enter, you'll find a colt tied up that no one has ever ridden before. Untie it and bring it here.

³ If anyone asks you what you are doing, tell them, 'The Lord needs it and will send it back soon.' "

⁴ So they set off, and found a colt tied to a door, out on the street, and they untied it.

⁵ Some of the people standing around asked, "What are you doing, untying that colt?"

⁷ They brought the colt to Jesus, put their cloaks on it, and Jesus sat on it.

¹⁰ Bless the kingdom of our father David that is coming! Hosanna in the highest!"†

¹¹ Jesus entered Jerusalem and went in to the Temple. He looked around him, observing everything, and then, since it was getting late, he returned to Bethany with the twelve disciples.

¹³ From some distance away he saw a fig tree with leaves, so he went over to it to see if it had any fruit. But when he got there, he found it had only leaves, because it was not the season for figs.

¹⁵ They arrived back in Jerusalem, and Jesus went into the Temple. He started driving out the people who were buying and selling in the Temple. He overturned the tables of the money-changers and the chairs of the people selling doves.

¹⁶ He stopped anyone carrying things through the Temple.

¹⁷ He explained to them, "Doesn't Scripture say, 'My house will be called a house of prayer for all nations'?‡ But you have turned it into a den of thieves!"§

¹⁸ The chief priests and religious teachers heard what had happened, and tried to find a way to kill Jesus. But they were afraid of him, for everyone was so impressed by his teaching.

²⁰ The following morning as they returned, they saw the fig tree, withered from the roots up.

²¹ Peter remembered what Jesus had done, and said to him, "Rabbi, look, the fig tree that you cursed has withered."

* 11:9 "Hosanna!" This is simply a transliteration of the Aramaic word meaning "Save!" † 11:10 Quoting Psalms 118:26. ‡ 11:17 Quoting Isaiah 56:7. § 11:17 Quoting Jeremiah 7:11.

²² “Trust in God,” Jesus replied.

²³ “Believe me when I say to you that if you told this mountain, ‘Get out of here and be thrown into the sea,’ and you don’t doubt in your heart, but are convinced about what you’re asking, then it will happen!

²⁵ But when you’re praying, if you have something against someone, forgive them, so that your Father in heaven may also forgive you your sins.”

²⁸ “By what authority are you doing all this?” they demanded. “Who gave you the right?”

²⁹ “Let me ask you a question,” Jesus told them. “You answer me, and I’ll tell you by whose authority I do these things.

³⁰ John’s baptism—did that come from heaven, or from people?”

³¹ They discussed it among themselves. They said, “If we say it’s from heaven, he’ll reply, ‘So why didn’t you believe him?’

³² But if we say, it’s of human origin, well...” They were afraid of the crowd, because everyone believed that John was a true prophet.

³³ So they answered Jesus, “We don’t know.”

“Then I’m not telling you by whose authority I do these things,” replied Jesus.

12

“Once there was a man who planted a vineyard. He put a fence around it, dug a pit for a winepress, and built a watchtower. Then he leased it to some farmers, and left on a journey.

³ But they grabbed hold of him, beat him up, and sent him away with nothing.

⁴ So the man sent another servant. They hit him over the head and abused him.

⁵ He sent another servant, and this one they killed. He sent many other servants, and they beat some of them and killed others.

⁶ In the end the only one left was his son whom he loved, and eventually he sent him, thinking ‘they will respect my son.’

⁷ But the farmers said to themselves, ‘Here’s the owner’s heir—if we kill him, we can get what he would have inherited!’

⁸ So they took him and killed him, and threw him out of the vineyard.

⁹ Now what is the owner of the vineyard going to do? He will come and kill those farmers, and then he will lease the vineyard to others.

¹⁰ Haven’t you even read this Scripture: ‘The stone rejected by the builders has become the chief cornerstone.

* 11:26 The earliest manuscripts do not contain verse 26, which is inserted from Matthew 6:15.

* 12:1 See on 3:23.

¹¹ This is from the Lord, and it's marvelous to see!'"[†]

¹³ Later they sent some Pharisees with some of Herod's supporters to Jesus in an attempt to catch him out by what he said.

¹⁴ They arrived and said, "Teacher, we know you are a truthful person and you don't look for approval, because you don't care about status or position.[‡] Instead you teach God's way in accordance with the truth. So is it right to pay tribute to Caesar or not?"

¹⁵ Should we pay up, or should we refuse?"

Jesus, realizing how hypocritical they were, asked them, "Why are you trying to catch me out? Bring me a coin to look at."

¹⁶ They gave him a coin. "Whose is this image, and whose inscription?" Jesus asked them. "Caesar's," they replied.

¹⁷ "Then give back to Caesar what belongs to him, and give back to God what belongs to him," Jesus told them. They were amazed at his reply.

¹⁸ Then the Sadducees, who deny the resurrection, came and asked a question:

¹⁹ "Teacher, Moses instructed us that if a man dies, leaving his widow childless, then his brother should marry his wife, and have children by her on his behalf.[§]

²⁰ Once there were seven brothers. The first one got married, and then died without having children.

²¹ The second married his widow, and then died, childless. The third did the same.

²² In fact all seven died without having children. In the end the woman died too.

²³ In the resurrection, whose wife will she be, because she was the wife of all seven brothers?"

²⁵ When the dead rise, they don't marry, and aren't given in marriage. They're like the angels in heaven.

²⁶ But concerning the resurrection, haven't you read in Moses' writings the story of the burning bush, where God spoke to Moses and told him, 'I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?'"^{*}

²⁷ He's not the God of the dead, but of the living. You are completely mistaken!"

²⁸ One of the religious teachers came and heard them arguing. He recognized that Jesus had given them a good answer. So he asked him, "Which is the most important commandment of all?"

²⁹ Jesus replied, "The first commandment is, 'Hear, Israel, the Lord our God is one.

³⁰ Love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your spirit, with all your mind, and with all your strength.'[†]

³¹ The second is 'Love your neighbor as yourself.'[‡] There's no more important commandment than these.”

³² “That’s right, Teacher,” the man replied. “It’s true as you said that God is one, and there is no other.

³³ We are to love him with all our heart, all our understanding, and all our strength, and we are to love our neighbor as ourselves. This is far more important than offerings and sacrifices.”

³⁴ Jesus saw that he gave a thoughtful answer, and said, “You’re not far from the kingdom of God.” After this no one was brave enough to ask him any more questions.

³⁶ As David himself declared, inspired by the Holy Spirit, that the Lord said to my Lord, ‘Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies under your feet.’[§]

³⁷ Since David himself calls him Lord, how can he be David’s son?” The large crowd listened to what Jesus said with great delight.

³⁸ Jesus continued to teach them, saying, “Beware of religious leaders! They love to walk around in long robes, to be greeted respectfully in the marketplaces.

³⁹ They love to have the most important seats in the synagogues, and the best places at banquets.

⁴⁰ They cheat widows out of what they own,^{*} and cover up the kind of people they really are with long-winded prayers. They will receive severe condemnation in the judgment.”

⁴¹ Jesus sat down opposite the treasury collection box, watching people tossing in coins. Many of the rich were extravagantly throwing in a lot of money.

⁴² Then a poor widow came along and put in just two small coins.[†]

⁴³ He called his disciples together and told them, “I tell you the truth: this poor widow has put in more than all the rest together.

⁴⁴ All of them gave from their wealth what they had, but she gave from her poverty what she didn’t have. She put in all she had to live on.”

13

² “You see all these great buildings?” Jesus replied. “Not one stone will be left on top of another. Everything will be torn down.”

³ As Jesus sat on the Mount of Olives overlooking the Temple, Peter, James, John, and Andrew asked him in private,

⁴ “Tell us: when this will happen? What’s the sign that all this is about to be fulfilled?”[†]

⁵ Jesus began telling them, “Make sure no one deceives you.

⁶ Many will come in my name claiming, ‘I am the Christ.’ They will deceive many people.

§ 12:36 Quoting Psalms 110:1. * 12:40 Literally, “devour widow’s houses.” † 12:42 Literally, two lepta, of little value. * 13:1 Literally, “what sort of stones and what sort of buildings.”

† 13:4 Because the disciples’ question merges the two events, Jesus’ answer combines aspects of the destruction of the Temple and the final end-time

⁷ Don't be troubled when you hear of wars nearby and wars far away. These things must happen but this is not the end.

⁸ Nation will fight against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be earthquakes in various places, and famines too. These are the beginnings of the world's birth pains.

⁹ Watch out for yourselves! They will hand you over to the courts to be tried. You will be beaten in synagogues. Because of me you will have to stand before governors and kings, and you will be witnesses to them.

¹³ You will be hated by everyone because of me, but whoever endures until the end will be saved.

¹⁴ But when you see the 'idolatry that defiles'[‡] standing where he should not be (let the reader understand), then those who are in Judea should run to the mountains.

¹⁵ Those who are on the roof—don't go back inside the house to get anything.

¹⁷ How hard it will be for those who are pregnant or nursing at that time!

²⁰ If God doesn't cut short these days, no one will survive. However, for the sake of those God has chosen, he has cut them short.

²¹ So if anyone tells you, 'Look, here is the Messiah,' or 'Look, there he is,' don't believe it.

²² For false Messiahs and false prophets will appear, and they will perform miraculous signs and wonders to deceive the chosen of God, if that were possible.

²⁴ This is what will happen after those troubles: 'The sun will become dark, the moon won't shine,

²⁵ the stars will fall from the sky, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken.'[§]

²⁶ Then they will see the Son of man as he comes on the clouds, possessing great power and glory.*

²⁷ He will send out the angels, and gather together all his chosen ones from wherever they are,[†] from the most distant part of the earth to the farthest point of heaven.

²⁸ Learn a lesson from the fig tree. When its branches grow soft and send out leaves, you know that summer is near.

[‡] 13:14 Or "the idolatry that causes desolation." See Daniel 9:27, Daniel 11:31, and Daniel 12:11.

[§] 13:25 See Isaiah 13:10. * 13:26 See Daniel 7:13-14. [†] 13:27 Literally, "from the four winds."

²⁹ In the same way, when you see these things happening, you know that it's near—right outside the door!

³⁰ I tell you the truth, this generation won't come to an end until all these things have happened.

³¹ Heaven and earth will come to an end, but my teachings will not.

³² No one knows the day or hour when this will happen—not even the angels in heaven, not even the Son; only the Father knows.

³³ Keep watch! Stay awake! For you don't know when this will happen.

³⁴ It's like a man who went away on a journey. He left his house, and gave each of his servants the authority to do what he told them. He told the doorkeeper to stay awake.

³⁵ So keep watch, because you don't know when the owner of the house is coming back. It may be in the evening, in the middle of the night, before dawn, or in the morning.

³⁶ You don't want to be caught sleeping if he returns unexpectedly.

³⁷ What I'm telling you, I'm telling everyone: Watch!"

¹ It was now two days before Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. The chief priests and the religious leaders were trying to find a surreptitious way to arrest Jesus and have him killed.

² "But not during Passover," they said to themselves, "otherwise the people may riot."

³ Meanwhile Jesus was in Bethany, eating a meal at Simon the leper's home. A woman came in with an alabaster jar of very expensive pure nard perfume.* She broke the jar open and poured the perfume on Jesus' head.

⁴ Some of those who were there became annoyed and said, "Why waste this perfume?

⁶ But Jesus replied, "Leave her alone! Why are you criticizing her for doing something beautiful to me?

⁷ You'll always have the poor with you,‡ and you can help them whenever you want. But you won't always have me with you.

⁸ She did what she could: she anointed my body in anticipation of my burial.

⁹ I tell you the truth: wherever the good news is spread in the world, people will remember what she did."

¹¹ When they heard this, they were delighted, and promised to pay him. So Judas began to look for an opportunity to betray Jesus.

¹² On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the time when the Passover lamb is sacrificed, Jesus' disciples asked him, "Where do you want us to go and prepare the Passover meal for you?"

* 14:3 Nard: an essential oil derived from the roots of the spikenard plant native to China and India. † 14:5 Literally, "300 denarii." ‡ 14:7 See Deuteronomy 15:11.

¹³ He sent two of his disciples, telling them, "Go into the city and there you'll meet a man carrying a water pot. Follow him,

¹⁵ He will take you to a large upstairs room that is furnished and ready. You can make preparations for us there."

¹⁶ The disciples went into the city, and found things just as he'd described them. They prepared the Passover meal.

¹⁷ In the evening Jesus went there with the twelve disciples.

¹⁸ While they were sitting eating, Jesus said, "I tell you the truth: one of you is going to betray me; one who is eating with me now."

²⁰ "It's one of the Twelve, one of you sharing this food with me," he replied.

²¹ "The Son of man will die, just as the Scriptures predicted. But how terrible it will be for the man who betrays the Son of man! It would be better for that man if he'd never been born."

²² As they were eating, Jesus picked up some bread. He blessed it, and gave it to them. "Take it. This is my body," he told them.

²³ Then he picked up the cup. He blessed it, and gave it to them. They all drank from it.

²⁴ "This is my blood," he told them, "the agreement[§] that's being poured out for many.

²⁵ I tell you the truth, I won't drink of the fruit of the vine until the day I drink it fresh in God's kingdom."

²⁷ "All of you will abandon me," Jesus told them. "For as the Scriptures say, 'I will attack the shepherd, and the sheep will be completely scattered.'^{*}

²⁸ But after I have risen from the dead, I will go before you to Galilee."

²⁹ "I won't abandon you even if everyone else does," Peter replied.

³⁰ Jesus answered him, "I tell you the truth that today, this very night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny that you even know me three times."

³¹ But Peter was totally adamant, saying, "Even if I have to die with you, I will never deny you." All of them said the same.

³² They arrived at a place called Gethsemane,[†] where Jesus told his disciples, "Sit here while I go and pray."

³⁴ Jesus told them, "My agony is so painful it feels like I'm dying. Please, remain here and stay awake."

³⁵ He went a little farther on and then fell to the ground. He prayed, asking to be spared the time[‡] that was coming, if it were possible.

³⁶ "Abba, Father! You can do everything," he said. "Please, take this cup of suffering away from me. Yet it's not what I want, but what you want."

³⁷ Then Jesus returned and found the disciples asleep. "Simon, are you sleeping?" he asked Peter. "Couldn't you stay awake for just an hour?"

[§] 14:24 Or "covenant," or "pledge." ^{*} 14:27 Quoting Zechariah 13:7. [†] 14:32 Meaning "olive press." [‡] 14:35 Literally, "hour."

³⁸ Stay awake, and pray so you won't fall into temptation. The spirit is willing, but the body is weak."

⁴⁰ Then he returned, and again he found them sleeping because they couldn't keep their eyes open.[§] They didn't know what to say!

⁴¹ He returned a third time, and asked them, "Are you still asleep? Are you still resting? Well that's enough,* because the time has come! Look, the Son of man is about to be betrayed into the hands of sinners.

⁴³ Just as he was saying this, Judas—one of the twelve disciples—arrived with a mob carrying swords and clubs, sent by the chief priests, religious leaders, and elders.

⁴⁶ So they grabbed hold of Jesus and arrested him.

⁴⁸ "Am I some kind of rebel that you have come to arrest me with swords and clubs?" Jesus asked them.

⁴⁹ "I was there with you, teaching in the Temple every day. Why didn't you arrest me then? But this is happening to fulfill the Scriptures."

⁵⁰ Then all Jesus' disciples deserted him and ran away.

⁵² They seized hold of him, but he ran off naked, leaving the garment behind.)

⁵³ They took Jesus to the high priest's house where all the chief priests, elders, and religious teachers had gathered.

⁵⁴ Peter followed him at a distance, and went into the courtyard of the high priest's house. He sat down with the guards and warmed himself by the fire.

⁵⁵ Inside the chief priests and the whole governing council† were trying to find some evidence to have Jesus put to death, but they couldn't find anything.

⁵⁷ Some of them got up to speak falsely against Jesus.

⁵⁸ "We heard him say, 'I will destroy this Temple that human hands built, and in three days I will build another without hands.' "

⁵⁹ But even so their testimony didn't agree.

⁶⁰ Then the high priest stood up in front of the council, and asked Jesus, "Have you nothing to say in response to these charges made against you?"

⁶¹ But Jesus remained silent and didn't answer. So the high priest asked again, "Are you the Messiah, the Son of the Blessed One?"

[§] 14:40 Literally, "their eyes were burdened down." * 14:41 The meaning of the Greek word here is unclear. It usually means "paid in full." † 14:55 Literally, "Sanhedrin."

⁶² “I am,” Jesus replied, “and you will see the Son of man sitting on the right of the Mighty One, and coming with the clouds of heaven.”[‡]

⁶³ The high priest tore his clothes[§] and asked, “Why do we need any more witnesses?”

⁶⁴ You have heard the blasphemy! What’s your reaction?”

They all found him guilty and condemned him to death.

⁶⁵ Then some of them began to spit on him. They blindfolded him, hit him with their fists, and said, “Why don’t you prophesy then, you ‘Prophet’!” The guards took him away and beat him up.

⁶⁷ and seeing Peter warming himself, looked straight at him and said, “You were with Jesus of Nazareth too!”

⁶⁸ But he denied it. “I don’t know what you’re talking about or what you mean,” he replied. Then he went out to the forecourt, and a rooster crowed.*

⁶⁹ Seeing him there, the servant girl repeated to those standing around, “This man is one of them!”

⁷¹ Peter began calling down curses on himself and he swore, “I don’t know this man who you’re talking about.”

⁷² Immediately the rooster crowed the second time. Then Peter remembered what Jesus had said to him: “Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny me three times.” When he realized what he’d done, he burst into tears.

¹ Early the next morning, the chief priest, elders, and religious teachers—the whole governing council—came to a decision. They had Jesus bound and sent him to be handed over to Pilate.

² Pilate asked him, “Are you the King of the Jews?”

“You said it,” Jesus replied.

⁴ Pilate questioned him again, “Aren’t you going to answer? See how many charges they’re bringing against you!”

⁶ Now it was Pilate’s custom at the Passover feast to release a prisoner to the people, whoever they requested.

⁸ The crowd went to Pilate and asked him to release a prisoner following his usual custom.

¹⁰ for he realized that it was because of their jealousy of Jesus that the chief priests had handed Jesus over to him.

[‡] 14:62 See Psalms 110:1 and Daniel 7:13. [§] 14:63 In those times an expression of great anguish.

* 14:68 “And a rooster crowed.” This phrase is not found in some of the early manuscripts.

¹¹ But the chief priests stirred up the crowd to have him release Barabbas to them instead.

¹² "Then what should I do with the one you call the King of the Jews?" he asked them.

¹³ "Crucify him!" they shouted back.

¹⁴ "Why? What crime has he committed?" Pilate asked them.

"Crucify him!" they shouted back even louder.

¹⁵ Wanting to please the mob, Pilate released Barabbas to them. First he had Jesus flogged and then handed him over to be crucified.

¹⁶ The soldiers took him away into the Praetorium* courtyard, where they called out the whole cohort.†

¹⁷ They put royal purple robes on him and made a crown of thorns that they placed on him.

¹⁸ Then they saluted him, saying, "Hail King of the Jews!"

¹⁹ They repeatedly beat him around the head with a rod, spat at him, and fell on their knees before him as if in worship.

²⁰ After they finished mocking him, they took off the purple robes, and put his own clothes back on him. Then they led him away to be crucified.

²¹ They forced a passer-by, Simon of Cyrene, who was coming from the countryside, to carry his cross. Simon was the father of Alexander and Rufus.

²² They brought Jesus to the place called Golgotha, which means "the Place of the Skull."

²³ They offered him wine mixed with myrrh, but he refused it.

²⁴ Then they crucified him. They divided his clothes, and threw dice to decide who would have what.‡

²⁵ It was nine in the morning when they crucified him.

²⁶ A sign with the written charge against him read: "The King of the Jews."

²⁹ People passing by shouted insults at him, shaking their heads, and saying, "Aha! You who claimed you were going to destroy the Temple and rebuild it in three days;

³⁰ save yourself and come down from the cross!"

³¹ Likewise the chief priests and the religious teachers made fun of him, saying to each other, "He saved others, but he can't save himself.

³² If he really is the Messiah, the King of Israel, then why doesn't he come down from the cross so we can see and believe!" Even those who were crucified with him insulted him.

³³ At noon darkness fell over the whole land until three in the afternoon.

³⁴ At three o'clock Jesus cried out, "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani," which means, "My God, my God, why have you abandoned me?"*

³⁵ Some of those standing there heard this, and said, "He's calling for Elijah."

* 15:16 The Roman governor's official residence. † 15:16 A cohort was a group of some 600 soldiers. ‡ 15:24 See Psalms 22:18. § 15:28 Verse 28 is not found in many of the early manuscripts. * 15:34 Quoting Psalms 22:1.

³⁶ One man ran and filled a sponge with vinegar, put it on a stick, and tried to give it to Jesus to drink.[†] “Leave him alone,” he said. “Let’s see if Elijah will come to take him down.”

³⁷ Then Jesus groaned loudly, and died.

³⁹ When the centurion standing there in front of Jesus saw how he died, he said, “This man was truly the Son of God.”

⁴⁰ Some women were watching from a distance including Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James the younger and Joses, and Salome.

⁴¹ They had followed Jesus and had taken care of him while he was in Galilee. Many other women who had come with him to Jerusalem were also there.

⁴² It was Friday,[‡] the day before the Sabbath. When evening came,

⁴³ Joseph of Arimathea, a member of the governing council who was himself waiting for the kingdom of God, had the courage to go to Pilate and ask for Jesus’ body.

⁴⁴ Pilate was surprised that Jesus had died so soon, so he summoned the centurion and asked him if Jesus had already died.

⁴⁶ Joseph bought a linen sheet. Then he took Jesus’ body down from the cross and wrapped it in the sheet, and placed it in a tomb that had been cut out of rock. Then he rolled a heavy stone up against the entrance.

⁴⁷ Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses were watching where he was laid.

16

¹ Once the Sabbath had ended, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought aromatic ointments so that they could go and anoint Jesus’ body.

² Very early Sunday* morning, just at sunrise, they went to the tomb.

³ They were asking each other, “Who will roll away the stone for us from the entrance to the tomb?”

⁴ But when they arrived and looked, they saw that the very large, heavy stone had already been rolled away.

⁵ When they went into the tomb, they saw a young man sitting on the right, wearing a long white robe. They became very frightened.

⁶ “Don’t be frightened,” he told them. “You are looking for Jesus the Nazarene, the one who was crucified. He is risen from the dead. He is not here.

⁷ Look, this is the place where they laid him to rest. Now go, and tell his disciples and Peter that he’s going ahead of you to Galilee. You will see him there just as he told you.”

⁸ They left and ran from the tomb, shaking and confused. They said nothing to anyone because they were too scared.[†]

⁹ When Jesus rose from the dead on Sunday morning, he appeared first of all to Mary Magdalene, from whom he’d driven out seven demons.

[†] 15:36 See Psalms 69:21. [‡] 15:42 Literally, “Preparation day.” * 16:2 Literally, “the first day of the week.” [†] 16:8 Many of the early manuscripts of Mark end here. Others continue as shown.

¹⁰ She went and told those who had been with him as they mourned and cried.

¹¹ When they heard that Jesus was alive and that she had seen him, they didn't believe it.

¹³ They returned and told the others, but they didn't believe them either.

¹⁵ Then he told them, "Go to the whole world, and announce the good news to everyone.‡

¹⁶ Anyone who trusts in me and is baptized will be saved, but anyone who chooses not to trust will be condemned.

¹⁷ The following signs will accompany those who trust in me: in my name they will drive out demons; they will speak new languages;

¹⁸ they will be able to handle snakes; if they drink something poisonous they won't be harmed; they will place their hands on the sick and they will be healed."

¹⁹ Then, the Lord Jesus, when he had finished speaking to them, was taken up into heaven where he sat down at the right hand of God.

²⁰ The disciples went out and spread the good news everywhere, and the Lord worked with them, confirming the message through miraculous signs that accompanied it.

‡ 16:15 Literally, "all creation."

Luke

¹ As you know, many others have attempted to put down in writing the things that have been fulfilled* that involve us.

² They based their accounts on evidence from the earliest eyewitnesses and ministers of the Word,

³ and so I also decided that since I have followed these things very carefully from the beginning, it would be a good idea to write out an accurate account of all that happened.

⁵ During the time when Herod was king of Judea, there was a priest called Zechariah, who came from the Abijah priestly division. He was married to Elizabeth, who was also descended from Aaron the priest.

⁶ They both did what was right before God, being careful to follow all the Lord's commandments and regulations.

⁷ They had no children because Elizabeth wasn't able to have any, and they were both growing old.

⁸ While Zechariah was serving as a priest before God, on behalf of his priestly division,

¹¹ An angel of the Lord appeared to Zechariah, standing to the right of the altar of incense.

¹² When Zechariah saw the angel, he was startled and became terrified.

¹³ But the angel told him, "Don't be afraid, Zechariah. Your prayer has been heard, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call him John.

¹⁴ He will bring you joy and gladness, and many will celebrate his birth.

¹⁵ He will be great in the sight of the Lord. He will refuse to drink wine or other alcoholic drink. He will be filled with the Holy Spirit even before he's born.

¹⁶ He will turn many Israelites back to the Lord their God.

¹⁸ "How can I be sure about this?" Zechariah asked the angel. "I'm an old man, and my wife is getting old too."

¹⁹ "I am Gabriel," the angel replied. "I stand in God's presence, and I was sent to speak to you and give you this good news.

²⁰ But since you didn't believe what I told you, you'll become dumb, unable to speak, until the appointed time when my words come true."

* 1:1 Or "achieved," "accomplished." † 1:4 "Theophilus" means one who loves God. Also in Acts 1:1. ‡ 1:9 A system of random choice like "choosing straws" was used because more wanted to serve than there were places available. § 1:17 Quoting Malachi 4:5-6.

²¹ Outside the people were waiting for Zechariah, wondering why he was taking so long in the Temple.

²² When eventually he came out, he wasn't able to speak to them. They realized he'd seen a vision in the Temple, for though he could make gestures, he was completely dumb.

²³ After he'd finished his time of service, he went back home.

²⁴ Some time later his wife Elizabeth became pregnant. She stayed at home for five months.

²⁵ "The Lord has done this for me," she said, "now that he's taken away my disgrace in the eyes of others."

²⁶ In the sixth month of her pregnancy God sent the angel Gabriel to a young girl called Mary who lived in the town of Nazareth in Galilee.

²⁷ She was engaged to a man named Joseph.

²⁸ The angel greeted her.* "You are very privileged," he told her. "The Lord is with you."

²⁹ Mary was very puzzled at what he said, and wondered what this greeting meant.

³⁰ "Don't worry, Mary," the angel went on, "for God has shown his graciousness to you.

³¹ You will become pregnant and give birth to a son. You shall call him Jesus.

³² He will be very great, and he will be called the Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne of David his father;

³³ and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever. His kingdom will never come to an end."

³⁵ He replied, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will cover you. The baby who is to be born is holy, and will be called the Son of God.

³⁶ And Elizabeth, your relative, even she is pregnant in her old age. The woman that people said couldn't have children is already six months pregnant.

³⁷ Nothing is impossible for God."

³⁸ "Here I am, ready to be the Lord's servant," said Mary. "May it happen to me just as you said." Then the angel left her.

³⁹ A little while later, Mary got herself ready and hurried up into the hills of Judea, to the town where ⁴⁰ Zechariah's house was. She called out to Elizabeth as she went in.

⁴¹ As soon as Elizabeth heard Mary's voice, the baby jumped for joy inside her. Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit,

⁴² and cried out in a loud voice,

"How blessed you are among women, and how blessed will be the child born to you!

⁴³ Why am I so honored that the mother of my Lord should visit me?

⁴⁴ As soon as I heard you call out in greeting, my baby jumped for joy inside me.

* 1:28 In fact the angel uses the common form of greeting of the time that literally meant "Rejoice" but was actually equivalent to saying "Hello." Even modern translations have trouble here, with the angel saying "Hail, favored woman" or "Greetings, O favored one," neither of which seem particularly suitable. On the other hand an angel arriving and saying "Hi" hardly fits either...

45 How fortunate you are, because you are convinced that the Lord will do what he has promised you!"

46 Mary replied, "How I praise the Lord!

47 I am so happy with God my Savior,

48 because he decided that I, his servant, was worthy of his consideration, despite my humble background. From now on every generation will say I was blessed.

49 God Almighty has done great things for me; his name is holy.

50 His mercy lasts for generation after generation to those who respect him.†

51 With his power‡ he has broken to pieces those who arrogantly think they're so clever.

52 He tears the powerful down from their thrones, and elevates those who are humble.

53 He fills the hungry with good things to eat, and he sends the rich away empty-handed.

54 He has helped his servant Israel, remembering him in mercy,

55 just as he promised our fathers, to Abraham and his descendants for ever."

56 Mary stayed with her for three months and then returned home.

57 The time came for Elizabeth to have her baby and she gave birth to a son.

59 Eight days later they came to circumcise the boy. They planned to call him Zechariah after his father.

60 "No," Elizabeth said. "He shall be called John."

61 "But there's nobody among your relatives who has this name," they told her.

62 Through gestures they asked Zechariah, the boy's father, what he wanted to call his son.

63 Zechariah motioned for something to write on. To everyone's surprise he wrote, "His name is John."

64 Immediately he could speak again, and he started praising God.

65 All those living nearby were in awe at what had happened, and the news spread throughout the hill country of Judea.

66 Everyone who heard the news wondered what it meant. "What will the little boy grow up to be?" they asked, for it was clear he was very special to God.§

67 Zechariah, his father, filled with the Holy Spirit, spoke this prophecy:

68 "The Lord, the God of Israel, he is wonderful, for he has come to his people and set them free.

69 He has given us a great Savior from the line of his servant David,

70 as he promised through his holy prophets long ago.

71 He promised to save us from our enemies, from those who hate us.

72 He was merciful to our fathers, remembering his holy agreement—

73 the promise that he made to our father Abraham.

74 He gives us freedom from fear and rescues us from our enemies,

† 1:50 Literally, "fear," but in modern use this can have the idea of abject terror. ‡ 1:51 Literally, "strong arm." § 1:66 Literally, "for the hand of the Lord was with him."

⁷⁵ so we can serve him by doing what is good and right for our whole lives.

⁷⁶ Even though you are only a small child, you will be called the prophet of the Most High, for you will go ahead of the Lord to prepare his way, ⁷⁷ providing knowledge of salvation to his people through the forgiveness of their sins.

⁷⁸ Through God's caring kindness to us, heaven's dawn will break upon us

⁷⁹ to shine on those who live in darkness and under the shadow of death, and to guide us along the path of peace."

⁸⁰ The boy John grew and became spiritually strong. He lived in the desert until the time came for his public ministry to Israel.

2

¹ It was the time when Caesar Augustus issued a decree that there should be a census of everyone in the Roman Empire.

³ So everybody went to their own city to be registered.

⁵ He went to register there, together with Mary, who was pledged in marriage to him and expecting a baby.

⁶ While they were there, the time came for her to have her baby.

⁷ She gave birth to her firstborn son. She wrapped him up in strips of cloth and laid him in a manger because the inn had no rooms left.

⁹ An angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone all around them. They were scared out of their wits!

¹⁰ "Don't be afraid!" the angel told them. "I'm here to bring you good news that will make all the people really glad.

¹² You will recognize him by this sign: you will find the child wrapped in strips of cloth and lying in a manger."

¹³ Suddenly many heavenly beings appeared, praising God, saying,

¹⁴ "Glory to the God of heaven, and on earth peace to those with whom he is pleased!"

¹⁵ After the angels had left them and returned to heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let's go to Bethlehem and see what's happened concerning these things the Lord has told us about."

¹⁶ They hurried there and found Mary, Joseph, and the baby, who was lying in the manger.

¹⁷ After they'd seen for themselves, they spread the news of what had happened and what they had been told about this baby.

¹⁸ All those who heard about it were amazed at what the shepherds told them.

²⁰ The shepherds went back to watching their flocks, glorifying and thanking God for all that they'd heard and seen, for it was just as they'd been told.

²¹ After eight days, the time came for the baby to be circumcised, and he was named Jesus. This was the name given to him by the angel before he had even been conceived.

²² When the time of their purification according to the law of Moses was finished, Joseph and Mary took him to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord,

²³ as the law of the Lord states, "Every firstborn son must be dedicated to the Lord."^{*}

²⁴ There they made a sacrifice, as God's law also states, of "a pair of turtle doves or two young pigeons."[†]

²⁵ Living in Jerusalem at that time was a man called Simeon. Simeon did what was good and was very devout. He was waiting expectantly for the hope of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him.

²⁶ The Holy Spirit had shown him that he would not die before he saw the Lord's Messiah.[‡]

²⁷ Following the Spirit's leading, he went to the Temple. When Jesus' parents brought in the little boy to be dedicated as required by the Law,

²⁸ Simeon took Jesus in his arms, thanked God, and said,

²⁹ "Lord and Master, now you can let your servant die in peace as you promised,

³⁰ because I have seen for myself your salvation

³¹ which you have prepared for everyone.

³² He is a light that will show you to the nations, the glory of your people Israel."

³⁴ Then Simeon blessed them, and said to Jesus' mother Mary, "This child is destined to cause many in Israel to fall and many to rise. He is a sign from God that many will reject,

³⁵ revealing what they really think. For you it will feel like a sword piercing right through you."

³⁶ Anna the prophetess also lived in Jerusalem. She was the daughter of Phanuel of the tribe of Asher, and she was very old. She had been married for seven years,

³⁷ and then she had been widowed. She was eighty-four years old. She spent her time at the Temple in worship, fasting and praying.

³⁸ She came up to them right at that moment, and began praising God. She spoke about Jesus to all those who were looking forward to the time when God would set Jerusalem free.

³⁹ Once they had completed everything God's law required, they returned to their home town of Nazareth in Galilee.

⁴⁰ The child grew strong, and was very wise. God's blessing was with him.

⁴¹ Jesus' parents traveled to Jerusalem every year for the Passover festival.

^{*} 2:23 Quoting Exodus 13:2. [†] 2:24 Quoting Leviticus 12:8. [‡] 2:26 Or "Christ."

⁴² When Jesus was twelve years old, they went to the festival as they always did.

⁴⁴ They assumed he was with all the others traveling home. A day passed before they started looking for him among their friends and relatives.

⁴⁵ When they couldn't find him they returned to Jerusalem to look for him there.

⁴⁷ All who heard him speak were surprised by his understanding and his answers.

⁴⁸ His parents were totally confused when they saw what he was doing. His mother asked him, "Son, why have you treated us like this? Your father and I—we've been worried sick! We've been looking everywhere for you!"

⁴⁹ "Why is it that you were looking for me?" Jesus replied. "Didn't you know I should be here in my Father's house?"

⁵⁰ But they didn't understand what he meant.

3

¹ By now Tiberias had been Caesar for fifteen years. Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea. Herod was ruler* of Galilee, his brother Philip was ruler of Iturea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias was ruler of Abilene.

² Annas and Caiphas were the current high priests. This was the time when the word of God came to John, Zechariah's son, who was living in the desert.

³ He went throughout the whole Jordan region, announcing to everyone that they needed to be baptized to show they had repented and their sins had been forgiven.

⁴ As Isaiah the prophet wrote: "A voice was heard crying out in the desert, 'Prepare the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

⁵ Every valley will be filled, and every mountain and hill will be leveled. Crooked ways will be straightened, and rough roads will be smoothed.

⁶ Every human being will see God's salvation.' "†

⁷ John addressed the crowds that came to him to be baptized. "You viper's brood! Who warned you to flee from the coming judgment?" he asked.

⁸ "Demonstrate that you have truly repented.‡ Don't try to justify yourselves by saying, 'We're Abraham's descendants.' Let me tell you, God can create children of Abraham from these stones.

⁹ The ax is set to begin chopping at the base of the trees. Any tree that doesn't produce good fruit will be chopped down and thrown into the fire."

¹⁰ "So what should we do?" the crowds asked him.

* 3:1 Literally, "tetrarch." Also the other instances where ruler is used in this verse. † 3:6 Quoting Isaiah 40:3-5. ‡ 3:8 Literally, "Produce worthy fruits of repentance."

¹¹ "If you have two coats, then share with someone who doesn't have one. If you have food, then share with those who don't," he told them.

¹³ "Don't collect any more tax than you're meant to," he replied.

¹⁴ "What about us?" some soldiers asked. "What should we do?"

"Don't demand money with threats of violence. Don't make accusations that are untrue. Be satisfied with your wages," he replied.

¹⁵ The people were waiting expectantly, and wondered whether John himself might be the Messiah.

¹⁶ John replied and explained to everybody, "Yes, I am baptizing you in water. But the one who is coming is more important than me, and I'm not worthy to undo his sandals. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire.

¹⁸ John gave many warnings like this as he announced the good news to the people.

¹⁹ But when John reprimanded Herod the ruler for marrying Herodias, Herod's brother's wife, and for all the evil things he'd done,

²¹ Now it happened that after everyone had been baptized, Jesus was baptized as well. As he was praying, heaven was opened,

²² and the Holy Spirit descended upon him, taking the form of a dove. A voice came from heaven, saying, "You are my son, the one I love. I am truly pleased with you."

²³ Jesus was around thirty when he began his public ministry. People presumed he was the son of Joseph. Joseph was the son of Heli,

²⁴ the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Jannai, the son of Joseph,

²⁵ the son of Mattathias, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Eslai, the son of Naggai,

²⁶ the son of Maath, the son of Mattathias, the son of Semein, the son of Josech, the son of Joda,

²⁷ the son of Joanan, the son of Rhesa, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the son of Neri,

²⁸ the son of Melchi, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmadam, the son of Er,

²⁹ the son of Joshua, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi,

³⁰ the son of Simeon, the son of Judah, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonam, the son of Eliakim,

³¹ the son of Melea, the son of Menna, the son of Mattatha, the son of Nathan, the son of David,

³² the son of Jesse, the son of Obed, the son of Boaz, the son of Salmon, the son of Nahshon,

³³ the son of Amminadab, the son of Arni, the son of Hezron, the son of Perez, the son of Judah,

³⁵ the son of Serug, the son of Reu, the son of Peleg, the son of Eber, the son of Shelah,

³⁶ the son of Cainan, the son of Arphaxad, the son of Shem, the son of Noah, the son of Lamech,

³⁷ the son of Methuselah, the son of Enoch, the son of Jared, the son of Mahalaleel, the son of Cainan,

³⁸ the son of Enosh, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God.

4

¹ Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan River and was led by the Spirit into the desert,

² where he was tempted by the devil for forty days. He didn't eat anything during that whole time, so at the end he was starving.

³ The devil said to him, "If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread."

⁴ "It is written in Scripture, 'You shall not live on bread alone,' " * Jesus answered.

⁵ The devil led him up to a high place, and in a rapid view showed him all the kingdoms of the world.

⁶ Then the devil said to Jesus, "I will give you authority over all of them, and their glory. This authority has been given to me, and I can give it to anyone I want.

⁷ Bow down and worship me and you can have it all."

⁸ "It is written in Scripture, 'You shall worship the Lord your God, and you shall serve only him,' " † Jesus replied.

⁹ The devil took Jesus to Jerusalem, set him on the top of the Temple, and told him, "If you are the Son of God, then jump!

¹¹ holding you up to protect you from stumbling over a stone.' " ‡

¹² "It is written in Scripture, 'You shall not tempt the Lord your God,' " § Jesus replied.

¹⁴ Jesus returned to Galilee, full of the Spirit's power. News about him spread everywhere.

¹⁵ Jesus taught in their synagogues, and everyone praised him.

¹⁷ The scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Jesus unrolled the scroll and found the place where it's written:

¹⁸ "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, for he has anointed me to announce good news to the destitute. He has sent me to proclaim that prisoners will be released, the blind will see, the oppressed will be freed,

¹⁹ and to proclaim the time of the Lord's favor."

* 4:4 Quoting Deuteronomy 8:3. † 4:8 Quoting Deuteronomy 6:13. ‡ 4:11 Quoting Psalms 91:11-12. § 4:12 Quoting Deuteronomy 6:16. * 4:13 Or "for an opportune time."

²⁰ He rolled up the scroll and gave it back to the attendant. Then he sat down. Everybody in the synagogue was staring at him.

²¹ “This Scripture you’ve just heard has been fulfilled today!” he told them.

²² Everybody expressed their approval of him, amazed at the gracious words that came from his lips. “Isn’t this Joseph’s son?” they wondered.

²⁴ But I tell you the truth, no prophet is accepted in his hometown.

²⁵ I guarantee that there were many widows in Israel during the time of Elijah when there was a drought for three and a half years, causing a great famine throughout the country.

²⁶ Yet Elijah wasn’t sent to any of them. He was sent to a widow in Zarephath in the region of Sidon!

²⁸ When they heard this everyone in the synagogue became furious.

²⁹ They jumped to their feet and threw him out of the town. Then they dragged him to the top of the hill on which the town was built in order to throw him off the cliff.

³² They were amazed at what he taught them for he spoke with authority.

³³ In the synagogue there was a man who was possessed by a demon. He cried out,

³⁴ “So, what do you want with us, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know who you are: God’s Holy One!”

³⁵ Jesus interrupted him, saying, “Be quiet!” Then he ordered the demon, “Come out of him!” Throwing him to the ground right before them, the demon left the man without injuring him.

³⁶ They were all amazed and asked each other, “What is this teaching? With power and authority he orders evil spirits to leave—and they do!”

³⁷ News about Jesus spread throughout the nearby region.

³⁸ Leaving the synagogue, Jesus went to Simon’s house. Simon’s mother-in-law was sick with a high fever and those who were there asked Jesus to help.

³⁹ Jesus went and stood over her. He told the fever to leave her—which it did. She got up right away and prepared a meal for them.

⁴⁰ When the sun set, they brought to him all who were sick, suffering from various diseases. Jesus placed his hands on them, one after the other, and he healed them.

⁴¹ Demons came out of many people, shouting, “You are the Son of God.” But Jesus stopped them and refused to let them speak because they knew he was the Christ.

⁴² Early the following morning Jesus left to find some peace and quiet. But the crowds went out looking for him, and finally found him. They tried to stop him leaving because they did not want him to go.

⁴³ But he told them, "I have to go to other towns to tell them the good news of the kingdom of God too, because that is what I was sent to do."

⁴⁴ So Jesus went on traveling around, teaching the good news in the synagogues of Judea.

5

¹ One day, as Jesus was standing beside the Sea of Galilee, people crowded around him to hear the word of God.

³ Jesus got into a boat, the one that belonged to Simon, and asked him to push it out into the water, just offshore. Then Jesus sat down in the boat and taught the people from there.

⁴ After he'd finished speaking, he told Simon, "Go out into deeper water, and let down your nets for a catch."

⁷ They waved to their partners in the other boat, asking them to come over and help. The others came over and together they filled both of the boats with fish. The boats were so full that they began to sink.

⁸ When Simon Peter saw what had happened, he dropped to his knees before Jesus. "Lord, please stay away from me, for I am a sinful man!" he exclaimed.

¹⁰ James and John, the sons of Zebedee, Simon's partners, felt the same way.

"Don't be afraid," Jesus told Simon. "From now on you'll be fishing for people!"

¹² Once when Jesus was visiting one of the towns, he met a man there who had a very bad case of leprosy. The man fell with his face to the ground and begged Jesus, "Please Lord, if you're willing, you can make me clean."*

¹³ Jesus reached out and touched the man. "I am willing," he said. "Be clean!" Immediately the leprosy disappeared.

¹⁶ But Jesus often used to retreat to quiet places and pray.

* 5:12 "Clean." Of course, what the man was looking for was healing from his leprosy, however his leprosy made him ceremonially unclean. So "clean" not only healed his disease but also made him socially acceptable. † 5:14 See Leviticus 14:1-32.

¹⁷ One day when Jesus was teaching, the Pharisees and religious teachers who had come from all over Galilee, Judea, and Jerusalem were sitting there. The power of the Lord to heal was with him so he could heal.

¹⁸ Some men arrived carrying a paralyzed man on a mat. They tried to take him in and lay him in front of Jesus.

²⁰ When Jesus saw the trust they had in him, he said to the man, "Your sins are forgiven."

²¹ The religious teachers and the Pharisees began to argue with that. "Who is this who's speaking blasphemies?" they asked. "Who can forgive sins? Only God can do that!"

²² Jesus knew what they were arguing about, so he asked them, "Why are you thinking to question this?"

²³ What is easier? To say your sins are forgiven, or to say get up and walk?

²⁴ However, I will prove to you that the Son of man has the authority here on earth to forgive sins." Then he said to the paralyzed man, "I tell you: Get up, pick up your mat, and go home."

²⁵ Immediately the man stood up in front of them. He picked up the mat he'd been lying on, and went home, praising God as he went.

²⁶ Everyone was completely astonished at what had happened, and in great awe they praised God, saying, "What we saw today was amazing!"

²⁷ Later, as Jesus was leaving the town, he saw a tax collector called Levi sitting at his tax booth.

"Follow me," Jesus told him.

²⁹ Levi organized a large banquet at his home in Jesus' honor. Many tax collectors and others were in the crowd that sat down to eat with them. But the Pharisees and the religious teachers complained to Jesus' disciples, asking,

³¹ "Healthy people don't need a doctor—but sick people do," Jesus replied.

³² "I didn't come to call those who are living right to repentance—I came to call sinners."

³³ "Well, John's disciples often fast and pray, and the Pharisees' disciples do so as well. But your disciples don't—they go on eating and drinking," they told him.

³⁵ "No—but the time is coming when the bridegroom will be taken away from them. Then they can fast."

³⁶ Then he gave them an illustration: "You don't tear out a patch from new clothes to mend old clothes. Otherwise you'd ruin new clothes, and the patch from the new wouldn't match the old."

³⁷ You don't put new wine into old wineskins, because if you did the new wine would burst the wineskins. Then both wine and wineskins would be wasted.

6

² Some of the Pharisees questioned him, asking, "Why are you doing what is not permitted on the Sabbath?"

³ Jesus replied, "Have you never read what David did when he and his men were hungry?"

⁴ How he went into the house of God and took the consecrated bread? He ate it, and gave it to his men too. That's not permitted either. The consecrated bread is only for the priests."

⁵ Then he told them, "The Son of man is Lord of the Sabbath."

⁶ On another Sabbath he went into the synagogue to teach. A man was there with a crippled right hand.

⁷ The religious teachers and the Pharisees were observing Jesus closely to see if he would heal on the Sabbath. They wanted to find something to accuse him of.

⁸ But Jesus knew what was in their minds. He told the man with the crippled hand, "Get up, and stand here in front of everyone." The man got up and stood there.

⁹ Then Jesus turned to them and said, "Let me ask you a question. Is it legal to do good on the Sabbath, or to do bad? To save life, or to destroy it?"

¹⁰ He looked round at all of them there. Then he said to the man, "Hold out your hand." The man did so, and his hand became like new.

¹² One day shortly after, Jesus went up a mountain to pray. He remained there all night, praying to God.

¹³ When morning came he called together his disciples, and chose twelve of them. These are the names of the apostles:

¹⁴ Simon (also called Peter by Jesus), Andrew his brother, James, John, Philip, Bartholomew,

¹⁵ Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Simon the Revolutionary,

¹⁶ Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot (who became a traitor).

¹⁷ Jesus went back down the mountain with them, and stopped at a place where there was some flat ground. There a crowd made up of his disciples and many other people from all over Judea, Jerusalem, and the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, had gathered to listen to him and to be cured from their diseases.

¹⁹ Everyone in the crowd tried to touch him, because power was coming out from him and healing them all.

* 6:1 To remove the husks, or chaff, from the grain. This was seen by the Pharisees as equivalent to doing the work of threshing.

²⁰ Looking at his disciples, Jesus told them,

²¹ “How happy are you who are poor, for the kingdom of God is yours. How happy are you who are hungry now, for you will eat all you need. How happy are you who are weeping now, for you will laugh.

²² How happy are you when people hate you, exclude you, insult you, and curse your name as evil because of me, the Son of man.

²³ When that day comes, be happy. Jump for joy, for great is your reward in heaven. Don't forget[†] their forefathers mistreated the prophets just like this.

²⁵ How sad are you who are full now, for you will become hungry. How sad are you who laugh now, for you will mourn and cry.

²⁶ How sad are you when everyone praises you. Don't forget that their forefathers praised false prophets just like this.

²⁷ But I say to those of you who are listening: Love your enemies. Do good to those who hate you.

²⁸ Bless those who curse you. Pray for those who mistreat you.

³⁰ Give to anyone who asks you. If someone takes something from you, don't ask for it back.

³¹ Do to others what you want them to do to you.

³² If you love those who love you, why should you deserve any credit for that? Even sinners love those who love them.

³⁴ If you lend money expecting to be repaid, why should you deserve any credit for that? Sinners lend money to other sinners as well, expecting to be repaid what they loaned.

³⁵ No: love your enemies, do good to them, and lend without expecting to be repaid anything. Then you will receive a great reward, and you will be children of the Most High God, for he is kind to ungrateful and wicked people.

³⁷ Don't judge,[‡] and you won't be judged; don't condemn, and you won't be condemned; forgive, and you'll be forgiven;

³⁸ give, and you will be given generously in return. When what you're given is measured out, it's pressed down so more can be added, spilling out over the top, pouring into your lap! For how much you give will determine how much you receive.”[§]

³⁹ Then he illustrated the point: “Can a blind person lead another? Wouldn't they both fall into a ditch?

⁴⁰ Do students know more than the teacher? Only when they've learned everything: then they will be like their teacher.

⁴¹ Why are you so worried about the speck that's in your brother's eye when you don't even notice the plank that's in your own eye?

[†] 6:23 Implied. Also verse 26. [‡] 6:37 Or “criticize.” [§] 6:38 Or “For the way you measure what you give will be used to measure what you receive.”

⁴² How can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me take out the speck that's in your eye,' when you don't even see the plank that's in your own eye? Hypocrite! Take out the plank from your own eye first, and then you'll be able to see well enough to take out the speck from your brother's eye.

⁴⁴ You recognize a tree by the fruit it produces. You don't pick figs from thorn bushes, or harvest grapes from brambles.

⁴⁷ I'll give you an example of someone who comes to me, hears my instructions, and follows them.

⁴⁹ The person who hears me but doesn't do what I say is like a man who builds a house without foundations. When the floodwater breaks against the house it collapses immediately, completely destroyed."

² A centurion lived there who had a servant he greatly valued who was sick and was about to die.

⁴ When the elders came to Jesus, they pleaded with him strongly, saying, "Please come and do what he asks. He deserves your help,

⁵ because he loves our people and he built a synagogue for us."

⁶ Jesus went with them and as they approached the house, the centurion sent some friends to Jesus to tell him, "Lord, please don't trouble yourself by coming into my house, because I'm not worthy of that.

⁷ I didn't even think that I was worthy to come and see you. Just give the command, and my servant will be healed.

⁸ For I'm under the authority of my superior officers, and I have soldiers under my authority too. I command one to go and he goes, another to come and he comes. I command my servant to do something and he does it."

⁹ When Jesus heard this he was astounded. He turned to the crowd that was following him, and said, "I tell you, I haven't found trust like this even in Israel."

¹⁰ Then the centurion's friends returned to the house and found the servant in good health.

¹¹ Soon after Jesus went to a town called Nain, accompanied by his disciples and a large crowd.

¹² As he approached the town gate a funeral procession was coming the other way. The man who had died was the only son of a widow, and a sizeable crowd from the town was with her.

¹³ When the Lord saw her he was filled with compassion for her. "Don't cry," he told her.

¹⁴ Jesus went over to the coffin and touched it, and the pall-bearers stopped.

Jesus said, "Young man, I tell you, get up."

¹⁵ The dead man sat up and began to talk, and Jesus gave him back to his mother.

¹⁶ A sense of awe filled everyone there and they praised God, saying, "A great prophet has arisen among us," and "God has visited his people."

¹⁷ News about Jesus spread throughout Judea, and all around.

¹⁸ The disciples of John told John about all this.

¹⁹ John called two of his disciples and told them to go and see Jesus, and ask, "Are you the one we've been expecting, or should we wait for someone else?"

²⁰ When they came to Jesus, they said, "John the Baptist sent us to you, to ask you, 'Are you the one we've been expecting or should we wait for someone else?'"

²¹ At that very moment Jesus was healing many people of their diseases, illnesses, evil spirits, and making the blind to see.

²² Jesus answered John's disciples, "Go and tell John what you've seen and heard. The blind see, the lame walk, the lepers cured, the deaf hear, the dead raised back to life, the poor are told the good news.

²³ How good it is for those who are not offended because of me!"

²⁵ Did you come looking for a man dressed in fine clothes? No, those who have stylish clothes and live in luxury are found in palaces.

²⁶ Were you looking for a prophet? Yes he is, and I'm telling you, he's much more than a prophet.

²⁷ It was written about him in Scripture: 'Look, I'm sending my messenger to go before you to prepare your way.'^{*}

²⁸ I tell you, no one born of women is greater than John, but even the most unimportant person in God's kingdom is greater than he is!"

²⁹ When they heard this, all of them—even the tax collectors—followed what God said was good and right, for they had been baptized by John.

³¹ "What shall I compare these people to?" asked Jesus. "What are they like?

³² They're like children sitting in the market who tell one other, 'We played the flute for you but you didn't dance; we sang sad songs but you didn't cry.'

³³ When John the Baptist came he didn't eat bread or drink wine, but you say he's demon-possessed.

³⁴ Now the Son of man is here, and eats and drinks with people, but you say, 'Look, he spends his time eating too much food and drinking too much wine.[†] Plus he's a friend of tax collectors and sinners.'

³⁶ One of the Pharisees invited Jesus to come and eat with him. Jesus went to the Pharisee's house and sat down to the meal.

³⁷ A woman who was a sinner[§] in that town found out that Jesus was eating in the Pharisee's house. She went there, carrying an alabaster jar of perfume.

³⁸ She kneeled beside Jesus and with her tears wet his feet, and dried them with her hair. She kissed his feet, and then she poured the perfume over them.

³⁹ When the Pharisee who had invited Jesus saw this he said to himself, "If this man was really a prophet he would know who this woman was who's touching him, and what kind of person she was—that she's a sinner!"

⁴⁰ Jesus spoke up and said, "Simon, I have something to tell you."

"Tell me, Teacher," he responded.

⁴¹ "Once two people were in debt to a money-lender. One owed five hundred denarii,^{*} the other only fifty.

⁴² Neither of them could repay him, so he forgave the debts. Which one will love him the most?"

⁴³ "The one he forgave the most, I would think," Simon answered.

"You're absolutely right," said Jesus.

⁴⁴ Turning to the woman, he said to Simon, "You see this woman? When I came into your house, you didn't give me water to wash my feet. But she has washed my feet with her tears, and wiped them with her hair.

⁴⁶ You didn't anoint my head with oil,[†] but she poured perfume over my feet.

⁴⁷ So I tell you, her many sins have been forgiven—that's why she loves so much.[‡] But whoever is forgiven little, only loves a little."

⁴⁸ Then Jesus said to the woman, "Your sins have been forgiven."

⁵⁰ But Jesus told the woman, "Your trust has saved you, go in peace."

8

¹ Soon after this Jesus went around the towns and villages announcing the good news of God's kingdom. The twelve disciples went with him,

[†] 7:34 "Eating too much food and drinking too much wine." The words used here indicate excess, in comparison to the basic words used earlier in the verse. [‡] 7:35 Probably a proverb. Literally, "Wisdom is proved right by all her children," meaning that the proof is in the consequences...

[§] 7:37 Usually understood to mean that she was living an immoral life. ^{*} 7:41 Denarius: equivalent to a day's wage. [†] 7:46 A sign of hospitality and respect. [‡] 7:47 This verse is sometimes understood as if it's woman's love that brings the great forgiveness. However, the context (especially verse 43) makes it clear that it's the extent of forgiveness that engenders the great love.

² along with a number of women who had been healed from evil spirits and sickness: Mary called Magdalene from whom he had cast out seven demons;

⁴ Once when a large crowd of people gathered, coming from many towns to see him, Jesus spoke to them, using a story as an illustration.

⁵ "A farmer went out to sow his seed. As he scattered the seed, some fell on the road where people trampled on it and birds ate it up.

⁶ Some fell on stony ground, and once the seeds had sprouted they withered for lack of moisture.

⁷ Some seeds fell among thorns and as they both grew the thorns choked the plants.

⁸ Some seeds fell on good earth and after they grew they produced a harvest one hundred times more than what had been sown." After he told them this, he called out, "If you have ears, then listen!"

⁹ But his disciples asked him, "What does this illustration mean?"

¹⁰ Jesus replied, "You've been given insights into the mysteries of God's kingdom, but the rest are given illustrations, so that, 'Even though they see, they don't really see; and even though they hear, they don't really understand.'*

¹¹ This is the meaning of the illustration: The seed is God's word.

¹² The seeds that fall on the road are those who hear the message, but then the devil comes and steals away the truth from their minds so they won't trust in God and be saved.

¹³ The seeds that fall on the stony ground are those who hear and welcome the message with joy but don't have any roots. They trust for a while but when difficult times come they give up.

¹⁵ The seeds sown on good earth are those who are honest and do what is right. They hear the message of truth, hold on to it, and through their perseverance produce a good harvest.

¹⁷ For there's nothing hidden that won't be revealed; there's nothing secret that won't become known and obvious.

¹⁸ So pay attention how you 'hear.'[†] To those who have received, more will be given; from those who don't receive, even what they think they have will be taken away!"

²⁰ Jesus was told, "Your mother and your brothers are outside. They want to see you."

²¹ "My mother and my brothers are those who hear God's word, and do what it says," Jesus replied.

* 8:10 Quoting Isaiah 6:9. † 8:18 "Hear": meaning to listen to God's message and follow it.

²² One day Jesus said to his disciples, "Let's cross over to the other side of the lake." So they got into a boat and set off.

²³ As they were sailing, Jesus fell asleep, and a storm came down on the lake. The boat began filling with water and they were in danger of sinking.

²⁴ They went over to Jesus and woke him up. "Master, master, we're going to drown!" they said. Jesus woke up and commanded the wind and the rough waves to stop. They stopped, and all was calm.

²⁵ "Where is your trust?" he asked them. Terrified and amazed, they said to each other, "So who is this? He gives commands to the winds and the water, and they obey him!"

²⁷ When Jesus stepped out of the boat onto the shore, a demon-possessed man from the town came to meet him. For a long time he hadn't worn any clothes or lived in a house. He lived in the tombs.

²⁸ When he saw Jesus he screamed, fell down at Jesus' feet, and asked in a loud voice, "What do you want with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? Please don't torture me, I beg you!"

²⁹ For Jesus had already commanded the evil spirit to leave the man. It had often seized him, and despite being tied down with chains and shackles, and placed under guard, he would break the chains apart and would be driven by the demon into the desert areas.

³⁰ "What is your name?" Jesus asked him. "Legion,"[‡] he replied, for many demons had entered him.

³¹ They begged Jesus not to order them to go into the Abyss.[§]

³² There was a large herd of pigs feeding on the nearby hillside, and the demons begged him to be allowed to go into the pigs. Jesus gave them permission,

³³ so the demons left the man and entered the pigs. The herd rushed down the steep slope into the lake and drowned.

³⁵ The people went out to see what had happened. When they came to Jesus they found the man freed from the demons. He was sitting there at Jesus' feet, wearing clothes and in his right mind; and they became scared.

³⁶ Those who had seen what happened explained how the demon-possessed man had been healed.

³⁷ Then all the people from the Gerasene region asked Jesus to leave because they were overwhelmed by fear. So he got into the boat and went back.

³⁸ The man who had been freed from the demons begged to go with him, but Jesus sent him away.

³⁹ "Go back home, and tell people all that God has done for you," Jesus told him. So he went away, telling the whole town all that Jesus had done for him.

⁴¹ One was a man called Jairus, a synagogue leader, who came and fell at Jesus' feet. He pleaded with Jesus to come to his home

⁴² because his only daughter was dying. She was about twelve years old.

[‡] 8:30 Or "many." [§] 8:31 "The depths," or "bottomless pit."

While Jesus was on his way there, people were crowding around him.

⁴³ In the crowd was a woman who had suffered with bleeding for twelve years. She had spent all she had on doctors, but none of them had been able to help her.

⁴⁴ She approached Jesus from behind and touched the hem of his cloak. Immediately the bleeding stopped.

⁴⁵ "Who touched me?" Jesus asked. Everybody around denied doing so. "But Master," said Peter, "there are people crowding around you, and they keep pushing up against you."

⁴⁶ "Someone touched me," Jesus replied. "I know because power went out from me."

⁴⁷ When the woman realized she couldn't go unnoticed, she came forward, trembling, and fell down before him. Right in front of everybody she explained the reason why she had touched Jesus, and that she'd been cured immediately.

⁴⁸ Jesus said to her, "Daughter, your trust has healed you, go in peace."

⁴⁹ While he was still speaking, someone came from the home of the synagogue leader to tell him, "Your daughter's dead. You don't need to bother the Teacher any longer."

⁵⁰ But when he heard this, Jesus told Jairus, "Don't be afraid. If you trust, she will be healed."

⁵¹ When Jesus arrived at the house he didn't allow anyone else to go in except Peter, John, and James, and the girl's father and mother.

⁵² All the people there were crying and mourning for her.

⁵³ They laughed at him, because they knew that she was dead.

⁵⁴ But Jesus took her by the hand, and said in a loud voice, "My child, get up!"

⁵⁶ Her parents were astonished at what had happened, but Jesus instructed them not to tell anyone about it.

9

¹ Jesus called the twelve disciples together. He gave them power and authority over all demons, and the ability to heal diseases.

² Then he sent them out to proclaim God's kingdom and to heal the sick.

³ "Take nothing with you for the journey," he told them. "No staff, no bag, no bread, no money, not even any extra clothes."

⁴ Whatever house you enter, stay there, and when you leave, leave from there.

⁵ If people refuse to accept you, shake the dust off your feet when you leave town as a warning against them."

⁷ Herod the tetrarch had heard about all that was happening,* and he was very puzzled. Some were saying that John had been raised from the dead;

* ^{8:55} Literally, "her breath/spirit returned." The word for breath or spirit is the same. ^{9:7} Particularly in reference to Jesus.

8 others that Elijah had appeared; still others that one of the ancient prophets had come back to life.

9 Herod said, "There's no question† I beheaded John. So who is this man? I'm hearing all these things about him." And he tried to find a way to meet Jesus.

10 When the apostles returned they reported to Jesus what they had done. Then he left with them and went to a town called Bethsaida.

11 However, the crowds found out where he was going and followed him there. He welcomed them and explained the kingdom of God to them, and healed those who needed healing.

12 Late in the day, the twelve disciples came to him and said, "You should send the crowd away now so they can go to the villages and farms nearby and find a place to stay and food to eat—there's nothing here where we are."

13 "You give them something to eat!" said Jesus.

"All we have here are five loaves and two fish—unless you want us to go and buy food for everyone," they said.

14 There were about five thousand men present.

"Sit them down in groups of about fifty," he told his disciples.

15 The disciples did so, and everybody sat down.

16 Jesus picked up the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he blessed the food and broke it into pieces. He kept on giving the food to the disciples to share with the people.

17 Everybody ate until they were full, and then twelve baskets of leftovers were collected.

18 At another time, when Jesus was praying in private with just his disciples with him, he asked them, "All these crowds of people—who do they say I am?"

20 "But what about you?" he asked. "Who do you say I am?"

"God's Messiah," Peter replied.

21 Jesus gave them strict orders not to tell anybody about this.

22 "The Son of man must experience terrible sufferings," he said. "He will be rejected by the elders, the chief priests, and the religious teachers. He will be killed, but on the third day he will rise again."

23 "If any one of you wants to follow me, you must deny yourself, pick up your cross daily, and follow me," Jesus told all of them.

24 "For if you want to save your life, you will lose it; and if you lose your life for my sake, you will save it.

25 What do you benefit by gaining the whole world if you end up lost or destroyed?

26 If you are ashamed of me and my message, the Son of man will be ashamed of you when he comes in his glory, and in the glory of the Father and the holy angels.

27 I tell you the truth, some standing here won't taste death until they see the kingdom of God."

† 9:9 Implied; reflecting the fact that the "I" is emphatic.

²⁸ About eight days later, after he had told them this, Jesus took Peter, John, and James with him and went up a mountain to pray.

²⁹ While he was praying, his face changed in appearance, and his clothing became a dazzling white.

³⁰ Two men appeared in brilliant glory. They were Moses and Elijah, and they began to talk with Jesus.

³¹ They spoke about his death,[‡] which would soon happen in Jerusalem.

³² Peter and the others were asleep. When they woke up they saw Jesus in his glory, and the two men standing next to him.

³³ As the two men were about to leave, Peter said to Jesus, "Master, it's great to be here. Let's make some shelters: one for you, one for Moses, and one for Elijah." He really didn't know what he was saying.

³⁵ A voice spoke from the cloud, saying, "This is my Son, the Chosen One. Listen to him!"

³⁸ A man in the crowd called out, "Teacher, please look at my son. He's my only child.

³⁹ A spirit possesses him and he screams immediately. It sends him into convulsions and makes him foam at the mouth. It hardly ever leaves him alone and it causes him a lot of pain.

⁴⁰ I begged your disciples to drive it out, but they couldn't."

⁴¹ "What an unbelieving and corrupt people you are! How long do I have to remain here with you, and put up with you?" said Jesus. "Bring your son here."

⁴² Even as the boy came over, the demon sent him into convulsions, throwing him to the ground. But Jesus intervened, rebuking the evil spirit and healing the boy, and then gave him back to his father.

⁴³ Everyone was amazed at this demonstration of God's power. However, even though everyone was amazed by all he did, Jesus warned his disciples,

⁴⁴ "Listen carefully to what I'm telling you: the Son of man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men."

⁴⁵ But they didn't understand what this meant. Its meaning was hidden from them so they didn't realize its implications, and they were afraid to ask him about it.

⁴⁷ But Jesus, knowing what they were arguing about, picked up and placed a small child next to him.

⁴⁸ Then he said to them, "Anyone who accepts this little child in my name accepts me, and anyone who accepts me accepts the one who sent me. Whoever is least among you all is the greatest."

⁴⁹ John spoke up, saying, "Master, we saw someone driving out demons in your name and we tried to stop him because he wasn't one of us."

[‡] 9:31 Literally, "departure."

⁵⁰ "Don't stop him," Jesus replied. "Anyone who isn't against you is for you."

⁵¹ As the time approached for him to ascend to heaven, Jesus was determined to go to Jerusalem.

⁵² He sent messengers on ahead to a Samaritan village to get things ready for him.

⁵³ But the people would not welcome him because he was determined to press on to Jerusalem.

⁵⁴ When James and John saw this, they asked Jesus, "Master, do you want us to call fire down from heaven to burn them up?"

⁵⁵ But Jesus turned, and reprimanded them.

⁵⁶ Then they proceeded to another village.

⁵⁷ While they were walking, one man told Jesus, "I will follow you wherever you go!"

⁵⁸ Jesus told the man, "Foxes have their dens, and wild birds have their nests, but the Son of man doesn't even have a place to rest his head."

⁵⁹ He told another man, "Follow me." But the man replied, "Master, first let me go home and bury my father."

⁶⁰ "Let the dead bury their own dead," Jesus replied. "You go and proclaim God's kingdom."

⁶¹ Another man said, "Lord, I will follow you! But first let me go home and say goodbye to my family."

⁶² But Jesus told him, "Nobody once they've started plowing and then looks back is fit for God's kingdom."

¹ After this, the Lord appointed seventy* other disciples, and sent them in pairs to every town and place that he planned to visit.

² "The harvest is large, but the number of workers is small," he told them. "Pray to the Lord of the harvest to send workers to his harvest fields."

³ So get on your way: I'm sending you like sheep among wolves.

⁴ Don't take any money or a bag or extra sandals, and don't spend time chatting with people you meet.

⁵ Whatever house you enter, first of all say, 'May this house have peace.'

⁶ If there's a peaceful person living there, then your peace will rest on them; if not, it will return to you.

⁷ Stay in that house, eating and drinking whatever they give you, for a worker deserves to be paid. Don't go from house to house.

⁸ If you enter a town and the people there welcome you, then eat what's set before you

⁹ and heal those who are sick. Tell them, 'God's kingdom has come to you.'

¹⁰ But if you enter a town and the people there don't welcome you, go through their streets telling them,

* 10:1 Some early texts read "seventy-two."

11 'We are wiping off even the dust from your town that clings to our feet to show you our disapproval.[†] But you should recognize this: God's kingdom has come.'

12 I tell you, in the Day of Judgment it will be better for Sodom than for such a town.

13 Shame on you Korazin! Shame on you Bethsaida! For if the miracles you saw happen had happened in Tyre and Sidon they would have repented a long time ago, and they would be sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

14 That's why in the judgment it will be better for Tyre and Sidon than for you.

15 And you, Capernaum, you won't be exalted to heaven; you will go down to Hades.

16 Anyone who hears you hears me, and anyone who rejects you rejects me. But anyone who rejects me rejects the one who sent me."

17 The seventy disciples returned in great excitement, saying, "Lord, even the demons do what we tell them in your name!"

19 Yes, I have given you power to tread on snakes and scorpions, and to overcome all the enemy's strength, and nothing will harm you.

20 But don't take delight that the spirits do what you tell them—just be glad that your names are written in heaven."

21 At that moment Jesus was filled with the joy of the Holy Spirit, and said, "I thank you Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for you hid these things from the wise and clever people and revealed them to children! Yes, Father, you were pleased to do it in this way.

22 My Father has handed over everything to me. No one understands the Son except the Father, and no one understands the Father except the Son, and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him."

23 When they were by themselves Jesus turned to the disciples and told them, "Those who see what you're seeing should be really happy!

24 I tell you, many prophets and kings have wanted to see what you're seeing, but they didn't see, and wanted to hear the things you're hearing, but didn't hear."

25 Once an expert in religious law stood up and tried to trap Jesus. "Teacher," he asked, "What do I have to do to gain eternal life?"

26 "What is written in the law? How do you read it?" asked Jesus.

27 "You shall love the Lord your God with your whole heart, and your whole spirit, and your whole strength, and your whole mind; and love your neighbor as yourself,"[‡] the man replied.

28 "You're right," Jesus told him. "Do this, and you will live."

29 But the man wanted to vindicate himself, so he asked Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?"

30 Jesus replied, saying, "A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho. He was attacked by robbers who stripped him and beat him, and left him for dead.

31 It so happened that a priest was going the same way. He saw the man, but he passed by on the other side of the road.

32 Then a Levite came along. But when he got to the place and saw the man, he also passed by on the other side.

[†] 10:11 "Disapproval"—implied. [‡] 10:27 Quoting Deuteronomy 6:5 and Leviticus 19:18.

³³ Finally a Samaritan man came along. As he passed by, he saw the man and felt sorry for him.

³⁴ He went over and treated the man's wounds with oil and wine, and bandaged them. Then he placed the man on his own donkey and took him to an inn where he took care of him.

³⁵ The next day he gave two denarii to the innkeeper and told him, "Take care of him, and if you spend more than this, I'll pay you back when I return."

³⁶ Which one of these three do you think was a neighbor to the man who was attacked by robbers?"

³⁷ "The one who showed him kindness," the man replied.

"Go and do the same," Jesus told him.

³⁸ While they were on their way,^S Jesus arrived at a village, and a woman called Martha invited him to her home.

³⁹ She had a sister called Mary, who sat at the Lord's feet and listened to his teaching.*

⁴⁰ Martha was concerned about all that needed to be done to prepare the meal, so she came to Jesus and said, "Master, don't you care that my sister has left me to do all the work by myself? Tell her to come and help me!"

⁴¹ "Martha, Martha," the Lord replied, "you're worried and upset about all this.

¹ Once Jesus was praying in a certain place. When he finished, one of his disciples asked him, "Lord, please teach us to pray, just as John taught his disciples."

² Jesus told them, "When you pray, say, 'Father, let your name be honored as holy. May your kingdom come.

³ Give us every day the food we need.

⁴ Forgive us our sins, just as we forgive everyone who sins against us. Keep us from temptation.' "

⁵ Jesus went on to tell them, "Say you have a friend and you go to him in the middle of the night and ask, 'My friend, lend me three loaves of bread

⁶ because a friend of mine has come to visit me, and I don't have any food to give him.'

⁷ Your friend in the house might reply, 'Don't bother me—I've already locked the door, and I and my children have gone to bed. I can't get up to give you anything now.'

⁸ I tell you, even though he refuses to get up and give you anything, despite you being his friend, if you are persistent, your friend will get up and give you everything you need.

^S 10:38 To Jerusalem. * 10:39 By doing this Mary identified herself as one of Jesus' disciples, and the fact that Jesus allowed this and defended her action shows that he accepted her as such. It may be that Martha's concern was more about this breaking of normal social protocol than for kitchen help, and that her complaint to Jesus was more of an excuse. Jesus' reply indicates that Mary's choice to be his disciple was more important, calling it the right thing that wouldn't be taken away from her.

⁹ I tell you: ask, and you shall receive; seek, and you shall find; knock, and the door shall be opened to you.

¹⁰ For everyone who asks, receives; and everyone who seeks, finds; and to everyone who knocks the door will be opened.

¹¹ Which of you fathers, if your son asks for a fish, would give him a snake instead?

¹² Or if he asks for an egg, would you give him a scorpion?

¹³ So if you, even though you are evil, still know to give good gifts to your children, how much more will the heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask him?"

¹⁴ Jesus was driving out a demon that had made a man dumb. When the demon had left, the man who was dumb spoke, and the crowds were amazed.

¹⁵ But some of them said, "He is driving out demons using the power of Beelzebub, the ruler of demons."

¹⁶ Others were trying to test Jesus by demanding a miraculous sign from heaven.

¹⁷ Jesus knew what they were thinking and said, "Any kingdom divided against itself will be destroyed. A family* divided against itself will fall.

¹⁸ If Satan is divided against himself, how can his kingdom stand? You say that I cast out demons using the power of Beelzebub.

¹⁹ But if I drive out demons by the power of Beelzebub, by whose power do your own people† drive them out? They themselves will condemn you as wrong!

²⁰ However, if I am driving out demons by the power of God, then this proves God's kingdom has arrived. It's right here among you!

²¹ When a strong man who is fully armed guards his house, all he owns is safe.

²² But if a stronger man comes and defeats him, taking from him all his weapons that he depended on, then he can carry off all his possessions.

²³ Anyone who is not with me is against me, and anyone who doesn't build together with me is breaking it all apart.

²⁴ When an evil spirit leaves someone, it goes through the desert looking for a place to stay. When it doesn't find anywhere, it says, 'I'll return to the house I left.'

²⁶ So it goes and finds seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they go in and live there. In the end that man is worse off than before."

²⁷ As he was speaking, a woman in the crowd called out, "Blessed is the womb from where you came and the breasts that nursed you."

²⁸ But Jesus said, "Even more blessed are those who hear God's word, and follow what it says."

²⁹ As people crowded around him, Jesus began telling them, "This is an evil generation for it's looking for some miraculous sign, but no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah.

³⁰ In the same way that Jonah was a sign to the people of Nineveh, so will the Son of man be a sign to this generation.

³¹ The queen of the south will rise in the judgment together with the people of this generation and will condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear Solomon's wisdom, and now there is someone greater than Solomon here!

* 11:17 Literally, "house." † 11:19 Literally, "sons."

³² The people of Nineveh rise in the judgment together with this generation, and will condemn it, for they repented when they heard Jonah's message, and now there's someone greater than Jonah here!

³³ No one lights a lamp and then hides it or places it under a bowl. No, you put it on a lamp stand so that those who come into the house can see the light.

³⁴ Your eye is the light for your body. When your eye is good, your whole body is full of light. But when your eye is bad, your body is in the dark.

³⁵ So make sure the light you have in you is not actually darkness.

³⁶ If your whole body is full of light, with no areas of darkness, then it will be completely illuminated, just as a bright lamp gives you light."

³⁷ After Jesus had finished speaking, a Pharisee invited him to come and eat with him. So Jesus went and sat down to a meal.

³⁸ The Pharisee was surprised that Jesus didn't wash his hands before eating as ceremonially required.

⁴¹ If, acting from within, you do acts of kindness to others, then everything will be clean to you.

⁴² Shame on you Pharisees! You pay tithe on herbs[‡] and plants, but you neglect justice and the love of God. You need to pay attention to the latter, while not leaving the former things undone.

⁴³ Shame on you Pharisees! You love to have the best seats in the synagogues, and to be greeted with respect when you go to the markets.

⁴⁴ Shame on you! You are like unmarked graves that people walk over without knowing."

⁴⁶ Jesus replied, "Shame on you lawyers too! You place burdens on people that are too hard to carry, but you don't lift a finger to help them.

⁴⁷ Shame on you! You build memorial tombs to honor the prophets, but it was your own fathers who killed them in the first place!

⁴⁸ By doing this you are witnesses showing that you agree with what your fathers did. They killed the prophets, and you build their tombs!

⁴⁹ This is why God in his wisdom said, 'I will send them prophets and apostles; some they will kill, and others they will persecute.'

⁵⁰ Consequently, this generation will be held accountable for the blood of all the prophets shed from the beginning of the world,

⁵¹ from the blood of Abel right up to the blood of Zachariah who was killed between the altar and the sanctuary. Yes, I tell you, this generation will be held accountable for all of it.

⁵² Shame on you lawyers! You have removed the key of knowledge. You didn't go in yourselves, and you prevented others from going in too."

⁵³ As Jesus was leaving, the religious teachers and the Pharisees began to attack him aggressively, asking questions to provoke him.

[‡] 11:42 Literally, "mint and rue."

⁵⁴ They were hoping to catch him out, trying to get him to say something they could use against him.

³ Whatever you have said in the dark will be heard in the light, and whatever you whispered in private will be announced from the rooftops.

⁴ I tell you, my friends, don't be afraid of those who kill the body, for once they've done that there's no more they can do.

⁵ Let me make it clear whom you should be afraid of. You should be afraid of the one who after he has killed has the power to dispose of them in Gehenna.* That's the one you should be afraid of.

⁶ Aren't five sparrows sold for two pennies? But God doesn't forget a single one of them.

⁷ Even the hairs on your head have been counted. Don't be afraid—you're worth more than many sparrows!

⁸ I tell you the truth, those who declare they belong to me, the Son of man will also declare they belong to him before God's angels,

¹⁰ Everyone who speaks against the Son of man will be forgiven, but anyone who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will not be forgiven.

¹¹ When you're brought to trial before synagogues, rulers, and authorities, don't worry about how to defend yourself, or what you should say.

¹² The Holy Spirit will teach you at that time what's important to say."

¹³ Someone in the crowd asked Jesus, "Teacher, please tell my brother to share the inheritance with me."

¹⁴ "My friend," Jesus replied, "Who appointed me as your judge to decide how your inheritance should be divided?" He told the people,

¹⁵ "Watch out, and beware of all greedy thoughts and actions, for a person's life isn't summed up by all the things they own."

¹⁶ Then he told them a story as an illustration. "Once there was a rich man who owned land that was very productive.

¹⁷ The man said to himself, 'What shall I do? I've nowhere to store my crops.

¹⁸ I know what I'll do,' he decided. 'I'll pull down my barns and build bigger ones, and then I'll be able to store all my crops and everything I own.

²⁰ But God said to him, 'You foolish man! Your life will be demanded back this very night, and then who will get everything you've stored up?'

* 12:5 The word here is Literally, "Gehenna," sometimes translated "hell" or "hellfire." Gehenna was the place outside of Jerusalem where fires were lit to dispose of rubbish by burning. "Hell" is a concept that is derived from Nordic and Anglo-Saxon mythology and does not parallel the idea here.

²¹ This is what happens to people who hoard up wealth for themselves but are not rich as far as God is concerned."

²³ Life is about more than food, and the body is about more than wearing clothes.

²⁴ Look at the ravens. They don't sow or reap, they don't have any storerooms or barns, but God feeds them. And you're far more valuable than birds!

²⁶ If you can't do anything about such small things, why worry about the rest?

²⁸ So if God clothes the fields with such beautiful flowers, which are here today but gone tomorrow when they are burned in a fire to heat an oven, how much more will God clothe you, you who have so little trust!

³⁰ These are all things that people in the world worry about, but your Father knows you need them.

³¹ Search for God's kingdom, and you'll be given these things as well.

³³ Sell what you have, and give the money to the poor. Get yourselves purses that don't wear out: treasure in heaven that will never run out, where no thief can steal it and no moth can destroy it.

³⁴ For what you value the most shows who you really are.

³⁵ Be dressed and ready, and keep your lamps lit,

³⁶ like servants waiting for their master when he returns from his wedding feast, prepared to open the door quickly for him when he comes and knocks.

³⁷ How good it will be for those servants that the master finds watching when he returns. I tell you the truth, he will get dressed, have them sit down for a meal, and will come and serve them himself!

³⁸ Even if he comes at midnight, or just before dawn—how good for them if he finds them watching and ready!

⁴¹ "Is this story you're telling just for us, or for everyone?" Peter asked.

⁴² The Lord replied, "Who then is the trustworthy and wise manager, the one person in the household that the master puts in charge to share out their food at the right time?

⁴⁵ But what if the servant were to say to himself, 'My master is taking a long time in coming,' and then starts beating the other servants, both men and women, feasting and getting drunk?

⁴⁷ That servant who knew what his master wanted and yet didn't get ready or follow his instructions, will be beaten severely;

⁴⁸ but the servant who didn't know and did things deserving punishment will be beaten only lightly. From those who are given much, much will be required, and from those who are entrusted with more, more will be demanded.

⁵⁰ But I have a baptism to go through, and I'm in agony, wishing it was over!

⁵¹ Do you think that I came to bring peace on earth? No, I tell you, I bring division.

⁵² From now on, if there are five in a family, they will be divided against each other: three against two, and two against three.

⁵³ They will be divided against each other—father against son, son against father, mother against daughter, daughter against mother, mother-in-law against daughter-in-law, and daughter-in-law against mother-in-law."[†]

⁵⁴ Then Jesus spoke to the crowds. "When you see a cloud rising in the west, you immediately say, 'a rain-shower's coming,' and it happens.

⁵⁵ When a south wind blows, you say 'it's going to be hot,' and it is.

⁵⁶ You hypocrites, how is it that you know how to rightly interpret the weather but you don't know how to interpret the present time?

⁵⁷ Why don't you think for yourselves and judge what's the right thing to do?

⁵⁸ As you go with your accuser to the magistrate, on the way you should be working on a settlement. Otherwise you may be dragged before the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison.

¹ It was around this time that some people told Jesus about Pilate's killing of some Galileans while they were offering sacrifices in the Temple.

² "Do you think that these Galileans were worse sinners than any other Galileans because they suffered like this?" Jesus asked.

³ "No, I tell you. But unless you repent, you will all perish as well.

⁴ What about those eighteen people that were killed when the tower in Siloam fell on them? Do you think they were the worst people in the whole of Jerusalem?

⁵ No, I tell you. But unless you repent, you will all perish as well."

[†] 12:53 See Micah 7:6.

⁶ Then he told them this story as an illustration. "Once there was man who had a fig tree planted in his vineyard. He came to look for fruit on the tree, but he didn't find any.

⁷ So he told the gardener, 'Look, for three years I've been coming to look for fruit on this fig tree and I haven't found any. Chop it down! Why should it be taking up space?'

⁸ 'Master,' the man replied, 'please leave it alone for just one more year. I'll dig the soil around it and put down some fertilizer.

⁹ If it produces fruit, then that's fine. If not, then chop it down.' "

¹⁰ One Sabbath Jesus was teaching in a synagogue,

¹¹ and a woman was there who had been crippled by an evil spirit for eighteen years. She was bent over and could not stand straight.

¹² When Jesus saw her, he called her over and told her, "You're freed of your sickness."

¹³ Then he placed his hands on her, and immediately she straightened up, and she praised God.

¹⁴ However, the synagogue leader was upset that Jesus had healed on the Sabbath. He said to the crowd, "There are six days for work. Come and be healed on those days, not on the Sabbath."

¹⁵ But the Lord answered him, "You hypocrites! Doesn't every one of you untie your ox or donkey from the stall and take it to drink?

¹⁶ Why shouldn't this woman, this daughter of Abraham whom Satan has kept tied up for eighteen years, be untied and set free this Sabbath day?"

¹⁷ What he said shamed all his opponents, but everyone in the crowd was delighted by all the wonderful things he was doing.

¹⁸ Then Jesus asked, "So what is the kingdom of God like? What should I compare it to?

¹⁹ It's like a mustard seed that a man planted in his garden. It grew into a tree, and the birds came and nested in its branches."

²⁰ He asked again, "What shall I compare the kingdom of God to?

²¹ It's like yeast that a woman took and mixed into three measures* of flour which made the whole batch rise."

²² Jesus went around the towns and villages, teaching on his way to Jerusalem.

²³ Someone asked him, "Lord, will only a few be saved?"

Jesus replied,

²⁴ "Try very hard to enter the narrow doorway, because I tell you that many will try to go in, and won't succeed.

²⁵ Once the house owner gets up and closes the door, you'll be standing outside knocking on the door, saying, 'Master, please open the door for us.' But he'll reply, 'I don't know you or where you're from.'

²⁶ Then you'll say, 'But we ate and drank with you, and you taught in our streets!'

²⁷ He'll reply, 'I tell you, I don't know you or where you're from. Get away from me, all of you who don't do what's good!'

²⁸ There will be crying and gnashing of teeth when you see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God but you are thrown out.

* 13:21 About 3 gallons or 13 liters.

²⁹ People will come from the east and the west, the north and the south, and they will sit down to eat in the kingdom of God.

³⁰ For the last shall be first, and the first shall be last."

³¹ At that moment some Pharisees came to Jesus and told him, "You should leave here. Herod wants to kill you!"

³² Jesus replied, "Go tell that fox that I will go on driving out demons and healing people for today and tomorrow, and on the third day I'll achieve what I came to do."[†]

³³ Well anyway I must continue on my way for today and tomorrow, and the day after. For it wouldn't be right for a prophet to die outside of Jerusalem!

³⁴ Oh Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you kill prophets and stone those who are sent to you! How often I have wanted to gather all your children together just like a hen does with her chicks under her wings, but you refused!

³⁵ Look, your house is left desolate, and I tell you that you won't see me again until you say, 'Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.' "[‡]

² A man was there whose arms and legs were swollen.

³ So Jesus asked the experts in religious law and the Pharisees, "Does the law allow healing on the Sabbath, or not?"

⁴ But they kept quiet. Jesus touched the man, healed him, and sent him on his way.

⁵ Then Jesus said to them, "If your son or your ox happened to fall into a well on the Sabbath, wouldn't you go and pull him out immediately?"

⁷ So he told a story to the guests, noticing how they'd chosen to sit in places of honor.

⁹ "Your host who invited you both will come and tell you, 'Give this man your place.' Then in embarrassment you'll have to move to whatever place is left.

¹⁰ Instead, when you're invited, take the lowest place, so that when your host comes in, he'll tell you, 'My friend, please move to a better seat.'^{*} Then you'll be honored before all the guests sitting with you.

¹¹ For those who exalt themselves will be humbled, and those who humble themselves will be exalted."

¹² Then he said to the man who had invited him, "When you give a lunch or a dinner, don't invite your friends, or your brothers, or your relatives, or your rich neighbors, for they may invite you back, and then you'd be repaid.

¹³ Instead, when you give a banquet, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind,

[†] 13:32 Or "achieve my goal." [‡] 13:35 Quoting Psalms 118:26.

^{*} 14:10 See Proverbs 25:7.

¹⁴ and you will be blessed, for they have nothing to repay you with, and you'll be rewarded at the resurrection of the good."

¹⁵ When one of them eating at the table with Jesus heard this, he said to Jesus, "How wonderful it will be for those who feast in the kingdom of God!"

¹⁶ "Once there was a man who prepared a great banquet, and invited many guests," Jesus replied.

¹⁷ "When it was time to eat he sent his servant out to tell everyone who had been invited, 'Come, because the banquet's ready.'

¹⁸ But they all started to make excuses. The first said, 'I've just bought a field and I have to go and see it. Please excuse me.'

¹⁹ Another said, 'I've just bought five pairs of oxen and have to go and try them out. Please excuse me.' Still another said,

²⁰ 'I've just got married, so I can't come.'

²¹ The servant returned and told his master what they'd said. The homeowner became angry and told his servant, 'Quickly, go out into the streets and alleys of the town, and bring in the poor and crippled and blind and lame.'

²² Then the servant said, 'Master, I did what you told me, but there are still empty places.'

²³ So the master told the servant, 'Go out on the country roads and lanes, and make people come—I want my house to be full.'

²⁴ I tell you, not a single one of those people I invited will get a taste of my banquet.' "

²⁵ A large crowd was accompanying Jesus. He turned to them and said,

²⁶ "If you want to follow me but you don't hate your father and mother, and wife and children, and brothers and sisters—even your own life—you can't be my disciple.

²⁷ If you don't carry your cross and follow me, you can't be my disciple.

²⁸ If you planned to build a tower, wouldn't you first work out how much it would cost, and see if you had enough money to complete it?

²⁹ Otherwise, if after laying the foundation you weren't able to finish it, everyone who saw it would laugh at you, saying,

³⁰ 'Look at him: he started building but he couldn't finish it.'

³¹ What king goes to war with another king without first sitting down with his advisors to work out whether he and his ten thousand can defeat the one marching against him with twenty thousand?

³³ In the same way every one of you who doesn't give up everything can't be my disciple.

³⁴ Salt is good, but if it loses its taste, how can you make it salty again?

³⁵ It's no good for the soil or for fertilizer—you just toss it out. Whoever has ears, then listen!"

15

³ So Jesus told them this story as an illustration.

⁴ “Imagine a man who had a hundred sheep lost one of them. Wouldn't he leave the ninety-nine in the open pasture, and search for the one that's lost until he finds it?

⁶ Once he gets home, he calls his friends and neighbors together, saying, ‘Come and celebrate with me! I've found my lost sheep!’

⁷ I tell you that there's more joy in heaven over a sinner that repents than over ninety-nine good people who don't need to repent.

⁸ Imagine a woman who has ten silver* coins, and loses one of them. Wouldn't she light a lamp and sweep the house, carefully searching until she finds it?

⁹ When she finds it, she calls her friends and neighbors together, saying, ‘Come and celebrate with me! I've found the silver coin that I lost.’

¹⁰ I tell you there is joy in the presence of God's angels over one sinner that repents.

¹² “The younger one told his father, ‘Father, give me my inheritance now.’ So the man divided his property between them.

¹³ A few days later the younger son packed up what he had and left for a distant country. Here he wasted all his money living a reckless life.

¹⁵ So he went and took a job with one of the farmers there who sent him to his fields to feed pigs.

¹⁶ He was so hungry that he would have eaten even the pig food,† but no one gave him anything.

¹⁷ When he came to his senses, he said to himself, ‘All of my father's workers have more than enough to eat—why am I dying from hunger here?’

¹⁹ I'm no longer worthy to be called your son. Please treat me as one of your hired workers.’

²⁰ So he left and went home to his father.

Even though he was still far away in the distance, his father saw him coming, and his heart went out to his son. The father ran to his son, hugging and kissing him.

²¹ The son said to him, ‘Father, I've sinned against heaven and against you. I'm no longer worthy to be called your son.’

²² But the father told his servants, ‘Quick—bring the best robe and put it on him. Put a ring on his finger and sandals on his feet.

²³ Bring the calf we've been fattening and kill it. Let's have a feast to celebrate

²⁴ because this is my son who was dead, but who has returned alive; he was lost but now he's found.’ So they started celebrating.

²⁵ Now the older son was working out in the fields. As he walked towards the house, he heard music and dancing.

²⁶ So he called one of the servants and asked what was going on.

* 15:8 Literally, drachma. † 15:16 Literally, “seed pods the pigs were eating.”

²⁸ The brother became angry. He refused to go in. So his father came out to plead with him.

²⁹ He told his father, 'Look, all these years I've served you, and never disobeyed you, but you never once gave me even a young goat so I could have a party with my friends.'

³⁰ Now this son of yours comes back, having spent your money on prostitutes, and you kill the fattened calf for him!

³¹ 'Son,' the father replied, 'you are always here with me. Everything I have is yours.'

³² But we should be happy and celebrate! This is your brother who was dead, but who has returned alive; he was lost but now he's found! "

² So the rich man called in his manager, and asked him, 'What's this I hear about you? Bring in your accounts, because you won't be continuing as manager.'

³ The manager said to himself, 'Now what will I do since my master is going to fire me from my job? I'm not strong enough to dig, and I'm ashamed to beg.'

⁴ Oh, I know what I'm going to do so that when I'm sacked as manager people will make me welcome in their homes.'

⁵ So he invited all those who were in debt to his master to come and see him. He asked the first one, 'How much do you owe my master?'

⁷ Then he said to another, 'How much do you owe?' The man replied, 'A hundred units† of wheat.' He said to him, 'Take your bill and change it to eighty.'

⁹ I tell you, use the wealth of this world to make friends for yourselves so that when it's gone, you'll be welcomed into an eternal home.

¹⁰ If you can be trusted with very little you can also be trusted with much; if you are dishonest with very little you will also be dishonest with much.

¹² And if you can't be trusted with what belongs to someone else, who will trust you with what is yours?

¹³ No servant can obey two masters. Either he will hate one and love the other, or he will be devoted to one and despise the other. You can't serve both God and Money."

* 16:6 One batos "bath" was equivalent to around 6 gallons or 22 liters. † 16:7 One koros "kor" was equivalent to 11 bushels or 390 liters.

¹⁴ The Pharisees, who loved money, heard what Jesus said and laughed at him.

¹⁵ But Jesus told them, "You appear pious to people, but God knows what you're thinking. What people value highly is detested by God.

¹⁶ What was written in the law and the prophets lasted until John. From then on the good news of the kingdom of God is being spread, and everyone is forcing their way in.

¹⁷ However, it's easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for the smallest point of the Law to disappear.

¹⁸ Any man who divorces his wife and marries someone else commits adultery, and a man who marries a divorced woman commits adultery.

²² Then the beggar died, and angels carried him away to be with Abraham. The rich man also died and was buried.

²³ In Hades, where he was in torment, he looked up and saw Abraham in the far distance, with Lazarus beside him.

²⁴ 'Father Abraham,' he called out, 'Have mercy on me and send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, because I'm burning in agony.'

²⁵ But Abraham replied, 'My son, remember that you enjoyed the good things of life, while Lazarus had a very poor life. Now he is here being comforted, while you suffer in torment.

²⁶ Apart from that, there's a great gulf that stretches between us and you. Nobody who wants to cross from here to you can do so, and nobody can cross from there over to us.'

²⁷ The rich man said, 'Then Father, I beg you, please send him to my father's house.

²⁸ For I have five brothers and he can warn them so that they don't end up here in this place of torment.'

²⁹ But Abraham replied, 'They have Moses and the prophets. They should listen to them.'

³⁰ 'No, father Abraham,' said the man. 'But they would repent if someone went to them from the dead!'

³¹ Abraham said to him, 'If they won't listen to Moses and the prophets, they won't be convinced even if someone returns from the dead.' "

¹ Jesus said to his disciples, "Temptations are unavoidable, but it will be a disaster for those through whom they come!

² For such people it would be better to have a millstone hung around the neck and be thrown into the sea than to cause these little ones to sin.

³ So take care what you do. If your brother sins, warn him; and if he repents, forgive him.

[‡] 16:19 Purple clothes were very expensive.

⁴ Even if he sins against you seven times a day, and seven times comes back and tells you, 'I'm really sorry,' forgive him."

⁵ The apostles said to the Lord, "Help us to have more trust!"

⁶ The Lord replied, "Even if your trust was as small as a mustard seed, you could say to this mulberry tree, 'Uproot yourself, and plant yourself in the sea,' and it would obey you.

⁷ Say you have a servant who does plowing or shepherding. When he comes in from work, do you say to him, 'Come in and sit down now for a meal'?

⁸ No. You say to him, 'Prepare a meal for me, get yourself dressed, and serve me until I've finished my meal. After that you can have your meal.'

⁹ And do you thank the servant for doing what you told him? No.

¹⁰ Likewise once you've done everything you were told, you should simply say, 'We are undeserving servants. We just did our duty.' "

¹² As he entered a particular village, ten lepers met him, standing at a distance.

¹³ They called out, "Jesus, Master, please have mercy on us."

¹⁴ When Jesus saw them, he said to them, "Go and show yourselves to the priests." * On their way there, they were healed.

¹⁵ One of them when he saw that he was healed, returned to Jesus, shouting praises to God.

¹⁶ He fell down at Jesus' feet, thanking him. He was a Samaritan.

¹⁷ "Weren't ten lepers healed?" Jesus asked. "Where are the other nine?"

¹⁸ Didn't anyone else come back to praise God—only this foreigner?"

¹⁹ Jesus told the man, "Get up and go on your way. Your trust has healed you."

²⁰ Once, when the Pharisees came and asked him when God's kingdom would come, Jesus replied, "God's kingdom doesn't come with visible signs that you can observe.

²¹ People won't be saying, 'Look, it's here' or 'Look, it's there,' for God's kingdom is among you." †

²² Then Jesus told the disciples, "The time is coming when you'll long to see the day ‡ when the Son of man comes, but you won't see it.

²³ They'll be telling you, 'Look, there he is,' or 'Look, here he is,' but don't go running off after them.

²⁶ The time when the Son of man comes will be like it was in Noah's day.

²⁷ People went on eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage until the day Noah went into the ark. Then the flood came and destroyed them all.

²⁸ It will be like it was in Lot's day. People went on eating and drinking, buying and selling, planting and building.

* 17:14 See Leviticus 14. † 17:21 Or "within you." ‡ 17:22 Literally, "one of the days."

³⁰ The day when the Son of man appears will be just like that.

³¹ If you're up on the roof that day don't go down and get your things; and if you're out in the fields don't go back home either.

³² Remember Lot's wife!

³³ If you try to hold on to your life you'll lose it; but if you lose your life you'll save it.

³⁵ Two women will be grinding grain, one will be taken; and the other left."

³⁶ §

³⁷ "Where, Lord?" they asked. "Where the carcass is, that's where the vultures gather," Jesus replied.

18

¹ Jesus told them this story to encourage them to pray at all times, and not to become discouraged.

² "Once there was a judge in this particular town who didn't respect God or care about anyone," Jesus explained.

³ "In the same town lived a widow who time and again went to the judge, saying, 'Give me justice in the case against my enemy!'

⁴ For a while he didn't want to do anything about it, but eventually he said to himself, 'Even though I don't respect God or care about anyone,

⁵ this widow is so annoying I'll make sure she receives justice. Then she won't wear me out by her coming to see me so often.'

⁶ Listen to what even an unjust judge decided," said the Lord.

⁷ "Don't you think that God will make sure his chosen people receive justice, those who cry out to him day and night? Do you think he will make them wait?

⁸ No, I tell you, he will give them justice quickly. However, when the Son of man comes, will he find people on earth who trust in him?"

¹⁰ "Two men went to the Temple to pray. One was a Pharisee, and the other a tax collector.

¹¹ The Pharisee stood up and prayed to himself, 'God, I thank you that I am not like other people—cheats, criminals,* adulterers—or even like this tax collector.

¹² I fast twice a week, and I pay tithe on my income.'

¹³ But the tax collector stood at a distance. He wouldn't even look up to heaven. Instead he beat his chest and prayed, 'God, please be merciful to me. I am a sinner.'

¹⁴ I tell you, it was this man who went home right in God's sight and not the other. For those who exalt themselves will be humbled, while those who humble themselves will be exalted."

15 Parents were bringing their infants to Jesus to have him bless them by his touch. When the disciples saw what was happening, they tried to stop them.

16 But Jesus called the children to him. "Let the little children come to me," he said. "Don't prevent them, for the kingdom of God belongs to those who are like them.

17 I tell you the truth, anyone who doesn't welcome the kingdom of God like a little child will never enter it."

18 One of the rulers came to Jesus and asked him, "Good Teacher, what do I have to do to inherit eternal life?"

19 "Why do you call me good?" Jesus replied. "No one is good, only God.

20 You know the commandments: do not commit adultery, do not murder, do not steal, do not give false testimony, honor your father and mother."[†]

21 "I've kept all these commandments since I was young," the man replied.

22 When Jesus heard this he told the man, "You still lack one thing. Go and sell all you have, give the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come and follow me!"

23 But when the man heard this he became very sad, for he was very wealthy.

24 When he saw his reaction, Jesus said, "How difficult it is for the rich to enter the kingdom of God!

25 It's easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich person to enter the kingdom of God."

26 Those who heard this wondered, "Who can be saved then?"

27 Jesus replied, "What is impossible in human terms is possible for God."

28 Peter said, "We left everything to follow you!"

29 "I tell you the truth," Jesus told them, "anybody who leaves behind their home, wife, brothers, parents, or children for the sake of God's kingdom

30 will receive so much more in this life, and eternal life in the world to come."

31 Jesus took the twelve disciples aside, and told them, "We're going to Jerusalem, and all that the prophets wrote about the Son of man will be fulfilled.

32 He will be handed over to the foreigners[‡] he will be mocked, insulted, and spat upon.

33 They will flog him and kill him, but on the third day he will rise again."

34 But they didn't understand anything Jesus told them. The meaning was hidden from them and they didn't grasp what he was talking about.

35 As Jesus approached Jericho a blind man was sitting beside the road begging.

36 He heard the crowd going past, so he asked what was happening.

37 They told him, "Jesus of Nazareth is passing by."

38 He called out, "Jesus, son of David, please have mercy on me!"

39 Those at the front of the crowd told him to stop shouting and be quiet, but he only shouted louder, "Son of David, please have mercy on me!"

40 Jesus stopped and told them to bring the blind man to him. As he came over, Jesus asked him,

[†] 18:20 Quoting Exodus 20:12-16 or Deuteronomy 5:16-20. [‡] 18:32 Literally, "Gentiles."

⁴¹ "What do you want me to do for you?"

"Lord, please, I want to see," he pleaded.

⁴² "Then see!" Jesus told him. "Your trust in me has healed you."

⁴³ Immediately the man could see. He followed Jesus, praising God. Everyone there who saw what happened also praised God.

² A man was there named Zacchaeus, a chief tax collector. He was very rich.

³ He wanted to see who Jesus was, but because he was short he couldn't see over the crowd.

⁵ When Jesus got there, he looked up and said, "Zacchaeus, come down quickly! I need to stay at your house today."

⁶ Zacchaeus climbed down quickly and was so happy to welcome Jesus to his home.

⁷ When the people saw this they all complained, "He's gone to stay with such a sinner!"

⁸ But Zacchaeus stood up and said before the Lord, "Look, I'm giving half of everything I own to the poor, and if I've cheated anybody, I'll pay them back four times as much!"

¹⁰ For the Son of man came to search for and save those who are lost."

¹¹ While they were still paying attention, Jesus told them a story for they were close to Jerusalem and the people thought that God's kingdom was going to become a reality right away.

¹² "Once there was a nobleman who left home to go to a distant country to be crowned king there, and then to return.

¹³ He called ten of his servants, divided money* equally among them, and told them, 'Invest this money until I return.'

¹⁴ But his people hated him, and sent a delegation after him to say, 'We won't have this man as king over us.'

¹⁵ After he had been crowned king he returned. He ordered his servants brought to him. He wanted to know what profit they had made by investing the money he had given them.

¹⁶ The first servant came in and said, 'Lord, your money has earned ten times as much.'

¹⁷ 'Well done! You're a good servant,' said the king. 'Since you proved yourself trustworthy in a very small matter, I'm placing you in charge of ten cities.'

¹⁸ The second servant came in and said, 'Lord, your money has earned five times as much.'

²⁰ Another servant came in and said, 'Lord, look, here's your money back. I kept it safe, wrapped up in a cloth.'

* 19:13 Money: actually one mina, worth 100 drachmas, equivalent to 100 days pay.

²¹ I was afraid of you because you're a hard man. You take what doesn't belong to you, and you harvest what you didn't plant.'

²² 'I'll judge you by your own words,' the king replied. 'You know I'm a hard man, who as you say, takes what doesn't belong to me, and I harvest what I didn't plant.'

²³ Why then didn't you deposit my money in the bank, so that when I returned I could have had my money with interest?'

²⁴ The king told those who were standing beside him, 'Take the money away from him, and give it to the one who made ten times as much.'

²⁵ 'But master, he already has ten times as much,' they replied.

²⁶ The king said, 'I tell you, to those who have, more will be given; but those who do not have, even what they have will be taken away from them.'

²⁷ And as for my enemies who didn't want me to be king over them, bring them here and kill them in front of me.' "

²⁹ As he approached Bethphage and Bethany on the Mount of Olives, he sent two disciples, telling them:

³⁰ "Go to the village farther on. As you enter it you'll find a colt tied up that no one has ever ridden. Untie it and bring it here.

³¹ If anyone asks you, 'Why are you untying it?' just say, 'The Lord needs it.' "

³³ As they were untying the colt, its owners asked them, "Why are you untying the colt?"

³⁴ The disciples replied, "The Lord needs it."

³⁵ They brought the colt to Jesus. Then they threw their cloaks over it, and sat Jesus on its back.

³⁷ As he approached Jerusalem,[†] right where the road goes down from the Mount of Olives, the crowd of disciples all began shouting joyful praises to God at the top of their voices for all the miracles they had seen.

³⁸ "Blessed is the king who comes in the name of the Lord,"[‡] they shouted. "Peace in heaven and glory in highest heaven."§

³⁹ Some of the Pharisees who were in the crowd said to Jesus, "Teacher, stop your disciples from saying that."

⁴⁰ But Jesus replied, "I tell you that if they kept quiet then the stones will shout!"

⁴¹ But as he got closer, he saw the city and wept over it.

⁴² "I really wish today that you, even you, had known the path that leads to peace!" he said. "But now it's hidden from your eyes."

⁴³ The time is coming upon you when your enemies will besiege you, building ramps to attack you, encircling you and closing you in from every side.

⁴⁴ They will smash you to the ground, you and your children within you. They won't leave one stone on another within you, for you refused to accept salvation when it came to you."

⁴⁵ Jesus entered the Temple and began driving out all the people trading* there.

⁴⁶ He told them, "Scriptures state that 'my house will be a house of prayer,'† but you've turned it into a den of thieves."‡

¹ Once when Jesus was teaching the people in the Temple, telling them the good news, some of the chief priests and religious teachers came with the elders.

² They asked him, "Tell us: by whose authority are you doing what you do? Who gave you the right to do this?"

³ "Let me ask you a question too," Jesus replied. "Tell me:

⁴ the baptism of John—was it from heaven, or was it just human?"

⁵ They talked about it among themselves: "If we say it was from heaven, he'll ask, 'Then why didn't you believe him?'"

⁶ And if we say it was just human, everybody will stone us for they're sure John was a prophet."

⁷ So they answered, "We don't know where it came from."

⁸ Jesus replied, "Then I won't tell you by whose authority I do what I do."

⁹ Then he began to tell the people a story:

"Once there was a man who planted a vineyard, leased it to some farmers, and went to live in another country for a long while.

¹⁰ At harvest time he sent a servant to the tenant farmers to collect his share of the crop, but the farmers beat the servant and sent him away with nothing.

¹² So he sent a third servant, but they wounded him and threw him out.

¹³ The owner of the vineyard asked himself, 'What shall I do? I know, I'll send my son whom I love. Perhaps they will respect him.'

¹⁴ But when they saw him coming, the farmers said to themselves, 'This is the owner's heir. Let's kill him! That way we can take his inheritance.'

¹⁵ They threw him out of the vineyard and killed him. Now what will the owner of the vineyard do to them?

¹⁶ He will come and kill these farmers and let others have the vineyard."

When they heard the story, they said, "May this never happen!"

¹⁷ But Jesus looked at them and said, "Then why is it written in the Scriptures, 'The stone the builders rejected has now become the chief cornerstone'?"

¹⁸ Anyone who falls on that stone will be broken in pieces; anyone it falls upon will be crushed."

* 19:45 Particularly in reference to those selling animals for sacrifice. † 19:46 Quoting Isaiah 56:7. ‡ 19:46 Quoting Jeremiah 7:11. * 20:17 Quoting Psalms 118:22.

19 Immediately the religious teachers and the chief priests wanted to arrest him because they realized that the story Jesus told was aimed at them, but they were afraid of what the people would do.

20 Watching for an opportunity they sent spies who pretended to be sincere. They tried to catch Jesus out in something he said so they could hand him over to the power and authority of the governor.

21 They said, “Teacher, we know that you speak and teach what is good and right, and that you’re not swayed by the opinions of others. You truly teach the way of God.

22 So should we pay taxes to Caesar or not?”

23 But Jesus saw through their trickery, and said to them,

24 “Show me a coin—a denarius.[†] Whose image and inscription is on it?” “Caesar’s,” they answered.

25 “Then give back to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, and give back to God what belongs to God,” he told them.

26 They weren’t able to trap him by what he told the people. They were stunned at his reply, and fell silent.

27 Then some of the Sadducees, who deny the resurrection, came to Jesus with this question:

28 “Teacher,” they began, “Moses gave us a law that if a married man dies leaving a wife without children, then his brother should marry the widow and have children for his dead brother.[‡]

29 Once there were seven brothers. The first had a wife, and died without having children.

30 The second

31 and then the third brother also married her. In the end all seven brothers married her, and then died without having children.

32 Finally the wife died too.

33 Now whose wife will she be in the resurrection, since all seven brothers had married her?”

34 “Here in this age people marry and are given in marriage,” Jesus explained.

35 “But those who are considered worthy to share in the age to come and the resurrection from the dead don’t marry or are given in marriage.

36 They can’t die any longer; they’re like the angels and are children of God since they’re children of the resurrection.

37 But on the question of whether the dead are raised, even Moses proved this when he wrote about the burning[§] bush, when he calls the Lord, ‘the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.’^{*}

38 He is not the God of the dead, but of the living, for to him they all are alive.”

40 After this no one dared to ask him any more questions.

41 Then Jesus asked them, “Why is it said that Christ is the son of David?

42 For David himself says in the book of Psalms: The Lord said to my Lord, ‘Sit at my right hand

[§] 20:37 “Burning bush”—the Greek simply says “bush.” ^{*} 20:37 Quoting Exodus 3:6.

⁴³ until I make all your enemies a footstool for your feet.[†]

⁴⁴ David calls him 'Lord,' so how can he be David's son?"

⁴⁵ While everyone was paying attention, he said to his disciples,

⁴⁶ "Watch out for religious leaders who like to go around in long robes, and love to be greeted with respect in the markets, and to have the best seats in the synagogues and places of honor at banquets.

⁴⁷ They cheat widows out of what they own,[‡] and cover up the kind of people they really are with long-winded prayers. They will receive severe condemnation in the judgment."

² He also saw a very poor widow put in two small coins.[†]

³ "I tell you the truth," he said, "this poor widow has put in more than all the rest together.

⁴ All of them gave from their wealth what they had, but she gave from her poverty all she had to live on."

⁵ Some of those[‡] there were talking about the Temple, its fine stonework and the beautiful gifts that had been donated. But Jesus said,

⁶ "Regarding these things you're looking at... The time is coming when not one stone will be left on another; everything will be destroyed!"

⁷ "Teacher, when will this happen?" they asked him. "What will be the sign that these things are about to happen?"

⁸ "Make sure you're not deceived," Jesus warned them. "Many people will come claiming to be me,[§] saying, 'Here I am!' and, 'The time has come!' but don't follow them.

¹⁰ Nation will fight nation, and kingdom will fight kingdom," he told them.

¹² But before all this, they will seize you and persecute you. They will drag you before synagogues and throw you into prison, and put you on trial before kings and governors on account of me.

¹⁴ So make up your mind beforehand not to worry about how to defend yourselves,

¹⁵ for I will give you words of wisdom that your enemies won't be able to dispute or contradict.

¹⁶ You will be betrayed even by your parents, brothers, relatives, and friends, and they will kill some of you.

¹⁷ Everyone will hate you because of me.

¹⁸ But not a single hair of your head will be lost.

[†] 20:43 Quoting Psalms 110:1. [‡] 20:47 Literally, "they devour widow's houses." * 21:1 In the Temple. (See 20:1.) [†] 21:2 Small low value coins called lepta. [‡] 21:5 Probably some of the disciples, see Mark 13:1. [§] 21:8 Or "come in my name."

19 By standing firm you will gain your lives.*

20 However, when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then you know that its destruction is near.

21 Those who are in Judea should run away to the mountains, and those who are in Jerusalem should leave, and those who are the countryside shouldn't enter the city.

22 For these are days of punishment, fulfilling all that's written.

23 How hard it will be for those who are pregnant or nursing babies at that time! For terrible trouble is coming on the land and punishment against this people.

24 They will be killed by the sword and taken away as prisoners to all the nations. Jerusalem will be trodden down by the foreign nations until their time is fulfilled.

25 There will be signs in the sun, moon, and stars, and on the earth the nations will be in distress, confused by the sea's rolling and crashing.

26 People will be faint from fear, terrified about what is happening to the world, for the powers of heaven will be shaken.

27 Then they'll see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.†

28 But when these things happen, stand up and look up, because you will soon be saved."

29 Then he told them this story as an illustration. "Look at the fig tree, or any other kind of tree.

30 When you see new leaves appear, you don't need to be told that summer is near.

31 In the same way, when you see these things happening, you don't need to be told that God's kingdom is near.

32 I tell you the truth, this generation won't come to an end before all this happens.

33 Heaven and earth will come to an end, but my word will not.

34 Watch out that you don't become distracted by partying or getting drunk or by the worries of this life, so that this day‡ catches you by surprise.

35 For this day will come upon everyone who lives on the face of the earth.

36 Always keep watch and pray, so that you may be able to escape all that will happen and stand before the Son of man."

37 Every day Jesus taught in the Temple, and every evening he went and stayed on the Mount of Olives.

38 All the people came early in the morning to listen to him in the Temple.

22

1 Now the Festival of Unleavened Bread, also called the Passover, was approaching.

2 The chief priests and religious teachers were looking for a way to kill Jesus, but were afraid of what the people would do.

* 21:19 Meaning eternal life, or even that you gain who you really were intended to be. † 21:27 See Daniel 7:13-14. ‡ 21:34 "This day"—the coming of the Son of man.

⁴ He went and discussed with the chief priests and guard officers how he could betray Jesus.

⁵ They were delighted, and offered him money.

⁶ He agreed, and began to look for an opportunity to hand over Jesus when a crowd would not be there.

⁷ The Day of Unleavened Bread arrived when the Passover lamb had to be sacrificed.

⁸ Jesus sent Peter and John, telling them, “Go and prepare the Passover meal, so we can eat it together.”

⁹ They asked him, “Where do you want us to prepare for it?”

¹⁰ He replied, “When you enter the city you’ll meet a man carrying a jar of water. Follow him and go into the house he enters.

¹¹ Tell the owner of the house that the Teacher asks you, ‘Where is the dining room where I can eat the Passover with my disciples?’

¹² He’ll show you a large upstairs room that already has the necessary furniture. Prepare the meal there.”

¹³ They went and found that everything was just as he had told them, and they prepared the Passover meal there.

¹⁴ When the time came, he sat down at the table with his apostles. He told them, ¹⁵ “I’ve been really looking forward to eating this Passover meal with you before my sufferings begin.

¹⁶ I tell you I shall not eat it again until the time is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.”

¹⁷ Jesus took the cup, and after he had given thanks, he said, “Take this and share it among yourselves.

¹⁸ I tell you that I won’t drink again of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.”

¹⁹ He picked up some bread, and after he had given thanks, he broke it into pieces and gave it to them. “This is my body which is given for you; do this in order to remember me,” Jesus told them.

²⁰ In the same way after they had finished supper, he picked up the cup and said, “This cup is the new agreement* in my blood which is poured out for you.”

²² For it has been determined that the Son of man will die, yet how disastrous it will be for his betrayer!”

²⁴ At the same time they also got into a quarrel about which of them was the most important.

²⁵ Jesus told them, “Foreign kings lord it over their subjects, and those having power even want people to call them ‘benefactors.’

²⁶ But it should not be so with you! Whoever is highest among you should be like the lowest, and the leader should be like a servant.

²⁷ Who is greater—the one who sits at the table, or the one who serves? Isn’t it the one who sits at the table? But I’m among you as the one who serves.

²⁸ You have stayed with me throughout my trials.

* 22:20 Or “covenant.” † 22:21 Literally, “the hand of the one betraying me.”

²⁹ And I grant to you authority to rule, just as my Father granted it to me,

³⁰ so that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

³¹ "Simon, Simon—Satan has asked to have all of you[‡] to sift like wheat,

³² but I have prayed for you that your trust in me may not fail. And when you have returned,[§] encourage your brothers."

³³ Peter said, "Lord, I'm ready to go with you to prison, and to die with you!"

³⁴ Jesus replied, "I'm telling you, Peter, before the cock crows today, you will deny three times that you know me."

³⁵ Jesus asked them, "When I sent you out without money, without a bag, and without an extra pair of sandals, did you lack anything?"

"No, nothing," they replied.

³⁶ "But now, if you have money you should take it, as well as a bag, and if you don't have a sword, sell your cloak and buy one.

³⁷ I tell you that this statement in Scripture about me must be fulfilled: 'He was counted with the wicked.'^{*} What was said about me is now being fulfilled."

"That's enough," he replied.

⁴⁰ When he arrived he said to them, "Pray that you don't give in to temptation."

⁴¹ Then he left them and walked about a stone's throw away, where he knelt down and prayed.

⁴² "Father," he prayed, "if you're willing, please take away this cup of suffering from me. But I want to do what you want, not what I want."

⁴³ Then an angel appeared from heaven to strengthen him.

⁴⁵ He finished praying, stood up, and went over to the disciples. He found them asleep, worn out by grief.

⁴⁶ "Why are you sleeping?" he asked them. "Get up and pray so that you won't fall into temptation."

⁴⁸ But Jesus asked him, "Judas, are you betraying the Son of man with a kiss?"

⁴⁹ Jesus' followers asked him, "Lord, should we attack them with our swords?"

[‡] 22:31 The first "you" in this statement is plural, the rest are singular, applying specifically to Peter. [§] 22:32 Meaning "return to the truth." ^{*} 22:37 Quoting Isaiah 53:12. [†] 22:44 The authenticity of verses 43 and 44 are disputed. Manuscript evidence is divided.

⁵² Then Jesus spoke to the chief priests, and the officers of the Temple guard, and the elders. "Am I some kind of criminal that you had to come with swords and clubs?" he asked.

⁵³ "You didn't arrest me before, even though I was with you in the Temple every day. But this is your moment now, the time when darkness is in power."

⁵⁴ They arrested him and led him away, taking him to the chief priest's house. Peter followed at a distance.

⁵⁶ As he sat there, a servant girl noticed him in the firelight, and stared directly at him and said,

⁵⁷ "This man was with him." But Peter denied it. "Woman, I don't know him!" he said.

⁵⁸ A little later someone else looked at him and said, "You're also one of them." "No, I'm not!" Peter replied.

⁵⁹ About an hour later, another person insisted, "I'm sure he was with him too—he's a Galilean."

⁶⁰ "I've no idea what you're talking about!" Peter replied. Right then, while he was still speaking, the cock crowed. The Lord turned and looked at Peter.

⁶¹ And Peter remembered what the Lord had said, how he'd told him: "Before the cock crows today, you'll deny me three times."

⁶² Peter went out and wept bitterly.

⁶³ The men guarding Jesus began to mock him and beat him.

⁶⁴ They put a blindfold on him, and then asked him, "If you can prophesy, tell us who hit you that time!"

⁶⁵ and shouted many other insults at him.

⁶⁶ Early in the morning the council of elders gathered together with the chief priests and religious teachers. Jesus was led before the council.

⁶⁷ "If you really are the Messiah, then tell us," they said.

"Even if I were to tell you, you wouldn't believe me," Jesus replied.

⁶⁸ "And if I were to ask you a question, you wouldn't answer.

⁶⁹ But from now on the Son of man will sit at the right hand of the mighty God."[‡]

⁷⁰ They all asked, "So are you the son of God?"

"You say that I am," Jesus replied.

⁷¹ "Why do we need any more witnesses?" they said. "We've heard it ourselves from his own mouth!"

² There they started to accuse him. "We found this man deceiving our nation, telling people not to pay taxes to Caesar, and claiming he is Messiah, a king," they said.

³ "Are you the King of the Jews?" Pilate asked him.

"So you say," replied Jesus.

⁴ Then Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, "I don't find this man guilty of any crime."

[‡] 22:69 See Psalms 110:1.

⁶ When he heard this, Pilate asked, “Is this man a Galilean?”

⁷ When he discovered that Jesus came under Herod’s jurisdiction, he sent him to Herod who was also in Jerusalem at the time.

⁸ Herod was very pleased to see Jesus since he had wanted to meet him for a long time. He had heard about Jesus and was hoping to see him perform a miracle.

¹⁰ The chief priests and religious teachers stood there, angrily accusing him.

¹³ Pilate called together the chief priests, rulers, and the people,

¹⁴ and told them, “You brought this man before me, accusing him of inciting the people to rebellion. I’ve carefully examined him in your presence, and do not find him guilty of the charges you have brought against him.

¹⁵ Neither did Herod, for he sent him back to us. He has done nothing that demands he should be put to death.

¹⁶ So I will have him flogged and then release him.”

¹⁷ *

¹⁹ (Barabbas had been put in prison for taking part in a rebellion in the city, and for murder.)

²⁰ Pilate wanted to release Jesus, so spoke to them again.

²¹ But they kept on shouting, “Crucify him! Crucify him!”

²² Pilate asked them for the third time, “But why? What crime has he committed? I don’t find any reason for executing him. So I will have him flogged and then release him.”

²⁴ and Pilate gave the sentence they demanded.

²⁵ He released the man imprisoned for rebellion and murder, but he sent Jesus to be put to death in accordance with their demands.[†]

²⁶ As the soldiers[‡] led him away, they seized a man called Simon of Cyrene, who had come in from the countryside. They put the cross on him and made him carry it behind Jesus.

²⁷ A large crowd followed him, along with women who were mourning and lamenting him.

²⁸ Jesus turned to them and said, “Daughters of Jerusalem, don’t weep for me. Weep for yourselves and your children.

* 23:17 Verse 17 is not in most early manuscripts. † 23:25 Literally, “handed Jesus over to their will.” It does not say that Pilate handed Jesus over to the Jews, since Jesus was executed by the Romans, but that Pilate acceded to their demands for Jesus’ death. ‡ 23:26 Implied.

²⁹ For the time is coming when they'll say, 'Happy are those who are childless, and those who never had babies, and those who never nursed them.'

³⁰ They'll say to the mountains, 'Fall down on us,' and to the hills, 'Cover us.'[§]

³¹ For if they do this to wood that is green, what will happen when it's dried out?"^{*}

³² They also took two others who were criminals to be executed with him.

³⁴ Jesus said, "Father, please forgive them, for they don't know what they're doing." They divided up his clothes by throwing dice for them.[†]

³⁵ The people stood and watched and the leaders sneered at Jesus. "He saved others, let him save himself, if he is really God's Messiah, the Chosen One,"[‡] they said.

³⁶ The soldiers also mocked him, coming up to him and offering him wine vinegar, saying,

³⁷ "If you're the King of the Jews, then save yourself."

³⁸ Above Jesus was a sign on which it was written, "This is the King of the Jews."

³⁹ One of the criminals hanging there joined in the insults against Jesus. "Aren't you the Messiah?" he asked. "Then save yourself—and us too!"

⁴⁰ But the other criminal disagreed and argued with him, "Don't you fear God even when you're suffering the same punishment?" he asked.

⁴¹ "For us the sentence is right since we're being punished for what we did, but this man didn't do anything wrong."

⁴² Then he said, "Jesus, please remember me when you come into your kingdom."

⁴³ Jesus replied, "I promise you today you will be with me in paradise."

⁴⁴ By this time it was around noon and darkness fell over the whole land until three in the afternoon.

⁴⁵ The sun's light was shut out, and the Temple veil was torn in two.

⁴⁶ Jesus called out in a loud voice, "Father, I place myself in your hands."[§] Having said this he breathed his last.^{*}

⁴⁸ When all the crowds that had come to watch saw what happened they went home beating their chests in grief.

⁴⁹ But all those who knew Jesus, including the women who'd followed him from Galilee, watched from a distance.

⁵¹ but he hadn't agreed with its decisions and actions. He came from the Jewish town of Arimathea, and was waiting expectantly for the kingdom of God.

[§] 23:30 Quoting Hosea 10:8. ^{} 23:31 Meaning that things become worse later. [†] 23:34 See Psalms 22:18. [‡] 23:35 See Psalms 22:7. [§] 23:46 Quoting Psalms 31:5. ^{} 23:46 "Myself": Literally, "my spirit." Breath and spirit are the same word.

⁵² Joseph went to Pilate and asked for Jesus' body.

⁵³ Once he'd taken it down, he wrapped it in a linen cloth. He laid Jesus in an unused tomb cut into the rock.

⁵⁴ It was preparation day[†] and the Sabbath would soon begin.

⁵⁶ They returned home and prepared spices and ointments.[‡] But on the Sabbath they rested, observing the commandment.

² They found that the stone had been rolled away from the entrance to the tomb,

³ but when they went in they didn't find the body of the Lord Jesus.

⁴ While they were wondering what was going on, two men suddenly appeared dressed in clothes that shone brilliantly.

⁵ The women were terrified and bowed down, their faces on the ground.

They said to the women, "Why are you looking for someone who is alive among the dead?"

⁶ He's not here; he's risen from the dead! Remember what he told you while you were still in Galilee:

⁷ 'The Son of man must be betrayed into the hands of evil men, be crucified, and on the third day rise again.' "

⁸ Then they remembered what he'd said.

⁹ When they returned from the tomb they reported all that had happened to the eleven disciples and to all the others.

¹¹ But it seemed like nonsense to them, so they didn't believe the women.

¹² However, Peter got up and ran to the tomb. Bending down, he looked in and saw only the linen grave-clothes. So he went back home, wondering what had happened.

¹³ The same day two disciples were on their way to a village called Emmaus, about seven miles from Jerusalem.

¹⁴ They were talking about all that had happened.

¹⁵ As they discussed and debated, Jesus came up and fell into step with them.

¹⁶ But they were kept from recognizing him.

¹⁷ "What are you discussing as you walk along?" he asked them. They stopped, their faces sad.

¹⁸ One of them, called Cleopas, replied, "Are you just visiting Jerusalem? You must be the only person who doesn't know the things that have happened in the past few days."

¹⁹ "What things?" Jesus asked. "About Jesus of Nazareth," they replied. "He was a prophet who spoke powerfully and performed great miracles before God and all the people.

[†] 23:54 Meaning Friday. [‡] 23:56 To anoint Jesus' body. ^{*} 24:1 That is, Sunday.

²⁰ But our high priests and leaders handed him over to be condemned to death, and they crucified him.

²¹ We had hoped he was the one who was going to rescue Israel. It's been three days now since all this happened.

²² But then some of the women in our group surprised us.

²³ At dawn they went to the tomb and they didn't find his body. They came back saying that they'd seen a vision of angels who told them he's alive.

²⁵ Jesus told them, “You're so dull! How slow you are to trust in all that the prophets said!

²⁶ Didn't the Messiah have to suffer before he could enter into his glory?”

²⁷ Then, starting with Moses and all the prophets, he explained to them everything that was said in Scripture about himself.

²⁸ As they approached the village they were going to, Jesus made it seem as if he was going farther.

²⁹ But they urged him, saying, “Please come and stay with us. It's getting late—the day is almost over.” So he went to stay with them.

³⁰ When he sat down to eat with them, he took the bread and gave thanks, broke it, and gave it to them.

³¹ Their eyes were opened, and they recognized him. Then he disappeared from view.

³² The two disciples said to each other, “Weren't our thoughts on fire when he spoke to us, as he explained the Scriptures to us?”

³³ They got up right away and returned to Jerusalem. There they found the eleven disciples and those who were with them meeting together,

³⁴ who said, “The Lord has really risen again! He has appeared to Simon.”

³⁵ Then those who had just arrived explained to the other disciples what had happened to them on the road, and how they had recognized Jesus when he broke bread.

³⁶ While they were talking, Jesus himself stood among them, and said, “Peace to you!”

³⁷ They were startled and afraid, thinking they were seeing a ghost.

³⁸ “Why are you frightened? Why are you doubting?” he asked them.

³⁹ “Look at my hands and my feet—you can see it's me. Touch me and you'll be certain, for a spirit doesn't have flesh and bones, as you see I have.”

⁴⁰ Having said this, he showed them his hands and feet.

⁴¹ But they still couldn't believe it because they were so elated and amazed. He asked them, “Do you have anything to eat?”

⁴² They gave him a piece of cooked fish,

⁴⁴ Then Jesus said to them, “This is what I explained to you while I was still with you. Everything written about me in the law of Moses, the prophets, and the psalms, had to be fulfilled.”

⁴⁶ He told them, “It was written like this: the Messiah would suffer and rise from the dead on the third day, and in his name

⁴⁷ repentance for the forgiveness of sins would be preached to all nations, beginning in Jerusalem.

⁴⁸ You are witnesses of all this.

⁴⁹ Now I'm going to send you what my Father promised—but wait in the city until you receive power from heaven.”

⁵⁰ Then he led them out until they were near Bethany, and lifting up his hands, he blessed them.

⁵³ They spent all their time in the Temple praising God.

John

¹ In the beginning the Word already was.* The Word was with God, and the Word was God.

² In the beginning he was with God.

³ Everything came into being through him; nothing came into being without him.

⁴ In him was life, the life that was the light of everyone.

⁵ The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not extinguished it.[†]

⁶ God sent a man named John.

⁷ He came as a witness to explain about the light so that everyone might believe through him.

⁸ He himself was not the light, but he came to witness to the light.

⁹ The true light was coming into the world to give light to everyone.

¹⁰ He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world didn't know who he was.[‡]

¹¹ He came to his own people, but they didn't accept him.[§]

¹² But to all those who accepted him and trusted in him, he gave the right to become God's children.

¹³ These are the children born not in the usual way, not as the result of human desire or a father's decision, but born of God.

¹⁴ The Word became human and lived among us, and we saw his glory, the glory of the Father's one and only* Son, full of grace and truth.

¹⁵ John gave his testimony about him, shouting out to the people, "This is the one I was telling you about when I said, 'The one who is coming after me is more important than me, for before I ever existed he already was.'"

¹⁶ We have all been recipients of his generous nature, one gracious gift after another.

¹⁸ While no one has ever seen God, God the one and only, who is close to the Father, has shown us what God is like.[†]

¹⁹ This is what John publicly stated when the Jewish leaders sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, "Who are you?"

²⁰ John declared plainly and clearly without hesitation, "I am not the Messiah."

²¹ "So then, who are you?" they asked. "Elijah?"

"No, I'm not," he answered.

"Are you the Prophet?"[‡]

"No," he replied.

* 1:1 In other words, the Word existed from eternity past. The concept of the Word means more than letters making up a word: it is the divine mind, the expression of God, the active aspect of divinity that speaks into existence as in Genesis 1:1. † 1:5 The word in the original can also mean "overpowered" or "understood." ‡ 1:10 Or "didn't recognize him." § 1:11 Or "He came to his own home but his own people did not welcome him." * 1:14 Literally, "only begotten." This refers to position and uniqueness rather than birth. † 1:18 Or "has made him known." ‡ 1:21 In Jewish thought a special prophet was expected before the End.

22 “Well, who are you, then?” they asked. “We have to give an answer to those who sent us. What do you say about yourself?”

23 “I am a voice calling in the desert, ‘Make the Lord’s way straight!’ ” he said, using the words of the prophet Isaiah.[§]

24 The priests and Levites* sent by the Pharisees

25 asked him, “Why then are you baptizing, if you’re not the Messiah, or Elijah, or the Prophet?”

26 John replied, “I baptize with water, but standing among you is someone you don’t know.

27 He is coming after me, but I am not even worthy to untie his sandals.”

28 This all happened in Bethany beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 The next day John saw Jesus approaching him, and said, “Look, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!

30 This is the one I was talking about when I said, ‘A man who is coming after me is more important than me, for before I ever existed he already was.’

31 I didn’t know myself who he was, but I came baptizing with water so that he could be revealed to Israel.”

32 John gave his evidence about him, saying, “I saw the Spirit descend from heaven like a dove and rest upon him.

33 I wouldn’t have known him except he who sent me to baptize with water had told me, ‘The one you see the Spirit descend to and rest upon, he is the one who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.’

34 I saw it happen and I declare that this is the Son of God.”

35 The next day John was standing there with two of his disciples.

36 He saw Jesus passing by, and said, “Look! This is the Lamb of God!”

37 When the two disciples heard what he said they went and followed Jesus.

38 Jesus turned round and saw them following him. “What are you looking for?” he asked them.

“Rabbi (which means ‘Teacher’), where are you staying?” they asked in reply.

39 “Come and see,” he told them. So they went with him and saw where he was staying. It was about four p.m., and they spent the rest of the day with him.

40 Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, was one of these two disciples who had heard what John said and followed Jesus.

41 He went at once to find his brother Simon and told him, “We’ve found the Messiah!” (which means “Christ”).[†]

42 He took him to Jesus. Looking directly at Simon, Jesus said, “You are Simon, son of John. But now you will be called Cephas,” (which means “Peter”).[‡]

43 The next day Jesus decided to go to Galilee. Jesus found Philip there, and told him, “Follow me.”

44 Philip was from Bethsaida, the same town that Andrew and Peter came from.

§ 1:23 Quoting Isaiah 40:3. * 1:24 “Priests and Levites”: implied from verse 19. † 1:41 Christ means “the Anointed One.” ‡ 1:42 Cephas and Peter both mean “rock” or “stone.”

⁴⁵ Philip found Nathanael and told him, "We've found the one that Moses wrote about in the law and that the prophets did too—Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph."

⁴⁶ "From Nazareth? Can anything good come from there?" Nathanael wondered.

"Just come and see," Philip replied.

⁴⁷ As Jesus saw Nathanael approaching, he said about him, "Look, here's a true Israelite! There's nothing false about him."

⁴⁸ "How do you know who I am?" Nathanael asked.

"I saw you there under the fig tree, before Philip called you," Jesus replied.

⁴⁹ "Rabbi, you are the Son of God, the king of Israel!" Nathaniel exclaimed.

⁵⁰ "You believe this just because I told you I saw you under the fig tree?" Jesus replied. "You'll get to see much more than that!"

⁵¹ Then Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, you will all see heaven open, and the angels of God going up and down on the Son of man."^S

¹ Two days* later a wedding was held at Cana in Galilee, and Jesus' mother was there.

² Jesus and his disciples had also been invited to the wedding.

³ The wine ran out, so Jesus' mother told him, "They don't have any more wine."

⁴ "Mother, why should you involve me?[†] My time hasn't come yet," he replied.

⁶ Standing nearby were six stone jars used by the Jews for ceremonial washing, each one holding twenty to thirty gallons.[‡]

⁷ "Fill the jars with water," Jesus told them. So they filled them right up.

⁸ Then he told them, "Pour some out, and take it to the master of ceremonies." So they took him some.

⁹ The master of ceremonies didn't know where it had come from, only the servants knew. But when he tasted the water that had been turned to wine, he called the bridegroom over.

¹⁰ "Everyone serves out the best wine first," he told him, "and once people have had plenty to drink, then they put out the cheaper wine. But you have kept the best wine till last!"

¹¹ This was the very first of Jesus' miraculous signs, and was performed in Cana of Galilee. Here he revealed his glory, and his disciples put their trust in him.

^S 1:51 Referring to Jacob's experience in Genesis 28:12, with the term "Son of man" replacing the word "ladder." * 2:1 Literally, "on the third day" (by inclusive reckoning). [†] 2:4 Literally, "What to me and to you?" (that is, "What has this got to do with me or you?") [‡] 2:6 Literally, "two or three measures."

¹⁴ In the Temple he found people selling cattle, sheep, and doves; and money-changers sitting at their tables.

¹⁵ He made a whip out of cords and drove everyone out of the Temple, along with the sheep and cattle, scattering coins of the money-changers and turning over their tables.

¹⁶ He ordered the dove-sellers, "Take these things out of here! Don't turn my Father's house into a market!"

¹⁷ His disciples remembered the Scripture that says, "My devotion for your house is like a fire burning inside me!"[§]

¹⁸ The Jewish leaders reacted, asking him, "What right do you have to do this? Show us some miraculous sign to prove it!"

¹⁹ Jesus replied, "Destroy this Temple, and in three days I'll raise it up!"

²⁰ "It took forty-six years to build this Temple, and you're going to raise it up in three days?" the Jewish leaders replied.

²² After he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered what he said, and so they believed in Scripture and Jesus' own words.

²³ As a result of the miracles Jesus did while he was in Jerusalem during the Passover, many believed in him.

²⁵ He didn't need anyone to tell him about human nature for he knew the way people think.

3

² He came at night to where Jesus was and said, "Rabbi, we know you are a teacher who has come from God, for nobody could do the miraculous signs you're doing unless God was with him."

³ "I tell you the truth," Jesus replied, "Unless you are reborn,* you can't experience God's kingdom."

⁴ "How can you be reborn when you're old?" Nicodemus asked. "You can't go back into your mother's womb and be born a second time!"

⁷ Don't be surprised at my telling you, 'You must be reborn.'[†]

⁸ The wind blows wherever it wants, and just as you hear the sound it makes, but don't know where it's coming from or where it's going, that's how it is for everyone who is born of the spirit."

⁹ "How is this possible?" Nicodemus asked.

¹¹ "I tell you the truth, we speak of what we know and give evidence regarding what we have seen, but you refuse to accept our testimony.

[§] 2:17 Quoting Psalms 69:9. * 3:3 Or "born from above." † 3:7 The first "you" refers to Nicodemus in the singular. The second "you" is plural, and refers to a wider audience. ‡ 3:10 Literally, "you are the teacher of Israel."

¹² If you don't trust what I say when I tell you about earthly things, how would you ever trust what I say if I were to tell you about heavenly things?

¹³ No one has gone up to heaven, but the Son of man came down from heaven.

¹⁴ Just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the desert,[§] so the Son of man must be lifted up,

¹⁵ that everyone who trusts in him will have eternal life.

¹⁶ For God loved the world, and this is how:^{*} he gave his one and only Son, so that everyone who trusts in him shouldn't die, but have eternal life.

¹⁸ Those who trust in him are not condemned, while those who don't trust in him are condemned[†] already because they didn't trust in the one and only Son of God.

¹⁹ This is how the decision[‡] is made: the light came to the world, but people loved the darkness rather than the light, for their actions were evil.

²⁰ All those who do evil hate the light and don't come into the light, because they don't want their actions to be exposed.

²¹ But those who do good[§] come into the light, so that what God accomplishes in them can be revealed."

²² After this Jesus and his disciples went into Judea and spent some time with the people, baptizing them.

²³ John was also baptizing at Aenon near Salim, because there was plenty of water there and people kept coming to be baptized.

²⁴ (This was before John was imprisoned.)

²⁶ They went to John and told him, "Rabbi, the man you were with on the other side of the Jordan River, the one you testified in support of—see, now he's baptizing, and everyone is going to him!"

²⁸ "You yourselves can testify that I declared, 'I'm not the Messiah. I've been sent to prepare his way.'

²⁹ The bridegroom is the one who has the bride! The best man waits, listening for the bridegroom, and is so happy when he hears the bridegroom's voice—in the same way my happiness is now complete.

³⁰ He must become more important, and I must become less important."

[§] 3:14 See Numbers 21:9. ^{*} 3:16 The word often translated "so" (as in "so loved") is primarily describing the way or manner in which God loves rather than the extent or intensity of his love.

[†] 3:18 Or "have condemned themselves." [‡] 3:19 Or "judgment." [§] 3:21 Literally, "doing the truth." ^{*} 3:31 Or "above" in the sense of authority.

³³ Yet anyone who accepts what he says confirms[†] that God is truthful.

³⁴ For the one God sent speaks God's words, because God doesn't restrict the Spirit.

³⁵ The Father loves the Son and has placed everything in his hands.

³⁶ Anyone who trusts in the Son has eternal life, but anyone who refuses to trust the Son will not experience eternal life but remains under God's condemnation.

4

¹ When Jesus realized that the Pharisees had discovered that he was gaining and baptizing more disciples than John,

² (although it wasn't Jesus who was baptizing, but his disciples),

³ he left Judea and returned to Galilee.

⁵ So he came to the Samaritan city of Sychar, near to the field that Jacob had given his son Joseph.

⁷ A Samaritan woman came to fetch water. Jesus said to her, "Please could you give me a drink?"

⁸ for his disciples had gone to the town to buy food.

⁹ "You're a Jew, and I'm a Samaritan woman. How can you ask me for a drink?" the woman replied, for Jews don't associate with Samaritans.*

¹⁰ Jesus answered her, "If you only recognized God's gift, and who is asking you, 'Please could you give me a drink?' you would have asked him and he would have given you the water of life."

¹¹ "Sir, you don't have a bucket, and the well is deep. Where are you going to get the water of life from?" she replied.

¹² "Our father Jacob gave us the well. He drank from it himself, as well as his sons and his livestock. Are you greater than he?"

¹³ Jesus answered, "Everyone who drinks water from this well will become thirsty again.

¹⁴ But those who drink the water I give won't ever be thirsty again. The water I give becomes a bubbling spring of water inside them, bringing them eternal life."

¹⁵ "Sir," replied the woman, "Please give me this water so I won't be thirsty, and I won't have to come here to fetch water!"

¹⁶ "Go and call your husband, and come back here," Jesus told her.

¹⁷ "I don't have a husband," the woman answered.

¹⁸ "You've had five husbands, and the one you're living with now is not your husband. So what you say is true!"

¹⁹ "I can see you're a prophet, sir," the woman replied.

²⁰ "Tell me this: our ancestors worshiped here on this mountain, but you[†] say that Jerusalem is where we must worship."

[†] 3:33 Literally, "stamp of approval."

* 4:9 Or "Jews do not share dishes with Samaritans."

[†] 4:20 As a Jew.

²³ But the time is coming—and in fact it’s here already—when true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and in truth, for these are the kind of worshipers the Father wants.

²⁴ God is Spirit, so worshipers must worship in spirit and in truth.”

²⁵ The woman said, “Well, I know that the Messiah is coming,” (the one who is called Christ). “When he comes he will explain it all to us.”

²⁶ Jesus replied, “I AM—the one who is speaking to you.”*

²⁷ Just then the disciples returned. They were shocked that he was talking to a woman, but none of them asked “What are you doing?” or “Why are you talking with her?”

²⁹ “Come and meet a man who told me everything I ever did! Could this be the Messiah?”

³⁰ So they went out of the town to go and see him.

³¹ Meanwhile Jesus’ disciples were urging him, “Rabbi, please eat something!”

³² But Jesus replied, “I have food to eat that you know nothing about.”

³⁴ Jesus told them, “My food is to do the will of the one who sent me, and to complete his work.

³⁵ Don’t you have a saying, ‘four more months until harvest?’[†] Open your eyes and look around! The crops in the fields are ripe, ready for harvest.

³⁶ The reaper is being paid and harvesting a crop for eternal life so that both the sower and the reaper can celebrate.

³⁷ So the proverb ‘one sows, another reaps,’ is true.

³⁸ I sent you to reap what you didn’t work for. Others did the hard work and you have reaped the benefits of what they did.”

⁴⁰ So when they came to see him they pleaded with him to stay with them. He stayed for two days, ⁴¹ and because of what he told them many more trusted in him.

⁴² They said to the woman, “Now our trust in him isn’t just because of what you told us but because we have heard him for ourselves. We’re convinced that he really is the Savior of the world.”

[‡] 4:21 Jesus addresses her as “woman” which is the normal term used, but sounds impolite in English. [§] 4:22 Literally, “what.” * 4:26 “I AM” is used in the Old Testament as a name for God. Jesus is telling her he is the Messiah and also identifying his divinity. [†] 4:35 It was usually four months between sowing and reaping.

⁴⁵ But when he arrived in Galilee, the people welcomed him, because they had also been at the Passover feast and had seen everything he'd done in Jerusalem.

⁴⁶ He visited Cana in Galilee again, where he had turned water into wine. Nearby in the town of Capernaum lived a royal official whose son was very sick.

⁴⁷ When he heard that Jesus had returned from Judea to Galilee, he went to Jesus and begged him to come and heal his son who was close to death.

⁴⁸ "Unless you see signs and wonders you people really won't trust me," said Jesus.

⁵⁰ "Go on home," Jesus told him. "Your son will live!"

⁵¹ While he was on his way, his servants met him with the news that his son was alive and recovering.

⁵² He asked them what time it was when his son began to get better. "Yesterday at one p.m. the fever left him," they told him.

⁵³ Then the father realized this was the precise time when Jesus had told him, "Your son will live!" So he and everyone in his household trusted in Jesus.

⁵⁴ This was the second miraculous sign Jesus did after coming from Judea to Galilee.

5

¹ After this, there was a Jewish festival so Jesus went to Jerusalem.

² Now near the Sheep Gate in Jerusalem is a pool called Bethzatha in Hebrew, with five porches beside it.

³ Crowds of sick people were lying in these porches—those who were blind, lame, or paralyzed.

⁵ One man who was there had been sick for thirty-eight years. Jesus looked at him, knowing he had been lying there for long time, and asked him,

⁶ "Do you want to be healed?"

⁷ "Sir," the sick man answered, "I don't have anyone to help me get into the pool when the water is stirred. While I'm trying to get there, someone always gets in before me."

⁸ "Stand up, pick up your mat, and start walking!" Jesus told him.

⁹ Immediately the man was healed. He picked up his mat and started walking.

Now the day that this happened was the Sabbath.

¹⁰ So the Jews said to the man who'd been healed, "This is the Sabbath! It's against the law to carry a mat!"

¹¹ "The man who healed me told me to pick up my mat and start walking," he replied.

* ^{5:4} This text is not in the earliest manuscripts and appears to have been added to explain verse 7. They are added here for information: "There they waited for the water to move, for an angel of the Lord would come down to the pool every so often and stir the water. Whoever got into the pool first after the water was stirred was healed of whatever disease they had." It seems that this idea was what was believed by some at the time.

12 “Who’s this person who told you to carry your mat and walk?” they asked.

13 However, the man who’d been healed didn’t know who it was, for Jesus had slipped away into the surrounding crowd.

14 Later on Jesus found the man in the Temple, and told him, “Look, now you’ve been healed. So stop sinning or something worse may happen to you.”

15 The man went and told the Jews it was Jesus who had healed him.

16 So the Jews started to harass Jesus because he was doing things on the Sabbath.

17 But Jesus told them, “My Father is still working, and so am I.”†

18 This was why the Jews tried even harder to kill him, for not only did he break the Sabbath but also called God his Father, making himself equal with God.

19 Jesus explained to them, “I tell you the truth, the Son can do nothing by himself; he can only do what he sees the Father doing. Whatever the Father does the Son does as well.

20 For the Father loves the Son, and reveals to him everything he does; and the Father will show to him even more incredible things that will completely amaze you.

21 For just as the Father gives life to those he resurrects from the dead, in the same way the Son also gives life to those that he wants.

22 The Father judges no one. He has given to the Son all the authority to judge, 23 so that everyone may honor the Son just as they honor the Father. Anyone who doesn’t honor the Son doesn’t honor the Father who sent him.

24 I tell you the truth: those who follow‡ what I say and trust the one who sent me have eternal life. They won’t be condemned, but have gone from death to life.

25 I tell you the truth: The time is coming—in fact it’s here already—when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who hear will live!

26 Just as the Father has life-giving power in himself, so has he given the Son the same life-giving power in himself.

27 The Father also granted the authority for judgment to him, for he is the Son of man.

28 Don’t be surprised at this, for the time is coming when all those in the grave will hear his voice

29 and will rise again: those who have done good to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil to the resurrection of condemnation.§

30 I can do nothing by myself. I judge based on what I’m told,* and my decision is right, for I’m not doing my own will but the will of the one who sent me.

31 If I were to make claims about myself, such claims wouldn’t be valid;

32 but someone else gives evidence about me, and I know what he says about me is true.

33 You asked John about me, and he told the truth,

† 5:17 Or “My Father is always working, and I am working too.” ‡ 5:24 Literally, “hear.” § 5:29 See Daniel 12:2. * 5:30 Implying “told by God the Father.”

³⁴ but I don't need any human endorsement. I'm explaining this to you so you can be saved.

³⁶ But the evidence I'm giving is greater than John's. For I am doing the work that the Father gave me to do,

³⁷ and this is the proof that the Father sent me. The Father who sent me, he himself speaks on my behalf. You've never heard his voice, and you've never seen what he looks like, ³⁸ and you don't accept what he says, because you don't trust in the one he sent.

³⁹ You search the Scriptures because you think that through them you'll gain eternal life. But the evidence they give is in support of me!

⁴⁰ And yet you don't want to come to me so that you might live.

⁴¹ I'm not looking for human approval

⁴² —I know you, and that you don't have God's love in you.

⁴³ For I've come to represent[†] my Father, and you won't accept me; but if someone comes representing themselves, then you accept them!

⁴⁴ How can you trust in me when you look for praise from one another and yet you don't look for praise from the one true God?

⁴⁵ But don't think I will be making accusations about you to the Father. It's Moses who is accusing you, the one in whom you place such confidence.

⁴⁷ But since you don't trust what he said, why would you trust what I say?"

6

² A large crowd was following him, for they'd seen his miracles of healing.

³ Jesus went up a hill and sat down there with his disciples.

⁴ The time for the Jewish festival of the Passover was approaching.

⁵ When Jesus looked up, and saw a large crowd coming towards him, he asked Philip, "Where can we buy enough bread to feed all these people?"

⁶ He only asked this to see how Philip would respond, because Jesus already knew what he was going to do.

⁹ "There's a boy here who has five barley loaves and a couple of fish, but what good is that when there are so many people?"

¹⁰ "Have everybody sit down," Jesus said. There was plenty of grass there, so they all sat down, the men numbering around five thousand.

[†] 5:43 Literally, "in the name of." ^{*} 6:7 Literally, denarius. One denarius was worth a day's wage.

¹¹ Jesus took the bread, gave thanks, and had it handed out to the people as they sat there. Then he did the same with the fishes, making sure the people had as much as they wanted.

¹² Once they were all full, he said to his disciples, "Collect what's left over so nothing is wasted."

¹⁴ When the people saw this miracle, they said, "Surely this is the Prophet who was to come into the world."

¹⁵ Jesus realized that they were about to force him to become their king, so he left them and went up into the hills to be by himself.

¹⁶ When evening came, his disciples went down to the sea,

¹⁷ climbed into a boat, and headed across the water towards Capernaum. By now it was night and Jesus had not joined them yet.

¹⁸ A strong wind began blowing and the sea grew rough.

¹⁹ When they had rowed three or four miles, they saw Jesus walking on the sea, coming towards the boat. They were very frightened.

²⁰ "Don't be afraid!" he told them. "It's me."

²¹ Then they gladly took him into the boat, and immediately they reached the shore where they were going.

²² The next day the crowd that had stayed on the other side of the sea noticed that there had been only one boat there, and that Jesus had not got into the boat with his disciples, but they had left without him.

²⁴ Once the crowd realized that neither Jesus nor his disciples were there, they got into the boats and went over to Capernaum, looking for Jesus.

²⁵ When they found him on the other side of the sea, they asked him, "Rabbi, when did you get here?"[†]

²⁶ "I tell you the truth," Jesus replied, "you're looking for me because you ate as much bread as you wanted, not because you understood the miracles.

²⁷ Don't be preoccupied about food that doesn't last, but concentrate on the lasting food of eternal life which the Son of man will give you, for God the Father has placed his seal of approval on him."

²⁸ So they asked him, "What do we have to do in order to do what God wants?"

²⁹ Jesus replied, "What God wants you to do is to trust in the one he sent."

³⁰ "What miracle are you going to perform for us to see so we can trust you? What are you able to do?" they asked.

³¹ "Our forefathers ate manna in the desert in fulfillment of the Scripture that says, 'He gave them bread from heaven to eat.'"[‡]

³² "I tell you the truth, it wasn't Moses who gave you bread from heaven," Jesus replied. "It's my Father who gives you the true bread of heaven.

³³ For the bread of God is the one who comes from heaven and gives life to the world."

[†] 6:25 An oblique question for they were really wondering how he got there... [‡] 6:31 Quoting Psalms 78:24 referring to Exodus 16:4.

³⁵ “I am the bread of life,” Jesus replied. “Anyone who comes to me will never be hungry again, and anyone who trusts in me will never be thirsty again.

³⁶ But as I explained to you before, you have seen me,[§] but you still don't trust me.

³⁷ All those the Father gives me will come to me, and I won't reject any of them.

³⁹ What he wants is for me not to lose anyone he has given to me, but for me to raise them up at the last day.*

⁴⁰ What my Father wants is for everyone who sees the Son and trusts in him to have eternal life, and for me to raise them up at the last day.”

⁴¹ Then the Jews began to grumble about him because he had said, “I am the bread that came down from heaven.”

⁴² They said, “Isn't this Jesus, the son of Joseph? We know his father and his mother. So how can he now tell us, ‘I came down from heaven?’”

⁴⁴ “No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me attracts them, and I will raise them up at the last day.

⁴⁵ As is written in Scripture by the prophets, ‘Everyone will be taught by God.’[†] Everyone who listens to and learns from the Father comes to me.

⁴⁸ I am the bread of life.

⁵⁰ But this is the bread that comes down from heaven, and anyone who eats it won't ever die.

⁵¹ I am the life-giving bread from heaven, and anyone who eats this bread will live forever. The bread is my flesh that I give so that the world may live.”

⁵² Then the Jews argued heatedly among themselves. “How can this man give us his flesh to eat?” they asked.

⁵³ Jesus told them, “I tell you the truth, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of man and drink his blood, you cannot truly live.

⁵⁴ Those who eat my flesh and drink my blood have eternal life, and I will raise them up at the last day.

⁵⁵ For my flesh is true food, and my blood is true drink.

⁵⁶ Those who eat my flesh and drink my blood remain in me, and I remain in them.

⁵⁷ Just as the life-giving Father sent me and I live because of the Father, so anyone who feeds on me will live because of me.

⁵⁸ Now this is the bread that came down from heaven, not the kind your forefathers ate and still died. Anyone who eats this bread will live forever.”

⁵⁹ Jesus explained this while he was teaching in a synagogue at Capernaum.

[§] 6:36 Referring to all that Jesus had done, not just seeing his person. In fact the word “me” is not in all ancient manuscripts. * 6:39 “Last day,” referring to the day of judgment. Also verses 40, 44, and 54. † 6:45 Quoting Isaiah 54:13.

⁶⁰ Many of his disciples when they heard it said, "This is hard to accept! Who can follow[‡] it?"

⁶¹ Jesus saw that his disciples were complaining about this, so he asked them, "Are you offended by this?"

⁶⁴ Yet there are some of you who don't trust me." (Jesus had known from the very beginning who didn't trust him, and who would betray him.)

⁶⁵ Jesus added, "This is why I told you that no one can come to me unless it is made possible* by the Father."

⁶⁶ From this time on many of Jesus' disciples gave up and no longer followed him.

⁶⁷ Then Jesus asked the twelve disciples, "What about you? Do you want to leave as well?"

⁶⁹ We trust in you, and we're convinced that you are God's Holy One."

⁷⁰ Jesus replied, "Didn't I choose you, the twelve disciples? Yet one of you is a devil."

⁷¹ (Jesus was referring to Judas, son of Simon Iscariot. He was the one of the twelve disciples who would betray Jesus.)

7

¹ After this, Jesus spent his time going from place to place in Galilee. He did not want to do so in Judea because the Jews were out to kill him.

² But as it was almost time for the Jewish festival of the Tabernacles,

³ his brothers told him, "You ought to leave and go to Judea so your followers will be able to see what miracles you can do.

⁴ No one who wants to be famous keeps what they do hidden. If you can do such miracles, then show yourself to the world!"

⁶ Jesus told them, "This is not my time to go, not yet; but you can go whenever you want, for any time's the right time for you.

⁸ You go on to the festival. I'm not going to this festival because this is not the right time for me, not yet."

⁹ After saying this he stayed behind in Galilee.

¹⁰ After his brothers left to go to the festival, Jesus also went, but not openly—he stayed out of sight.

¹¹ Now at the festival the Jewish leaders were searching for him and kept on asking, "Where is he?"

¹² Many people in the crowds were complaining about him. Some said, "He's a good man," while others argued, "No! He deceives people."

[‡] 6:60 "Follow" not only in the sense of "understand," but also "observe" or "agree with." § 6:63 Or "counts for nothing." * 6:65 Or "granted."

¹³ But no one dared to speak openly about him because they were afraid of what the Jewish leaders would do to them.

¹⁵ The Jewish leaders were very surprised, and asked, "How does this man have so much learning* when he hasn't been educated?"

¹⁶ Jesus answered, "My teaching is not from me but from the one who sent me.

¹⁷ Anyone who chooses to follow what God wants will know if my teaching comes from God or if I'm only speaking for myself.

¹⁸ Those who speak for themselves want to glorify themselves, but someone who glorifies the one who sent him is truthful and not deceitful.

¹⁹ Moses gave you the law, didn't he? Yet none of you keeps the law! Why are you trying to kill me?"

²¹ "I did one miracle† and you're all shocked by it," Jesus replied.

²² "However, because Moses told you to circumcise—not that it really came from Moses, but from your forefathers before him—you perform circumcision on the Sabbath.

²³ If you circumcise on the Sabbath to make sure that the law of Moses isn't broken, why are you angry with me for healing someone on the Sabbath?

²⁵ Then some of those from Jerusalem began wondering, "Isn't this the one they're trying to kill?"

²⁶ But see how openly he's speaking, and they're saying nothing to him. Do you think the authorities believe he's the Messiah?

²⁷ But that's not possible because we know where he comes from. When the Messiah comes, nobody will know where he's from."

²⁸ While he was teaching in the Temple, Jesus called out in a loud voice, "So you think you know me and where I'm from? However, I did not come for my own sake. The one who sent me is true. You don't know him,

²⁹ but I know him, for I come from him, and he sent me."

³⁰ So they tried to arrest him, but no one laid a hand on him because his time had not yet come.

³¹ However, many of the crowd did put their trust in him. "When the Messiah appears, will he do more miraculous signs than this man has done?" they said.

³⁴ You'll search for me but you won't find me; and you can't come where I'm going."

³⁵ The Jews said to each other, "Where could he be going that we couldn't find him? Is he planning to go to those scattered among the foreigners,‡ and teach the foreigners?"

* 7:15 In the sense of religious education. † 7:21 On the Sabbath, referring back to what happened in 5:1-9. ‡ 7:35 Literally, "Greeks."

³⁶ What does he mean by saying, ‘You’ll search for me but you won’t find me; and you can’t come where I’m going’?”

³⁸ If you trust in me, you will have streams of life-giving water flowing out from within you, as Scripture says.”[§]

³⁹ He was referring to the Spirit that those who trusted in him would later receive. The Spirit hadn’t been given yet because Jesus hadn’t yet been glorified.

⁴⁰ When they heard these words, some of the people said, “This man is definitely the Prophet!”^{*}

⁴¹ Others said, “He is the Messiah!” Still others said, “How can the Messiah come from Galilee?

⁴² Doesn’t Scripture say that the Messiah comes from David’s lineage, and from David’s home town of Bethlehem?”[†]

⁴³ So the crowd had a strong difference of opinion about him.

⁴⁴ Some wanted to arrest him, but nobody laid a hand on him.

⁴⁵ Then the guards returned to the chief priests and the Pharisees who asked them, “Why didn’t you bring him in?”

⁴⁷ “Have you been fooled too?” the Pharisees asked them.

⁴⁸ “Has a single one of the rulers or Pharisees believed in him? No!

⁴⁹ But this crowd that knows nothing about teachings of the law—they’re damned anyway!”

⁵¹ “Does our law condemn a man without a hearing and without finding out what he actually did?”

⁵² “So you’re a Galilean as well, are you?” they replied. “Check the Scriptures and you’ll discover that no prophet comes from Galilee!”

⁵³ Then they all went home,[‡]

8

¹ but Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.

² Early in the morning he returned to the Temple where many people gathered around him and he sat down and taught them.

³ The religious teachers and the Pharisees brought in a woman caught committing adultery and made her stand before everyone.

⁴ They said to Jesus, “Teacher, this woman was caught in the act of adultery.

⁵ Now in the Law Moses commanded us to stone such women. What do you say?”

⁶ They said this to try and trap Jesus so they could condemn him. But Jesus bent down and wrote on the ground with his finger.

[§] 7:38 The closest reference appears to be Song of Songs 4:15. ^{*} 7:40 See 6:14. [†] 7:42 Referring to Micah 5:2. [‡] 7:53 This section (7:53-8:11) does not appear in this location in all manuscripts. However, it surely represents an authentic account.

⁷ They kept on demanding an answer, so he stood up and told them, "Whichever one of you has never sinned may throw the first stone at her."

⁸ Then he bent down again and went on writing on the ground.

⁹ When they heard this they began to leave, one by one, starting with the oldest until Jesus was left in the middle of the crowd with the woman still standing there.

¹⁰ Jesus straightened up and asked her, "Where are they? Didn't anybody stay to condemn you?"

¹¹ "No one did, sir," she replied.

"I don't condemn you either," Jesus told her. "Go, and don't sin anymore."

¹² Jesus spoke again to the people, telling them, "I am the light of the world. If you follow me you won't walk in darkness for you will have the life-giving light."

¹³ The Pharisees replied, "You can't be your own witness!* What you say doesn't prove anything!"

¹⁴ "Even if I am my own witness, my testimony is true," Jesus told them, "for I know where I came from and where I'm going. But you don't know where I came from or where I'm going."

¹⁵ You judge in a typically human way, but I don't judge anyone.

¹⁶ Even if I did judge, my judgment would be right because I am not doing this alone. The Father who sent me is with me.

¹⁷ Your own law states† that the testimony of two witnesses is valid.

¹⁸ I am my own witness, and my other witness is my Father who sent me."

¹⁹ "Where is your father?" they asked him.

"You don't know me or my Father," Jesus replied. "If you knew me then you would know my Father as well."

²⁰ Jesus explained this while he was teaching near the Temple treasury. Yet no one arrested him because his time had not yet come.

²¹ Jesus told them again, "I'm leaving, and you'll search for me, but you'll die in your sin. You can't come where I'm going."

²² The Jews wondered out loud, "Is he going to kill himself? Is that what he means when he says 'You can't come where I'm going'?"

²³ Jesus told them, "You are from below; I am from above. You are of this world; I am not of this world."

²⁴ That is why I told you that you'll die in your sins. For if you don't trust in me, the 'I am,' you'll die in your sins."

²⁵ Then they asked him, "Who are you?"

"Exactly who I told you I was from the beginning," Jesus replied.

²⁶ "There's much I could say about you, and much I could condemn. But the one who sent me tells the truth, and what I'm saying to you here in this world is what I heard from him."

²⁷ They didn't understand that he was talking to them about the Father. So Jesus explained to them:

²⁸ "When you have lifted up the Son of man then you'll know that I am the 'I am,' and that I do nothing of myself, but only say what the Father taught me."

* 8:13 Or "you're just making claims about yourself!"
† 8:17 See Deuteronomy 17:6 and Deuteronomy 19:15.

† 8:17 See Deuteronomy 17:6 and Deuteronomy 19:15.

²⁹ The one who sent me is with me; he has not abandoned me, for I always do what pleases him."

³⁰ Many who heard Jesus say these things put their trust in him.

³¹ Then Jesus said to those Jews who trusted in him, "If you follow my teaching then you really are my disciples.

³² You will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

³³ "We're descendants of Abraham! We've never been slaves to anyone," they answered. "How can you say that we'll be set free?"

³⁴ Jesus replied, "I tell you the truth, everyone who sins is a slave of sin.

³⁵ A slave doesn't have a permanent place in the family, but the son is part of the family forever.

³⁷ I know you're Abraham's descendants, yet you're trying to kill me because you refuse to accept my words.

³⁸ I'm telling you what the Father has revealed to me,[‡] while you do what your father told you."

³⁹ "Abraham is our father," they answered.

"If you really were children of Abraham, you'd do what Abraham did," Jesus told them.

⁴⁰ "But you are trying to kill me now, because I told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham would never have done that.

⁴¹ You're doing what your father does."

"Well we[§] are not illegitimate," they responded. "God alone is our father!"

⁴² Jesus replied, "If God really was your father, you would love me. I came from God and now I am here. The decision to come wasn't mine, but the one who sent me.

⁴⁴ Your father is the Devil, and you love to follow your father's evil desires. He was a murderer from the beginning. He never stood for the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he lies he reveals his true character; for he's a liar and the father of lies.

⁴⁶ Can any one of you prove that I'm guilty of sin? If I'm telling you the truth, why don't you believe me?

⁴⁷ Anyone who belongs to God listens to what God says. The reason you don't listen is because you don't belong to God."

⁴⁸ "Aren't we right to call you a Samaritan who is demon-possessed?" said the Jews.

⁴⁹ "No, I don't have a demon," Jesus replied. "I honor my Father, but you dishonor me.

⁵¹ I tell you the truth, anyone who follows my teaching will never die."

⁵² "Now we know you're demon-possessed," said the Jews. "Abraham died, and the prophets did too, and you're telling us 'anyone who follows my teaching will never die'!"

[‡] 8:38 Or "what I have seen with the Father." [§] 8:41 The word in the original is emphasized, implying that while they were not illegitimate, Jesus was.

⁵³ Are you greater than our father Abraham? He died, and the prophets died. Who do you think you are?"

⁵⁴ Jesus answered, "If I glorify myself, my glory means nothing. But it is God himself who glorifies me, the one you claim, 'He is our God.'

⁵⁵ You don't know him, but I know him. If I were to say, 'I don't know him,' I'd be a liar, just like you. But I do know him, and I do what he says.

⁵⁶ Your father Abraham was delighted as he looked forward to see my coming, and was so happy when he saw it."

⁵⁷ The Jews replied, "You're not even fifty years old, and you've seen Abraham?"

⁵⁹ At this they picked up stones to stone him, but Jesus was hidden from them and he left the Temple.

9

² His disciples asked him, "Rabbi, why was this man born blind? Was it him who sinned, or was it his parents?"

³ Jesus replied, "It wasn't because the man or his parents sinned. But so that what God can do may be shown in his life,

⁴ we have to keep on doing the work of the one who sent me as long as it is still daytime. The night is coming when no one can work.

⁶ After he'd said this, Jesus spat on the ground and made some mud with the saliva which he put on the man's eyes.

⁷ Then Jesus told him, "Go and wash in the Pool of Siloam" (which means "sent"). So the man went and washed, and when he went home he could see.

⁸ His neighbors and those who had known him as a beggar, asked, "Isn't this the man who used to sit and beg?"

⁹ Some said he was, while others said "no, it's just someone who looks like him." But the man kept saying, "It is me!"

¹⁰ "So how is it you can see?" they asked him.

¹¹ He replied, "A man called Jesus made some mud and put it on my eyes and told me, 'Go and wash yourself in the Pool of Siloam.' So I went and washed, and now I can see."

¹² "Where is he?" they asked.

"I don't know," he replied.

¹³ They took the man who had been blind to the Pharisees.

¹⁴ Now it was the Sabbath when Jesus had made the mud and opened the blind man's eyes.

¹⁵ So the Pharisees also asked him how he could see. He told them, "He put mud on my eyes, and I washed, and now I can see."

¹⁶ Some of the Pharisees said, "The man who did this can't be from God because he doesn't keep the Sabbath." But others wondered, "How could a sinner do such miracles?" So they were divided in their opinion.

* 8:58 Literally, "Before Abraham was, I am." Once again Jesus uses the name of God himself given in Exodus 3:14. That the significance is not lost on his hearers is shown in their reaction of wanting to stone him for blasphemy.

¹⁷ So they went on questioning the man. "What's your opinion about him, then, since it's your eyes he opened," they asked.

"He's surely a prophet," the man replied.

¹⁸ The Jewish leaders still refused to believe that the man who had been blind could now see until they had called in the man's parents.

¹⁹ They asked them, "Is this your son whom you say was born blind? So how is it that now he can see?"

²⁰ His parents answered, "We know this is our son who was born blind.

²¹ But we've no idea how he can see now, or who healed him. Why don't you ask him, he's old enough. He can speak for himself."

²² The reason his parents said this was because they were afraid of what the Jewish leaders would do. The Jewish leaders had already announced that anyone who declared that Jesus was the Messiah would be thrown out of the synagogue.

²³ That was why his parents said, "Ask him, he's old enough."

²⁴ Once more they called in the man who had been blind, and told him, "Give God the glory! We know this man is a sinner."

²⁵ The man replied, "Whether he's a sinner or not, I don't know. All I know is that I was blind and now I can see."

²⁶ Then they asked him, "What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?"

²⁷ The man replied, "I already told you. Weren't you listening? Why do you want to hear it again? You don't want to become his disciples too, do you?"

²⁸ They shouted abuse at him, and said, "You're that man's disciple.

²⁹ We're disciples of Moses. We know that God spoke to Moses, but as for this person, we don't even know where he comes from."

³⁰ The man answered, "That's incredible! You don't know where he comes from but he opened my eyes.

³¹ We know that God doesn't listen to sinners, but he does listen to anyone who worships him and does what he wants.

³² Never before in the whole of history has anyone heard of a man born blind being healed.

³⁴ "You were born totally sinful, and yet you're trying to lecture us," they replied. And they threw him out of the synagogue.

³⁵ When Jesus heard that they had thrown him out, he went and found the man, and asked him, "Do you trust in the Son of man?"

³⁶ The man replied, "Tell me who he is, sir, so I can put my trust in him."

³⁷ "You've already seen him. He's the one speaking with you now!" Jesus told him.

³⁹ Then Jesus told him, "I've come into the world to bring judgment so that those who are blind may see, and those who see will become blind."

⁴¹ Jesus answered, "If you were blind, you wouldn't be guilty. But now that you say you see, your guilt remains."

10

1 “I tell you the truth, anyone who doesn't come in through the gate of the sheepfold but climbs in some other way is a thief and a robber.

2 The one who comes in through the gate is the shepherd of the sheep.

3 The gatekeeper opens it for him, and the sheep respond to his voice. He calls his own sheep by name, and leads them out.

4 After bringing them out, he walks ahead of them, and the sheep follow him because they recognize his voice.

5 They won't follow strangers. In fact they run away from a stranger because they don't recognize the voice of strangers.”

6 When Jesus gave this illustration those who were listening to him didn't understand what he meant.

7 So Jesus explained again, “I tell you the truth: I am the gate of the sheepfold.

8 All those who came before me were thieves and robbers, but the sheep didn't listen to them.

9 I am the gate. Anyone who comes in through me will be healed.* They will be able to come and go, and find the food they need.

10 The thief comes only to steal, kill, and destroy. I've come to bring you life, life full to overflowing.

11 I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep.

12 The man paid to look after the sheep is not the shepherd and he runs away when he sees the wolf coming. He abandons the sheep because they're not his, and the wolf attacks and scatters the flock

13 for the man is only working for pay and doesn't care about the sheep.

14 I am the good shepherd. I know who are mine, and they know me,

15 just as the Father knows me and I know him. I lay down my life for the sheep.

16 I have other sheep that are not in this sheepfold. I must bring them too. They will listen to my voice and there will be one flock with one shepherd.

17 This is why the Father loves me, because I lay down my life so I may take it up again.

18 No one takes it from me; I choose to lay it down. I have the right to give it up, and I have the right to take it back. This is the command my Father gave me.”

19 The Jews were again divided in their opinion about Jesus over these words.

20 Many of them said, “He's demon-possessed! He's mad! Why are you listening to him?”

21 Others said, “These aren't the words of someone who's demon-possessed. Besides, a demon can't open eyes that are blind.”

22 It was winter, and the time of the Festival of Dedication in Jerusalem.

23 Jesus was walking in the Temple through Solomon's porch. The Jews surrounded him, asking,

24 “How long are you going to keep us hanging in suspense?† If you are the Messiah then tell us plainly!”

* 10:9 Or “saved.” † 10:24 A colloquial expression that is literally “lift up our souls,” and means creating a position of uncertainty.

²⁵ Jesus replied, "I already told you but you refuse to believe it. The miracles I do in my Father's name prove who I am.

²⁶ You don't believe me because you are not my sheep.

²⁷ My sheep recognize my voice; I know them, and they follow me.

²⁸ I give them eternal life; they shall never be lost, and no one can snatch them from me.‡

²⁹ My Father who gave them to me is greater than anyone else; no one can snatch them from him.

³⁰ I and the Father are one."

³¹ Once again the Jews picked up stones to stone him.

³² Jesus said to them, "You've seen many good deeds that I've done from the Father. Which one are you stoning me for?"

³³ The Jews replied, "We're not stoning you for a good deed, but for blasphemy because you are just a man but you're claiming to be God."

³⁴ Jesus answered them, "Isn't it written in your law, 'I said, you are gods'?§

³⁵ He called those people 'gods,' the people to whom the word of God came—and Scripture can't be altered.

³⁶ So why are you saying the one whom the Father set apart and sent into the world is blaspheming because I said 'I am the Son of God'?

³⁷ If I'm not doing what my Father does, then don't believe me.

³⁸ But if that is what I'm doing, even though you don't believe me, you should believe because of the evidence of what I've done. That way you can know and understand that the Father is in me, and I am in the Father."

³⁹ Once again they tried to arrest him, but he escaped from them.

⁴⁰ He went back across the Jordan River to the place where John had begun baptizing, and he stayed there.

⁴¹ Many people came to him, and they said, "John didn't perform miracles, but everything he said about this man has come true."

⁴² Many who were there put their trust in Jesus.

¹ A man named Lazarus was sick. He lived in Bethany with his sisters* Mary and Martha.

² Mary was the one who had anointed the Lord with perfume and wiped his feet with her hair. It was her brother Lazarus who was sick.

³ So the sisters sent a message to Jesus: "Lord, your close friend is sick."

⁴ When Jesus heard the news he said, "The end result of this sickness will not be death. Through this God's glory will be revealed so that the Son of God may be glorified."

⁵ Even though Jesus loved Martha, Mary, and Lazarus,

⁶ and had heard that Lazarus was sick, he remained where he was for two more days.

⁷ Then he told the disciples, "Let's return to Judea."

‡ 10:28 Literally, "out of my hand." Similarly verse 29. § 10:34 Quoting Psalms 82:6. * 11:1 In the original it states that Lazarus lived in Bethany with Mary and her sister Martha. However, in verse 2 it's mentioned that Lazarus is Mary's brother, so their relationship is best identified at the outset.

⁸ The disciples replied, "Rabbi, just a few days ago the Jews were trying to stone you. Do you really want to go back there now?"

⁹ "Aren't there twelve hours in a day?" Jesus replied.

¹⁰ "If you walk during the day you don't stumble because you can see where you're going by the light of this world. But if you walk during the night you stumble because you have no light."

¹¹ After telling them this, he said, "Our friend Lazarus has fallen asleep, but I'm going to go there and wake him up!"

¹² The disciples said, "Lord, if he's sleeping then he'll get better."

¹³ Jesus had been referring to the death of Lazarus, but the disciples thought he meant actual sleep.[†]

¹⁴ So Jesus told them plainly, "Lazarus is dead."

¹⁵ For your sake I'm glad I wasn't there, because now you will be able to trust in me. Let's go and see him."

¹⁶ Thomas, the Twin, said to his fellow-disciples, "Let's go too so we can die with him."[‡]

¹⁷ When he arrived, Jesus learned that Lazarus had been in the tomb for four days.

¹⁸ Bethany was just two miles from Jerusalem,

¹⁹ and many Jews had come to console Mary and Martha at the loss of their brother.

²¹ Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if you'd been here, my brother wouldn't have died."

²² But I'm certain that even now God will give you whatever you ask."

²³ Jesus told her, "Your brother will rise again."

²⁵ Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life. Those who trust in me will live, even though they die."

²⁶ All who live in me and trust in me will never die. Do you believe this?"

²⁷ "Yes, Lord," she replied, "I believe you are the Messiah, the Son of God, the one expected to come to this world."

²⁸ When she had said this, she went and told her sister Mary in private, "The Teacher's here, and asking to see you."

³⁰ Jesus hadn't arrived in the village yet. He was still at the place where Martha had met him.

³¹ The Jews who had been comforting Mary in the home saw how she'd got up quickly and left. So they followed her, thinking she was going to the tomb to weep there.

³² When Mary arrived at the place where Jesus was and saw him, she fell at his feet and said, "Lord, if you'd been here, my brother wouldn't have died."

[†] 11:13 In the New Testament sleep often represents death. [‡] 11:16 Meaning Jesus. [§] 11:33 The word used here expresses intense emotion, even anger. Also used in verse 38.

34 "Where have you laid him?" he asked.

They replied, "Lord, come and see."

35 Then Jesus cried too.

36 "See how much he loved him," the Jews said.

37 But some of them said, "If he could open the eyes of a blind man, couldn't he have kept Lazarus from dying?"

38 Very troubled, Jesus went to the tomb. It was a cave with a large stone placed at the entrance.

39 "Remove the stone," Jesus told them.

But Martha, the dead man's sister, said, "Lord, by now there will be a terrible smell, for he's been dead for four days."

40 "Didn't I tell you that if you trusted me you would see God's glory?" Jesus replied.

41 So they removed the stone. Jesus looked heavenwards, and said, "Father, thank you for listening to me.

42 I know you always listen to me. I said this because of the crowd standing here so that they will believe that you sent me."

43 After saying this, Jesus shouted, "Lazarus, come out!"

44 The dead man came out, his hands and feet bound with strips of linen, and with a cloth around his face.

"Unbind him and set him free," Jesus told them.

45 Consequently many of the Jews who had come to comfort Mary and who saw what Jesus did put their trust in him.

46 But others went to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus had done.

47 Then the chief priests and the Pharisees called a meeting of the ruling council. "What shall we do?" they asked. "This man is doing many miracles.

48 If we allow him to continue, everybody will believe in him, and then the Romans will destroy both the Temple and our status as a nation."*

49 "You don't understand anything!" said Caiaphas, who was high priest that year.

50 "Can't you see that it's better for you that one man die for the people so that the whole nation won't be destroyed?"

51 He didn't say this on his own behalf, but as chief priest that year he was prophesying that Jesus would die for the nation.

52 And this was not just for the Jewish nation, but for all the scattered children of God so that they might be gathered together and be made into one.

53 From that time on they plotted how they might kill Jesus.

54 So Jesus did not travel openly among the Jews but went to a town called Ephraim in the region near the desert and stayed there with his disciples.

55 It was nearly time for the Jewish Passover, and many people went from the countryside to Jerusalem to purify† themselves for the Passover.

56 People were looking for Jesus and talking about him as they stood in the Temple. "What do you think?" they asked each other. "Isn't he coming to the festival?"

57 The chief priests and the Pharisees had given orders that anyone who knew where Jesus was should report it so they could arrest him.

* 11:48 Literally, "the place and the nation." † 11:55 By a series of religious rituals.

¹ Six days before the Passover Jesus went to Bethany, to the home of Lazarus who had been raised from the dead.

² There a dinner was arranged in his honor. Martha helped serve the food while Lazarus sat at the table with Jesus and the others guests.

³ Mary brought a pint* of pure nard perfume and anointed Jesus' feet, wiping them dry with her hair. The scent of the perfume filled the whole house.

⁴ But one of the disciples, Judas Iscariot, who would later betray Jesus, asked,

⁶ He wasn't saying this because he cared about the poor but because he was a thief. He was the one who looked after the disciples' money and he often took some for himself.

⁷ "Don't criticize her,"‡ Jesus replied. "She did this in preparation for the day of my burial.

⁸ You'll always have the poor here with you,§ but you won't always have me here."

⁹ A large crowd had found out that he was there. They came there not just to see Jesus but because they wanted to see Lazarus, the man Jesus had raised from the dead.

¹⁰ So the chief priests planned to kill Lazarus as well,

¹¹ since it was because of him that many Jews were no longer following them but putting their trust in Jesus.

¹² The following day the crowds of people who had come for the Passover festival heard that Jesus was on his way to Jerusalem.

¹³ They cut off palm branches and went to welcome him, shouting, "Hosanna! Blessed is the one coming in the name of the Lord. Blessed is the king of Israel."*

¹⁴ Jesus found a young donkey and rode on it, as Scripture says:

¹⁶ At the time, Jesus' disciples did not understand what these things meant. It was only later when he was glorified‡ that they realized what had happened had been prophesied and applied to him.

¹⁷ Many in the crowd had seen Jesus call Lazarus from the tomb and raise him from the dead and were telling the story.

¹⁸ That was the reason so many people went to meet Jesus—because they had heard about this miracle.

¹⁹ The Pharisees said to one other, "Look, we're getting nowhere. Everyone's running after him."

²⁰ Now some Greeks had come to the festival to worship.

²² Philip went and told Andrew. Then they both went to Jesus and told him.

* 12:3 A litra, about 12 ounces, or half a liter. † 12:5 About a year's wages at one denarius per day. ‡ 12:7 Or "leave her alone." § 12:8 See Deuteronomy 15:11. * 12:13 Quoting Psalms 118:26. † 12:15 Quoting Zechariah 9:9. ‡ 12:16 Glorified: in his resurrection and ascension.

²³ Jesus replied, "The time has come for the Son of man to be glorified.

²⁴ I tell you the truth: unless a grain of wheat is planted in the soil and dies[§], it remains just one grain. But if it dies, it produces many more grains of wheat.

²⁵ If you love your own life you will lose it, but if you don't love your own life in this world you will keep your life forever.

²⁶ If you want to serve me you need to follow me. My servants will be where I am, and my Father will honor anyone who serves for me.

²⁷ Now I am troubled. What should I say? 'Father, save me from this coming time of suffering?*' No, for this is why I came—to go through this time of suffering.

²⁸ Father, show the glory of your character."[†]

A voice came from heaven, saying, "I have shown its glory, and I will show it again."

²⁹ The crowd that was standing there heard it. Some said it thundered; others said an angel had spoken to him.

³⁰ Jesus told them, "This voice spoke not for my sake, but for yours.

³¹ Now is the judgment of this world; now the prince of this world will be thrown out.

³² But when I am lifted up from the earth I will attract everyone to me."

³³ (He said this to point out the kind of death he was going to die.)

³⁴ The crowd responded, "The Law[‡] tells us that the Messiah will live forever, so how can you say the Son of man must be 'lifted up'? Who is this 'Son of man'?"

³⁵ Jesus replied, "The light is here with you for a little longer. Walk while you have the light so that the darkness doesn't overtake you. Those who walk in the dark don't know where they're going.

³⁶ Put your trust in the light while you still have it so that you can become children of light." When Jesus had told them this, he left and hid himself from them.

³⁷ But despite all the miracles he had done in their presence, they still did not trust in Jesus.

³⁸ This fulfilled the message of Isaiah the prophet who said, "Lord, who has believed what we told them? To whom has the Lord's power been revealed?"[§]

³⁹ They were not able to trust him, and as a result they fulfilled what Isaiah also said:

⁴⁰ "He blinded their eyes, and made their minds dull, so that their eyes would not see, and their minds would not think, and they would not turn to me—for if they did I would heal them."^{*}

⁴² Even so many of the leaders did trust in him. However, they did not openly admit it because they did not want the Pharisees to expel them from the synagogue, ⁴³ loving human admiration more than God's approval.

[§] 12:24 Meaning that it looks like it dies. * 12:27 Literally, "this hour." † 12:28 Or "name." Name is synonymous with character. ‡ 12:34 Referring to what we call the Old Testament.

[§] 12:38 Quoting Isaiah 53:1. * 12:40 Quoting Isaiah 6:10.

⁴⁴ Jesus called out, "If you trust in me you're not just trusting in me but also in the one who sent me.

⁴⁵ When you see me, you're seeing the one who sent me.

⁴⁷ I don't judge anyone who hears my words but doesn't do what I say. I came to save the world, not to judge it.

⁴⁸ Anyone who rejects me and does not accept my words will be judged at the end-time judgment in accordance with what I have said.

⁴⁹ For I'm not speaking for myself but for my Father who sent me. He is the one who instructed me what to say and how to say it.

⁵⁰ I know that what he told me to say brings eternal life—so whatever I say is what the Father told me."

¹ It was the day before the Passover festival, and Jesus knew that the time had come to leave this world and go to his Father. He had loved those in the world who were his own, and he now demonstrated his complete and utter love for them.

² It was during supper, and the devil had already put the thought of betraying Jesus into the mind of Judas, son of Simon Iscariot.

³ Jesus knew that the Father had placed everything under his authority,* and that he had come from God and was going back to God.

⁵ He poured water into a basin and began to wash his disciples' feet, drying them with the towel he had wrapped around him.

⁶ He came to Simon Peter, who asked him, "Lord, are you going to wash my feet?"

⁷ Jesus replied, "You won't realize what I'm doing for you now. But one day you'll understand."

⁸ "No!" Peter protested. "You'll never wash my feet!"

Jesus replied, "If I don't wash you, you have no part with me."

⁹ "Then, Lord, wash not just my feet but my hands and my head as well!" Simon Peter exclaimed.

¹⁰ Jesus responded, "Those who have had a bath only need to wash their feet and then they're clean all over. You are clean—but not all of you."

¹¹ For he knew who was going to betray him. That's why he said, "Not all of you are clean."

¹² After Jesus had washed their feet, he put his robe back on, and sat down. "Do you understand what I've done to you?" he asked them.

¹⁴ So if I, your Teacher and Lord, washed your feet, you ought to wash one another's feet.

¹⁵ I have set you an example, so you should do just as I did.

¹⁶ I tell you the truth, servants are not more important than their master, and the one sent is not greater than the sender.

¹⁷ Now that you understand these things, you will be blessed if you do them.

* 13:3 Literally, "into his hands."

¹⁸ I'm not talking about all of you—I know those I have chosen. But this is to fulfill Scripture: 'The one who shares my food has turned against me.'[†]

¹⁹ I'm telling you this now, before it happens, so when it does happen you will be convinced that I am who I am.

²⁰ I tell you the truth, whoever welcomes anyone I send welcomes me; and whoever welcomes me, welcomes the one who sent me."

²¹ After he had said this, Jesus was deeply troubled, and declared: "I tell you the truth, one of you is going to betray me."

²² The disciples looked at each other, wondering which of them Jesus was talking about.

²³ The disciple whom Jesus loved[‡] was sitting next to Jesus at the table, leaning close him.

²⁶ Jesus replied, "It's the one to whom I will give a piece of bread after I have dipped it."

²⁷ After dipping the piece of bread, he gave it to Judas, son of Simon Iscariot. Once Judas had taken the bread, Satan entered him. "What you're going to do, do it quickly," Jesus told him.

²⁸ No one at the table understood what Jesus meant by this.

³² If God is glorified through him, then God will glorify the Son himself, and will glorify him immediately.

³³ My children, I will be with you only a little while longer. You will look for me, but I'm telling you now just as I told the Jews: you cannot come where I'm going.

³⁴ I am giving you a new command: Love one another. Love one another in the same way I have loved you.

³⁵ If you love one another you will prove to everyone that you are my disciples."

³⁶ Simon Peter asked him, "Where are you going, Lord?" Jesus answered, "You can't follow me now where I'm going. You will follow me later."

³⁷ "Lord, why can't I follow you now?" Peter asked. "I'll lay down my life for you."

³⁸ "Are you really ready to die for me? I tell you the truth: before the cock crows you will deny me three times," Jesus replied.

[†] 13:18 Quoting Psalms 41:9. [‡] 13:23 Usually understood as John referring to himself. (See also 20:2, 21:7, 21:20.) * 14:1 Or "You trust in God, trust in me too."

² In my Father's house there are many rooms. If this wasn't so I would have told you. I'm going to prepare a place for you.

³ Once I've gone and prepared a place for you, I will come again and take you back with me, so that you can be there with me too.

⁵ Thomas said to him, "Lord, we don't know where you're going. How can we know the way?"

⁶ Jesus replied, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.

⁸ Philip said, "Lord, show us the Father, and we'll be convinced."

⁹ Jesus replied, "Have I been with you such a long time, Philip, and yet you still don't know me? Anyone who has seen me has seen the Father. How can you say, 'Show us the Father'?"

¹⁰ Don't you believe that I live in the Father and the Father lives in me? The words I speak are not mine; it's the Father living in me who is doing his work.

¹¹ Believe me when I tell you that I live in the Father, and the Father lives in me, or at least believe because of the evidence provided by all that I've done.

¹² I tell you the truth, anyone who trusts in me will do the same things I am doing. In fact they will do even greater things[†] because I am going to the Father.

¹³ I'll do whatever you ask in my name, so that the Father may be glorified through the Son.

¹⁴ Whatever you ask for in my name, I will do it.

¹⁶ I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Comforter;[‡]

¹⁷ the Spirit of truth, who will always be with you. The world cannot accept him because it isn't looking for him and does not know him. But you know him because he lives with you and will be in you.

¹⁸ I will not abandon you like orphans: I will come back to you.

¹⁹ Soon the world will not see me anymore, but you will see me. Because I live, you will live too.

²⁰ On that day[§] you will know that I live in the Father, you live in me, and I live in you.

²¹ Those who keep my commands are the ones who love me, those who love me will be loved by my Father. I will love them too, and will reveal myself to them."

²² Judas (not Iscariot) responded, "Lord, why would you reveal yourself to us and not to the world?"

²³ Jesus replied, "Those who love me will do as I say. My Father will love them, and we will come and make our home with them.

²⁴ Those who don't love me don't do what I say. These words don't come from me, they come from the Father who sent me.

²⁵ I'm explaining this to you while I'm still here with you.

[†] 14:12 Greater in extent. [‡] 14:16 Comforter. The word in the original (transliterated into English as "Paraclete") refers to one who is called to "come alongside" and help. See also 14:26, 15:26, 16:7, and 1 John 2:1. [§] 14:20 Referring to verse 18, primarily referencing his coming to them after his resurrection.

²⁶ But when the Father sends the Comforter, the Holy Spirit, in my place,* he will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you.

²⁷ Peace I leave you; my peace I'm giving you. The peace I give you is nothing like what the world gives. Don't let your minds be anxious, and don't be afraid.

²⁸ You've heard me tell you, 'I am going away, but I will come back to you.' If you really loved me, you would be happy because I'm going to the Father, for the Father is greater than I.

²⁹ I've explained this to you now before it happens so that when it does happen you will be convinced.

³⁰ I can't talk to you much longer, for the prince of this world is coming. He has no power to control me,

³¹ but I'm doing what my Father told me to do so that the world will know that I love the Father. Now get up. Let's go."

² He cuts off every one of my branches that doesn't bear fruit. He prunes every branch that bears fruit so it can bear even more.

³ You are already pruned and made clean* through what I've told you.

⁴ Remain in me, and I will remain in you.† Just as a branch cannot produce fruit unless it remains part of the vine, so it is for you: you cannot bear fruit unless you remain in me.

⁵ I'm the vine, you're the branches. Those who remain in me, and I in them, will produce much fruit—for apart from me you can't do anything.

⁶ Anyone who doesn't remain in me is like a branch that is thrown out and dries up. Such branches are gathered together, thrown into the fire and burned.

⁷ If you remain in me, and my words remain in you, then you can ask for whatever you want, and it will be given you.

⁸ My Father is glorified as you produce much fruit, proving you are my disciples.

¹⁰ If you do what I say, you will remain in my love, just as I do what my Father says and remain in his love.

¹¹ I've explained this to you so that my joy may be in you and that your joy may be complete.

¹² This is my command: love one another as I have loved you.

¹³ There is no greater love than to give your life for your friends.

¹⁴ You're my friends if you do what I tell you.

¹⁵ I don't call you servants any longer, for servants are not taken into their master's confidence.‡ I call you friends, for everything my Father told me I've explained to you.

* 14:26 Literally, "in my name." This phrase can mean "with my authority," "through me," "for me," "belonging to me" etc. It really is a way of referring to the person and their character. * 15:3 The word for pruning in this context is Literally, "to cleanse." † 15:4 Obviously the word "in" should be taken as "in connection with" as the rest of the verse makes clear. ‡ 15:15 Literally, "a servant doesn't know what his master is doing."

¹⁶ You didn't choose me, I chose you. I have given you the responsibility to go and produce lasting fruit. So the Father will give you whatever you ask in my name.

¹⁷ This is my command to you: love one another.

¹⁹ If you were part of this world, it would love you as its own. But you're not part of the world, and I chose you out of the world—that's why the world hates you.

²⁰ Remember what I told you: servants aren't more important than their master. If they persecuted me, they will persecute you too. If they did what I told them, they will do what you tell them too.

²¹ But everything they do to you will be because of me, for they don't know the one who sent me.

²² If I hadn't come and spoken to them, they wouldn't be guilty of sin—but now they have no excuse for their sin.

²³ Anyone who hates me hates my Father as well.

²⁴ If I had not given them such a demonstration through things that no one had ever done before, they wouldn't be guilty of sin, but despite seeing all this they hated both me and my Father.

²⁵ But this just fulfilled what Scripture says, 'They hated me for no reason at all.'[§]

²⁶ But I will send you the Comforter from the Father. When he comes, he will give evidence about me. He is the Spirit of truth who comes from the Father.

²⁷ You will also give evidence about me because you were with me from the beginning.

² They will expel you from the synagogues—in fact the time is coming when those who kill you will think they are doing God a service.

³ They'll do this because they have never known the Father or me. I've told you this so that when these things happen, you'll remember what I told you.

⁴ I didn't need to tell you this right at the beginning because I was going to be with you.

⁵ But now I'm going to the one who sent me, and yet not one of you is asking me, 'Where are you going?'

⁶ Of course, now that I've told you, you're full of grief.

⁷ But I'm telling you the truth: it's better for you that I go away, for if I don't the Comforter won't come to you. If I go away, I will send him to you.

⁸ When he comes, he will convince those in the world that they have wrong ideas regarding sin, about what is right, and about judgment:

⁹ Sin, for they don't trust in me.

¹⁰ What is right, for I'm going to the Father and you won't see me any longer.

¹³ However, when the Spirit of truth comes, he will teach you the whole truth. He doesn't speak for himself, but he only says what he hears, and he will tell you what's going to happen.

¹⁵ All that belongs to the Father is mine. This is why I said that the Spirit teaches you whatever he receives from me.

¹⁶ In a little while you won't see me anymore, but then a little while after that you will see me."

¹⁷ Some of his disciples said to one another, "What does he mean, 'In a little while you won't see me, but a little while after that you will see me'? and 'For I'm going to the Father'?"

¹⁸ They were asking, "What does he mean by 'in a little while'? We don't know what he's talking about."

¹⁹ Jesus realized that they wanted to ask him about this. So he asked them, "Are you wondering about my comment, 'In a little while you won't see me, but a little while after that you will see me'?"

²⁰ I tell you the truth, you will weep and mourn, but the world will rejoice. You will grieve, but your grief will turn into joy.

²¹ A woman in labor suffers pain because her time has come, but once the baby is born, she forgets the agony because of the joy that a child has been brought into the world.

²³ When that time comes you won't need to ask me for anything. I tell you the truth, the Father will give you whatever you ask in my name.

²⁴ Until now you haven't asked for anything in my name, so ask and you shall receive, and your happiness will be complete.

²⁵ I've been talking to you using picture language. But soon I won't use such picture language any more when I speak to you. Instead I'll explain the Father to you very plainly.

²⁶ At that time you will ask in my name. I'm not saying to you that I will plead with the Father on your behalf, ²⁷ for the Father himself loves you—because you love me and believe that I came from God.

²⁸ I left the Father and came into the world; now I leave the world and return to my Father."

²⁹ Then the disciples said, "Now you're talking very plainly and not using picture language.

³⁰ Now we're certain that you know everything, and that in order to know what questions people are thinking you don't need to ask them.[†] This convinces us that you came from God."

³¹ "Are you really convinced now?" Jesus asked.

³² "The time is coming—in fact it's just about to happen—when you will be scattered, each of you to your own homes, leaving me all alone. But I'm not really alone, for the Father is with me.

[†] 16:30 Referring back to what happened in 16:19.

³³ I've told you all this so that you may have peace because you are one with me.[‡] You will suffer in this world, but be brave—I have defeated the world!”

¹ When Jesus finished saying this he looked up to heaven and said, “Father, the time has come. Glorify your Son so that the Son may glorify you.

² For you gave him authority over all people so that he might give eternal life to all those you have given to him.

³ Eternal life is this: to know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you sent.

⁴ I have brought glory to you here on earth by completing the work you gave me to do.

⁵ Now Father, glorify me in your presence with the glory I had with you before the beginning of the world.

⁶ I have revealed your character* to those you gave me out of the world. They belonged to you; you gave them to me; and they have done what you said.

⁸ I have given them the message that you gave me. They accepted it, completely convinced that I came from you, and they believed that you sent me.

¹⁰ All who belong to me are yours, and those who belong to you are mine, and I have been glorified through them.

¹¹ I am leaving the world, but they will remain in the world; I am coming to you. Holy Father, protect them in your name, the name that you gave to me, so that they may be one, just as we are one.

¹² While I was with them, I protected them in your name that you gave to me. I watched over them so that no one was lost except the ‘son of the lost,’ so Scripture was fulfilled.

¹³ Now I'm coming to you, and I say these things while I am still here in the world so they may share completely in my joy.

¹⁵ I'm not asking you to take them out of the world, but for you to protect them from the evil one.

¹⁶ They are not of the world, just as I'm not of the world.

¹⁷ Make them holy by the truth; your word is truth.

¹⁸ Just as you sent me into the world, I have sent them into the world.

[‡] 16:33 Literally, “peace in me.” * 17:6 Or “name.” † 17:19 “Dedicate”: this is the same word translated “make holy” in verse 17.

²¹ I pray that they all may be one, just as you, Father, live in me, and I live in you, so that they too may live in us so that the world will believe you did send me.

²² I have given them the glory that you gave me, so that they may be one, just as we are one.

²³ I live in them, and you live in me. May they be completely one, so the whole world will know that you did send me, and that you love them, just as you love me.

²⁴ Father, I want those you have given me to be with me where I am, so they can see the glory which you gave to me—for you loved me before the world was created.

²⁶ I have revealed your character to them and will continue to make it known, so that the love you have for me will be in them, and I will live in them."

¹ After Jesus had finished speaking, he and his disciples crossed over the Kidron brook and went into an olive grove.

² Judas the betrayer knew the place, for Jesus had often gone there with his disciples.

³ So Judas took with him a troop of soldiers together with guards from the chief priests and the Pharisees. They arrived there carrying torches, lanterns, and weapons.

⁴ Jesus knew everything that was going to happen to him. He went to meet them, and asked, "Who are you looking for?"

⁵ "Are you Jesus of Nazareth?" they asked.

"I am," Jesus told them.* Judas the betrayer was standing with them.

⁶ When Jesus said "I am," they fell back and dropped to the ground.

⁷ So he asked them again, "Who are you looking for?"

"Are you Jesus of Nazareth?" they asked again.

⁸ "I already told you I am," Jesus replied. "So if I'm the one you're looking for, let these others go."

⁹ These words fulfilled what he had previously said: "I have not lost any of those you gave me."

¹¹ Jesus told Peter, "Put the sword away! Do you think[†] I shouldn't drink the cup the Father has given me?"

¹² Then the soldiers, their commander, and the Jewish guards arrested Jesus and tied his hands.

¹⁴ Caiaphas was the one who had told the Jews, "It's better that one man die for the people."[‡]

[‡] 17:25 Literally, "Father Right." * 18:5 Jesus' words are not only an affirmation of his identity but also echo the name of God from Exodus. [†] 18:11 "Do you think"—implied. [‡] 18:14 See 11:50.

¹⁵ Simon Peter followed Jesus, and another disciple did so too. This disciple was well-known to the high priest, and so he entered the high priest's courtyard with Jesus.

¹⁶ Peter had to remain outside by the door. So the other disciple who was known to the high priest went and spoke to the servant girl watching the door and brought Peter inside.

"Me? No, I'm not," he replied.

¹⁸ It was cold, and the servants and guards were standing by a fire they had made, warming themselves. Peter went and stood with them, warming himself.

¹⁹ Then the chief priest questioned Jesus about his disciples and what he had been teaching.

²⁰ "I've spoken openly to everyone," § Jesus replied. "I always taught in the synagogues and in the Temple where all the Jewish people meet. I haven't said anything in secret.

²¹ So why are you questioning me? Ask the people who heard me what I told them. They know what I said."

²² When he said this, one of the guards standing nearby slapped Jesus, saying, "Is that any way to speak to the high priest?"

²³ Jesus replied, "If I said something wrong, tell everyone what was wrong with it. But if what I said was right, why did you hit me?"

²⁴ Annas sent him, his hands still tied, to Caiaphas the high priest.

²⁵ As Simon Peter stood warming himself by the fire, the people there asked him, "Aren't you one of his disciples?"

Peter denied it and said, "No, I'm not."

²⁶ One of the high priest's servants, a relative of the man whose ear Peter had cut off, asked Peter, "Didn't I see you in the olive grove with him?"

²⁷ Peter denied it again, and immediately a cock crowed.

³⁰ "If he wasn't a criminal, we would not have handed him over to you," they answered.

³¹ "Then you take him and judge him according to your law," Pilate told them.

"We're not permitted to execute anyone," the Jews answered.

³² This fulfilled what Jesus had said about how he would die.

³³ Pilate went back into the governor's palace. He summoned Jesus, and asked him, "Are you the King of the Jews?"

³⁴ "Did you think of this question yourself, or did others talk to you about me?" Jesus responded.

³⁵ "Am I a Jew?" Pilate countered. "It was your own people and high priests who handed you over to me. What is it that you've done?"

§ 18:20 Literally, "to the world." * 18:28 Implied.

³⁶ Jesus answered, "My kingdom is not of this world. If it was of this world, my subjects would fight to keep me from being handed over to the Jews. But my kingdom is not from here."

³⁷ Then Pilate asked, "So you are a king, then?"

"You say that I'm a king," Jesus replied. "The reason why I was born and I came to the world was to give evidence for the truth. All those who accept the truth pay attention to what I say."

³⁸ "What is truth?" Pilate asked.

Having said this Pilate went back out to the Jews and told them, "I find him not guilty of any crime."

³⁹ However, it is customary for me to release a prisoner to you at Passover. Do you want me to release the King of the Jews?"

⁴⁰ "No, not him! We want Barabbas instead!" they shouted back. Barabbas was a rebel.[†]

19

³ Time and again they went up to him and said, "Hail, King of the Jews!" and slapped him.

⁴ Pilate went outside once more and said to them, "I'm bringing him out here to you so you'll know I find him not guilty of any crime."

⁵ Then Jesus came out wearing the crown of thorns and the purple robe. "Look, here's the man," said Pilate.

⁶ When the chief priests and the guards saw Jesus, they shouted out, "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

"You take him and crucify him," Pilate answered. "I find him not guilty."

⁷ The Jewish leaders replied, "We have a law, and according to that law he must die because he claimed to be the Son of God."

⁸ When Pilate heard this he was more afraid than ever,

¹⁰ "Are you refusing to talk to me?" Pilate said to him. "Don't you realize that I have the power to have you released or to crucify you?"

¹¹ "You would have no power over me unless it had been given to you from above," Jesus answered. "Therefore the one who handed me over to you is guilty of the greater sin."

¹² When Pilate heard this he tried to set Jesus free, but the Jewish leaders shouted, "If you set this man free you're not Caesar's friend. Anyone who sets himself up as a king is rebelling against Caesar."

¹⁴ It was around noon on the preparation day before the Passover.

"Look, here is your king," he said to the Jews.

¹⁵ "Kill him! Kill him! Crucify him!" they screamed out.

"Do you want me to crucify your king?" Pilate asked.

[†] 18:40 Usually translated "robber." It may be that Barabbas had taken part in some insurrection.

"The only king we have is Caesar," the chief priests replied.

¹⁶ So he handed Jesus over to them to be crucified.

¹⁸ They crucified him there, and two others with him: one on either side, with Jesus between them.

¹⁹ Pilate had a notice made and placed on the cross which said, "Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews."

²⁰ Many people read the notice because the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city, and it was written in Hebrew, Latin, and Greek.

²¹ Then the chief priests came to Pilate and asked him, "Don't write 'the King of the Jews,' but 'This man said I am the King of the Jews.' "

²² Pilate replied, "What I have written I have written."

²³ When the soldiers had crucified Jesus they took his clothes and divided them in four so that each soldier had his share. There was also his robe, made without seams, woven in one piece.

²⁴ So they said to each other, "Let's not tear it, but let's decide who will have it by rolling dice." This fulfilled the Scripture that says, "They divided my garments among them and rolled dice for my clothing."*

²⁵ So that is what the soldiers did.

Standing near the cross was Jesus' mother and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Clopas and Mary Magdalene.[†]

²⁶ When Jesus saw his mother, and the disciple he loved standing beside her, he said to his mother, "Mother,[‡] this is your son."

²⁷ Then he said to the disciple, "This is your mother." From then on the disciple took her into his home.

²⁸ Jesus now realized that he had finished all that he had come to do. In fulfillment of Scripture, he said, "I'm thirsty."[§]

²⁹ A jar of wine vinegar was standing there, so they soaked a sponge in the vinegar, put it on a hyssop stick, and held it to his lips.*

³⁰ After he'd had the vinegar, Jesus said, "It's finished!"[†] Then he bowed his head and breathed his last.

³³ but when they came to Jesus they saw he was already dead, so they didn't break his legs.

³⁵ The one who saw this has given this evidence, and his evidence is true. He's certain that what he says is true so you can believe it too.

* 19:24 Quoting Psalms 22:18. † 19:25 It is not clear whether there were three women present or four. Some believe Mary's sister is the same person as Mary, wife of Clopas. ‡ 19:26 Literally, "woman," but this does not work in English. § 19:28 Quoting Psalms 69:21. * 19:29 See Psalms 69:21. † 19:30 "Finished": this can also mean "completed" or "fulfilled."

³⁷ and as another Scripture says, “They will look at the one they pierced.”[§]

³⁸ After this Joseph of Arimathea asked Pilate if he could take down the body of Jesus, and Pilate gave his permission. Joseph was a disciple of Jesus, but in secret because he feared the Jews. So Joseph came and took the body away.

³⁹ He was joined by Nicodemus, the man who had first visited Jesus at night. He brought with him a mixture of myrrh and aloes weighing about seventy-five pounds.

⁴⁰ They took Jesus' body and wrapped it in linen cloth together with the mixture of spices, in accordance with Jewish burial customs. There was a garden near where Jesus was crucified;

⁴¹ and in the garden was a new, unused tomb.

⁴² Since it was the Jewish day of preparation and the tomb was nearby, they laid Jesus to rest there.

¹ Early on the first day of the week,^{*} while it was still dark, Mary Magdalene went to the tomb and saw that the stone had been moved from the entrance.

² So she ran to tell Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one Jesus loved, “They’ve taken the Lord out of the tomb, and we don’t know where they’ve put him.”

³ Then Peter and the other disciple went to the tomb.

⁴ The two of them were running together, but the other disciple ran faster and reached the tomb first.

⁵ He bent down, and looking in he saw the grave-clothes lying there, but he didn’t go in.

⁶ Then Simon Peter arrived after him and went right into the tomb. He saw the linen grave-clothes lying there,

⁷ and that the cloth that had been on Jesus’ head wasn’t with the other grave-clothes but had been folded and placed on its own.

⁸ Then the other disciple who had reached the tomb first went inside as well.

⁹ He looked around and believed it was true[†]—for up till then they hadn’t understood the Scripture that Jesus had to rise from the dead.

¹¹ But Mary stayed outside the tomb crying, and as she was crying, she bent down and looked into the tomb.

¹² She saw two angels in white, one sitting at the head and the other at the foot of where Jesus’ body had been lying.

¹³ “Why are you crying?” they asked her.

She answered, “Because they’ve taken my Lord away, and I don’t know where they’ve put him.”

[‡] 19:36 Quoting Psalms 34:20. [§] 19:37 Referring to Exodus 12:46, Numbers 9:12, or Psalms 34:20.

^{*} 20:1 That is, Sunday. [†] 20:9 That Jesus had risen from the dead.

¹⁴ After she'd said this, she turned round and saw Jesus standing there, but she didn't realize it was Jesus.

¹⁵ "Why are you crying?" he asked her. "Who are you looking for?"

Assuming he was the gardener, she said to him, "Sir, if you've taken him away, tell me where you've put him so I can go and get him."

¹⁶ Jesus said to her, "Mary!"

She turned to him and said, "Rabboni," which means "Teacher" in Hebrew.

¹⁷ "Don't hold onto me,"[‡] Jesus said to her, "for I haven't yet ascended to my Father; but go to my brothers and tell them I am ascending to my Father and your Father, my God and your God."

¹⁸ So Mary Magdalene went and told the disciples, "I've seen the Lord," and she explained to them what he had said to her.

¹⁹ That evening, on the first day of the week, as the disciples were meeting together behind locked doors because they were afraid of the Jews, Jesus came and stood among them and said, "May you have peace."

²⁰ After this greeting he showed them his hands and his side. The disciples were full of joy to see the Lord.

²¹ "May you have peace!" Jesus told them again. "In the same way the Father sent me, so I'm sending you."

²² Saying this, he breathed on them, and told them, "Receive the Holy Spirit.

²³ If you forgive anyone's sins, they are forgiven; if you hold them unforgiven, unforgiven they remain."

²⁴ One of the twelve disciples, Thomas, who was called the Twin, wasn't with them when Jesus came.

²⁵ So the other disciples told him, "We've seen the Lord."

But he replied, "I won't believe it unless I see the nail marks in his hands and put my finger in them, and put my hand in his side."

²⁶ One week later the disciples were together inside the house; and Thomas was with them. The doors were closed, and Jesus came and stood among them.

"May you have peace!" he said.

²⁷ Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger here, and look at my hands. Put your hand in the wound on my side. Stop doubting and trust in me!"

²⁸ "My Lord and my God!" Thomas responded.

²⁹ "You trust in me because you've seen me," Jesus told him. "Happy are those that haven't seen me yet still trust in me."

³⁰ Jesus did many other miraculous signs while he was with his disciples that are not recorded in this book.

³¹ But these are written down here so that you may trust that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that by trusting in him as he is[§] you will have life.

[‡] 20:17 Meaning "don't detain me by holding me back." [§] 20:31 Literally, "in his name." * 21:1 Literally, "Sea of Tiberias."

² Simon Peter, Thomas the Twin, Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and Zebedee's sons, and two other disciples were together.

³ "I'm going fishing," Simon Peter said to them. "We'll come with you," they replied. So they left and went out in the boat, but all night they caught nothing.

⁵ Jesus called to them, "My friends, haven't you caught anything?"

"No," they replied.

⁶ "Throw the net out on the right side of the boat, and you'll find some," he told them. So they threw out the net, and they weren't able to haul it in because it had so many fish.

⁷ The disciple Jesus loved said to Peter, "It's the Lord." When Peter heard it was the Lord, he put some clothes on since he was naked, and jumped into the sea.

⁸ The other disciples followed in the boat, pulling the net full of fish, because they were not far from the shore, only about a hundred yards.

¹¹ Simon Peter went aboard and pulled the net full of fish ashore. There were 153 large fish, yet even so the net hadn't torn.

¹² "Come and eat some breakfast," Jesus said to them. None of the disciples was brave enough to ask him, "Who are you?" They knew it was the Lord.

¹⁴ This was the third time Jesus had appeared to the disciples after being raised from the dead.

¹⁵ After breakfast, Jesus asked Simon Peter, "Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these?"[†]

"Yes, Lord," he replied, "you know I love you."

¹⁶ "Take care of my lambs," Jesus told him. "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" he asked for the second time.

"Yes, Lord," he answered, "you know I love you."

¹⁷ "Look after my sheep," Jesus said to him. "Simon, son of John, do you love me?" he asked a third time.

Peter was saddened that Jesus had asked him for the third time if he loved him. "Lord, you know everything. You know I love you," Peter told him.

"Take care of my sheep," said Jesus.

¹⁸ "I tell you the truth," said Jesus, "when you were young, you dressed yourself and went wherever you wanted. But when you're old, you'll hold out your hands and someone will dress you and take you where you don't want to go."

¹⁹ Jesus said this to explain the kind of death by which he would glorify God. Then he said to Peter, "Follow me."

²⁰ As Peter turned round, he saw the disciple Jesus loved following them, the one who had leaned over to Jesus during the supper and asked, "Lord, who is going to betray you?"

[†] 21:15 "These." This could refer to the objects around them, meaning the fisherman's trade, but is more likely that it refers to the other disciples. It is Peter's love for Jesus which is in question.

²¹ Peter asked Jesus, "What about him, Lord?"

²² Jesus told him, "If I want him to remain alive here until I return, why is that your concern? You follow me!"

²³ This is why the saying spread among the believers that this disciple would not die. But Jesus didn't say to him that he wouldn't die, just that "If I want him to remain alive here until I return, why is that your concern?"

²⁴ This disciple confirms what happened and wrote all this down. We know that what he says is true.

²⁵ Jesus did many other things as well, and if it all was written down, I doubt the whole world could hold all the books that would be written.

Acts

¹ Dear Theophilus,* in my previous book I wrote about all that Jesus did and taught from the beginning

² until the day he was taken up to heaven. This was after he'd given instructions through the Holy Spirit to his chosen apostles.

³ Over the course of forty days after the death he suffered, he showed himself to them, proving that he was alive with convincing evidence. He appeared to them, and told them about the kingdom of God.

⁴ While he was still with them† he instructed them, "Do not leave Jerusalem. Wait to receive what the Father promised, just as you heard it from me.

⁵ It's true that John baptized with water, but in just a few days' time you will be baptized by the Holy Spirit."

⁶ So when the disciples met with Jesus, they asked him, "Lord, is this the time when you will re-establish Israel's kingdom?"

⁷ "You don't need to know about the dates and times that are set by the Father's authority," he told them.

⁸ "But you will be given power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, throughout Judea and Samaria, and to the farthest places on earth."

⁹ After Jesus had told them this, he was taken up as they were watching and a cloud hid him from their sight.

¹⁰ While they were staring intently at the sky as he ascended, two men dressed in white were suddenly standing beside them.

¹² Then the disciples went back to Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives which is about a Sabbath day's walk from Jerusalem.‡

¹³ When they arrived, they went upstairs to the upper room where they were staying: Peter, John, James and Andrew; Philip and Thomas; Bartholomew and Matthew; James the son of Alphaeus, Simon the Zealot, and Judas the son of James.

¹⁴ They all joined together in prayer, together with the women and Mary, Jesus' mother, and his brothers.

¹⁵ At this time Peter stood up and addressed a crowd of around one hundred and twenty believers who had gathered together.

¹⁶ "My brothers and sisters," he said, "The Scriptures, spoken by the Holy Spirit through David, had to be fulfilled regarding Judas, who guided those who arrested Jesus.

¹⁷ He was counted as one of us, and shared in this ministry."

¹⁸ (Judas had bought a field with his ill-gotten gains. There he fell down headfirst, and his body burst apart, spilling out all his intestines.

* 1:1 Meaning "One who loves God," either a specific person, or more generically. The "previous book" mentioned is the Gospel of Luke. † 1:4 Or "while he was sharing a meal with them."

‡ 1:12 In other words, a relatively short distance.

¹⁹ Everybody who lived in Jerusalem heard about this so that the field was called in their language “Akeldama,” which means, “Field of blood.”)

²⁰ As it's written in the book of Psalms, “Let his home be abandoned, and no-one live there;” and “Let someone else take over his position.”[§]

²¹ “So now we have to choose someone who has been with us the whole time that Jesus was with us,

²² from the time John was baptizing up until the day Jesus was taken up to heaven from us. One of these must be chosen to join together with us as we witness, giving evidence of Jesus' resurrection.”

²³ Two names were put forward: Joseph Justus, also known as Barsabbas, and Matthias.

²⁴ They prayed together and said, “Lord, you know everyone's thoughts* please show us which of these two you have chosen

²⁶ They cast lots, and Matthias was chosen. He was counted as an apostle with the other eleven.

2

² Suddenly a noise came from heaven like a roaring wind that filled the whole house where they were staying.

³ They saw what looked like separate tongue-shaped flames that settled on each of them.

⁴ All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in different languages as the Spirit gave them the ability to do so.

⁵ At that time there were devout Jews from every nation on earth living in Jerusalem.

⁶ When they heard this noise, a large crowd of them gathered. They were puzzled because everyone heard their own language being spoken.

⁷ They were totally amazed, saying, “Look, these people who are speaking—aren't they all Galileans?

⁸ So how is it that we can all hear them speaking in our own mother tongue?

⁹ Parthians, Medes and Elamites; people from Mesopotamia, Judaea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,

¹¹ Cretans and Arabians—we hear them speaking in our own languages about all the great things God has done.”

¹³ But others jeered and said, “They've been drinking too much wine!”

¹⁴ Then Peter stood up with the eleven disciples and spoke in a loud voice: “Fellow Jews and everyone living here in Jerusalem: pay attention to me and I'll explain all this to you!

¹⁵ These men aren't drunk as you presume. It's only nine in the morning!

§ 1:20 Citing Psalms 69:25 and Psalms 109:8.
“heart-knower.”

* 1:24 “You know everyone's thoughts”—literally,
“heart-knower.”

¹⁶ What's happening is what was predicted by the prophet Joel:

¹⁷ God says, 'In the last days I will pour out my Spirit on everyone. Your sons and daughters will prophesy. Your young men will see visions. Your old men will dream dreams.

¹⁸ I will pour out my Spirit on my servants, both male and female, and they will prophesy.

¹⁹ I will also give you miraculous signs in the heavens above and on the earth below—blood, fire, and swirling smoke!

²⁰ The sun will become dark, and the moon will become red like blood before the great and glorious day of the Lord.

²² People of Israel, listen to this: Jesus of Nazareth was a man confirmed by God to you by the powerful miracles and signs that God performed through him, right here among you—as you well know.

²³ God, knowing beforehand what would happen, followed his plan and resolved to hand him over to you. By means of the hands of wicked men, you killed him by nailing him to a cross.

²⁴ But God raised him back to life, freeing him from the burden of death, because death did not have the power to keep him a prisoner.

²⁵ David says of him, 'I saw the Lord always in front of me. I will not be shaken, for he is right beside me.

²⁶ That's why I'm so happy! That's why my words are full of joy! That's why my body lives in hope!

²⁸ You have revealed to me the ways of life. You will fill me with joy with your presence.‡

²⁹ My brothers and sisters, let me tell you plainly that our ancestor David died and was buried, and his tomb is here with us to this day.

³⁰ But he was a prophet, and knew that God had promised on oath to place one of his descendants on his throne.

³³ Now he's been exalted to God's right hand, and has received from the Father the Holy Spirit whom he promised, and has poured out what you're seeing and hearing.

³⁴ For David didn't ascend into heaven, but he did say: the Lord told my Lord, 'Sit down here at my right hand

³⁵ until I have made your enemies a stool to put your feet on.'§

³⁶ Now let everyone in Israel be totally convinced of this: God has made this Jesus, who you killed on a cross, both Lord and Messiah!"*

³⁷ When the people heard this they were conscience-stricken.† They asked Peter and the other apostles, "Brothers, what should we do?"

* 2:21 Quoting Joel 2:28-32. † 2:27 Literally, "Hades," the place of the dead. Also verse 31.

‡ 2:28 Quoting Psalms 16:8-11. § 2:35 Quoting Psalms 110:1. A sign of victory. * 2:36 Messiah (Hebrew) is equivalent to Christ (Greek). † 2:37 Literally, "cut to the heart."

³⁸ “Repent!” Peter told them. “All of you must be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

³⁹ This promise is given to you, to your children, and to all who are far away—everyone the Lord our God calls.”

⁴¹ Those who accepted what he'd said were baptized, adding about three thousand people to the group of believers that day.

⁴² They committed themselves to what the apostles had taught them, and to the fellowship of the believers, “breaking bread”[‡] and praying together.

⁴⁴ All the believers were together and shared everything they had.

⁴⁵ They sold their property and belongings, sharing the proceeds with everyone as they needed.

⁴⁷ Every day the Lord added to their number those who were being saved.

3

¹ Peter and John were on their way up to the Temple at the time of the afternoon prayer, around 3 p.m.

² A man who had been lame from birth was being carried there. Every day he was placed beside the Temple gate called “Beautiful” so he could beg from the people going into the Temple.

³ He saw Peter and John as they were about to enter the Temple and asked them for some money.

⁴ Peter looked right at him. John did, too.

“Look at us!” Peter said.

⁶ “I don't have any silver or gold,” Peter told him, “but I'll give you what I have. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, walk!”

⁸ He jumped to his feet, and then began to walk. He went with them into the Temple, walking and jumping and praising God.

⁹ Everyone there saw him walking around and praising God.

¹⁰ They recognized him as the beggar who used to sit by the Temple's Beautiful Gate, and they were surprised and amazed at what had happened to him.

[‡] 2:42 This is probably a reference to the Lord's Supper, and not just ordinary meals, though they would also be included. * 3:11 A section of the Temple, see also 5:12.

¹² When Peter saw this opportunity he told them, “People of Israel, why are you surprised at what’s happened to this man? Why are you staring at us as if it was by our own power or faith that we made him walk?”

¹³ The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—the God of our forefathers—has glorified his servant Jesus. He was the one you betrayed and rejected in the presence of Pilate, even after Pilate had decided to release him.

¹⁵ You killed the author of life, the one God raised from the dead—and we are witnesses to this.

¹⁸ But God fulfilled what he had prophesied through all the prophets: that his Messiah would suffer.

¹⁹ Now repent, and change your ways, that your sins can be wiped away, so the Lord can send opportunities for you to heal and recover,

²⁰ and send Jesus, the Messiah appointed for you.

²¹ For he must stay in heaven until the time when everything is restored, as God announced through his holy prophets long ago.

²² Moses said, ‘The Lord God will send you a prophet from among your own people who is like me. You must listen to everything he tells you.’[†]

²³ Anybody who doesn’t listen to him will be totally removed from the people.’[‡]

²⁴ All the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel on, prophesied about these days.

²⁵ You are the sons of the prophets, and of the agreement[§] which God made with your fathers when he said to Abraham, ‘From your descendants all the families of the earth will be blessed.’^{*}

²⁶ God prepared his Servant and sent him to you first, to bless you by turning every one of you from your evil ways.”

4

¹ While they were talking to the people, the priests, the captain of the Temple guard, and the Sadducees came up to them.

² They were angry that they were teaching the people, telling them that through Jesus there is resurrection from the dead.

³ They arrested them and placed them under guard until the following day since it was already evening.

⁵ The next day, the rulers, elders, and religious leaders met together in Jerusalem.

⁶ They included the high priest Annas, Caiaphas, John, Alexander, and others of the high priest’s family.

⁷ They brought Peter and John before them and asked, “By what power or by whose authority have you done this?”

⁸ Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, answered them. “Rulers of the people, and elders:

¹⁰ If so, all of you should know, and all the people of Israel, that it was in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, the one you killed on a cross and whom God raised from the dead—it's because of him that this man stands before you completely healed.

¹¹ He is the stone you builders rejected, but he has been made the chief cornerstone.*

¹² There is no salvation in anyone else; there is no other name under heaven given to humanity that can possibly save us.”

¹³ When they saw Peter and John's confidence, and realized they were uneducated, ordinary men, they were very surprised. They also recognized them as Jesus' companions.

¹⁵ So they instructed them to wait outside the council while they discussed the matter among themselves.

¹⁶ “What should we do with these men?” they asked. “We can't deny a significant miracle has happened through them. Everybody living here in Jerusalem knows about it.

¹⁷ But to prevent it spreading among the people any further, we should threaten them never to speak to anybody in this name† again.”

¹⁸ So they called them back in and ordered them never to speak or teach in the name of Jesus again.

¹⁹ But Peter and John responded, “Whether it's right in God's eyes to obey you rather than God—you decide.

²⁰ We can't help talking about what we've seen and heard!”

²¹ After making more threats they let them go. They couldn't work out how to punish them because everyone was glorifying God for what had happened.

²² For the man who received this miracle of healing was more than forty years old.

²³ After the disciples had been released, they went to the other believers and told them everything the chief priests and elders had said to them.

²⁴ When they heard what had happened, they prayed to God together:

“Lord, you made heaven and earth and sea, and everything that is in them.

²⁵ You spoke by the Holy Spirit through David, our forefather and your servant, saying ‘Why did the people of the other nations become so angry? Why did they plot so foolishly against me?’

²⁶ The kings of the earth prepared for war‡ the rulers united together against the Lord and against his Chosen One.¶

* 4:11 Quoting Psalms 118:22. † 4:17 Clearly the name of Jesus, but they did not even want to mention the actual name... ‡ 4:26 “For war,” implied. § 4:26 Literally, “Anointed.” The quote is from Psalms 2:1-2.

²⁷ Now this has really happened right here in this city! Both Herod and Pontius Pilate, together with the foreigners and the people of Israel, united together against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed as Messiah.

²⁸ They did whatever you had already decided because you had the power and the will to do it.

²⁹ Now Lord: look at all their threats against us! Help us your servants to speak your word really boldly.

³⁰ As you exercise your power to heal, may signs and miracles be done through the name of your holy servant Jesus!"

³¹ When they had finished praying, the building they were meeting in was shaken. All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit, and spoke the word of God boldly.

³² All the believers thought and felt the same way. None of them claimed anything they had as their own, but shared everything with each other.

³³ The apostles gave their testimony regarding the resurrection of the Lord Jesus with tremendous power, and God greatly blessed them all.

³⁴ None of them needed anything because those who had lands or properties sold them.

³⁵ They took the proceeds and presented them to the apostles to be shared with those in need.

³⁶ Joseph, the one the apostles called Barnabas (meaning "son of encouragement"), was a Levite, a Cypriot national.

³⁷ He sold a field that belonged to him. Then he brought the money and presented it to the apostles.

5

² He kept back some of the money he received for himself, and brought the rest to present to the apostles. His wife knew what he was doing.

³ Then Peter asked him, "Ananias, why did you let Satan convince you to lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back some of the money from the land you sold?

⁴ While you had the land, didn't it belong to you? And after you sold it, didn't you still have control over what you did with the money? Why did you decide to do this? You haven't lied to human beings, but to God!"

⁵ Hearing these words, Ananias fell down and died. Everyone who heard what happened was terrified.

⁶ Some of the young men got up and wrapped him in a shroud. Then they carried him out and buried him.

⁷ About three hours later his wife arrived, not knowing what had happened.

⁸ Peter asked her, "Tell me, did you sell the land for this price?"

"Yes, that was the price," she replied.

⁹ Then Peter told her, "How could you agree together to swindle* the Spirit of the Lord? Look, those who buried your husband are just returning, and they'll carry you out too!"

* 5:9 Literally, "tempt."

¹⁰ Immediately she fell down dead at his feet. The young men came back in and found her dead, so they carried her out and buried her beside her husband.

¹¹ Great fear spread through the whole church, as well as among everyone who heard what had happened.

¹² Many miraculous signs were performed among the people by the apostles. All the believers used to meet together in Solomon's porch.[†]

¹⁴ However, many men and women came to believe in the Lord.

¹⁵ As a result, people brought those who were sick into the streets and laid them on beds and mats so that as Peter passed by his shadow might fall on them.[‡]

¹⁶ Crowds from the towns around Jerusalem brought their sick and those afflicted by evil spirits. They were all healed.

¹⁷ However, the high priest and those with him (who were Sadducees) became very jealous and decided to intervene.

¹⁸ They arrested the apostles and threw them in the public jail.

¹⁹ But during the night an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors and led them out.

²⁰ "Go to the Temple and tell the people everything about this new way of life!" he told them.

²¹ They did as they were told and went into the Temple at around dawn and began teaching.

Then the high priest and his followers called a council meeting with all the leaders of Israel. He sent for the apostles to be brought from prison.

²² But when the officials went to the prison they couldn't find the apostles so they went back and told the council,

²³ "We found the prison all locked up, with guards at the doors. But when we had them open up, we couldn't find anyone inside."

²⁵ Then someone came in and said, "Look, the men you put in prison are right there in the Temple teaching people!"

²⁶ So the captain went with his guards and brought them in, but did not use force because they were afraid that the people would stone them.

²⁸ "Didn't we order you not to teach in this name?" the high priest demanded to know. "Now look—you've filled the whole of Jerusalem with your teaching, and you're trying to blame us for his death!"

³⁰ The God of our forefathers raised Jesus from the dead—the one you killed by hanging him on a cross.

³¹ God exalted him to a position of honor at his right hand as Prince and Savior, as a way to bring repentance to Israel, and for the forgiveness of sins.

³² We are witnesses of what happened, and so is the Holy Spirit, whom God has given to those who obey him."

[†] 5:12 See footnote for 3:11. [‡] 5:15 With the thought that even the touch of Peter's shadow could heal.

³³ When the council heard this they were furious and wanted to kill them.

³⁴ But then one of the council members stood up to speak. He was Gamaliel, a Pharisee and a doctor of law who was respected by everyone. He ordered the apostles sent out for a short while.

³⁶ Some time ago Theudas tried to make a name for himself, and about four hundred men joined him. He was killed and all who followed him were scattered and it came to nothing.

³⁷ Then after him Judas of Galilee came along at the time of the census, and he attracted some followers. He also died, and those who listened to him were dispersed.

³⁸ So in the current case I recommend that you leave these men alone, and just let them go. If what they are planning or what they are doing comes from their own human thinking, then it will be defeated.

³⁹ But if it comes from God, you won't be able to defeat them. You could even find yourselves fighting against God!"

⁴⁰ They were convinced by what he said. So they called the apostles back in, had them whipped, and ordered them not to say anything in the name of Jesus. Then they let them go.

⁴² Every day they continued to teach and proclaim Jesus as the Messiah, in the Temple and from house to house.

6

¹ At this time, when the number of believers was increasing rapidly, the Greek-speaking believers started arguing with the Aramaic-speaking believers.* They complained that their widows were being discriminated against in the daily distribution of food.

² The twelve apostles called all the believers together, and told them, "It's not appropriate for us to give up spreading the word of God so we can wait at tables.

⁴ We ourselves will give our full attention to prayer and the ministry of spreading the word."

⁶ These men were presented to the apostles who prayed for them and placed their hands on them in blessing.

⁷ The word of God continued to spread, and the number of disciples in Jerusalem greatly increased, with a large number of priests committing themselves to trusting in Jesus.

* 6:1 Literally, "Hellenists" and "Hebrews."

⁸ Stephen, full of grace and God's power, performed wonderful miracles among the people.

⁹ But some started arguing with him. They were from the synagogue called "the Free,"[†] as well as Cyrenians, Alexandrians, and people from Cilicia and Asia Minor.

¹⁰ But they weren't able to stand against Stephen's wisdom or the Spirit with which he was speaking.

¹¹ So they bribed some men to say, "We heard this man blaspheme Moses, and God too!"

¹² They stirred up the people, and together with the elders and the teachers of the law, they came and arrested him. They brought him before the council, ¹³ and called false witnesses who testified against him.

"This man is always slandering the holy Temple[‡] and the law," they said.

¹⁴ "We've heard him say that this Jesus of Nazareth will destroy the Temple, and will change the laws[§] we received from Moses."

² "Brothers and fathers, listen to me!" Stephen replied. "God in his glory appeared to our father Abraham when he was living in Mesopotamia, before he moved to Haran.

³ God told him, 'Leave your country and your relatives, and go to the country that I'm going to show you.'^{*}

⁴ So he left the country of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran. After his father's death, God sent him here to this country where you now live.

⁵ God didn't give Abraham an inheritance here, not even one square foot. But God did promise Abraham that he would give him and his descendants possession of the land, even though he had no children.

⁶ God also told him that his descendants would live in a foreign country, and that they would be enslaved there, and would be mistreated for four hundred years.

⁷ God said, 'I will punish the nation that enslaves them. Eventually they will leave and come here to worship me.'[†]

⁸ God also gave Abraham the agreement regarding circumcision,[‡] and so when Isaac was born, Abraham circumcised him on the eighth day. Isaac was the father of Jacob, and Jacob the father of the twelve patriarchs.

⁹ The patriarchs, who were jealous of Joseph, sold him into slavery in Egypt. But God was with him,

¹⁰ and rescued him from all his troubles. He gave him wisdom and helped him gain the favor of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, who made him governor over Egypt and the royal household.

[†] 6:9 Presumably a synagogue made up of former slaves. [‡] 6:13 Literally, "this holy place," also in 6:14. [§] 6:14 Also translated "customs"; however in the context this has far more to do with legal and ceremonial requirements. ^{*} 7:3 Quoting Genesis 12:1. [†] 7:7 Quoting Genesis 15:13-14; Exodus 3:12. [‡] 7:8 Or "circumcision covenant."

¹¹ Now a famine occurred throughout Egypt and Canaan. It caused terrible misery, and our forefathers had no food.

¹² When Jacob heard there was grain in Egypt he sent our forefathers down on their first visit.

¹³ During their second visit, Joseph revealed to his brothers who he was, and Pharaoh discovered Joseph's family background.

¹⁴ Joseph sent for his father and all his relatives—seventy-five in total.

¹⁶ Their bodies were brought back to Shechem and placed in the tomb that Abraham had bought with silver from the sons of Hamor in Shechem.

¹⁷ As the time approached regarding the promise that God had made to Abraham, the number of our people in Egypt increased.

¹⁸ A new king came to the throne in Egypt who knew nothing about Joseph.

¹⁹ He took advantage of our people and treated our ancestors badly, forcing them to abandon their babies so they would die.

²⁰ It was at this time that Moses was born. He was a handsome child, and for three months he was looked after in his father's home.

²² Moses received instruction in all areas of Egyptian knowledge, and he became a powerful speaker and leader.

²³ However, when he was forty years old, he decided to visit his relatives, the Israelites.

²⁴ He saw one of them being mistreated, so he intervened to defend him. On behalf of the man he took revenge and killed the Egyptian.

²⁵ Moses thought his fellow Israelites would see that God was rescuing them through him, but they didn't.

²⁶ The next day when he arrived, two Israelites were fighting one another. He tried to reconcile them and stop the fight. 'Men! You are brothers!' he told them. 'Why are you attacking each other?'

²⁷ But the man who had started the fight pushed Moses away. 'Who put you in charge over us? Are you our judge now?' he asked.

²⁸ 'Are you going to kill me like you killed the Egyptian yesterday?' §

²⁹ When he heard this, Moses ran away. He went and lived in exile in the land of Midian, where two sons were born to him.

³⁰ Forty years later, in the desert of Mount Sinai, an angel appeared to him in the flames of a burning bush.

³¹ When Moses saw this, he was amazed at the sight, and went over to take a closer look. The voice of the Lord spoke to him:

³³ The Lord told him, 'Take off your sandals, because where you are standing is holy ground.'

³⁴ I have closely observed the suffering of my people in Egypt, and I have heard their groans. I have come down to rescue them. Now come over here, for I'm sending you to Egypt.†

§ 7:28 Quoting Exodus 2:13-14. * 7:32 Quoting Exodus 3:6. † 7:34 Quoting Exodus 3:5-10.

³⁵ This was the same Moses that the people had rejected when they said, 'Who made you a ruler and judge over us?'[‡] God sent him to be both a ruler and a liberator, by means of the angel who appeared to him in the bush.

³⁶ Moses led them out after performing miraculous signs in Egypt, and in the Red Sea, and continued to do so in the desert for forty years.

³⁷ This is the same Moses who promised the Israelites, 'God will send you a prophet like me from among your people.'[§]

³⁸ Moses was with God's assembled people in the desert when the angel spoke to him at Mount Sinai, and there with our forefathers he received God's living word to give to us.

³⁹ He was the one our fathers wouldn't listen to. They rejected him and decided to return to Egypt.

⁴⁰ They told Aaron, 'Make gods for us to lead us, because we don't know what's happened to this Moses who led us out of the land of Egypt.'^{*}

⁴² So God gave up on them. He left them to their worship of the stars in the sky. This is what the prophets wrote, 'Were you giving offerings or making sacrifices to me during the forty years in the desert, you Israelites?

⁴³ No, you carried the Tabernacle of the god Moloch and the image of the god Rephan's star; images that you made so you could worship them. So I will banish you in exile beyond Babylon.'[†]

⁴⁴ Our ancestors had the Tabernacle of Testimony[‡] in the desert. God had told Moses how he should make it following the blueprint he had seen.

⁴⁵ Later on, our forefathers carried it with them when they went in with Joshua to occupy the land taken from the nations the Lord drove out before them. It stayed there until the time of David.

⁴⁶ David found favor with God and asked to make a more permanent home for the God of Jacob.

⁴⁷ But it was Solomon who built a Temple[§] for him.

⁴⁸ Of course the Almighty doesn't live in temples we make. As the prophet said,

⁴⁹ 'Heaven is my throne, and the earth the place I put my feet. What kind of dwelling could you build for me?' the Lord asks. 'What bed could you make for me to rest in?

⁵⁰ Didn't I make everything?'^{*}

⁵¹ You arrogant, hard-hearted people! You never listen![†] You always fight against the Holy Spirit! You act just like your fathers did!

⁵² Was there ever a prophet your fathers didn't persecute? They killed those who prophesied about the coming of the one who is truly good and right. He is the one you betrayed and murdered—

⁵³ you who received the law by means of the angels, but refused to keep it."

[‡] 7:35 Quoting Exodus 2:14. [§] 7:37 Quoting Deuteronomy 18:15. ^{*} 7:40 Quoting Exodus 32:1.

[†] 7:43 Quoting Amos 5:25-27. [‡] 7:44 Meaning that it gave God's message, and provided evidence of his presence. [§] 7:47 Literally, "house." ^{*} 7:50 Quoting Isaiah 66:1-2. [†] 7:51 Literally, "uncircumcised in heart and ears."

⁵⁴ When they heard this, the council members became mad with rage, and snarled at him, grinding their teeth.

⁵⁵ But Stephen, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed up into heaven and saw God's glory, with Jesus standing at God's right hand.

⁵⁶ "Look," he said, "I see heaven open, and the Son of Man standing at God's right hand."

⁵⁷ But they held their hands over their ears and shouted as loudly as they could. They rushed together at him, ⁵⁸ dragged him out of the city, and began to stone him. His accusers laid their coats down beside a young man called Saul.

⁵⁹ As they went on stoning him, Stephen prayed, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

⁶⁰ He kneeled down, calling out, "Lord, please don't hold this sin against them!" And after he said this, he died.‡

8

³ But Saul set about destroying the church, going from house to house, dragging both men and women off to prison.

⁴ Those who had been scattered spread the word wherever they went.

⁵ Philip went to the town of Samaria, and told them about the Messiah.

⁷ Many were freed from possession by evil spirits that screamed as they came out, and many who were lame or disabled were healed.

⁸ The people who lived in the city were overjoyed.

⁹ Now there was a man named Simon who lived in the city. He practiced sorcery. He claimed that he was someone very important, and had astounded the people of Samaria

¹¹ They were impressed by him because he had amazed them with his magic for so long.

¹² But when they believed in what Philip told them about the good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women.

¹³ Simon too believed and was baptized. He accompanied Philip, amazed at the miraculous signs and wonders he saw.

¹⁴ When the apostles back in Jerusalem heard that the people of Samaria had accepted the word of God, they sent Peter and John to visit them.

¹⁵ When they arrived they prayed for the converts in Samaria to receive the Holy Spirit.

¹⁶ The Holy Spirit hadn't come to any of these converts yet—they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

‡ 7:60 Literally, "fell asleep." Death is often spoken of as a sleep in the New Testament.

¹⁷ The apostles placed their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit.

¹⁹ “Give me this power, too,” he asked them, “so that anyone I place my hands on will receive the Holy Spirit.”

²⁰ “May your money be destroyed together with you for thinking God’s gift is something that can be bought!” Peter replied.

²² Repent of your evil ways! Pray to the Lord and ask forgiveness for thinking like this.

²³ I can see that you are full of bitter envy, and chained down by your sin.”

²⁴ “Please pray for me, that nothing you’ve said may happen to me!” Simon replied.

²⁶ An angel of the Lord told Philip, “Get ready and go south to the desert road that leads from Jerusalem to Gaza.”

²⁷ So Philip set out, and met an Ethiopian man, a eunuch who had a high position in the service of the Kandake,* Queen of Ethiopia. He was her chief treasurer. He had gone to Jerusalem to worship there, and ²⁸ was returning from his trip, sitting in his chariot. He was reading out loud from the book of the prophet Isaiah.

³⁰ So Philip ran over, and heard the man reading from the prophet Isaiah.

“Do you understand what you’re reading?” Philip asked him.

³¹ “How can I, unless someone explains it?” the man replied. He invited Philip to get in and sit beside him.

³² The Scripture passage he was reading was this: “He was led like a sheep to be slaughtered. Like a lamb is silent in front of his shearer, he didn’t say a word.

³³ He was humiliated and denied justice. No one can speak of his descendants, for his life came to an end.”†

³⁴ The eunuch asked Philip, “Tell me, who is the prophet talking about? Is it himself, or someone else?”

³⁵ Philip started explaining, beginning from this Scripture, telling him about Jesus.

³⁷ ‡

³⁸ He ordered that the chariot be stopped. Philip and the eunuch both went down into the water and Philip baptized him.

* 8:27 Kandake is not the personal name of the Queen, but her title, like “Pharaoh.” † 8:33 Literally, “his life was taken from the earth.” The quotation is from Isaiah 53:7-8. ‡ 8:37 This verse is not found in the earliest manuscripts.

³⁹ When they came out of the water the Spirit of the Lord took Philip away. The eunuch never saw him again, but he continued on his way full of joy. Philip found himself at Azotus.

⁴⁰ He spread the good news in all the towns along the way until he arrived at Caesarea.

9

¹ But meanwhile Saul was making violent threats against the disciples of the Lord, wanting to kill them. He went to the high priest

² and asked for letters of authorization to take with him to the synagogues in Damascus, giving him permission to arrest any believers in the Way* that he found, men or women, and bring them back to Jerusalem as prisoners.

³ As Saul approached Damascus, suddenly he was surrounded by a light that blazed down from heaven.

⁴ He fell to the ground, and heard a voice saying, "Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?"

⁵ "Who are you, Lord?" Saul asked.

"I am Jesus, the one you're persecuting," he replied.

⁶ "Get up, go on into the city, and you'll be told what to do."

⁷ The men who were traveling with Saul stood there speechless. They heard the voice speaking, but they didn't see anyone.

⁸ Saul got to his feet, and when he opened his eyes, he couldn't see anything. His companions took him by the hand and led him into Damascus.

⁹ For three days he couldn't see, and he didn't eat or drink anything.

¹⁰ A follower of Jesus called Ananias lived in Damascus, and the Lord spoke to him in a vision.

"Ananias!" he called.

"I'm here, Lord," Ananias responded.

¹¹ "Get up, and go to Straight Street," the Lord told him. "Ask at Judas' house for someone called Saul, from Tarsus. He's praying.

¹² He's seen in vision a man called Ananias come and place his hands on him so he can regain his sight."

¹⁴ The chief priests have given him the power to arrest everyone here that worships and follows you."

¹⁵ But the Lord told him, "Get on your way, because he is the person I have chosen to take my name to foreigners and kings, as well as to Israel.

¹⁶ I will show him what he'll have to suffer for my name's sake."

¹⁷ So Ananias left and went to the house. He placed his hands on Saul. "Brother Saul," he said, "The Lord Jesus, who appeared to you on the road as you were traveling here, has sent me so you can regain your sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit."

¹⁸ Immediately, something like scales fell from his eyes, and his sight was restored. He got up and was baptized.

¹⁹ He also had something to eat and felt stronger.

* 9:2 "Believers in the Way," one early term referring to followers of Jesus.

Saul spent several days with the disciples in Damascus.

²⁰ He immediately started speaking in the synagogues, saying, “Jesus is the Son of God.”

²¹ All who heard him were amazed, and asked, “Isn’t this the man who caused so much trouble in Jerusalem for those who believed in Jesus? Wasn’t he coming here to have the believers arrested and taken in chains to the chief priests?”

²² Saul grew more and more confident, proving Jesus was the Messiah so convincingly that the Jews who lived in Damascus could not refute him.

²³ Some time later the Jews plotted together to kill him,

²⁴ but Saul learned of their intentions. Day and night they waited by the city gates looking for the chance to murder him.

²⁵ So during the night his followers took him and lowered him down in a basket from an opening in the city wall.

²⁶ When Saul arrived in Jerusalem, he tried to meet with the disciples, but they were all afraid of him because they were not convinced he was really a disciple.

²⁷ However, Barnabas took him to meet the apostles, and explained to them how Saul had seen the Lord on the road and how the Lord had spoken to Saul. Barnabas also explained how in Damascus Saul had spoken boldly in the name of Jesus.

²⁸ Saul stayed with the apostles and accompanied them all over Jerusalem,

³⁰ When the brothers learned of this they took him to Caesarea, and sent him to Tarsus.

³¹ During this time the whole church throughout Judea, Galilee, and Samaria was left in peace. The church grew strong and increased rapidly in numbers as the believers lived reverently for the Lord,[†] encouraged by the Holy Spirit.

³² Peter was traveling around and went to visit the believers who lived in Lydda.

³⁴ Peter told him, “Aeneas, Jesus Christ heals you! Get up and pick up your mat!” Immediately Aeneas got up.

³⁵ Everyone living in Lydda and Sharon saw him, and became believers in the Lord.

³⁶ In Joppa lived a follower called Tabitha, (Dorcas in Greek).[‡] She was always doing good and helping the poor.

³⁷ However, about this time she became sick, and died. After washing her body, they laid her out in an upstairs room.

³⁸ Lydda was near Joppa, so the disciples in Joppa, hearing that Peter was in Lydda, sent two men to him with the message, “Please come to us right away.”

³⁹ So Peter got ready and left with them. When he arrived they took him upstairs. All the widows were there crying, and they showed him the coats and clothes that Dorcas had made while she was with them.

⁴⁰ Peter told them all to leave, knelt down, and prayed. He turned to the body and said, "Tabitha, get up." She opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter she sat up.

⁴¹ He took her by the hand and lifted her up. He called in the believers and the widows, and presented her to them alive.

⁴² The news spread through the whole of Joppa, and many believed in the Lord.

⁴³ Peter spent a long time in Joppa, staying at the house of Simon the tanner.

² He was a religious man who, together with everyone in his household, had great reverence for God. He gave generously to the poor, and prayed regularly to God.

³ At about 3 p.m. one day he had a vision in which he saw very clearly an angel of God who came to him and called to him, "Cornelius!"

⁴ Frightened, Cornelius stared at him and asked, "What do you want, Lord?"

"God has paid attention to your prayers, and recognized your generosity to the poor," he told Cornelius.

⁵ "Now send some men to Joppa, and fetch Simon, also called Peter,

⁶ who is staying at Simon the tanner's house down by the sea-shore."

⁷ When the angel who had spoken to him had left, Cornelius called in two of his house-servants and a soldier of his personal guard, a religious man.

⁸ After he'd explained to them all that had happened he sent them to Joppa.

⁹ The next day, as they were on their way and approaching the city, Peter went up onto the top of the house* to pray. It was about noon,

¹⁰ and he was getting hungry, wanting to eat. But while the meal was being prepared, he fell into a trance, and ¹¹ he saw heaven opened. He saw something coming down that looked like a large sheet held by its four corners, being lowered onto the earth.

¹² Inside were all kinds of animals and reptiles and birds.

¹⁴ But Peter replied, "Certainly not, Lord! I have never eaten anything that is impure and unclean."

¹⁶ This happened three times, and then the sheet was quickly taken back into heaven.

¹⁷ While Peter was puzzling over what the vision he'd seen really meant, the men sent by Cornelius had found out where Simon's house was and were standing at the gate.

¹⁸ They called out, asking whether Simon, also called Peter, was staying there.

* 10:9 Houses of the time had flat roofs, and served as open-air rooms.

¹⁹ While Peter was still wondering about the vision, the Spirit said to him, “Look, there are three men looking for you.

²¹ So Peter went downstairs to meet the men. “I'm the one you're looking for,” he said. “Why are you here?”

²² “We come from Cornelius, a good, religious man who has reverence for God and is widely respected among the Jewish people,” they replied. “A holy angel instructed him to send for you to come to his house so he can hear what you have to tell him.”

²³ So he invited them in and they stayed there.

²⁵ When Peter entered the house, Cornelius met him and fell down at his feet and worshiped him.

²⁶ But Peter pulled him back up, telling him, “Stand up! I'm only a man!”

²⁷ Peter spoke with Cornelius, and then went on in where he found many other people waiting for him.

²⁸ He said to them, “You certainly know that it's not permitted for a Jew to be associated with or to visit foreigners. But God has shown me that it's not for me to call anyone impure or unclean.

²⁹ That's why I came without any argument when I was sent for. So now I want to know the reason why you sent for me.”

³⁰ “Four days ago, at about this time—three in the afternoon—I was praying in my house,” Cornelius explained. “Suddenly I saw a man standing in front of me, dressed in clothes that shone brightly.

³¹ He told me, ‘Cornelius, your prayers have been heard, and God has recognized your generosity to the poor.

³² Send someone to Joppa for Simon Peter. He's staying at Simon the tanner's house, down by the sea-shore.’

³³ So immediately I sent for you, and it was good of you to come. That's why we're all here, meeting together before God, ready to hear everything the Lord has told you.”

³⁴ Peter replied, “I'm totally convinced that God has no favorites.

³⁵ In every nation God accepts those who respect him, and do what is good and right.

³⁷ You know that this good news spread throughout Judea, beginning in Galilee, following John's call to baptism.

³⁸ It's about Jesus of Nazareth—how God anointed him with the Holy Spirit and with power, and how he went around doing good, healing all those who were under the devil's control, for God was with him.

⁴⁰ But God raised him back to life on the third day, and had him appear,

⁴¹ not to everyone, but to those witnesses chosen by God—including us, who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead.

⁴² He gave us the responsibility of publicly telling this to the people, to testify that he is the one God chose as the Judge of the living and the dead.

⁴³ He is the one all the prophets spoke about, that everyone who trusts in him will receive forgiveness through his name.”

⁴⁴ While Peter was still speaking, the Holy Spirit fell on all of them who were listening to the message.

⁴⁵ The Jewish believers[†] who had come with Peter were astonished, because the gift of the Holy Spirit was also poured out on the foreigners.

⁴⁶ They heard them speaking in tongues, glorifying God.

⁴⁷ Then Peter asked, “Is anybody going to prevent them being baptized in water, since they have received the Holy Spirit just as we have?”

⁴⁸ He gave orders for them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they pleaded with him to spend some time with them.

¹ The apostles and brothers in Judea heard that foreigners had also accepted the word of God.

² When Peter arrived back in Jerusalem, those who believed circumcision^{*} was still essential argued with him.

³ “You went into the homes of uncircumcised men, and ate with them,” they said.

⁵ “While I was in the town of Joppa I was praying, and in a trance I saw a vision. Something that looked like a large sheet was being let down by its four corners from heaven, and it came down to me.

⁶ When I looked inside I saw animals, wild beasts, reptiles, and birds.

⁷ Then I heard a voice that told me, ‘Get up, Peter, kill and eat.’

⁸ But I replied, ‘Absolutely not, Lord! Nothing impure or unclean has ever entered my mouth!’

⁹ The voice from heaven spoke again, and said, ‘Don’t you call unclean what God has made clean!’

¹⁰ This happened three times, and then it was all taken back into heaven.

¹¹ At that very moment three men were standing in front of the house where we were staying. They had been sent from Caesarea to see me.

¹² The Spirit told me to go with them, and not to worry about who they were. These six brothers here also went with me, and we went into the man’s house.

¹³ He explained to us how an angel had appeared to him in his house, who told him, ‘Send someone to Joppa, and fetch Simon, also called Peter,

¹⁴ who will tell you what you need to hear so you can be saved—you and your whole household.’

¹⁵ When I started speaking, the Holy Spirit fell on them, just as happened to us in the beginning.

[†] 10:45 Literally, “those of the circumcision that believed.” ^{*} 11:2 Literally, “those of the circumcision,” which could mean simply “Jews.” However, from the context it would appear that these were Jewish Christians concerned over relationships with “foreigners.”

¹⁶ Then I remembered what the Lord said, 'John baptized with water, but you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit.'

¹⁷ Since God gave them the same gift as he gave us when we trusted in the Lord Jesus Christ, what power did I have to oppose God?"

¹⁸ After they had heard this explanation, they didn't argue with him anymore, and praised God, saying, "Now God has granted the opportunity to repent and have eternal life to foreigners as well."

¹⁹ Now those who had been scattered by the persecution that happened when Stephen was killed, traveled all the way to Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch. They only spread the good news among the Jews.

²⁰ But when some of them who were from Cyprus and Cyrene arrived in Antioch, they shared the good news with the Greeks too, telling them about the Lord Jesus.

²² News about what had happened reached the church in Jerusalem, and they sent Barnabas to Antioch.

²³ When he arrived and saw for himself how God's grace was working, he was delighted. He encouraged all of them to completely dedicate themselves to God and to stay true.

²⁵ Then Barnabas went on to Tarsus to look for Saul,

²⁶ and when he found him, he took Saul back with him to Antioch. Over the course of the next year they worked together with the church, teaching the message to crowds of people. It was in Antioch that the believers were first called "Christians."

²⁷ It was during this time that some prophets went from Jerusalem to Antioch.

²⁸ One of them called Agabus stood up and gave a prophetic warning by the Spirit that there would be a terrible famine that would affect the known world.[†] (This came true in the reign of Emperor Claudius.)

³⁰ So they did this and sent the money with Barnabas and Saul to the church leaders there.

12

² He had James, John's brother, executed by sword.

³ When he saw that the Jews were pleased by this, he had Peter arrested too. (This was during the Feast of Unleavened Bread.)

⁴ After having Peter arrested, he threw him in prison, with four squads of four soldiers each to guard him. He planned to have Peter brought out for a public trial after the Passover.

⁵ While Peter was kept in prison the church prayed earnestly to God for him.

[†] 11:28 Literally, "the inhabited world," basically referring to the Roman Empire.

⁶ The night before Herod was to have him put on trial, Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, chained to each of them, and with guards at the door keeping watch.

⁷ Suddenly an angel of the Lord appeared, and a light shone in the cell. The angel shook Peter awake, saying “Quick! Get up!” The chains fell from his wrists,

⁸ and the angel told him, “Get dressed, and put on your sandals.” So he did. Then the angel told him, “Put on your coat and follow me.”

⁹ So Peter followed the angel out. He didn't realize that what the angel was doing was actually happening—he thought he was seeing a vision.

¹⁰ They passed the first and second sets of guards, and came to the iron gate that led into the city. This opened for them by itself. They went out and down the street, when suddenly the angel left him.

¹¹ When Peter came to his senses, he said, “Now I realize this really happened! The Lord sent an angel to rescue me from Herod's power, and from everything that the Jewish people had planned.”

¹² Now that he was conscious of what had happened, Peter went to the house of Mary, the mother of John Mark. Many believers had gathered there, and were praying.

¹³ When he knocked on the gateway door, a servant girl called Rhoda came to open up.

¹⁴ But recognizing Peter's voice, in her excitement she didn't open the door. Instead she ran back inside shouting, “Peter's at the door!”

¹⁵ “You're mad!” they told her. But she kept on insisting it was true. So they said, “It must be his angel.”*

¹⁶ Peter continued knocking. When they did eventually open the door, they saw it was him, and were totally shocked.

¹⁹ Herod had a thorough search made for him, but he couldn't be found. After interrogating the guards, Herod ordered that they should be executed.[†] Then Herod left Judea and went to stay in Caesarea.

²¹ When the day came for their appointment with the king, Herod put on his royal robes, sat on his throne, and gave a speech to them.

²² The audience shouted in response, “This is the voice of a god, not that of a man!”

* 12:15 “His angel.” Some at the time believed people had a spiritual equivalent that existed whether the individual was alive or dead. Perhaps today the expression would be, “It's his ghost!”

† 12:19 The Greek actually says, “that they be led away.” However, most commentators understand this to mean “led away to their deaths,” since the punishment for allowing prisoners to escape was execution.

²³ Immediately the angel of the Lord struck him down, because he did not give God the glory. He was consumed by worms and died.

² While they were worshiping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, "Set apart* Barnabas and Saul to do the work I've called them to."

³ After they had fasted, prayed, and placed their hands on them in blessing, they sent them on their way.

⁴ So Barnabas and Saul, directed by the Holy Spirit, went to Seleucia. From there they sailed to Cyprus.

⁵ Arriving at Salamis, they proclaimed the word of God in the Jewish synagogues. John[†] was with them as their assistant.

⁶ They traveled throughout the island and eventually came to Paphos. There they found a Jewish magician, a false prophet by the name of Bar-jesus.

⁷ He was close to the governor, Sergius Paulus, an intelligent man. Sergius Paulus invited Barnabas and Saul to come and visit him since he wanted to hear the word of God.

⁸ But the magician Elymas (his Greek name) opposed them, trying to prevent the governor from trusting in God.

¹⁰ "You are full of deception and all kinds of evil, you son of the devil, you enemy of all that is right! Will you never give up perverting the Lord's true ways?"

¹¹ Look, the Lord's hand is on you and you will become blind. You will not see the sun for some time." Immediately mist and darkness fell on him, and he had to find someone who could lead him by the hand.

¹² When the governor saw what happened he trusted in God, amazed at the teaching about the Lord.

¹⁵ After the readings from the Law and the Prophets, the synagogue leaders sent them a message saying, "Brothers, please share with the congregation any words of encouragement you may have."

¹⁶ Paul stood up, motioned with his hand to get their attention, and began speaking. "Men of Israel, and all of you who have reverence for God, listen to me.

* 13:2 Or "dedicate." † 13:5 This John is John Mark (12:25).

¹⁷ The God of the people of Israel chose our forefathers, and gave our people prosperity during their stay in the land of Egypt. Then with his mighty power he led them out of Egypt,

¹⁸ and he patiently dealt with them in the desert for about forty years.

¹⁹ After he had overthrown seven nations living in the land of Canaan, God divided their land among the Israelites and gave it to them to inherit. This took about four hundred and fifty years.

²¹ Then the people asked for a king, and God gave them Saul, son of Kish from the tribe of Benjamin, who ruled for forty years.

²² Then God removed Saul, and made David their king. God approved of David, saying 'I found David the son of Jesse to be a man according to my own heart; he will do everything I intend.'[‡]

²⁴ Before Jesus came, John announced the baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.

²⁵ As John was completing his mission, he said, 'Who do you think I am? I am not the one you're looking for. But after me one is coming whose sandals I'm not worthy to untie.'[§]

²⁶ My brothers, children of Abraham and those of you who have reverence for God: the message of this salvation has been sent to us!

²⁷ The people living in Jerusalem and their leaders didn't recognize Jesus or understand the words spoken by the prophets that are read every Sabbath. In fact they fulfilled the prophetic words by condemning him!

²⁸ Even though they couldn't find any evidence to sentence him to death, they still asked Pilate to have him killed.

²⁹ After they had fulfilled everything predicted that they would do to him, they took him down from the cross and buried him in a tomb.

³⁰ But God raised him from the dead,

³¹ and he appeared over the course of many days to those who had followed him from Galilee to Jerusalem. They are now his witnesses to the people.

³² We are here to bring to you the good news of the promise that God made to our forefathers,

³³ that he has now fulfilled to us their children by raising Jesus from the dead. As it is written in Psalm 2: 'You are my Son; today I have become your Father.'^{*}

³⁴ God raised him from the dead, never to die again, as he indicated by saying, 'I will give you what is holy and trustworthy, as I promised to David.'[†]

³⁵ As another psalm says, 'You will not allow your Holy One to see decay.'[‡]

³⁶ But David died, after he had done what God wanted in his own time, and he was buried with his ancestors, and his body decayed.

³⁷ The one God raised from the dead saw no decay.

[‡] 13:22 See 1 Samuel 13:14. [§] 13:25 Quoting Luke 3:16. ^{*} 13:33 Quoting Psalms 2:7. [†] 13:34 Referring to Isaiah 55:3. [‡] 13:35 Quoting Psalms 16:10.

³⁸ My brothers, I want you to understand that we're telling you that through this man sins are forgiven.

³⁹ Through him everyone who trusts in him is made morally right[§] from all that is wrong—in a way that you could never be set right by the law of Moses.

⁴⁰ Make sure that what the prophets said doesn't happen to you:

⁴¹ 'You who are scornful, look in amazement, and die! For what I'm doing in your lifetime is something that you could never believe, even if someone told you!' ”*

⁴² As they were leaving, the people pleaded with them to tell them more the next Sabbath.

⁴³ After the meeting in the synagogue, many of the Jews and the converts to Judaism followed Paul and Barnabas who spoke with them, encouraging them to continue to hold on to the grace of God.

⁴⁴ The following Sabbath almost the whole town turned out to hear the word of God.

⁴⁵ However, when the Jews saw the crowds, they became extremely jealous, contradicting what Paul was saying and cursing him.

⁴⁶ So Paul and Barnabas spoke out strongly, saying “We had to speak the word of God to you first. But now that you're rejecting it—you're deciding that you're not worthy of eternal life—well now we're turning to the foreigners.

⁴⁷ That's what the Lord has told us to do: ‘I've made you a light to the foreigners, and through you salvation will go to the ends of the earth.’ ”†

⁴⁸ When the foreigners heard this they were overjoyed, praising the Lord's word, and all those chosen for eternal life trusted in God.

⁴⁹ So God's word was spread throughout the region.

¹ In Iconium the same thing happened. Paul and Barnabas went to the Jewish synagogue and spoke so convincingly that many of both the Jewish and Greek-speaking worshipers trusted in Jesus.

² But the Jews that refused to believe in Jesus stirred up the feelings of the foreigners,* and poisoned them against the believers.

³ Paul and Barnabas stayed there a long time, speaking to them boldly in the Lord, who confirmed their message of grace through the miraculous signs that they were enabled to perform.

⁴ The inhabitants of the town were divided, with some supporting the Jews and some the apostles.

§ 13:39 “Morally right”: this is far more than simply being right in the sense of “correct,” so the word “morally” is added here * 13:41 Quoting Habakkuk 1:5. † 13:47 Quoting Isaiah 49:6.

* 14:2 In other words, the non-Jewish population.

⁵ But then the foreigners and the Jews, together with their leaders, decided to attack and stone Paul and Barnabas.

⁶ However, they found out about it and fled to the region of Lycaonia, to the towns of Lystra and Derbe,

⁷ where they continued to share the good news.

⁸ In the town of Lystra there was a disabled man who was lame in both feet. He had been crippled from birth and had never been able to walk.

⁹ He sat there listening to Paul speaking. When Paul looked directly at him, and realized that the man was trusting in God to heal him,

¹⁰ Paul said in a loud voice, "Stand up on your feet!" The man jumped to his feet and started walking.

¹¹ When the crowds saw what Paul had done, they shouted out in the language of Lycaonia, "The gods have come down to us looking like men!"

¹² They identified Barnabas as the Greek god Zeus, and Paul as the god Hermes because he was one who did most of the talking.

¹³ The priest of the temple of Zeus that lay just outside the town, brought oxen and wreaths[†] to the town gates. He planned to carry out a sacrifice in front of the crowds.

¹⁴ But when the apostles Barnabas and Paul learned what was happening, they tore their clothes,[‡] and rushed into the crowds, shouting out,

¹⁵ "People, what are you doing? We are human beings with the same kind of nature as you. We came to bring you good news, so you could turn from these pointless things to a God who is truly alive. He is the one who made heaven, earth, and sea, and everything in them.

¹⁶ In past times he allowed all the nations to follow their own ways.

¹⁸ With these words they barely managed to stop the crowds from offering sacrifices to them.

¹⁹ But then some Jews from Antioch and Iconium arrived and won over the crowds. They stoned Paul, and dragged him outside the town, thinking he was dead.

²⁰ But when the believers gathered around him, he got up, and went back into the city. The next day he and Barnabas left for Derbe.

²² They encouraged the believers to remain firm and to continue to trust in Jesus. "We have to go through many trials to enter God's kingdom," they said.

²³ After they had appointed elders for every church, and had prayed and fasted with them, Paul and Barnabas left them in the Lord's care, the one that they trusted in.

²⁴ They passed through Pisidia, and arrived in Pamphylia.

²⁵ They spoke God's word in Perga, and then went on to Attalia.

[†] 14:13 Wreaths—these were put on animals just before they were sacrificed. [‡] 14:14 In ancient cultures a sign of great distress.

²⁶ From there they sailed back to Antioch[§] where they had started out, having been dedicated there in God's grace to the work they had now accomplished.

²⁷ When they arrived, they called the church together. They reported everything God had done through them, and how he had opened a door for the foreigners to trust in him.

²⁸ They stayed there with the believers for a long time.

¹ Then some men arrived from Judea who started teaching the believers, "Unless you're circumcised according to the rules set down by Moses, you can't be saved."

² Paul and Barnabas had many arguments and debates with them. So Paul and Barnabas and some others were appointed to go to Jerusalem and talk to the apostles and leaders there about this issue.

³ The church sent them on their way, and as they traveled through Phoenicia and Samaria, they explained how foreigners were being converted, which made all the believers very happy.

⁴ When they arrived in Jerusalem they were welcomed by the church members, the apostles, and the elders. They explained everything God had done through them.

⁵ But they were opposed by some of the believers who belonged to the Pharisee faction. They said, "These converts have to be circumcised, and instructed to observe the law of Moses."

⁷ After much debate, Peter stood up and said to them, "Brothers, you know that some time ago God chose me from among you so that the foreigners could hear the message of good news and trust in Jesus.

⁸ God, who knows the what we're thinking,* has shown that he accepts them, giving them the Holy Spirit just as he did to us.

⁹ He doesn't make any distinction between us and them—he cleansed their thoughts as they trusted in him.

¹⁰ So why do you want to oppose God and put a burden on the believers that our fathers weren't able to bear, and we can't either?

¹¹ We're convinced that we're saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, in the same way they are."

¹³ After they had finished speaking, James spoke up, saying, "Brothers, listen to me.

¹⁴ Simon[†] has described how God first revealed his concern for the foreigners by taking from them a people committed to him.

¹⁵ This is in accordance with the words of the prophets, as it's written,

¹⁶ 'In the future I will return, and I will rebuild the fallen house of David; I will rebuild its ruins and set it straight.

¹⁷ I will do this so that those who are left may come to the Lord, including the foreigners who call on my name.

[§] 14:26 Antioch in Syria, where they had begun their journey (see 13:1). ^{*} 15:8 Or "knows the way we think." [†] 15:14 Simon Peter.

18 This is what the Lord says, who revealed these things long ago.[‡]

19 So my decision is that we shouldn't make it difficult for foreigners who turn to God.

20 We should write to them and tell them to avoid food sacrificed to idols,[§] sexual immorality, meat of animals that have been strangled, and from consuming blood.

21 For the law of Moses has been taught in every town for a long, long time—it's read in the synagogues every Sabbath.”

22 Then the apostles and elders, together with the whole church, decided it would be good to choose some representatives and send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. They chose Judas Barsabbas and Silas, leaders among the brothers,

23 and sent them with this letter:

“Greetings from us, the apostles and elders and brothers, to the non-Jewish* brothers in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia:

24 We have heard that some from our group have confused you with their teachings, causing you trouble. We certainly didn't tell them to do this!

25 So we have agreed to choose some representatives and send them to you together with our much-loved brothers Barnabas and Paul,

26 who have risked their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 So we are sending to you Judas and Silas who can verbally confirm what we're saying.

28 It seemed best to the Holy Spirit and to us not to place on you any heavier burden than these important requirements.

29 You should avoid: anything sacrificed to idols; blood; meat from strangled animals; and sexual immorality. You will do well to observe these requirements. God bless you.”

30 The men were sent on their way to Antioch. When they arrived they called everybody together and delivered the letter.

31 After they had read it, the people were so happy for the encouraging message.

32 Judas and Silas, who were also prophets, encouraged the brothers, explaining many things, and strengthening them.

33 After spending some time there they were sent back by the brothers with their blessing to the believers in Jerusalem.

34 †

35 But Paul and Barnabas stayed in Antioch, teaching and proclaiming the word of God along with many others.

36 Some time later Paul said to Barnabas, “Let's go back and visit the believers in every town where we shared the word of the Lord, and see how they're doing.”

38 But Paul didn't think it was a good idea to take him with them, since he'd left them in Pamphylia and hadn't continued working with them.

39 They had such a strong disagreement that they separated. Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed to Cyprus.

⁴¹ Paul traveled through Syria and Cilicia, encouraging the churches there.

¹ Paul went first to Derbe, and then on to Lystra, where he met a believer by the name of Timothy. He was the son of a Jewish Christian mother, and his father was Greek.

² The brothers at Lystra and Iconium spoke well of him.

³ Paul wanted Timothy to travel with him, so he circumcised him because the Jews in the area all knew that Timothy's father was Greek.

⁴ As they went through the different towns they gave them the requirements the apostles and elders in Jerusalem had said should be observed.

⁶ They traveled through the districts of Phrygia and Galatia, since the Holy Spirit prevented them from going to the province of Asia to speak the word.

⁷ When they arrived at the border of Mysia they tried to enter Bithynia, but the Spirit of Jesus would not allow them to enter.

⁹ There Paul saw in vision during the night a man from Macedonia standing up, pleading with him, "Please come over to Macedonia and help us!"

¹⁰ After Paul saw this vision, we* immediately made arrangements to go to Macedonia, since we concluded that God had called us to share the good news with them.

¹¹ We set sail from Troas and made straight for Samothrace. The next day we went on to Neapolis,

¹² and from there to Philippi, the most important town in Macedonia, and also a Roman colony. We stayed in this city for several days.

¹³ On the Sabbath day we went out of the town gates down to the riverside where we thought people would come to pray. We sat down and talked with the women that had gathered there.

¹⁵ After she and all her household were baptized, she pleaded with us, "If you really think that I'm truly committed to the Lord, then come and stay at my house." She kept on insisting until we agreed!

¹⁶ One day when we were going down to the place of prayer we met a slave girl possessed by an evil spirit.† She earned her masters a great deal of money by fortune-telling.

¹⁷ This girl followed Paul and the rest of us around, shouting, "These men are the servants of Almighty God. They are telling you how to be saved!"

* 16:10 The change to "we" indicates that the writer, Luke, had joined them. † 16:16 Literally, "python spirit," a spirit of divination.

¹⁸ She went on doing this for several days. This bothered Paul so he turned around and told the spirit, "I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to leave her!" The spirit immediately left her.

¹⁹ But when her masters saw they had lost their means of making money, they grabbed hold of Paul and Silas and dragged them before the authorities at the marketplace.

²⁰ They brought them in front of the magistrates, and accused them: "These Jewish men are causing a great disturbance in our town," they said.

²¹ "They're advocating things that are illegal for us as Romans to accept or to practice."

²³ After giving them a severe beating, they threw them into prison, ordering the jailer to keep them locked up.

²⁴ The jailer followed his orders. He threw Paul and Silas into the inner cell and shackled their feet in the stocks.

²⁵ Around midnight Paul and Silas were praying and singing praises to God, and the other prisoners were listening to them.

²⁶ Suddenly a tremendous earthquake shook the foundations of the prison. Immediately all the doors flew open and everyone's chains fell off.

²⁷ The jailer woke up and saw the doors of the prison wide open. He drew his sword and was about to kill himself, thinking that the prisoners had escaped.

²⁹ The jailer asked for lights to be brought and rushed in. Shaking with fear he fell down before Paul and Silas.

³⁰ He escorted them out and asked them, "Sirs, what do I have to do so I can be saved?"

³¹ "Trust in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved—you and your whole household," they replied.

³³ Even though it was late at night he bathed their wounds, and he was baptized right away, along with all his family.

³⁴ He took them home and had a meal prepared for them. The jailer and his whole family were full of joy because they trusted in God.

³⁵ Early the next day the magistrate sent officials to the jailer, telling him, "Release those men."

³⁶ The jailer told Paul, "The magistrates have sent word to release you. So you can leave, and go in peace."

³⁷ But Paul told them, "They publicly beat us without a trial—and yet we're Roman citizens! Then they threw us in prison. Now they want to quietly let us go? No, they should come themselves and release us!"

³⁸ The officials went back and reported this to the magistrates. When they heard that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens they were really worried,

³⁹ and went to apologize to them.[‡] They escorted them out and begged them to leave town.

⁴⁰ So Paul and Silas left the prison and went to Lydia's house. There they met with the believers, encouraged them, and then went on their way.

17

¹ After Paul and Silas had passed through Amphipolis and Apollonia they arrived at Thessalonica, where there was a Jewish synagogue.

² As usual, Paul went into the synagogue and over the course of three Sabbaths he debated with them using the Scriptures.

⁴ Some of them were convinced and joined Paul and Silas, along with many Greek-speaking worshipers* and some leading women of the town.

⁶ When they couldn't find them they dragged Jason and some of the other believers before the town leaders, shouting, "These people are famous for causing trouble, turning the world upside down. Now they've come here, ⁷ and Jason has made them welcome in his house. They all defy Caesar's decrees, committing treason by saying there is another king called Jesus."

⁸ The people and the leaders of the town were very disturbed when they heard this.

⁹ So they made Jason and the others post bail before they let them go.

¹⁰ The believers had Paul and Silas leave for Berea that very night. When they arrived in Berea they went to the Jewish synagogue.

¹¹ The people there had a better attitude than those in Thessalonica in that they were very quick to accept the word, and every day they examined the Scriptures to make sure what they were told was right.

¹² As a result many of them became believers, along with some highly-placed Greek women and men.

¹³ But when the Jews in Thessalonica heard that Paul was also spreading the word of God in Berea, they went there and caused the same kind of trouble, stirring up the crowds.

¹⁴ Immediately the believers sent Paul to the coast, while Silas and Timothy remained behind.

¹⁵ Those escorting Paul took him as far as Athens, and then returned with instructions from Paul to Silas and Timothy that they should join him there as soon as possible.

¹⁶ While Paul was waiting for them in Athens he was very troubled to see all the idolatry in the city.

¹⁷ He debated in the synagogue with the Jews and those who worshiped God,‡ as well as in the marketplace with those he happened to meet from day to day.

* 17:4 Greek-speaking worshipers: the term is usually applied to "heathen" who had come to accept the belief in the one God of Judaism but had not become Jews by circumcision. † 17:5 Literally, "evil men from the market." ‡ 17:17 Presumably the same "class" of believers mentioned in 17:4: foreigners who had accepted the God of Israel but had not become Jews.

¹⁸ Some Epicurean and Stoic philosophers also argued with him. “What is he going on about?”[§] they wondered. Others concluded, “He seems to be teaching about some foreign gods,” because he was speaking about Jesus and the resurrection.

¹⁹ So they took him to the Areopagus*, and asked him, “Please tell us about this new teaching that you’re promoting.

²⁰ We’re hearing from you things that sound odd to us, so we’d like to know what they mean.”

²¹ (All the Athenians, including foreigners who lived there, spent their whole time doing nothing except explaining or listening to something new.)

²² Paul stood up right in the middle of the Areopagus and said, “People of Athens, I notice you are very religious about everything.

²³ As I was walking along, looking at your shrines, I found an altar that had the inscription, ‘To an Unknown God.’ This unknown God whom you worship is the one I’m describing to you.

²⁴ The God who created the world and everything in it, the Lord of heaven and earth, doesn’t live in temples we make.

²⁵ He doesn’t need to be served by us as if he needed anything, since he is the source of all life for every living being.

²⁶ From one man he made all the peoples who live on the earth, and decided beforehand when and where they should live.

²⁷ God’s purpose was that they should seek him, hoping they would reach out for him and find him—though he isn’t far from any one of us.

²⁸ In him we live, move, and exist. Just as one of your own poets wrote, ‘We are his family.’

²⁹ Since we are his family we shouldn’t think that God is like gold, or silver, or stone, shaped by human artistry and thinking.

³⁰ God disregarded people’s ignorance in the past, but now he commands everyone everywhere to repent.

³¹ For he has set a time when he will rightly judge the world by the man he has appointed, and he proved to everyone that he is the one by raising him from the dead.”

³² Some of them laughed when they heard about the resurrection of the dead, while others said, “Please come back so we can hear more about this later.”

³⁴ A few men joined him and trusted in God, including Dionysius, a member of the Areopagus, as well as a woman called Damaris, and some others.

18

² where he met a Jew named Aquila. Aquila was originally from Pontus, and had just arrived from Italy with his wife Priscilla because Claudius* had ordered all Jews expelled from Rome. Paul went to see them,

[§] 17:18 Literally, “What is this seed-collector trying to say?” “Seed-collector” referred to chattering birds picking up seeds in the marketplace; otherwise translated “babblers.” * 17:19 A kind of discussion forum of philosophers. * 18:2 The Roman Emperor.

³ and because they were in the same business of tent-making, he stayed with them.

⁴ He debated in the synagogue every Sabbath, convincing both Jews and Greeks.

⁵ When Silas and Timothy arrived from Macedonia, Paul felt he had to become more direct in what he said, and told the Jews that Jesus was the Messiah.

⁶ When they opposed him and cursed him, he shook out his clothes[†] and told them, “Your blood is on your own heads! I am innocent of any guilt, and from now on I will go to the foreigners.”

⁷ He left and went to stay with Titius Justus, who worshiped God and whose house was next door to the synagogue.

⁸ Crispus, leader of the synagogue, believed in the Lord together with his whole household. Many of the people of Corinth who heard the message became believers and were baptized.

⁹ The Lord told Paul in a vision at night: “Don’t be afraid. Speak up, don’t keep quiet—

¹⁰ because I am with you, and no-one will attack you, for many people in this city are mine.”

¹² However, during the time when Gallio[‡] was the governor of Achaia, the Jews united in an attack against Paul and brought him before the court.[§]

¹³ “This man is persuading people to worship God illegally,” they declared.

¹⁴ But just as Paul was about to defend himself, Gallio told the Jews, “If you Jews were bringing criminal charges or some serious legal offense, there would be a reason for me to listen to your case.

¹⁵ But since you’re only arguing over words and names and your own law, then you deal with it yourselves. I won’t rule on such matters.”

¹⁶ Then Gallio had them ejected from the court.

¹⁷ Then the crowd turned on Sosthenes, the leader of the synagogue, and beat him right outside the court, but Gallio wasn’t concerned about this at all.

¹⁹ They arrived in Ephesus, where Paul left the others behind. He went to the synagogue to reason with the Jews.

²⁰ They asked him to stay longer, but he refused.

²¹ He said his goodbyes, and set sail from Ephesus, telling them, “I’ll come back and see you if it’s God’s will.”

²² After landing at Caesarea he went to greet the church members,[†] and then carried on to Antioch.

²³ He spent some time there and then went from town to town through the region of Galatia and Phrygia, encouraging all the believers.

[†] 18:6 A symbolic act declaring innocence. [‡] 18:12 Gallio was the brother of Seneca, the Roman Stoic philosopher. [§] 18:12 Literally, “judgment seat,” or “judge’s bench.” Also in 18:16-17.

* 18:18 Vow: probably a Nazirite vow (see Numbers 6). [†] 18:22 Possibly the church members in Jerusalem.

²⁴ In the meantime a Jew named Apollos, originally from Alexandria, arrived in Ephesus. He was a gifted speaker who knew the Scriptures well.

²⁵ He had been taught the way of the Lord. He was spiritually passionate, and in his speaking and teaching he presented Jesus accurately, but he only knew about John's baptism.

²⁶ He started speaking openly in the synagogue. So when Priscilla and Aquila heard him, they invited him to join them and explained the way of God to him more fully.

²⁷ When he decided to go to Achaia, the brothers encouraged him, and wrote to the disciples there telling them to welcome him. When he arrived he was very helpful to those who through grace trusted God, ²⁸ because he was able to strongly refute the Jews in public debate, demonstrating from the Scriptures that Jesus was the Messiah.

² "Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" he asked them. "No, we haven't heard anything about a Holy Spirit," they told him.

³ "So what baptism did you receive?" he asked.

"John's baptism," they replied.

⁴ "John baptized with the baptism of repentance," said Paul. He told the people that they should trust in the one who would come after him—that is, they should trust in Jesus.

⁵ When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.

⁶ After Paul had placed his hands on them, the Holy Spirit came upon them and they spoke in tongues and prophesied.

⁷ There were about twelve of them in total.

⁸ Paul went to the synagogue and over the course of the next three months spoke boldly to those who were there, discussing with them and trying to convince them about the kingdom of God.

¹⁰ This went on for the next two years, with the result that everyone who lived in the province of Asia, both Jews and Greeks, heard the word of the Lord.

¹¹ God performed unusual miracles through Paul,

¹² so much so that they took handkerchiefs or aprons Paul had touched to heal the sick and to drive out evil spirits.

¹³ Some Jews who were going around exorcising decided to use the name of the Lord Jesus when they drove out evil spirits. They'd say, "I command you to leave in the name of the Jesus that Paul talks about."

¹⁴ The ones doing this were the seven sons of Sceva, a Jew and a chief priest.

* 19:9 "The Way": another early term for Christianity.

¹⁵ But one day an evil spirit responded, “I know Jesus, and I know Paul, but who are you?”

¹⁶ The man with the evil spirit jumped on them and overpowered all of them. He beat them so severely that they ran out of the house, naked and badly injured.

¹⁷ People living in Ephesus, both Jews and Greeks, heard about this. They were all in awe at what had happened, and the name of the Lord Jesus gained great respect.

¹⁸ Many came to trust in the Lord and confessed their sins, openly admitting their evil practices.

¹⁹ A number of those who used to practice sorcery collected their books on magic and brought them to be burned publicly. They worked out how much the books were worth, and the total was fifty thousand silver coins.

²⁰ In this way the word of the Lord grew strong and spread widely.

²¹ Some time after this Paul decided to go to Jerusalem, passing first through Macedonia and Achaia. “After I’ve been there, I’ll have to go to Rome,” he said.

²² He sent two of his helpers, Timothy and Erastus, to Macedonia, while he stayed on for a while in the province of Asia.

²³ It was about this time that serious problems occurred regarding the Way.

²⁴ A man called Demetrius, a silversmith, was producing small silver replicas of the temple of the goddess Artemis. This business brought in a great deal of work for such craftsmen.

²⁵ Demetrius called them together, along with others who worked in similar trades, and said, “Fellow-workers, you know that it’s through this business we make our money.

²⁷ It’s not just a question that our business will be in danger of losing respect, but that the temple of the great goddess Artemis will be considered worthless. Artemis herself would be dethroned from her high position as the one whom everyone in Asia and the whole world worships.”

²⁸ When they heard this they became furious, and shouted out, “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!”

³⁰ Paul thought he should confront the mob, but the other believers would not let him.

³¹ Some of the provincial officials,[†] who were Paul’s friends, also sent a message begging him not to go into the amphitheatre.

³² Some were shouting one thing, and some something else, for the crowd that had gathered was in total confusion—most of them had no idea why they were there.

³³ The Jews in the crowd pushed Alexander to the front. Alexander motioned with his hand for them to be quiet, wanting to explain things to the people.

³⁴ But when they realized he was a Jew, they all took up a chant that lasted for about two hours, shouting “Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!”

³⁵ After the town clerk had managed to quiet the mob down, he told them, “People of Ephesus, who doesn’t know that the city of the Ephesians is the guardian of the temple of the great Artemis and of her image that fell from heaven?”

³⁶ Since these facts can’t be denied, you should stay calm—don’t do anything rash.

³⁷ You have brought these men here, but they haven’t robbed any temples or blasphemed against our goddess.

³⁸ So if Demetrius and the other craftsmen have a complaint against anyone, then go to the authorities[‡] and the courts. They can press charges there.

³⁹ If there’s anything else, it can be taken to the legal assembly.

⁴⁰ In fact we ourselves are in danger of being accused of being responsible for this riot today, since there was no reason for it, and we can’t justify why it happened.”

⁴¹ When he had finished speaking, he dismissed the crowd.

² He passed through the area, sharing many words of encouragement with the believers there, and then traveled on to Greece.

³ After he had spent three months there and just as he was about to sail to Syria, it was discovered that the Jews were plotting against him. So he decided to return through Macedonia.

⁴ These were the people who traveled with him: Sopater of Berea, the son of Pyrrhus; Aristarchus and Secundus from Thessalonica; Gaius from Derbe; Timothy; Tychicus and Trophimus from the province of Asia.

⁵ They went on ahead and waited for us at Troas.

⁶ After the Feast of Unleavened Bread we sailed from Philippi, and met them five days later in Troas, where we spent a week.

⁷ Paul was speaking on the first day of the week as we gathered together to break bread. He was planning to leave in the morning, and went on speaking until midnight.

⁸ (The upstairs room where we were meeting was lit by many lamps.)

⁹ A young man called Eutychus was sitting in the window, and he began feeling very sleepy. As Paul went on speaking he fell sound asleep and tumbled down from the third story. When they picked him up they found he was dead.

¹⁰ Paul went down, stretched himself out upon him, and hugged him. “Don’t worry, he’s alive,” he said.

¹¹ Paul went back upstairs, broke bread, and ate together with them. He went on talking with them until dawn came, and then he left.

¹² They took the young man home alive and well, and were very thankful for this.

[‡] 19:38 Literally, “proconsuls.”

¹³ We went on ahead to the ship and sailed to Assos. There we were due to pick up Paul, since that was what he had planned as he decided to travel on foot.

¹⁵ Sailing on from there we arrived off Kios, and the next day we stopped briefly at Samos, and the following day we arrived at Miletus.

¹⁶ Paul had planned to sail on past Ephesus so he wouldn't have to spend time in the province of Asia. He was keen to get to Jerusalem in time for the Day of Pentecost.

¹⁸ When they arrived, he told them, "You know how I always behaved while I was with you from the first day I arrived in the province of Asia.

¹⁹ I served the Lord in humility and in tears. I put up with the troubles and stress caused by the plots of the Jews.

²⁰ However, I never held back from sharing with you anything that would be to your benefit, and I taught you in public, going from house to house.

²¹ I witnessed both to Jews and Greeks that it was essential to repent and turn to God, and to trust in our Lord Jesus Christ.

²² Now the Spirit is insisting that I go to Jerusalem, and I have no idea what will happen to me there.

²³ All I know is that in every city I visit the Holy Spirit warns me that prison and suffering are waiting for me.

²⁴ But I don't consider my life as worth anything to me. I only want to finish my mission and the ministry that the Lord Jesus gave to me, to witness to the good news of the grace of God.

²⁵ Now I am certain that you will not see my face again, you among whom I shared the news of the kingdom.

²⁷ I didn't hesitate to tell you everything God wants you to know.

²⁸ Take care of yourselves and of all the flock, which the Holy Spirit has given to you to supervise. Feed the Lord's church which he bought with his own blood.

²⁹ I know that after I leave vicious wolves will come among you, and won't spare the flock.

³⁰ From among your own group men will rise up perverting what is right and good so they can lead believers to follow them.

³¹ So watch out! Don't forget that for three years I went on instructing all of you night and day, often crying over you.

³² Now I commit you in God's care and to the message of his grace, which is able to build you up and provide you with the inheritance that belongs to all who are kept right with him.

³⁴ You know that I worked with my own hands to provide for my own needs, as well as for those who were with me.

* 20:26 Literally, "I am not guilty of the blood of anyone." Probably referencing Ezekiel 33:8-9.

³⁵ I have given you an example in everything: work to help those who are weak, remembering the words of the Lord Jesus: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.' "

³⁶ When he finished speaking, he knelt down and prayed with all of them.

³⁷ They all wept as they hugged and kissed him.

³⁸ What upset them the most was what he said about never seeing him again... Then they walked down to the ship with him.

21

¹ After we had said goodbye to them, we sailed directly to Cos, and the next day on to Rhodes. From there we went to Patara

² where we found a ship going to Phoenicia. We went on board and set sail.

⁴ We found the believers and stayed there for a week. Through the Holy Spirit the believers told Paul not to go to Jerusalem.

⁵ When the time was up, we left and went back to the ship to continue our journey. All the believers, and wives and children, accompanied us as we left the city. We knelt down on the beach and prayed, and said our goodbyes.

⁶ Then we boarded the ship, and they went back home.

⁹ Philip had four unmarried daughters who prophesied.

¹⁰ After we'd stayed there for several days, a prophet called Agabus arrived from Judea.

¹¹ Approaching us, he took Paul's belt, and bound his own hands and feet. Then he said, "The Holy Spirit says, 'This is how the Jews in Jerusalem will bind the man who owns this belt, and will hand him over to the foreigners.' "

¹³ However, Paul answered, "What are you doing, crying and breaking my heart? I'm ready not only to be bound in Jerusalem, but to die in Jerusalem for the sake of the Lord Jesus."

¹⁴ Since he couldn't be persuaded otherwise we gave up, and said, "May the Lord's will be done."

¹⁵ After this we packed our bags and headed for Jerusalem.

¹⁶ Some of the believers from Caesarea came with us, and they took us to the home of Mnason, where we were going to stay. He came from Cyprus and was one of the early believers.

¹⁷ When we arrived in Jerusalem, the believers there welcomed us warmly.

* 21:8 One of the seven chosen to help with food distribution (6:5).

¹⁸ The next day Paul went with us to see James, and all the church leaders were there.

¹⁹ After greeting them, Paul went through in detail everything God had done for the foreigners through his ministry.

²⁰ When they heard what had happened they praised God and told Paul, "Brother, you can see how many thousands of Jews have come to trust in the Lord, and they all keep the Law very carefully.

²¹ They have been told that you teach Jews living among the foreigners to ignore the Law of Moses, telling them not to circumcise their children and not to follow our customs.

²² So what should we do about it? People will certainly get to hear that you've arrived here.

²³ This is what we want you to do: Four men among us have taken a vow.

²⁴ Go with them and perform the purification rituals with them, paying for them to have their heads shaved. That way everyone will know there's no truth to the rumors they've heard about you, but that you yourself observe the Law in the way that you live.

²⁵ As to the foreigners who have trusted the Lord, we already wrote a letter regarding our decision that they should refrain from eating food sacrificed to idols, from blood, from any animal that is strangled, and from sexual immorality."

²⁶ So Paul took the men with him, and the next day went and purified himself with them. Then he went to the Temple to give notice regarding the end of the time of purification and the offering which would be made for each of them.

²⁷ The seven days were almost over when some Jews from Asia saw Paul in the Temple and incited the crowd against him and seized him.

²⁸ "Men of Israel, help!" they shouted. "This is the man who is teaching everyone everywhere to oppose our people, the Law, and the Temple. He's also brought Greeks into the Temple, defiling this holy place."

²⁹ (They said this because they had seen him previously in the city with Trophimus the Ephesian and presumed that Paul had brought him into the Temple.)

³⁰ The whole city was shocked by this and people came running. They grabbed hold of Paul and dragged him out of the Temple. Immediately the doors were shut.

³¹ As they tried to kill him, news came to the Roman troop commander that the whole of Jerusalem was in an uproar.

³³ Then the commander came over and arrested Paul, and ordered him to be bound with two chains. He asked who he was, and what he had done.

³⁴ Some in the mob were shouting one thing and some another. Since the commander couldn't find out the truth due to all the noise and confusion, he ordered Paul brought into the fortress.

³⁵ When Paul got to the stairs, he had to be carried by the soldiers because the mob was so violent.

³⁶ People in the crowd that was following were shouting, "Get rid of him!"

³⁷ Just as he was about to be taken inside the fortress, Paul asked the commander, "Can I tell you something?"

"Do you know Greek?" asked the commander.

³⁸ "Aren't you the Egyptian who recently incited a rebellion and led four thousand Assassins into the desert?"

⁴⁰ The commander gave Paul permission to speak. So Paul stood on the stairs and motioned for silence. When it was quiet he spoke to them in Aramaic.

22

¹ "Brother and fathers," he said, "Please listen as I give my defense before you."

² When they heard him speaking to them in Aramaic, they became very quiet.

³ "I am a Jew, born in Tarsus in Cilicia," he began. "However, I was brought up here in this city, and sat at the feet of Gamaliel. I was taught to strictly observe the law of our fathers. I was zealous for God, just like all of you here today,

⁴ and I persecuted the people of this Way—having them put to death, and imprisoning both men and women.

⁵ As the high priest and the council of the elders can also verify, I received from them letters of authorization addressed to the Jewish brothers in Damascus, and went there to arrest these people and bring them as prisoners to Jerusalem to be punished.

⁶ At around noon, while I was on my way and approaching Damascus, suddenly a bright light from heaven shone all around me.

⁷ I fell to the ground, and I heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?'

⁸ 'Who are you, Lord?' I answered.

'I am Jesus of Nazareth, the one you are persecuting,' he told me.

⁹ Those who were traveling with me did see the light, but they didn't hear the voice that spoke to me.

¹⁰ 'What shall I do, Lord?' I asked.

The Lord told me, 'Get up and go into Damascus, and there you'll be told everything that's arranged for you to do.'

¹¹ Since I couldn't see because of the brightness of the light, those who were with me led me by the hand into Damascus.

¹² There a man called Ananias came to see me. He was a religious man who observed the law, and was highly respected by the Jews who lived in the town.

¹³ He stood in front of me and said, 'Brother Saul, receive back your sight.' At that very moment I could see again, and I looked at him.

¹⁴ He told me, 'The God of our fathers has appointed you to know his will, to see the one who is truly good and right,* and to listen to what he has to say to you.'

* 22:14 Referring to Jesus.

¹⁵ You will testify for him to everyone about what you have seen and heard. So what are you waiting for?

¹⁶ Get up, be baptized, and wash away your sins as you call on his name.'

¹⁷ I returned to Jerusalem, and as I was praying in the Temple, I fell into a trance.

¹⁸ I saw a vision of the Lord telling me, 'Hurry! You need to leave Jerusalem quickly, because they will not accept what you are telling them about me.'

¹⁹ I replied, 'Lord, they certainly know that I went from synagogue to synagogue, beating and imprisoning those who trusted in you.

²¹ The Lord told me, 'Leave now, for I am sending you far away to the foreigners.' "

²² Up until this point they had listened to what he was saying, but then they started shouting, "Get rid of this man from the earth—he doesn't deserve to live!"

²⁴ The commander ordered Paul brought into the fortress, and gave orders for him to be interrogated by flogging so he could find out the reason people were shouting so much against Paul.

²⁵ As they stretched him out and tied him down to flog him, Paul asked the centurion standing there, "Is it legal to flog a Roman citizen who hasn't had a trial?"

²⁶ When the centurion heard what Paul said, he went to the commander and asked him, "What are you doing? This man is a Roman citizen."

²⁷ The commander came, and asked Paul, "Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?"

Paul replied, "Yes I am."

²⁸ "I paid a lot of money to buy Roman citizenship," said the commander. "But I was born a citizen," Paul replied.

²⁹ Those who were about to interrogate Paul left immediately. The commander was worried when he found out that Paul was a Roman citizen because he had placed him in chains.[†]

³⁰ The next day, wanting to find out the reason why the Jews were accusing Paul, he had him released and taken before the chief priests and the whole council which he ordered to assemble. He had Paul brought down and placed him before them.

23

² Ananias the high priest ordered the officers standing beside Paul to hit him on the mouth.

³ Paul said to him, "God will hit you, you whitewashed wall! You're sitting there to judge me according to the law, and you order me to be hit in contravention of the law!"

[†] 22:29 It was illegal to place a Roman citizen in chains who had not first been found guilty.

⁴ The officers standing beside Paul said, "How dare you insult the high priest!"

⁵ "Brothers, I didn't know that he was the high priest," Paul replied. "As Scriptures say, 'You must not speak evil of any ruler of your people.' "^{*}

⁶ When Paul realized that some of the council were Sadducees and the others Pharisees, he shouted out, "Brothers, I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee! I'm on trial because of my hope in the resurrection of the dead!"

⁷ When he said this, a tremendous argument broke out between the Pharisees and Sadducees that split the council.

⁸ (The Sadducees say there is no resurrection from the dead, no angels, and no spirits, but Pharisees believe in all of these.)

⁹ A great commotion erupted and some of the Pharisee teachers of the law stood up and argued fiercely, saying, "We find this man not guilty! Maybe a spirit spoke to him, or an angel!"

¹⁰ The argument was getting out of hand, so the commander, concerned that they would tear Paul to pieces, ordered the soldiers to go and rescue him from them by force, and take him back into the fortress.

¹¹ Afterwards, during the night, the Lord stood by Paul, and told him, "Keep up your courage! Just as you have given your testimony about me in Jerusalem, so you must be my witness in Rome as well."

¹² Next day some Jews plotted together, and they took an oath not to eat or drink until they had killed Paul.

¹³ Over forty were part of this conspiracy.

¹⁴ They went to the chief priests and leaders and said, "We have taken a solemn oath not to eat anything until we have killed Paul.

¹⁵ So you and the council should send word to the commander that he should bring Paul down to meet with you, as if you wanted to examine his case in more detail. We're ready to kill him along the way."

¹⁶ But Paul's nephew (his sister's son) heard about their planned ambush, and he went into the fortress and told Paul about it.

¹⁷ Paul called over one of the centurions, and told him, "Take this young man to the commander, because he has some information to share with him."

¹⁸ So the centurion took Paul's nephew and brought him to the commander and told him, "The prisoner Paul called me over and asked me to bring this young man to you. He has something to tell you."

¹⁹ The commander took the young man by the hand and drew him aside. "What do you have to tell me?" he asked quietly.

²⁰ "The Jews have arranged to ask you to bring Paul to the council tomorrow, as if they wanted to ask more detailed questions about his case," he explained.

²² The commander sent the young man on his way, warning him, "Don't tell anyone that you've told me about this."

²³ He summoned two centurions and told them, "Get two hundred soldiers ready to go to Caesarea, together with seventy cavalry-men and two hundred spearmen. Be ready to leave at nine p.m. tonight.

^{*} 23:5 Quoting Exodus 22:28.

²⁵ He also wrote a letter that went like this:

²⁶ “From Claudius Lysias to His Excellency Governor Felix, greetings!

²⁷ This man was seized by the Jews and they were about to kill him, when I arrived on the scene with soldiers and rescued him, because I had found out he was a Roman citizen.

²⁸ I wanted to know the reason for their accusations, so I took him before their council.

²⁹ I found out the charges against him had to do with issues regarding their law, but he was not guilty of anything that merited death or imprisonment.

³⁰ When I discovered a plot against this man I sent him to you right away, ordering his accusers to make their complaints before you.”

³¹ So the soldiers followed their orders and took Paul overnight to Antipatris.

³² The next morning they sent him on with the cavalry, and went back to the fortress.

³³ When the cavalry arrived at Caesarea they delivered the letter to the governor and brought Paul before him.

³⁴ After reading the letter, the governor asked Paul what province he came from. When he learned he was from Cilicia he told Paul,

³⁵ “I will investigate your case when your accusers arrive.” He ordered Paul detained in Herod’s palace.

¹ Five days later Ananias the high priest arrived with some of the Jewish leaders, and with a lawyer called Tertullus. They presented formal charges against Paul to the governor.

² When Paul was summoned, Tertullus began making his case against him. He said, “Your Excellency Governor Felix, we have enjoyed a long period of peace under you, and as a result of your wise judgment reforms have been enacted for the benefit of the nation.

³ All of us throughout the country are so very grateful to you for this.

⁴ But in order not to bore you, please be so kind as to give us your attention for a short while.

⁵ We discovered that this man is a real pest,* stirring up rebellions among Jews all over the world, a ringleader of the Nazarene sect.

⁶ He tried to defile the Temple, so we arrested him.

⁷ †

⁸ By interrogating him yourself you will discover the truth of our accusations.”

⁹ The Jews joined in, saying that this was all true.

¹⁰ The Governor motioned for Paul to respond. “Recognizing you have been a judge over this nation for many years, I gladly make my defense,” Paul began.

¹¹ “You can easily verify that I arrived in Jerusalem to worship just twelve days ago.

* 24:5 Literally, “plague.” † 24:7 There is doubt as to the originality of verses 24:6b-8a and are omitted from the standard Greek text.

¹² Nobody found me arguing in the Temple with anyone, or inciting people to riot in any synagogue or anywhere in the city.

¹³ Nor can they prove to you any of their accusations against me.

¹⁴ But I will admit this to you: I serve the God of our fathers following the beliefs of the Way, which they call a heretical sect. I believe everything the law teaches and what is written in the books of the prophets.

¹⁵ I have the same hope in God that they do, believing that there will be a resurrection of the good and the wicked.

¹⁶ Consequently I try to make sure I always have a clear conscience before God and everyone.

¹⁷ Having been away for a few years I returned to bring some money to help the poor and to give offerings to God.

¹⁸ That's what they found me doing in the Temple—completing the ceremony of purification. There was no crowd and no disturbance.

¹⁹ But some Jews from the province of Asia were there, who should be present here before you today to bring their charges, if they have anything against me.

²⁰ Otherwise let these men here explain themselves what crime they found me guilty of when I stood before the council,

²¹ except for the time when I shouted out to them, 'I am on trial before you today because of my belief in the resurrection of the dead.' "

²² Felix who was well-informed about the Way then adjourned the trial. "When Lysias the commander comes I will make my decision regarding your case," he said.

²³ He ordered the centurion to keep Paul in custody but to allow him some measure of freedom and to let Paul's friends care for him without interference.

²⁴ Some days later Felix returned with his wife Drusilla, who was Jewish. He sent for Paul and listened to him speak about trusting in Christ Jesus.

²⁵ He discussed with them about living right, self-control, and the coming judgment. Felix became alarmed and told Paul, "You can go now, and I'll send for you when I get the chance."

²⁶ Hoping that Paul would give him a bribe, Felix often sent for Paul and talked with him.

²⁷ Two years passed and Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. To stay in favor with the Jews, Felix left Paul in prison.

25

³ They begged Festus as a favor to send Paul to Jerusalem, plotting to ambush and kill him on the way.

⁴ But Festus replied that Paul was in custody at Caesarea and that he himself would be there shortly.

⁵ "Your leaders can come with me, and make their accusation against this man, if he has done anything wrong," he told them.

* 25:1 The Roman province of Judea.

⁶ After staying there with them for no more than eight or ten days, Festus returned to Caesarea. The following day he took his seat as judge, and ordered that Paul be brought before him.

⁸ Paul defended himself, telling them, "I have not sinned at all against the Jewish law, the Temple, or Caesar."

⁹ But Festus, who was looking to gain favor with the Jews, asked Paul, "Are you willing to go to Jerusalem and be tried before me there about these matters?"

¹⁰ "I'm standing before Caesar's court to be tried, right where I should be," Paul replied. "I have not done any wrong to the Jews, as you very well know.

¹¹ If I've committed a crime and have done something that deserves death, I do not ask to be pardoned from a death sentence. But if there's no substance to these accusations they're making against me, then nobody has the right to hand me over to them. I appeal to Caesar!"

¹² Festus then conferred with the council, and replied, "You have appealed to Caesar. To Caesar you shall go!"

¹³ Several days later, King Agrippa and his sister Bernice arrived in Caesarea and came to pay their respects to Festus.

¹⁵ When I was in Jerusalem, the Jewish chief priests and leaders came and made accusations against him and asked me to sentence him.

¹⁶ I replied that it is not according to Roman law to convict anyone without having them face their accusers and giving them the opportunity to defend themselves against the charges.

¹⁷ So when his accusers arrived here, I wasted no time and convened the court the very next day. I ordered the man to be brought in.

¹⁸ However, when the accusers got up they didn't bring charges of criminal acts as I expected.

¹⁹ Instead they brought up controversies over religious questions, and over a man called Jesus who was dead but whom Paul insisted was alive.

²⁰ Since I was undecided as to how to proceed in investigating such matters, I asked him if he was willing to go to Jerusalem and be tried there.

²¹ However, Paul appealed for his case to be heard by the emperor, so I ordered him detained until I could send him to Caesar."

²² "I would like to hear the man myself," Agrippa told Festus.

"I'll arrange for you to hear him tomorrow," Festus replied.

²³ The next day Agrippa arrived with Bernice in great ceremonial splendor and entered the auditorium with the commanders and leading citizens. Then Festus ordered Paul to be brought in.

²⁴ "King Agrippa, and everyone who is present here with us," Festus began, "you see before you this man whom all the Jewish people, both here and in Jerusalem, have complained to me about, shouting that he shouldn't be allowed to live.

²⁵ However, I discovered he has not committed any crime that deserves death, and since he has appealed to the emperor I decided to send him there.

²⁶ But I don't have anything specific to write about him to His Imperial Majesty. That's why I have brought him before you so I can have something definite to write.

²⁷ It doesn't seem fair to me to send on a prisoner without explaining the charges made against him."

26

¹ Agrippa then said to Paul, "You are free to speak on your own behalf." With a sweep of his arm, Paul began his defense.

² "I am delighted, King Agrippa, to make my defense before you today regarding everything I am accused of by the Jews,

³ particularly because you are an expert in all Jewish issues and customs. I beg your patient indulgence as you listen to what I have to say.

⁴ All the Jews know my life story—from my earliest days beginning in my own country and then in Jerusalem.

⁵ They have known me for a long time and can verify, if they choose to, that I have followed the religious school that observes our faith in the strictest way—I lived as a Pharisee.

⁶ Now I am standing here to be judged regarding the promised hope God gave to our fathers

⁷ that our twelve tribes hoped to receive as they continually dedicated themselves in God's service. Yes, it's because of this hope that I'm accused by the Jews, Your Majesty!

⁸ Why should any of you think it's unbelievable that God raises the dead?

⁹ Previously I was sincerely convinced I should do as much as I could to oppose the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

¹⁰ This is what I did in Jerusalem. I threw many of the believers in prison, having been given authority to do this by the chief priests. When they were sentenced to death I cast my vote against them.

¹¹ I had them punished in all the synagogues, trying to make them recant. I was so furiously opposed to them that I went to cities outside our country to persecute them.

¹² That's why one day I was on my way to Damascus with the authority and orders from the chief priests.

¹³ At about noon as I was on my way, Your Majesty, I saw a light from heaven that blazed brighter than the sun. It shone around me and those who were traveling with me.

¹⁴ All of us fell to the ground. Then I heard a voice speaking to me in Aramaic, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? It's hard for you to fight against me!'^{*}

¹⁵ 'Who are you, Lord?' I asked.

'I am Jesus, the one you're persecuting,' the Lord replied.

¹⁶ ‘But pick yourself up and get to your feet. The reason why I’ve appeared to you is to appoint you as my servant, to be a witness for me, telling others how you have seen me and everything I will reveal to you.

¹⁷ I will save you from your own people and from the foreigners. I am sending you to them

¹⁸ to open their eyes so they can turn from darkness to light, from the power of Satan to God, and so that they can receive forgiveness for their sins and a place with those who are set right as they trust in me.’

¹⁹ Clearly, King Agrippa, I could not disobey this vision from heaven.

²⁰ First in Damascus, then in Jerusalem, and then all over Judea and also to the foreigners I shared the message of repentance: how they should turn to God, demonstrating their repentance through their actions.

²¹ That’s why the Jews seized me in the Temple and tried to kill me.

²² God has looked after me so I can stand here today as a witness to everyone, both to ordinary people and to those who are important. I am only repeating what Moses and the prophets said would happen—

²³ how the Messiah had to suffer, and that by being the first to rise from the dead he would announce the light of God’s salvation[†] to both Jews and foreigners.”

²⁴ Festus interrupted Paul as he made his defense, shouting out, “Paul, you’ve gone mad! All your knowledge is driving you insane!”

²⁵ “I’m not mad, Festus your Excellency,” Paul replied. “What I am saying is true and makes sense.

²⁶ The king recognizes this, and I’m explaining it very clearly. I am sure that he is aware of what’s been happening, because none of this took place as if it were hidden in a corner.

²⁷ King Agrippa, do you believe what the prophets said? I’m sure you do!”

²⁸ “Do you think you can convince me to become a Christian so quickly?” Agrippa asked Paul.

²⁹ “Whether it takes a short time or a long time doesn’t matter,” Paul answered. “But my prayer to God is that not just you, but everybody listening to me today would become like me—except for these chains!”

³⁰ The king stood up, along with the governor and Bernice, and everyone who had been sitting with them.

³² Agrippa told Festus, “He could have been freed if he hadn’t appealed to Caesar.”

27

¹ When the time came for us to sail to Italy, Paul and some other prisoners were handed over to a centurion called Julius of the Imperial Regiment.

² We boarded a ship based in Adramyttium that was headed to the coastal ports of the province of Asia, and we set sail. Aristarchus, a Macedonian from Thessalonica, went with us.

³ The next day we had a brief stop at Sidon, and Julius was kind enough to let Paul go ashore and visit his friends so they could provide what he needed.

⁴ We set out from there and sailed to the leeward of Cyprus because the winds were against us.

⁵ Then we sailed directly across the open sea off the coast of Cilicia and Pamphylia, arriving at the port of Myra in Lycia.

⁶ There the centurion found a ship from Alexandria that would be sailing to Italy, and arranged for us to join it.

⁷ We sailed slowly for several days and eventually arrived off Cnidus. But since the winds wouldn't allow us to continue we sailed across to the lee of Crete, near to Salmone.

⁸ With some difficulty we made our way along the coast until we arrived at a place called Fair Havens, near to the town of Lasea.

⁹ We'd lost a lot of time, and the voyage was becoming dangerous because it was now after the Fast.* Paul warned them,

¹⁰ "Men, I predict that this voyage will result in much hardship and loss—not just of the cargo and the ship, but also our very lives."

¹¹ But the centurion paid more attention to the advice of the ship's captain and its owner than to what Paul said.

¹³ When a moderate south wind began to blow, they thought they could do what they planned. They pulled up the anchor and sailed close inshore along the coast of Crete.

¹⁴ But it wasn't long before a hurricane-force wind called a "northeaster" blew from the land.

¹⁵ The ship was forced out to sea and could not face into the wind. So we had to give in and allow ourselves to be driven before the wind.

¹⁶ We were eventually able to run into the lee of a small island called Cauda, and managed with some difficulty to secure the ship's boat† on board.

¹⁷ After hoisting it aboard, the sailors bound ropes around the hull to strengthen it. Then, worried that they would be wrecked on the Syrtis banks, they lowered the sea anchor and allowed the ship to be driven along.

¹⁸ The following day as we were violently thrown about by the storm, the crew started throwing the cargo overboard.

¹⁹ On the third day they grabbed the ship's gear and tossed it into the sea.

²⁰ We hadn't seen the sun or the stars for many days as the storm beat down on us; so any hope of our being saved was lost.

²¹ Nobody had eaten anything for a long time. Then Paul stood before them and told them, "Men, you should have listened to me and not sailed from Crete. Then you could have avoided all this hardship and loss.

* 27:9 "The Fast": The Day of Atonement, probably in October, so sailing at this season would be problematic. † 27:16 "Ship's boat"—a small boat like a dinghy or lifeboat, sometimes towed behind a ship, sometimes tied down on deck. Also in verse 30.

²² But now I advise you keep up your courage, because nobody is going to be lost, just the ship.

²³ Last night an angel of my God[‡] and whom I serve, stood beside me.

²⁴ ‘Don’t be afraid, Paul,’ he told me. ‘You have to stand trial before Caesar. See, God has graciously given to you everyone who is sailing with you.’

²⁵ So men, have courage! I trust God, and I’m convinced things will happen just as I was told.

²⁶ However, we will be wrecked on some island.”

²⁷ At around midnight on the fourteenth night of the storm, still being blown over the Sea of Adria, the crew suspected they were getting close to land.

²⁸ They checked the depth and found it was forty meters, and a little while later they checked again and it was thirty meters.

²⁹ They were concerned that we might be wrecked on rocks, so they dropped four anchors from the stern, and prayed for daylight to come.

³⁰ The crew tried to leave the ship, and had lowered the ship’s boat into the water with the pretext that they were going to drop anchors from the ship’s bow.

³¹ But Paul told the centurion and the soldiers, “Unless the crew stays with the ship, you will be lost.”

³² So the soldiers cut the ropes holding the ship’s boat, and let it loose.

³³ At daybreak Paul urged all of them to eat something. “It’s been fourteen days now that you haven’t eaten anything because you’ve been so worried and preoccupied,” he told them.

³⁴ “Please do what I say and eat some food. This will help give you strength. For not even a hair from anyone’s head is going to be lost!”

³⁵ When he’d finished speaking he picked up a loaf of bread, and gave thanks to God for it in front of everyone. Then he broke the bread, and began to eat.

³⁶ Everyone was encouraged and they ate too.

³⁷ The total number of people on board was two hundred and seventy-six.

³⁸ Once they’d had enough to eat, the crew made the ship lighter by throwing the supplies of wheat overboard.

³⁹ When dawn came they didn’t recognize the coastline, but they saw a bay that had a beach. They planned to try running the ship aground there.

⁴⁰ So they cut the anchor ropes, leaving the anchors in the sea. At the same time they untied the ropes holding the rudders, raised the foresail to the wind, and made for the beach.

⁴¹ But they struck a sandbar and the ship grounded. The bow hit, and stuck so firm it couldn’t be moved, while the stern began to be broken apart by the pounding surf.

⁴² The soldiers planned to kill the prisoners so none of them could swim away and escape.

⁴³ But the centurion, because he wanted to save Paul’s life, prevented them from doing this, and ordered those who could swim to jump overboard first and make for land.

[‡] 27:23 Literally, “the God to whom I belong.”

⁴⁴ The rest grabbed hold of planks and other wreckage, so that everyone was able to reach land safely.

28

¹ When we were safe ashore, we discovered that we were on the island of Malta.

² The people there were very kind—they started a fire and called all of us over so we could warm up from the rain and the cold.

³ Paul collected a bundle of firewood and threw it on the fire. But a poisonous snake was driven out of the bundle because of the heat and bit him, fastening itself on his hand.

⁴ When the people there saw the snake hanging from his hand, they said to each other, “This man must be a murderer. Even though he escaped death from the sea, justice won’t let him live.”

⁶ They were expecting him to swell up, or suddenly fall down dead. But after waiting a long time, they saw that nothing bad had happened to him so they changed their minds and decided he must be a god.

⁷ Nearby were lands that belonged to Publius, the chief official of the island. He welcomed us and looked after us for three days very hospitably.

⁸ Now Publius’ father was sick, lying in bed suffering from fever and dysentery. Paul went in to see him, and prayed for him, placed his hands on him, and healed him.

⁹ After this happened, everyone else who was sick on the island came and was healed.

¹⁰ They presented us with many gifts, and when we had to sail they provided everything we needed for the voyage.

¹¹ After a three month stay we set sail aboard a ship from Alexandria having a figurehead of the Heavenly Twins* that had spent the winter at the island.

¹² We stopped at Syracuse, and spent three days there.

¹³ From there we sailed on to Rhegium. The following day a south wind blew, and on the second day we arrived at the port of Puteoli,

¹⁴ where we discovered some believers. They asked us to stay with them for a week.

So we came to Rome.

¹⁵ When some of the believers from Rome heard we had arrived they came to meet us at the Forum of Appius and the Three Taverns. When Paul saw them, he was thankful to God and much encouraged.

¹⁶ When we entered Rome, Paul was permitted to stay under house arrest with a soldier to guard him.

¹⁷ Three days later Paul invited the Jewish leaders there to come to see him. When they were all together he told them, “Brothers, even though I had not done anything wrong against the people or the customs of our forefathers, I was arrested in Jerusalem and handed over to the Roman authorities.

* 28:11 Named after the twin gods Castor and Pollux.

¹⁸ After they had interrogated me they wanted to release me because I had done nothing that warranted execution.

¹⁹ But the Jewish leaders opposed this, so I was forced to appeal to Caesar—not that I had any accusations against my own people.

²⁰ That's why I asked to see you, and talk to you, because it is on account of the hope of Israel that I am chained up like this."

²¹ "We have not received any letters from Judea about you, and none of our people have come here with reports against you or to speak badly of you," they told him.

²² "But we do want to hear from you what you believe—especially regarding this sect, which we know is condemned everywhere."

²³ They made an appointment to meet with him. On that day many people came to where he was staying. From morning till night Paul was explaining to them, telling them about the kingdom of God. He tried to convince them about Jesus using the writings of the law of Moses and the prophets.

²⁴ Some accepted what Paul said, but some refused to believe.

²⁵ They couldn't agree among themselves, and they left after Paul told them this: "The Holy Spirit said it well through Isaiah the prophet to your forefathers, ²⁶ 'Go to these people and tell them: Even though you hear, you won't ever understand, and even though you see, you won't ever comprehend.

²⁸ Consequently you should know that this salvation that comes from God has been sent to the foreigners and they will listen."

³⁰ For two full years Paul stayed there in the house he rented, welcoming everyone who came to see him.

³¹ He spoke of the kingdom of God, and taught about the Lord Jesus Christ very boldly. No one prevented him.

[†] 28:27 Quoting Isaiah 6:9-10. [‡] 28:29 This verse is not in all manuscripts, and some commentators think it may have been added.

Romans

¹ This letter comes from Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ. I was called to be an apostle by God. God appointed me to announce the good news

² that he had previously promised through his prophets in the Holy Scriptures.

³ The good news is about his Son, whose human forefather was David,

⁴ but who was revealed as God's Son by his resurrection from the dead through the power of the Holy Spirit. He is Jesus Christ our Lord.

⁵ It was through him that I received the privilege of becoming an apostle to call all nations to obedient trust in him.

⁶ You are also included among those who were called to belong to Jesus Christ.

⁷ I'm writing to all of you in Rome who are loved by God, and called to be his special people. Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ!

⁸ Let me begin by saying that I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because the way in which you trust in God is spoken about all over the world.

⁹ I'm always praying for you, as God can confirm—the God I serve with the whole of my being as I share the good news about his Son.

¹⁰ In my prayers I'm always asking that I might eventually come and see you, if that's what God wants.

¹¹ I really want to visit you and share with you a spiritual blessing to strengthen you.

¹² In this way we can be encouraged together by each others' trust in God, both your trust and mine.

¹⁴ For I have an obligation to work for both the civilized and the uncivilized, both the educated and the uneducated.

¹⁵ That's why I'm really keen to come to Rome and share the good news with you.

¹⁶ I'm certainly not ashamed about the good news, for it's God's power to save everyone who trusts in him—to the Jewish people first, and then to everyone else as well.

¹⁷ For in the good news God is revealed as good and right,† trustworthy from start to finish. As Scripture says, "Those who are right with God live by trusting him."‡

¹⁸ God's hostility§ is revealed from heaven against those who are godless and who are not morally right,* those who suppress the truth through the evil that they do.

* 1:13 Literally, "Gentiles." † 1:17 Literally, "God's righteousness." ‡ 1:17 The actual words in the original are, "the right (one) from trust will live." The quotation is from Habakkuk 2:4. § 1:18 Literally, "anger." There are issues in ascribing negative human emotions to God. * 1:18 "Right": throughout Romans, Paul is speaking about moral rightness, not about being simply correct.

¹⁹ What can be known about God is obvious, because he has made it very clear to them.

²⁰ Ever since the creation of the world, the invisible aspects of God—his eternal power and divinity—are clearly visible in what he has made. Such people have no excuse, ²¹ because even though they knew God, they did not praise him or thank him, but instead their thinking about God turned into complete foolishness, and darkness filled their empty minds.

²² Even though they claimed to be wise, they became foolish.

²³ They exchanged the glory of the immortal God for idols, images of mortal human beings, birds, animals, and reptiles.

²⁵ They exchanged God's truth for a lie, worshiping and serving creatures instead of the Creator, who deserves praise forever. Amen.

²⁶ That's why God abandoned them to their evil desires. Their women exchanged natural sex for that which is unnatural, ²⁷ and in the same way the men gave up sex with women and burned with lust for each other. Men did indecent things to each other, and as a result they suffered the inevitable consequences of their perversions.

²⁸ Since they didn't consider it worthwhile to get to know God, he abandoned them to their worthless, distrustful way of thinking, doing things that should never be done.

²⁹ They filled themselves with all that's wrong: evil, greed, hate, envy, murder, quarreling, deception, malice, and gossip.

³⁰ They're back-stabbers and God-haters. They're arrogant, proud, and boastful. They devise new ways of sinning. They rebel against their parents.

³¹ They don't want to understand, they don't keep their promises, they don't show any kindness or compassion.

³² Even though they realize exactly what God requires, they do things that deserve death. Not only do they do such things themselves, they also support others in doing them.

2

¹ So if you judge others you don't have any excuse, whoever you are! For in whatever way you condemn others, you're judging yourself, because you're doing the same things.

² We know that God's judgment on those who do such things is based on truth.

³ When you judge them do you really think that you however can avoid God's judgment?

⁴ Or is it that you're treating his wonderful kindness, tolerance, and patience with contempt, not realizing that God in his kindness is trying to lead you to repent?

⁵ Due to your hard-hearted attitude and your refusal to repent, you're making things far worse for yourself on the day of retribution when God's judgment is demonstrated to be absolutely right.

⁶ God will make sure everyone receives what they deserve according to what they've done.*

⁷ Those who have kept on trying to do what is good and right will receive glory and honor; immortality and eternal life.

⁹ Everyone who does evil will have trouble and suffering—the Jewish people first, and the foreigners too.

¹⁰ But everyone who does good will have glory, honor, and peace—the Jewish people first, and the foreigners too.

¹¹ God has no favorites.

¹² Those who sin even though they don't have the written law[†] are still lost, while those who sin that do have the written law will be condemned by that law.

¹³ Just listening to what the law says doesn't make you right in God's sight. It's those who do what the law says who are made right.

¹⁴ The foreigners don't have the written law, but when they instinctively do what it says, they are following the law even without having the written law.

¹⁵ In this way they show how the law works that's written in their minds. As they think about what they're doing, their conscience either accuses them for doing wrong or defends them for doing what is good and right.

¹⁶ The good news I share is that a day is coming when God will judge, through Jesus Christ, everyone's secret thoughts.

¹⁷ What about you who call yourself a Jew? You rely on the written law and boast about having a special relationship to God.

¹⁹ You're absolutely sure that you can guide the blind, and that you are a light to those in the dark.

²⁰ You think you can set ignorant people straight, a teacher of "children," because you know from the law all the truth there is to know.

²¹ So if you're busy teaching others, why don't you teach yourself? You tell people not to steal, but are you stealing?

²² You tell people not to commit adultery, but are you committing adultery? You tell people not to worship idols, but do you profane temples?‡

²⁴ As Scripture says, "God's character is defamed among the foreigners because of you."[§]

²⁵ Being circumcised* has value only if you do what the law says. But if you break the law, your circumcision is as worthless as those who are not circumcised at all.

* 2:6 Quoting Psalms 62:12. † 2:12 Referring to the law written down by Moses. Those who don't have the written law are the "foreigners," while those who have the written law are the Jews. ‡ 2:22 Or "rob temples." § 2:24 Quoting Isaiah 52:5. Literally, "the name of God," which has primarily to do with his character. * 2:25 Circumcision, given by God to Israel in the Old Testament, was a sign that they were his special people.

²⁶ If a man who is not circumcised[†] keeps the law, he should be considered as being circumcised even though he's not.

²⁷ The uncircumcised foreigners who keep the law will condemn you if you break the law, even though you have the written law and circumcision.

²⁸ It's not what's on the outside that makes you a Jew; it's not the physical sign of circumcision.

²⁹ What makes you a Jew is on the inside, a "circumcision of the heart" that doesn't follow the letter of the law but the Spirit. Someone like that is looking for praise from God, not from people.

3

¹ So does a Jew have any advantage? Does circumcision have any benefits?

² Yes, there are many benefits! First of all, God's message was entrusted to them.

³ What if some of them didn't trust in God? Does their lack of trust in God obliterate the trustworthiness of God?

⁴ Of course not! Even if everyone else is proved to be lying, God always tells the truth. As Scripture says, "What you say will be proved right, and you will win your case^{*} when you are judged."[†]

⁵ But if the fact that we're wrong helps to show that God is right, what should we conclude? That God is wrong to pronounce judgment on us? (I'm talking from a human perspective here.)

⁶ Of course not! How else could God judge the world?

⁷ Someone could say, "Why am I still condemned as a sinner if my lies make the truth of God and his glory more obvious in contrast?"

⁸ Is it a case of, "Let's sin to bring about good"? That's what some people have slanderously accused us of saying. They should be rightly condemned!

⁹ So then, are we Jews better than others? Definitely not! Remember that we've already argued that both Jews and foreigners are under the control of sin.

¹¹ No one understands; no one seeks God.

¹² Everyone has turned their backs on him; everyone does what is totally wrong. No one does what is good, not a single one.

¹⁴ Their mouths are full of bitterness and curses,

¹⁵ and they are quick to cause pain and death.

¹⁶ Their way leads to disaster and misery;

¹⁷ they don't know how to live in peace.

¹⁸ They don't care about respecting God at all."[‡]

¹⁹ It's clear that everything in the law applies to those who live under the law so that no one could have any excuses, and to make sure everyone in the whole world is answerable to God.

[†] 2:26 Not circumcised, meaning a non-Jew or "foreigner." * 3:4 Or "you will be vindicated."

[‡] 3:4 Quoting Psalms 51:4. [‡] 3:18 This passage from verses 12 to 18 includes references to Psalms 14:1-3, Psalms 5:9, Psalms 140:3, Psalms 10:7, Isaiah 59:7-8, Proverbs 1:16, Psalms 36:1.

²⁰ For no one is made right before God by doing what the law requires. The law only helps us recognize what sin really is.

²¹ But now God's character of goodness and right[§] has been demonstrated. It has nothing to do with law-keeping, even though it was spoken of by the law and the prophets.

²² This character of God that is good and right comes to everyone who trusts in Jesus Christ, those who place their confidence in him. It doesn't matter who we are:

²⁴ Yet through the free gift of his grace God makes us right through Christ Jesus who sets us free.

²⁵ God openly presented Jesus as the gift that brings peace* to those trusting in him, the one who shed his blood. God did this to demonstrate he is truly good and right, for previously he would hold back and pass over sins, ²⁶ but now at this present time God proves he is fair and does what is right, and that he makes right those who trust in Jesus.

²⁷ So do we have anything to boast about then? Absolutely not, there's no place for that! And why's that? Is it because we follow the law of observing requirements? No, we follow the law of trusting in God.

²⁸ We conclude that people are made right with God through their trust in him, and not from legal observance.

²⁹ Is God only the God of the Jews? Isn't he the God of other people as well? Of course he is!

³¹ Does that mean that by trusting in God we do away with the law? Of course not! In fact we affirm the importance of the law.

4

¹ Let's take Abraham as an example. From a human viewpoint he is the father of our nation. Let's ask, "What was his experience?"

² For if Abraham was set right by what he did, he would have had something to boast about—but not in God's eyes.

³ However, what does Scripture say? "Abraham trusted God, and so he was considered as being a good person who did right."^{*}

⁵ But God, who makes sinners right, considers them as right not because they've worked for it but because they trust in him. This is why

⁸ How happy are those the Lord does not consider sinful."[†]

[§] 3:21 See under 1:17. Also 3:22. ^{} 3:25 "The gift that brings peace": the way in which God forgives, heals, and restores harmony. ^{} 4:3 Quoting Genesis 15:6. [†] 4:8 Quoting Psalms 32:1-2.

⁹ Now is this blessing just for the Jews, or is it for others too? We've just stated that Abraham was accepted as good and right because he trusted God.

¹⁰ But when did this happen? When Abraham was a Jew or before?

¹¹ It was actually before he became a Jew by being circumcised, which was a confirmation of his trust in God to make him right. This happened before he was circumcised, so he is the father of everyone who trusts in God and are considered as right by God, even though they may not be circumcised Jews.

¹² He is also the father of circumcised Jews not merely because they're circumcised, but because they follow the example of the trust in God our father Abraham had before he was circumcised.

¹³ God's promise to Abraham and his descendants that the world would belong to him was not based on his keeping of the law, but because he was made right through his trust in God.

¹⁴ For if the promised inheritance is based on keeping the law, then the issue of trusting God is not necessary, and the promise is pointless.

¹⁵ For the law results in punishment[‡]—but if there's no law then it cannot be broken.

¹⁶ So the promise is based on trusting God. It is provided as a free gift, guaranteed to all the children of Abraham—not merely to those who follow the law,[§] but also to those who trust like Abraham, the father of us all.

¹⁷ As Scripture says, "I've made you the father of many nations."^{*} For in the presence of God, Abraham trusted in the God who makes the dead alive and speaks into existence what didn't previously exist.

¹⁸ Against all hope Abraham in hope trusted God, so he could become the father of many peoples, just as God had promised him: "This is how many descendants you'll have!"[†]

¹⁹ His trust in God didn't weaken even though he thought his body was practically dead (he was around a hundred years old), and knew that Sarah was too old to have children.

²⁰ He held on to God's promise—he didn't doubt it. Instead his trust in God grew stronger, and he gave glory to God.

²¹ He was totally convinced that what God had promised he had the power to deliver.

²⁴ They were for us too, those of us who will be considered as right, since we trust in God who raised our Lord Jesus from the dead.

²⁵ Jesus was handed over to die because of our sins,[§] and was raised to life to make us right.

[‡] 4:15 Punishment for law-breaking, which of course includes everyone. § 4:16 Paul is not saying here that those who obey the Mosaic law are consequently made right with God—he has already dealt with that issue. He is simply pointing out that those who are not following the Mosaic law are not excluded by God. ^{*} 4:17 Quoting Genesis 17:5. [†] 4:18 Referring to Genesis 15:5.

[‡] 4:23 Quoting Genesis 15:6. § 4:25 See Isaiah 53:4-5

¹ Now that we have been made right by God by trusting in him, we have peace with him through our Lord Jesus Christ.

² It's through Jesus, trusting in him, that we've gained access to this position of grace where we now stand, looking forward with happiness and confidence to sharing in God's glory.

³ Not only this—we also remain confident when problems come, because we know that experiencing problems develops spiritual stamina.*

⁵ Since we have this hope we're never disappointed, for God's love has been poured into us through the Holy Spirit he's given us.

⁶ When we were completely helpless, at just the right time Christ died for us ungodly people.

⁷ Who would die for anybody else, even someone who does what's right? (Though perhaps somebody would be brave enough to die for someone really good.)

⁸ But God demonstrates his love for us in that Christ died for us while we were still sinners.

⁹ Now that we are made right by his death,† we can be absolutely sure we'll be saved by him from the coming judgment.

¹⁰ While we were his enemies, God made us his friends through the death of his Son, and so we can be absolutely sure that he will save us through the life of his Son.

¹¹ In addition to this we now celebrate what God has done through our Lord Jesus Christ to reconcile us and make us his friends.

¹³ Even before the law was given, sin was in the world, however it wasn't counted as sin because there was no law.

¹⁴ But death still ruled from Adam until Moses, even over those who didn't sin in the same way as Adam did.

Now Adam prefigured the one to come.‡

¹⁵ But the gift of Jesus is not like the sin of Adam.§ Though many people died because of one man's sin, God's grace is so much greater and has been shared with so many through his gracious gift in the person of Jesus Christ.

¹⁶ The result of the gift is not like that of the sin. The result of Adam's sin was judgment and condemnation, but the gift sets us right with God, despite our many sins.

¹⁷ As a result of one man's sin, death ruled because of him. But God's grace is so much greater and his gift sets us right, for everyone who receives it will rule in life through the person of Jesus Christ!

¹⁸ Just as one sin brought condemnation on everyone, in the same way one right act gave everyone the opportunity to live right.

¹⁹ Just as through one man's disobedience many became sinners, in the same way through one man's obedience many are made right with God.

* 5:3 Or "endurance." † 5:9 Literally, "blood." ‡ 5:14 In other words, Adam was a symbol or type of Jesus who was to come. § 5:15 Supplying for clarity "of Jesus" and "of Adam," making explicit what is meant by gift and sin.

²⁰ When the law was introduced, sin became even more obvious. But while sin became much more obvious, grace became even more obvious!

²¹ Just as sin ruled us and brought us death, now grace rules by making us right with God, bringing us eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

6

¹ So what's our response? Should we continue to sin so we can have even more grace?

² Of course not!* Since we're already dead to sin, how can we continue to live in sin?

³ Don't you know that all of us who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death?

⁴ Through baptism we were buried with him in death so that just as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father we too can live a new life.

⁵ If we've become one with him in dying like he did, then we'll be raised like him too.

⁶ We know that our old self was crucified with him to dispose of the dead body of sin so that we wouldn't be enslaved by sin any longer.

⁷ Anyone who has died has been set free from sin.

⁸ Since we died with Christ, we have confidence that we will also live with him,

⁹ for we know that because Christ has been raised from the dead he won't ever die, because death has no longer any power over him.

¹⁰ In dying, he died to sin once and for all, but now he lives, and he lives for God!

¹¹ In just the same way you should consider yourselves dead to sin, but alive to God through Christ Jesus.

¹² Don't let sin have control over your mortal body, don't give in to its temptations,

¹³ and don't use any parts of your body as evil tools of sin. Instead dedicate yourselves to God as those who have been brought back from death to life, and use all parts of your body as tools to do something good for God.

¹⁴ Sin won't rule over you, because you're not under law but under grace.

¹⁵ So then, should we sin because we're not under law, but under grace? Of course not!

¹⁶ Don't you realize that if you make yourselves someone's slaves, obeying their orders, then you are slaves to the one you obey? If you are slaves of sin, the result is death; if you obey God, the result is you are made right with him.

¹⁷ Thank God that though you once were slaves to sin, you wholeheartedly chose to follow the truth about God that you learned.

¹⁹ I'm using this everyday example because your human thinking is limited. Just as you once enslaved yourselves to immorality, piling up sin upon sin, now you must enslave yourselves to what is pure and right.

* 6:2 Literally, "may it not be so!" This vigorous reaction is variously translated: Certainly not! By no means! God forbid! Also in 6:15 etc.

²⁰ When you were slaves to sin you were not required to do what's right.

²¹ But what were the results back then? Aren't you ashamed of the things you did? Such things that lead to death!

²² But now that you're set free from sin, and have become God's slaves, the results will be a pure life—and in the end, eternal life.

²³ The wage sin pays is death, but God's free gift is eternal life through Christ Jesus our Lord.

7

¹ Brothers and sisters, (I'm speaking here to people who know the law),* don't you see that the law has authority over someone only while they're alive?

² For example, a married woman is bound by the law to her husband while he's alive, but if he dies, she's released from this legal obligation to him.

³ So if she lives with another man while her husband is alive, she would be committing adultery. However, if her husband dies and then she marries another man, she wouldn't be guilty of adultery.

⁴ In the same way, my friends, you've become dead to the law through the body of Christ, and so now you belong to someone else—Christ, who was raised from the dead so that we could live a productive life† for God.

⁶ But now we've been set free from the law, and have died to what kept us in chains, so that we can serve in the newness of the spirit and not the old letter of the law.

⁷ So what do we conclude? That the law is sin? Of course not! I wouldn't have known what sin was unless the law defined it. I wouldn't have realized that wanting to have other people's things for myself was wrong without the law that says, "Don't desire for yourself what belongs to someone else."‡

⁸ But through this commandment sin found a way to stir up in me all kinds of selfish desires—for without law, sin is dead.

⁹ I used to live without realizing what the law really meant, but when I understood the implications of that commandment, then sin came back to life, and I died.

¹⁰ I discovered that the very commandment that was meant to bring life brought death instead,

¹² However, the law is holy, and the commandment is holy, right, and good.

¹⁴ We realize that the law is spiritual; but I'm all-too-human,§ a slave to sin.

* 7:1 Paul's use of the word for law can have various meanings, but usually refers to the whole system of Jewish belief. Much of this has to do with rule-keeping. † 7:4 Literally, "bear fruit for God." ‡ 7:7 Quoting Exodus 20:17 or Deuteronomy 5:21. § 7:14 Literally, "flesh."

¹⁵ I really don't understand what I'm doing. I do the things I don't want to do, and what I hate doing, that's what I do!

¹⁶ But if I'm saying that I do what I don't want to, this shows that I admit the law is good and right.

¹⁷ So it's no longer me who does this, but sin living in me—

¹⁸ for I know that there's nothing good in me as far as my sinful human nature is concerned. Even though I want to do good, I'm just not able to do it.

¹⁹ The good I want to do, I don't do; while the evil I don't want to do, that's what I end up doing!

²⁰ However, if I'm doing what I don't want to, then it's no longer me doing it, but sin living in me.

²¹ This is the principle I've discovered: if I want to do what's good, evil is always there too.

²² My inner self is delighted with God's law,

²³ but I see a different law at work within me that is at war with the law my mind has decided to follow, making me a prisoner of the law of sin that is within me.

²⁴ I'm totally miserable! Who will rescue me from this body that's causing my death? * Thank God—for he does this through Jesus Christ our Lord!

²⁵ Here's the situation: while I myself choose with my mind to obey God's law, my human nature obeys the law of sin.

8

² The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set me free from the law of sin and death.

³ What the law couldn't do because it was powerless due to our sinful nature, * God was able to do! By sending his own Son in human form, God dealt with the whole problem of sin † and destroyed sin's power in our sinful human nature.

⁴ In this way we could fulfill the good requirements of the law by following the Spirit and not our sinful nature.

⁵ Those who follow their sinful nature are preoccupied with sinful things, but those who follow the Spirit concentrate on spiritual things.

⁶ The sinful human mind results in death, but having the mind led by the Spirit results in life and peace.

⁷ The sinful human mind is hostile to God because it refuses to obey the law of God—in fact it never can,

⁸ and those who follow their sinful nature can never please God.

⁹ But you're not following your sinful nature, but the Spirit—if it's true that the Spirit of God is living in you. For those that don't have the Spirit of Christ in them don't belong to him.

¹⁰ However, if Christ is in you, even though your body is going to die because of sin, the Spirit gives you life because you're now right with God.

* 7:24 Literally, "body of death." * 8:3 "Sinful nature," Literally, "flesh," meaning the sinful, fallen, physical nature of humanity. This word is used frequently in the following verses in contrast to the spiritual nature. † 8:3 Or "by making a sacrifice of himself for sin."

¹¹ The Spirit of him who raised Jesus from the dead lives in you. He who raised Jesus from the dead will also give life to your dead bodies through his Spirit that lives in you.

¹² So brothers and sisters, we don't have to follow[‡] our sinful nature that operates according to our human desires.

¹³ For if you live under the control of your sinful nature, you're going to die. But if you follow the way of the Spirit, putting to death the evil things you do, then you will live.

¹⁴ All those who are led by the Spirit of God are God's children.

¹⁵ You were not given a spirit to enslave and terrify you once more. No, what you received was the spirit that makes you children in God's family. Now we can shout out, "God is our Father!"

¹⁶ The Spirit himself agrees with us[§] that we're God's children.

¹⁷ If we're his children, then we're his heirs. We are heirs of God, and heirs together with Christ. But if we want to share in his glory we must share in his sufferings.

¹⁸ Yet I'm convinced that what we suffer in the present is nothing compared to the future glory that will be revealed to us.

²⁰ For God allowed the purpose of creation to be frustrated.

²¹ But creation itself waits in hope for the time when it will be set free from the slavery of decay and share the glorious freedom of God's children.

²² We know that all creation groans with longing, suffering birth-pains even up till now.

²³ Not only creation, but we too, who have a foretaste of the Spirit, we groan inwardly as we wait for God to "adopt" us—the redemption of our bodies.

²⁴ For we were saved by hope. Yet hope that's already seen isn't hope at all. Who hopes for what they can already see?

²⁵ Since we're hoping for what we haven't yet seen, we wait for it patiently.

²⁶ Similarly the Spirit helps us in our weakness. We don't know how to speak with God, but the Spirit himself intercedes with and through us by groans that can't be put into words.

²⁷ The one who examines the minds of everyone knows the Spirit's motives,^{*} because the Spirit pleads God's cause on behalf of the believers.

²⁸ We know that in all things God works for the good of those who love him, those who he has called to be part of his plan.

²⁹ For God, choosing them in advance, set them apart to be like his Son, so that the Son would be the first of many brothers and sisters.

³⁰ Those that he chose, he also called; and those that he called, he also made right; and those that he made right, he also glorified.

³¹ So what's our response to all this? If God is for us, who can be against us?

³² God, who did not hold back his own Son, but gave him up for all of us, won't he also freely give us everything?

[‡] 8:12 Or "have no obligation to."

[§] 8:16 Literally, "our spirit."

^{*} 8:27 Or "the mind of the Spirit."

³³ Who can accuse God's special people of anything? It's God who sets us right,

³⁴ so who can condemn us? It's Christ Jesus who died—more importantly, who was raised from the dead—who stands at God's right-hand, presenting our case.

³⁵ Who can separate us from Christ's love? Can oppression, distress, or persecution? Or hunger, poverty, danger, or violence?

³⁶ Just as Scripture says, "For your sake we're in danger of being killed all the time. We're treated like sheep to be slaughtered."[†]

³⁷ No—in all that happens to us we're more than conquerors through him who loved us.

³⁸ I'm absolutely convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor devils, neither the present nor the future, nor powers,

³⁹ neither height nor depth, in fact nothing in all creation can separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

9

¹ I am in Christ, and what I say is true. I'm not lying! My conscience and the Holy Spirit confirm

² how terribly sad I am, how I have never-ending pain in my heart,

³ for my own people, my brothers and sisters. I would rather be cursed myself, separated from Christ, if that would help them.

⁴ They are my fellow-Israelites, God's chosen people. God revealed to them his glory and made agreements* with them, giving them the law, true worship, and his promises.

⁵ They are our forefathers—ancestors of Christ, humanly-speaking, the one who rules over everything, the eternally-blessed God. Amen.

⁶ It's not that God's promise has failed. For not every Israelite is a true Israelite,

⁷ and all those who are descended from Abraham are not his true children. For Scripture says, "Your descendants will be counted through Isaac,"[†]

⁸ so it's not Abraham's actual children who are counted as God's children, but only those children of God's promise who are considered his true descendants.

⁹ This is what the promise was: "I will return next year and Sarah will have a son."[‡]

¹⁰ In addition Rebecca's twin sons had the same father, our forefather Isaac.

¹¹ But even before the children were born, and before they'd done anything right or wrong, (so that God's purpose could continue, proving God's calling of people is not based on human performance),

¹² she was told, "The older brother will serve the younger one."[§]

¹³ As Scripture says, "I chose Jacob, but rejected Esau."^{*}

¹⁴ So what should we conclude? That God was unjust? Certainly not!

[†] 8:36 Quoting Psalms 44:22. * 9:4 Literally, "covenants." † 9:7 Quoting Genesis 21:12. ‡ 9:9 Quoting Genesis 18:10-14. § 9:12 Quoting Genesis 25:23. * 9:13 Quoting Malachi 1:2-3.

15 As he said to Moses, “I will be merciful to whoever I should show mercy, and I will have compassion on whoever I should show compassion.”†

16 So it does not depend on what we want, or our own efforts, but the merciful nature of God.

17 Scripture records God saying to Pharaoh: “I put you here for a reason—so that through you I could demonstrate my power, and so that my name could be made known throughout the earth.”‡

18 So God is merciful to those he wishes to be, and hardens the attitude of those he wants to.§

19 Now you'll argue with me and ask, “So why does he still blame us then? Who can resist the will of God?”*

20 That's no way to speak, for who are you—a mere mortal—to contradict God? Can something that is created say to its creator, “Why did you make me like this?”

21 Doesn't a potter have the right to use the same batch of clay to make both a decorative bowl and an everyday pot?†

22 It's as if God, wanting to demonstrate his opposition to sin‡ and to reveal his power, bears patiently with these “pots destined for destruction,”

23 so that he might reveal the greatness of his glory through these “pots of mercy” which he has prepared in advance for glory.

24 This is who we are—people he has called, not just from among the Jews, but from among the foreigners too...

25 As God said in the book of Hosea, “Those who are not my people I will call my people, and those who are not loved I will call the ones I love,”§

26 and, “It will happen that at the place where they were told, ‘You're not my people,’ there they will be called the children of the living God.”*

27 Isaiah cries out regarding Israel: “Even if the children of Israel have become as numerous as the sands of the sea, only a small number† will be saved.

28 For the Lord is going to quickly and completely finish his work of judgment on the earth.”‡

29 As Isaiah previously said, “If the Lord Almighty had not left us some descendants, we would have become just like Sodom and Gomorrah.”§

30 What shall we conclude, then? That even though the foreigners were not even looking to do right, they did grasp what is right, and through their trust in God did what was morally right.

31 But the people of Israel, who looked to the law to make them right with God, never succeeded.

† 9:15 Quoting Exodus 33:19. ‡ 9:17 Quoting Exodus 16. § 9:18 In the Old Testament, this expression is used to describe obstinate rejection of God, such as the experience of the Pharaoh of the Exodus. In Exodus 9 Pharaoh is variously described as choosing a stubborn attitude, or that God gave him a stubborn attitude, or in the passive that he had a stubborn attitude. So this verse in Romans should not be taken to mean that God deliberately hardens people's attitudes and then punishes them for it. The stubborn attitude is a rejection of divine grace. * 9:19 Quoting Isaiah 29:16; Isaiah 45:9. † 9:21 Literally, “pots of value and dishonor.” ‡ 9:22 Literally, “show anger.”

§ 9:25 Quoting Hosea 2:23. * 9:26 Quoting Hosea 1:10. † 9:27 Literally, “remnant.” ‡ 9:28 Quoting Isaiah 10:22-23. § 9:29 Quoting Isaiah 1:9.

³² Why not? Because they relied on what they did rather than trusting in God. They tripped on the stumbling-block,

³³ just as Scripture predicted: "Look, I'm placing in Zion a stumbling-block, a rock that will offend people. But those who trust in him won't be disappointed."*

10

¹ My brothers and sisters, my heart's desire—my prayer to God—is for the salvation of the people of Israel!

² I can testify to their passionate dedication to God, but it's not based on knowing him as he truly is.

³ They don't understand how God makes us right with him, and they try to make themselves right. They refuse to accept God's way of making people right.

⁴ For Christ is the fulfillment of the law. All those who trust in him are made right.

⁵ Moses wrote, "Whoever does what is right by obeying the law will live."*

⁶ But the attitude of doing right that comes from trust says this: "Don't ask 'who'll go to heaven?' (asking to bring Christ down),"

⁷ or " 'who'll go to the place of the dead?'† (asking to bring Christ back from the dead).‡

⁸ What Scripture actually says is: "The message is very close to you—it's what you talk about and what's in your mind."§ In fact it's this message based on trust that we're presenting.

⁹ For if you declare that you accept Jesus as Lord, and you are convinced in your mind that God raised him from the dead, then you will be saved.

¹⁰ Your trust in God makes you right and good, and your declaration of accepting God saves you.

¹¹ As Scripture says, "Those who trust in him will not be disappointed."*

¹² There's no difference between Jew and Greek—for the same Lord is Lord of everyone, and he gives generously to everyone who asks him.

¹³ For "everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved."†

¹⁴ But how can people call on someone they don't trust? How can they trust someone they haven't heard about? How can they hear unless they're told?

¹⁵ How can they go out and tell others unless they're sent? Just as Scripture says, "Those who come bringing the good news are truly welcome!"‡

¹⁶ But not everyone has accepted the good news. As Isaiah asks: "Lord, who trusted in the news they heard from us?"§

* 9:33 Combining Isaiah 28:16 and Isaiah 8:14. * 10:5 Quoting Leviticus 18:5. † 10:7 Literally, "the abyss," bottomless pit. ‡ 10:7 See Deuteronomy 30:12. § 10:8 These allusions are to Deuteronomy 30:11-14. They were originally applied to the law, and were to indicate that the law was not distant and unapproachable, clearly denying it was difficult to observe. Paul now applies this to the person of Christ, making it clear that this "message of the law" was fulfilled in him.

* 10:11 Quoting Isaiah 28:16. Disappointed: or "ashamed." † 10:13 Quoting Joel 2:32. ‡ 10:15 Quoting Isaiah 52:7. § 10:16 Quoting Isaiah 53:1.

¹⁷ Trusting in God comes from hearing—hearing the message of Christ.

¹⁸ It's not that they haven't heard. Quite the opposite: "The voices of those speaking for God* have been heard all over the earth—their message went out to the whole world."[†]

¹⁹ So my question is, "Didn't Israel know?" First of all Moses says, "I'll make you jealous by using people who aren't even a nation; I will make you angry by using ignorant foreigners!"[‡]

²⁰ Then Isaiah said it even more strongly: "I was found by people who weren't even looking for me; I revealed myself to people who weren't even asking for me."[§]

²¹ As God says to Israel, "All day long I reached out my hands to a disobedient and stubborn people."^{*}

¹ But then I ask, "Has God rejected his people?" Of course not! I'm an Israelite myself, from the tribe of Benjamin.

² God has not rejected his chosen people. Don't you recall what Scripture says about Elijah? How he complained about Israel to God, saying,

³ "Lord they've killed your prophets and destroyed your altars. I'm the only one left, and they're trying to kill me too!"

⁴ How did God answer him? "I still have seven thousand left who have not worshiped Baal."^{*}

⁶ And since it's through grace, then clearly it's not based on what people do, otherwise grace wouldn't be grace!

⁷ So what do we conclude? That the people of Israel didn't achieve what they were striving for—only the chosen, while the rest became hard-hearted.

⁸ As Scripture says, "God dulled their minds so their eyes could not see and their ears could not hear, to this very day."[†]

⁹ David adds, "May their feasts become a trap for them, a net that catches them, a temptation that brings punishment."

¹⁰ May their eyes become blind so they cannot see, and may their backs always be bent low in dejection."[‡]

¹¹ So am I saying that they stumbled and consequently failed completely? Not at all! But as a result of their mistakes, salvation came to other nations, to "make them jealous."

¹² Now if even their failure benefits the world, and their loss profits the foreigners, how much more beneficial it would be if they were to completely fulfill what they were meant to be.[§]

¹³ Now let me speak to you foreigners. Insofar as I'm a missionary to foreigners, I promote what I'm doing

¹⁴ that somehow I might make my people jealous and save some of them.

* 10:18 Implied. † 10:18 Quoting Psalms 19:4. ‡ 10:19 Quoting Deuteronomy 32:21. § 10:20 Quoting Isaiah 65:1. * 10:21 Quoting Isaiah 65:2. * 11:4 Quoting 1 Kings 19:10-18. † 11:8 Referencing either Deuteronomy 29:4; Isaiah 6:9-10; Isaiah 29:10. ‡ 11:10 Quoting Psalms 69:22-23. § 11:12 Implied.

¹⁵ If the result of God's rejection of them is that the world becomes God's friends, the result of God's acceptance of them would be like the dead coming back to life!

¹⁶ If the first part of the bread dough given as an offering is holy, then so is all the rest; if the roots of a tree are holy, then so are the branches.

¹⁷ Now if some of the branches have been broken off, and you—a wild olive shoot—have been grafted in, and have shared with them the benefit of nourishment from the olive tree's roots,

¹⁸ then you shouldn't look down on the other branches. If you're tempted to boast, remember it's not you who are supporting the roots, but the roots that are supporting you.

¹⁹ You could make the claim, "Branches were broken off so I could be grafted in."

²⁰ All well and good—but they were broken off because of their failure to trust in God, and you stay there because you trust in God. So don't think highly of yourselves, but be respectful,

²² You should recognize both God's kindness and toughness—he was tough on the fallen, but God is kind to you so long as you trust in his kindness—otherwise you'll be removed too.

²³ If they no longer refuse to trust in God, they can be grafted in as well, for God is able to graft them back in again.

²⁴ If you could be cut from a wild olive tree, and then be grafted artificially onto a cultivated olive tree, how much more easily they could be grafted back naturally to their own tree.

²⁵ I don't want you, my brothers and sisters to miss this previously-hidden truth, for otherwise you could become conceited. The people of Israel have become hard-hearted in part, until the process of the foreigners coming in is complete.

²⁶ This is how all Israel will be saved.* As Scripture says, "The Savior will come from Zion, and he will turn Jacob away from his opposition to God.

²⁷ My promise to them is that I'll take away their sins."[†]

²⁸ Though they are enemies of the good news—and this is to your benefit—they are still the chosen people, and loved because of their forefathers.

³⁰ At one time you disobeyed God, but now God has shown you mercy as a result of their disobedience.

³¹ In just the same way that they're now disobedient as you were, they will also be shown mercy like you received.

³² For God treated everyone as prisoners because of their disobedience so that he could be merciful to everyone.

³⁴ Who can know God's thoughts? Who can give him advice?[‡]

* 11:26 This is not teaching universal salvation, but that at this point the whole of Israel (that is made up of both foreigners and Jews who accept salvation through God's grace) will then be saved.

[†] 11:27 Combining Isaiah 59:20-21; Isaiah 27:9. [‡] 11:34 Quoting Isaiah 40:13.

³⁵ Who has ever given anything to God that God would be obliged to repay?[§]

³⁶ Everything comes from him, everything exists through him, and everything is for him. Glory to him forever, Amen!

¹ So I encourage you, my brothers and sisters, because of God's compassion* for you, to dedicate your bodies as a living offering that is holy and pleasing to God. This is the logical way to worship.

² Don't follow the ways of this world; instead be transformed by the spiritual renewal of your mind so you can demonstrate what God's will really is—good, pleasing, and perfect.

³ Let me explain to all of you, through the grace given to me, that no one should think of themselves better than they ought to. You should think about yourselves realistically, according to the degree of trust God has shared with you.

⁴ Just as there are many parts to the body, but they don't all do the same thing,

⁵ so we are one body in Christ, even though we are many—and we all belong to one another.

⁶ We each have different gifts that vary according to the grace given to us. So if it's speaking for God, then you should do so depending on how much you trust in God.

⁷ If it's the ministry of service then you should serve; if teaching then you should teach;

⁸ if encouragement then you should encourage; if giving then you should give generously; if leadership then you should lead with commitment; if being merciful then you should do so gladly.

⁹ Love must be genuine. Hate what is evil; hold on tightly to what is good.

¹⁰ Be completely dedicated to each other in your love as family; value others more than yourselves.

¹¹ Don't be unwilling to work hard; serve the Lord with an enthusiastic spirit.

¹² Remain cheerful in the hope you have, put up with the troubles that come, keep on praying.

¹³ Share in providing for the needs of God's people, and welcome strangers with hospitality.

¹⁴ Bless those who persecute you—bless them, and don't curse them.

¹⁶ Think about one another.[†] Don't consider yourself more important than others; live humbly. Don't be conceited.

¹⁷ Don't pay back anyone evil for evil. Make sure you show everybody that what you're doing is good, ¹⁸ and as far as it's up to you, live at peace with everyone.

¹⁹ My dear friends, don't seek revenge, but leave it to God to execute judgment[‡]—as Scripture points out, “ ‘It's for me to dispense justice, I will

[§] 11:35 Quoting Job 41:11. * 12:1 Or “mercy.” † 12:16 Or “Live in harmony with one another.”

[‡] 12:19 Literally, “give room to wrath.”

repay,' says the Lord."§

²⁰ If those who hate you are hungry, give them food; if they're thirsty, give them a drink; for by doing so you pile fiery coals on their heads.*

¹ Everyone should obey government authorities, because no one has the power to rule unless God gives permission. These authorities have been put there by God.

² Whoever resists the authorities opposes what God has put in place, and those who do so shall find themselves judged accordingly.

³ For rulers don't frighten those who do right, but those who do wrong. If you don't want to live in fear of the authorities, then do what is right, and you'll have their approval.

⁴ Those in power are God's servants, put there for your own good. If you do wrong, you should be frightened—it's not without reason that authorities have the power to punish! They are God's servants, punishing offenders.

⁶ That's why you have to pay taxes, for the authorities are God's servants taking care of such things.

⁷ Pay whatever you owe: taxes to the tax authorities, fees to the fee-collectors; give respect to those who should be respected, honor those who should be honored.

⁸ Don't owe anybody anything, except love for one another—for those who love their neighbor have kept the law.

⁹ "You must not commit adultery, you must not kill, you must not steal, you must not jealously want things for yourself"—these and the other commandments are summed up in the statement, "Love your neighbor as yourself."†

¹⁰ Love doesn't do wrong to anyone,‡ so love fulfils the law.

¹¹ You should do this because you realize how urgent the time is—that it's high time for you to wake up from your sleep. For salvation is closer to us now than when we first put our trust in God.

¹² The night is nearly over, the day is almost here! So let's get rid of our dark deeds and put on the armor of light.

¹³ Let's behave properly, showing that we're people who are living in the light. We shouldn't spend our time going to wild parties and getting drunk, or having affairs and acting immorally, or getting into fights and being jealous.

¹⁴ Instead put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and forget about following your sinful desires.

§ 12:19 Quoting Deuteronomy 32:35. * 12:20 Meaning they will be caused great embarrassment and shame. The quotation is from Proverbs 25:21-22. * 13:9 Literally, "covet." The quotation is from Exodus 20:13-17 or Deuteronomy 5:17-21. † 13:9 Quoting Leviticus 19:18. ‡ 13:10 Or "doesn't harm anyone."

14

³ Those who eat anything must not look down on those who won't, and those who won't eat must not criticize those who do—for God has accepted them both.

⁴ What right do you have to judge someone else's servant? It's their own master who decides whether they are right or wrong. With the Lord's help they will be able to take their stand for right.

⁵ Some people consider some days more important than others, while others consider each day the same. Everyone should be completely convinced in their own minds.

⁶ Those who respect a special day do so for the Lord; and those who eat without worrying[†] do so for the Lord since they give thanks to God; while those who avoid eating certain things do so for the Lord, and they also give thanks to God.

⁷ None of us live for ourselves, or die for ourselves.

⁸ If we live, we live for the Lord, or if we die, we die for the Lord—so whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord.

⁹ This was the reason Christ died and came back to life—so that he could be the Lord of both the dead and the living.

¹⁰ So why do you criticize your fellow-believer? Why do you despise your fellow-believer? For all of us will stand before God's throne of judgment.

¹¹ For the Scriptures say, “ ‘As surely as I am alive,’ the Lord says, ‘Every knee shall bow before me, and every tongue will declare that I am God.’ ”[‡]

¹³ Therefore let's not judge each other anymore, but decide to do this instead—we won't put obstacles in the way of fellow-believers, or cause them to fall.

¹⁴ I'm certain—persuaded by the Lord Jesus—that nothing in itself is ceremonially unclean. But if someone considers it to be unclean, to them it is unclean.

¹⁵ If your fellow-believer is hurt by you over matters of food, then you're no longer behaving in a loving way. Don't destroy someone for whom Christ died by the food you choose to eat.

¹⁶ Don't let the good things you do be misrepresented—

¹⁷ for God's kingdom is not about eating and drinking, but about living right, having peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.

¹⁸ Anyone who serves Christ in this way pleases God, and is appreciated by others.

¹⁹ So let's pursue the path of peace, and find ways to encourage each other.

²⁰ Don't destroy the work of God with arguments over food. Everything is clean—but it would be wrong to eat and offend others.

* 14:2 This is nothing to do with the issue of vegetarianism or diet, but with food offered to idols. (Similarly in 1 Corinthians 8.) [†] 14:6 Eating/not eating refers to whether it was right to eat food that had previously been offered to pagan idols. [‡] 14:11 See Isaiah 45:23.

²¹ It's better not to eat meat or drink wine or anything else that would cause your fellow-believer to stumble.

²² What you personally believe is between you and God. Happy are those who don't condemn themselves for doing what they think is right!

²³ But if you have doubts whether it's right or wrong to eat something, then you shouldn't, because you're not convinced it's right. Whatever isn't based on conviction [§] is sin.*

15

¹ Those of us who are spiritually strong ought to support those who are spiritually weak. We shouldn't just please ourselves.

² We should all encourage others to do what's morally right, building them up.

³ Christ didn't live to please himself, but as Scripture says of him, "The insults of those who abused you have fallen on me."*

⁴ These Scriptures were written down in the past to help us understand, and to encourage us so that we could wait patiently in hope.

⁵ May the God who gives patience and encouragement help you to be in full agreement among yourselves as you follow Christ Jesus,

⁶ so that you can with one mind and with one voice together glorify God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ!

⁸ I maintain that Christ came as a servant to the Jews[†] to show God tells the truth, keeping the promises he made to their forefathers.

⁹ He also came that foreigners could praise God for his mercy, as Scripture says, "Therefore I will praise you among the foreigners; I will sing praises to your name."[‡]

¹⁰ And also: "Foreigners, celebrate with his people!"[§]

¹¹ And again: "All you foreigners, praise the Lord, let all peoples praise him."*

¹² And again, Isaiah says, "Jesse's descendant will come to rule the nations, and foreigners will put their hope in him."[†]

¹³ May the God of hope completely fill you with all joy and peace as you trust in him, so that you will overflow with hope through the power of the Holy Spirit!

¹⁴ I'm convinced that you, my brothers and sisters, are full of goodness, and that you are filled with every kind of knowledge, so you are well able to teach one another.

¹⁵ I've been blunt in the way I have written to you about some of these things, but this is just to remind you. For God gave me grace

¹⁶ to be a minister of Christ Jesus to the foreigners, like a priest sharing God's good news, so that they could become an acceptable offering, made holy by the Holy Spirit.

[§] 14:23 Or "faith." * 14:23 Or "Sin is doing something you don't believe is right." * 15:3
 Quoting Psalms 69:9. [†] 15:8 Literally, "of circumcision." [‡] 15:9 Quoting Psalms 18:49. [§] 15:10
 Quoting Deuteronomy 32:43. * 15:11 Quoting Psalms 117:1. [†] 15:12 Quoting Isaiah 11:10.
 "Jesse's descendant." This refers to Jesse, the father of King David, who was the beginning of the royal line.

¹⁷ So even though I have something to boast about because of my service for God,

¹⁸ (I wouldn't dare talk about any of this except as Christ has done it through me), I have led foreigners to obedience through my teaching and demonstration,

¹⁹ through the power of signs and miracles done with the Holy Spirit's power. From Jerusalem all the way over to Illyricum, everywhere I've shared fully the good news of Christ.

²⁰ In fact I was keen to spread the good news in places that hadn't heard the name of Christ, so that I wouldn't be building on what others have done.

²¹ As Scripture says, "Those who haven't been told the good news will discover him, and those who haven't heard will understand."[‡]

²³ But now, as there's nowhere left here to work, and since I've looked forward to visiting you for many years,

²⁴ when I go to Spain I hope to see you when I pass through. Maybe you can give me some help for my journey once we've enjoyed some time together.

²⁵ At the moment I'm on my way to Jerusalem to help the believers there,

²⁶ because the believers in Macedonia and Achaia thought it was a good idea to send a contribution to the poor among the believers in Jerusalem.

²⁸ So once I've done this, and have safely delivered this contribution to them, I'll visit you on my way to Spain.

²⁹ I know that when I come, Christ will give us his full blessing.

³⁰ I want to encourage you, my brothers and sisters through our Lord Jesus Christ and through the love of the Spirit, to join together in praying hard for me.

³¹ Pray that I may be kept safe from the unbelievers in Judea. Pray that my work in Jerusalem will be welcomed by the believers there.

³² Pray that I will come to you with gladness, as God wills, so we can enjoy one another's company.

³³ May the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

² Please welcome her in the Lord, as believers should, and help her in whatever way she needs, because she has been a great help to many people, myself included.

³ Pass on my greetings to Prisca* and Aquila, my co-workers in Christ Jesus,

[‡] 15:21 Quoting Isaiah 52:15 [§] 15:27 Meaning that the foreigners are indebted to the Jews for sharing the good news of God. This particular instance applies specifically to the believers in Jerusalem, so the foreigners are happy to send a gift to help them. * 15:27 Implied. * 16:3 Called Priscilla in Acts 18:2. Also 1 Corinthians 16:19.

⁴ who risked their lives for me. It's not just me who is very thankful for them, but all the churches of the foreigners too.[†]

⁵ Please also give my greetings to the church that meets in their home. Pass on my best wishes to my good friend Epaphroditus, the first person to follow Christ in the province of Asia.

⁶ Give my greetings to Mary, who worked hard for you,

⁷ and also Andronicus and Junia, from my own country and fellow-prisoners. They are well-known among the apostles, and became followers of Christ before me.

⁸ Give my best to Ampliatus, my good friend in the Lord;

¹⁰ My greetings to Apelles, a trustworthy man in Christ. Greetings to Aristobulus's family,

¹¹ to my countryman Herodion, and to those from Narcissus' family who belong to the Lord.

¹² My best wishes to Tryphæna and Tryphosa, hard workers for the Lord, and to my friend Persis, who has done so much in the Lord.

¹³ Give my greetings to Rufus, an exceptional worker,[‡] and his mother—who I count as my mother too.

¹⁴ Greetings to Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the fellow-believers who are with them.

¹⁵ Best wishes to Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, Olympas, and to all the believers with them.

¹⁶ Greet one another affectionately. All the churches of Christ send their greetings to you.

¹⁷ Now I'm pleading with you my fellow-believers: watch out for those who cause arguments and confuse people about the teachings you learned. Stay away from them!

¹⁸ These people are not serving Christ our Lord but their own appetites, and by their smooth-talking and pleasant words they deceive the minds of unsuspecting people.

¹⁹ Everyone knows how faithful you are. This makes me really happy. However, I want you to be wise about what's good, and innocent of anything bad.

²⁰ The God of peace will soon break the power of Satan and make him subject to you. May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

²¹ Timothy my co-worker sends his greetings, as do Lucius, Jason, and Sosipater, my fellow-countrymen.

²² Tertius—who wrote down this letter—also sends you greetings in the Lord.

²³ My host Gaius, and the whole church here, send you greetings. Erastus the city treasurer, sends his best wishes, as does our fellow-believer Quartus.

²⁵ Now to him who can make you strong

Through the good news I share and the message of Jesus Christ,

[†] 16:4 Referring to the non-Jewish churches. [‡] 16:13 Or "one of God's special people." § 16:24 Early manuscripts do not have verse 24.

According to the mystery* of truth that has been revealed,
The mystery of truth, hidden for eternity,
²⁶ now made visible;
Through the prophets' writings, and
Following the command of the eternal God,
The mystery of truth is made known to everyone everywhere so they can trust and obey him;
²⁷ To the one and only wise God,
Through Jesus Christ—
To him be glory for ever. Amen.[†]

* 16:25 "Mystery," a term referring to secret truth or a secret plan known only to religious believers. Also verse 26. † 16:27 These last verses seem to be a poem or a song, so are set out in this form.

First Corinthians

¹ This letter comes from Paul, called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ according to the will of God, and from Sosthenes, our brother.

² It is sent to the church of God in Corinth, those who are being made right in Christ Jesus, called to live holy lives—and to everyone who worships the Lord Jesus Christ everywhere, the Lord both of them and of us.

³ May you have grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

⁴ I'm always thanking God for you because of the grace of God given to you in Christ Jesus.

⁵ Through him you have been made rich in everything, in all that you say and every aspect of what you know.

⁶ In fact the testimony of Christ was proved valid in your experience,

⁷ so that you're not missing any spiritual gift as you wait for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁸ He will also keep you strong to the very end, so you will be kept right until the day of the Lord Jesus Christ.

⁹ God is trustworthy who called you to share together in fellowship with his son Jesus Christ our Lord.

¹⁰ Brothers and sisters, I plead with you in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ that you all agree and that you're not divided. Instead develop a united attitude and purpose.

¹¹ For I have been told things about you, my brothers and sisters, by some of Chloe's people—that you are quarreling among yourselves.

¹² Let me explain what I mean. You're all making different claims: "I follow Paul," or "I follow Apollos," or "I follow Peter," or "I follow Christ."

¹³ Is Christ divided? Did Paul die on a cross for you? Was it in the name of Paul that you were baptized?

¹⁴ I'm grateful to God that I didn't baptize any of you, except Crispus and Gaius, ¹⁵ so nobody can claim they were baptized in my name.

¹⁶ (Oh, and I also baptized the Stephanas family—I can't think of anyone else.)

¹⁷ For Christ didn't send me out to baptize, but to spread the good news, and not with eloquent human wisdom, otherwise the cross of Christ would be made powerless.*

¹⁸ For the message of the cross is nonsense to those who are lost, but it's the power of God to those of us who are saved.

¹⁹ As Scripture says, "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will wipe out the cleverness of the clever."†

²⁰ So how about the wise, the writers, and the philosophers of this age? Hasn't God turned the wisdom of this world into foolishness?

²¹ Since God in his wisdom allowed the world in its wisdom not to know God, it was God's gracious plan that by the foolishness of the good news those who trusted in him would be saved.

* 1:17 Or "ineffectual." Literally, "emptied." † 1:19 Probably referencing Isaiah 29:14.

²² The Jews ask for miraculous signs, and Greeks look for wisdom,
²³ but our message is of Christ killed on a cross—offensive to the Jews, and foolishness to the foreigners.

²⁴ However, for those who are called by God, both Jews and foreigners, Christ is the power of God and the wisdom of God.

²⁵ For the foolishness of God is wiser than we are; and the weakness of God is stronger than we are.

²⁶ Brothers and sisters, remember your calling—and that this did not include many who are wise, humanly speaking; not many who are powerful; not many who are important.

²⁷ Instead God chose the things the world considers foolish to humiliate those who think they are wise. He chose the things the world considers weak to humiliate those who think they are strong.

²⁸ He chose the things that are unimportant and despised by the world, even things that are not, to bring to nothing the things that are,[‡]

²⁹ so that nobody should boast in God's presence.

³⁰ It's because of him that you live in Christ Jesus, who God made to be wisdom for us. He sets us right, keeps us right, and frees us.

³¹ So as Scripture says, "Whoever wants to boast, let them boast in the Lord."[§]

2

¹ Brothers and sisters, when I came to you I didn't try to impress you with wonderful words or great wisdom when I told you what God had to say to you.

² I decided that while I was with you I didn't want to concentrate on anything except Jesus Christ, and that he was crucified.

³ I came to you in weakness, fearful and trembling.

⁴ I didn't speak to you with persuasive words of wisdom to convince you. I just explained it all to you through the evidence and power of the Spirit.

⁶ However, we do use words of wisdom when we speak to those who are spiritually mature, but this isn't wisdom that comes from this world, or from the rulers of this world who soon fade from the scene.

⁷ On the contrary we explain God's wisdom in terms of a revealed mystery* that was previously hidden which God planned for our glory before the creation of the worlds.

⁸ None of the rulers of this world understood anything about this—for if they had, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

⁹ But as Scripture says, "No one has ever seen, and no one has ever heard, and no one has ever imagined what God has prepared for those who love him."[†]

[‡] 1:28 This complicated verse is really saying that God uses things and people not viewed as important by this world to demonstrate what really is important. [§] 1:31 Referencing Jeremiah 9:23. * 2:7 When the word mystery is used in the New Testament it is normally referring to a revealed mystery—particularly in reference to God becoming human in the person of Jesus Christ.

[†] 2:9 From Isaiah 64 and Isaiah 65.

¹⁰ But God has revealed this to us through the Spirit, because the Spirit delves into the depths of God.

¹¹ Who knows anyone's thoughts except the actual person?[‡] In the same way no one knows God's thoughts except the Spirit of God.

¹² For we have received the Spirit from God, not the spirit of this world, so that we could understand what God so generously gave us.

¹³ That's what we speak about—not using words taught by human wisdom, but what the Spirit teaches. We explain what is spiritual using spiritual terms.

¹⁴ Of course people who are not spiritual don't accept what comes from God's Spirit. It's just foolish nonsense to them, and they can't understand it, because what is spiritual has to be properly examined.

¹⁵ People who are spiritual investigate everything, but are not placed under investigation themselves.[§]

¹⁶ For “who understands the Lord's mind, and would think to instruct him?”^{*} But we do have Christ's mind!

3

¹ My brothers and sisters, I couldn't talk^{*} with you as spiritual believers, but as worldly people—like baby Christians.

² I gave you milk—I couldn't give you solid food to eat, because you weren't ready for it.

³ Even now you're not ready for it, because you're still worldly. Since you're still jealous and argumentative, doesn't that show you're worldly, behaving just like ordinary people do?

⁵ Who is Apollos, anyway? And who is Paul? We're just servants through whom you believed. Each of us does the work God gave us to do.

⁶ I did the planting, Apollos did the watering—but it was God who made you grow!

⁷ So the one who does the planting doesn't count for anything, any more than the one who does the watering. The only one who matters is God who is growing you!

⁸ The one planting and the one watering have the same goal, and both will be rewarded according to what they've done.

⁹ We are workers together with God—and you are God's field, his building.

¹⁰ Through the grace of God that he gave to me, I laid down the foundation like a skilled building supervisor. Now someone else is building on it. Whoever does the building needs to watch what they're doing.

¹¹ For no one can lay any other foundation than what's already laid—that is Jesus Christ.

[‡] 2:11 Literally, “who among men knows the things of a man except the spirit of the man that is in him?” [§] 2:15 “Investigate/investigation”—the same word is used in the original, and can also mean to examine or to judge. It is also related to the word translated “examined” in verse 14. English does not capture the subtlety of the original. ^{} 2:16 Quoting Isaiah 40:13. ^{} 3:1 Presumably while he was visiting them previously.

¹² Those who build on that foundation may use gold, silver, precious stone, wood, hay, or straw—

¹³ but whatever is used to build with will be exposed. For on the Day of Judgment fire will reveal it and test it. Everyone's work will be shown for what it is.

¹⁴ Those whose building survives will be rewarded.

¹⁵ Those whose building is burned up will lose out. They will still be saved, but it will be like passing through fire!

¹⁶ Don't you know you are God's temple and that God's Spirit lives in you?

¹⁷ Anyone who destroys God's temple will be destroyed by God, for God's temple is holy, and you are the temple.

¹⁸ Don't deceive yourselves. If there's anyone of you who thinks they're worldly wise, they should become fools so they can become truly wise!

¹⁹ This world's wisdom is plain foolishness to God. As Scripture says, "He uses the cleverness of the wise to catch them out,"[†]

²⁰ and "The Lord knows the arguments of the wise are pointless."[‡]

²¹ So don't boast about people. For you have everything,

²² whether it's Paul or Apollos or Peter—or the world, or life, or death, or the present, or the future. You have everything—

²³ and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

4

² More than this, those who have such responsibilities are required to be trustworthy.

³ Personally it hardly matters to me if you or anyone else judges me—in fact I don't even judge myself.

⁴ I don't know of anything I've done wrong, but that doesn't make me morally right. It's the Lord who judges me.

⁵ So don't judge anything before the right time—when the Lord comes. He will bring to light all the darkest secrets that are hidden, and he will reveal people's motives. God will give everyone whatever praise they deserve.

⁶ Now, brothers and sisters, I have applied this to Apollos and myself as an example for you. That way you will learn not to go beyond what has been written, and not in arrogance prefer one over the other.[†]

⁷ Who made you so special? What do you have that you weren't given? Since you were given it, why do you proudly claim you weren't?

⁸ You think you have all you need. You think you're so wealthy. You think you're kings already, and don't need us.[‡] I wish you were really ruling as kings, so we could rule with you!

⁹ The way I see it, God has put us apostles on display as the last in the line, condemned to die. We have been made a public show before the entire universe, to angels and to human beings.

[†] 3:19 Quoting Job 5:13. [‡] 3:20 Quoting Psalms 94:11. ^{*} 4:1 Again, in the NT mysteries are the revealed truths of God. [†] 4:6 The meaning of original is debated. This is shown in the many differences in translations. [‡] 4:8 Literally, "without us."

¹⁰ We're Christ's fools, but you are so wise in Christ! We're the weak ones, but you are so strong! You have the glory, but we are despised!§

¹¹ Right up till now we're hungry and thirsty. We have no clothes. We're badly beaten up, and we have no place to call home.

¹² We struggle on doing manual work. When people curse us, we bless them. When they persecute us, we put up with it.

¹⁴ I'm not writing like this to make you feel ashamed, but to caution you as my children whom I love so much.

¹⁵ Even though you may have thousands of Christian instructors, you don't have many fathers—it was in Christ Jesus that I became your father when I shared the good news with you.

¹⁶ So I'm pleading with you to imitate me!

¹⁷ That's why I sent Timothy to you, my trustworthy son in the Lord who I love so much. He will remind you about the way I follow Christ, just as I always teach in every church I visit.

¹⁸ Some among you have become arrogant, thinking I wouldn't bother coming to see you.

¹⁹ But I am coming to visit you soon, if that's what the Lord wants. Then I'll find out what these arrogant people are saying, and what kind of power they have.

²⁰ For the kingdom of God is not about mere words, but about power.

²¹ So what do you want? Shall I come with a stick to beat you, or in love and a gentle spirit?

5

² You are so proud of yourselves! Shouldn't you have wept with sadness, and excluded the man who did this?

³ Even though I'm not physically present there, I am there in spirit and just as if I were there I've already made my judgment of the one who has done this.

⁴ When you meet together in the name of the Lord Jesus I'll be there with you in spirit and with the power of our Lord Jesus.

⁵ Hand over this man to Satan so his sinful nature may be destroyed and he himself be saved on the day of the Lord.*

⁶ You shouldn't be proud about this. Don't you know that it only takes a little yeast to make the whole batch of dough rise?†

⁷ Get rid of this old yeast so that you can be a new batch of dough to make bread without yeast. Christ our Passover lamb has been sacrificed.

§ 4:10 From the context Paul appears to be speaking rather ironically. * 5:5 This is not to suggest that Satan "cooperates" in the salvation process. This "handing over to Satan" is figurative language that is meant to indicate that the one involved is allowed to experience the consequences of his sin so that he may choose to return and be saved. † 5:6 In other words, it only takes a small amount of sin to infect the whole church.

⁸ So let us celebrate this festival[‡], not with old yeast or the yeast of evil and wickedness, but with the bread made without yeast, the bread of sincerity and truth.

¹⁰ I wasn't referring to the immoral people of this world, those who are greedy and cheat others, or those who worship idols, otherwise you'd have to leave this world!

¹¹ What I meant when I wrote was that you shouldn't associate with anyone who is called a Christian who is immoral or greedy or worships idols; or who is abusive or a drunkard or who cheats others. Don't even share a meal with anyone like that!

¹² It's not my place to judge those outside the church. But shouldn't you judge those who are inside the church?

¹³ God judges those that are outside the church. "Expel the wicked from among you."[§]

6

¹ How dare any of you file a lawsuit before pagan judges if you have a dispute with your neighbor! Instead you should bring this before other believers.

² Don't you know that Christian believers will judge the world? If you're going to judge the world, are you not fit to judge in the most minor cases?

³ Don't you know we are going to judge angels? How much more those things that relate to this life!

⁴ So if you have to judge things that relate to this life, how can you go to judges that are not respected by the church?*

⁵ I'm trying to shame you by saying this. What? You can't find one wise person among you who can settle a dispute that you have?

⁷ The very fact you have lawsuits against each other already is a complete disaster. Wouldn't it be better to accept the injustice? Why not let yourselves be defrauded?

⁸ But you would rather cause injustice and defraud even your fellow-believers in church.

¹⁰ thieves, greedy, drunkards, abusers, or cheats, will not inherit the kingdom of God.

[‡] 5:8 At the time of the Passover the Jews ate bread made without yeast, and threw out all the yeast from their homes. Paul is using this imagery to say that the yeast of sin needs to be removed just as the symbol of sin (yeast) was removed at the time of the sacrifice of the Passover. § 5:13 This is a quotation from Deuteronomy, repeated in several places: Deuteronomy 13:5, Deuteronomy 17:7, Deuteronomy 19:19, Deuteronomy 22:24, Deuteronomy 24:7. * 6:4 Or "why not choose judges from the least respected members of the church?"

¹¹ Some of you were once like that, but you have been made clean and holy. You have been made right in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, and in the Spirit of our God.

¹² People say, "I'm free to do anything"—but not everything is appropriate! "I'm free to do anything"—but I will not let anything control me! People say,

¹³ "Food for the stomach, and the stomach for food"—but God will destroy both of them. Also, the body is not meant to be used for immorality, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

¹⁴ By his power God raised the Lord from the dead, and he will raise us up the same way.[†]

¹⁵ Don't you know your bodies are parts of Christ's body? Should I take the parts of Christ's body and join them to a prostitute? Absolutely not!

¹⁶ Don't you realize that anyone who has sex with a prostitute becomes "one body" with her? Remember that Scripture says, "The two will become one body."[‡]

¹⁸ Stay away from sexual immorality! All other sins that people commit are outside of the body, but sexual immorality is a sin against your own body.

¹⁹ Don't you know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit that is within you, that you received from God?

²⁰ You don't belong to yourself—a price was paid for you! So glorify God in your body!

7

² However, because of the temptation to sexual immorality, it is better that each man have his own wife, and each woman her own husband.

⁴ The wife's body doesn't just belong to her, but her husband; and similarly the husband's body doesn't just belong to him but his wife.

⁵ So don't deprive each other, except by mutual consent for a while—for example because you want to spend time in prayer. Afterwards be together again so that Satan won't tempt you to sin because of your lack of self-control.

⁶ I'm telling you this not as a command, but as a concession.

⁷ However, I wish that everyone was like me, but each person has their own gift from God—one has this gift, one has another.

⁸ To those who are not yet married, or who are widowed, I would say it is better if they remain like me.

⁹ But if they lack self-control, then they should get married—for it is better to marry than burn with desire.

¹⁰ These are my instructions to those who are married—in fact not from me but the Lord: The wife should not leave her husband

[†] 6:14 Referring to raising up the body, continuing the subject of the discussion. [‡] 6:16 Quoting

Genesis 2:24. ^{*} 7:1 It seems that some in Corinth were single and the church was writing to ask if this was permissible.

¹¹ (or if she does, she should not re-marry, or she should return to her husband); and the husband should not leave his wife.[†]

¹² Now, to the rest of you, (and this is me speaking, not the Lord), I would say, “If a Christian man has a non-Christian wife and she is willing to stay with him, he should not leave her.

¹³ And if a Christian woman has a non-Christian husband, and he is willing to stay with her, she should not leave her husband.”

¹⁵ However, if the non-Christian spouse leaves, let them leave. In such cases the Christian man or woman is not slavishly bound, for God has called us to live in peace.

¹⁶ Wives, who knows? You may save your husband! Husbands, who knows? You may save your wife!

¹⁷ Apart from such cases, each of you should remain in the situation that the Lord has placed you, and continue to live the life to which God has called you. That's my instruction to all the churches.

¹⁸ Were you circumcised when you were converted? Don't become uncircumcised. Were you uncircumcised when you were converted? Don't become circumcised.

¹⁹ Circumcision doesn't mean anything, and uncircumcision doesn't mean anything. Keeping the commandments of God is what really matters.

²⁰ Everyone should remain in the position they were in when they were called.[§]

²¹ If you were a slave when you were called, don't worry—though if you have an opportunity to become free, take it.

²² If you were a slave when the Lord called you, you are now free, working for the Lord. In the same way if you were called when you were free, you are now Christ's slave!

²³ A price has been paid for you, so don't become a slave to anyone.

²⁴ Brothers and sisters, remain in the position you were in when you were called, living with God.

²⁵ Now about “people who are not married,”* I don't have a specific instruction from the Lord, so let me give you my opinion as someone who by the Lord's mercy is considered trustworthy.

²⁶ Because of the present difficult situation we are in I think it is best to just stay as you are.

²⁷ Are you already married? Don't try to get divorced. Are you unmarried? Don't look to get married.

[†] 7:11 One particular problem in the early church was of one spouse becoming Christian, and how then to relate to the non-Christian spouse. This seems to be what is addressed here. [‡] 7:14 Paul is not saying here that being married to a Christian the non-Christian spouse therefore becomes a Christian or experiences salvation. He is concerned to address the issue that by being married to a non-Christian spouse in some way “defiles” the marriage or the Christian in the relationship. That this is the real issue is made clear concerning children of such a marriage—they are also not “impure” but they are “holy,” and this is not any reference to the actual spiritual state of the children. [§] 7:20 “Called”—in other words, conversion. * 7:25 Literally, “virgins.” Paul here continues discussing the issues that the Corinthian church has raised. See 7:1.

²⁸ If you do get married, you haven't sinned. If an unmarried woman gets married, she hasn't sinned. But you will have many troubles in this current world and I would want to spare you these.

²⁹ I'm telling you, brothers and sisters, that time is short, and from now on for those who are married it may seem as if they are not married,

³⁰ and those who weep as if they did not weep, and those that celebrated as if they had not celebrated, and those that bought as if they did not own,

³¹ and those who are engaged with the world as if it is not fulfilling—for the present world order is passing away.[†]

³² I would prefer you to be free from such worries. A man who is not married pays attention to what is important to the Lord, and how he can please the Lord.

³³ But a man who is married pays attention to what is important in this world, and how he can please his wife.

³⁴ As a result his loyalties are divided. Similarly an unmarried woman or girl pays attention to what is important to the Lord, so she may live a life dedicated both in body and spirit. But a married woman pays attention to what is important in this world, and how she can please her husband.

³⁵ I'm telling you this for your benefit. I'm not trying to put a noose around your neck, but to show you the right thing to do so you can serve the Lord without being distracted.

³⁶ But if a man thinks he's behaving improperly with the woman he's engaged to, and if he thinks he will give in to his strong sexual desire, and if he thinks he ought to get married, he is not sinning by getting married.

³⁷ But if a man stays true to his principles, and there is no obligation to marry, and has the power to keep his feelings under control and stay engaged to her, he does well not to marry.

³⁸ So the man who marries the woman he's engaged to does well, while the one who does not get married does better.

³⁹ A wife is bound to her husband as long as he lives. But if her husband dies,[‡] she is free to marry whoever she wants in the Lord.[§]

⁴⁰ But in my opinion she would be happier if she didn't re-marry—and I think I too have the Spirit of God when I say this.

8

¹ Now about “food sacrificed to idols.”^{*} So “we all have knowledge” about this subject. Knowledge makes us proud, but love strengthens us.

² If anyone thinks they know anything, they don't know as they really should know!

³ But whoever loves God is known by God...

⁴ So regarding eating food sacrificed to idols: we know that there are no such things as idols in the world, and that there is only one real God.

⁵ Even though there are some things called “gods,” whether in heaven or on earth—in fact there are many “gods” and “lords.”

[†] 7:31 In this long sentence Paul indicates that even marriage must be related to contemporary events (“time is short”). Living under persecution, expecting the end of all things, means that even marriage is viewed differently, along with everything else. [‡] 7:39 The word used here means

“to fall asleep,” the usual New Testament expression for death. [§] 7:39 Meaning it must be a marriage between two Christians. ^{*} 8:1 Paul continues answering the issues the Corinthians have raised.

⁶ But for us there is only one God, the Father; from whom everything was made, and he is the goal of our existence; and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom everything was made, and he is the means of our existence.[†]

⁷ But not everyone has this “knowledge.”[‡] Some who up to now have been so used to idols as a reality that when they eat food sacrificed to an idol, their conscience (which is weak) tells them they have defiled themselves.

⁸ But food doesn't gain us God's approval! If we don't eat this food, we're not bad, and if we do eat this food, we're not good.

⁹ Just take care not to use this freedom you have to eat food sacrificed to idols to become offensive to those with a weaker attitude.

¹⁰ If another believer sees you who have such “better knowledge”[§] eating food in an idol temple, won't his weak conscience be convinced to eat food sacrificed to idols?*

¹¹ By your “better knowledge” the weaker believer is destroyed, a believer for whom Christ died.

¹² In this way you sin against other believers, wounding their weaker consciences, and you sin against Christ.

¹³ So if eating food sacrificed to idols would cause my fellow believer to stumble, I will never eat such meat ever again, so that I don't offend any believer.

9

¹ Am I not free? Am I not an apostle? Haven't I seen Jesus our Lord? Aren't you the results of my work in the Lord?

² Even if I'm not an apostle to others, at least I am one to you. The proof of my being an apostle of the Lord is you!

³ Here is my reply to those who question me about this:

⁴ Don't we have the right to be provided with food and drink?

⁵ Don't we have a right to be accompanied by a Christian wife, like the rest of the apostles, the Lord's brothers, and Peter?

⁶ Is it only Barnabas and myself who have to work to support ourselves?*

⁷ Which soldier ever had to pay his own salary? Who plants a vineyard and doesn't get to eat its fruits? Who feeds a flock and doesn't consume its milk?

⁸ Am I just speaking from a human point of view? Doesn't the law say the same thing?

⁹ In the law of Moses it's written, “Don't muzzle the ox when it's threshing out the grain.”[†] Was God just thinking about oxen?

[†] 8:6 This is a complex verse the meaning of which is much debated. It is seen as an early “creed” or declaration, identifying God as Creator and Re-creator; the focus of our lives. It literally says, “But to us one God the Father; from whom the all and we into him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom the all and we through him.” [‡] 8:7 Paul takes issue with this knowledge being misapplied, as seen in verse 10 when it could be seen as being proud and arrogant. [§] 8:10 See under 8:7.

* 8:10 In other words, deciding to follow another's example, while still believing it is a sin. *

^{9:6} The original is given in terms of a double negative. The suggestion is that only Paul and Barnabas are not given the privilege of not having to work. [†] 9:9 Quoting Deuteronomy 25:4.

¹⁰ Wasn't he directing this at us? Surely this was written for us—for anyone who plows should plow in hope and anyone who threshes should hope to share in the harvest.

¹¹ If we sowed what is spiritual with you, does it really matter if we reap some material benefit?

¹² If others exercise this right over you, don't we deserve it even more? Even so we did not exercise this right. On the contrary we would rather put up with anything than hold back the gospel of Christ.

¹⁴ In just the same way the Lord ordered that those who announce the good news should live from supporters of the good news.

¹⁵ But I have not made use of any of these provisions, and I'm not writing about this to suggest it should be done in my case. I'd rather die than to have anyone take away my pride in not having received any benefit.

¹⁶ I have nothing to boast about in sharing the good news because it's something I feel compelled to do. In fact it's dreadful for me if I don't share the good news!

¹⁷ If I'm doing this work because of my own choice, then I have a reward. But if it wasn't my choice, and an obligation was placed on me,

¹⁸ then what reward do I have? It's the opportunity to share the good news without charging for it, not demanding my rights as a worker for the good news.

¹⁹ Even though I am free and serve no one, I have placed myself in service to everyone so that I might gain more.

²⁰ To the Jews I behave like a Jew so that I might win Jews. To those who are under the law I behave as someone under the law (even though I am not obligated under the law), so that I might win those under the law.

²¹ To those who don't operate according to the law,[‡] I behave like them, (though not disregarding God's law, but operating under the law of Christ), so that I might gain those who don't observe the law.

²² To those who are weak,[§] I share in their weakness so that I may win the weak. I have ended up being "everyman" to everyone so that by using every possible means I might win some!

²⁴ Wouldn't you agree that there are many runners in a race, but only one gets the prize? So run your best, so you may win!

²⁵ Every competitor who participates in the games maintains a strict training discipline. Of course they do so to win a crown that doesn't last. But our crowns will last forever!

²⁶ That's why I run straight in the right direction. I fight accurately, not punching the air.

²⁷ I also treat my body severely to bring it under my control, for I don't want somehow to be disqualified after sharing the good news with everybody else.

[‡] 9:21 Meaning those who are not Jews, who do not observe the law of Moses. [§] 9:22 Probably referring to the "weaker believer" issue mentioned in 8:7 and on.

¹ Now I want to explain this to you, brothers and sisters. Our forefathers lived under the cloud, and they all passed through the sea.*

² Symbolically then they were baptized “into Moses” in the cloud and in the sea.

³ They all ate the same spiritual food

⁴ and drank the same spiritual drink, for they “drank from a spiritual rock” that accompanied them. That rock was Christ.

⁵ However, God wasn't happy with most of them, and they perished in the desert.

⁶ Now these experiences are examples to us to show us we should not desire what is evil, as they did.

⁷ You must not worship idols, as some of them did, as it's recorded in Scripture: “The people feasted and drank, and indulged in pagan worship.”†

⁸ We must not commit sexual sins, as some of them did, and as a result 23,000 died in one day.

⁹ Nor should we push God to the limit, as some of them did, and were killed by snakes.

¹⁰ Don't complain at God, as some did, and died at the hands of the destroying angel.

¹¹ All the things that happened to them are examples to us and were written down to warn us, we who are living close to the end of time.

¹² So if you think you're strong enough to stay standing—be careful you don't fall!

¹³ You won't experience any greater temptation than anyone else, and God is trustworthy. He won't allow you to be tempted more than you can bear, and when you are tempted, he will provide for you a way out so you can stay strong.

¹⁴ So my good friends, stay away from idol worship.

¹⁵ I'm talking to sensible people, so you decide whether I'm telling the truth.

¹⁶ When we give thanks for the cup we use in the Lord's Supper, don't we share in the blood of Christ? When we break the communion bread, don't we share in the body of Christ?

¹⁷ By eating from one loaf of bread, we show that even though we are many, we are one body.

¹⁸ Look at the people of Israel. Don't those who eat the sacrifices made on the altar share together?

¹⁹ What am I saying then? That anything sacrificed to idols means anything, or that an idol has any real existence? Of course not!

²⁰ The pagans are sacrificing to demons, and not to God. I don't want you to have anything to do with demons!

²¹ You can't drink the Lord's cup as well as the cup of demons; you can't eat from the Lord's table as well as the table of demons.

²² Are we trying to make the Lord jealous? Are we stronger than he is?

²³ Some say, “I'm free to do anything”—but not everything is appropriate! “I'm free to do anything”—but not everything is constructive!‡

²⁴ You shouldn't look out for yourself, but for your neighbor.

* 10:1 The cloud of God's presence, and the passage through the Red Sea. † 10:7 See Exodus 32:6. ‡ 10:23 See 6:12.

²⁵ Eat whatever is sold in the market without asking questions because of your conscience,[§]

²⁶ for “the earth and everything in it belong to God.”*

²⁷ If a non-Christian invites you to a meal, and you feel like going, eat whatever you are served, without asking questions because of your conscience.

²⁸ But if someone tells you, “This food has been sacrificed to idols,” don’t eat it for the sake of the one who mentioned it and for conscience’ sake.

²⁹ His conscience I mean, not yours. For why should my freedom be determined by someone else’s conscience?[†]

³⁰ If I choose to eat with thankfulness, why should I be criticized for eating what I’m thankful to God for?

³¹ So whether you eat or drink or whatever you do, make sure to do everything to the glory of God.

³² Don’t cause offense, whether it’s to Jews or Greeks or the church of God—

³³ just as I try to please everybody in all I do. I don’t think of what benefits me, but what benefits others, so that they may be saved.

² I’m grateful that you always remember me and that you are keeping to the teachings just as I passed them on to you.

³ I do want you to understand that Christ is the head of every man, the man is the head of the woman, and God is the head of Christ.*

⁶ If a woman’s head is not covered, then she should have her head shaved. If it’s scandalous for a woman to be shorn or shaven, then she should have her head covered.

⁷ A man shouldn’t cover his head, because he is the image and glory of God, while the woman is the glory of the man.

⁸ Man didn’t come from woman, but woman came from man;

⁹ and man was not created for the woman, but the woman was created for the man.

¹⁰ That’s why the woman should have this sign of authority on her head out of respect for the watching angels.[‡]

§ 10:25 This refers back to the issue of food sacrificed to idols

24:1 † 10:29 This question seems to be at odds with the previous verse. Paul is arguing for tolerance—both of the one who is offended at eating meat sacrificed to idols, and the other who sees no problem with it since the “gods” of idols do not exist. * 10:26 Quoting Psalms in this context is much discussed. In Scripture “head” can have to do with “origin,” “source,” or “authority.” † 11:10 As many commentators note, this is one of the most difficult verses in the New Testament to understand and translate. Some understand the “authority” as the head covering demonstrating the woman is respectable and has a position in relationship to man. Others see this as an “authority” to speak and prophesy, since this would not normally be a woman’s role in this society. There are many other interpretations of this, as well as of the phrase literally translated “because of the angels.”

¹¹ Even so, from the Lord's perspective, the woman is as essential as the man, and the man as essential as the woman.[‡]

¹² As the woman came from the man, so the man comes from the woman[§]—but more importantly everything comes from God.

¹³ Judge for yourselves: is it appropriate for a woman to pray to God with her head uncovered?

¹⁴ Doesn't nature itself indicate that a man with long hair disgraces himself?

¹⁵ However, a woman with long hair brings herself glory, because her hair is given to her as a covering.

¹⁶ But if anyone wants to argue about this, we don't have any other custom than this, and neither do any other of God's churches.*

¹⁷ Now in giving you the instructions that follow I can't commend you, because when you meet together you cause more harm than good!

¹⁸ First of all, I hear that when you have church meetings that you are split into different factions, and I believe there's some truth to this.

²⁰ When you meet together you're not really celebrating the Lord's Supper at all.

²² Don't you have your own houses to eat and drink in? Do you look down on God's church, and humiliate those who are poor? What should I tell you? That you're doing really well? I have nothing good to say about you for doing this!

²³ For I received from the Lord what I passed on to you: the Lord Jesus on the night he was betrayed took some bread.

²⁴ After giving thanks, he broke the bread into pieces and said, "This bread is my body, which is given for you. Remember me by doing this."

²⁵ In the same way he took the cup, after the meal, and said, "This cup is the new agreement[†] sealed with my blood. Remember me when you drink it.

²⁶ For every time you eat this bread and drink from this cup you announce the Lord's death, until he returns."

²⁷ So anyone who eats the bread or drinks from the Lord's cup in a dishonorable way will be guilty of doing wrong against the body and blood of the Lord.

²⁸ Let each person examine themselves, and then let them eat the bread and drink from the cup.

²⁹ Those who eat and drink bring judgment on themselves if they don't recognize their relationship with the body of the Lord.

³⁰ That's the reason why many of you are weak and sick, and some even have died.

[‡] 11:11 Literally, "nevertheless neither woman without man nor man without woman in the Lord."

[§] 11:12 Referring back to Creation, where Eve is made from Adam, but from then on women gave birth to men. * 11:16 Paul clearly indicates this is simply the way things work in practice in the church by using the word "custom" or "habit" rather than the word "rule" or "command."

[†] 11:25 This translates the word often rendered as "covenant" which has limited use in modern English. The idea is of an agreement between two parties. In this case it is the relationship between God and human beings.

³¹ However, if we really examined ourselves, we would not be judged like this.

³² But when we are judged, we are being disciplined by the Lord so that we won't be condemned along with the world.

³³ So my brothers and sisters, when you meet together to eat the Lord's Supper, wait for each other.

³⁴ If anyone is hungry, then eat at home so that when you meet together you won't bring condemnation on yourselves. I'll give you more directions when I visit.

¹ Now about "spiritual gifts."* My brothers and sisters, I want to explain this to you.

² You know that when you were pagans, you were deceived, being led astray by worshiping idols who couldn't even speak.

³ Let me make it clear to you: no one who speaks in the Spirit of God says, "Curse Jesus!" and no one can say, "Jesus is Lord!" except by the Holy Spirit.

⁴ Now there are different kinds of spiritual gifts, but they come from the same Spirit.

⁵ There are different kinds of ministries,[†] but they come from the same Lord.

⁶ There are different ways of working, but they come from the same God, who is at work in all of them.

⁷ The Spirit is given to each of us and is revealed for the good of all.

⁸ One person is given by the Spirit the ability to speak words of wisdom. Another is given a message of knowledge by the same Spirit.

⁹ Another receives the gift of strongly trusting in God by the same Spirit. Another receives gifts of healing from that one Spirit.

¹² Just like the human body is one unit but has many parts—all the parts of the body even though there are many of them, make up one body—so is Christ.

¹³ For it was through one Spirit that we were all baptized into one body. It doesn't matter whether we are Jews or Greeks, slave or free—we all were given the one Spirit to drink.

¹⁴ The body is not made of one part, but many parts.

¹⁵ If the foot were to say, "Because I'm not a hand, I'm not part of the body," would that make it not part of the body?

¹⁶ If the ear were to say, "Because I'm not an eye, I'm not part of the body," would that make it not part of the body?

¹⁷ If the whole body was an eye, how could you hear anything? If the whole body was an ear, how could you smell anything?

* 12:1 Paul takes up another issue that the Corinthians have asked him about. † 12:5 Or "service."

¹⁸ But God has arranged each part in the body, every last one of them, placing them just as he wanted.

¹⁹ If they were all the same part, what would happen to the body?

²⁰ However, since there are many parts, they make up the body.

²² Quite the opposite: some of those parts of the body that seem the most insignificant are the most essential.

²³ In fact those parts of the body we do not consider to be decent to reveal we "honor" more by covering them up—what is indecent we treat with greater modesty!

²⁴ What's presentable doesn't need such covering up. God has so arranged the body that more honor is given to the parts that are less presentable.

²⁵ This is so there wouldn't be any conflict within the body—the different parts should care equally for each other.

²⁶ So when one part is suffering, all the other parts of the body suffer with it, and when one part is treated well, then all the other parts of the body are happy too!†

²⁷ Now you are the body of Christ, and each one makes up a part of it.

²⁸ In the church, God has arranged first for some to be apostles, secondly for some to be prophets, thirdly teachers. Then there are those who perform miracles, those with healing gifts, those who can help others, those good at administration, and those who can speak different languages.

³⁰ Not all have healing gifts, or the ability to speak languages, or to interpret languages.

³¹ But you should really want to have the most significant gifts.§ So now I will show you a far better way.

¹ If I were to have eloquence in human languages—even the language of angels—but have no love, then I would only be an echoing gong or a clashing cymbal.

² If I were to speak prophecies, to know every secret mystery and be completely knowledgeable, and if I were able to have so much faith I could move mountains, but have no love, then I am nothing.

³ If I were to donate everything I own to the poor, or if I were to sacrifice myself to be burned as a martyr, and have no love, then I gain nothing.

† 12:26 Here Paul seems to be thinking far more of the body of the church than a physical body.

§ 12:31 Having discussed the different spiritual gifts, Paul states that believers should desire the most important ones. Of course which these are would be a matter of much debate. What he really is doing is setting the scene for the next chapter, for without love none of these gifts, even those considered the most significant, are worth anything.

⁵ Love does not act improperly, or insist on having its own way. Love is not argumentative and doesn't keep a record of wrongs.

⁸ Love never fails. Prophecies will come to an end. Tongues will become silent. Knowledge will become useless.

⁹ For our knowledge and our prophetic understanding are incomplete.

¹⁰ But when completeness comes, then what is incomplete disappears.

¹¹ When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child. When I grew up I left behind such child-like ways.

¹² At the moment we peer into a mirror's dim reflection, but then we shall see face to face. For now I only have partial knowledge, but then I shall know completely, just as I am completely known.

¹³ Trust, hope, and love last forever—but the most important is love.

¹ Make love your most important objective! But also do your best to gain spiritual gifts, especially the ability to speak God's message.*

² Those who speak in a tongue[†] are not talking to people, but to God, because nobody can understand them as they speak mysteries in the Spirit.

³ However, the words of those who speak for God build people up—they provide encouragement and comfort.

⁴ Those that speak in a tongue only build themselves up, but those who speak God's message build up the church. I would like it if you all spoke in tongues, but I'd prefer if you could speak God's message.

⁵ Those who speak for God are more important than those who speak in tongues, unless they interpret what's been said, so that the church can be built up.

⁶ Brothers and sisters, if I come to you speaking in tongues, what benefit would I be to you unless I bring you some revelation, or knowledge, or prophetic message, or teaching?

⁷ Even when it comes to something non-living such as musical instruments like a flute or a harp: if they don't produce clear notes, how will you know what tune is being played?

⁸ Similarly, if the trumpet doesn't give a clear sound, who will get ready for battle?

⁹ It's the same situation for you—unless you speak using words that are easy to understand, who will know what you're saying? What you say will be lost on the wind.

¹⁰ There are surely many languages in this world, and there is meaning in every one of them.

* 14:1 Literally, "prophesy," but in the sense of telling the good news rather than foretelling the future. The terms "speaks God's message," "God's prophetic message," or "speaks for God" are used here. [†] 14:2 This is clearly not the use of normal human language. There is much debate over this phenomenon. Clearly the early church was gifted with the ability to speak and be understood in different human languages as Acts 2 makes clear. However, some kind of "ecstatic utterance" appears to be in view here. Its practice in Corinth was being abused, and so Paul has to counteract the problem here.

¹¹ If I don't understand the language, those who speak make no sense to me, and I make no sense to them.‡

¹² It's the same for you—if you are keen to have spiritual gifts, try to have many of those that will build up the church.

¹³ Anyone who speaks in a tongue should pray that they're able to translate what they say.

¹⁵ So then, what should I do? I will pray “in the Spirit,” but I will pray with my mind too. I will sing “in the Spirit,” but I will sing with my mind too.§

¹⁶ For if you only pray “in the Spirit,” how can ordinary people that don't have understanding say “Amen” after your prayer of thanks, since they haven't a clue what you said?

¹⁷ You might have said a great prayer of thanks, but the other hasn't been helped!

¹⁸ I thank God that I can speak in tongues more than all of you.

¹⁹ But in church I would rather speak five understandable words to teach others than ten thousand words in a tongue nobody understands.

²⁰ Brothers and sisters, don't think like children. Be as innocent as babies in regard to evil, but be grown up in your understanding.

²¹ As Scripture records, “‘I will speak to my people through other languages and the lips of foreigners, but even then they won't listen to me,’ says the Lord.”*

²² Speaking in tongues is a sign, not to believers, but those who don't believe. Speaking God's prophetic message is the opposite: it is not for those who don't believe, but for believers.

²³ If the whole church is meeting together and you are all speaking in tongues, and some people come in who don't understand, or people who don't believe, won't they say that you are insane?

²⁴ But if everyone is speaking God's message, and someone comes in who isn't a believer, or someone who doesn't understand, they will be convinced and called to account by everyone's words.

²⁵ Their secrets thoughts will be revealed, so they will fall to their knees† and worship God, affirming that God is truly among you.

²⁶ So then, brothers and sisters, what should you do? When you meet together, different people will sing, or teach, or share a special message, or speak in a tongue, or give an interpretation. But everything should be done to build up and encourage the church.

²⁷ If anyone wants to speak in a tongue, make it just two, or three at the most, taking turns, and someone should interpret what is said.

²⁸ If there's no one there to interpret, those who speak in tongues should keep quiet in church and only speak to themselves, and God.

‡ 14:11 Literally, I am a barbarian to the one who speaks, and the one who speaks is a barbarian to me. The very word “barbarian” comes from the idea that sounds being made make no sense—“baa-baa” etc. § 14:15 Paul here seems to be using the phraseology of some of those in Corinth who were proud of being “in the Spirit” as if that was superior to anything else. Paul points out that being “in the Spirit” is not helpful unless it produces understanding. * 14:21 Quoting Isaiah 28:11-12. † 14:25 Literally, “fall on his face.”

²⁹ Similarly, have two or three of those who give God's prophetic message speak, and let everyone else think about what was said.

³⁰ However, if a special revelation comes to someone who is sitting down, then the first speaker should give way to them.

³¹ You can all speak for God, one at a time, so that everyone can learn and be encouraged.

³² It is for those who speak for God to control their prophetic inspiration,

³³ for God is not a God of disorder but of peace and quiet.[‡] This is the way it should be in all the churches of God's people.

³⁴ "Women should stay quiet in the churches—they shouldn't speak. They should respect their situation, as the laws states.

³⁵ If they want to learn they can do so at home, asking their husbands. It is not proper[§] for women to speak in church."^{*}

³⁶ What? Did the word of God begin with you? Are you the only ones it came to?

³⁷ Anyone who thinks they are a prophet, or that they have some spiritual gift, should be aware that what I'm writing to you is a command of the Lord.

³⁸ Those who ignore this will themselves be ignored.

⁴⁰ Just make sure everything done is done properly and in an orderly manner.

15

¹ Now I want to remind you about the good news I announced to you. You accepted it, and you have stood firm for it.

² It is through this good news that you are saved if you hold on to the message that I gave you. Otherwise you trusted for nothing!

³ I passed on to you what I myself had also received, a message of vital importance: that Christ died for our sins, according to Scripture;

⁴ he was buried and was raised from the dead on the third day, again in accordance with Scripture.

⁵ He appeared to Peter, then to the Twelve.

⁶ After that he appeared to more than five hundred brothers and sisters at the same time, most of whom are still alive today, though some have died.

⁷ He appeared to James, then all the apostles.

[‡] 14:33 This statement is to deal with the situation where people are claiming special revelation/inspiration and therefore wanting precedence—with the obvious arguments that would result.

[§] 14:35 "Not proper." By using this term (which also can mean shameful or disgraceful) Paul reveals this is related to the cultural context. ^{*} 14:35 The reason for placing 14:34-35 in quote marks is the understanding that this is the position outlined in the letter from Corinth, and Paul is quoting them before refuting their argument. The fact that just 3 chapters earlier in 11:5 Paul refers to women praying and prophesying indicates that this statement cannot be read as a blanket ban on women speaking in church. From the context it appears possible that women in the church at Corinth were questioning and arguing, being part of the disorder he mentions, and this suggested solution in the letter from the church at Corinth is what Paul is addressing here.

⁸ Last of all, he also appeared to me, someone born as it were at the wrong time.

⁹ For I'm the least important apostle of all, not even fit to be called an apostle since I persecuted God's church.

¹⁰ But by God's grace I am what I am, and his grace given to me wasn't wasted. On the contrary I've worked harder than all of them—though not me, but God's grace working through me.

¹¹ So whether it's I or them, this is the message we shared with you that brought you to trust in God.

¹² Now if the message declares that Christ has been raised from the dead, how is it that some of you say there's no resurrection of the dead?

¹³ If there's no resurrection of the dead then Christ hasn't been raised either.

¹⁴ And if Christ isn't raised, then our message we shared with you is pointless, and your trust in God is pointless too.

¹⁵ In addition, we would be shown to be false witnesses of God when we testified that God raised Christ from the dead. But God didn't raise Christ from the dead if it's true that there's no resurrection.

¹⁶ If the dead are not raised, then Christ hasn't been raised either;

¹⁷ and if Christ hasn't been raised, then your trust in God is useless, and you are still in your sins.

¹⁸ This also means that those who died in Christ are lost.

¹⁹ If our hope in Christ is only for this life, we're the most pitiful people of all!

²⁰ But Christ has been raised from the dead, the firstfruits* of the harvest from those who have died.

²¹ Just as death came through a man, the resurrection of the dead came through a man.

²² Just as in Adam all die, so in Christ all will be made alive.

²³ But each in their own turn: Christ the firstfruits, then those who belong to Christ when he comes.

²⁵ Christ has to rule until he has put all his enemies under his feet.‡

²⁶ The last enemy that will be destroyed is death.

²⁷ As Scripture says, "He put everything under his feet."§ (Of course when it says "everything" is put under him it's obvious this doesn't refer to God who placed everything under Christ's authority.)

²⁸ When everything has been placed under Christ's authority, then the Son will also place himself under God's authority, so that God who gave the Son authority over everything may be all in all.*

* 15:20 The word "firstfruits" refers to the first sample of a harvest that was given as an offering to God, also seen as a guarantee of a successful harvest. Christ as the firstfruits therefore means he is both the initial harvest from the dead and the guarantee of their resurrection. † 15:24 Destroyed in the sense of ending their power. ‡ 15:25 Meaning they have been conquered and humbled.

§ 15:27 Quoting Psalms 8:6. * 15:28 "All in all." Various explanations have been given for this phrase. It is obviously referring to the completeness of God's rulership in the Universe, and is perhaps best translated literally from the original as "all in all."

²⁹ Otherwise what will those people do who are baptized for the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why then would people be baptized for them?[†]

³⁰ As for us, why do we place ourselves in danger hour after hour?

³¹ I die every day—let me say it bluntly, my brothers and sisters. This is just as sure as the pride I have for what Christ Jesus has done in you.

³² Humanly speaking, what would I gain by fighting with those people in Ephesus who were like wild animals, if the dead are not raised? If the dead are not raised, “let’s eat and drink, for tomorrow we die”![‡]

³³ Don’t be fooled: “bad company ruins good character.”

³⁴ Come to your senses as you should, and stop sinning! Some of you don’t know God. I tell you this to shame you.

³⁵ Of course somebody will ask, “How exactly are the dead raised? What kind of body will they have?”

³⁸ God makes the plant grow into the form he has chosen, and different seeds produce different plants with different forms.

³⁹ What living things are made from is not the same. Human beings have one kind of body tissue, while animals have another, birds another, and fish another.

⁴⁰ There are heavenly bodies and earthly bodies. Heavenly bodies have one kind of beauty, earthly bodies another.

⁴¹ The sun shines in one way, and the moon another, while the stars are different again, with each one shining in a different way.

⁴² It’s the same with the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in decay; it is raised to last forever.

⁴³ It is sown in shame; it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power.

⁴⁴ It is sown as a natural body; it is raised as a spiritual body. Just as there are natural bodies there are spiritual bodies.

⁴⁵ As Scripture says, “The first man, Adam, became a living being;”[§] but the last Adam a life-giving spirit.

⁴⁶ The spiritual did not come first, but the natural—the spiritual came after that.

⁴⁸ Earthly people are like the man made from the earth; heavenly people are like the man from heaven.

⁴⁹ Just as we bore the likeness of the earthly man so we shall bear the likeness of the man from heaven.

⁵⁰ However, I tell you this, my brothers and sisters: our present bodies* cannot inherit the kingdom of God. These decaying bodies cannot inherit what lasts forever.

[†] 15:29 The theological meaning of this verse is much debated. However, the actual words are translated simply enough. [‡] 15:32 Quoting Isaiah 22:13. [§] 15:45 Quoting Genesis 2:7. * 15:50 Literally, “flesh and blood.”

⁵¹ Listen, I'm going to reveal a mystery! Not all of us will die—but we will all be changed,

⁵² in a moment, in the blink of an eye, at the sound of the last trumpet. The trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised never to die again, and we will be changed.

⁵³ For this perishable body must be clothed with a body that never perishes. This mortal life must be clothed with immortality.

⁵⁴ When this perishable body has been clothed with a body that never perishes, and this mortal life has been clothed with immortality, then the Scripture will come true that says, “Death has been totally conquered and destroyed.

⁵⁵ Death—where's your victory? Death—where's your sting?”†

⁵⁶ The sting that causes death is sin; and the power of sin is the law;

⁵⁷ but praise God who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁵⁸ So my dear brothers and sisters: be strong, stand firm, doing everything you can for the Lord's work, since you know that nothing you do in the Lord is wasted.

¹ Now about “collecting money for fellow-believers.” I'm giving you the same instructions for you to follow as I did to the churches in Galatia.

² On the first day of the week everybody should set aside some money you've earned. I don't want there to be any collections to have to be made when I'm with you.

³ When I get there I will write recommendation letters for whoever you choose, and they will take your donation to Jerusalem.

⁴ If it works out for me to go too, they can come with me.

⁵ After I've been to Macedonia, I plan to come and visit you. I pass that way through Macedonia

⁶ and I may stay with you for a while, perhaps spend the winter, and then you can send me on my way to wherever I'm headed.

⁷ This time I don't want to come and see you for just a short time. I hope I can stay for a while with you, if that's what the Lord permits.

⁸ However, I will stay on at Ephesus until Pentecost,

⁹ because a tremendous door of opportunity has opened up for me there, though there are plenty who oppose me.

¹⁰ Now if Timothy arrives, make sure that he has nothing to fear by being with you, for he's working for the Lord just as I am.

¹¹ Don't let anyone look down on him. Cheerfully send him on his way so he can come and see me—the brothers and sisters and I are waiting for him.

¹² As for our brother Apollos: I urged him to go and see you together with the other believers, but he wasn't willing to go at the moment. He'll come and visit when he gets the chance.

¹³ Stay alert. Stand firm in your trust in God. Take courage. Be strong.

¹⁴ Whatever you do, do it in love.

¹⁵ You know that Stephanas and his family were among the first converts in Achaia, and they dedicated themselves to helping God's people. I'm pleading with you, my brothers and sisters,

† 15:55 Referencing Isaiah 25:8; Hosea 13:14.

¹⁶ to respect their leadership, and everyone who helps the work with such dedication.

¹⁷ I'm delighted that Stephanas, Fortunatas, and Achaicus have arrived here, for they did what you weren't able to.

¹⁸ They have been a great source of encouragement to me, and to you. People like that deserve your recognition.

¹⁹ The churches of Asia* send their greetings. Aquila and Priscilla, along with the church that meets in their home, send their best wishes.

²¹ I Paul write this greeting with my own hand.

²² Anyone who doesn't love the Lord should be excluded from the church.† Come Lord!

²³ May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

²⁴ My love to all of you in Christ Jesus. Amen.

* 16:19 Referring to the Roman province of Asia Minor. † 16:22 Literally, "let him be accursed."

Second Corinthians

¹ This letter comes from Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ according to the will of God, and from Timothy, our brother. It is sent to the church of God in Corinth, together with all of God's people throughout Achaia.

² May you have grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

³ Praise be to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! He is the compassionate Father and the God of all comfort.

⁴ He comforts us in all our troubles, so that we can comfort those who are also in trouble with the comfort we ourselves receive from God.

⁵ The more we share in Christ's sufferings, the more we receive the abundant comfort of Christ.

⁶ If we are in distress, it is for your comfort and salvation. If we are being comforted, it is for your comfort, which results in you patiently bearing the same sufferings that we suffer.

⁷ We have great confidence in you,* knowing that as you share in our sufferings you also share in our comfort.

⁸ Brothers and sisters, we won't keep you in the dark about the trouble we had in Asia. We were so overwhelmed that we were afraid we wouldn't have the strength to continue—so much so we doubted we would live through it.

⁹ In fact it was like a death sentence inside us. This was to stop us relying on ourselves and to trust in God who raises the dead.

¹⁰ He saved us from a terrible death, and he will do so again. We have total confidence in God that he will continue to save us.

¹¹ You help us by praying for us. In this way many will thank God for us because of the blessing that God will give us in response to the prayers of many.

¹² We take pride in the fact—and our conscience confirms it—that we have acted properly towards people, and especially to you. We have followed God's principles of holiness and sincerity, not according to worldly wisdom but through the grace of God.

¹³ For we are not writing anything complicated that you can't read and understand. I hope you'll understand in the end,

¹⁴ even if you only understand part of it now, so that when the Lord comes you will be proud of us, just as we are of you.

¹⁵ Because I was so sure of your confidence in me I planned to come and visit you first. That way you could have benefited twice,

¹⁶ as I would go on from you to Macedonia, and then return from Macedonia to you. Then I would have had you send me on my way to Judea.

¹⁷ Why did I change my original plan? Do you think I make my decisions lightly? Do you think that when I plan I'm like some worldly person who says Yes and No at the same time?

¹⁸ Just as God can be trusted, when we give you our word it's not both Yes and No.

* 1:7 Literally, "our hope in you is firm."

¹⁹ The truth of the Son of God, Jesus Christ, was announced to you by us—me, Silvanus, and Timothy—and it wasn't both Yes and No. In Christ the answer is absolutely Yes!

²⁰ However, many promises God has made, in Christ the answer is always Yes. Through him we respond, saying Yes[†] to the glory of God.

²¹ God has given both us and you the inner strength to stand firm in Christ. God has appointed us,

²² placed his stamp of approval on us, and given us the guarantee of the Spirit to convince us.

²³ I call God as my witness that it was to avoid causing you pain that I chose not to come to Corinth.

²⁴ This isn't because we want to dictate how you relate to God, but because we want to help you have a joyful experience—for it's by trusting God that you stand firm.

¹ That's why I decided that I would avoid another sad visit with you.

² For if I make you sad, who will be there to make me happy? It won't be those I've made sad!

³ That's why I wrote what I did, so that I wouldn't be sad over those who should make me happy. I was so sure that all of you would share in my happiness.

⁴ I was crying many tears when I wrote to you, in great anguish and with a heavy heart—not to make you sad, but so you would know how much love I have for you.

⁵ Not to put it too strongly, but the person caused more pain to all of you than to me.

⁶ This person suffered enough punishment from the majority of you,

⁷ so now you should forgive him and be kind to him. Otherwise he may sink into despair.

⁸ So I urge you to publicly affirm your love towards him.

⁹ That's why I wrote: so I could discover your true character and whether you're doing everything you were told to do.

¹⁰ Anyone you forgive, I forgive too. What I have forgiven, whatever it may be, I have forgiven before Christ for your benefit.

¹¹ In this way Satan will not be able to take us in, because we know the tricks he thinks up.

¹² Now when I arrived in Troas to spread the good news of Christ, the Lord opened a door of opportunity for me.

¹³ But my mind wasn't at peace because I couldn't find my brother Titus. So I said goodbye and went over to Macedonia.*

¹⁴ But praise be to God, who always leads us in a triumphal procession in Christ, and reveals through us the sweet scent of his knowledge wherever we go!

¹⁵ We are like a fragrance of Christ to God, rising up from among those who are being saved as well as those who are dying.

[†] 1:20 Literally, "Amen," which means "Yes," or "I agree." * 2:13 From Troas to Macedonia would involve a sea-crossing.

¹⁶ To those who are dying it is the smell of decay, while to those who are being saved it is the scent of life! But who is up to such an assignment?

¹⁷ We are not like the majority who trade in the word of God for profit. Quite the opposite: we are sincere in sharing the word of God in Christ, knowing God is watching us.

3

¹ Are we starting to speak well of ourselves again? Or do we need to have some letter of recommendation for you, or from you, as some people do?

² You are our letter, written in our experience with you, that everybody reads and knows about.

³ You demonstrate that you are a letter from Christ, delivered by us; not written with ink but with the Spirit of the living God; not written on stone slabs but in our living experience as human beings.

⁵ Not that we would consider ourselves able to do this on our own—it's God who gives us this capacity!

⁶ He also gave us the ability to be ministers of a new agreement,* based not on the letter of the law, but on the spirit. The letter of the law kills, but the spirit gives life.

⁷ However, the old way of relating to God, written in letters carved in stone, ended in death, even though it came with God's glory—so much so that the Israelites couldn't even bear to look at Moses' face because it shone so brightly, even though the glory was fading.

⁸ If that was so, shouldn't the new way of relating to God in the Spirit come with even greater glory?

⁹ If the old way that condemns us has glory, the new way that makes us right with God has so much more glory!

¹⁰ For the old that was once glorious has no glory at all in comparison with the incredible glory of the new.

¹¹ If the old that is fading away had glory, the new that continues has so much more glory.

¹³ We don't have to be like Moses, who had to put on a veil to cover his face so the Israelites wouldn't be dazzled by the glory, even though it was fading away.

¹⁶ But when they turn and accept the Lord, the veil is removed.

¹⁷ Now the Lord is the Spirit, and wherever the Spirit of the Lord is, there's freedom.

¹⁸ So all of us, with our faces unveiled, see and reflect the glory of the Lord as in a mirror. We are being transformed into the same mirror image,

* 3:6 Or "covenant." † 3:14 In other words, they are not able to see clearly.

whose glory grows brighter and brighter. This is what the Lord the Spirit does.

¹ So then, since God in his mercy has given us this new way of relating to him, we don't give up.

² But we have given up secret, shameful acts. We don't behave in deceitful ways and we don't distort the word of God. We demonstrate who we are by revealing the truth before God so everybody can decide in their own minds.

³ Even if the good news we share is veiled, it is veiled to those who are dying.

⁴ The god of this world has blinded the minds of those who don't trust in God. They can't see the light of the good news of the glory of Christ, who is the image of God.

⁵ We are not promoting* ourselves, but Christ Jesus as Lord. In fact we are your servants for Jesus' sake.

⁶ For God who said, "Let light shine out of the darkness,"† shone in our minds to illuminate the knowledge of God's glory in the face of Jesus Christ.

⁷ But we have this treasure in clay jars, to show that this supreme power comes from God and not from ourselves.

⁸ We are attacked from every direction, but we are not crushed. We are at a loss as to what to do, but never in despair.

⁹ We are persecuted, but never abandoned by God. We are knocked down, but not dead yet!

¹⁰ In our bodies we always share in the death of Jesus, so that we can also demonstrate the life of Jesus in our bodies.

¹¹ While we live we are always under the threat of death for Jesus' sake, so that the life of Jesus may be revealed in our mortal bodies.

¹² As a result, we are facing death so that you may have life!

¹³ Since we have the same spirit of trust in God that Scripture refers to when it says, "I trusted in God, and so I spoke out,"‡ we also trust in God and speak out for him.

¹⁴ We know that God who raised the Lord Jesus will also raise us with Jesus, and will bring us into his presence with you.

¹⁵ It's all for you! As God's grace reaches many more, thankfulness to God will be even greater, to his glory.

¹⁶ So we don't give up. Even though our physical bodies are falling apart, our inner selves are being renewed daily.

¹⁷ These trivial troubles we have only last for a little while, but they produce for us an ever-increasing degree of glory.

¹⁸ We don't concern ourselves with what can be seen, for we look forward to what can't be seen. What we see is temporary, but what we can't see is eternal.

* 4:5 Literally, "preaching." † 4:6 Quoting Genesis 1:3. ‡ 4:13 Quoting Psalms 116:10.

5

¹ We know that when this earthly “tent”^{*} we live in is taken down, we have a house prepared by God, not made by human hands. It is eternal and is in heaven.

² We sigh with longing for this, wanting so badly to be clothed with this new heavenly home.

⁴ While we are in this “tent” we sigh, being weighed down by this life. It's not so much that we want to take off the clothing of this life but that we look forward to what we shall be clothed with, so that what is mortal may be overwhelmed by life.

⁵ It's God himself who prepared us for all this, and who provided the Spirit as a guarantee to us.

⁶ So we remain confident, knowing that while we are at home here in our physical bodies, we are away from the Lord.

⁷ (For we live by trusting in God, not by seeing him.)

⁸ As I say, we are confident, wanting to be away from the body so we can be at home with the Lord.

⁹ That's why our goal, whether home here in our bodies or not, is to make sure we please him.

¹⁰ For all of us must appear before Christ's seat of judgment. Each of us will receive what we deserve for what we have done in this life, whether it is good or bad.

¹¹ Knowing how we are in awe of the Lord, we try to convince others. It's clear to God what we are, and I hope that it's clear to your minds too.

¹² We are not trying to speak well of ourselves again, just trying to give you the opportunity to be proud of us, so you can answer those who are proud of outward show and not what they are inside.[†]

¹³ If we are “crazy people,”[‡] it's for God. If we make good sense, it's for you.

¹⁴ Christ's love urges us on, because we're absolutely sure that he died for everyone, and so everyone died.

¹⁵ Christ died for everyone so that they shouldn't live any longer for themselves, but for him who died and rose again for them.

¹⁶ From now on we don't look at anyone from a human point of view. Even though we once viewed Christ this way, we don't do so any longer.

¹⁷ That's why anyone who is in Christ is a new being—what was old is gone, the new has come!

¹⁸ God did all this by changing us from enemies into friends through Christ. God gave us this same work of changing his enemies into his friends.

²⁰ So we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God is pleading through us: “Please, won't you come back and be God's friend?”

^{*} 5:1 The symbolism here is of the earthly body as a tent, and the heavenly body is a house—both of which “clothe” the person. [†] 5:12 Literally, “in the heart.” [‡] 5:13 This may have been a criticism of Paul and his companions by those in Corinth.

²¹ God made Jesus, who never personally sinned, experience the consequences of sin so that we could have a character that is good and right just as God is good and right. §

¹ As workers together with God we also plead with you not to make your acceptance of God's grace worthless.

² Just as God said, "At the right time I heard you, and on the day of salvation I rescued you." * Believe me: now is the right time! Now is the day of salvation!

³ We don't put anything in anyone's way that would trip them up, making sure the work we do won't be criticized.

⁴ Instead we try to demonstrate we are good servants of God in every way we can. With a great deal of patience we put up with all kinds of trouble, hardship, and distress.

⁶ We demonstrate who we are by living blameless lives in the knowledge of God, with a great deal of patience, being kind and filled with the Holy Spirit, showing sincere love.

⁷ We speak truthfully, † living in the power of God. Our weapons consist of what is true and right; we attack with our right hand and we defend with our left ‡.

⁸ We continue whether we are honored or dishonored, whether we are cursed or praised. People call us frauds but we tell the truth.

⁹ We are disregarded, even though we are well-known; given up for dead, but we're still alive; lashed, but not killed.

¹⁰ Seen as miserable, we are always rejoicing; as poor, but we make many rich; as destitute, but we own everything!

¹¹ I've been speaking bluntly, my Corinthian friends, loving you with a big heart!

¹² We haven't kept our love from you, but you have kept your love from us.

¹³ Please respond in the same way, as if you were my children, and be big-hearted!

¹⁵ How could Christ and the Devil § ever agree? How could a believer and an unbeliever share together?

¹⁶ What compromise could the Temple of God make with idols? For we are a temple of the living God, just as God said: "I will live in them and walk among them. I will be their God, and they will be my people." *

§ 5:21 Or "we could become right just as God is right," meaning morally right, not in the sense of being correct. * 6:2 Quoting Isaiah 49:8. † 6:7 Or "word of truth," meaning the gospel.

‡ 6:7 Literally, "weapons of the right and left." This may mean the use of a sword with the right hand and a shield with the left. § 6:15 Literally, "Belial." * 6:16 Quoting Leviticus 26:12 and Ezekiel 37:27.

¹⁷ “So leave them, and separate yourselves from them, says the Lord. Don't touch anything that is unclean, and I will accept you.”[†]

¹⁸ “I will be like a Father to you, and you will be sons and daughters to me, says the Lord Almighty.”[‡]

7

¹ Dear friends, since we have these promises, we should wash ourselves clean from all that makes both body and spirit dirty, aiming for complete holiness out of reverence for God.

² Please accept us as your friends! We haven't done anyone wrong, we haven't corrupted anyone, and we haven't taken advantage of anyone.

³ I'm not saying this to condemn you—as I already told you, you mean so much to us that we live and die together with you!

⁴ I speak up very strongly for you because I am so proud of you. You are such an encouragement to me. I am so happy for you despite all our troubles.

⁶ Even so, God who encourages the downhearted, encouraged us with Titus' arrival.

⁷ Not just by his arrival, but also by the encouragement you gave him. He told us how you were longing to see me, how sorry you were, and how concerned you were about me, which made me even happier.

⁸ Even though I made you sorry by the letter I wrote, I don't regret it—though I did regret it because the letter did hurt you, but just for a while.

⁹ I'm happy now, not for hurting you, but because this pain led you to change your minds. You were made sorry in a way God would want, and so weren't harmed by us in any way.

¹⁰ The kind of sorrow God wants us to have makes us change our minds and brings salvation. This kind of sorrow leaves no sense of regret, but worldly sorrow brings death.

¹¹ See what happened to you when you had this very same experience of sorrow that God wants. Remember how enthusiastic you became, how keen you were to defend yourselves, how angry you were at what had happened, how seriously you took it, how you longed to do right, how concerned you were, how you wanted justice to be done. In all of this you showed that you were sincere in wanting to make things right.*

¹² So when I wrote to you, I wasn't writing about who did the wrong or who was wronged, but to show you how devoted you are to us in God's sight.

¹³ We are so encouraged by this. Added to our own encouragement, we were so pleased to see how happy Titus was, because you set his mind at rest.

[†] 6:17 Referencing Isaiah 52:11 and Ezekiel 20:34, Ezekiel 20:41. [‡] 6:18 Referencing 2 Samuel

7:14 or 1 Chronicles 17:13. * 7:11 Paul appears to be referencing previous issues that needed attention e.g. chapter 2.

¹⁴ I boasted[†] to him about you, and you didn't let me down. Just as all I've told you is true, my boasting about you to Titus has proved to be true too!

¹⁵ Titus cares for you even more as he remembers how you did what he told you, how you welcomed him with great respect.

¹⁶ I am so happy that I can be completely confident of you.

8

² Even though they have suffered terrible trouble, they are overflowing with happiness; and even though they are very poor, they are also overflowing in their generosity.

³ I can confirm that they gave what they could, in fact even more than that! By their own choice

⁴ they kept on pleading with us to have a part in this privilege of sharing in this ministry to God's people.

⁵ They didn't just do what we hoped they would do, but they gave themselves to the Lord, and then to us, as God wanted them to do.

⁶ So we have encouraged Titus—since it was he who started this work with you—to return and complete this gracious ministry of yours.

⁷ Since you have an abundance of everything—your trust in God, your eloquence, your spiritual knowledge, your complete dedication, and in your love for us—make sure that your abundance also extends to this gracious ministry of giving.

⁸ I'm not ordering you to do this, but to prove how sincere your love is in comparison with the dedication of others.*

⁹ For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Even though he was rich, he became poor for you, so that through his poverty you could become rich.

¹⁰ This is my advice: it would be good if you finished what you started. Last year you were not only the first to give but the first to want to do so.

¹¹ Now finish what you planned to do. Be as keen to finish as you were to plan, and give as you are able.

¹² If the willingness is there, it's fine to give what you have, not what you don't have!

¹³ This is not to make things easier for others and harder for you, but simply to be fair.

¹⁴ At the moment you have more than enough and can meet their needs, and in turn when they have more than enough they can meet your needs. In that way everyone is treated fairly.

¹⁵ As Scripture says, "The one who had much didn't have any excess, and the one who didn't have much didn't have too little."[†]

¹⁶ Thanks be to God that he gave to Titus the same devotion for you that I have.

[†] 7:14 Here and elsewhere in this letter Paul speaks of his boasting. This should be taken to mean his commendation of others, rather than pride in himself. * 8:8 Presumably meaning the other churches such as those in Macedonia. [†] 8:15 This refers to the gathering of manna in Exodus 16:8.

¹⁷ Though he agreed to do what we told him, he's coming to see you because he really wants to, and had already decided to do so.

¹⁸ We're also sending with him a brother who is praised by all the churches for his work in spreading the good news.

²⁰ We want to guard against anyone criticizing us about how we use this gift.

²¹ We're concerned to do things the right way, not only in the eyes of the Lord, but also in the eyes of everyone.

²² We're also sending with them another brother who has proved to be reliable on many occasions, and who is eager to help. He is now even more eager to help because of the great confidence he has in you.

²³ If anyone asks about Titus, he is my companion. He works with me on your behalf. The other brothers are representatives from the churches and an honor to Christ.

²⁴ So please welcome them before all the churches and show them your love, proving how rightly proud we are of you.

² I know how keen you are to help—I was boasting about this to those in Macedonia that you in Achaia have been ready for over a year, and your enthusiasm has encouraged many of them to give.

³ But I'm sending these brothers so that my boasting about you regarding this won't be proved wrong, and that you're prepared, just as I said you would be.

⁴ This is just in case some Macedonians should come with me and find you unprepared. We, not to mention you, would be really embarrassed if this project failed!

⁵ That's why I decided I should ask these brothers to visit you in advance, and complete the arrangements to collect this offering, so that it would be ready as a gift, and not as something demanded.

⁶ I want to remind you of this: If you only sow a little, you'll only reap a little; if you sow plenty, you'll reap plenty.

⁷ Everybody should give as they've already decided—not reluctantly, or because they have to, for God loves those who give with a cheerful spirit.*

⁸ God is able to graciously provide you with everything, so that you will always have all you need—with plenty to help others too.

⁹ As Scripture says, "He gives generously to the poor; his generosity is everlasting."†

¹⁰ God, who provides seed to the sower and gives bread for food, will provide and multiply your "seed" and increase your harvest of generosity.

¹¹ You will be made rich in every way so that you can always be very generous, and your generosity will lead others to be grateful to God.

* 8:19 See 1 Corinthians 16:3-4. * 9:7 See Proverbs 22:8. † 9:9 Quoting Psalms 112:9. In the context of the Psalm this refers to a generous man.

¹² When you serve in this way, not only are the needs of God's people met, but also many will give grateful thanks to God.

¹³ By giving this offering you show your true nature, and those who receive it will thank God for your obedience, since it shows your commitment to the good news of Christ and your generosity in giving to them and everyone else.

¹⁵ Thank God for his gift that is far greater than words can express!

¹ This is me Paul, personally appealing to you through Christ's kindness and gentleness, the one who is "shy" when I have to face you but who is "bold" when I'm not there.*

² I'm pleading with you, so that the next time I'm with you I won't have to be as tough as I think I'll have to be, boldly dealing with those who think we behave in worldly ways.

³ Even though we live in this world, we don't fight as the world does.

⁴ Our weapons are not of this world but God's mighty power that destroys fortresses of human thinking, demolishing misleading theories.

⁵ Every high wall that stands tall and proud against the knowledge of God is knocked down. Every rebel idea is captured and brought into obedient agreement with Christ.

⁶ When you are completely obeying Christ then we're ready to punish any disobedience.

⁷ Look at what's staring you in the face! Anyone who considers that they belong to Christ should think again—just as they belong to Christ, so do we!

⁸ Even though I may seem to be boasting a little too much about our authority, I'm not embarrassed about it. The Lord gave this authority to us to build you up, not to knock you down.

⁹ I'm not trying to scare you by my letters.

¹⁰ People say, "His letters are tough and severe, but in person he's feeble, and he's a useless speaker."

¹¹ People like that should realize that what we say through letters when we're not there we will do when we are there!

¹² We're not so arrogant to compare ourselves with those who think so much of themselves. Those who measure themselves by themselves, and compare themselves with themselves, are really foolish!

¹³ But we won't boast about ourselves in extravagant terms that can't be measured. We simply measure what we have done using God's system of measurement that he gave us—and that includes you.

¹⁴ We are not over-extending our authority in saying this, as if we didn't get as far as you, for we did get to you and share with you the good news of Christ.†

* 10:1 Paul seems to be dealing with an accusation some have made against him. † 10:14 Paul is saying that he was working within his commission to spread the gospel when he came to Corinth. It may be that some were saying that Corinth was not really part of Paul's jurisdiction.

¹⁵ We're not boasting in extravagant terms that can't be measured, claiming credit for what others have done. On the contrary, we hope that as your trust in God grows, our work among you will greatly increase.

¹⁶ Then we can share the good news in places way beyond you, without boasting about what's already been done where someone else has worked.[‡]

¹⁷ "If anyone wants to boast, boast about the Lord."[§]

¹⁸ It's not those who praise themselves that are respected, but those that the Lord praises.

11

¹ I hope you can put up with a little more foolishness from me—well you already do put up with me!

² I agonize over you with a divine kind of jealousy, for I promised you to a single husband—Christ—so that I could present you as a pure virgin to him.

³ I worry that in some way, just as the serpent deceived Eve with his devious cunning, that you might be led astray in your thinking from your sincere and pure commitment to Christ.

⁴ If anyone comes and tells you about a different Jesus to the one we shared with you, you easily go along with them,* accepting a different spirit to the one you received, and a different kind of good news to the one you believed.

⁶ Even though I may not be skilled in giving speeches, I do know what I'm talking about. We have made this absolutely clear to you in every way.

⁷ Was it wrong of me to humble myself so you could be elevated, since I shared the good news with you at no charge?

⁸ I robbed as it were other churches, taking pay from them so I could work for you.

⁹ When I was there with you and needed something, I wasn't a burden to anyone because the believers who came from Macedonia took care of my needs. I was determined never to be a burden to you and I never shall.

¹⁰ This is as certain as the truth of Christ that is in me: nobody in all Achaia will stop me boasting about this!

¹¹ And why? Because I don't love you? God knows that I do!

¹² I'll continue to do what I've always done, so as to remove any opportunity for those who want to boast that their work is the same as ours.

¹³ These people are false apostles, dishonest workers, who pretend† to be apostles of Christ.

¹⁴ Don't be surprised at this for even Satan himself pretends to be an angel of light.

¹⁵ So it's no wonder then if those who serve him pretend to be agents of good. But their final end will be in accordance with what they've done.

[‡] 10:16 Paul wants to avoid issues of who gets credit for doing what, and would rather move on with the work of spreading the good news. [§] 10:17 Quoting Jeremiah 9:24. ^{*} 11:4 In other words, they are too tolerant of others who come with a very different understanding of the good news.

[†] 11:13 Literally, "transform themselves into." Also in verse 14.

¹⁶ Let me say it again: please don't think I'm being foolish. However, even if you do, accept me as someone who is foolish, and let me also boast a little.†

¹⁷ What I'm saying is not as the Lord would say it—all this foolish boasting.

¹⁸ But since many others are boasting in the way the world does, let me boast too.

¹⁹ (You're happy to put up with fools, since you are so wise!)§

²⁰ You put up with people who make you slaves, who take what you have, who exploit you, who arrogantly put you down, who hit you in the face.

²¹ I'm so sorry that we were too weak to do anything like that! But whatever people dare to boast about, I dare to do too. (Here I'm talking like a fool again.)

²² Are they Hebrews? Me too. Are they Israelites? Me too. Are they descendants of Abraham? Me too.

²³ Are they servants of Christ? (I know I'll sound like I'm crazy, talking like this.) But I have done so much more. I've worked harder, been imprisoned more often, whipped more times than I can count, faced death time and again.

²⁴ Five times I received from the Jews the forty lashes less one.

²⁵ Three times I was beaten with rods, once I was stoned, three times I was shipwrecked. Once I spent twenty-four hours adrift on the ocean.

²⁹ Who is weak, and I don't feel weak too? Who is led into sin, and I don't burn up?

³⁰ If I have to boast, I will boast about how weak I am.

³¹ The God and Father of the Lord Jesus—may he be praised forever—knows I am not lying.

³² While I was in Damascus, the governor under King Aretas had the city guarded in order to capture me.

³³ But I was lowered in a basket from a window in the city wall, and so I escaped from him.

¹ I suppose I have to boast, even though it doesn't really help. Let me go on to visions and revelations from the Lord.

† 11:16 Paul suggests that he also should be allowed to boast as the false apostles were boasting.

§ 11:19 Clearly a sarcastic or ironic comment; also what follows... * 11:26 Literally, "Gentiles."

² I know a man in Christ who fourteen years ago was taken up to the third heaven (whether physically in the body, or out of it, I don't know, but God knows).

³ I know that this man (whether taken up physically in the body, or apart from it, I don't know, but God knows),

⁴ how he was taken up into Paradise, and heard things too wonderful to be spoken, in words so sacred that no human being is allowed to say.

⁵ Something like that I'll boast about, but I won't boast about myself, except for my weaknesses.

⁶ I wouldn't be foolish if I wanted to boast, because I'd be telling the truth. But I won't boast, so that nobody will think more of me than what they see me doing or hear me saying.

⁷ Also, because these revelations were so amazingly great, and so that I wouldn't become proud, I was given a "thorn in my flesh"*—a messenger from Satan to hurt me so that I wouldn't become proud.

⁸ I pleaded with the Lord three times to get rid of this problem.

⁹ But he told me, "My grace is all you will need, for my power is effective in weakness." That's why I happily boast about my weaknesses, so that Christ's power may reside in me.

¹⁰ So I appreciate weaknesses, insults, troubles, persecutions, and difficulties that I suffer for Christ's sake. For when I'm weak, then I'm strong!

¹¹ I'm talking like a fool, but you made me do it! You should really have been speaking well of me, for in no way am I inferior to the super-apostles,† even though I don't count for anything.

¹² Yet the marks of an apostle were patiently demonstrated among you—signs, wonders, and powerful miracles.

¹³ In what way were you inferior to the other churches except I wasn't any burden to you? Please forgive me for doing you wrong!‡

¹⁴ Now I'm preparing to visit you for the third time, and I won't be a burden to you. I don't want what you have, I want you yourselves! After all, children shouldn't save up for their parents, but parents should for their children.

¹⁵ I will happily spend myself, and be spent, for you. If I love you so much more, will you love me even less?

¹⁶ Well, even if that's so, I wasn't a burden to you. Maybe I was being devious, and tricked you with my cunning ways!

¹⁷ But did I take advantage of you by anyone I've sent to you?

¹⁸ I urged Titus to go and see you, and I sent another brother with him. Did Titus take advantage of you? No, we both have the same spirit and use the same methods.

¹⁹ Maybe you're thinking that all along we've been just trying to defend ourselves. No, we speak for Christ before God. Everything we do, friends, is for your benefit.

²⁰ I do worry when I visit that somehow I won't find you as I would want to, and that you won't find me as you would want to! I'm afraid that there will be arguments, jealousy, anger, rivalry, slander, gossip, arrogance, and disorder.

* 12:7 Probably some physical problem in Paul's body. † 12:11 See 11:5. ‡ 12:13 Again a statement that should be viewed as ironic; similarly verse 16.

²¹ I'm afraid that when I visit, my God will humble me in your presence, and that I will be weeping over many of those who have sinned previously, and who still have not repented of impurity, sexual immorality, and indecent acts that they committed.

¹ This is my third visit to you. "Any charge must be verified by two or three witnesses."*

² I already warned those of you who were sinning when I visited the second time. Even though I'm not there, I'm warning them again—and all the rest of you—that when I visit I won't hesitate to act against them,

³ since you're demanding proof that Christ is speaking through me. He is not weak in the way he relates to you; rather he works powerfully among you.

⁴ Even though he was crucified in weakness, now he lives through the power of God. We too are weak in him, but you will see that we live with him through the power of God.

⁵ Examine yourselves to see if you are trusting God. Put yourselves to the test. Don't you yourselves realize that Jesus Christ is in[†] you? Unless you have failed the test...

⁶ However, I hope that you realize that we have not failed the test.

⁷ We pray to God that you won't do anything bad—not so we can show we passed the test, but so you can do what is good, even if we appear to be failures.

⁹ We're happy when we are weak, and you are strong—we pray that you may continue to improve.

¹⁰ That is why I write about this while I'm not with you, so that when I am with you I won't have to treat you harshly by imposing my authority. The Lord gave me authority for building up, not for tearing down.

¹¹ Finally, brothers and sisters, I say goodbye. Continue to improve spiritually. Encourage one another. Be in agreement. Live in peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you.

¹² Greet each other with Christian affection.

¹⁴ May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all.

* 13:1 Quoting Deuteronomy 19:15. † 13:5 Or "in union with."

Galatians

¹ This letter comes from Paul, an apostle not appointed by any human organization or human authority.* Quite the contrary: I was appointed by Jesus Christ and God the Father who raised Jesus from the dead.

² All the brothers and sisters here with me join in sending this letter to the churches in Galatia.

³ May the grace and peace of God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ be with you!

⁴ Jesus gave himself for our sins to set us free from this current world of evil, following the will of our God and Father.

⁵ To him be glory forever and ever! Amen.

⁶ I'm shocked at how quickly you're abandoning the God who by the grace of Christ called you. You are turning to a different kind of good news

⁷ that isn't good news at all! Some people there are confusing you, wanting to pervert the good news of Christ.

⁸ But if anyone, even we ourselves, or even an angel from heaven, should promote any other kind of good news† than what we have already told you, let them be condemned!

⁹ I repeat what we've told you before: if anyone promotes any other kind of good news‡ than what you've already accepted, let them be condemned!

¹⁰ Whose approval do you think I want—that of people, or of God? Do you think I'm trying to please people? If I wanted to please people I wouldn't be a servant of Christ!

¹² I didn't receive it from anyone, and nobody taught it to me—it was Jesus Christ who revealed it to me.

¹³ You heard how I behaved as a follower of the Jewish religion—how I fanatically persecuted God's church, savagely trying to destroy it.

¹⁵ But when God (who had set me apart from birth) called me through his grace, and was pleased

¹⁶ to reveal his Son to me so that I could announce the good news to the nations,§ I didn't discuss this with anyone.

¹⁷ I didn't go to Jerusalem to talk to those who preceded me as apostles; instead I left for Arabia, and then later returned to Damascus.

¹⁸ After three years I went to Jerusalem to visit Peter. I stayed with him for two weeks.

²⁰ (Let me assure you before God that I'm not lying about what I'm writing to you!)

²¹ Then I went to Syria and Cilicia.

* 1:1 Literally, “not by men nor through man.” † 1:8 Clearly Paul doesn't think this is good news at all, so maybe should be in ironic quotes: “good news.” ‡ 1:9 As 1:8. § 1:16 Or “Gentiles.”

²² Even so, my face wasn't known to those in the churches of Judea.

²³ They had only heard people say, "The man who used to persecute us is now spreading the faith he once tried to destroy!"

²⁴ —and they praised God because of me.

2

² I went because of what God had shown me.* I met with the recognized church leaders there in private and explained to them the good news I was sharing with the foreigners.† I didn't want the course I had followed, and what I was working so hard for, to come to nothing.

³ But as it turned out, nobody even insisted that Titus who was with me should be circumcised, though he was Greek.

⁵ We never gave into them, not even for a moment. We wanted to make sure to keep the truth of the good news unchanged for you.)

⁶ But those considered to be important didn't add anything‡ to what I said. (It doesn't concern me what kind of leaders they were, because God doesn't judge people the way we do.)

⁷ On the contrary, once they realized that I'd been given responsibility to share the good news with the foreigners just as Peter had been given the responsibility to share the good news with the Jews,

⁸ (for the same God§ who worked through Peter as apostle to the Jews also worked through me as apostle to the foreigners),

⁹ and once they recognized the grace that had been given to me, then James, Peter, and John, who bore the responsibility* of church leadership, shook Barnabas and me by the hand as their fellow-workers.

¹⁰ We were to work for the foreigners, while they would work for the Jews. Their only instruction was to remember to look after the poor, something I was already very committed to.

¹¹ However, when Peter came to Antioch I did have to confront him directly, because he was clearly wrong in what he did.

¹² Before some of James' friends arrived, Peter used to eat with the foreigners. But when these people came he stopped doing this and stayed away from the foreigners. He was afraid of being criticized by those who insisted that men had to be circumcised.

¹³ As well as Peter, other Jewish Christians became hypocritical too, to the extent that even Barnabas was persuaded to follow their hypocrisy.

¹⁴ When I realized that they weren't taking a firm stand for the truth of the good news, I said to Peter in front of everyone, "If you're a Jew yet live like the foreigners and not like Jews, why are you forcing the foreigners to live like Jews?"

¹⁵ We may be Jews by birth, and not 'sinners' like the foreigners,

* 2:2 Literally, "according to revelation." † 2:2 Literally, "Gentiles." ‡ 2:6 Or "made no changes." § 2:8 Literally, "the One." * 2:9 Literally, "considered pillars."

¹⁶ but we know that nobody is made right by doing what the law demands—it is only through trusting in Jesus Christ. We have trusted in Christ Jesus so that we could be made right by placing our confidence in Christ, and not through doing what the law says—because nobody is made right by observing the requirements of the law.”

¹⁷ For if, as we look to be made right in Christ, we ourselves prove to be sinners, does that then mean that Christ is in the service of sin?[†] Of course not!

¹⁸ For if I were to rebuild what I've destroyed, then I only demonstrate I'm a law-breaker.[‡]

¹⁹ For through the law I died to the law in order that I could live for God.

²⁰ I've been crucified with Christ— so it's no longer I who lives, but it is Christ living in me. The life I now live in this body, I live by trusting in the Son of God, who loved me, and who gave himself for me.

²¹ How could I dismiss God's grace? For if we could be made right through keeping the law then Christ died a pointless death!

3

¹ You Galatians, you've lost your heads! * Who has put you under a spell? The death of Jesus Christ on a cross was clearly presented to you so you could see!

² So tell me—did you receive the Spirit by keeping the law, or by placing your trust in what you heard?

³ You really have lost your heads! You began living[†] in the Spirit. Do you really think you can now make yourselves perfect by your own human efforts?[‡]

⁴ Did you go through so much suffering for nothing? (It really wasn't for nothing was it?)

⁵ Let me ask you: does God[§] give you the Spirit and do so many miracles among you because you keep the law, or is it because you trust in what you heard?

⁶ It's just like Abraham who “trusted God, and was considered to be right.” *

⁷ So you should acknowledge that those who trust in God are the children of Abraham.

⁸ In Scripture it's foreseen that God would make right the foreigners who trusted in him. The good news is revealed to Abraham beforehand with the words, “Through you all the nations will be blessed.”

⁹ Consequently those who trust in God are blessed along with Abraham who trusted God.

[†] 2:17 The idea here is that by giving up observance of the Jewish law we then become sinners, and Christ has led us into sin—a concept that Paul strongly rejects. [‡] 2:18 In other words, if I return to the old system of law as the means of being set right with God, all I do is prove that I am in violation of the law as a sinner. * 3:1 The word used here is usually translated as “foolish”; however today that has become more of an epithet. Paul's point is that they are not thinking—the word really means “mindless.” The same word is used again in verse 3. [†] 3:3 Meaning, “You began your Christian lives.” [‡] 3:3 Or “by human means.” [§] 3:5 Literally, “the one.” * 3:6 Quoting Genesis 15:6.

¹⁰ All those who rely on keeping the law[†] are under a curse, for as Scripture says, “Cursed is everyone who doesn't carefully obey everything that's written in the book of the law.”

¹¹ Clearly nobody is made right with God by attempting to keep the law, for “Those who are made right will live by trusting God.”[‡]

¹² Obedience to the law has nothing to do with trusting God. Scripture only says, “You will live if you observe everything the law requires.”[§]

¹³ Christ has rescued us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us.* As Scripture says, “Cursed is everyone who is hanged on a tree”[†]—

¹⁴ so that through Christ Jesus the blessing of Abraham could come to the foreigners as well, and we could receive the promise of the Spirit by trusting God.

¹⁵ Brothers and sisters, here's an example from daily life. If a contract is drawn up and agreed, signed and sealed, nobody can ignore it or add to it.

¹⁶ Now the promises were given to Abraham, and to his son.[‡] It doesn't say, “sons” as if plural, but singular: “and to your son,” meaning Christ.

¹⁷ Let me explain. The law, coming four hundred and thirty years later, doesn't cancel the previous agreement[§] that God made, breaking the promise.

¹⁸ If the inheritance is derived from obedience to the law, it no longer comes from the promise. But God graciously gave it to Abraham by means of the promise.

¹⁹ What was the point of the law, then? It was added to show what wrongdoing really is, until the son came to whom the promise had been made. The law was put in place by angels through the hand of a mediator.

²¹ So does the law work against God's promises? Of course not! For if there was a law that could give life, then we could be made right by keeping it.

²² But Scripture tells us that we all are prisoners of sin. The only way we can receive God's promises is by trusting in Jesus Christ.

²³ Before we trusted in Jesus we remained in the custody of the law until this way of trusting was revealed.

²⁴ The law was our guardian until Christ came, so that we could be made right by trusting him.

²⁵ But now this way of trusting Jesus has come, we no longer need such a guardian.

²⁶ For you are all God's children through your trust in Christ Jesus.

[†] 3:10 As a means of salvation. [‡] 3:11 Quoting Habakkuk 2:4. [§] 3:12 Quoting Leviticus 18:5.

* 3:13 “By becoming a curse for us”: meaning by experiencing the consequences of sin. The idea that this was an imposed curse by God is not the meaning here. It is sin itself that brings the curse (see Romans 6:23). [†] 3:13 Quoting Deuteronomy 21:23. [‡] 3:16 Literally, “seed.” See Genesis 12:7 and Genesis 13:15. [§] 3:17 Or “covenant.” *

3:20 The idea here is that the Old Testament law needed a mediator (Moses). But in the case of the promise this was made directly to Abraham, and according the argument that Paul is developing here, directly fulfilled that promise through Jesus Christ. In this way, says Paul, the promise and its fulfillment are superior to the law.

²⁷ All of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ.

²⁹ If you are Christ's, then you are Abraham's children, and you are heirs of the promise!

4

¹ Let me explain what I'm saying. An heir who is under-age is no different from a slave, even though the heir may be the owner of everything.

² An heir is subject to guardians and managers until the time set by the father.

³ It's just the same for us. When we were children, we were slaves subject to the basic rules* of the law.

⁴ But at the appropriate time God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under the rule of law,

⁵ so that he could rescue those who were kept under the rule of law, so that we could receive the inheritance of adopted children.

⁶ To show you are his children, God sent the Spirit of his Son to convince us, causing us to call out, "Abba," meaning "Father."

⁷ Since you are now no longer a slave, but a child, and if you are his child, then God has made you his heir.

⁸ At the time when you didn't know God, you were enslaved by the supposed "gods" of this world.

⁹ But now you've come to know God—or better, to be known by God. So how can you go back to those useless and worthless rules? Do you want to be slaves to those rules all over again?

¹⁰ You're observing special days and months, seasons and years.†

¹¹ I'm concerned that all I did for you has been wasted!

¹² I'm pleading with you, my friends: be like me, because I became like you.‡ You've never treated me badly.

¹³ You remember that it was because I was sick that I shared with you the good news on my first visit.§

¹⁴ Even though my illness was difficult for you, you didn't despise or reject me—in fact you treated me like an angel of God, like Christ Jesus himself.

¹⁵ So what's happened to all your gratefulness? I tell you, back then if you could have pulled out your eyes and given them to me, you would have!

¹⁶ So what has happened—have I become your enemy by telling you the truth?

* 4:3 The word translated "rules" here is subject to wide interpretation. Originally the word referred to the alphabet, then took the meaning of the "ABC's" of life. Paul is comparing the ceremonial law to such letters and symbols, basic instructions useful for existence but having no power to save and heal. The same word is used in verse 9. † 4:10 This refers to the observing of special feast days and times in the Old Testament system. ‡ 4:12 In other words, a "liberated Gentile." § 4:13 It seems that because Paul was delayed due to sickness that he had the chance to share the good news with the Galatians.

¹⁷ These people are keen to gain your support, but not for any good reasons. On the contrary, they want to keep you away from us so that you will enthusiastically support them.

¹⁸ Of course it's good to want to do good. But this should be at all times, not just when I'm there with you!*

¹⁹ My dear friends, I want to work with you until Christ's character is duplicated in you.

²⁰ I really wish I could be with you right now so I could change my tone of voice... I'm so worried about you.

²¹ Answer me this, you people who want to live under the law: Don't you hear what the law is saying?

²² As Scripture says, Abraham had two sons, one from the servant girl, and one from the free woman.†

²³ However, the son from the servant girl was born following a human plan,‡ while the son from the free woman was born as the result of the promise.

²⁴ This provides an analogy: these two women represent two agreements. One agreement is from Mount Sinai—Hagar—and she gives birth to slave children.

²⁶ But the heavenly Jerusalem is free. She is our mother.

²⁷ As Scripture says, "Rejoice you who are childless and who have never given birth! Shout aloud for joy, you who have never been in labor—for the abandoned woman has more children than the woman who has a husband!"§

²⁹ However, just as the one born according to a human plan persecuted the one born through the Spirit, so it is today.

³⁰ But what does Scripture say? "Send away the servant girl and her son, for the son of the servant girl will not be an heir together with the son of the free woman."*

³¹ Therefore, my friends, we're not children of a servant girl, but of the free woman.

5

¹ Christ set us free so we could have real freedom. So stand firm and don't get burdened down again by a yoke of slavery.

² Let me, Paul, tell you bluntly: if you rely on the way of circumcision, Christ will be of absolutely no benefit to you.

³ Let me repeat: every man who is circumcised has to keep the whole of the law.

⁵ For through the Spirit we trust and wait in hope to be made right.

* 4:18 Suggesting these people were only wanting to be helpful to the Galatians to fulfill their own agenda. † 4:22 See Genesis 16:15 and Genesis 21:2-3. ‡ 4:23 Referring to Sarah's plan to have a child through her servant-girl. § 4:27 Quoting Isaiah 54:1. * 4:30 Quoting Genesis 21:10.

⁶ For in Christ Jesus being circumcised or uncircumcised doesn't achieve anything; it's only trust working through love that matters.

⁷ You were doing so well! Who got in the way and prevented you from being convinced by the truth?

⁸ This "persuasion" certainly isn't from the one who calls you.

⁹ You only need a little bit of yeast to raise the whole batch of dough.

¹⁰ I'm confident in the Lord that you won't change the way you think, and that the one who is confusing you will face the consequences,* whoever he is.

¹¹ As for me, brothers and sisters, if I were still advocating circumcision—why am I still persecuted? If that was true, it would remove the issue of the cross that offends people so much.

¹² If only those who are causing you trouble would go even further than circumcision and castrate themselves!†

¹³ You, my brothers and sisters, were called to freedom! Just don't use your freedom as an excuse to indulge your sinful human nature—instead serve one another in love.

¹⁴ For the whole law is summed up in this one command, "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."‡

¹⁵ But if you attack and tear into one other, watch out that you don't completely destroy yourselves!

¹⁶ My advice is to walk by the Spirit. Don't satisfy the desires of your sinful human nature.

¹⁷ For the desires of the sinful nature are opposed to the Spirit, and the desires of the Spirit are opposed to the sinful nature. They fight one another, so you don't do what you want to do.

¹⁸ But if the Spirit leads you, you're not under the law.

²¹ envy, drunkenness, feasting, and similar things. As I warned you before so I warn you again: nobody who behaves like this will inherit the kingdom of God.

²² But the Spirit produces fruit such as love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, trust,

²⁴ Those who belong to Christ Jesus have nailed to the cross their sinful human nature, together with all their sinful passions and desires.

²⁶ Let's not become boastful, or irritate and envy one another.

6

¹ My friends, if someone is led astray by sin, you who are spiritual should bring them back with a gentle spirit. Watch out that you don't get tempted too.

* 5:10 Or "judgment." † 5:12 Not to be taken literally, of course, but symbolically, pushing the circumcision philosophy to the extreme. ‡ 5:14 Quoting Leviticus 19:18.

² Carry each other's burdens, for in this way you fulfill the law of Christ.

⁴ Carefully examine your actions. Then you can be satisfied with yourself, without comparing yourself to anyone else.

⁵ We have to take responsibility for ourselves.

⁷ Don't be fooled, God can't be treated with contempt: whatever you sow, that's what you reap.

⁸ If you sow according to your sinful human nature, from that nature you'll reap self-destruction. But if you sow according to the Spirit, from the Spirit you'll reap eternal life.

⁹ Let's never tire of doing good, for we'll reap a harvest at the proper time, if we don't give up.

¹⁰ So while we have time,* let's do good to everyone—especially to those who belong to the family of faith.

¹¹ Notice how big the letters are, now that I'm writing with my own hand!

¹² Those people who only want to make a good impression are forcing you to be circumcised just so they won't be persecuted for the cross of Christ.

¹³ Even those who are circumcised don't keep the law, but they want to have you circumcised so that they can boast about you and claim you as their followers.†

¹⁴ May I never boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ. Through this cross, the world has been crucified to me, and I've been crucified as far as the world is concerned.

¹⁵ Circumcision or uncircumcision doesn't matter—what matters is that we're created brand new!

¹⁶ Peace and mercy to all who follow this principle, and to the Israel of God!

¹⁷ Please, don't anyone trouble me anymore, because I carry on my body the scars of Jesus.‡

¹⁸ My brothers and sisters, may the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

* 6:10 That is, the time of opportunity. † 6:13 The boast is that they have convinced others to follow their belief in the ongoing importance of the Jewish rite of circumcision (and other Jewish practices, the problem noted throughout Galatians). ‡ 6:17 In other words, the wounds Paul received when he was persecuted for following Jesus.

Ephesians

¹ This letter comes from Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus according to God's will, to the Christians* in Ephesus and those who trust in Christ Jesus.

² Grace and peace to you from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

³ Praise God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us in Christ with all that's spiritually good in the heavenly world,

⁴ just as he chose us to be in him† before the beginning of this world, so that in love we could be holy and without fault before him.

⁵ He decided in advance to adopt us as his children, working through Jesus Christ to bring us to himself. He was happy to do this because this is what he wanted.

⁶ So we praise him for his glorious grace that he so kindly gave us in his beloved Son.‡

⁷ Through him we gain salvation through his blood, the forgiveness of our sins as a result of his priceless grace

⁸ that he so generously provided for us, together with all wisdom and understanding.

⁹ He revealed to us his previously-hidden will through which he was happy to pursue his plan

¹⁰ at the appropriate time to bring everyone§ together in Christ—those in heaven and those on the earth.

¹¹ In him—we were chosen beforehand, according to the plan of the one who is working everything out according to his will,

¹² for the purpose that we* who were the first to hope in Christ could praise his glory.

¹³ In him—you† too have heard the word of truth, the good news of your salvation. In him—because you trusted in him you were stamped with the seal of the Holy Spirit's promise,

¹⁴ which is a down-payment on our inheritance when God redeems what he's kept safe for himself—us, who will praise and give him glory!

¹⁵ That's the reason, because I've heard of your trust in the Lord Jesus and the love that you have for all Christians,

¹⁶ why I never stop thanking God for you and remember you in my prayers.

¹⁷ I pray that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the glorious Father, may give you a spirit of wisdom to see and know him as he really is.

¹⁸ May your minds be enlightened so you can understand the hope he's called you to— the glorious riches he promises as an inheritance to his holy people.

¹⁹ May you also understand God's amazing power

²⁰ that he demonstrated in raising Christ from the dead. God seated Christ at his right hand in heaven,

* 1:1 Literally, "saints." † 1:4 Or "in union with him." ‡ 1:6 Son is assumed here. The Greek says "beloved one." § 1:10 Paralleling Colossians 1:20. *

† 1:13 "You" meaning Gentile Christians.

²¹ far above any other ruler, authority, power, or lord, or any leader with all their titles—not only in this world, but also in the coming world too.

²² God has made everything subject to the authority of Christ, and has given him the responsibility as head over everything for the church,

²³ which is his body, filled full and made complete by Christ, who fills and brings everything to completion.

2

² living your lives according to the ways of the world, under the control of the devil,* whose spirit is at work in those who disobey God.

³ All of us were once like that, our behavior determined by the desires of our sinful human nature and our evil way of thinking. Like everyone else, in our nature we were children of anger.†

⁴ But God in his generous mercy, because of the amazing love he had for us

⁵ even while we were dead in our sins, has made us alive together with Christ. Trusting in him has saved you!

⁶ He raised us up with Christ, and in Christ Jesus seated us with him in heaven,

⁷ so that in all eternity to come he could demonstrate the amazing extent of his grace in showing us kindness through Christ Jesus.

⁸ For you've been saved by grace through trusting in him—it's not through yourselves, it's the gift of God!

⁹ This has nothing to do with human effort, so don't be proud of yourselves.

¹⁰ We're the product of what God does, created in Christ Jesus to do good, which God already planned that we should do.

¹¹ So you who are “foreigners” humanly-speaking, called “uncircumcised” by those who are “circumcised”‡ (which is only a procedure carried out by human beings), you need to remember

¹² that once you had no relationship to Christ. You were barred as foreigners from being citizens of Israel, strangers to the agreement§ God had promised. You had no hope and you lived in the world without God.

¹³ But now, in Christ Jesus, you who were once a long way off have been brought near by the blood of Christ.

¹⁴ Christ is our peace. Through his body* he made the two into one, and broke down the separating wall of hostility that divided us,

¹⁵ freeing us from the law with its requirements and regulations. He did this so he could create in himself one new person out of the two and so make peace,

* 2:2 Literally, “the ruler of the power of the air.” † 2:3 The Greek literally says “Children in nature of anger.” Following the previous thought about human nature, this could mean we are “naturally angry” or rebellious towards God. Alternatively, this could be viewed that we are the object of divine anger, though God is not specifically mentioned here. ‡ 2:11 That is, the Jews (circumcised) and the Gentiles (uncircumcised). § 2:12 Or “covenant.” * 2:14 From the context it appears that Paul is referring here to Jesus' crucifixion.

¹⁶ and completely reconcile both of them to God through the cross as if they were just one body, having destroyed our hostility towards each other.

¹⁷ He came and shared the good news of peace with those of you who were far away, and those who were nearby,

¹⁸ because through him we both gain access to the Father through the same Spirit.

¹⁹ That means you're no longer strangers and foreigners; you are fellow citizens of God's people and belong to God's family

²⁰ that's being built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, with Christ Jesus as the cornerstone.

²¹ In him the whole building is joined together, growing to form a holy temple for the Lord.

²² You too are being built together in him as a place for God to live by the Spirit.

3

² (well, I'm assuming you've heard that God gave me the specific responsibility of sharing God's grace with you),

³ how, by what God showed me, made clear the mystery that was previously hidden. I wrote to you briefly before about this,

⁴ and when you read this you'll be able to understand my insight into the mystery of Christ.

⁵ In past generations this wasn't made clear to anyone, but now it's been revealed to God's holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit

⁶ that foreigners are joint heirs, part of the same body, and in Christ Jesus share together in the promise through the good news.

⁷ I became a minister of this good news through the gift of God's grace that I was given by his power that was at work in me.

⁸ This grace was given to me, the least important of all Christians, in order to share with the foreigners the incredible value of Christ,

⁹ and to help everyone see the purpose of the mystery which from the very beginning was hidden in God who made everything.

¹⁰ God's plan was that the various aspects of his wisdom would be revealed through the church to the rulers and authorities in heaven.

¹² Because of him and our trust in him we can come to God in total freedom and confidence.

¹³ So I'm asking that you don't get discouraged that I'm suffering—it's for you and you should value that!

¹⁴ This is why I kneel before the Father

¹⁵ from whom every family in heaven and on earth receives its nature and character;

¹⁶ asking him that out of his wealth of glory he may strengthen you in your innermost being with power through his Spirit.

¹⁷ May Christ live in you as you trust in him, so that as you are planted deep in love,

¹⁸ you may have the power to comprehend with all God's people the breadth and length and height and depth of Christ's love.

¹⁹ May you know the love of Christ that surpasses knowledge, so that you're made full and complete by the fullness of God.

²⁰ Now may he who—through his power working in us—can do infinitely more than we ever ask for or even think about,

²¹ may he be glorified in the church and in Christ Jesus through all generations for ever and ever. Amen.

4

¹ So I—this prisoner in the Lord—am encouraging you to make sure you live according to the principles to which you were called.

² Don't think proudly of yourselves; be gentle and patient, showing tolerance to each other in love.

³ Make every effort to remain one in the Spirit through the peace that binds you together.

⁴ For there's one body, and one Spirit, just as you were called to one hope.

⁶ there's one God and Father of everyone. He is over all and through all and in all.

⁷ To each of us grace was given in proportion to Christ's generous gift.

⁸ As Scripture says, "When he ascended to the heights he took captives with him, and gave gifts to humanity."*

⁹ (Regarding this: it says he ascended, but that means he also had previously descended to our lowly world.

¹⁰ The one that descended is the same one who also ascended to the highest heaven in order that he could make the whole universe complete.)

¹¹ The gifts he gave were so that some could be apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers,

¹² with the purpose of preparing God's people for the work of helping others, to help the body of Christ to grow.

¹³ We grow together until we all reach the state of being one in our trust in and knowledge of the Son of God, completely grown up, measuring up to full maturity in Christ.

¹⁵ instead by speaking the truth in love we ought to grow up in everything into Christ, who is our head.

¹⁶ It's because of him that the whole body operates, every joint holding it together as each individual part does what it's supposed to, and the whole body grows, building itself up in love.

¹⁷ So let me say this to you—in fact I insist on it in the Lord—that you should no longer live like the foreigners do, in their empty-headed way.

¹⁸ In the darkness of their minds they don't understand, and they have been cut off from the life of God because they don't know anything and in their stubbornness they don't want to know.

* 4:8 Quoting Psalms 68:18.

¹⁹ Because they are past caring they abandon themselves to sensuality, and greedily do all kinds of disgusting things.

²⁰ But that's not what you learned about Christ!

²² So get rid of your former lifestyle, that old nature that ruins you through deceptive desires!

²³ Let yourselves be re-made spiritually and mentally,

²⁴ and put on your new nature that God created so you will be like him, right and holy in the truth.

²⁵ So reject lies, and tell the truth to each other—for we belong to each other.

²⁶ Don't sin by getting angry; don't let evening come and find you still mad—

²⁷ and don't give the devil any opportunity.

²⁸ Thieves, stop your stealing, and do honest, productive work with your hands, so you'll have something to give to those who need it.

²⁹ Don't use bad language. Speak words that will encourage people as necessary, so that those who listen will be helped.

³⁰ Don't disappoint the Holy Spirit of God that marked you as belonging to him until the day of redemption.

³¹ Get rid of every kind of bitterness, rage, anger, verbal abuse, and insults, along with all forms of evil.

³² Be kind and compassionate to each other, forgiving one another, just as God in Christ forgave you.

5

² Live in love, just as Christ loved you. He gave himself for us, a gift and sacrificial offering to God like a sweet-smelling perfume.

³ Sexual immorality or any kind of indecency or greed should never be mentioned concerning you, as God's people should not be doing such things.

⁴ Obscene talk, stupid chatter, and coarse jokes are totally inappropriate—instead you should be thanking God.

⁶ Don't let anyone fool you with lying words, for it's because of such things that God's judgment is passed on the children of disobedience.

⁸ At one time you were darkness, but now you are light in the Lord. You are to live as children of light

¹⁰ demonstrating what the Lord really appreciates.

¹¹ Don't have anything to do with the pointless things that darkness produces—instead expose them.

¹² It's shameful even to speak about the things such people do secretly,

¹³ but when anything is exposed by the light then it's revealed as it is. Light makes everything visible.

¹⁴ That's why it's said, "Wake up, those of you who are sleeping, rise up from the dead, and Christ will shine on you."

¹⁵ So be careful how you live your life, not foolishly, but wisely,

¹⁶ making the best use of opportunities because the days are evil.

¹⁸ Don't get drunk on wine which will wreck your life, but be filled with the Spirit.

¹⁹ Share together with one another, using psalms and hymns and sacred songs, singing and making music to the Lord to express what you feel.

²⁰ Always thank God the Father for everything in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

²² Wives, do what your own husbands tell you to do, as you would if the Lord told you.

²³ The husband is head of the wife in the same way as Christ is head of the church—his body and its savior.

²⁵ Husbands, you should love your wives in the same way as Christ loved the church and gave himself for it.

²⁶ He made it holy, he made it clean by washing in the water of the word,*

²⁷ so that he could make the church his own, with no flaw or blemish or any kind of fault, but holy and blameless.

²⁸ Husbands should love their wives just like this, as they love their own bodies. A man who loves his wife loves himself—

²⁹ for no one ever hated his own body, but feeds it and looks after it, just as Christ does for the church,

³⁰ for we are parts of his body.

³¹ "This is why a man leaves his father and mother, and is joined to his wife, and the two are united in one."[†]

³² This is a deep hidden truth—but I'm talking about Christ and the church.

³³ However, each husband should love his own wife as he does himself, and the wife should respect her husband.

6

² "Honor your father and mother." This is the first commandment that has a promise attached:

³ "that things may go well for you and you may live a long life on the earth."^{*}

* 5:26 Presumably an allusion to baptism. † 5:31 Quoting Genesis 2:24. * 6:3 Quoting Exodus 20:12 or Deuteronomy 5:16.

⁴ Fathers, don't make your children mad, but look after them by disciplining them and instructing them about God.

⁶ Don't just work well when you're being watched to gain approval, but work like servants of Christ, honestly doing God's will,

⁸ You know that whoever does what's good will be rewarded by the Lord, whether that person is a servant or someone who is free.

⁹ Masters, you should treat your servants the same way. Don't threaten them, remember that the Lord in heaven is both their master and yours, and he treats people the same, without favoritism.

¹¹ Put on all the armor of God so you can withstand all the devil's attacks!

¹² We're not fighting against human forces, but against supernatural rulers and powers, the dark lords of this world, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavens.

¹³ Take all the weapons God provides so that you may be able to stand your ground in the day of evil and after doing all you can, to find yourself still standing!

¹⁴ So stand up, wrap the belt of truth around your waist, tie on the breastplate of justice and the right,

¹⁵ and put on the shoes of readiness to share the good news of peace.

¹⁶ Above all, take up the shield of trusting God, by which you'll be able to put out all the devil's flaming arrows.

¹⁸ Always pray in the Spirit as you do all this. Stay awake and keep on praying for all God's people.

¹⁹ Pray for me too so that I'll be given the right words to say, and that I'll be able to explain confidently the hidden truths of the good news.

²⁰ I'm an imprisoned ambassador for the sake of the good news, so please pray that I will speak fearlessly, as I should.

²¹ Tychicus, our good friend and faithful minister, will give you all my news and explain everything so you'll know how I'm doing.

²² That's why I'm sending him to you—to tell you what's happened to us and to encourage you.

²³ Peace to all the Christians there, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ, with love and trust in him.

²⁴ Grace to all those who eternally love our Lord Jesus.

Philippians

¹ This letter comes from Paul and Timothy, servants of Christ Jesus, to all God's people in Christ Jesus living in Philippi, and to the church leaders and assistants.

² Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

³ When I think of you I'm so thankful to my God,

⁴ and I'm always glad to remember all of you in my prayers,

⁵ because you've been partners with me in spreading the good news right from the beginning up till now.

⁶ I'm absolutely sure that God who began this good work in you will continue working and bring it to a successful conclusion when Jesus Christ returns.

⁷ It's appropriate for me to be thinking this way about all of you because you mean so much to me. Whether I'm in prison or out there making the good news clear, all of you share God's grace together with me.

⁸ God is my witness as to my great affection for every one of you in the caring love of Christ Jesus.

⁹ My prayer is that your love may grow more and more in knowledge and understanding,

¹⁰ so that you can work out what's really important. That way you can be genuine and blameless when Christ returns,

¹¹ filled with the fruits of living right that come through Jesus Christ and give glory and praise to God.

¹² I want you to know, my brothers and sisters, that all I've experienced has worked out to move the good news forward!

¹³ For everyone—including the whole praetorian guard*—now knows that I'm in chains for Christ;

¹⁵ Yes, some speak out of jealousy and rivalry. However, there are those who speak from good motives.

¹⁶ They act out of love, because they know that I'm meant to be here to defend the good news.

¹⁷ Those others present Christ deceptively because of their selfish ambitions, trying to cause me problems in my imprisonment.

¹⁸ But so what? All I care about is that Christ is presented every which way, whether just pretending or whether from true convictions. That's what makes me happy—and I will go on being happy!

¹⁹ Why? Because I'm convinced that through your prayers for me, and through the help of the Spirit of Jesus Christ, this will turn out to be my salvation.†

²⁰ For it's my strongest hope and expectation not to do anything of which I would be ashamed. Instead it's my bold hope, as always, that even now Christ will be greatly honored through me, whether I live or die.

²¹ As far as I'm concerned, living is for Christ, and dying brings gain.

* 1:13 Bodyguards to the Roman Emperor. † 1:19 Paul may be referring to salvation from his immediate situation or his ultimate salvation, or both.

²² But if I'm to go on living here and this would be productive work, then I really don't know what's best to choose!

²³ For I'm in a dilemma—I really want to leave and be with Christ, which would be far better,

²⁵ Since I'm absolutely sure of this, I know that I'll stay here, remaining with you all to help you as your trust and delight in God grows, ²⁶ so that when I see you again your praise to Christ Jesus may be even greater because of me.

²⁷ Just be sure that the way you live your lives corresponds to the good news of Christ, so that whether I come and see you or not I can get to hear how you're doing—that you stand firm in full agreement with one another, spiritually united as you work together for the trusting faith of the good news.

²⁸ Don't let your enemies scare you. By being brave you will demonstrate to them that they will be lost, but that God himself will save you.

³⁰ You're experiencing the same struggle you saw me having—a struggle I still have, as you now know.

2

¹ So then, if you're encouraged by being in Christ, if you're comforted by his love, if you share together in the Spirit, if you have compassion and sympathy—

² then make my joy complete by thinking the same way and loving the same way, spiritually united and having one purpose.

³ Don't do anything from a spirit of selfishness or pride, but humbly think of others better than you do of yourself.

⁴ None of you should be preoccupied about your own things—instead concern yourself with the interests of others too.

⁶ Though in his nature he was always God, he wasn't concerned to cling on to his equality with God.

⁷ Instead he emptied* himself, taking the nature of a servant, becoming like a human being.

⁸ Coming in human form, humbling himself, he submitted himself to death—even death on a cross.

⁹ That's why God placed him in the position of greatest honor and power, and gave him the most prestigious name—

¹⁰ so that in the name of Jesus everyone should bow in respect, whether in heaven or on earth or under the earth,

¹¹ and all will declare that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

¹² So, my good friends, continue to work towards the goal of salvation with complete reverence and respect for God, following what you were told—not just when I was with you, but even more so now I'm away from you.

* 2:7 Indicating that Jesus chose to “empty” himself of his divine powers.

¹³ For it's God who is working within you, creating the will and the ability to do what he wants you to do.

¹⁴ Do everything without complaining or arguing

¹⁵ so that you'll be sincere, innocent of any wrong. Be God's blameless children living in the middle of a dishonest and corrupt people.[†] Shine among them as lights to the world,

¹⁶ holding out to them the word of life. That way I'll have something to be proud of when Christ returns, proving I didn't run around and work for nothing!

¹⁷ So even if I pour out my life as a sacrifice and offering so you may trust in God, I'm happy for it, and I'm glad together with all of you,

¹⁸ just as you have such joy and are glad with me.

¹⁹ I'm hoping, if that's what the Lord Jesus wants, to send Timothy to you soon. It will cheer me up once I know how you're doing.

²⁰ I don't know anyone who genuinely cares about you as he does.

²¹ Other people only worry about their own interests, not those of Jesus Christ.

²² But you already know what he's like—just as a child working to help his father, so he's worked with me to spread the good news.

²³ So I hope to send him as soon as I see how I'm doing,

²⁴ and I trust in the Lord that shortly I'll be able to come too.

²⁵ But I thought it was important to send Epaphroditus to you. He's a brother to me, a co-worker and fellow-soldier. He's the one you sent to look after me,

²⁶ and he's been longing to see all of you, worried about you because you'd heard he was sick.

²⁷ He certainly was sick—he nearly died—but God had mercy on him. Not just on him, but on me too, so that I wouldn't have tragedy upon tragedy.

²⁸ That's why I'm so keen to send him, so that when you see him you'll be happy, and I won't have to be so anxious.

²⁹ So welcome him with much happiness in the Lord—honor people like him,

³⁰ because in working for Christ he nearly died, putting his life on the line to make up for the help you weren't in a position to give me.

3

¹ To sum up: my dear friends, delight in the Lord! It's not a burden for me to repeat these things to you—it's to keep you safe!

² Watch out for the wolves, those who do evil, those who insist on physical circumcision—

³ for it's we who are truly circumcised, worshiping by the Spirit of God, placing our assurance in Christ Jesus. We have no confidence in human abilities*—

[†] 2:15 See Deuteronomy 32:5. * 3:3 Literally, “flesh,” also in verse 4.

⁴ for if there was a way to rely on human nature then I myself could have that confidence! If anyone thinks they have confidence in such human things, then I outdo them:

⁵ I was circumcised on the eighth day, I'm an Israelite of the tribe of Benjamin, a true Hebrew. Regarding legal observance I'm a Pharisee;

⁷ But in whatever way such things gained me anything, I count them as a loss for Christ.

⁸ Truly, I count everything as loss in exchange for the incredible benefit I've gained through knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. I've thrown away all these things for him, and consider them trash, so that I might gain Christ.

⁹ I want to be found in him, not being right because of what I've done, or what the law requires, but made right through confidence in Christ, set right by God through trusting in him.

¹⁰ I want to really know him, and the power of his resurrection—to take part in his suffering and become like him in his death,

¹¹ so that somehow I might be part of the resurrection from the dead!

¹² Not that I've already got it all, or that I'm already perfect—but I run so that I might win what was won for me by Christ Jesus.

¹³ My friends, I don't consider that I've already won, but this is my one objective: disregarding what is behind me, I strain forward to what is in front of me.

¹⁴ I run towards the finish line to win the prize of God's invitation to heaven through Christ Jesus.

¹⁵ Those of us who are spiritually mature should think like this, and if you think anything different, then God will reveal this to you.

¹⁶ We just need to make sure that we follow what we already have understood.

¹⁷ My friends, copy my example as others do and take note of the way to behave since you have us as a model.

¹⁸ The way some people live makes them enemies of the cross of Christ—as I've often told you before and repeat again though it pains me so much I want to weep.

²¹ He will re-create our defective human bodies so that they will be made like his glorious body using the power by which he brings everything under his control.

¹ So stand firm in the Lord, my dear friends who mean so much to me, who make me so happy! To me you are my crowning achievement! I truly love you and long to see you!

² Euodia and Syntyche—I urge you to resolve your differences with each other and agree in the Lord.

³ In fact, my faithful fellow-worker,* let me ask you to help these women, for they worked together with me to spread the good news—as well as Clement and my other co-workers, whose names are recorded in the book of life.

⁴ Always be happy in the Lord—I repeat, Be happy!

⁵ Everyone should know about your kindness. The Lord will soon be here.

⁷ Then the peace that comes from God, which is better than we can ever imagine, will protect your thoughts and attitudes in Christ Jesus.

⁹ Put into practice what you learned and received from me, what you saw me doing and heard me say. Then the God of peace will be with you.

¹⁰ I'm so happy in the Lord that you've at last thought about me again—realizing that you were concerned about me before but you couldn't do anything about it.

¹¹ I'm not talking about my own needs, because I've already learned to be satisfied in whatever situation I find myself.

¹² I'm used to having nothing, and I've experienced having plenty too. In every possible situation I've learned the secret of dealing with having plenty and going hungry, of being rich and of living in poverty:

¹³ I can do anything through him who makes me strong!

¹⁴ Even so it was good of you to share with me during my troubles.

¹⁷ Not that I'm looking for a donation—I'm looking for your “account” to increase in “profit.”†

¹⁸ For I have everything, more than I need! I'm thankful to receive from Epaphroditus the things you sent. They're like a sweet-smelling sacrifice that pleases God and that he approves of.

¹⁹ My God will fill you with everything you need in accordance with his glorious wealth in Christ Jesus!

²⁰ Glory be to God the Father, forever and ever. Amen.

²¹ Greet every fellow-believer in Christ Jesus. The Christian brothers and sisters with me send their greetings.

²³ May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit.

* 4:3 An unknown Christian worker presumably located in Philippi. † 4:17 Paul is using business terms, but probably referring figuratively to their spiritual “account.”

Colossians

¹ This letter comes from Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus according to the will of God, and from our brother Timothy.

² To the believers and trusting Christians at Colossae: may you have grace and peace from God our Father.

³ We are always thankful to God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ for you, and pray for you.

⁴ We've heard about your trust in Christ Jesus and your love for all the believers

⁵ because of the hope prepared for you in heaven. You already heard about this in the good news, the message of truth

⁶ that came to you just as it has gone throughout the whole world, spreading widely and bringing results. It's done the same for you too, ever since you heard it and realized the true nature of God's grace.

⁷ Our dear friend and fellow-worker Epaphras, who is a trustworthy minister of Christ on our behalf, taught you about this.

⁸ He's also made clear to us your love in the Spirit.

⁹ Because of this we continue to pray for you from the time we heard about you, asking God to give you understanding of what he wants you to do and to give you every kind of spiritual wisdom and understanding.

¹⁰ That way you'll live lives that rightly represent the Lord and please him, producing all kinds of good results and gaining greater knowledge of God.

¹¹ May you be made powerfully strong by his wonderful strength, having great patience and endurance.

¹² May you happily praise the Father, who has made it possible for us to share in the inheritance of God's people who live in the light.

¹³ He rescued us from the tyranny of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of the Son he loves,

¹⁵ The Son is the visible picture of the invisible God. He was before* all creation,

¹⁷ He existed before everything, and he holds everything together.

¹⁸ He is also the head of the body, the church. He is the beginning, the first and highest of those raised from the dead, so that he is supreme in everything.

¹⁹ God was pleased to have his full nature live in him,

* 1:15 Literally, "first-born," denoting position rather than timing of birth.

²⁰ and through him brought back everything in the universe to himself, since he made peace through the blood of his cross, through him reconciling all those on the earth and in heaven.[†]

²¹ You once were alienated from God, enemies in the way you thought and the way you acted,

²³ But your trust in him must continue rock-solid and immovable. Don't be shaken from the hope of the good news that you heard, the good news that's been shared throughout the world—that's the work that I Paul have been doing.

²⁴ I'm happy to have trouble for your sake, for by means of what happens to me physically I'm part of Christ's sufferings that he continues to experience for the sake of his body, the church.

²⁵ I serve the church following the direction God gave me about you, to present fully the word of God to you.

²⁷ God wanted to make known to them the glorious wealth of this mystery to the nations:[‡] Christ living in you is the glorious hope!

²⁸ We're telling everyone about him, instructing and teaching them in the best way we know how so that we can bring everyone before God fully mature in Christ.

²⁹ That's what I'm working for too, making every effort as I rely on his strength which is powerfully at work in me.

¹ I want you to know how hard I'm working for you, and for those at Laodicea—in fact for all those who haven't met me personally—

² so that you may be encouraged. May you be bound together in love, experiencing the great benefit of being completely sure in your understanding, for this is what the true knowledge of God brings. May you know the revealed mystery of God, which is Christ!

³ In him you can discover all the rich wisdom and knowledge of God.

⁴ I'm telling you this so that no one will fool you by spinning you a tale.*

⁵ Even though I'm not physically there with you, I'm with you in spirit. I'm so happy to see the way you stick together and how firm you are in your trust in Christ.

⁶ Just as you accepted Christ Jesus as Lord, go on following him,

⁷ grounded in him and built up by him. May your trust in him continue to grow strong, following what you were taught, full of gratitude to God.

[†] 1:20 The “he/him” can be confusing here. Supplying the actual nouns may help, though it makes for a clumsy translation: “God was pleased to have God’s full nature live in Christ, and through Christ brought back everything in the universe to himself (God), since Christ made peace through the blood of Christ’s cross, through Christ reconciling all those on the earth and in heaven.” [‡] 1:27 Or “Gentiles.” * 2:4 Literally, “false arguments.”

8 Watch out that nobody enslaves you through their philosophy and worthless delusions, following human traditions and concepts of this world, and not following Christ.

9 For the fullness of God's divine nature lives in Christ in bodily form,

10 and you have been made full[†] in him. He is supreme over every ruler and authority.

11 You were "circumcised" in him but not by human hands. You have been set free from sinful human nature by the "circumcision" Christ performed.[‡]

12 You were buried with him in baptism, and you were raised with him through your trust in what God did by raising him from the dead.

13 And even though you were dead because of your sins and being physically "uncircumcised," he brought you to life together with him. He has forgiven us all our sins.

14 He wiped out the record of our debts according to the Law that was written down against us; he took away this barrier[§] by nailing it to the cross.

15 He stripped away the power of spiritual rulers and authorities,* and having publicly revealed what they were truly like, he led them captive behind him in victory.

16 So don't let anyone criticize you for what you eat or what you drink, or regarding which religious festival, new moon ritual, or ceremonial sabbaths you choose to observe.[†]

17 These are just a shadow of what was to come, for the physical reality is Christ.

18 Don't let anyone cheat you out of your prize by insisting you have to beat yourself,[‡] or worship angels. They think they are better than anyone else because of visions they say they've had, and become ridiculously conceited in their sinful minds.

19 Such people are not connected to the head that directs the body, nourished and joined together through the body's sinews and muscles. As the body is united together it grows the way God wants it to grow.

20 If you died with Christ to the religious demands that this world insists upon,[§] why would you make yourself subject to such demands as if you were still part of this world?

21 Things like: don't handle that, don't taste that, don't touch that!

22 These commands refer to things that don't last since they're used up,* and they're based on man-made requirements and teachings.

23 Such rules may make some kind of sense to those who practice self-centered piety, who are so proud of being humble, and who "mortify the body;" but in reality they don't help at all in dealing with sinful desires.

[†] 2:10 Or "complete," "whole." [‡] 2:11 Clearly this is not talking about physical circumcision but what it was supposed to mean spiritually. [§] 2:14 Note that the barrier is on our side, not God's.

* 2:15 Clearly speaking about evil spiritual agencies. [†] 2:16 In this context Paul is referring to the various yearly festival days of the Jewish ceremonial system. [‡] 2:18 Self-mortification; the phrase could also be translated "false humility."

[§] 2:20 Probably referring both to Jewish religious regulations and to pagan ceremonies and taboos. * 2:22 This tends to indicate that the rules are about food and drink which will of course be consumed and then "used up."

3

² Fix your mind on what's above, not what's here on earth.

³ You died, and your life is kept safe with Christ in God.

⁴ When Christ—your life—is revealed, then you will also share in his visible glory.

⁵ So kill your worldly nature—sexual sin, immorality, lust, evil desires, greedily wanting to have more—this is the worship of idols.

⁶ Because of such things, those who disobey experience God's judgment.

⁷ At one time you lived like that when you behaved in such a way,

⁸ but now you should get rid of such things as anger, rage, wickedness, abuse, and using obscenities.

¹⁰ and put on your new self that is always being made more like your Creator, understanding better who he really is.

¹¹ In this new situation there's no Greek or Jew, circumcised or uncircumcised, foreigner, barbarian,* slave or free, for Christ is everything, and he lives in all of us.

¹² Since you are God's special people, holy and dearly loved, adopt a sympathetic nature that is kind, humble, gentle, and patient.

¹³ Be patient with one another, forgive others among you if you have grievances against one another. Just as the Lord forgave you, you should do the same.

¹⁵ May the peace of Christ direct your thinking, because you were called to this by God who makes you one, and thank God for it!

¹⁶ Let Christ's message fully live in you. In every wise way teach and instruct one another through psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing praises to God in gratitude and sincerity.

¹⁸ You married women, respect your husbands appropriately in the Lord.

¹⁹ You married men, love your wives and don't treat them badly.

²⁰ You children, always do what your parents tell you because this is what pleases the Lord.

²¹ You fathers, don't make your children mad, so they won't feel like giving up.

²² Those of you who are servants, do everything your human masters tell you, not with just an eye to please them, but honestly and sincerely, respecting the Lord.

²³ Do whatever you do really well, as if you're doing it for God, and not for people,

²⁴ because you know that the Lord will give you your reward—an inheritance! You're serving Christ the Lord!

* 3:11 Literally, "Scythian," a "barbarian" people from what is now southern Russia, the Ukraine, and Central Asia.

²⁵ Whoever does what's wrong will be paid back for the wrong they've done, and God has no favorites.

4

² Remember to keep on praying, with an alert and thankful mind!

³ Pray for us too that God may open a door of opportunity to spread the message, to tell about the revealed mystery of Christ—which is the reason I'm here in prison.

⁴ Pray that I may make it as clear as I should when I speak.

⁶ Always be gracious when you speak. Make sure it's in good taste, and think about how best to answer everyone.

⁷ Tychicus will tell you all about what's happening to me. He's a dear brother, a trustworthy minister and co-worker in the Lord.

⁸ I'm sending him to you for this very reason—so that you'll know how things are with me and this will cheer you up.

⁹ Onesimus is going with him too, a trusted and dear brother, who's one of you. They'll explain to you everything that's going on here.

¹⁰ Aristarchus who's with me here in prison sends his best wishes; likewise Mark, Barnabas' cousin (you've already had instructions to welcome him if he visits you),

¹¹ and Jesus—also called Justus—who are the only Jewish Christians* among those working with me here for the kingdom of God, men who have been a great help to me.

¹² Epaphras who is one of you and a servant of Christ Jesus, sends his greetings. He's always passionate in his prayers on your behalf, praying that you'll stand firm as grown-up Christians, totally convinced about everything as God would want.

¹³ For the record I can tell you that he's done a lot for you, and for those in Laodicea and Hierapolis as well.

¹⁴ Luke, our dear doctor, and Demas also send their best.

¹⁵ Greet the believers that are in Laodicea—Nympha too, and the church that meets in her house.

¹⁶ And when this letter has been read to you, make sure it's read to the church in Laodicea too, and that you also read the letter sent to Laodicea.

¹⁷ Tell Archippus, "See that you follow through in doing the ministry God gave you."

¹⁸ I Paul write my closing greetings with my own hand. Remember I'm in prison. Grace be with you.

* 4:11 Literally, "belonging to the circumcision."

First Thessalonians

¹ This letter comes from Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy to the church of the Thessalonians who belong to God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. May you have grace and peace!

² We are always thanking God for all of you, never forgetting you in our prayers.

³ We remember you before our God and Father—how you put your trust in him into practice, how you work hard in love, and how you patiently wait in the hope of our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁴ Brothers and sisters, we already know that you are loved by God and are very special to him.

⁵ The good news we brought to you wasn't just words, but had power too, for the Holy Spirit completely convinced you. In the same way you know what kind of men we are since we demonstrated to you that we were working for your benefit.

⁶ You were imitating us and the Lord when you received the message, for despite your troubles you experienced the joy the Holy Spirit gives.

⁷ So you have become an example to all the believers in Macedonia and Greece!*

⁸ You have broadcast the Lord's message, not only in Macedonia and Greece, but everywhere people have heard of your trust in God—so there's no need for us to tell anybody about it!

⁹ In fact they talk about what a marvelous welcome you gave us, how you abandoned idols and turned to God, how you serve the true and living God,

¹⁰ as you look forward to the coming of his Son from heaven—Jesus, the one God raised from the dead, who will save us from the judgment to come.

² You'll recall that after having had much trouble and bad treatment at Philippi, with the help of God we still dared to share God's good news with you, despite the opposition we faced.

³ For what we speak about isn't deceptive, or worthless, or fraudulent.

⁴ On the contrary, we have God's approval for what we say—he's entrusted us with sharing the good news. We don't set out to please people, but God. He's the one who judges our motives.

⁵ As you know, we've never used flattering words. Nor were we covering up some greedy, selfish attitude—as God is our witness!

⁶ We weren't trying to win anybody's praise—not from you, nor anyone else. We could have become a “burden” to you as messengers of Christ,

⁷ but instead we acted kindly among you, like a mother caring for her own children.

* 1:7 Literally, “Achaia,” also verse 8.

⁸ We loved you so much that we were delighted to share with you not just God's good news, but also our very own selves, because you had become so dear to us.

⁹ Don't you remember, brothers and sisters, all our hard work— working day and night so we wouldn't be a burden to any of you as we shared God's good news with you?

¹⁰ You yourselves can testify as to how we acted, and God can too—how we treated you believers with a holy attitude, fairly and blamelessly.

¹¹ You know how we cared for every one of you like a father caring for his own children. We encouraged you, comforted you, and shared with you our experience

¹² so that you could live as God would want you to live—the God who calls you to his own kingdom and glory.

¹³ Another thing: we're always thanking God that when you heard and accepted the word of God, you didn't treat it as some human words, but what it truly is, the word of God. This is what is at work in those of you who trust in him.

¹⁴ The experience you brothers and sisters have had imitates that of God's churches that belong to Christ Jesus in Judaea. Just like your fellow Jewish Christians you suffered as they did at the hands of the Jewish leaders

¹⁵ who killed the Lord Jesus and the prophets, and chased us out. They don't please God and they are hostile to everyone,

¹⁶ trying to prevent us from speaking to the other nations* to prevent them from being saved. They're always sinning to the maximum extent, but for them full judgment has arrived!

¹⁷ Brothers and sisters, since we felt as if we'd experienced a family separation because we hadn't seen you for a while (separated physically though not in spirit), we tried even harder to come and see you again face to face because that's what we wanted to do.

¹⁸ We really wanted to come and visit you, and I, Paul, tried again and again—but Satan stopped us.

¹⁹ For what gives us hope, what makes us happy, what we are really proud of as we stand before our Lord Jesus Christ when he comes back—is having you there too!

²⁰ You are our pride and joy!

¹ So when we couldn't bear it any longer, we decided it would be best for us to stay behind in Athens,

² and send Timothy on to you. He is our brother and God's co-worker in spreading the good news of Christ. We sent him to strengthen and encourage you in your trust in God

³ so that none of you would be upset by your troubles—for you know we should expect such things.

⁴ Even while we were with you we kept on warning you that we would suffer persecution soon— and as you well know that is exactly what has happened.

* 2:16 "Gentiles."

⁵ This is why, when I couldn't stand it anymore, I sent to find out whether you were still trusting in God. I was concerned that the Devil* had successfully tempted you and that all our work had been for nothing!†

⁶ Now Timothy has just returned from visiting you and he has brought us good news of your trust in God and the love you have. He's told us that you still have fond memories of us, longing to see us just as we long to see you.

⁷ This news really encouraged us while we were suffering troubles ourselves, brothers and sisters, knowing that you continue to hold on to your trust in God.

⁸ For us life is worth living now because you're standing firm in the Lord!

⁹ As we go into the presence of our God, how can we ever thank God enough for you because of all the joy you bring to us?

¹⁰ Night and day we pray for you as earnestly as possible, hoping to see you again face to face, and to help you continue developing your trust in God.

¹¹ May God our Father and our Lord Jesus make it possible for us to come to see you soon.

¹² May the Lord increase your love so it overflows to one another, and to everyone, just as we love you.

¹³ In this way may the Lord strengthen you so you may stand with minds that are holy and blameless before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus with all his holy ones.

4

¹ A few more things: Brothers and sisters, we plead with you and urge you in the Lord Jesus to behave in ways that please God, just as we instructed you. Of course you're already doing this, just do it more and more!

² You remember the instructions we gave you on behalf of the Lord Jesus.

³ What God wants is for you to live holy lives. So stay away from sexual immorality

⁵ not indulging passionate lust like the heathen† who have no knowledge of God.

⁶ Don't cheat or take advantage of another Christian in these matters, for the Lord is the one who executes justice in all such things, as we've already clearly explained to you, and warned you about.

⁷ For God did not call us to live impure lives, but holy lives.

⁸ So anyone who rejects this position isn't just rejecting what a human being is saying; they are rejecting God, who gives his Holy Spirit to you.

⁹ We certainly don't need to write and tell you to love fellow believers, because God teaches you to love one another—

* 3:5 "The Devil," Literally, "the tempter." † 3:5 "Successfully tempted"—the original is actually just "tempted" but in English this doesn't imply what Paul fears—that the temptation has succeeded. The issue here is not being tempted, but falling into sin as a result of temptation. * 4:4 This could also be translated as "know how to take a wife." † 4:5 "Gentiles," "other nations."

¹⁰ and in fact you are demonstrating this love to all the believers throughout Macedonia. Even so we want to encourage you, brothers and sisters, to love more and more.

¹¹ Try to live a quiet life, minding your own business, doing your own work, as we've already explained to you,

¹² so that your way of life may be respected by non-Christians and you won't have to rely on anyone to provide what you need.

¹³ We don't want you to be confused about what happens when people die,[‡] brothers and sisters, so that you won't grieve like others who don't have any hope.

¹⁴ Since we're convinced that Jesus died and rose again, we're also sure that God will bring[§] with Jesus those who have died trusting in him.

¹⁵ What we're telling you comes from the Lord: those of us who are alive and still here when the Lord comes certainly won't precede those who have died.

¹⁶ For the Lord himself will come down from heaven with a commanding shout, with the cry of the archangel, and with the sound of God's trumpet, and those who have died in Christ will rise first.

¹⁷ Then those of us who are alive and still here will be carried up together with them into the clouds, and we shall meet the Lord in the air. Then we will be with the Lord forever!

¹⁸ So encourage one another with these words.

5

² You yourselves know very well that the day of the Lord will come like a thief in the night.

³ When people talk about peace and security suddenly they will be completely ruined. It will be just like the sudden onset of childbirth, and they certainly won't escape.

⁴ But you, brothers and sisters, are not in the dark about this so that you won't be caught by surprise when the Day of Judgment* arrives suddenly like a thief.

⁵ For you are all children of light and children of the day. We don't belong to the night or to darkness.

⁷ For it's during the night that people sleep; and it's at night that they get drunk.

⁸ But since we belong to the day we should keep our heads clear, strapping on the breastplate of trust and love, and putting on as a helmet the hope of salvation.

⁹ For God hasn't placed us in a position to be punished, but has reserved us for salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.

¹⁰ He's the one who died for[†] us so that whether we're alive or dead we shall live together with him.

[‡] 4:13 Literally, "fall asleep." § 4:14 "Bring... those," obviously those who are resurrected from the earth, from the context of the two following verses. * 5:4 Literally, "Day." † 5:10 "For" in the sense of "for the sake of" rather than "in place of."

¹¹ So encourage and strengthen one another, just as you are doing.

¹² Brothers and sisters, we're asking you to respect those who work with you, who lead you in the Lord and teach you.

¹³ You should value them highly in love for the work they do. Live in peace with each other.

¹⁴ We urge you, brothers and sisters, to warn those who are lazy, encourage those who are anxious, help those who are weak, and be patient with everyone.

¹⁵ Make sure none of you pays back evil for evil, but always try to do good to one another, and to everyone.

¹⁶ Always be full of joy,

¹⁷ never stop praying,

¹⁸ be thankful in every situation—because this is what God in Christ Jesus wants you to do.

¹⁹ Don't hold the Spirit back,

²⁰ don't look down on prophecy,

²² keep away from every kind of evil.

²³ May the God of peace himself make you completely holy, and may your whole being—body, mind and spirit—be kept blameless for when our Lord Jesus Christ returns.

²⁴ The one who calls you is trustworthy, and he will do this.

²⁵ Brothers and sisters, pray for us.

²⁶ Greet all the believers there affectionately.[‡]

²⁷ I'm requiring you by the Lord that this letter be read to all the believers.

²⁸ May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

[‡] 5:26 Literally, "with a holy kiss."

Second Thessalonians

² May you have grace and peace from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

³ We keep on thanking God for you, brothers and sisters—we just have to! This is the right thing to do because your trust in God is growing in leaps and bounds, and the love you all have for each other increases more and more.

⁴ We speak so proudly of you among the churches of God because of your patient courage and trust in God during all the persecution and trouble you're going through.

⁵ For this is evidence that God is right in the decisions he makes, and that you deserve the kingdom of God for which you are suffering.

⁶ Since God does what's right he will deal appropriately with those who cause you trouble.

⁷ He will free you from your suffering—and us too—when the Lord Jesus appears from heaven in blazing fire with his powerful angels,

⁸ bringing judgment on those who reject God and refuse to accept the good news of our Lord Jesus.

⁹ They will rightly experience the consequence of eternal loss, separated from the presence of the Lord and his glorious power,

¹⁰ on the day when he comes to receive glory from his people, admired by all those who trust in him. This includes you because you were convinced about what we told you.

¹¹ That's why we continue to pray for you, that our God may make you worthy of what he's called us to do. May God powerfully fulfill every desire you have to do good and every action that comes from trusting him

¹² so that the name of our Lord Jesus may be honored by what you do—and in turn you are honored by him through the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2

¹ Talking about the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and how we're brought together to him, brother and sisters—

² please don't become upset or concerned by any spiritual revelation, or message, or letter supposedly from us that makes you think that the day of the Lord has already come.

³ Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, because the Rebellion* must come first, and the lawless man be revealed, the one whose end is destruction.

⁴ He is the enemy of God, and proudly sets himself up over everything that is called God and is worshiped. He even installs himself in God's Temple, claiming to be God.

⁵ Don't you remember that I told you all this while I was still with you?

* 2:3 Literally, "apostasy," the end-time, final rejection of God.

⁶ Now you know what's keeping him in check, because he will be revealed for what he is at the appropriate time.[†]

⁷ For the secret ways of lawlessness[‡] are already at work; however he who now restrains it will continue to do so until he is out of the way.

⁸ Then the lawless one will be revealed, the one whom the Lord Jesus will wipe out, blowing him away,[§] destroying him by the brilliance of his coming.

¹⁰ Using every type of evil trick he deludes those who are on their way to destruction, because they refused to love the truth and so be saved.

¹¹ Because of this God sends them a convincing delusion so that they put their trust in the lie.*

¹² As a result everyone who did not trust in the truth will be condemned, for they preferred what is evil.

¹³ But we just have to keep on thanking God for you, brothers and sisters loved by the Lord, because God from the beginning chose you to be saved through the Spirit who makes you right as you trust in the truth.

¹⁴ This is what he called you to through the good news we shared with you, so that you could participate in the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

¹⁵ So, brothers and sisters, stand firm, and hold on to what you've been taught, whether by what you were told, or through a letter from us.

¹⁷ encourage you and strengthen you so you can say and do everything that is good.

3

¹ Lastly, brothers and sisters, please pray for us, so that the Lord's message may spread and be truly appreciated, just as it is by you—

² and that we may be kept safe from immoral and evil men, because not everyone trusts in God.

³ But the Lord is trustworthy and will strengthen you, and protect you from the evil one.

⁴ We have great confidence in the Lord that you are doing and will continue to do what we told you.

⁶ Now we want to tell you, brothers and sisters, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, not to associate with any believer who can't be bothered to work for their living—those who don't follow the teachings they learned from us.

[†] 2:6 This whole section (2:6-12) is much debated as to its meaning. [‡] 2:7 Literally, "mystery of lawlessness," indicating the "revealed secret" of the anti-God power that is not only law-breaking but is truly law-less—without any respect for law. [§] 2:8 Literally, "by the breath of his mouth."

* 2:11 The lie: in this context surely meaning the fundamental Lie about the nature and character of God told by the Enemy (Isaiah 14, Ezekiel 28), who even claims to be God (2:4). In terms of God's "sending" of this delusion, note that in Scripture God is often speaking of causing that which he does not prevent. * 3:5 "The endurance of Christ" could mean the endurance demonstrated by Christ, or the endurance given by Christ—or both.

⁷ You certainly know that you should follow our example, because while we were with you we weren't lazy,

⁸ —we didn't eat anyone's food without paying for it. Instead we worked hard day and night so we wouldn't be a burden to any of you.

⁹ Not that we don't have the right to do so—but we wanted to be an example to you, so that you could copy what we did.

¹⁰ Even while we were with you we gave strict instructions that anybody who didn't want to work shouldn't eat.

¹¹ But now we hear that there are some lazy busybodies among you who don't work at all.

¹² We're ordering such people, urging them in the Lord Jesus, to settle down and work to pay for their own food.

¹³ Brothers and sisters, don't give up doing good.

¹⁴ Take note of anyone who doesn't do what we're telling you in this letter, and make sure you don't associate with them, so that they may become embarrassed.[†]

¹⁵ Don't consider them enemies, but warn them as a brother or sister.

¹⁶ May the Lord of peace himself grant you peace in every situation in every way. May the Lord be with all of you.

¹⁷ Notice the greeting to you from me, Paul, in my own handwriting. This is my signature on every letter I write.

¹⁸ May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with all of you.

[†] 3:14 In other words, that they would be encouraged to do what they should.

First Timothy

¹ This letter comes from Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus appointed by the authority of God our Savior and Christ Jesus, who is our hope.

² I'm sending it to you Timothy. You are my true son* because of your trust in God. May you have grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

³ When I was on my way to Macedonia I asked you to stay behind in Ephesus, so that you could speak with those who teach false ideas and insist that they stop.

⁴ They shouldn't concern themselves with legends and never-ending obsessions about ancestry.† Such ideas only lead to pointless debates, instead of understanding God as we trust in him.

⁵ The reason why I insist on this is so we may have love that comes from a pure heart, from a clear conscience and sincere trust in God.

⁷ They have ambitions to be teachers of the law, but they have no idea what they're talking about or what they're so boldly announcing!

⁸ Now we recognize that the law is good if people use it properly.

⁹ We also know that law isn't laid down for those who do what is good and right, but for those who are rebellious and ignore the law. It applies to people who have no use for God, who are sinful, who treat nothing as holy and are completely irreligious. It's for those who kill fathers and mothers, for murderers,

¹⁰ for those who are sexually immoral, homosexuals, kidnappers, liars, false witnesses—and anything else that's opposed to good teachings

¹¹ as determined by the wonderful good news of our blessed God which he entrusted to me.

¹² I'm just so grateful to Christ Jesus our Lord for the strength he's given me, and that he considered me trustworthy, appointing me to work for him.

¹³ Even though I used to insult God, and persecuted and abused God's people, God showed me mercy because of my ignorance and unbelief.

¹⁵ You can trust this saying that everyone should accept: "Christ Jesus came to this world to save sinners," and I'm the worst of them.

¹⁶ For this reason I was shown mercy—since I'm the worst sinner, Jesus Christ could demonstrate his infinite patience as an example to those who choose to trust in him and gain eternal life.

¹⁷ Honor and glory forever and ever to the eternal King, the immortal, invisible, and only God! Amen.

* 1:2 Actually "little child." † 1:4 Or "endless genealogies"—a situation that is not clear from the context.

¹⁸ These are the instructions I want to give to you, Timothy, my son, following the prophecies that brought you this far,† so you can fight the good fight!

¹⁹ Keep on trusting God and make sure you have a clear conscience. Some have refused to do this and have shipwrecked their trust in God.

²⁰ Hymenaeus and Alexander are such people, and I have “handed them over to Satan”§ to teach them not to misrepresent God.

¹ First of all, I want to encourage you to pray for everybody: make requests of God, ask on their behalf, and give thanks.

² Pray like this for kings and all types of leaders so that we may live quiet and peaceful lives, always thinking about God and taking life seriously.

⁴ He wants everyone to be saved, and come to understand what truth really is.

⁶ He gave himself so we could all be won back, demonstrating the evidence at the right time.

⁷ I was appointed to share this message and be its messenger,* a teacher to the foreigners† about trusting God and the truth (I'm not lying, I'm telling the truth!)

⁸ What I really want is for men everywhere to pray sincerely to God.‡ No anger or arguments!

⁹ In the same way, women should dress sensibly, modestly, and appropriately. They should be attractive not in their hairstyle or by wearing gold or pearls or expensive clothes,

¹⁰ but by the good things they do—as is appropriate for women who claim to follow God.

¹² I don't allow women to be instructors, or to dominate men; let them remain quiet.§

¹³ For Adam was made first, and then Eve.

¹⁴ Adam wasn't deceived, but Eve was completely deceived, and she fell into sin.

¹⁵ However, women will be saved through becoming mothers,* as long as they continue to trust and love, and to live holy, sensible lives.

† 1:18 The Greek is ambiguous—it could refer to prophecies about Timothy, or that Timothy followed the prophecies... § 1:20 The phrase “handed over to Satan” is not explained and could mean being “excommunicated” from the church community, or allowing them to experience the results of their sins. The fact they are supposed to learn something indicates that Paul believed their redemption was still possible. *

2:7 Literally, “an apostle.” † 2:7 Literally, “Gentiles.” ‡ 2:8 Literally, “holding up holy hands.” § 2:12 Or tranquil, calm. *

2:15 “Through child-bearing.” The meaning and implication of this verse are much debated...

3

² An elder must be above reproach, married to one wife, self-controlled, well-balanced, sensible, hospitable, and able to teach.

³ He should be someone who doesn't get drunk or become violent, but is gentle, and is not argumentative or greedy for money.

⁴ He must handle his own family well. His children must respect what he tells them to do.

⁵ (For if a man doesn't know how to manage his own family, how can he manage God's church?)

⁷ People outside the church should also speak well of him so that he won't disgrace himself and fall into the devil's trap.

⁸ Similarly deacons† should be respected, and not hypocritical. They should not be addicted to drink, and should not be trying to dishonestly enrich themselves.

⁹ They must stick to the revealed truth about God, trusting in him with a pure conscience.

¹⁰ They should be tried out first, and if they can't be faulted then let them serve as deacons.

¹³ Those who serve well as deacons gain a good reputation and much confidence in their trust in Christ Jesus.

¹⁴ Even though I hope to see you soon, I'm writing about all this to you so that

¹⁵ if I'm delayed you'll know how people should behave themselves in God's house. This is the church of the living God, the support pillar and foundation of the truth.

¹⁶ There's no question about it: the revealed truth about God is amazing! He was made known to us in human form, he was vindicated by the Spirit, seen by angels, declared to the nations, trusted in by the world, and taken up in glory!

4

¹ However, the Spirit very clearly explains that in the last times some will abandon their trust in God, and will listen to deceptive spirits and beliefs that come from demons.

² These hypocritical liars, whose consciences have been seared,

³ tell people to not marry and not to eat certain foods made by God that should be accepted with thanks by those who trust and know the truth.

⁴ Everything created by God is good, and nothing should be rejected but should be received with thanks,

* 3:6 Or "he becomes proud and arrogant." † 3:8 "Deacons," directly from the Greek word "diakonos," meaning servant. ‡ 3:11 "Their wives": or simply "women."

⁵ since it is made sacred by the word of God and by prayer.

⁶ If you point out these things to the brothers and sisters you will be a good minister* of Christ Jesus. You gain strength by trusting in the truth, and in the good teaching you've followed.

⁷ Reject what is irreligious, and old wives' tales. Make sure your exercise is spiritual—

⁸ for while physical exercise is useful to some extent, spiritual exercise is much more useful. For "it has promise for the present life, and for the life to come."

⁹ You can trust this saying† that should be accepted by everyone.

¹⁰ The reason we work and do the best we can is because our hope is in the living God. He is the Savior of all people, especially of those who trust in him.

¹¹ This is what you should teach. Tell everyone to follow your instructions.

¹² Don't let anyone look down on you because you are young. Be an example to those who trust in God—in the way you speak, the kind of life you live, in love, in trust, and in purity.

¹³ Until I get there, make sure you read the Scriptures to the church, and encourage them by your speaking and teaching.

¹⁴ Don't neglect the gracious gift you have that was given to you by prophetic inspiration when the church elders laid their hands on you.

¹⁶ Mind what you're doing and what you're teaching. Keep going with all of this, because as you do so you'll save both yourself and those who listen to you.

5

¹ Don't rebuke a man who is older than you. Instead, encourage him as if he were your father. Treat younger men as brothers,

² older women as mothers, younger women as sisters, with the highest standards of decency.

³ Help widows who don't have a family.

⁴ For the Christian responsibility of a widow's children or grandchildren is to do their duty for their own family, and repay their parents by helping them out. This is what pleases God.

⁵ Now a real widow, having no family, alone and without support, puts her hope in God and prays for help night and day.

⁶ But a widow who concentrates on pleasing herself is already dead, even though she's still physically alive.

⁷ Give people these instructions so that they will be above criticism.

⁸ But those who don't look after their relatives, especially their own family, have denied their beliefs, and are worse than those who don't believe.

⁹ Only widows over sixty who have been faithful to their husbands should be put on the list.*

* 4:6 The word is actually the one used for "deacon." † 4:9 Assuming the saying is the previous verse. * 5:9 The list of those widows who should be helped by the church.

¹⁰ The widow should have a reputation for doing good. Did she bring up children properly? Has she been hospitable? Has she washed the feet of church members? Has she helped those who were in trouble? Has she really tried to do good in every way?

¹² In this they are guilty of breaking their previous commitment.[†]

¹³ They also get used to a lazy life, just visiting each other in their homes. Not only lazy, but they gossip and meddle, talking about things they shouldn't.

¹⁴ So my best advice is that younger widows marry and have children and take care of the home. That way there's no opportunity for criticism from the Enemy.

¹⁵ However, some have already gone the way of Satan.

¹⁶ Any Christian woman who has widows in the family should help them, so that the church is not burdened with the responsibility, and can help those widows who are truly in need.

¹⁷ Elders who direct the church well should be seen as doubly valuable,[‡] particularly those who work in speaking the Word and in teaching.

¹⁸ As Scripture says, "Don't muzzle the ox when it's threshing out the grain." Also, "The worker deserves to be paid."[§]

¹⁹ Don't entertain any accusation against an elder unless two or three witnesses support it.

²⁰ Censure those who sin in front of everyone as a warning to others as well.

²¹ Before God and Christ Jesus, and the holy angels, I instruct you to follow these instructions without bias. Don't do anything from an attitude of favoritism.

²² Don't be in a hurry to lay hands on anyone; and don't get involved in the sins of others. Keep yourself pure.

²³ Don't just drink water, but use a little bit of wine because of your bad stomach—you're sick so often!

²⁴ The sins of some people are really obvious, and they are clearly guilty, but the sins of others are not seen until later.

²⁵ Similarly some good works are obvious, and even those that are hidden won't be for long.

6

¹ All who are bound under slavery should consider their masters worthy of respect, so that God's name and Christian beliefs won't be defamed.

² Slaves who have Christian masters should not disrespect them because they are brothers. Instead they should serve them even better, because those who are benefiting from their service are fellow-believers they should love. Teach these instructions, and encourage people to follow them.

[†] 5:12 The idea here is that the widows have made a commitment to serve Christ in the church, and they are helped by the church because of this. To re-marry would annul this commitment.

[‡] 5:17 Or "should receive adequate pay." [§] 5:18 Quoting Deuteronomy 25:4; see also Luke 10:7.

³ Those that teach different beliefs, and don't listen to good counsel, particularly the words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the true teachings of God,

⁴ are arrogant and don't understand anything. They're obsessed with speculation and philosophical debates which only lead to jealousy, arguments, malicious gossip and evil suspicions—

⁵ the constant arguing of people whose minds are totally corrupt and who have lost the truth, thinking that they can profit financially from religion...

⁶ But knowing and following God is so incredibly satisfying!

⁷ For we didn't bring anything into the world, and we can't take anything out with us either.

⁹ Those who are determined to become rich fall into the trap of temptation, following many foolish and damaging impulses.

¹¹ But you as a man of God should run away from such things. You should seek to do what is right, practice true religion, and trust in God. Aim to love, to be patient, and gentle.

¹² Fight the good fight as you trust in God. Hold on tightly to the eternal life to which you were called. This is what you promised to do in front of many witnesses.

¹⁴ is to follow faithfully what you've been told* so you will be above criticism until our Lord Jesus Christ appears.

¹⁵ At the right time Jesus will be revealed—he who is the blessed and only Sovereign, the King of kings, and Lord of lords.

¹⁶ He is the only one who is immortal, and lives in unapproachable light. No one has seen him or can see him—honor and eternal power is his! Amen.

¹⁷ Warn those who are rich in the present world not to become proud. Tell them not to place their trust in wealth that is so insecure but in God who so freely gives us everything for our enjoyment.

¹⁸ Tell them to do good, and to become rich in doing good things, ready to share what they have, and to be generous.

¹⁹ In this way they store up treasure that will provide a solid basis for the future, so that they can take hold of true life.

²⁰ Timothy, take care of what's been given to you. Don't pay any attention to pointless chatter and arguments based on so-called "knowledge."

²¹ Some who promote these ideas have wandered away from their trust in God. May grace be with you.

* 6:14 Literally, "keep the commandment."

Second Timothy

¹ This letter comes from Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus chosen by God, sent to tell about the promise of real life* that is in Christ Jesus.

² I'm sending it to you Timothy, my dear son. May you have grace, mercy, and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

³ I'm always thinking of you and I'm so thankful to God, whom I serve as my ancestors did, with a clear conscience. I never forget to mention you in my prayers.

⁴ I remember how you cried, and I so want to see you! That would make me really happy.

⁵ I keep in mind your sincere trust in God, the same trust that your grandmother Lois and mother Eunice also had—and I know that same trust continues in you.

⁶ That's why I want to remind you to revitalize God's gracious gift to you which you received when I placed my hands on you.†

⁷ God didn't give us a spirit that makes us fearful, but a spirit of power and love and good sense.

⁸ So don't be ashamed to tell others about our Lord, or be ashamed of me. Instead be ready to share in suffering for the good news as God gives you strength.

⁹ He is the one who has saved us and called us to live a holy life—not through what we do, but by God's own plan and through his grace.

¹⁰ He gave this grace to us in Christ Jesus before the beginning of time, and is now revealed in the appearing of our Savior Christ Jesus. He destroyed death, making life and immortality brilliantly clear through the good news.

¹¹ I was appointed speaker, apostle, and teacher of this good news.

¹² That's also the reason I'm suffering all this, but I'm not ashamed, because I know whom I've trusted. I'm confident that he can look after what I've entrusted to him until the Day‡ he returns.

¹⁴ Guard the truth that was entrusted to you through the Holy Spirit who lives in us.

¹⁵ You already know that everyone from Asia§ has abandoned me, including Phygelus and Hermogenes.

¹⁶ May the Lord be kind to the family of Onesiphorus, because he often took care of me and wasn't embarrassed about me being in prison.

¹⁸ May the Lord grant him his blessing in the Day of Judgment. (Timothy, you're very much aware of how much Onesiphorus did for me when he was in Ephesus.)

* 1:1 The Greek simply uses the word for life, but Paul is surely referring here to the abundant life that relates to eternal life (see 1 Timothy 1:16). † 1:6 Paul clearly "laid his hands" on Timothy in a way to designate a special blessing. ‡ 1:12 "Day," referring to the end-time Day of Judgment.

§ 1:15 The Roman province of Asia Minor (now in modern-day Turkey).

2

² Take what you heard me say in front of many witnesses and share it with those who are trustworthy, who then can teach others as well.

⁴ A soldier on active duty doesn't get caught up in the business of everyday life. He wants to please the one who enlisted him.

⁵ Similarly athletes who compete in the games don't win a prize if they don't keep to the rules.

⁶ The farmer that does all the hard work should be the first to benefit from the crop.

⁷ Think about what I'm telling you. The Lord will help you to understand all this.

⁸ Focus your mind on Jesus Christ, a descendant of David, who was raised from the dead. This is my good news,

⁹ and I'm suffering imprisonment because of it as if I were a criminal—but the word of God is not imprisoned.

¹⁰ Despite all this I'm willing to keep on going for the sake of God's people* so that they may gain the salvation of Christ Jesus that is eternal glory.

¹¹ This is a trustworthy saying: "If we died with him, we will also live with him;

¹² if we keep going, we will also reign with him; if we deny him, he will also deny us.

¹³ If we are not trustworthy, he is still trustworthy, for he cannot be untrue to himself."

¹⁴ This is what you should remind people about, telling them before God that they shouldn't have meaningless arguments over words. To do this only harms those who listen.

¹⁵ Make sure you work hard so you can present yourself to God and gain his approval. Be a worker that doesn't need to be embarrassed, using the word of truth correctly.

¹⁷ Their teachings are as destructive as gangrene that destroys healthy flesh. Hymenaeus and Philetus are like this.

¹⁸ They have deviated from the truth by saying that the resurrection has already happened, which has ruined some people's trust in God.

¹⁹ But God's solid, trustworthy foundation stone stands firm, with this inscription, "The Lord knows those who belong to him," and "Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord should stay away from all that is evil."[†]

²⁰ A stately home doesn't just have cups and bowls[‡] made of gold and silver. It also has ones made from wood and clay. Some are made for special use; others for more commonplace functions.

²¹ So if you get rid of what is evil, you will become a cup or bowl that is holy and special, useful to the Lord, ready to do all that's good.

* 2:10 Literally, "the elect." † 2:19 Quoting Numbers 16:5. ‡ 2:20 Literally, "vessels" or "utensils." There seems to be no good English equivalent for "home containers."

²² Run away from anything that fires up the desires of youth. Run after what is right and trustworthy, run after love and peace along with those who are true and pure Christians.

²³ Avoid foolish and childish debates, for you know they only lead to fights.

²⁴ For the Lord's minister must not fight, but be kind to everyone, able to teach, patient,

²⁵ gently correcting opponents. Perhaps God may help them to come to repent and to understand the truth.

²⁶ In this way they may come to their senses and escape the devil's trap. For he has captured them and made them do whatever he wants.

3

² People will love themselves and love money. They will be boastful, arrogant, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, and without God in their lives.

³ Heartless and unforgiving, they'll commit slander and have no self-control. Brutal people who hate what's good,

⁴ they will betray others and be totally thoughtless. They are absurdly full of themselves, living so much for pleasure that they don't care about loving God.

⁵ They may give an outward impression of being religious, but they don't actually believe it works. Stay away from these people!

⁷ These women are always trying to learn but they're never able to understand the truth!

⁸ Just like Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, these teachers also oppose the truth. They are people with corrupted minds whose supposed trust in God is a lie.*

⁹ But they won't get far. Their stupidity will be obvious to everyone, just like that of Jannes and Jambres.

¹⁰ But you know all about my teaching and behavior, and my aim in life. You know my trust in God and my love. You know what I've had to endure—

¹¹ how I've been persecuted and what I've suffered. You know what happened to me at Antioch, at Iconium, and at Lystra—the troubles I had and how the Lord rescued me from all of them.

¹² Of course it's true that everyone who wants to live a life devoted to God in Christ Jesus will experience persecution,

¹³ while wicked people and frauds will do well, going from bad to worse, deceiving others and deceiving themselves too.

¹⁴ But you must hold onto the things you've learned and are convinced are true. You know who taught you.

¹⁵ From your childhood you've known the holy Scriptures which can give you understanding for salvation by trusting in Christ Jesus.

* 3:8 Or "whose trust in God is counterfeit."

¹⁶ All Scripture inspired by God is useful for teaching, for confronting what is wrong, for setting us straight, and for telling us what is right.

¹⁷ This is how God provides a thorough preparation for those who work for him to accomplish all that's good.

4

¹ This is what I instruct you to do before God and Christ Jesus who will judge the living and the dead when he comes to establish his kingdom.

² Speak God's word whether it is convenient or not, tell people where they're going wrong, warn them, encourage them. Do this with a great deal of patient teaching.

³ For the time is coming when people won't bother to listen to true teaching. Instead they will be curious to listen to something different,* and will surround themselves with teachers who'll tell them what they want to hear.

⁴ They will stop listening to the truth and wander off following myths.

⁵ You need to keep your wits about you at all times. Put up with troubles, do the work of sharing the good news, fulfill your ministry.

⁶ For I'm about to be sacrificed—the time of my death is approaching.

⁷ I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept my trust in God.

⁸ Now there's a prize reserved for me—the crown for a life lived according to what is good and right. The Lord, (who is the judge that always does what's right), will give that to me on that Day.† And not just to me, but to everyone who longs for his coming.

⁹ Please try to come to me as soon as you can.

¹⁰ Demas has abandoned me because he loves the things of this world more, and has gone to Thessalonica. Crescens has gone to Galatia, and Titus to Dalmatia.

¹¹ Only Luke is here with me. Bring Mark with you, because he can help me with my work.

¹² I sent Tychicus to Ephesus.

¹³ When you come please bring the cloak I left behind with Carpus in Troas—and the books, especially the parchments.

¹⁵ You watch out for him too, because he was very much against what we were saying.

¹⁶ When it came to my first defense,‡ no-one stood up for me—everyone abandoned me. May they not be blamed for this.

¹⁷ But the Lord stood by me and gave me strength so that I could declare the whole of the message so that all the foreigners§ could hear it. I was rescued out of the lion's mouth!

¹⁸ The Lord will rescue me from all the evil things done against me, and will bring me safely to his heavenly kingdom. His is the glory forever and ever. Amen.

¹⁹ My greetings to Prisca* and Aquila, and to Onesiphorus's family.

* 4:3 Literally, "having itching ears." † 4:8 See note on 1:12. ‡ 4:16 Referring to a judicial trial. § 4:17 Literally, "Gentiles." * 4:19 Called Priscilla in Acts 18:2.

²¹ Please try to come before winter. Eubulus sends his best wishes—and Pudens, Linus, Claudia, and all the brothers and sisters too.

²² The Lord be with you.[†] May his grace be with you all.

[†] 4:22 Literally, “be with your spirit.”

Titus

¹ This letter comes from Paul, servant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ. I'm sent to build up the trust of God's chosen people and to share the knowledge of the truth that leads to lives lived for God.

² This gives them the hope of eternal life that God (who cannot lie) promised ages ago,

³ but which at the proper time he revealed through his word in the message which I was entrusted to give, following the command of God our Savior.

⁴ This letter is sent to Titus, my true son through the trust in God we share in common. May you have grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior.

⁵ The reason I left you in Crete was for you to organize what was still needed and to appoint elders in every town, as I told you.

⁶ An elder must have a good reputation, the husband of one wife, and have children who believe and who are not accused of being wild or disobedient.

⁸ He should be hospitable, someone who loves what's good and does what's right. He should be living a life for God, self-controlled,

⁹ and must be devoted to the trustworthy message as it's taught. In this way he can encourage others through correct teaching, and be able to convince those who disagree.

¹¹ Their talking must stop, these people who throw whole families into turmoil, teaching things that aren't right for the sake of making money.

¹² As someone of their own people,[†] a prophet, has stated, "Cretans are always liars, evil beasts who are lazy, greedy people."

¹⁴ not paying attention to Jewish myths and human commandments from those who deviate from the truth.

¹⁵ To those who have clean minds everything is clean, but to those who are corrupt and refuse to trust in God, nothing is clean—both their minds and their consciences are corrupt.

¹⁶ They claim to know God, but they prove this is false by what they do. They are detestable and disobedient, worthless for doing anything good.

* 1:10 Referring to those Jewish believers who taught that circumcision was necessary for salvation. [†] 1:12 Not necessarily of the circumcision faction or any other dissident group, but someone from Crete.

² Older men shouldn't drink; they should be respectable and sensible,* with a healthy trust in God, loving and patient.

⁵ They are to be sensible and pure, working in their homes, doing good and listening to what their husbands tell them. In this way the word of God will not be spoken about badly.

⁷ You should set an example of doing good in all areas of life: show integrity and seriousness in what you teach,

⁸ sharing healthy beliefs that can't be criticized. In this way those who are opposed will be ashamed of themselves and won't have anything bad to say about us.

⁹ Tell servants to always obey their masters. They should try to please them and not talk back to them.

¹⁰ They shouldn't steal things for themselves, but show they are completely trustworthy so that they may rightly represent the truth about God our Savior in every way.

¹¹ For God's grace has been revealed, bringing salvation to everyone.

¹² It teaches us to reject a godless way of life with the desires of this world. Instead we should live thoughtful, self-controlled lives that are right before God in the present world

¹³ as we look for the wonderful hope of the glorious appearing of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ.

¹⁴ He gave himself for us, so that he could set us free from all our wickedness, and to make us clean for him—a people who belong to him, keen to do good.

¹⁵ This is what you should be teaching. You have the authority to encourage and to correct as necessary. Don't let anyone look down on you.

3

² They should not speak badly about anyone, and they should not be argumentative. Tell them to show gentleness and kindness to everyone.

³ For there was a time when we too were foolish and disobedient. We were deceived and slaves to various desires and pleasures. We lived wicked lives full of jealousy, hateful people hating one another.

⁴ But when the goodness and love of God our Savior was revealed, he saved us,

⁵ not because of anything good that we've done, but because of his mercy. He did this through the cleansing of rebirth and renewal of the Holy Spirit,

⁶ which he poured out on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior.

* 2:2 "Sensible," or "thoughtful," "self-controlled," "decent." Also in 2:5, 2:6, and 2:12.

⁷ Now that we are set right by his grace we have become heirs having the hope of eternal life.

⁸ You can trust what I'm saying, and I want you to emphasize these instructions so that those who trust in God will think seriously about them and continue to do good. They are excellent and helpful for everyone.

⁹ Avoid pointless discussions, and obsessions about ancestry. Don't get into arguments, and avoid fights over the Jewish laws—they're useless and don't help at all.

¹⁰ Warn someone who is divisive once, and then again—after that don't pay them any attention,

¹¹ realizing that they're perverse and sinful and have condemned themselves.

¹² As soon as I send Artemas or Tychicus to you, try and come to me at Nicopolis because I'm planning to spend the winter there.

¹³ Do all you can to help Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their way so that they have everything they need.

¹⁴ May our people learn the habit of doing good in providing for the daily needs of others. They need to be productive!

¹⁵ Everyone here with me sends their greetings. Give our best wishes to those who love us, those who trust in God. May grace be with you all.

Philemon

² to our sister Apphia, to Archippus who fights alongside us, and to your house church.

³ May you have grace and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

⁴ I always thank my God for you, remembering you in my prayers,

⁵ because I hear of your trust in the Lord Jesus and your love for all believers.

⁶ I pray that you will put the generous nature of your trust in God into action as you recognize all the good things we share in Christ.

⁷ Your love, my dear brother, has brought me much happiness and encouragement. You have really inspired those of us who believe!

⁸ That's why even though I'm brave enough in Christ to order you to do your duty,

⁹ I would rather ask you this favor out of love. Old Paul, now also a prisoner of Christ Jesus,

¹⁰ is appealing to you on behalf of Onesimus who became my adopted son during my imprisonment.

¹¹ In the past he was of no use to you, but now he's useful to both you and me!

¹² I send him to you with my fondest wishes.*

¹³ I'd have preferred to keep him here with me so that he could have helped me as you would have done while I am in chains for telling the good news.

¹⁴ But I decided not to do anything without your permission. I didn't want you to be forced to do good, but to do so willingly.

¹⁵ Maybe you lost him for a while so that you could have him back forever!

¹⁶ He's not a servant anymore, because he's more than a servant. He's a specially-loved brother, particularly to me, and even more to you, both as a man and as a fellow-believer in the Lord.†

¹⁷ So if you consider me as a colleague working together with you for the Lord,‡ welcome him as if you were welcoming me.

¹⁸ If he has done you any wrong, or owes you anything, charge it to my account.

¹⁹ I Paul am signing this with my own hand: I will repay you. Of course I won't mention what you owe me, including your very self!

²⁰ Yes, brother, I'm expecting this favor from you in the Lord; please make me happy in Christ.

²¹ I'm writing about this to you because I'm convinced you'll do as I ask—in fact I know you'll do even more than I've asked!

²² In the meantime please have a room ready for me, for I hope to be able to return to see you soon in answer to your prayers.

* 1:12 Literally, "heartfelt affections." † 1:16 Literally, "in the flesh and in the Lord." ‡ 1:17 "A colleague working together with you for the Lord." The word in Greek is "partner," but this needs explaining because of modern usage.

- ²³ Epaphras who is here in prison with me sends his greetings,
²⁴ as do my co-workers Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke.
²⁵ May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with all of you.

Hebrews

¹ God, who in the past spoke to our forefathers through the prophets at various times and in many ways,

² has in these last days spoken to us through his Son. God appointed the Son heir of everything, and made the universe through him.

⁴ He was placed much higher than the angels since he received a greater name than them.

⁵ God never said to any angel, "You are my Son; today I have become your Father," or "I will be a Father to him, and he will be a Son to me."*

⁶ Also, when he brought his firstborn[†] Son into the world, he said, "Let all God's angels worship him."[‡]

⁷ Regarding the angels, he says, "He makes his angels winds, and his servants flames of fire,"[§]

⁸ but about the Son he says, "Your throne, God, lasts forever and ever, and justice is the ruling scepter of your kingdom.

⁹ You love what is right, and hate what is lawless. That is why God, your God, has placed you above everyone else by anointing^{*} you with the oil of joy."[†]

¹⁰ "You, Lord, laid the foundations of the earth in the beginning. The heavens are the product of your hands.

¹¹ They will come to an end, but you will continue. They will wear out like clothes do,

¹² and you will roll them up like a cloak. Like clothes, they will be changed, but you never change, and your life never ends."[‡]

¹³ But he never said to any angel, "Sit at my right hand until I place your enemies in subjection under your feet."[§]

¹⁴ What are the angels? They are beings that serve, sent out to help those who will receive salvation.

¹ So we should pay even closer attention to what we've learned so we don't drift away from it.

* 1:5 Hebrews is full of Old Testament quotations and allusions, some of which are not quoted exactly or are given in summary form. It is therefore difficult at times to identify the exact source or sources. Old Testament quotes that are relatively clear will be identified here. The quotations referenced in this verse appear to be: Psalms 2:7, 2 Samuel 7:14, and 1 Chronicles 17:13. [†] 1:6 "Firstborn": this term is not to be taken that there was a time when Jesus did not exist; it is used to identify rank rather than chronology. [‡] 1:6 Quoting Deuteronomy 32:43. [§] 1:7 Quoting Psalms 104:4. * 1:9 The ancient practice of pouring oil over the head of a person was to indicate they were being chosen for a specific position, a high honor. [†] 1:9 Quoting Psalms 45:6-7. [‡] 1:12 Literally, "your years never fail." The quotation is from Psalms 102:25-27. [§] 1:13 Quoting Psalms 110:1.

² If the message the angels brought was trustworthy, and every sin and disobedient act brings its own consequence,*

³ how will we escape if we don't pay attention to this great salvation that the Lord first announced, and then we had confirmed to us by those who heard him.

⁴ God also testified through signs and miracles, by acts that show his power, and by the gifts of the Holy Spirit, given as he chose.

⁵ It's not angels who will be in charge of the world to come that we're talking about.

⁶ But as it's been said, "What are human beings that you should worry about them? What is a son of man† that you should care about him?"

⁷ You set him a little lower than the angels; you crowned him with glory and honor, and placed him over all your creation.‡

⁸ You gave him authority over everything.§ Nothing was left out when God gave him authority over everything. However, we see that not everything is subject to his authority yet.

⁹ But we see Jesus, placed a little lower than the angels, through the suffering of death crowned with glory and honor. Through God's grace Jesus experienced death for everyone.

¹⁰ It was appropriate that God, who creates and maintains everything, should bring many of his children to glory, and to completely prepare through suffering the one who leads them to salvation.

¹¹ For both the one who makes people holy and those who are made holy belong to the same family.* That's why he doesn't hesitate to call them "brothers,"

¹² saying "I will announce your name to my brothers; I will praise you among your people when they meet together."†

¹³ Also: "I will place my trust in him," and "Here I am, together with the children God has given to me."‡

¹⁴ Because the children share flesh and blood in common, he shared in this in the same way so that through death he could destroy the one that had the power of death—the devil—

¹⁶ Of course it's not angels he's concerned about; he's concerned to help the children of Abraham.

¹⁷ That's why it was necessary for him to become like his brothers in everything, so that he could become a merciful and trustworthy high priest in the things of God, to forgive his people's sins.

¹⁸ Because he himself suffered when he was tempted, he is able to help those who are tempted.

* 2:2 Literally, "receives its reward." † 2:6 "Son of man": in normal use means just a human being; however Jesus applied this generic term to himself. ‡ 2:7 Instead of just referring to humanity, this can also refer to Jesus: "You made him less than the angels for a while, and then you crowned him with glory and honor." The whole passage can be seen in this dual way, referring to Jesus as the son of man, both representative and Savior of humanity. § 2:8 Again this can apply to humanity, God giving authority over the creatures as mentioned in Genesis 1, or it can apply to the authority of Jesus as Lord. * 2:11 Literally, "all from one." † 2:12 "Meet together": the word is "ecclesia" which eventually came to mean "church." The quotation is from Psalms 22:22. ‡ 2:13 Quoting Isaiah 8:17-18.

¹ So, my brothers and sisters who live for God and who share in this heavenly calling, we need to think carefully about Jesus—the one we say is sent by God,^{*} and is the High Priest.

² He was faithful to God in the work he was chosen to do, just like Moses was faithful to God in God's house.[†]

³ But Jesus deserves much greater glory than Moses, in the same way that the builder of a house deserves more credit than the house.

⁴ Every house has its builder; God is the builder of everything.

⁵ As a servant, Moses was faithful in God's house. He provided evidence of what would be announced later.

⁶ But Christ is a son, in charge of God's house. And we are God's house as long as we hold on with confidence to the hope we boast we believe in.

⁷ This is why the Holy Spirit says, "If you hear what God is saying to you today,

⁸ don't have a hard-hearted attitude[‡] like the time you rebelled against him, when you tested him in the wilderness.

⁹ Your fathers put me through it, trying my patience, and they saw the evidence I gave them for forty years.

¹⁰ That generation made me angry[§] and so I said, 'They're always mistaken in what they think, and they don't know me or what I'm doing.'

¹¹ So in my frustration I vowed, 'They shall not enter my rest.' "^{*}

¹² Brothers and sisters, make sure that none of you has an evil mindset that's given up trusting in the God of life.

¹³ Encourage each other every day while you still have "today," so that none of you will be deceived by sin and become hard-hearted.

¹⁴ For we are partners with Christ as long as we hold on to our confidence in God from beginning to end.

¹⁵ As Scripture says, "If you hear what God is saying to you today, don't have a hard-hearted attitude like the time you rebelled against him."[†]

¹⁶ Who was it that rebelled against God, even though they heard what he said? Wasn't it all those who were led out of Egypt by Moses?

¹⁷ Who was God upset with for forty years? Wasn't it those who sinned, those who were buried in the desert?

¹⁹ So we see that they were not able to enter because they didn't trust him.

^{} 3:1 Literally, "apostle." This word taken from the Greek meant one who is sent. [†] 3:2 The word "house" here means more than the building; it refers to the members of the house, the household, the family. Here and in verse 5 Moses' faithfulness as a servant in God's house is referencing Numbers 12:7. [‡] 3:8 "Hard-hearted attitude," or stubborn/obstinate. [§] 3:10 As always, God uses human terms. We should not understand God as being angry as we are, especially when it comes to "losing our temper" and acting in unloving or irrational ways. The same comment applies in 3:11. ^{} 3:11 "Rest." This concept is developed more in chapter 4 and is related to the Sabbath, the Promised Land, and God's invitation to come to him. While it is not the easiest of phrases, "entering rest" is perhaps the best translation since it retains the basis which is to be developed later, and includes all the various allusions. The quotation is from Psalms 95:7-11. [†] 3:15 Quoting Psalms 95:7-8.

² For we've heard the good news just like they did, but it didn't help them because they didn't accept and trust in what they heard.

³ However, those of us who trust in God have entered into that rest God mentioned when he said, "In my frustration I vowed, 'They shall not enter my rest.' "^{*} (This is so even though God's plans were already complete when he created the world.)

⁴ Regarding the seventh day there's a place in Scripture that says, "God rested on the seventh day from all his work."[†]

⁵ And as the previous passage stated, "They shall not enter my rest."

⁶ God's rest is still there for some to enter, even though those who previously heard the good news failed to enter because of disobedience.

⁷ So God again sets a day—today—saying a long time later through David as he did before, "If you hear what God is saying to you today, don't have a hard-hearted attitude."[‡]

⁸ For if Joshua had been able to give them rest, God wouldn't have spoken later about another day.

⁹ So a Sabbath rest remains for God's people.

¹⁰ For whoever enters God's rest also rests from what he's doing, just as God did.

¹¹ As a result we should try hard to enter that rest so nobody falls through following the same bad example of disobedience.

¹³ No living being is hidden from his sight; everything is exposed and visible to the one we're accountable to.

¹⁴ Since we have such a great high priest who has ascended to heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us make sure we hold on to what we say we believe.

¹⁵ For the high priest we have isn't one who doesn't sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who was tempted in all the ways we are, but did not sin.

¹⁶ So we should go confidently to God on his throne of grace so we can receive mercy, and discover grace to help us when we really need it.

5

¹ Every high priest is chosen from the people and is appointed to work for the people as they relate to God. He presents to God both their gifts and sacrifices for their sins.

² The high priest understands how ignorant and deluded people feel because he also experiences the same kind of human weaknesses.

^{*} 4:3 Quoting Psalms 95:11. [†] 4:4 Quoting Psalms 95:7. [‡] 4:7 Quoting Psalms 95:7. [§] 4:12 Greek "psuche" and "pneuma," sometimes translated "soul" and "spirit," though it is hard to understand the meaning since in common thought there is no difference between "soul" and "spirit." The translation of "life" and "breath" is employed since it is considered that this better expresses the original thought.

³ As a result he has to offer sacrifices for his sins as well as for those of the people.

⁴ No one can take the position of high priest for himself; he must be chosen by God, just like Aaron was.

⁵ In just the same way Christ did not honor himself by becoming high priest. It was God who said to him, “You are my Son. Today I have become your Father.”*

⁶ In another verse, God says, “You are a priest forever, following the order of Melchizedek.”†

⁸ Even though he was God's Son, Jesus learned through suffering what obedience really means.‡

⁹ When his experience was complete,§ he became the source of eternal salvation to everyone who does what he says,

¹⁰ having been designated by God as a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

¹¹ We have much to say about Jesus, and it's hard to explain because you don't seem able to understand!

¹² By now you should have had enough time to become teachers, but you need someone to teach you the fundamentals, the first principles of God's word. It's like you need to go back to baby milk instead of solid food!

¹⁴ Solid food is for grown-ups—those who by always using their brains have learned to tell the difference between good and evil.

6

¹ So let's not get stuck on the basic teachings about Christ, but let's progress to a more mature understanding. We don't need to go over again the ideas of repenting from what we used to do, about trusting in God—

² or teachings about baptism, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment.

³ So let's get on with it, as God gives us the opportunity!

⁴ It's impossible for those who once understood and experienced God's heavenly gift—who shared in receiving the Holy Spirit,

⁵ who had known God's good word and the power of the coming age—

⁶ and then completely abandon God, for them to be brought back to repentance once more. They themselves have crucified the Son of God all over again and publicly humiliated him.

* 5:5 Quoting Psalms 2:7 † 5:6 Quoting Psalms 110:4 ‡ 5:8 The usual translation that Jesus “learned obedience through suffering” could suggest that Jesus was not originally obedient, or that suffering was necessary in order for him to learn—both rather strange ideas to place on Jesus, the pre-existing Son of God. The thought here appears to be that even though Jesus was God's Son, his earthly experience demonstrated the cost and consequences of obedience. In some ways this parallels Jesus request to have the cup of suffering taken away from him, but then he surrenders his will in obedience to his Father. See Matthew 26:39. § 5:9 Avoiding the term “having been made perfect,” which in the minds of some might suggest he wasn't perfect in the first place.

⁷ Land that has been watered by rain, and produces crops for those who farm it, has God's blessing.

⁸ But land that only produces weeds and thorns is worthless, and is about to be condemned. In the end all that can be done is to burn it.

⁹ But dear friends, we believe better of you and your salvation, even if we talk like this!

¹⁰ God wouldn't be so unjust as to forget what you've done and the love you've shown for him by the care you've shown for fellow-believers—something you're still doing.

¹¹ We want each of you to show the same kind of commitment, confident in God's hope until it's fulfilled.

¹³ When God gave his promise to Abraham he could swear by no one greater so he took an oath on himself,

¹⁴ saying, "I will definitely bless you, and multiply your descendants."*

¹⁵ And so, after patiently waiting, Abraham received the promise.

¹⁶ People swear on things that are greater than they are, and when they have some dispute the oath is taken as the final word on the matter.

¹⁷ That's why God wanted to demonstrate more clearly to those who would inherit the promise that he would never ever change his mind.

¹⁸ So by these two actions† that can't be changed, and since it's impossible for God to lie, we can have total confidence, having run for safety to take hold of the hope God presented to us.

²⁰ That's where Jesus went in on our behalf, because he had become a high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

7

² Abraham gave him a tithe of all that he had won. Melchizedek's name means "king of right" while king of Salem means "king of peace."

³ We don't have any information about his father or his mother or his family tree. We don't know when he was born or when he died. Like the Son of God he continues as a priest forever.

⁴ Think how great this man was for Abraham the patriarch to give him a tithe of what was won in battle.

⁵ Yes, the sons of Levi who are priests were commanded by the law to receive a tithe from the people, their brothers and sisters, who are descended from Abraham.

⁶ But Melchizedek who doesn't share their ancestry received tithes from Abraham, and blessed the one who had God's promises.

⁷ There's no argument that the lesser person is blessed by the one who is greater.

* 6:14 Quoting Genesis 22:17. † 6:18 That is, the promise and the oath. * 7:1 See Genesis 14:18.

⁸ In the one case tithes are received by men who die, but in the other by one who is said to be living.

¹⁰ for he was yet to be born from his father[†] when Melchizedek met Abraham.

¹¹ Now if perfection could have been achieved through the priesthood of Levi (for that's how the law was received), what was the need for another priest to come following the order of Melchizedek, and not following the order of Aaron?

¹² If the priesthood is changed, then the law needs to be changed too.

¹³ The one we're talking about comes from a different tribe, a tribe that has never provided priests to serve at the altar.

¹⁴ It's clear that our Lord is a descendant of Judah, and Moses said nothing about priests coming from this tribe.

¹⁵ What makes it even clearer is when another priest appears who is similar to Melchizedek,

¹⁶ and who didn't become a priest by virtue of his human ancestry but by the power of a life that cannot be ended.

¹⁷ That's why it says, "You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek."[‡]

¹⁸ So the previous rule has been set aside because it was powerless and didn't work,

¹⁹ (for the law didn't make anything perfect). But now it's been replaced by a better hope by which we can come close to God.

²⁰ This[§] was not without an oath, even though those who become priests do so without an oath.

²¹ But he became a priest with an oath because God told him, "The Lord has taken a solemn vow and will not change his mind: You are a priest forever."^{*}

²² This is how Jesus became the guarantee of an agreed relationship with God[†] that is so much better.

²³ There have been many priests because death prevented them from being able to continue;

²⁴ but since Jesus lives forever, his priesthood is permanent.

²⁶ He is exactly the high priest we need: holy and without fault, pure and separate from sinners, and given a place in the highest heavens.

[†] 7:10 Literally, "in his father's loins." [‡] 7:17 Quoting Psalms 110:4. [§] 7:20 Referring to the new way of approaching God. ^{*} 7:21 Quoting Psalms 110:4. [†] 7:22 "An agreed relationship with God." This translates a single word in Greek that has traditionally been translated as "covenant."

However, the word "covenant" does not normally occur in everyday English and so has become a "theological" word. Much has been written about this concept and the terms used, and "covenant" has often been retained as there does not seem to be an effective way of explaining what is meant here. The covenant concept is extensively developed in chapters 8 and 9. Problems exist with alternative words. The word "contract" can mean the result of bargaining, which is not the case here. Similarly "treaty" or "agreement" when seen in human terms may refer to mutual negotiations. But here the word refers to something that is God's initiative, and certainly is not between equals. Perhaps a better concept is "a promise that is agreed to with corresponding obligations," but such wording would be even more cumbersome.

²⁷ Unlike those human high priests, he doesn't need to offer a daily sacrifice for his sins and then the sins of the people. He did this once, and for everyone, when he offered himself.

²⁸ The law appoints imperfect men as high priests, but God gave his solemn vow after the law, and appointed his Son, perfect forever.

8

² He serves in the sanctuary, the true Tabernacle that was set up by the Lord and not by human beings.

³ Since it's the responsibility of every high priest to offer gifts and sacrifices, this high priest must also have something to offer.

⁴ Now if he was here on earth, he wouldn't be a priest at all, because there are already priests to present the offerings that the law requires.

⁵ The place they serve is a copy, a mere shadow of what is in heaven. That's what God told Moses when he was going to set up the Tabernacle: "Be careful to make everything according to the blueprint you were shown on the mountain."^{*}

⁶ But Jesus has been given a far better ministry just as he is the one who mediates a far better agreed relationship between us and God, which is based on much better promises.

⁷ If that first agreement had been perfect, then a second wouldn't have been necessary.

⁸ Pointing out their failings,[†] God told his people, "Pay attention, says the Lord, because the days are coming when I will make a new agreement with the people of Israel and Judah.

⁹ This will not be like the agreement I made with their forefathers when I led them by the hand out of the land of Egypt. For they didn't keep their part of the agreed relationship, so I gave up on them, says the Lord.

¹⁰ The relationship I promise to the house of Israel is this: After that time, says the Lord, I will place my laws inside them, and write them in their minds. I will be their God, and they will be my people.

¹¹ No one will need to teach their neighbor, and no one will need to teach anyone in their family, telling them, 'You ought to know the Lord.' For everyone will know me, from the smallest to the greatest.

¹² I will be merciful when they do wrong, and I will forget about their sins."[‡]

¹³ By saying, "A new agreed relationship," he makes the first agreement out-of-date. The one that's old and worn out has almost disappeared.

^{*} 8:5 Quoting Exodus 25:40. [†] 8:8 Making it clear that the failure of the "first covenant" was not due to a faulty agreement but that God's people did not live up to their responsibilities under the agreement. [‡] 8:12 Quoting Jeremiah 31:31-34.

² The first room in the Tabernacle housed the candlestick, the table, and the sacred bread. This was called the Holy Place.

³ Past the second veil in the Tabernacle was the room called the Most Holy Place.

⁵ Above this were the glorious angel cherubim covering the place of reconciliation. We can’t discuss all of this in detail now.

⁶ Once all of this had been set up, the priests would go in regularly to the first room of the Tabernacle to perform their duties.

⁷ But only the high priest went into the second room, and only once a year. Even then he had to make a sacrifice involving blood,‡ which he offered for himself and for the people’s sins of ignorance.

⁸ By this the Holy Spirit indicated that the way into the true Most Holy Place hadn’t been revealed while the first Tabernacle still existed.§

¹⁰ They’re just religious regulations—about food and drink, and various ceremonies involving washing—which were put in place until the time of God’s new way of relating to him.

¹¹ Christ has come as a high priest of all the good experiences we now have. He went into the greater, more complete Tabernacle that wasn’t made by human hands—not part of this created world.

¹² He didn’t enter through the blood of goats and calves, but through his own blood. He entered once, for all time, into the Most Holy Place, setting us free forever.

¹³ For if the blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a cow sprinkled on those who are ritually unclean make the body ceremonially clean,

¹⁴ how much more does the blood of Christ—who offered himself in his sinless life to God through the eternal Spirit—clean your consciences from your past sinful lives so you can serve the living God?

¹⁵ This is why he is the mediator of a new agreed relationship. Since a death has occurred to set them free from the sins committed under the first agreed relationship, now those who are called can receive the promise of an eternal inheritance.

¹⁷ A will is only valid when there’s been a death—and is never applied while the person who made it is still alive.

* 9:4 Traditionally translated “ark of the covenant,” a wooden box symbolizing the place of meeting, reconciliation, and agreement between God and his people. † 9:4 Usually believed to be the stone inscriptions of the ten commandments. ‡ 9:7 Blood is a frequent theme in the latter part of Hebrews. It is a shorthand symbol for life, and the shed blood of death, and while the original context of the sacrificial system is certainly literal, its use in Hebrews when applied to Christ is primarily as a symbol of what he accomplished by his life, death, and resurrection. § 9:8 The meaning of this statement is the subject of much debate. It could be generally concluded that in the light of the new revelation of God through Jesus, which is the focus of the New Testament and particularly the Book of Hebrews, that this passage is referring to Jesus as the full revelation of God, providing “access” to him, and that this had not happened under the old system (reference Jesus’ statement in John 14:6).

¹⁸ That's why the first agreement was established with blood.

¹⁹ After Moses had given all the commandments of the law to everyone, he took the blood of calves and goats, and together with water, scarlet wool, and hyssop, sprinkled the book* itself and all the people.

²⁰ He said to them, "This is the blood of the agreed relationship that God has told you he wants with you."[†]

²¹ Moses sprinkled the blood in the same way on the Tabernacle and everything used in worship.

²³ So if the copies of what is in heaven needed to be cleansed in this way, the things in heaven needed cleansing by better sacrifices.

²⁴ For Christ hasn't entered a Most Holy Place constructed by human beings that is only a pattern of the original. He has entered heaven itself, and now appears on our behalf, speaking for us in God's presence.

²⁵ This was not to repeatedly offer himself, like a high priest has to enter the Most Holy Place year after year, offering blood that is not his own.

²⁷ Just as human beings die only once, and then are judged,

²⁸ so too for Christ—having been sacrificed once to take away the sins of many people, he will come again, not to deal with sin, but to save those who wait for him.

¹ The law is just a shadow of the good that was to come, and not the actual reality. So it can never through the repeated sacrifices offered year after year make right those who come to worship God.

² Otherwise wouldn't the sacrifices have stopped being offered? If the worshipers had been made clean once and for all, they wouldn't have had guilty consciences any longer.

⁵ That's why when Christ* came into the world he said, "You didn't want sacrifices or offerings, but you did prepare a body for me.

⁷ Then I said, 'God, see I've come to do what you want me to do, just as it says about me in the book.'[†]

⁹ Then he said, "See, I've come to do what you want." He gets rid of the first agreement so he can set up the second,

* 9:19 The book of the law. [†] 9:20 Quoting Exodus 24:8. * 10:5 The original simply says "he." Christ is inferred from 9:24, 9:28. [†] 10:7 Actually "the heading of a scroll," meaning the Scriptures. The quotation is from Psalms 40:6-8.

¹⁰ through which we all are made holy through Jesus Christ offering his body once and for all time.

¹² But this Priest, after he had offered for sins a single sacrifice that lasts forever, sat down at God's right hand.

¹³ Now he waits until all his enemies are conquered, becoming like a footstool for him.

¹⁴ For by a single sacrifice he has set right forever those who are being made holy.

¹⁵ As the Holy Spirit also tells us, for having said,

¹⁶ "This is the agreement that I will make with them later on, says the Lord. I will put my laws inside them, and I will write them in their minds." Then he adds,

¹⁷ "I won't remember their sins and lawlessness anymore."[‡]

¹⁸ Once free from such things, sin offerings are no longer needed.

¹⁹ Now we have the confidence, brothers and sisters, to enter the Most Holy Place by the blood of Jesus.

²⁰ Through his life and death,[§] he opened up a brand-new, living way through the veil to God.

²¹ Since we have such a great priest placed in charge over the house of God,

²² let us come close to God with sincere minds, totally trusting in him. Our minds have been sprinkled to purify them from our evil way of thinking, and our bodies have been washed clean by pure water.

²³ So let us hold onto the hope we're telling others about, never hesitating, for God who promised is trustworthy.

²⁴ Let's think about how we can motivate one another to love and to do what is good.

²⁵ We should not give up meeting together, as some have done. In fact we should be encouraging one another, especially as you see the End^{*} approaching.

²⁶ For if we deliberately go on sinning after we've understood the truth, there's no longer any sacrifice for sins.

²⁷ All that's left is fear, expecting the impending judgment and the terrible fire that destroys those who are hostile to God.

²⁹ How much worse do you think someone will deserve their punishment if they have trampled underfoot the Son of God, if they have disregarded the blood that sealed the agreement and makes us holy, treating it as ordinary and trivial, and have abused the Spirit of grace?

³⁰ We know God, and he said, "I will make sure that justice is done; I will give people what they deserve." He also said, "The Lord will judge his people."[†]

³¹ It's terrifying to come under the power of the living God.

[‡] 10:17 Quoting Jeremiah 31:33-34. [§] 10:20 "His life and death": Literally, "his body." ^{*} 10:25 Literally, "the Day." [†] 10:30 Quoting Deuteronomy 32:35-36; Psalms 135:14

³³ Sometimes you were made a spectacle of, being insulted and attacked; at other times you stood in solidarity with those who were suffering.

³⁴ You showed your sympathy for those in prison, and took it cheerfully when your possessions were confiscated, knowing that you have something better coming that will truly last.

³⁷ “In just a little while he will come, as he said—he won't delay.

³⁸ Those who do what is right will live by trusting in God, and if they draw back from their commitment, I won't be pleased with them.”[§]

³⁹ But we're not the kind of people who draw back and end up being lost. We are those who trust in God to save us.

¹ Now our trust in God is the guarantee of what we hope for, the evidence of what we can't see.

² People who lived long ago trusted God and this is what gained them God's approval.

³ Through our trust in God we understand that the whole universe was created by God's command, that what can be seen was made out of what cannot be seen.

⁴ By trusting him Abel offered God a better sacrifice than Cain, and as a result God identified him as someone who lived right. God showed this by accepting his offering. Even though Abel has been dead for a long time, he still speaks to us through what he did.

⁵ By trusting God Enoch was taken to heaven so he didn't experience death. He couldn't be found on earth because God took him to heaven.* Before this happened he was known as someone God was pleased with.

⁶ You can't expect God to be pleased with you if you don't trust him! Anyone who comes to God must believe that God exists, and that he rewards those who are searching for him.

⁷ Noah trusted God, and was warned by him about things that had never happened before. Because Noah paid serious attention to what God said, he constructed an ark to save his family. By trusting God, Noah showed that the world was wrong, and received the reward of being set right by God.

⁸ Through trusting God Abraham obeyed when God called him to go to the land God was going to give him. He left, not knowing where he was going.

⁹ Trusting in God he lived in the promised land—but as a foreigner, living in tents, together with Isaac and Jacob who shared with him in inheriting the same promise.

[‡] 10:32 Literally, “were enlightened.” [§] 10:38 This is a rather free reference to Isaiah 26:20 and Habakkuk 2:3-4. Clearly the one promising to return is viewed in this context as Jesus. * 11:5 See Genesis 5:24.

¹⁰ For Abraham was looking forward to a city built on foundations that last, with God as its builder and maker.

¹¹ By her trust in God even Sarah[†] herself was given the ability to conceive a child though she was too old, because she trusted God who had made the promise.

¹² That is why the descendants of Abraham, (who was as good as dead!), became as numerous as the stars of heaven, as countless as the sand of the sea-shore.

¹³ They all died still trusting in God. Though they didn't receive the things God promised, they were still looking for them as it were from a distance and welcomed them, acknowledging that on this earth they were foreigners, people just passing through.

¹⁴ People who say such things make it clear that they're looking for a country of their own.

¹⁵ For if they cared about the country they'd left behind, they could have returned.

¹⁷ Abraham trusted God when he was tested and offered Isaac to God. Abraham, who had accepted God's promises, was still ready to offer to God his only son,[‡]

¹⁸ even though he'd been told, "It's through Isaac that your descendants will be counted."[§]

¹⁹ Abraham had thought it through and decided that God could bring Isaac back to life from the dead. In a sense that's what did happen—Abraham received Isaac back from the dead.

²⁰ Trusting in God, Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau in regard to what the future would bring.

²² Trusting in God, Joseph too, when his own death approached, spoke about the exodus of the Israelites, and gave instructions about what to do with his bones.

²³ Trusting in God, Moses' parents hid him for three months after he was born. They recognized he was a special child. They weren't afraid to go against what the king had commanded.

²⁵ Instead he chose to share in the sufferings of God's people rather than to enjoy the temporary pleasures of sin.

²⁶ He counted the rejection he experienced from following Christ to be of far greater value than the wealth of Egypt—because he was focused on the reward to come.

²⁷ Trusting in God, he left Egypt and wasn't scared of Pharaoh's anger—he kept going with his eyes fixed on the invisible God.

[†] 11:11 Some versions say Abraham. [‡] 11:17 Of course Isaac was not literally Abraham's only son; the term in Greek indicates primacy. [§] 11:18 See Genesis 21:12.

²⁸ Trusting in God he observed the Passover and the sprinkling of blood, so that the destroying angel would not touch the Israelites.*

²⁹ Trusting in God the Israelites crossed the Red Sea as if it were dry land. When the Egyptians attempted to do the same they were drowned.

³⁰ Trusting in God, the Israelites marched around the walls of Jericho for seven days, and the walls fell down.

³¹ Trusting in God, Rahab the prostitute didn't die with those who rejected God, because she had welcomed the Israelite spies in peace.

³² What other examples should I give? I don't have time to talk about Gideon, Barak, Samson, Jephthah; about David, Samuel, and the prophets.

³³ Because of their trust in God they conquered kingdoms, did what was good and right, received God's promises, shut the mouths of lions,

³⁵ Women were given their dead family members back through resurrection. Others were tortured, refusing to compromise and be pardoned, because they wanted to be part of a better resurrection.

³⁶ Yet others suffered insults and whippings; they were put in chains and imprisoned.

³⁷ Some were stoned, cut in pieces, tempted, killed by the sword. Some dressed in sheepskins and goatskins: destitute, oppressed, and mistreated.

³⁸ The world was not worthy to have such people who wandered in the deserts and mountains, living in caves and holes in the ground.

⁴⁰ God has given us something even better, so that they can't be complete without us.

² We should keep on looking to Jesus, the one who begins and completes our trust in God. Because of the joy ahead of him Jesus endured the cross, disregarding its shame, and sat down at the right hand of God's throne.

³ Think about Jesus who endured such hostility from sinful people so you don't grow tired and become discouraged.

⁴ Your resistance so far hasn't cost you blood as you fight against sin.

⁵ Have you forgotten* God's appeal to you when he reasons with you as his children? He says, "My child, don't treat the Lord's discipline lightly, and don't give up when he corrects you either."

⁶ The Lord disciplines everyone he loves, and he punishes everyone he welcomes as his child."

⁷ Be patient as you experience God's discipline because he is treating you as his children. What child doesn't experience a father's discipline?

⁸ If you are not disciplined, (which everyone has experienced), then you are illegitimate and not true children.

* 11:28 "Angel" and "Israelites" supplied by context. * 12:5 Or "You have forgotten."

⁹ For if we respected our earthly fathers who disciplined us, shouldn't we even more be subject to the discipline of our spiritual Father which leads to life?

¹⁰ They disciplined us for a short while as they thought appropriate, but God does so for our benefit in order that we can share his holy character.

¹¹ When it happens, all discipline seems painful and not something to be happy about. But later on it produces peace in those who have been trained in this way so that they do what is good and right.

¹² So strengthen your feeble hands, and your weak knees![†]

¹³ Make straight paths to walk on,[‡] so that those who are crippled won't lose their way, but will be healed.

¹⁴ Do your best to live in peace with everybody, and look for holiness—if you don't have this you won't see the Lord.

¹⁵ Make sure that none of you lack God's grace, in case some cause of bitterness[§] arises to give trouble and end up corrupting many of you.

¹⁶ Make sure there's nobody who is sexually immoral, or irreligious, like Esau was. He sold his birthright for a single meal.

¹⁷ You remember that even when he wanted to receive the blessing later on he was refused. Even though he really tried, and cried hard, Esau couldn't change what he had done.

¹⁸ You haven't arrived at a physical mountain* that can be touched, that burned with fire, to a stormy place of black darkness,

¹⁹ where the sound of a trumpet and a voice speaking was heard—and those who heard the voice begged never to hear it speak to them again.

²⁰ For they couldn't take what they were told to do, such as, "Even if a farm animal touches the mountain, it must be stoned to death."[†]

²¹ The sight was so terrifying that Moses himself said, "I'm so scared I'm shaking!"[‡]

²² But you have arrived at Mount Zion, the city of the living God, heavenly Jerusalem, with its thousands and thousands of angels.

²³ You have come to the church of the firstborn whose names are written down in heaven, to God, the judge of everyone, and to those good people whose lives are complete.

²⁴ You have come to Jesus, who shares with us the new agreed relationship, to the sprinkled blood that means more than that of Abel.[§]

²⁵ Make sure you don't reject the one who is speaking! If they didn't escape when they rejected God on earth, it is even more certain that we won't escape if we turn away from God who warns us from heaven!

²⁶ Back then God's voice shook the earth, but his promise is now: "One more time I'm going to shake not only the earth, but heaven too."^{*}

²⁷ This expression, "one more time," indicates that all creation that is shaken is removed so that everything that is not shaken may remain.

[†] 12:12 Quoting Isaiah 35:3. [‡] 12:13 Quoting Proverbs 4:26. [§] 12:15 See Deuteronomy 29:18.

^{*} 12:18 Clearly the reference in context is to Mount Sinai. [†] 12:20 Quoting Exodus 19:12-13

[‡] 12:21 Quoting Deuteronomy 9:19. [§] 12:24 Probably meaning that Jesus shed his blood in a spirit of forgiveness, while in the context of the first murder God references Abel's blood as calling out for vengeance. ^{*} 12:26 Quoting Haggai 2:.

²⁸ Since we're receiving a kingdom that cannot be shaken, let us have a gracious attitude, so we can serve God in a way that pleases him, with reverence and respect.

²⁹ For "our God is a fire that consumes."[†]

² Don't forget to show love for strangers too, because by doing so some have welcomed angels without knowing it.

³ Remember those who are locked up in prison as if you were imprisoned with them. Remember those who are mistreated as if you were physically suffering with them.

⁴ Everyone should honor marriage. Husbands and wives should be faithful to each other.* God will judge adulterers.

⁵ Don't love money; be content with what you have. God himself has said, "I'll never let you down; I'll never give up on you."[†]

⁶ That's why we can confidently say, "The Lord is the one who helps me, so I won't be afraid. What can anyone do to me?"[‡]

⁷ Remember your leaders who explained God's word to you. Look again at the results of their lives, and imitate their trust in God.

⁸ Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever.

¹⁰ We have an altar that those priests of the Tabernacle have no right to eat from.

¹¹ The carcasses of the animals, whose blood is carried by the high priest into the most holy place as an offering for sin, are burned outside the camp.

¹² In the same way Jesus also died outside the city gate so that he could make God's people holy through his own blood.

¹³ So let us go out to him, outside the camp, experiencing and sharing in his shame.

¹⁴ For we don't have a permanent city to live in here, we're looking for the home that is still to come.

¹⁵ So let us through Jesus always offer a sacrifice of praise to God—this means speaking well of God, declaring his character.*

¹⁶ And don't forget to do what is good, and to share with others what you have, for God is pleased when you make such sacrifices.

¹⁷ Follow your leaders, and do what they tell you, for they are watching out for you and are accountable. Act in such a way that they can do this happily—and not with sadness, for that wouldn't help you!

¹⁸ Please pray for us. We're convinced we have acted in good conscience, always wanting to do what's good and right in every situation.

[†] 12:29 Quoting Deuteronomy 4:24. * 13:4 Literally, "the bed undefiled." † 13:5 Quoting Deuteronomy 31:6-8; Joshua 1:5. ‡ 13:6 Quoting Psalms 118:6. § 13:9 The word here is simply "food," but the following context indicates that it refers to the ceremonial law and what kinds of food were permissible. * 13:15 Literally, "name," which frequently refers to the nature and character of the person described. This is found in such English expressions as "having a good name," i.e. character.

¹⁹ I really want you to pray hard so that I can come back to see you soon.

²⁰ Now may the God of peace who raised our Lord Jesus, the great shepherd of the sheep, from the dead, with the blood of an eternal agreement—

²¹ may he provide you with all that is good so you can do his will. May he work in us, doing everything that pleases him, through Jesus Christ—glory to him forever and ever. Amen.

²² I want to encourage you, brothers and sisters, to pay attention to what I've written to you in this short letter.

²³ You should know that Timothy has been set free. If he gets here soon, I will come with him to see you.

²⁴ Give my greetings to all your leaders, and to all the believers there. The believers here in Italy send their greetings.

²⁵ May God's grace be with all of you. Amen.

James

¹ This letter comes from James, servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ. It is sent to the twelve tribes scattered abroad.* Best wishes to you!

² My friends, choose to stay happy even when all kinds of troubles come your way,

³ because you know that endurance comes from dealing with challenges to your trust in God.

⁴ Let your endurance become as strong as possible, so that you will be completely mature, without any shortcomings.

⁵ If any of you need wisdom, ask God, who gives generously to everyone without holding back.

⁶ But when you ask, remember to trust in God—don't have any doubts. Someone who doubts is like the crashing waves of the sea, tossed about and driven by the wind.

⁷ Nobody like that should think they'll get anything from the Lord—

⁹ Believers who are born poor should take pride in the high position they've been given,

¹⁰ while the rich should "boast" in the humble position they now have,† since they will fade away like flowers in the field.

¹¹ For the sun rises along with the blistering wind and scorches the grass. The flowers fall and their beauty is marred. Everything the rich achieve will fade in just the same way.

¹² Happy is anyone who patiently endures temptation, for when they've proved that they are trustworthy, they will receive the crown of life which God promises to those who love him.

¹⁴ Temptations come from our own evil desires that lead us astray and entrap us.

¹⁵ Such desires lead to sin, and sin, when it's fully developed, causes death.

¹⁶ My dear friends, don't be deceived.

¹⁷ All that's good, every perfect gift, is from above, and comes down from the Father who made heaven's lights. Unlike them he doesn't change—he doesn't vary or cause shadows.‡

¹⁸ He chose to give us new life through the word of truth, so that out of all his creation we would be very special to him.§

¹⁹ Remember this, my dear friends: everyone should be quick to listen but slow to speak, and slow to get angry,

* 1:1 Referring to the twelve tribes of Israel, of course. † 1:10 Referring primarily to the way each group is viewed by God (1:9-10); not necessarily their position in society... ‡ 1:17 James seems to be referring to the varying movements of heavenly bodies and eclipses (shadows). § 1:18 Usually thought to refer to God's call and provision for us to be born again spiritually.

²¹ So get rid of all that's filthy and evil. Humbly accept the word that's been implanted within you—for this is what can save you.

²³ If you just listen to the word, and don't act on it, it's like staring at your own face in a mirror.

²⁴ You see yourself, but then you leave, and immediately forget what you looked like.

²⁵ But if you look to the perfect law of freedom and follow it, not as someone who just listens and then forgets, but as someone who acts on it—then you will be blessed in what you do.

²⁶ If you think you're religious, but don't control what you say, you deceive yourself—your religion is pointless.

²⁷ In the eyes of our God and Father, religion that's pure and genuine is to visit orphans and widows in their suffering, and to keep yourself from being contaminated by the world.

2

² Imagine that a man comes into your synagogue wearing gold rings and fine clothes, and then a poor man comes in dressed in rags.

³ If you pay special attention to the well-dressed man, and say, "Please sit here in a seat of honor," while you say to the poor man, "Stand over there, or sit on the floor by my feet,"

⁴ haven't you discriminated and judged with bad motives?

⁵ Listen, my dear friends: Didn't God choose those who the world considers poor to be rich in their trust in him, and to inherit the kingdom he promised to those who love him?

⁶ But you've treated the poor shamefully. Isn't it the rich who oppress you and drag you before the courts?

⁷ Don't they insult the honorable name* of the one who called you and to whom you belong?

⁸ If you really observe the royal law of Scripture: "You shall love your neighbor as yourself,"† then you do well.

⁹ But if you show favoritism, you're sinning. The law convicts you as guilty of breaking it.

¹⁰ Someone who observes everything in the law but fails in just one part is guilty of breaking it all.

¹¹ God told you not to commit adultery, and he also told you not to kill. So if you don't commit adultery, but you do kill, you've become a law-breaker.‡

¹² You should speak and act as people who will be judged by the law of freedom.

* 1:20 Literally, "achieve God's righteousness." * 2:7 Usually understood to be the name of Jesus. † 2:8 Quoting Leviticus 19:18. ‡ 2:11 Quoting Exodus 20:13-14 or Deuteronomy 5:17-18.

¹³ Anyone who doesn't show mercy will be judged without mercy. Yet mercy wins out over judgment!§

¹⁴ My friends, what's the good of someone saying they trust in God when they don't do what's good and right? Can such "trust" save them?

¹⁵ If a brother or sister doesn't have clothes, or food for the day,

¹⁶ and you say to them, "Blessings on you! Stay warm and have a good meal!" and you don't provide what they need to survive, what's the good of that?

¹⁷ By itself even your trust-based faith in God is dead and worthless if you don't actually do what's good and right.

¹⁸ Someone may argue, "You have your trust in God; I have my good deeds." Well, show me your trust in God without good deeds, and I will show you my trust in God by my good deeds!

¹⁹ You believe that God is one God? That's great—but demons believe in God too, and they're scared of him!

²⁰ You foolish people! Don't you know that trust in God without doing what's right is worthless?

²¹ Wasn't our father Abraham made right* by what he did—by offering his son Isaac on the altar?

²² You notice that his trust in God worked together with what he did, and through what he did his trust in God was made complete.

²³ In this way scripture was fulfilled: "Abraham trusted God, and this was considered as him doing right,"† and he was called the friend of God.‡

²⁴ You see that people are made right by what they do, and not just by trusting God.

²⁵ In the same way, wasn't Rahab the prostitute made right by what she did when she looked after the messengers and then sent them away by a different road?

²⁶ Just as the body is dead without the spirit, trust in God is dead if you don't do what's right.

3

¹ My friends, not many of you should become teachers, because you know that we who teach will have a heavier responsibility in the judgment.

² All of us make mistakes in many ways. Anyone who doesn't make mistakes in what they say is truly a good person who can keep the whole body under control.

³ We put bridles into the mouths of horses so that they'll obey us, and we can direct them wherever we want.

⁴ Look at ships as well: even though they're very big and are driven along by strong winds, they're steered by a very small rudder in the direction the pilot wants to go.

⁵ In just the same way the tongue is a very small part of the body, but it makes great boasts! Think how a big forest can be set on fire by a very small flame!

§ 2:13 The exact meaning of this verse is debated, but the fundamental point is to emphasize the merciful character of God. * 2:21 Or "shown to be right." † 2:23 Quoting Genesis 15:6. ‡ 2:23 See Isaiah 41:8.

⁶ And the tongue is a fire! The tongue is a world of evil among the parts of the body. It disgraces all you are as a person, and can burn down the whole of your life, since it is set on fire by Gehenna.*

⁷ People have tamed all kinds of animals, birds, reptiles, and sea creatures,

⁸ but no one can tame the tongue—it's an evil thing, hard to control, full of deadly poison.

⁹ We use the same tongue to bless our Lord and Father, as well as to curse people who are made in God's image—

¹⁰ blessings and curses come from the same mouth! Friends, it shouldn't be this way!

¹¹ Does a spring send both sweet and bitter water out of the same opening?

¹³ Who among you has wisdom and understanding? Let their good lives demonstrate what they do—doing what is right with wise kindness and consideration.

¹⁴ But if you have bitter jealousy and selfish ambition in your heart, don't boast about it and don't lie against the truth.

¹⁵ This kind of "wisdom" doesn't come from above, but is earthly, unspiritual, and demonic.

¹⁶ Wherever there is jealousy and selfish ambition you'll also find confusion and all kinds of evil practices.

¹⁷ However, wisdom that comes from above is first of all pure, and it also brings peace. It is kind and open to reason. It is full of mercy and produces good things. It is genuine and not hypocritical.

¹⁸ Those who sow peace will harvest the peace of what is truly good and right.

¹ Where do the fights and quarrels you're having come from? Aren't they due to the sensual passions that are in conflict within you?

² You burn with desire, but don't get what you want. You kill for what you lust after, but don't get what you're looking for. You argue and you fight, but you don't get anything, because you don't pray for it.

³ You pray, but don't receive anything, because you ask with a wrong motive, wanting to spend what you'd receive on your selfish pleasures.

⁴ You adulterous people! Don't you realize that friendship with the world is hatred towards God? Those who want to be friends of the world make themselves enemies of God.

⁵ Do you think Scripture doesn't mean what it says: that the spirit that he put in us is very jealous?*

⁶ But God gives us even more grace, as Scripture says: "God is against those who are arrogant, but gives grace to those who are humble."[†]

* 3:6 Gehenna: the trash dump outside of Jerusalem where fires were used to burn the trash. The word is used symbolically as the endpoint for the wicked. * 4:5 Or "God has placed a spirit in us that is filled with strong desires." † 4:6 Quoting Proverbs 3:34.

⁷ So place yourself under God's direction. Confront the devil, and he will run away from you.

⁸ Come close to God and he will come close to you. Wash your hands, you sinners. Purify your way of thinking, you people with divided loyalties.

⁹ Show some remorse, cry and weep! Turn your laughter into mourning, and your joy to sadness.

¹⁰ Be humble before the Lord and he will lift you up.

¹² There's only one lawgiver and judge—the one who can either save or destroy you—so who are you to judge your neighbor?

¹³ Come on now!—you people who say, “Either today or tomorrow we'll go to such-and-such a city, spend a year in business there, and make a profit.”

¹⁴ You have no idea what will happen tomorrow! What's your life like? It's just a mist that appears for a little while, and then is gone.

¹⁵ What you should say is, “If it's the Lord's will, we'll live like this and plan to do that.”

¹⁷ For it is a sin if you know to do what's right but don't do it.

5

¹ Come on, you rich people! You should weep and wail for all the problems that are coming your way!

² Your wealth is ruined, and your clothes have been eaten by moths.

³ Your gold and your silver are corroded, and this corrosion will be evidence against you, eating away your flesh like fire. You hoarded up your wealth in these last days.

⁴ Look, the wages of your farm workers that you cheated are crying out against you—the cries of the farm workers have reached the ears of the Lord Almighty.

⁵ You've enjoyed a life of luxury here on earth, full of self-indulgent pleasure, fattening yourselves up for the day of slaughter!

⁶ You have condemned and killed the innocent who didn't even resist you.

⁷ Friends, be patient as you wait for the Lord's return. Think of the farmer waiting patiently for the earth's precious harvest as it grows with the early and later rains.

⁸ You need to be patient too. Stay strong for the Lord's return is near.

⁹ My friends, don't complain about each other, so you won't be judged. Look, the judge is standing right at the door!

¹⁰ Take the prophets as an example, my friends—see how they spoke in the Lord's name as they suffered and waited patiently.

[‡] 4:11 Or “judges.”

¹¹ Notice that we say that those who endure are blessed. You've heard about the patience of Job, and you've seen how the Lord brought this to a positive conclusion—for the Lord is full of compassion and mercy.

¹² Above all, my friends, don't swear. Not by heaven, not by earth, and not by any other kind of oath. Just let your yes be yes, and your no be no, so you won't fall under condemnation.

¹³ Are any of you suffering? You should pray. Are some of you cheerful? You should sing songs of praise.

¹⁴ Are any of you sick? You should call for the church elders and have them pray over you, and anoint you with oil in the Lord's name.

¹⁵ Such a prayer, trusting in God, will heal those who are sick, and the Lord will make them well. If they've committed sins, they will be forgiven.

¹⁶ Admit the wrongs you've done to each other, and pray for one another so that you'll be healed. Earnest prayer from those who live right is very effective.

¹⁷ Elijah was a man who had the same human nature as we do. He prayed earnestly that it wouldn't rain, and it didn't rain on the earth for three and a half years.

¹⁸ He prayed again—heaven sent rain and the earth gave its harvest.

¹⁹ My friends, if any one of you strays from the truth and someone brings you back,

²⁰ let them know that whoever rescues a sinner from the error of their ways will save them from death, and will gain forgiveness for many sins.

First Peter

¹ This letter comes from Peter, apostle of Jesus Christ, and is sent to God's chosen people: exiles scattered throughout the provinces of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia.

² You were chosen by God the Father in his wisdom, made holy by the Spirit, so that you might obey Jesus Christ and be sprinkled with his blood. May you have grace and peace more and more!

³ Praise God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! Through his great mercy we have been born again and given a living hope* through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.

⁴ This inheritance is eternal, it never spoils or fades, and it is kept safe in heaven for you.

⁶ So be glad about this, even though you may be sad for a short while as you endure various trials.

⁷ These prove that your trust in God is genuine, just as fire is used to prove if gold is genuine—even though that too can be destroyed—and your faith is more valuable than gold! In this way your trust in God will be recognized and you will receive praise, glory, and honor when Jesus Christ appears.

⁸ You love him even though you have never seen him. Though you cannot see him now, you trust in him and you're filled with wonderful, indescribable happiness.

¹⁰ It was this salvation that the prophets searched for and investigated when they spoke of the grace that was prepared for you.

¹¹ They tried to find out when and how this would take place, for the Spirit of Christ inside them spoke clearly about Christ's sufferings and glory to come.

¹² It was explained to them that they were not doing this for themselves, but for you—since what they spoke about you've now learned from those who shared the good news with you by the Holy Spirit that heaven sent. Even the angels are eager to find out about all this!

¹³ Make sure your minds are in gear. Be clear-headed. Fix your hope exclusively on the grace you'll be given when Jesus is revealed.

¹⁴ Live like children that do what they're told. Don't allow yourselves to be shaped by your former sinful desires when you didn't know any better.

¹⁵ Now you need to be holy in everything you do, just as the one who called you is holy.

¹⁶ As Scripture says, "You are to be holy, for I am holy."[†]

¹⁷ Since you call him Father, and recognize he judges everyone impartially based on what they do, take your time here on earth seriously, respecting him.

* 1:3 Or "a hope that brings us life." † 1:16 Quoting Leviticus 11:44-45 or Leviticus 19:2

¹⁸ You already know that you were not set free from your pointless way of living that you inherited from your forefathers by things that don't have lasting value, like silver or gold.

¹⁹ You were set free by the costly blood of Christ, who was like a lamb with no flaw or defect.

²⁰ He was chosen before the world was created, but he was revealed in these last days[‡] for your benefit.

²¹ Through him you trust in God who raised him from the dead, and glorified him, so that you could have confidence and hope in God.

²² Now that you've dedicated yourselves by following the truth, love each other sincerely like a true family.[§]

²³ You've been born again, not the product of a mortal "seed,"^{*} but immortal, through the living, eternal word of God.

²⁴ For: "All people are like grass, and all their glory like wildflowers. The grass withers and the flowers fall.

²⁵ But the word of the Lord remains forever."[†] This word is the good news that was explained to you.

2

¹ So give up all the evil things that you do: all your dishonesty, hypocrisy, and jealousy, all the ways you speak badly about others.

² You should become like newborn babies who only want pure spiritual milk, so you can grow in salvation

³ now you've tasted how good the Lord really is.

⁴ As you come to him—the living stone that people rejected as useless, but is chosen by God and precious to him—

⁵ you also become like living stones, being built into a spiritual house. You are a holy priesthood that offers spiritual sacrifices that God welcomes through Jesus Christ.

⁶ As Scripture^{*} says, "See! I'm setting in Zion its main cornerstone, specially-chosen and valuable. Whoever trusts in him will not be disappointed."[†]

⁷ He is very valuable to you who do trust. But for those who don't, "The stone the builders rejected that became the main cornerstone"[‡]

⁸ is "The stone that trips you up and the rock that makes you fall."[§] People stumble over this message because they refuse to accept it—which for them is entirely predictable.

¹⁰ In the past you were nobodies, but now you are God's people. In the past you hadn't received mercy, but now you have received mercy.

[‡] 1:20 Or "at the end of time." [§] 1:22 Or "with brotherly love." ^{} 1:23 The emphasis here is that different "seeds" produce different kinds of "life." [†] 1:25 Quoting Isaiah 40:6-8. ^{} 2:6 Quoting Isaiah 28:16. [†] 2:6 Or "ashamed." [‡] 2:7 Quoting Psalms 118:22. [§] 2:8 Quoting Isaiah 8:14.

¹¹ My friends, I'm pleading with you as foreigners and strangers* in this world not to give in to physical desires that are in conflict with what is spiritual.

¹² Be sure to act appropriately when you're with non-Christians, so even if they accuse you of doing wrong, they will see the good things you do and glorify God when he comes.†

¹³ Obey human authority for the Lord's sake, whether it is the king as the highest authority,

¹⁴ or governors that God appoints to punish those who do evil and to commend those who do good.

¹⁵ By doing what is good and right God wants you to silence the ignorant accusations of foolish people.

¹⁶ Yes, you are free people! So don't use your freedom as a cover-up for evil, but live as God's servants.

¹⁷ Respect everyone. Show your love to the community of believers. Have reverence for God. Respect the king.

¹⁸ If you are a servant then submit to your master—not just those who are good and kind, but those who are harsh masters as well.

¹⁹ For this is what grace is: to endure life's pain and unfair suffering, keeping your focus on God.

²⁰ However, there's no credit when you're punished for doing something wrong. But if you suffer for doing what is good and right, and you put up with it, then God's grace is with you.

²¹ In fact this is what you were called to do, because Christ suffered for you and gave you an example, so you should follow in his footsteps.

²² He never sinned, he never lied;‡

²³ and when he was badly treated, he didn't retaliate. When he suffered, he didn't threaten to take revenge. He simply placed himself in the hands of the one who always judges rightly.

²⁴ He took the consequences of our sins on himself in his body on the cross, so that we could die to sin and live rightly.§ “By his wounds you are healed.”*

²⁵ At one time you were like sheep who had lost their way,† but now you've returned to the Shepherd—the one who watches over you.

3

¹ Wives, accept your husbands' authority in the same way, so that if some husbands refuse to accept the word, they may still be won over without words by the way you behave,

² recognizing your pure and reverent behavior.

³ Don't focus on outward attractiveness—hairstyles, gold jewelry, or fashionable clothes—

* 2:11 “Foreigners and strangers”—not seeing this world as home. † 2:12 Literally, “day of visitation.” ‡ 2:22 Quoting Isaiah 53:9. § 2:24 “The consequences of our sins”: it is the results of sin that are demonstrated in Jesus' death. Sins are innately non-transferable—they are committed by the sinner and cannot be passed to anyone or anything else, since sins are the specific actions of the individual sinner. * 2:24 Quoting Isaiah 53:5, explaining that salvation is to do with the healing of our fatal sin-sickness, not some legal readjustment with God, or payment to him. † 2:25 Referencing Isaiah 53:6.

⁴ instead let it come from within, the lasting attractiveness of a gentle and peaceful spirit on the inside. That's what God values.

⁵ This is how holy women of the past who put their confidence in God made themselves beautiful, yielding to their husbands,

⁶ like Sarah who obeyed Abraham, and called him "lord."^{*} You are her daughters if you do what's good and right and are not intimidated.

⁷ Husbands, in just the same way, be considerate to your wives as you live together with them. Though she may not be as strong as you are, you should honor her since she will inherit equally with you God's gift of life. Make sure to do this so nothing will get in the way of your prayers.

⁸ Finally, you should all have the same attitude. Be sympathetic and love each other. Be compassionate, and humble.

⁹ Don't pay back evil for evil, or retaliate when you're abused, instead you should give a blessing—because that's what you were called to do, so you could gain a blessing yourself.

¹⁰ Remember: "Those who want to love life, and to see good days, must refrain from speaking evil, and not tell lies.

¹¹ Turn away from evil and do good; search for peace—run after it!

¹² For God sees those who do right, and he hears their prayers, but he opposes those who do evil."[†]

¹³ Who will harm you if you're keen to do good?

¹⁴ For even if you suffer for doing what's right, you're still better off. Don't be scared over what people threaten, don't worry about it;

¹⁵ just keep your mind focused on Christ as Lord. Always be ready to explain to anyone who asks you the reason for the hope that you have. Do this in a gentle and respectful way.

¹⁶ Make sure your conscience is clear, so that if anyone makes accusations against you, they will be embarrassed for speaking badly about the good way you live your life in Christ.

¹⁷ It's certainly better to suffer for doing good, (if that's what God wants), than to suffer for doing wrong!

¹⁸ Jesus died because of sins, once and for all, the one who is completely true and good and right died for those who are bad,[‡] so that he could bring you to God. He was put to death in the body, but he came to life in the spirit.

¹⁹ He went to speak to those "imprisoned"[§]

²⁰ that refused to believe, when God patiently waited in the time of Noah while the ark was being built. Only a few—in fact eight people—were saved "through water."

²¹ This water symbolizes baptism that now saves you, not by washing off dirt from your body, but as a positive response to God that comes from

^{*} 3:6 Or "master." Today such formality in a marriage relationship would be unusual. [†] 3:12 Quoting Psalms 34:12-16. [‡] 3:18 Literally, "the right for the unright." In this verse the inevitable results of sin are made clear through the death of Jesus. He experienced the consequences of sin in the most dramatic and conclusive way possible, and also proved it was not God who kills, but that sin itself brings its inevitable fatal result (see Romans 6:23). [§] 3:19 Or "imprisoned souls." There has been much debate over this phrase. The same word used for "souls" should note the same word is used for the eight people in verse 20. Some understand those "imprisoned" as those people at the time of the Flood who were "held captive" by their sinfulness (see Genesis 6:5).

a clear conscience. It is the resurrection of Jesus Christ that makes your salvation possible.

4

¹ Since Christ suffered physically, you must prepare yourselves with the same attitude he had—for those who suffer physically have turned away from sin.*

² You will not live the rest of your lives following human desires, but doing what God wants.

³ In the past you've spent enough time following the ways of the world: immorality, sexual indulgence, drunken orgies, partying, binge drinking, and revolting idol-worship.

⁴ People think it's strange that you don't join them anymore in this wild and excessive lifestyle, so they curse at you. But they will have to explain what they've done to the one who is ready to judge the living and the dead.

⁵ That's why the good news was shared with those who've already died—

⁶ so that although they were rightly judged as far as being sinful human beings is concerned, they could live in the spirit as far as God is concerned.

⁷ Everything is coming to an end! So think clearly and stay alert when you pray.

⁸ Most of all, you should love one another very deeply, for love covers many of the wrong things people do.

⁹ Show hospitality to each another, and don't complain.

¹⁰ Whatever gift you've been given, share it with others among you, as people who wisely demonstrate God's grace in all its different forms.

¹¹ Anyone who speaks should do so as though God is speaking through them. Anyone who wants to help others should do so through the strength that God gives, so that in everything God may be glorified through Jesus Christ. May glory and power be his forever and ever. Amen.

¹² My friends, don't be alarmed at the "ordeals of fire"[†] you're having, as if these were unexpected.

¹⁴ If you are cursed in Christ's name, you're blessed, for God's glorious spirit rests on you.

¹⁵ If you suffer, it should not be as a murderer, or a thief, or a criminal, or as a gossip—

¹⁶ but if it's as a Christian, then you don't need to be ashamed. Instead praise God that you're called by that name!

¹⁷ For the time of judgment has come—and it begins with the house of God. If it begins with us, what will be the end of those who reject God's good news?

¹⁸ "If it's hard for those who live right to be saved, what will happen to sinners, those who oppose God?"[‡]

* 4:1 This is a difficult verse, since clearly suffering does not mean sinlessness. The implication is that just as Christ suffered unjustly, when Christians suffer unjustly they take part in the experience of Christ. [†] 4:12 Literally, "a burning to test you." [‡] 4:18 Quoting Proverbs 11:31.

¹⁹ So then those who suffer according to the will of God, the trustworthy Creator, should make sure they are doing good.

5

¹ I want to encourage the elders among you. I'm also an elder, a witness to Christ's sufferings, and I will share in the glory that is to come.

² Look after God's flock you have been given to care for, watching over it not because you're forced to, but gladly, as God wants you to. Do this willingly, not looking to make a profit from it.

³ Don't be arrogant, lording it over those who have been put in your care, but be an example to the flock.

⁴ When the chief Shepherd appears, you will receive a glorious crown that will never fade.

⁵ Young people, do what the elders tell you. Indeed all of you should serve one another in humility, because "God is against the proud, but favors the humble."*

⁶ Humble yourself before God's powerful hand so that he will lift you up at the appropriate time.

⁷ Surrender all your worries to him, because he cares for you.

⁸ Be responsible, and stay alert. The devil, your enemy, is prowling around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour.

⁹ Stand firm against him, trusting in God. Remember that your fellow-believers around the world are going through similar troubles.

¹⁰ After you have suffered for a little while, the God of all grace who called you into his eternal glory in Christ, will himself restore you, support you, strengthen you, and give you a solid foundation.

¹¹ To him be power forever and ever! Amen.

¹² With the help of Silvanus, whom I consider a trustworthy brother, I send this letter to you. In these few words I've written I want to encourage you and testify that this is the true grace of God. Stand firm in God's grace!

¹³ The believers here in "Babylon,"† chosen together with you, send their greetings to you, as does Mark, my son.

¹⁴ Greet each other with a kiss of love. Peace to all of you who are in Christ.

* 5:5 Quoting Proverbs 3:34. † 5:13 Literally, "those in Babylon." Babylon in the New Testament is frequently a symbol for Rome.

Second Peter

¹ This letter comes from Simon Peter, a servant and apostle of Jesus Christ, to those who share with us the same priceless trust in our God and Savior Jesus Christ, the one who is truly good and right.

² May you have ever more grace and peace as you grow in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord.

³ Through his divine power we have been given everything that's important to live a God-centered life. This comes through knowing him who called us to himself by his own glory and goodness.

In this way he's given us wonderful, priceless promises.

⁴ Through these promises you can share in the divine nature, being rid of the corruption caused by this world's evil desires.

⁵ For this same reason, do everything you can! Add to your trust in God, goodness; add to goodness, knowledge;

⁶ add to knowledge, self-control; add to self-control, patience; add to patience, reverence;

⁸ The more you have these qualities, the more they will keep you from being ineffective and unproductive in your knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

⁹ For anyone who doesn't have such qualities is short-sighted, or blind. They forget that they've been cleansed from their past sins.

¹⁰ So, brothers and sisters, be all the more determined to make sure you are truly "called and chosen." If you do this, you won't ever fall.*

¹¹ You will receive a tremendous welcome into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

¹² That's why I always remind you about these things, even though you know them already, and you stand firm in the truth that you possess.

¹³ But I still think it's a good idea to encourage you by giving you reminders while I live.

¹⁴ I know the time when I shall leave this life will be coming soon— our Lord Jesus Christ has made this clear to me.

¹⁵ I will do my best so that when I'm gone you will always be able to remember these things.

¹⁶ We didn't follow made-up myths when we told you about the coming in power of our Lord Jesus Christ—we saw his majesty for ourselves.†

¹⁷ He received honor and glory from God the Father when the voice of majestic glory spoke to him and announced, "This is my Son, the one I love, and who truly pleases me."‡

¹⁸ We ourselves heard this voice speak from heaven when we were with him on the holy mountain.

* 1:10 There has been much debate over this verse. The idea is that you are meant to do all you can to hold onto salvation. It does not necessarily lead to the conclusion that you cannot lose salvation. † 1:16 This passage is a reference to the Transfiguration. ‡ 1:17 Quoting Matthew 17:5 or parallel passage.

¹⁹ We also have the confirming word of prophecy that's absolutely trustworthy, and you will benefit from paying close attention to it. It's like a lamp that shines in a dark place until the day dawns, and the morning star shines to illuminate your minds.

²⁰ Most of all you should realize that no prophecy of scripture is a matter for interpretation based on the whims of an individual,

²¹ for no prophecy originated in human ideas, but prophets spoke for God as they were moved by the Holy Spirit.

¹ But just as there were false prophets among the people then, there will be false teachers among you. They subtly introduce false and destructive teachings, even denying the Lord who redeemed them, quickly bringing destruction on themselves.

² Many will follow their immoral perversions, and because of them people will condemn the way of truth.

³ They will greedily exploit you with false tales. However, they are already condemned: their sentence has been hanging over them for a long time, their destruction won't be postponed.

⁴ For God didn't even spare the angels when they sinned. He threw them into Tartarus,* holding them in dark pits ready for judgment.

⁶ God condemned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah to total destruction, burning them to ash, as an example of what will happen to those who live evil lives.

⁷ But God rescued Lot because he was a good man, sickened by the disgusting immorality of his neighbors.

⁸ (Lot lived among them, but he did what was good and right. He saw and heard what they did day after day, and their wickedness tormented him.)

⁹ As you can see, the Lord is able to rescue from their troubles those who respect him, and to keep the wicked until the day of judgment when their punishment is completed.

¹⁰ This is especially so for those who follow their corrupt human desires, and contemptuously disregard authority. Arrogant and proud, they're not even afraid to defame heavenly beings.

¹² These people are like mindless beasts, produced like farm animals to be captured and slaughtered. They condemn things they don't know anything about, and just like animals they will be destroyed.

¹³ They will be paid back in harm for the harm they have done. Their idea of fun is to commit their evil lusts in broad daylight. They are stains and blemishes on your community. They enjoy their deceptive pleasures even while they eat together with you.

* 2:4 "Tartarus." This is often translated as "hell," however this word has associations from other mythologies. It seems that "Tartarus" was used to represent the word "sheol" of the Old Testament, meaning the place of the dead.

¹⁴ They're always on the lookout for adulterous relationships—they just can't stop sinning. They seduce the vulnerable; they have trained themselves in greed; they are offspring under a curse.

¹⁵ They have abandoned the right path and went astray, following the way of Balaam, the son of Beor, who loved to be paid for doing evil.

¹⁶ But he was told off for his evil actions—a dumb donkey spoke with a human voice and stopped the prophet's foolishness!

¹⁷ People like these are springs without water, mists blown away by the wind. They are destined for blackest darkness—forever.

¹⁸ Inflated with their own nonsense, they appeal to sensual desires, luring back into immorality those who have only just escaped from those who live in error.

¹⁹ They promise them freedom, even though they themselves are slaves to depravity. "You are a slave to whatever conquers you."

²⁰ If people manage to escape from the evil influence of the world by knowing the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and then get tangled up in sin again and are defeated, they are worse off than they were in the first place.

²¹ It would have been better not to have known the right way of truth, than to have known it and then turn away from the sacred instructions they'd been given.

²² This proverb has come true for them: "The dog has returned to its own vomit, and the washed pig has gone back to rolling in the mud."[†]

3

¹ My friends, this is my second letter to you. In both of them I've tried to stir you up and remind you to think clearly with pure minds.

² Remember the words spoken in the past by the holy prophets, and what the Lord and Savior commanded through your apostles.

³ Above all you should know that derisive people will come in the last days, full of mockery and following their own evil desires.*

⁴ "So what happened to this coming he promised?" they ask. "Right from the time our ancestors died, everything's continued as it always has, ever since creation began."

⁵ But they deliberately ignore the fact that by God's command the heavens were created long ago. The earth came into existence from the water, and was surrounded by water.

⁶ It was through water that the world that then existed was destroyed—through being flooded by water.

⁷ But by means of that same divine command the heavens and the earth that now exist are reserved for destruction by fire[†] at the day of judgment when the wicked will be destroyed.

⁸ However, my friends, don't forget this one thing: that for the Lord a day is like a thousand years, and a thousand years is like a day.[‡]

⁹ The Lord is not delaying the fulfillment of his promise, as some define delay, but he is being very patient with you. He doesn't want anyone to be lost, but everyone to come and repent.

[†] 2:22 Quoting Proverbs 26:11.
[‡] 3:8 See Psalms 90:4.

* 3:3 See Jude 1:18.

[†] 3:7 "Destruction by fire": Literally, "in fire".

¹⁰ However, the day of the Lord will come, unexpectedly like a thief. The heavens will explode with a thunderous roar, and the elements[§] will be destroyed as they are burned up. The earth and everything in it will vanish.*

¹¹ Since everything is going to be destroyed in this way, what kind of people should you be? You should be living lives that are pure, dedicated to God,

¹² waiting expectantly and being eager for the coming of the day of God. That day the heavens will catch fire and be destroyed, and the elements will melt in the heat.

¹³ But as for us, we are looking for new heavens and a new earth that God has promised where everything is good and right.[†]

¹⁴ So, my friends, since you're anticipating these things, make sure you'll be found pure and blameless, and at peace with God.

¹⁵ Remember that it is our Lord's patience that gives the opportunity for salvation. That's what our dear brother Paul was explaining to you in all his letters with the wisdom given to him by God.

¹⁶ He spoke about these things, though some of what he wrote is certainly hard to understand. Some ignorant and unbalanced people have twisted what he wrote to their own loss—just as they do other scriptures.

¹⁷ My friends, since you already know this, make sure that these errors of the wicked don't lead you astray, and you don't fall from your firm position.

¹⁸ May you grow in the grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. May he have glory, both now and forever! Amen.

[§] 3:10 It is not clear exactly what these “elements” refer to. ^{*} 3:10 Or “will be seen for what it is.” [†] 3:13 Or “where righteousness dwells.”

First John

¹ This letter is about the Word of Life which existed from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our very own eyes and gazed upon, and which our hands have touched.*

² This Life was revealed to us; we saw it and give evidence about it. We are telling you about the one who is Eternal Life, who was with the Father, and who was revealed to us.

³ What we have seen and heard we are now explaining to you, so that you may also share in this friendship† together with us—this friendship that is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.

⁴ We're writing to tell you about this in order to make our happiness complete.

⁵ This is the message we received from him and that we declare to you: God is light, and there is absolutely no darkness in him at all.‡

⁶ If we claim to share this friendship with him and yet go on living§ in darkness, we're lying, and not living in the truth.

⁷ But if we are living in the light, as he is in the light, then we share in this friendship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, makes us clean from every sin.

⁸ If we claim to be sinless we only fool ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

⁹ But if we confess our sins, he is trustworthy and right so that he can forgive us our sins and make us clean from all that is not right in us.

¹⁰ If we claim we haven't sinned, we turn him into a liar, and his word is not in us.

¹ My dear children, I'm writing this to you so you shouldn't sin. But if anybody should happen to sin, we have someone who defends us before the Father—Jesus Christ, who is truly good and right.

² Through him our sins are forgiven—and not only our sins, but those of the whole world.

³ We can be sure that we do know him if we follow his commands.

⁴ Anyone who says, "I know him," but doesn't do what he says, is a liar. They don't have the truth.

⁵ But those who follow God's word have his love totally fill their minds. This is how we know that we live in him.

⁶ Whoever claims to be living in him should behave like Jesus.

⁷ My friends, I'm not writing to you giving some new commandment, but an old commandment you've had from the beginning. This old commandment is one you have already heard.

* 1:1 The Greek sentence structure has been adjusted to make better sense in English. † 1:3 Literally, "fellowship." ‡ 1:5 In the Greek there is a double negative for emphasis, literally, "darkness in him not there is, not at all." § 1:6 Literally, "walking." Also in 1:7.

⁸ But in a sense I am giving you a new commandment. Its truth is revealed in Jesus and in you, for the darkness is coming to an end and the true light is already shining.

¹⁰ Those who love their fellow Christians live in the light, and don't cause others to sin.†

¹¹ Those who hate a fellow Christian are in darkness. They stumble around in the dark, not knowing where they're going because the darkness has blinded them.

¹² Dear friends, I'm writing to you children,‡ for your sins have been forgiven through the name of Jesus.

¹³ I'm writing to you fathers, for you know him who has existed from the beginning. I'm writing to you young people, for you have defeated the evil one.

¹⁴ I write to you little children, for you know the Father. I write to you fathers, for you know him who has existed from the beginning. I write to you young people, for you are strong. The word of God lives in you, and you have defeated the evil one.

¹⁵ Don't be in love with the world, and don't long for the things of this world. If you love the world, you won't have the Father's love in you.

¹⁷ The world and its evil desires are coming to an end, but those who do the will of God will live forever.

¹⁸ Dear friends, this is the last hour. As you've heard, the antichrist is coming. Many antichrists have already come. This is how we know this is the last hour.

¹⁹ They left us, but they didn't belong with us, for if they did, they would have remained with us. When they left they showed that none of them belonged with us.

²⁰ But you have been anointed§ with the Holy Spirit's blessing, and all of you know what's true.

²¹ I'm not writing because you don't know the truth, but because you do know it, and because no lie comes from the truth.

²² Who is the liar?—anyone who denies that Jesus is the Christ.* The antichrist is anyone who denies the Father and the Son.

²³ Anyone that denies the Son does not have the Father; anyone who acknowledges the Son has the Father too.

²⁴ As for you, make sure what you heard from the beginning continues to live in you. If what you heard from the beginning lives in you, you will also live in the Son and in the Father.

* 2:9 Literally, "brother." † 2:10 Literally, "there is no snare." In other words something that trips others up. ‡ 2:12 John identifies three groups: children, fathers, and young people. They probably refer to different ages of Christian experience rather than literal groups. § 2:20 Anointing is an act of pouring a liquid (usually oil) on someone's head to indicate they are specially blessed and set apart for a particular role (like kingship in the Old Testament). Here anointing refers to the blessing of the Holy Spirit who, in the words of Jesus, leads to all truth. * 2:22 Meaning Messiah. (Christ in Greek.) Both refer to one who is anointed.

²⁵ Eternal life—this is what he has promised us!

²⁶ I'm writing this to warn you against those who want to lead you astray.

²⁷ But the anointing you received from him means the Spirit[†] lives in you, and you don't need to be taught by anyone. The Spirit's anointing teaches you about everything. It is the truth and not a lie. So live in Christ, just as you've been taught!

²⁸ Now, my dear friends, continue to live in Christ, so that when he appears, we can be confident and not feel ashamed before him at his coming.

²⁹ If you know he is good and right,[‡] then you also know that everyone who does what is right has been born of God.

¹ Look at the amazing kind of love the Father has for us! This is why we can be called God's children—for that's who we are! The reason why the people of this world don't recognize us as God's children is because they don't recognize him.

² My friends, we are already God's children; however what we shall become hasn't been revealed just yet. But we do know that when he appears, we shall be like him, because we shall see him as he really is.

³ All those who have this hope in them make sure they are pure, just as he is pure.

⁴ All those who sin are lawless, because sin is lawlessness.

⁵ But of course you know that Jesus came to take away sins, and that there is no sin in him.

⁸ Those who sin are of the devil, for the devil has been sinning from the beginning. That's the reason why the Son of God came—to destroy what the devil has done.

⁹ All those who are born of God don't keep on sinning, for God's nature^{*} lives in them. They can't keep on sinning because they are born of God.

¹⁰ This is how God's children and the devil's children can be distinguished: all those who don't do what's right don't belong to God, nor do those who don't love their fellow Christians.

¹¹ The message you've heard from the beginning is simply this: we should love one another.

¹² We cannot be like Cain, who belonged to the evil one, and murdered his brother. Why did he murder him? Because Cain did what was evil, while his brother did what was right.

¹³ So don't be surprised, my friends, if this world hates you!

¹⁴ The reason we know that we have changed from death to life is because we love our Christian brothers and sisters. Anyone who doesn't love remains dead.

[†] 2:27 Spirit, supplied from verse 20. [‡] 2:29 Literally, "righteous"—however this word is normally only used in a religious connection today and does not have much meaning in general English. ^{*} 3:9 Literally, "his seed."

¹⁵ All those who hate their Christian brothers and sisters are murderers, and you know that no murderers have eternal life within them!

¹⁶ This is how we know what love is: Jesus laid down his life for us, and we ought to lay down our lives for our Christian brothers and sisters.

¹⁷ If one of you is living well in this world and you see your Christian brother or sister in need, but you don't show compassion—how can God's love be living in you?

¹⁸ Dear friends, let's not just say we love with words, but show our love in what we do and how we demonstrate the truth.

¹⁹ This is how we will know that we belong to the truth, and how we will set our minds[†] at rest before God

²⁰ whenever we think we're in the wrong. God is greater than how we think, and he knows everything.

²¹ Dear friends, if we're reassured we're not in the wrong, we can have confidence before God.

²² We'll receive from him whatever we ask him for, because we follow his commands and do what pleases him.

²³ This is what he commands: we should trust in the name[‡] of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, just as he commanded us to do.

²⁴ Those who keep his commands continue to live in him, and he lives in them. We know that he lives in us by the Spirit he has given us.

4

¹ Dear friends, don't trust every spirit, but put the spirits to the test to find out whether they're from God, for there are many false prophets out there in the world.

² How can you recognize God's Spirit? Every spirit that accepts Jesus Christ came with a human body is from God;

³ while every spirit that doesn't accept Jesus, that spirit isn't from God. In fact it is the spirit of the antichrist which you heard was coming, and which is already in the world.

⁴ But you belong to God, my friends, and you have defeated them,* for the one who is in you is greater than the one who is in the world.

⁵ They belong to the world, so they speak like people of the world, and the world listens to them.

⁶ We belong to God and whoever knows God listens to us, while whoever doesn't belong to God doesn't listen to us. This is how we can distinguish the spirit of truth from the spirit of deception.

⁷ Dear friends, let's go on loving one another, for love comes from God. All those who love are born of God and know God.

⁸ Those who don't love don't know God, for God is love.

⁹ How was God's love shown to us? God sent his one and only Son into the world so that we could live through him.

¹⁰ This is love! It's not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and he sent his Son to be the reconciliation for our sins.

¹¹ Friends, if this is the way God loves us, we ought to love one another like this too.

[†] 3:19 Literally, "hearts." It was believed that the heart was where you did your thinking. [‡] 3:23

Name in the sense of character and reputation rather than just a given name. * 4:4 Referring back to the false prophets and the spirit that inspires them.

¹² No one has ever seen God. However, if we love one another then God lives in us, and his love is fulfilled in us.

¹³ How can we know that we live in him, and that he lives in us? He's given us the ability to love[†] by his Spirit.

¹⁴ For we are witnesses to what we have seen and testify that the Father sent the Son as the Savior of the world.

¹⁵ God lives in everyone who declares that Jesus is the Son of God, and they live in God.

¹⁶ We have experienced and trusted in the love that God has for us. God is love, and those who live in love, live in God, and God lives in them.

¹⁷ This is how love is made complete in us so that we can be confident on judgment day: by the fact that we live just like him in this world.

¹⁸ Where there is love there can be no fear. God loves us completely, and this love drives all our fears away. If we do fear, it's because we fear being punished, and this shows that we have not been fully re-made by the completeness of God's love.

¹⁹ We love because he loved us first.

²⁰ Anyone who says, "I love God," but hates a Christian brother or sister, is a liar. Anyone who doesn't love a brother whom they can see, can't love God whom they can't see.

²¹ This is the command he gave to us: those who love God love their brothers and sisters too.

5

¹ Whoever trusts that Jesus is the Christ is born of God, and whoever loves the father also loves his child.

² How do we know that we love God's children? When we love God and follow his commands.

³ Loving God means that we follow his commands, and his commands are not hard to bear.

⁴ Everyone who is born of God defeats the world. The way we gain victory and defeat the world is by trusting God.

⁵ Who can defeat the world? Only those who trust in Jesus, believing he is the Son of God.

⁶ He is the one who came through water and blood, Jesus Christ. He did not only come by water, but by water and blood.* The Spirit gives evidence to confirm this, for the Spirit is the truth.

⁷ So there are three that give evidence:

⁸ the Spirit, the water, and the blood, and all three agree as one.[†]

⁹ If we accept the evidence that human witnesses provide, then the evidence that God provides is much more important. The evidence that God provides is his testimony about his Son.

¹⁰ Those trusting in the Son of God have accepted and hold on to this evidence. Those who don't trust God make God out to be a liar, because they don't believe the evidence God has given about his Son.

¹¹ The evidence is this: God has given eternal life to us, and we have this life through his Son.

[†] 4:13 Implied. * 5:6 This is often interpreted to mean the water of baptism and the blood meaning his death. [†] 5:8 The authenticity of verses 7 and 8 has been disputed.

¹² Whoever has the Son has life; whoever doesn't have the Son of God doesn't have life.

¹³ I'm writing to tell those of you who trust in the name of the Son of God so you can be certain you have eternal life.

¹⁴ We can be confident that he will listen to us as long as we ask in accordance with his will.

¹⁵ If we know that he hears our requests, we can be sure that we will receive what we've asked him for.

¹⁶ If you see your Christian brother or sister committing a sin that is not a deadly sin,[‡] you ought to pray and God will grant life to the one who's sinned. (But not for a deadly sin. There's a sin that is deadly, and I'm not saying people should pray about that.)

¹⁷ Yes, all that is not right is sin, but there's sin that is not deadly.)

¹⁸ We recognize that those who are born of God don't keep on sinning. The Son of God[§] protects them and the devil cannot harm them.

¹⁹ We know that we belong to God, and that the world is under the power of the evil one.

²⁰ We also know that the Son of God has come, and has helped us to understand so we can recognize the one who is true. We live in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God, and is eternal life.*

²¹ Dear friends, stay away from idol worship.

[‡] 5:16 Deadly sin. Literally, "a sin to death." [§] 5:18 Literally, the One born of God, following the concept at the beginning of the verse. The identification is made clear in the following verse.

* 5:20 This can be understood to mean he gives eternal life, and also that he lives eternally.

Second John

¹ This letter comes from the elder* to the chosen lady† and her children, whom I love in the truth. Not just from me, but from everyone who knows the truth,

² because the truth lives in us and will be with us forever.

³ May grace, mercy and peace continue to be with us, from God the Father and from Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and in love.

⁴ I was delighted to discover that some of your children are following the truth, just as the Father commanded us.

⁵ Now I'm telling you, dear lady, not as a new instruction, but following what we've understood from the beginning, that we should love one another.

⁶ This is what love is: we should follow God's commands. The command, just as you heard right from the beginning, is that you should live in love.‡

⁷ I'm telling you this because many deceivers have left and gone out into the world. They don't accept that Jesus Christ has come as a human being. Anyone like this is a deceiver and an antichrist.

⁸ Be careful that you don't lose what we've worked so hard for, and that you receive all that you should.

⁹ All those who become extremists§ and don't continue to follow the teaching of Christ don't have God with them. Those who continue to follow the teaching of Christ have both the Father and the Son with them.

¹⁰ If people come to you and don't show evidence of Christ's teaching, don't take them in, don't welcome them—

¹² I have so many things to tell you that I won't write any more with paper and ink, for I hope to visit you and talk with you face to face. How happy that would make us!

* 1:1 Understood to be John. † 1:1 The "chosen lady" could refer to a church, or to a specific Christian lady. Similarly in verse 13. ‡ 1:6 Or "that you should behave this way." § 1:9 Literally, "who go too far."

Third John

¹ This letter comes from the elder* to Gaius, my dear friend, whom I love in the truth.

² My friend, I pray most of all that you're doing well and are in good physical health, for I know you're doing well spiritually.

³ I was delighted when some fellow-believers arrived and told me about your commitment to the truth, and how you continue living in the truth.

⁴ Nothing makes me happier than to hear how my dear friends are following the truth.

⁵ My friend, you show you are trustworthy in what you're doing by looking after the brothers,[†] even those you don't know.

⁶ They have spoken well about your love in front of the church. Please be so kind as to send them on their journey in a way that God would appreciate,

⁷ for they are traveling in his name, not accepting anything from non-believers.[‡]

⁹ I did write about this to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves being in charge,[§] refuses to accept our authority.

¹⁰ So if I do visit, I will make it clear what he's been doing. He's been making malicious accusations against us. Not satisfied with doing that, he refuses to welcome any other brothers. He won't let anyone else welcome them either, and throws those who do so out of the church.

¹¹ My friend, don't imitate what is evil, but what is good. Those who do what's good belong to God; those who do evil don't know God.*

¹² Everyone speaks well of Demetrius—and the truth does so too! We also speak well of him, and you know we tell the truth.

¹³ I have so much to say to you, but I don't want to do it in writing with pen and ink.

¹⁴ I hope to see you soon so we can talk face to face.

¹⁵ May peace be with you! The friends here send their greetings to you. Please personally greet our friends there by name.

* 1:1 Usually understood to refer to John, the writer of this letter. † 1:5 Christian believers traveling around spreading the good news. ‡ 1:7 Literally, "Gentiles." § 1:9 Literally, "loves to be first." * 1:11 Literally, "have not seen God."

Jude

¹ This letter comes from Jude, a servant of Jesus Christ, and James' brother. I am writing to those who are called and loved by God the Father, and who are kept safe by Jesus Christ:

² May God's mercy, peace, and love increase in your experience!

³ My friends, I was already looking forward to writing to you about the salvation that we share. But now I need to write urgently to you and encourage you to vigorously defend the truth about God,^{*} given once and for all time[†] to God's holy people.

⁴ For some people have quietly crept in among you. They were written about and condemned a long time ago, for they are wicked people who pervert God's grace, turning it into a license to immorality, while also denying our Lord and master Jesus Christ.

⁵ Even though you already know this, I want to remind you that though the Lord saved his people out of the land of Egypt, later he still destroyed those who disbelieved.

⁷ In just the same way, Sodom and Gomorrah and the towns nearby that pursued immorality and perverted sex are provided as an example of those that experience the punishment of eternal fire.

⁹ Even the archangel Michael, when he was arguing with the devil over Moses' body, didn't dare to condemn him with a slanderous insult, but said, "May the Lord rebuke you."

¹⁰ But these people ridicule whatever they don't understand; and what they do understand they instinctively follow like unthinking animals—this is what destroys them.

¹¹ They're in terrible trouble! For they have followed Cain's way. Like Balaam and his delusion, they have abandoned themselves to the profit motive. Like Korah and his rebellion, they have destroyed themselves.

^{*} 1:3 Literally: "faith," or "belief." [†] 1:3 "Given once and for all time": since God revealed the truth about himself at many different times in history, probably the idea here is the consummate revelation of God by himself in the Person of Jesus. [‡] 1:6 Eternal in the sense of consequence, not in duration—as is obvious from the context in that this "eternal" aspect ends with the judgment. The same applies to the "eternal fire" in verse 7 that is exemplified by Sodom and Gomorrah—the effects are eternal, but the towns are not burning now, nor "forever." [§] 1:8 The reference is to the people mentioned in verse 4.

¹⁴ Enoch, seven generations on from Adam, spoke prophetically about these people: “Look! The Lord is coming, together with thousands and thousands of his holy ones

¹⁵ to judge everyone, to reveal all the wicked things people have done, and all the terrible things hostile sinners have said against him.”

¹⁶ Such people are grumblers, always complaining. They follow their own evil desires, speaking boastfully about themselves, and flattering others to get what they want.

¹⁷ But you, my dear friends, please remember what you were told by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ.

¹⁸ They explained to you that in the last times mockers would come, following their own wicked desires.*

¹⁹ They cause divisions; they are worldly people who don't have the Spirit.

²⁰ But you, my friends, are to build yourselves up through your trust in God. Pray in the Holy Spirit,

²¹ keep yourselves safe in God's love, and wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ who brings eternal life.

²² Show kindness to those who doubt.

²³ Save those you can by snatching them out of the fire. Show mercy—but with great care, hating even the “clothing” that is contaminated by sinful human nature.†

²⁴ Now to him who can keep you from falling, and who can bring you into his glorious presence without fault, and with great joy,

²⁵ to the only God our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, power, and authority, before all time, now, and forever.

Amen.

* 1:18 See 2 Peter 3:3. † 1:23 In other words, while being merciful to the sinner, be very careful about the “sinful clothing” human beings have on them, so as to avoid becoming “infected” yourself.

Revelation

¹ This is the Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show his servants what will happen soon. He sent his angel to reveal it to his servant John

² who confirmed everything he saw concerning the word of God and the testimony* of Jesus Christ.

³ Anyone who reads† this is blessed, as are those who hear these prophetic words and pay attention to what's written, because the time is near.

⁴ This letter comes from John and is sent to the seven churches in the province of Asia.‡ May you have grace and peace from the one who was, who is, and who is to come, and from the seven Spirits before his throne,

⁵ and from Jesus Christ the trustworthy witness, the firstborn from the dead, the ruler of earthly kings. To Jesus who loves us and freed us from our sins by his blood,

⁶ who made us into his kingdom, priests to his God and Father—to Jesus be glory and authority for ever and ever. Amen.

⁷ Look, he is coming surrounded by clouds, and everybody shall see him, even those who killed him. All the peoples of the earth will weep because of him. May it be so! Amen.

⁸ “I am the Beginning and the End,”§ says the All-powerful Lord God, who was, who is, and who is to come.

⁹ I am John, your brother who shares with you in the suffering and in the kingdom and in the patient waiting that are our experience in Jesus. I was detained on the island of Patmos for sharing the word of God and the truth as revealed by Jesus.

¹⁰ I was filled by the Spirit on the Lord's day, and I heard a loud voice behind me that sounded like a trumpet.

¹¹ It told me, “Write down in a book what you see and send it to the seven churches: Ephesus, Smyrna, Pergamum, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea.”

¹² I turned round to see who was speaking to me. When I turned I saw seven golden candlesticks,

¹³ and standing among the candlesticks was someone who looked like a Son of man.* He was wearing a robe that reached down to his feet with a golden sash across his chest.

¹⁵ His feet looked like polished brass that had been refined in a furnace. His voice sounded like a thundering waterfall.

¹⁶ He was holding seven stars in his right hand, and a sharp double-edged sword came out of his mouth. His face shone like the sun at its brightest.

* 1:2 That is, the witness and evidence given by and about Jesus. † 1:3 Referring particularly to those who read this book out loud to others. ‡ 1:4 In Asia Minor, modern-day Turkey. § 1:8

Literally, “Alpha and Omega,” the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. * 1:13 Son of man: the term Jesus often used to describe himself, and also an apocalyptic term used in the book of Daniel: Daniel 7:13.

¹⁷ When I saw him I fell down at his feet as if I were dead. But he touched me with his right hand and said, “Don’t be afraid, I am the first and the last,

¹⁸ the living one. I was dead, but look! Now I am alive for ever and ever, and I hold the keys of death and the grave.[†]

¹⁹ So write down what you’ve seen—what’s happening in the present and what will happen in the future.

²⁰ The meaning of the seven stars that you saw me holding in my right hand and the seven golden candlesticks is this: the seven stars are the angels[‡] of the seven churches and the seven candlesticks are the seven churches.”

² I know what you’ve accomplished, your hard work and perseverance. I know you can’t tolerate evil people, and how you investigated those who claimed to be apostles but are not, and discovered they were frauds.

³ I know about your patience, and what you endured for my sake—and that you didn’t give up!

⁴ But I have something against you: you have neglected your first love.

⁵ So remember how far you’ve fallen—repent and go back to what you were doing at first. Otherwise I’ll come to you and I will remove your candlestick from where it is—unless you repent.

⁶ However, you do have this to your credit: you hate the actions of the Nicolaitans,^{*} just as I do.

⁷ If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches.[†] I will give to those who are victorious the privilege of eating from the tree of life, which stands in the Paradise of God.

⁸ Write this to the angel of the Smyrna church: This is what the first and last says, the one who was dead and came back to life:

⁹ I know the troubles you are going through, and how poor you are (but you are rich), and the abuse from those who say they are Jews but are not, but belong to Satan’s synagogue.

¹⁰ Don’t be afraid about what you are going to suffer. Yes, the devil will throw some of you into prison to test you, and you will suffer persecution for ten days. Just remain faithful, even if it means death, and I will give you the crown of life!

¹¹ If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches. The second death will not harm those who are victorious.

¹² Write this to the angel of the Pergamum church: This is what the one holding the sharp two-edged sword says:

¹³ I know you’re living where Satan has his throne, and that you have stayed true to me. You have not denied your trust in me, even when my

[†] 1:18 Literally, “Hades.” [‡] 1:20 Angel means “messenger.” ^{*} 2:6 Nicolaitans: little is known about this group. It is suggested that they taught the physical had no impact on the spiritual, so the kind of life you led was not important. [†] 2:7 In other words, if you are able to hear what is said, then listen and pay attention.

¹⁴ But I have a few things against you: There are some among you who hold to the teaching of Balaam, who taught Balak[‡] how to entrap the children of Israel by means of eating food sacrificed to idols and committing sexual sins.

¹⁶ So repent, or soon I will come to you and fight against them using the sword of my mouth.

¹⁷ If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches. I will give the hidden manna to those who are victorious. I will give them a white stone with a new name written on it that nobody knows except those who receive it.

¹⁸ Write this to the angel of the Thyatira church: This is what the Son of God says, the one who has eyes like flaming fire and feet like polished brass.

¹⁹ I know what you have accomplished, your love and faithfulness and service and perseverance, and that you are doing more now than when you first believed.

²⁰ But I have something against you: you are allowing the woman called Jezebel who calls herself a prophetess to teach my followers, leading them astray into sexual sins, and to eat food sacrificed to idols.

²¹ I gave her time to repent of her sexual sins, but she's not willing to repent.

²² So I'm throwing her into a bed together with her adulterous partners and they will suffer terribly unless they repent of what they have done with her.

²³ I will put her children to death. Then all the churches will know that I am the one who examines thoughts and motives.[§] I will repay each of you according to what you've done.

²⁴ For the rest of you there in Thyatira who don't follow this teaching, who have not learned Satan's 'deep depravities' as they are called, I don't place on you any other burden. I say to you,

²⁵ 'Just hold on to what you have until I come.'

²⁶ I will give authority over the nations to those who are victorious and who do what I say until the end.

²⁷ He will rule the nations with an iron rod, breaking them into pieces like clay pots.* In the same way that I received authority from my Father,

²⁸ I will give them the morning star.[†]

²⁹ If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches."

3

¹ "Write this to the angel of the Sardis church: This is what the one who has the seven Spirits of God and the seven stars says: I know what you

[‡] 2:14 Referring to the story in Numbers 22 and following. [§] 2:23 "Thoughts and motives"—Literally, "kidneys and hearts." * 2:27 See Psalms 2:8-9. [†] 2:28 "Morning star"—an ancient reference to the planet Venus, associated with victory. It is also a title given to Christ.

have accomplished, and that you give the appearance of being alive—but in reality you are dead.

² Wake up, and try to revive what is left that's about to die! For I have discovered that from the perspective of my God, nothing you've done has been finished.

³ So remind yourselves of how this message came to you, and what you heard. Observe what you were told to do, and repent. If you don't watch out, I'll come unexpectedly like a thief, and you won't know at what time I'll come to you!

⁴ But there are some among you in Sardis who have not ruined their clothes,* and they will walk with me dressed in white, for they deserve to do so.

⁵ Those who are victorious will be dressed in white like this. Their names will not be removed from the book of life, and I will speak for them in the presence of my Father and his angels.

⁶ If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches.

⁷ Write this to the angel of the Philadelphia church: This is what the one says, the one who is holy and true, who has the key of David.† He can open and nobody is able to shut, he can shut, and nobody is able to open:

⁸ I know what you have accomplished—look, I've opened a door for you that no one can shut. I know that you only have a little strength, but you did what I told you, and you did not deny me.

⁹ From Satan's synagogue I will bring those who say they are Jews, (but are not, they are liars), making them come and worship at your feet, so that they will acknowledge that I love you.

¹⁰ Because you have persevered as I told you to, I will take care of you during the testing time that is coming on the whole world when those who live on the earth will be on trial.

¹¹ I am coming soon! Keep a tight grasp on what you have, so that no one takes your crown.

¹² Those who are victorious I will make into pillars in the Temple of my God. They won't ever have to leave. I will write on them the name of my God, the name of the city of my God called New Jerusalem which descends from heaven from my God, and my own new name.

¹³ If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches.

¹⁴ Write this to the angel of the Laodicea church: This is what the Amen says, who is the faithful, true witness, highest ruler of God's creation:

¹⁶ But because you're lukewarm, neither hot nor cold, I'm going to spit you out of my mouth.

¹⁷ You say to yourselves, 'I'm rich, I have wealth, and don't need anything.' But you don't know that you are miserable and pitiful and poor and blind and naked.

¹⁸ I advise you to buy from me gold refined‡ by fire so you may be rich; and have white clothes so you can be properly dressed and you won't reveal your nakedness and shame; and ointment to put on your eyes so you can see.

* 3:4 Meaning that they had not defiled themselves by doing evil. † 3:7 "The key of David": see Isaiah 22:22. ‡ 3:18 Or "purified."

²⁰ Look, I'm standing at the door, knocking. If anyone hears me calling and opens the door, I will come in and eat with them, and they with me.

²¹ I will have those who are victorious sit down with me beside my throne, just as I was victorious and sat down beside my Father on his throne.

²² If you have ears, listen to what the Spirit is telling the churches."

4

¹ After this I saw a door that had been opened in* heaven. The voice that I'd heard before, the one that sounded like a trumpet, told me, "Come up here, and I will show you what will happen next."

² Immediately I was filled by the Spirit and saw a throne set up in heaven, with someone sitting on the throne.

³ The one sitting there shone like jewels, like jasper and carnelian, and there was a rainbow that circled the throne, shining like an emerald.

⁴ Around the throne were twenty-four other thrones, and twenty-four elders were sitting on these thrones, dressed in white and wearing golden crowns on their heads.

⁵ From the throne lightning flashed and thunder roared. Seven torches blazed in front of the throne—these are the seven Spirits of God.

⁶ Stretching out in front of the throne was a sea of glass, as clear as crystal. In the center and all around the throne were four living creatures covered in eyes, both front and back.

⁷ The first creature looked like a lion, the second like a young bull, the third had a human face, and the fourth looked like a flying eagle.

⁸ The four living creatures each had six wings also covered with eyes. Day and night they never stop saying, "Holy, holy, holy is the All-powerful Lord God, who was, who is, and who is to come."

⁹ Whenever the living creatures glorify, honor, and thank the one that sits on the throne, who lives for ever and ever,

¹¹ "Our Lord and our God, you are worthy to be given glory, and honor, and authority, for you created everything. Your will brought Creation into existence."

5

² I saw a powerful angel shouting in a loud voice, "Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?"

³ Nobody in heaven, or on earth, or under the earth† was able to open the scroll and read it.

* 4:1 Or "into." * 5:1 "Right hand." This is assumed, the Greek simply says "in/on his right."

† 5:3 "In heaven, or on earth, or under the earth." This is simply referring to "everywhere." It does not necessarily imply that there are people who are conscious "under the earth." Also 5:13.

⁴ I cried many tears because nobody could be found who was worthy to open the book and read it.

⁵ One of the elders spoke to me and said, "Don't cry. Look, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the descendant of David, has won the battle and can open the scroll and its seven seals."

⁶ I saw a Lamb that looked as if it had been killed standing in the center by the throne and the four living creatures, among the elders. He had seven horns and seven eyes that are the seven Spirits of God that are sent out to all the earth.

⁷ He went and took the scroll from the right hand of the one that sat on the throne.

⁸ When he had taken the scroll, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell down before the Lamb. Each of them had a harp and golden bowls full of incense, which are the prayers of the believers.

⁹ They sang a new song, "You are worthy to take the scroll and open its seals, for you were slain and with your blood you redeemed for God people from every tribe, language, people, and nation.

¹⁰ You made them into a kingdom and priests for our God, and they will reign on the earth."

¹¹ As I looked I heard the voices of millions of angels around the throne, together with the living creatures and the elders,

¹² shouting loudly together: "The Lamb that was slain is worthy to receive authority, wealth, wisdom, strength, honor, glory, and blessing."

¹³ Then I heard every creature in heaven, on earth, and under the earth, in the sea—every creature everywhere—replying: "To the one who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb be blessing, honor, glory, and authority, for ever and ever."

¹⁴ The four living creatures said, "Amen!" and the elders fell down and worshipped.

6

² I looked and saw a white horse. Its rider was holding a bow. He was given a crown, and he rode out conquering so that he would be victorious.

³ When he opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature say, "Come!"

⁴ Another horse came out, a red one. Its rider was given a large sword, and the power to take away peace from the earth so that people would slaughter one another.

⁵ When he opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, "Come!" I looked and saw a black horse. Its rider was holding a pair of scales in his hand.

⁶ I heard what seemed to be a voice coming from among the four living creatures that said, "Two pounds of wheat cost a day's wages, and three pounds of barley cost the same.† But don't damage the oil or the wine."‡

* 6:1 The command could also be, "Go!" † 6:6 Two pounds/three pounds—an approximate measurement. The Greek measure is about one quart, or just over one liter. The point being made here is just how expensive basic foods have become. ‡ 6:6 The command to the rider is not to inflict damage on these other staple food items.

⁷ When he opened the fourth seal, I heard the fourth living creature say, "Come!"

⁸ I looked and saw a pale horse. The rider was called Death, and Hades followed him.[§] They received authority over a quarter of the earth to kill people by the sword, by famine, by plague, and by wild beasts.

⁹ When he opened the fifth seal, I saw underneath the altar those* who had been killed because of their dedication to the word of God and their faithful witness.

¹⁰ They cried out, shouting, "How long, Lord who is holy and true, before you will judge and bring to justice those on earth who spilled our blood?"

¹¹ Each one of them was given a white robe, and they were told to wait for a little longer until their number was complete—their fellow-believers and brothers who would be killed like them.

¹² When he opened the sixth seal there was a tremendous earthquake. The sun turned black like hair sackcloth and the whole moon turned red like blood.

¹³ The stars of heaven fell to earth like unripe figs falling from a fig tree shaken by a windstorm.

¹⁴ The sky disappeared like a scroll rolling up, and all the mountains and islands were moved from where they were.

¹⁵ The kings of the earth, the great leaders, the wealthy, the powerful, and all people, slave or free, hid themselves in caves and among the rocks in the mountains.

¹⁶ They called on the mountains and the rocks, telling them, "Fall upon us! Hide us† from the face of the one who sits on the throne, and from the judgment‡ of the Lamb.

¹⁷ For the terrible day of their judgment has come, and who can stand against it?"

7

¹ Then I saw four angels standing at the four corners of the earth* holding back the earth's four winds to prevent any wind from blowing on the earth, or over the sea, or against any tree.

² I watched another angel rise up from the east, holding the seal of the living God. He shouted in a loud voice to the four angels who had been given the power to damage the earth and the sea,

³ "Don't hurt the earth or the sea or the trees until we have placed a seal on the foreheads of God's true followers!"

§ 6:8 Hades—the Greek word for the grave, the place of the dead. * 6:9 "Those." In the original the word means "lives," often translated as "souls." However, the Biblical concept of the "soul" references a living person (e.g. Genesis 2:7) and can die (Ezekiel 18:20) and is not the disembodied spirit of Hellenistic thought. Like many aspects in Revelation the fact that these dead martyrs should speak is symbolic rather than literal. † 6:16 "Fall upon us! Hide us": the reference is from Hosea 10:8. ‡ 6:16 Literally, "anger," and in the following verse. However, this human emotion when applied to God can misrepresent what is meant here. The old term "wrath" includes something of the idea of judgment and punishment, but is obsolete. What is clearly happening here is the execution of God's judgment which is right and true, and does not fit with human aspects of anger that include "being mad" or "furious rage." * 7:1 In ancient times the earth is seen as having these four corners from where the winds blow.

⁴ I was told the number of those who were sealed: one hundred and forty-four thousand. Those who were sealed came from every tribe of the children of Israel:

⁵ twelve thousand from the tribe of Judah, twelve thousand from the tribe of Reuben, twelve thousand from the tribe of Gad,

⁶ twelve thousand from the tribe of Asher, twelve thousand from the tribe of Naphtali, twelve thousand from the tribe of Manasseh,

⁸ twelve thousand from the tribe of Zebulun, twelve thousand from the tribe of Joseph, twelve thousand from the tribe of Benjamin.

⁹ After this I looked and saw a great crowd that nobody could count, made up of every nation, tribe, people and language. They were standing in front of the throne and the Lamb, dressed in white robes, with palm branches in their hands.

¹⁰ They gave a loud shout, "Salvation is from our God who sits on the throne, and from the Lamb."

¹¹ All the angels surrounding the throne, and the elders and the four living creatures, fell down on their faces before the throne, worshipping God.

¹² "Amen!" they said. "Blessing, glory, wisdom, gratitude, honor, power, and strength, be to God for ever and ever. Amen."

¹³ One of the elders spoke to me and asked, "Who are those who are dressed in white robes, and where have they come from?"

¹⁴ I replied, "My Lord, you know the answer." He told me, "These are the ones who have passed through great persecution. They washed their robes, making them white through the blood of the Lamb.

¹⁵ That's why they can stand in front of God's throne, and they serve him day and night in his Temple. The one who sits on the throne will protect them with his presence.[†]

¹⁶ They will never be hungry ever again, or thirsty; the sun will not beat down on them and they will not suffer scorching heat,[‡]

¹⁷ because the Lamb who is at the center of the throne will be their shepherd,[§] and will lead them to springs of living water,^{*} and God will wipe away every tear from their eyes."[†]

8

² I saw the seven angels that stand before God. They were given seven trumpets.

³ Then another angel came and stood at^{*} the altar. He had a golden censer[†] and he was given a large quantity of incense to add to the prayers of all the saints on the golden altar that stands in front of the throne.

⁴ The smoke of the incense rose together with the prayers of the saints before God from the hand of the angel.

[†] 7:15 "Protect with his presence": literally, "tents among them," using the same word for Jesus' coming in John 1:14. [‡] 7:16 Quoting Isaiah 49:10. [§] 7:17 See Psalms 23:1. ^{} 7:17 Quoting Isaiah 49:10. [†] 7:17 Quoting Isaiah 25:8. ^{} 8:3 Literally, "on." [†] 8:3 An object that is used to hold burning incense.

⁵ The angel took the censer and filled it with fire from the altar, and threw it down upon the earth; there was the sound of thunder, with lightning flashes, and a terrible earthquake.

⁶ Then the seven angels holding the seven trumpets prepared to blow them.

⁷ The first angel blew his trumpet. Hail and fire mixed with blood rained down on the earth. One third of the earth was burned up, one third of the trees were burned up and all the green grass was burned up.

⁸ The second angel blew his trumpet. Something looking like a huge mountain of flaming fire was thrown into the sea. One third of the sea turned to blood, ⁹ and one third of the creatures that lived in the sea died, and one third of all ships were destroyed.

¹⁰ The third angel blew his trumpet. A great star fell from heaven, blazing brightly. It fell on a third of the rivers and springs of water.

¹¹ The name of the star is Wormwood, and one third of the water turned bitter,[‡] and many people died from drinking the water because it had become poisonous.[§]

¹² The fourth angel blew his trumpet. One third of the sun, moon, and stars were struck so a third of them would be darkened, and a third part of the day would not give light, similarly the night.

¹³ I saw and heard an eagle* flying in mid-heaven, shouting loudly, "Disaster, disaster, disaster is coming to those who live on the earth because of what is going to happen when the three remaining angels blow their trumpets."

9

¹ The fifth angel blew his trumpet. I watched a star fall from heaven to earth. He* was given the key to the opening of the Abyss.[†]

² He opened the entrance to the Abyss, and smoke came up out of the Abyss like the smoke of a huge furnace. The sun and the atmosphere became dark because of the smoke from the Abyss.

³ Locusts came out of the smoke onto the earth, and they were given power like that possessed by scorpions.

⁴ They were told not to harm the grass or any vegetation or any trees, only those who did not have the seal of God on their foreheads.

⁵ They were not allowed to kill, but they could torture these people for five months. The torture was like that of a scorpion when it stings someone.

⁶ During that time people will look for death, but won't find it; they will want to die, but death will run away from them!

⁷ The locusts looked like war-horses. They wore what seemed to be golden crowns on their heads, and their faces looked human.

[‡] 8:11 In Greek, "Wormwood" is synonymous with "bitter." [§] 8:11 A different word is used here, "to make bitter or sour," but due to its effects it is probably best to translate this as "poisonous."

* 8:13 Or vulture. * 9:1 "He"—referring to the star. [†] 9:1 Sometimes translated "bottomless pit."

⁹ Their breastplates looked like they were made of iron, and the noise made by their wings sounded like many horses and chariots racing into battle.

¹⁰ They had tails like scorpions, complete with stingers. They had the power to hurt people for five months with their tails.

¹¹ Ruling over them as their king was the angel of the Abyss who is called Abaddon in Hebrew and Apollyon in Greek.[‡]

¹² The first Disaster is over, but there are still two more to come.

¹³ The sixth angel blew his trumpet. I heard a voice come from the horns of the golden altar that stands in front of God

¹⁴ speaking to the sixth angel that had the trumpet: “Release the four angels that are tied up beside the great River Euphrates.”

¹⁵ The four angels who had been kept ready for this particular hour, day, month and year were released to kill one third of humanity.

¹⁶ I was told the number of the army of soldiers on horseback: it was 200 million.

¹⁷ In my vision I saw the horses and their riders who wore breastplates as red as fire, and dark blue and yellow.[§] The heads of the horses looked like lions, and fire and smoke and sulfur streamed out of their mouths.

¹⁸ One third of humanity was killed by these three plagues, by the fire and smoke and sulfur streaming out of their mouths.

¹⁹ The horses' power was in their tails as well as their mouths, for their tails were like serpents' heads that they used to hurt people.

²⁰ But the rest of humanity who were not killed by these plagues did not repent of what they were doing. They did not stop worshipping demons and idols of gold, silver, bronze, and stone—which can't see or hear or walk!

² He was holding a small scroll that had already been opened. He placed his right foot on the sea, and this left foot on the land.

³ He gave a great shout, like a lion roaring. When he shouted, the seven thunders responded.

⁴ When the seven thunders spoke, I was about to write down what they said when I heard a voice from heaven that told me, “Keep under seal what the seven thunders said. Don't write them down.”

⁶ He made a sacred oath by the one who lives for ever and ever, who created the heavens and everything in them, and the earth and everything in it, and the sea and everything in it. “No more delay!” he said.

[§] 9:17 Literally, “hyacinth and sulfur.”

⁷ But at the time when the seventh angel speaks, when he blows his trumpet, then the mystery* of God will be completed—the good news he announced through his servants the prophets.

⁸ Then I heard again the voice from heaven telling me, “Go and take the scroll that is open in the hand of the angel that stands on the sea and on the land.”

⁹ So I went to the angel, and asked him to give me the little scroll. He said to me, “Take it and eat it up. It will be sour in your stomach, but sweet as honey in your mouth.”†

¹⁰ I took the little scroll from the angel and ate it up. In my mouth it was as sweet as honey, but it was sour in my stomach.

¹¹ I was told, “You must prophesy again regarding many peoples, nations, languages, and kings.”

11

¹ I was given a measuring rod and told, “Get up and measure the Temple of God, and the altar, and count those who are worshipping there.

² Don't measure the court outside the Temple, leave that, because it has been handed over to the nations. They will trample down the holy city for forty-two months.

³ I will give my two witnesses power, and they will prophesy 1,260 days, dressed in sackcloth.”

⁴ They are the two olive trees and the two candlesticks that stand in front of the Lord of the earth.*

⁵ If anyone tries to harm them, fire comes out of their mouths and burns up their enemies. This is how anyone who tries to harm them will be killed.

⁶ These two witnesses have the power to close the sky so that it will not rain during the time of their prophecy. They also have the power to turn the waters into blood, and to strike the earth with all kinds of plagues, as often as they want.

⁷ When they finish their testimony, the beast coming from the Abyss will attack them, defeat them, and kill them.

⁸ Their dead bodies will lie on the open street of the great city, called Sodom and Egypt in spiritual symbolism—also the place where their Lord was crucified.†

⁹ For three and a half days those from the peoples and tribes and languages and nations will look at their dead bodies, and will not allow their corpses to be buried.

¹⁰ The inhabitants of the earth are delighted they are dead, and celebrate, sending gifts to each other, because these two prophets had been a torment to them.

¹¹ But three and half days later God's life-giving breath entered them and they stood on their feet. Those who saw this were absolutely terrified.‡

¹² The two witnesses heard a loud voice from heaven telling them, “Come up here!” So they ascended to heaven in a cloud while their enemies watched.

* 10:7 As always, this is a “revealed mystery.” In other words, “God's mysterious plan will be accomplished.” † 10:9 For reference see Numbers 5:24 and Ezekiel 3:3. * 11:4 A reference to Zechariah 4:14. † 11:8 Clearly referring to Jerusalem. ‡ 11:11 The verb tense in this passage (11:7-11) in Greek changes from future to present to past. This translation has maintained this change.

¹³ At the same time there was a huge earthquake, and one tenth of the city collapsed. Seven thousand people were killed in the earthquake, and the rest were terrified, and gave glory to the God of heaven.

¹⁴ The second Disaster is over; the third Disaster is about to arrive!

¹⁵ The seventh angel blew his trumpet, and loud voices shouted in heaven, "The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ, and he shall reign for ever and ever."

¹⁶ The twenty-four elders who sit on their thrones in God's presence fell down on their faces and worshipped God.

¹⁷ They said, "We thank you, Lord God, the All-powerful One, who is and was, because you have taken up your great power and have asserted your rule."

¹⁸ The nations became furious, but your judgment has come,§ the time when the dead will be judged. This is the time when your servants the prophets and the believers will be given their reward, those who respect your authority, both the weak and the powerful. This is also the time when you will destroy those who destroy the earth.

¹⁹ Then the Temple of God in heaven was opened, and the Ark of the Agreement* could be seen inside his Temple. There were lightning flashes, the sound of thunder, an earthquake, and a great hailstorm.

¹ Then an amazing sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and a crown of twelve stars on her head.

² She was pregnant, and she cried out because of her labor pains, groaning as she was giving birth.

⁴ His tail swept away a third of the stars of heaven and threw them down to the earth. The dragon stood right in front of the woman who was giving birth, so that he could eat her child as soon as it was born.

⁵ She gave birth to a son, a male child, who will rule all nations with an iron rod.† Her son was snatched up to God and his throne.

⁶ The woman ran away into the desert, where God had prepared a place for her, so that she could be looked after for 1,260 days.

⁷ There was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought with the dragon. The dragon and his angels fought

⁸ but he was not strong enough, and they could no longer remain in heaven.

⁹ The great dragon, the ancient serpent called the Devil and Satan who deceives the whole world, was thrown down to the earth, and his angels with him.

¹⁰ Then I heard a loud voice in heaven saying, "Now salvation has come, and power, and the kingdom of our God, and the authority of his Christ.

§ 11:18 In other words, the day of judgment. On the issue of human anger as opposed to divine anger see on 6:16. * 11:19 Or "covenant." * 12:3 Or "diadems" (also 13:1). The Greek word used here is different to that used in 12:1. † 12:5 See Psalms 2:9.

The Accuser of the believers[‡] has been thrown down—the one who accuses them in God's presence day and night.

¹¹ They conquered him through the blood of the Lamb and through their personal testimony—they did not love their lives so much that they were willing to die if necessary.

¹² So celebrate, heaven, and everyone who lives there! Mourn, earth and sea, for the devil has come down to you and is very angry, knowing his time is short.”

¹³ When the dragon realized he had been thrown down to the earth, he persecuted the woman that had given birth to the male child.

¹⁴ The woman was given the wings of a large eagle so she could fly away to a deserted place where she could be looked after for a time, times, and half a time, protected from the serpent.

¹⁶ The earth came to the woman's aid by opening its mouth and swallowing up the river that the dragon spewed out of his mouth.

¹⁷ The dragon was furious with the woman, and went off to attack the rest of her offspring, those who keep God's commandments and have the testimony of Jesus.

¹⁸ §

¹ And the dragon stood on the sea shore. Then I saw a beast rising out of the sea. He had ten horns and seven heads, with ten small crowns on his horns, and had blasphemous names on his heads.

² The beast I saw looked like a leopard, but his feet looked like those of a bear, and his mouth looked like that of a lion. The dragon gave the beast his power, his throne, and great authority.

³ One of his heads seemed to have suffered a death-blow, but this fatal wound had been healed. The whole world was filled with wonder at the beast,

⁴ and they worshiped the dragon because he had given his authority to the beast; and they worshiped the beast, asking “Who is like the beast? Who could defeat him?”

⁵ He was given the ability* to make great boasts and speak blasphemies, and he was also given the authority to do this for forty-two months.

⁶ As soon as he opened his mouth he spoke blasphemies against God, insulting his character,[†] his sanctuary,[‡] and those who live in heaven.

⁷ The beast was given power to attack believers and defeat them, and he was also given authority over every people, tribe, language, and nation.

⁸ Everybody living on earth will worship him, those whose names had not been written in the book of life—the book of life that belongs to the Lamb slain from the beginning of the world.

⁹ If you have ears, listen!

‡ 12:10 Literally, “brothers.” § 12:18 Some versions place the first line of verse 1 of the following chapter here as the last verse of chapter 12. * 13:5 Literally, “given a mouth.” † 13:6 Literally, “name.” ‡ 13:6 Sanctuary: or “dwelling place.”

¹⁰ Anyone who has to go into captivity will go into captivity; anyone who has to die by the sword will die by the sword.[§] This demonstrates the patient endurance and confidence in God of the believers.

¹¹ Then I saw another beast, rising up from the earth. He had two horns like a lamb, but he spoke like a dragon.

¹² He imposed the same authority as the first beast on his behalf, and made the earth and those who live there worship the first beast, whose fatal wound had been healed.

¹³ He performed great miracles, even bringing fire down from heaven to earth while people watched.

¹⁴ He deceived those who live on the earth by the miracles he performed on behalf of the beast, ordering the people that they should make an image for the beast who had received the fatal sword wound but came back to life.

¹⁵ He was permitted to breathe life into the image of the beast so that it could speak, ordering anyone who did not worship it put to death.

¹⁶ He made everyone, whether weak or powerful, rich or poor, free or slave, receive a mark on their right hand or on their foreheads.

¹⁷ Nobody was permitted to buy or sell except those who had the mark, which was the name of the beast or the number of his name.

¹⁸ Wisdom is needed here. Whoever has understanding should calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man. His number is 666.

14

¹ I looked, and saw the Lamb standing on Mount Zion. With him were 144,000 who had his name, and the name of his Father, written on their foreheads.

² I heard a voice from heaven that sounded like rushing water and loud thunder and many harps being played.

³ They sang a new song in front of the throne and the four living creatures and the elders. Nobody could learn the song except the 144,000, those who had been redeemed from the earth.

⁴ They have not become morally impure by sinning with women; spiritually they are virgins. They follow the Lamb wherever he goes. They were redeemed from humankind as the firstfruits to God and the Lamb.

⁵ They speak no lies; they are without fault.

⁶ Then I saw another angel flying in mid-heaven. He had the eternal good news to announce to those who lived on the earth, to every nation, tribe, language, and people.

⁷ He cried out in a loud voice, "Give God reverence and glory, for the time of his judgment has come. Worship the one who made heaven and earth and sea and springs of water."

[§] 13:10 There are two textual variants here. The text could also say that those who kill with the sword will themselves be killed with the sword, paralleling Matthew 26:52. However, in view of the next verse that encourages the believers to endure persecution, rather than expecting retribution, the text as translated is the one preferred here. See Jeremiah 15:2.

⁸ A second angel followed, calling out, “Babylon the great has collapsed into ruins!”^{*} She made all the nations drink the wine of her sexual immorality that brings God’s furious opposition.”[†]

⁹ A third angel followed the first two, and cried out in a loud voice, “If anyone worships the beast and his image and receives a mark on their forehead or on their hand,

¹⁰ they will also drink of the wine of God’s furious opposition that is poured undiluted into the cup of his anger,[‡] and they will suffer anguish[§] in fire and burning sulfur before the holy angels and the Lamb.

¹¹ The smoke of their anguish ascends for ever and ever. They don’t have any relief day or night, those who worship the beast and his image and who receive the mark of his name.”

¹² This means the believers must patiently endure, keeping God’s commandments and trusting in Jesus.

¹³ Then I heard a voice from heaven that told me, “Write this down! Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on. Yes, says the Spirit, because they can rest from their troubles. What they have accomplished will speak for them.”^{*}

¹⁴ I looked and I saw a white cloud. Sitting on the cloud was someone that looked like the Son of man,[†] wearing a golden crown on his head and holding a sharp sickle in his hand.

¹⁵ Another angel came out of the Temple and shouted in a loud voice to the one sitting on the cloud, “Take your sickle and start reaping, for it is harvest-time, and earth’s harvest is ripe.”

¹⁷ Another angel came out of the Temple in heaven. He also had a sharp sickle.

¹⁸ He was followed by an angel coming from the altar that was in charge of the fire, who called in a loud voice to the angel with the sharp sickle, “Take your sharp sickle and harvest the bunches of grapes from the earth’s vine, because its grapes are ripe.”

¹⁹ The angel swung his sickle on the earth and harvested the grapes from the vine, and threw them into the great winepress of God’s judgment.[‡]

²⁰ They were trampled in the winepress outside the city. Blood flowed out of the winepress to the height of a horse’s bridle, and to a distance of 1,600 stadia.[§]

¹ Then I saw another amazing, important sign in heaven. Seven angels held the seven last plagues which complete God’s judgment.

^{} 14:8 See Isaiah 21:9. [†] 14:8 This alludes to Jeremiah 51:7. In view of verse 10 that follows and the Jeremiah allusion is seems appropriate to conclude that it is this “wine of God’s furious opposition” that is in view here. Of course human language is being used to describe God so while his intense opposition to sin is clear, words like “fury” and “anger” should not be understood in terms of fallen human nature. [‡] 14:10 Or “indignation.” [§] 14:10 Or “tortured.” Note that the term here (also used in the following verse) is in the passive. ^{} 14:13 Literally, “will follow after them.” [†] 14:14 See Daniel 7:13. [‡] 14:19 Literally, “fury,” (also 15:7, 16:1, 19:15), but see note on “anger” in footnote to 6:16. [§] 14:20 184 miles (296 kilometers).

² I saw what looked like a sea of glass mixed with fire. Standing beside the sea of glass were those who had defeated the beast and his image and the number of his name. They had harps given to them by God

³ and they sang the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb: "What you have done is tremendous and marvelous, Lord God, the All-powerful One. Your ways are right and true, King of the nations.*

⁴ Who would not be in awe of you, Lord? Who would not glorify your name? For only you are holy. All nations will come and worship you because you have demonstrated by your actions that you do what is right!"

⁵ After this I looked and the Temple of the "Tent of Witness" was opened.†

⁶ Out of the Temple came the seven angels who held the seven plagues, wearing clean, white linen clothes and golden sashes on their chests.

⁷ One of the four living creatures gave to the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the judgment of God, who lives for ever and ever.

⁸ The Temple was filled with smoke that came from the glory of God and from his power. Nobody was able to enter the Temple until the seven plagues that came from the seven angels were over.

16

¹ Then I heard a loud voice coming from the Temple telling the seven angels, "Go and pour out the seven bowls of God's judgment on the earth."

² So the first angel went and poured out his bowl on the earth, and terrible, painful sores broke out on those who had the mark of the beast and who worshiped his image.

³ The second poured out his bowl on the sea, and it became like the blood of a corpse and everything living in the sea died.

⁴ The third poured out his bowl on the rivers and springs of water, and the water turned into blood.

⁵ I heard the angel who had power over the waters declare, "You are truly right, you who are and was, the Holy One, as this judgment demonstrates.

⁶ These people shed the blood of believers. Now you've given them blood to drink, as they deserve!"

⁷ I heard a voice from the altar saying, "Yes, Lord God, the All-powerful One, your judgments are right and true!"

⁸ The fourth angel poured out his bowl on the sun, and it was given the power to scorch people with fire.

⁹ They were scorched by intense heat, and they cursed the name of God who controlled these plagues. They did not repent and give him glory.

¹⁰ The fifth angel poured out his bowl on the beast's throne, and darkness fell over his kingdom. The people bit their tongues because of the pain they felt,

¹¹ and they cursed the God of heaven because of their pain and their sores, but they did not repent and stop what they were doing.

¹² The sixth angel poured out his bowl on the mighty River Euphrates, and its water was dried up, so that a way could be prepared for the kings that come from the east.

* 15:3 Or "King of the ages." † 15:5 There is some debate as to what is referred to here.

13 Then I saw three evil spirits that looked like frogs coming out of the mouths of the dragon, the beast, and the false prophet.

14 These are demonic spirits that perform miracles, going out to gather together all the kings of the whole world for the battle on God the All-powerful One's great day of judgment.

15 (Pay attention! I will come like a thief.* Blessed are those who keep watch, and have their clothes ready so that they don't have to go out naked and be embarrassed.)

17 The seventh angel poured out his bowl on the air, and a loud voice came from the Temple, from the throne, shouting out, "It's over!"

18 Lightning flashed and thunder boomed, and a massive earthquake shook the earth. It was the worst earthquake that had ever happened since people lived there.

19 The great city was split into three. The cities of the nations were destroyed. Babylon the great was remembered in God's presence so that she should be given the cup filled with the wine of his hostility.

20 All the islands vanished, and all the mountains disappeared.

21 Huge hailstones, each one weighing one hundred pounds,† rained down from the sky on people. The people cursed God because the plague of hail was so terrible.

17

1 One of the seven angels with the seven bowls came and talked with me. "Come here," he said, "and I will show you the judgment of the infamous prostitute that sits* beside many waters.†

2 The kings of the earth have committed adultery with her, and those who live on the earth became drunk on the wine of her immorality."

3 Then he carried me off in the Spirit to a deserted place, and I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that had seven heads and ten horns and was covered in blasphemous names.

4 The woman was clothed in purple and scarlet, and wore jewelry made of gold and gems and pearls. She held in her hand a golden cup full of obscene things and her disgusting immorality.

5 A name of mystery‡ was written on her forehead: Babylon the Great, the Mother of Prostitutes and of the World's Obscene Things.

6 I saw that the woman was drunk on the blood of believers, and on the blood of martyrs who had died for Jesus. When I saw her, I was totally amazed.

7 The angel asked me, "Why were you amazed? I will explain to you the mystery of the woman and the beast she rode which has seven heads and ten horns.

8 The beast you saw once was, but is not,§ will soon come up again out of the Abyss, and will then be completely destroyed. Those that live on

* 16:15 That is, unexpectedly. † 16:21 The Greek says a "weight of a talent." * 17:1 To be seated has a similar idea to that in English of being "seated" as a ruler, also in verse 9. † 17:1 This is a reference to the city of Babylon and its rivers. ‡ 17:5 "Mystery": having a hidden meaning; now revealed. § 17:8 Or "that once existed but does not exist now."

the earth who don't have their names written in the book of life will be amazed when they see the beast that once was but is not, and yet shall return.

⁹ A mind that has understanding is needed here. The seven heads are seven hills where the woman sits,*

¹⁰ they are seven kings. Five have already fallen, one is reigning now, and the last is still to come—and his reign will be short.

¹¹ The beast that was, and is not, is also an eighth king and belongs to the seven. He too will be completely destroyed.

¹² The ten horns that you saw are ten kings who have not begun to reign yet. However, they will be given authority to reign as kings together with the beast for one hour.

¹³ They have one agreed purpose: to give their power and authority to the beast.

¹⁴ They will make war on the Lamb, and the Lamb will defeat them for he is Lord of lords and King of kings. His followers are called and chosen, and they trust in him."

¹⁵ The angel went on to explain to me, "The waters that you saw where the harlot was sitting represent peoples, crowds of people, nations, and languages.

¹⁶ The ten horns that you saw and the beast will detest the prostitute, and will take away everything she has and strip her naked, eat her flesh and burn her to ashes.

¹⁷ For God put into their minds to do what he wanted, to have one agreed purpose: to give their kingdom to the beast—and so God's words will be fulfilled.

¹⁸ The woman you saw is the great city which rules over the kings of the earth."

¹ After this I saw another angel descending from heaven. He had great power* and the earth was lit up by his glory.

² He shouted out in a powerful voice, "Babylon the great has collapsed into ruins!† She has become a place where demons live, the refuge of every unclean spirit, and the roost of every unclean and detestable bird.

³ For all the nations have drunk‡ the wine of her mad sexual immorality. The kings of the earth have committed adultery with her, and the traders of the earth have grown rich from her excessive sensuality."

⁴ Then I heard another voice from heaven calling out, "My people, come out of her,§ so that you don't participate in her sinful ways, and so that you don't experience her plagues.

⁵ Her sins have piled up all the way to heaven, and God is very much aware of her wickedness.

⁶ Give back to her what she gave; repay her double for what she did. In her own cup mix double the trouble she mixed for others.

⁷ As much as she boasted about herself and indulged her lusts, give her back just as much anguish and sorrow. She told herself, 'I reign* as queen.

* 17:9 Again the idea here is of being seated as a ruler; see also verse 1. * 18:1 Or "authority."

† 18:2 See Isaiah 21:9. ‡ 18:3 Or "have fallen because of..." § 18:4 See Jeremiah 51:45.

* 18:7 Literally, "sit."

I am no widow; I will never be in mourning.'

⁸ Because of this her plagues will come upon her in just one day: death, mourning, and famine. She will be completely destroyed by fire, for the Lord God who condemns[†] her has great power.

⁹ The kings of the earth who had committed adultery with her and indulged their lusts with her will cry and mourn over her when they see the smoke of the fire that destroys her.

¹⁰ Standing off at a distance because they are afraid they will suffer the same agony as her, they say, 'Disaster, disaster has struck Babylon, the great city! In just one hour your sentence of doom was executed!'

¹¹ The traders of the earth cry and grieve over her, because nobody is buying their goods any more—

¹² products made of gold, silver, gems and pearls; fine linen, purple cloth, silk, and scarlet material; all kinds of objects made of scented wood, or from ivory, or expensive woods, or bronze, iron, or marble;

¹³ shipments of cinnamon, spice, incense, myrrh, frankincense, wine, olive oil, fine flour and wheat, cattle and sheep, horses and wagons, and slaves and prisoners.[‡]

¹⁴ You've lost the sweet pleasures[§] you loved so much; all your luxurious, glittering possessions are gone—you'll never get any of them back.

¹⁵ The traders who sold these things and became rich from trading with her will stand at a distance because they are afraid they will suffer the same agony as her. They will cry and grieve, saying,

¹⁶ 'Disaster, disaster has hit the great city! She was clothed in fine linen and purple robes, and wore jewelry made of gold and gems and pearls.

¹⁷ In just one hour all this wealth was destroyed!' Every sea captain and everyone who travels by sea and every sailor and everyone who earns their living from the sea stood at a distance.

¹⁹ They threw dust on their heads, shouting and crying and grieving, 'Disaster, disaster has struck the great city that made every ship-owner rich because of her extravagance! In just one hour she was destroyed!'

²⁰ Celebrate what's happened to her, heaven and believers and apostles and prophets, for God has condemned her as she condemned you."

²¹ A powerful angel picked up a rock the size of a large millstone and threw it into the sea, saying, "With this kind of violence the great city of Babylon will be thrown down, and will never exist again."

²² "Never again will anyone hear music in you: the sound of harps, singers, flutes, and trumpets. Never again will craftsmen of any trade work in you. Never again will the sound of a mill be heard in you.

²³ Never again will the light of a lamp shine in you. Never again will the voices of bridegroom and bride be heard in you. Your traders led the world. Through your witchcraft all the nations were deceived.

²⁴ In her the blood of prophets and believers was found, and of all those who have been killed on the earth."

[†] 18:8 Or "judges." [‡] 18:13 Literally, "bodies and souls of men." [§] 18:14 Literally, "ripe fruit."

19

¹ After this I heard what sounded like the noise of an enormous crowd in heaven, shouting, "Hallelujah! Salvation, glory, and power describe our God,

² because his judgments are true and right, for he has condemned the infamous prostitute who corrupted the earth with her immorality, and has brought her to justice for her murders of his servants."*

⁴ The twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell down and worshipped God who sits on the throne. "Amen! Hallelujah!" they shouted.

⁵ A voice spoke from the throne that said, "Praise our God, everyone who serves him and respects him, from the smallest to the greatest."

⁶ Then I heard what sounded like the noise of an enormous crowd, like rushing water and loud thunder, shouting, "Hallelujah! For the Lord our God, the All-powerful One, he reigns!

⁷ Let's celebrate and be glad and give him the glory, because the wedding day of the Lamb has arrived, and his bride has prepared herself."

⁸ She was given fine linen to wear, white and clean. (Fine linen represents the good works of believers.)

⁹ The angel told me, "Write this down: How happy are those who are invited to the Lamb's wedding feast." Then he said to me, "These are God's true words."

¹⁰ I fell down at his feet to worship him. He told me, "Don't do that! I am one of God's servants just as you are, and those who accept Jesus' testimony. Worship God, for Jesus' testimony is the prophetic spirit."

¹¹ I saw heaven was opened. A white horse was standing there. Its rider was called Trustworthy and True. He is right when he judges, and he is right when he makes war.

¹² His eyes were like flaming fire. On his head were many crowns. He had a name written on him which no one but he himself knows.

¹³ He wore a robe covered in blood, and his name is The Word of God.

¹⁴ Heaven's armies were following him, riding on white horses and clothed in fine linen, white and clean.

¹⁵ From his mouth came a sharp sword to strike the nations. He will rule them with an iron rod,[†] and he himself treads the winepress of the All-powerful God's judgment.[‡]

¹⁷ I saw an angel standing in the sun, shouting in a loud voice to all the birds that fly in the sky, "Come and gather together for God's great feast.

¹⁸ Here you can eat the flesh of the dead: kings, leaders, and powerful men, as well as that of horses and their riders, the flesh of all people, free and slave, great and small."

¹⁹ I saw the beast and the kings of the earth gathered together to wage war on the one sitting on the horse and his army.

* 19:2 Literally, "for the blood of his servants at her hand." † 19:15 See Psalms 2:9. ‡ 19:15 Literally, "of the fury of the anger." See on 14:9, and 6:16.

²⁰ The beast was captured, along with the false prophet who performed miracles in his presence (by which he deceived those who had received the mark of the beast and those who worshiped the beast's image). Both of them were thrown alive into the lake of fire that burns with sulfur.

²¹ The rest were killed with the sword of the one sitting on the horse—the sword that came out of his mouth. All the birds gorged themselves on their flesh.

² He seized the dragon, the ancient serpent, who is the Devil and Satan, and bound him in chains for one thousand years.

³ The angel threw him into the Abyss and shut it and sealed it over him, so that he would no longer be able to deceive the nations until the thousand years were over. After that he has to be set free for a little while.

⁴ I saw people sitting on thrones who had been given the responsibility to judge, and the souls of those who had been beheaded for their testimony about Jesus and for sharing the word of God.* They had not worshiped the beast or his image, nor had they received the mark on their foreheads or their hands. They lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

⁵ This is the first resurrection. (The rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years had ended.)

⁶ Blessed and holy are those who take part in the first resurrection! The second death has no power over them. They will be priests of God, and of Christ, and they will reign with him for one thousand years.

⁷ Once the thousand years are over, Satan will be set free from his prison,

⁸ and will go out to deceive the nations, symbolized by Gog and Magog,† to gather them together for battle from the four corners of the world. Their number is as uncountable as sand on the seashore.

⁹ They marched over the earth on a broad front and encircled the camp of the believers, the beloved city. But fire rained down from heaven and burned them up.

¹⁰ The devil, who had deceived them, was thrown into the lake of fire and sulfur where the beast and the false prophet had also been thrown, and they will suffer in anguish day and night for ever and ever.

¹¹ Then I saw a large white throne with the one who sits on it. Heaven and earth vanished, and they were never seen again.‡

¹² I saw the dead, great and small, standing before the throne, and the books were opened. Another book, the Book of Life, was opened and the dead were judged based on what was written in the books about what they had done.

¹³ The sea handed over the dead in it, and death and Hades handed over the dead that were in them,§ and everyone was judged according to what they had done.

* 20:4 Some believe those who are sitting on the thrones are the same as those who have been beheaded. † 20:8 See Ezekiel 38:1-2. ‡ 20:11 This does not mean that the universe disappeared, but that God is recreating damaged Creation. § 20:13 In other words, all those who have died, wherever they were buried, will be judged.

¹⁴ Then death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. The lake of fire is the second death.

¹⁵ Anyone whose name was not found written in the book of life was thrown into the lake of fire.

21

¹ Then I saw a new heaven and a new earth.* The first heaven and the first earth had disappeared, and the sea no longer existed.

² I saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, descending from God out of heaven, prepared like a bride made beautiful for her husband.

³ I heard a loud voice from the throne say, "Now God's home[†] is with human beings and he will live with them. They will be his people. God himself will be with them as their God.[‡]

⁴ He will wipe away every tear from their eyes,[§] and death will never happen again. There will be no mourning or crying or pain ever again for the former world no longer exists."

⁵ The one who sits on the throne said, "I am making everything new!" He told me, "Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true."

⁶ Then he said to me, "Everything's done! I am the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. To anyone who is thirsty I will give the free gift of water from the spring of the water of life.

⁷ Those who are victorious will inherit all these things, and I will be their God and they shall be my children.

⁸ But anyone who is a coward, who doesn't trust me, who does disgusting things, who is a murderer, who is sexually immoral, who practices witchcraft, who worships idols, who tells lies—their chosen place* is in the lake that burns with fire and sulfur. This is the second death."

⁹ One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls containing the seven last plagues came and spoke to me. He told me, "Come with me. I will show you the bride, the Lamb's wife."

¹⁰ He took me in the Spirit to the top of a very high mountain. There he showed me the holy city Jerusalem descending from God out of heaven,

¹¹ shining with the glory of God's presence. The light sparkled like that from a gemstone, a jasper, clear and bright.

¹² The city wall was high and thick, with twelve gates guarded by twelve angels. On the gates were inscribed the names of the twelve tribes of Israel.

¹³ There were three gates on the east, three on the north, three on the south, and three on the west.

¹⁴ The city wall had twelve foundations, and inscribed on them were the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

¹⁵ The angel who spoke to me had a golden measuring rod to measure the city, its gates, and its wall.

¹⁶ The city was square. The length was the same as the width. He measured the city with the rod, it was 12,000 furlongs.[†] The length, width, and height were all the same.

* 21:1 See Isaiah 65:17, Isaiah 66:22. † 21:3 The word is Literally, "to pitch a tent." ‡ 21:3 "As their God" is not found in all ancient manuscripts. § 21:4 Quoting Isaiah 25:8. * 21:8 "Their chosen place": or "their lot." † 21:16 About 1,500 miles.

¹⁷ He measured the wall and it was 144 cubits[‡] thick in human measurements that the angel was using.

¹⁸ The wall was built out of jasper. The city was made of pure gold that looked like glass.

¹⁹ The foundations of the city wall were decorated with all kinds of gemstones. The first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald, ²⁰ the fifth sardonyx, the sixth carnelian, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth, chrysoprase, the eleventh jacinth, the twelfth amethyst.

²¹ The twelve gates were made of pearl, each one made from a single pearl. The main street was made of pure gold, clear like glass.

²² I did not see a temple there, because the Lord God the All-powerful One, and the Lamb, they are its temple.

²³ The city does not need the sun or the moon to shine on it because the glory of God provides its light—the Lamb is its lamp.

²⁴ The nations will walk by its light, and the kings of the earth bring their glory into the city.

²⁵ The gates of the city will never be shut during the day (and there will be no night there).

²⁶ The nations' honor and glory will be brought into the city.

²⁷ Nothing unclean will ever enter into it, or anyone who worships idols, or who is a liar—only those who are written in the Lamb's book of life.

² right in the middle of the main street of the city. On both sides of the river was the tree of life, producing twelve crops of fruit, one every month. The leaves of the tree were used to heal people from all nations.

³ There will no longer be any curse.* The throne of God and of the Lamb will be there in the city, and his servants will worship him.

⁴ They will see his face, and his name will be on their foreheads.

⁵ There will be no more night, and they will not need the light of a lamp, or the light of the sun, because the Lord God will give them light. They shall reign for ever and ever.

⁶ The angel told me, "These words are trustworthy and true. The Lord God, who gave his Spirit to the prophets, sent his angel to show his servants what is about to happen."

⁷ "I am coming soon![†] Blessed are those who obey the prophetic words of this book."

⁸ I am John who heard and saw all this. When I heard and saw them, I fell down at the feet of the angel who had shown me these things to worship him.

⁹ He told me, "Don't do that! I am one of God's servants just as you are, together with your brothers the prophets, and those who obey the words of this book. Worship God!"

[‡] 21:17 Over 200 feet. * 22:3 Or "anything under a curse." [†] 22:7 These are understood to be the words of Jesus, see also verses 12 and 20.

¹⁰ Then he told me, "Don't seal up the words of prophecy of this book and keep them secret, for the time is near.

¹¹ Whoever doesn't do what is right, let them stay that way. Whoever is impure, let them stay that way. Whoever does what is right, let them stay that way. Whoever is holy, let them stay that way.

¹² I am coming soon, and I am bringing my reward to give to everybody based on what they've done.

¹³ I am the Alpha and Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.

¹⁴ Blessed are those who wash their robes[‡] so that they have the right to the tree of life, and can enter into the city through the gates.

¹⁵ Those outside the city are dogs, those who practice witchcraft, those who are sexually immoral, those who murder, those who worship idols, and all those who love and invent lies.

¹⁶ I, Jesus, have sent my angel to give you this testimony to share with the churches. I am both the root and the descendant of David, the bright morning star."

¹⁷ The Spirit and the bride say, "Come." Whoever hears this, say, "Come." Whoever is thirsty, come, and whoever wants to, freely drink of the water of life.

¹⁸ I solemnly declare to everyone who hears the prophetic words of this book that if anyone adds to them then God will add to them the plagues described in this book.

¹⁹ If anyone takes away the prophetic words of this book, God will take away their share of the tree of life and of the holy city that are described in this book.

²⁰ He who confirms all this says, "Yes, I am coming soon." Amen, come, Lord Jesus.

²¹ May the grace of the Lord Jesus be with the believers. Amen.

[‡] 22:14 Or "who keep his commandments."
